TEACHERS AT SCHOOL

Lectures by Noted Educators Afford High Class Entertainment and Instruction.

The Clallam County Teachers' Institute opened in the Assembly room of the Port Angeles High School Wednesday morning with an unusually large attendance and with seventy-eight teachers enrolled.

After the invocation by Rev. Smith and music by the high school girls, Prof. Klemme of the Ellensburg Normal was introduced and made a most excellent address on the subject of the "Unfinished House" and in the afternoon he spoke on the important subject of "Heat, Light and Ventilation." This is something that receives too little attention from our teachers and school board directors but is vitally important to the health of the pupils and teachers themselves.

A great deal of interest is being taken in the institute by the club women and parents and the lectures given have certainly been worthy of the large interested audiences that have attended them. Particularly enjoyable were the little folk dances and recreation games and songs given each day by the primary grades of the Port Angeles school under the supervision of Miss Donovan, Miss Stakemiller and Miss Palmer. The High School girls under their musical instructor, Miss Porter, furnished some very pleasing musical numbers. The readings by Miss Julia Wiggins, and Miss Saunderson and Miss MacMillan were received with hearty applause and added to the pleasures of the programs.

An informal reception was held Wednesday afternoon after the program, the city hign school teachers serving light refreshments to the visiting teachers and guests.

A hearty welcome was accorded Prof. Meany of the State University, who spoke Thursday morning on "Vancouver's Discovery of Puget Sound." No man today is so well versed in the interesting history of Washington as is Prof. Meany and it was indeed a treat to have him as one of the institute instructors. His lectures on "Art and Legends of the Northwest Indians" Thursday afternoon, and on "Mexico" Friday morning were all listened to with a great deal of interest and were largely attended. Supt. Delanty of Jefferson county, made an interesting talk on Friday morning on "Our Powers and Duties." In E. J. Klemme's addresses on "The Lazy Boy" and "The Chosen Band" some valuable helps and suggestions were given to parents as well as teachers.

Friday afternoon's program included a talk by Prof. Failor on Practical Experiments in Elementary Science and Aids in Teaching History by Prof. Meany, both of which were very much appreciated by the teachers.

The closing feature of the Institute which has been one of the most successful in the history of the county, will be Dr. Thomas Green's lecture at the Assembly Hall this evening. It is the last number of the Lyceum Lecture Bureau course and promises to be well worth hearing.

ANNUAL SPELLING CONTEST

Irene Brooks of Dungeness, Champion Speller of Clallam County.

The second annual spelling contest of Clallam county, held Wednesday evening, March 31, in Assembly hall, proved one of the most interesting features of the Institute. Fourteen contestants had entered for the contest. The words were pronounced by Robert Gilmore and Alexander Scott. At the end of one hour there were still 9 contestants who had not missed a word. These were.

Harris Hooper, District 29.
Valley Stevens, District 301.
Thelma McAlmond, District 29.
Lulu Chamberlain, District 7.
Frances Prickett, District 7.
Irene Brooks, District 29.
Catherine Monson, District 29.
Helen Hart, District 301.
Harold Hart, District 301.

These participated in the final spell-down. As the words became more ponderous and difficult, they all missed except two from District 29, and two from District 301. These four continued to spell for some time when at last Valley Stevens and Harold Hart of 301 went down and left the field to Irene Brooks and Thelma McAlmond, both of Dungeness. It was a very close contest between the two girls but finally Thelma missed a word and left Irene Brooks of Dungeness champion.

FIRED THE HEALTH OFFICER

Council Takes a Decided Stand for Healthier and More Cleanly Conditions.

Construction of road along Ediz Hook in accordance with the terms of the lease of a portion of the spit for industrial sites, is to be undertaken at the expense of the whole city, the council at its meeting on Tuesday night having ordered the city attorney to bring in the proper resolution creating an assessment district therefor.

The position of Health Officer, held by Dr. Taylor, was declared vacant upon motion by Councilman Bigelow, all members being present and all except Councilman Wolverton voting in favor of the motion. This action was taken as a result of Dr. Taylor's stating in effect, at a meeting of the council when matters affecting the general health were up for consideration, that the pond at the southwest corner of Lincoln and First was a nuisance, and then sidestepping on the matter at the trial of the owner, G. M. Lauridsen, who had been arrested for failure to abate the nuisance.

Those living on that portion of the spit under lease to the city will have to move within sixty days, said action having been taken by the council in response to a resolution adopted by the Commercial Club which recited that whereas people are constructing cheap shacks on the spit without consent of the city, tending to establish a bad precedent and to discourage those who may desire to enter into a legitimate contract with the city, and asked council to require the removal of all unauthorized persons.

Bids were opened for the building of the sewer from Lincoln to Peabody on First and the contract was awarded to the Mettler Concrete Co., one of the local firms, at $1,573.54. The work must be commenced by the 13th and finished in thirty days. Other bidders were: E. L. Morio $1,690; E. Anderson $1,684; E. A. Jacobs $1,628; Coventon & Peterson $1,981; Kuppler & Caven $1,739; Roy G. Case $1,628; C. W. Coil $1,720; J. E. Anderson $2,832; Barnes & Co., $1,524; Harry Cotton $1,598; Olson & Dalberg $1,677.

Resolution for the grading of the East End District was adopted, date of hearing set for April 20th.

Report of Committee (of the whole council) to effect that the work done by Lewis, Wiley & Morse in District No. 20 had been found satisfactory, was adopted and final payment ordered.

Clerk was instructed to call for bids for construction of a sewer on the west line of Vine street between Lincoln and Front.

Meter contract for the ensuing year was awarded to the General Electric Company.

James Stewart asked the council to revoke its order requiring him to open up ditch around his property at Ninth and Oak, stating that he had lived on this lot over a year and that he could state positively no water had ever flowed thru the ditch; the ditch including the gravel piled on either side being three feet deep and running entirely around his lot was dangerous and a nuisance. Referred for one week.

Bert Sprinkling was granted permit to construct a one story house to cost $900 on lot 3, block 142, Townsite; Harry A. Cotton to make general repairs on Johnson & Bork building; C. S. Stakemiller to put in culvert on west side of Pine between Front and First, and Chris Kuppler to install two deadlights in walk in front of his building.

A communication from E. W. Young was read, in which he stated he hoped to be able to meet his obligations soon after the first of the month.

Communication received from D. O'Brien asking council to pass an ordinance requiring owners of vacant property to clear their lots and the streets in front thereof of brush and ferns as a protection against fire.

CLEAN-UP PROGRAM PROCEEDING NICELY

The committee from the Woman's Auxiliary to the Commercial Club, which has been working on the Laurel street zig-zag proposition met with members of the council last week and decided on the improvements that ought to be made and reported same at the council meeting Tuesday night. The city fathers seem favorable to the suggestions made by the ladies and appointed Messrs. Wolverton, Fisher and Fowler a committee to meet with them again this week to draw up the necessary plans, and to figure out the best way to improve the looks of the street. A meeting for this purpose will be held at Mr. Fisher's office Saturday afternoon. The committee of ladies appreciate the courtesies extended to them by the council and city mayor and by the citizens, who were so prompt in complying with any requests they had to make. The objectionable bill boards are to be removed from T. T. Aldwell's property on the zig-zag and the ladies hope to meet with as hearty a response when they request them to be removed from the government property alongside. The ladies suggested to Mr. Aldwell that the old high board fence around the Glines' property at the top of the zig-zag was also objectionable and he assumed them it too would be removed. Now if some of the other old fences and shacks around town, and particularly on Laurel street, could be removed, what an improvement it would make.

Dr. Bigelow of the health committee reports that thirty-five hay rack loads of garbage have been removed from the alleys by the city teams under the supervision of the street superintendent, Mr. French, and still the good work goes on.

TALKED ON SANITATION

Some Very Plain Truths Presented by Dr. Tuttle and Others at Meeting Last Evening.

"We never miss the water 'till the well runs dry," is an old truism, very applicable to the spirit shown toward sanitary and health conditions in Port Angeles. We have to learn our lesson at the sacrifice of many lives and great public expense instead of remembering that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. The recent epidemic in our city caused an investigation of sanitary conditions which proved that our city needed a "house cleaning" and that our citizens needed to be educated along the line of public health and sanitation.

Realizing these conditions, County Superintendent Geisness arranged for a general health meeting to be held as a part of the institute programs, and by letter asked for the co-operation of all the women's clubs and different organizations in the city. One would have thought that the high school auditorium wouldn't have held the people anxious to learn what our commissioner of the State Board of Health, Dr. T. D. Tuttle, would have to say on the important subject "The Teacher's Work in the Movement to Lengthen Life," but the auditorium was only half filled. Mr. Geisness said, in thanking those who had made the addresses of the evening, that he considered the meeting the most important session of the institute and he sincerely regretted that more of the parents and teachers had not heard it.

Dr. Tuttle is a man of wide experience in this line of work, having served on the Board of Health in Montana for a number of years. He is perfectly familiar with condtions that the teacher finds, especially in the rural districts, and his address was full of good suggestions as to how the teacher could assist in improving conditions both at the school and in the private homes. We all realize today that the parents are taught by the children. Improved domestic and sanitary conditions in many a home, can be directly traced to the teacher thru the medium of the children.

Dr. Tuttle would spend very little time teaching the children about the anatomy of the human body—just enough so that they could get a clear understanding of hygiene. But a great deal of time should be given to this important subject. The child should be taught all about food values and what foods give the most nourishment for the least outlay of money. They should learn all about cleanliness in handling foods and how to properly prepare them. He recommended the practical application of teaching hygiene used by one teacher he knew, who took her pupils around on tours of inspection to the city stores. She pointed out to them why it was unsanitary and unhealthful to keep the fruits and vegetables exposed to the dust and dirt of the city streets, explaining how cheese, butter and meats which were left uncovered became contaminated. The children went home to their parents with stories of what they had seen and learned and the merchants of that particular town found out that it behooved them to change their way of house keeping or lose their trade. Such a plan might work wonders right here in Port Angeles. Hhe devoted some time to the subject of milk and how necessary it was to see that it was properly handled and was not coming from cows afflicted with tuberculosis germs, suggesting that a move in the right direction in this state would be a law compelling dairy men to kill the cows so afflicted.

The source of our drinking water, sewage and cesspools all received some attention from Dr. Tuttle, with a special talk to teachers in rural districts about the outside toilets of both home and school, how necessary to see that they had proper drainage and were not contaminating the water in the wells, which furnish the supply of drinking water. The dirty unsanitary conditions of many of our cities and towns, Dr. Tuttle attributes to the indifference and ignorance of our mayors, who are seeking rather to gain favor with certain political rings or influential citizens than in performing the duties which rightly devolve upon them. He would suggest that all mayors running for office, would take as their platform—"To make this town or city the cleanest in the state."

Five minute speeches on "Suggestions for the Improvement of Local Sanitary Conditions" were made by Mr. Teck of the Commercial Club, who advocated a wider publicity of the clean-up movement. T. F. Trumbull, who from a lawyers standpoint, spoke of the necessity of enforcing the law to compel citizens to comply with the regulations and rules laid down by our city and state officials; it was surprising that this should be the case even with educated and prominent citizens. He would suggest that we cultivate a greater spirit of co-operation to the end that disagreeable law suits and unfriendly feelings with our neighbors might be avoided and that all would work together in a spirit of harmony for improved hygienic and sanitary conditions so necessary to life and happiness.

Dr. Hyde closed with some interesting statistical reports, showing the necessity for maintaining stricter quaratine for what are commonly known as harmless children diseases. Condemned the idea, held by many parents, that children had to have all these diseases and made a strong plea for medical inspection of our schools.

Dr. Taylor acted as chairman of the meeting and entertained the audience with several amusing stories. Mr. Bert Slater of Sequim opened the evening's program with a vocal solo.

LOCAL FANS ENTHUSIASTIC

Angeles Team Looks Good for Big Run in Contending for Baseball Honors.

Celebrating the continued fine run of weather during the last week in March, the Angeles baseball team annexed to their already long list of victories the scalp of Battersby & Smith, that strong Seattle nine of athletes, on Sunday last. The game was an even up affair until the seventh inning, when our own home boys garnered in six of the hardest earned runs of any nine inning game, the final score standing 9 to 4.

In view of the fact that the Angeles manager, Mr. Graves, or the brainy trainer, Mr. Riley, have not as yet picked a permanent team, the fans are now convinced that they are backing a good strong aggregation as of old. Many recruits are trying out and several have yet to make their appearance upon the diamond. Port Angeles is, therefore, well advertised in the sporting world of this state, which fact is revealed by the amount of correspondence the manager does with outside ball players, many of whom are professionals and who are eager to make a tryout with the local team.

On Monday, in Seattle, the Battersby & Smith nine clashed with the Seattle Northwestern League team and closed down on the professionals with the long end of the score, which stood 6 to 5. This will give a fair idea what Angeles is apt to do when the Victoria nine crosses the angry waters of the Straits and drops their bats upon our soil.

Saturday, April 3rd, will be tomahawk day in this city. The Clallam Indian team from Neah Bay will cross bats with Angeles. The greater part of this team contains Indian blood, though the pitcher and catcher are white. On Sunday the local team will go after and most likely get the little round tops of the Belmont Dye Works aggregation of Seattle.

Both of these games will be called at 2:30 sharp.

The following is last Sunday's game by innings:

ECONOMY FOR POLITICS ONLY

Legislature's Running Expense Was Largest in the History of the State.

Olympia, April 1.—In passing upon the deficiency appropriation of $12,000 made by the recent legislature to meet its own additional expenditures, Governor Lister took occasion to comment vigorously upon the economical program claimed by legislative leaders.

Pointing out that the expenditures of the present legislature for itself were larger than those of any other session in the history of the state, Governor Lister said:

"Prior to the meeting of the legislature we were informed that this was to be an economical session. The first move made by the house of representatives indicated that economy was not intended to apply to the legislature itself, as salaries of practically all employes were increased. It was then said that while the salaries were higher yet the number of employes had been reduced, but as the days passed it was seen that additional employes were placed on the payroll. The result is shown in the excessive cost which brought about the necessity for the passage of a second or deficiency appropriation bill to cover the expenses of the legislature."

Among the sums voted by the legislature under the $12,000 appropriation were $600 to the state auditor for a trip to California to investigate the state exposition commission, upon request of a discharged employe, $150 extra compensation voted Speaker Conner for remaining after the session to sign the house journal, $50 voted a woman singer for music furnished at memorial exercises, etc.

These items were covered by resolution, however, and did not appear in the bill. Were it possible to veto these items he would do so, the governor stated, adding that the only reason he did not veto the entire bill was that this course would deprive many legislative employes of their salaries.

Reviewing the general appropriation policy followed by the legislature, Governor Lister pointed out that the appropriation given practically every republican department was increased, though departments under the governor's control, altho their estimates had first been trimmed by the department heads and by himself, were thereafter in many instances further reduced, sometimes to the point of crippling the efficiency of the department.

"In fact, an interview given out since the close of the legislature by one of the senate leaders of the majority party proudly boasts of the fact that the reductions made by the legislature were made in those departments under the control of the governor," the statement continues, adding:

"It is just such conditions as these that will eventually bring about a radical change in the management of public affairs; a change that will bring together men in legislative assemblies whose first desire will be to care for the state and its interests and not make paramount a desire to build up a partisan machine for a political party."

The industrial commission contends that under existing laws $35 is the minimum payment that should be allowed an injured workman with three or more dependents, such as a married man with two children, regardless of his wage, and has asked the attorney general's office for an official opinion on this point.

Under application of the "60 per cent rule" by the original commission and by the present commission up to the present time, no injured workman could receive more than 60 per cent of the wages he is making, by way of time loss compensation.

The present commission contends, however, that under the present laws, the 60 per cent rule applies only after compensation exceeds the minimum requirements.

The contention of the commission if upheld by the attorney general's office, will result in increasing materially the compensation of all workmen receiving wages of less than $2.25 per day, who have three or more dependents.

Gill netters have filed suit in the Thurston county superior court attacking the constitutionality of the new fish code, alleging that it was so drafted at the instance of the purse seiners as to put the gill netters out of business altogether.

Decision of the supreme court gives the state and the 30 counties in which the Northern Pacific and the Great Northern operate, some $200,000 in 1913 taxes which the two railroads were contesting. The supreme court upholds the assessment of the state tax commission, which the railroads contend was too high.

Ruling by Attorney General W. V. Tanner that appropriations of the last legislature totalling several millions of dollars, are subject to referendum and will not become available until June 10, has paved the way for a new test of the emergency clause question in the supreme court.

Governor Lister contends that these appropriations are for the support of the state government and that the terms of the appropriation acts prevail, making the money available for expenditure immediately after April 1.

The principal classes of appropriations in regard to which the court will be asked to rule are the appropriations for highway construction work, totaling about $1,800,000; appropriations for the construction of new buildings at state institutions, and "lump sum" appropriations in which appropriations for maintenance and improvements are consolidated. Attorney General Tanner holds in this connection that since the amounts are consolidated, the entire item is subject to referendum, although contending that an ordinary appropriation for maintenance purposes is not subject to referendum.

The state department of agriculture already is waging an effective fight against fire blight in the commercial orchard districts, as the result of approval by Governor Lister of the new horticultural code, which became effective immediately. Inspectors in the Yakima, Walla Walla, Kettle Falls and other eastern Washington districts are mailing notices to owners of infected orchards, ordering destruction of affected trees. If the orders are not followed, the state has authority to clean out the orchards and charge the expense against the property. In the Chelan county district state inspectors are in addition cleaning out a number of old Indian orchards which for years have been a source of infection for commercial orchards nearby.

The reinstatement of the county horticultural levies by the new law will allow the employment of greater field forces to combat the blight. The new law also allows the state to specify uniform rules to be followed in the packing and grading of apples and other fruits, and provides for testing of fungicides and insecticides offered for orchard use.

Referendum proceedings have been filed against the three election measures passed by the recent legislature over Governor Lister's veto, the joint legislative committee representing the State Federation of Labor, State Grange, Farmers' Unions and Direct Legislation League taking this action.

These measures, with the numbers assigned them for referendum purposes, are:

Referendum No. 3—Providing that initiative and referendum petitions must be signed at registration offices.

Referendum No. 4—Providing that recall petitions must be signed at registration offices.

Referendum No. 5—"Whitney" elections bill, legalizing party conventions and pledging candidates to follow programs adopted by these conventions.

The newly organized Washington State Referendum league has also filed referendum proceedings against the certificate of public necessity bill, the budget bill for cities and counties, the Seattle Port Commission bill and the anti-picketing bill.

Secretary of State I. M. Howell declined to receive referendum filings proffered by this organization against the "jitney bus" bill and the Renick bill prohibiting diversion of city funds to other uses, on account of the emergency clauses affixed to these measures. Supreme court proceedings will be taken in an effort to compel the acceptance of filings.

Of 150 bills left behind by the legislature after adjournment, Governor Lister signed 133, allowing three to become laws without signature, and vetoed fourteen. The most important bills among those vetoed following the session were the Kleeb "first aid" bill, the amendment of the eight hour law on public works, the "drugless doctors" bill and the bill prohibiting use of convict labor on road work.

Chairman H. T. Jones of the board of control, retiring April 1, after 12 years' service, longer than any other state official, will be complimented at a banquet given by friends Saturday night. Mr. Jones succeeded Ernest Lister, present governor, as member of the board. His place as chairman will be taken by Frank C. Morse, republican member of the board. Mr. Jones plans to resume private life in eastern Washington.

OLYMPIC TRADING COMPANY IN TROUBLE

Petition for Receiver Charges Fraud In Management of Concern; Over 5,000 Victims.

A petition asking that a temporary receiver be appointed for the Olympic Trading & Supply Co. of Seattle, has been filed in the superior court of that city by Miller Freeman, Lena Mason and E. J. Obrist, stockholders, who charge the wrongful diversion of large sums from the capital stock to pay rebates and dividends. The complaint also charges that $71,000 in cash was paid to S. T. Knudson, president of the company, for "commissions." The petitioners demanded an accounting.

It is claimed by the plaintiffs that the officers of the company, in addition to the diversion of the funds, made fraudulent representations of the financial standing of the company in the furtherance of a stock selling scheme. From the total authorized capitalization of $500,000, the complaint alleges, $240,000 has been subscribed and $125,000 paid in by more than 5,000 stockholders, the majority of them being farmers of this state.

Further allegations charge that of the $125,000 paid in Knudson has received $71,519 under a private contract for commissions, that existing assets do not exceed $32,000, and that a balance of approximately $21,500 cannot be accounted for.

The object of the company, as set forth by the by-laws, was to purchase and supply members of the company with all manner of merchandise at cost price plus a reasonable charge for handling. Instead of being a co-operative wholesale store for the benefit of its stockholders, the company was organized and is being solely operated as a stock selling scheme, the complaint alleges.

CANNOT PROVIDE ADDITIONAL COMPENSATION

According to the Ledger's Washington correspondent, the Post-office Department has written a letter to Senator Jones turning down the request of the citizens of this city and other places for a reorganization of the mail route from Clallam Bay by way of Beaver, Forks to Mora, so as to have the route start from Lake Crescent instead of Clallam Bay. Among the reasons assigned for denying the petition is that much additional mail would be thrown upon the contractor without additional compensation, which, the department says, would not be fair to the contractor.

PATRIOTIC ENTERTAINMENT A SUCCESS

The entertainment given last Thursday evening by the G. A. R. and W. R. C. was largely attended and the program enjoyed very much, due to the fact that it was given mostly by our school girls and boys, of whom we are indeed proud. By thus manifesting the interest they take in the past history of their country and countrymen, they plainly show that they will have future welfare of our country at heart. We hope to interest more of our young people, that be[illegible] object of our order.

To in[illegible] [illegible]votion and love of [illegible] g to be desired [illegible] every boy and gir[illegible] [illegible]nd especially at the prese[illegible] [illegible]en almost the entire world [illegible] war, which we wish to avoid, as by loving our noble country we would hardly care to see it destroyed.

Some of us do not think as the writer who said "we kill the thing we love."

After the closing of the program a lunch was served to all and a pleasant social time was had, and again to all who so kindly assisted us with the program, we thank you. Come again.

E. E. BRADSHAW BADLY HURT AT LAKE CRESCENT

The Ramapo Yoeman Lodge of Ramapo, No. 5013, are very sorry to report a very serious accident to one of its esteemed archers, Elmer E. Bradshaw.

The accident occurred Saturday, the 27th, at the Becker mill at Lake Crescent. Mr. Bradshaw, having finished his day's work, went into the engine room to speak to the engineer. With no warning whatever, the belting of the machinery gave away, and the eccentric flew down and struck him, breaking the shoulder and arm and bruising the left leg. The force of the blow threw him to the floor, where, suffering from a fracture at the back of the neck, he lay unconscious.

He was picked up by his friend, Harry Hoffman, and was brought immediately to the General Hospital.

Dr. McGillivray and the Yoemen special nurses are giving him the best of care, and the good wishes of his many friends hope for his speedy recovery.

OPEN SEASON ON PERCH AND BASS A JOKE HERE

The trout season opens this year as heretofore, May 1. An opinion by the prosecutor of Pierce county points out that while the late legislature passed a law opening the trout season April 1, the statute does not go into effect until June 11, hence the date under the former law applies. At present it is open season for perch and bass, but the season will close May 1, and remain closed until the new law goes into effect. Next year the season for trout, perch and bass will be open from April 1 to November 1.

HAY AND OAT BUSINESS INCREASING

A load of first class hay and oats has arrived from the San Jaun Islands on one of the scows leased by the Morse Transfer Co. This scow makes a weekly trip to the islands for feed material and the present demand may necessitate the adding of another one. Mr. Morse says that by selling in scow load lots he is able to handle nothing but high grade material. He also says that business is improving at such a rapid rate that he may have to remove his office from the Merchants Hotel building to his Chase street wharf within the present month. Phone 1.

Every Modern Advantage

High Tension Magneto

The Overland has high tension magneto ignition—the most dependable and most uniform system made. Many cars have only the cheaper and less efficient battery system. The battery system is furnished because it is cheaper. But the Overland uses the highest priced system of ignition—the high tension magneto—the same system found on high priced cars.

Don't buy a car that has battery ignition.

Underslung Rear Springs

The Overland has long underslung rear springs. Many cars are still made with those short overslung rear springs. Such springs make a car ride hard. They take all the fun out of touring. The underslung Overland springs are long; have wide openings and swivel seats. This makes them very flexible and smooth riding under all conditions.

Don't buy a car with overslung rear springs.

Simplest Driving Method

The Overland (81) has the control buttons located on the Instrument Board. They are within natural reach. Many cars still have them on the dash or at some other unhandy place. But on the Overland, without stooping or bending forward, you can readily press the buttons that start, stop and light the car. That is why the Overland is so popular with womenfolks. It is so easy to drive—so comfortable and so convenient.

Smooth Working Clutch

The Overland clutch is so designed that it always "releases" freely. It does not grab hold or jerk you from your seat. It works smoothly and evenly without a particle of stress or strain. On many cars the clutch grabs hold with such force that the driver bounces from his seat; the car is seriously strained and the occupants in the tonneau are glad when the ride is over. Don't buy a car with a stiff working clutch.

HIGHWAY FUNDS ARE HELD UP

Supreme Court Ruling to Delay the Work on Peninsula Road, Until June 10th.

From present indications the work of constructing the uncompleted portion of the Olympic Highway between Shelton and Quilcene, for which an appropriation was made by the legislature, will not begin until after June 10th. In reply to a letter written by State Highway Commissioner William R. Roy, Attorney General Tanner holds that no money will be available for the Olympic Highway until that date. He also says that maintenance money on roads will be available April 1st, and that where construction work is under way it may be continued until April 30th. The attorney general also holds that it is not legal to have work done during the waiting period, or to enter into contracts to be paid for or to be consumated after June 10, as such acts are not valid claims against the state.

Under the rulings of the attorney general, no action whatever can be taken in the way of letting contracts until after June 10. This will greatly delay the beginning of work, not only on the Olympic Highway, but on all highways in the state where the work is to be done by contract as it requires several weeks' time in advertising for bids and also for the successful bidder to assemble his outfit, so it is probable that highway work will not start until the latter part of July.

The Olympic Peninsula will be damaged along with the rest of the state unless the supreme court changes front on its findings. It had been hoped that work on the Olympic Highway, putting it in shape for the tourist traffic anxious to come this way this summer, would begin at once, enabling the opening of the road and a continuation of construction on the northern end. The spring of the year is the most favorable time for road building, and it is declared that a dollar will do much more good when applied at this season than later in the year when the soil does not lend itself so readily to the allurements of the road builder.

Last year the Olympic Highway was cheated out of a sum estimated at $20,000 by the peculiar methods in vogue. Road machinery to the amount of $6,000 was purchased by the state and charged up exclusively to the highway. It is still being used by the state, but no effort was made to pro rata the purchase price over the different projects where it may be utilized. When it came time to move this machinery down to one of the Columbia river counties, the cost of transportation was charged to the Olympic Highway, making this machinery a rather expensive thing for the road in this portion of the state. Other similar practices were worked, until it is declared by those who have seen the figures that fully $20,000 was charged to the road which in justice should have been shared by other state projects. This year it is hoped that the full amount of the appropriation could have been used, unless some more machinery was needed, and now along comes the mix-up due to the supreme court decision, tying up the funds until the tourist travel to the peninsula will be delayed and the best season of the year for road building disregarded. — Townsend Leader.

FRUIT GROWERS TO ORGANIZE

Club's Effort to Start Industry Off Right Will Be Successful.

A small but enthusiastic party of berry growers turned out to meet the state's horticultural experts on Monday and participate in the organization of a fruit growers' association. Mr. Huff of Sumner, made the principal address, telling how the Puyallup and Sumner associations were organized and how conducted, and outlining their work and phenomenal growth up to the present time.

A committee, E. D. Guthrie, F. P. Fisher and F. C. Teck was appointed to draw up plans for a temporary organization, to be submitted at another meeting in the club rooms to be held April 9th.

George Gale's thoughtfulness in providing a treat in the way of a liberal contribution of logan berry juice was greatly appreciated . Mr. Gale is convinced that a new market might readily be opened up with the juice and that it would gain in favor as rapidly as the juice of the grape. orange or pineapple. Mr. Huff, however, recommended barreling the berries, simply packing them in alternate layers [illegible]h sugar. He believed, the [illegible]oduct could be sold to the [illegible]iation.

THE KNOCKER

By O. Stockmar.

A "Knocker" stopped me on the street,
And touched my shoulder and said, "Why Pete,
How do you manage to eat and sleep,
With times so hard and bills to meet.
My store is empty most of the day,
And the help are hollerin' for their pay."
I turned to him and spoke, "You sage,
Throw 'way your hammer and your gauge;
Hitch up your horses to your cart;
Come, pull with us and take our part.
We're boostin' hard most all the while,
And linin' up in rank and file
For times a-comin'.—I most forgot
To tell you that you're losin' out."
He throwed his steel-green eyes on me,
And scratched his head and shouted, "See!
I'll ruin your trade and talk about
The price you're quotin' for the cure o' gout.
I don't see nothin' in boostin, round
A town like this on Puget Sound."
—But later we find that the Knocker has broke
His hammer in two and now there is hope
That he will get converted and train into form
By selling his hammer and buying a horn.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

No matter how useless some article may become to you, some other person has a use for that article and would buy it could the demand find the supply be brought together. In the big cities the classified departments of the newspapers are so interesting and as widely read as the news columns. In fact, they contain real live news. And those who use them are reaping great advantage—both buyers and sellers. Many of the country papers in the eastern states have had a page or more of such items; their readers have learned the value of the small ad.

Everybody seems agreed that it is a silly thing for a man to carry a gun. They say that if he carries a weapon of any kind he is apt to get into trouble just because he's armed. Seems reasonable, don't it? Yet these same people will tell you that the only way for a nation to avoid trouble is to be armed to the teeth. There's something rotten about this logic somewhere.—Renton Herald.

Contractor Anderson has the Lincoln street work about complete to 12th street, and traffic has been shut off until its final acceptance. SOCIAL AND CLUB NEWS

The home of Mayor White and the Mrs. White was the scene of a gay party given by the "Book Club," Tuesday evening. Each member came dressed in the fashion of 50 years ago. Antique, original, and grotesque were the gowns, from the Colonial dames with their beauty patches and powdered hair to the "baby doll" in all her ribbons. Merry widows and poke bonnets were there with "great grandma's cap and shawl." The fetching "tie behind" was an heirloom of princely value to say nothing of the "riot" of color in hoisery. Madame Highbrow and her diamonds shared the honors with Lady de Bustle, Madame Polonaise and Mother Goldchain, assisted by Countess Lovely Shoulder and sister, Lady de Feather. Madame Butterfly and Lady Loop Skirt amused the "baby." Cards and music were a feature of the evening and hand-painted place cards were souvenirs. Yellow was the color motif used. A most elaborate three-course luncheon was served and at midnight the "call of the jitney" found us making adieus and pronouncing this the best of its kind with barrels of fun.

Mrs. Mary Mason was hostess to the W. L. C. Friday, March 19th. Thirty-two members and two visitors were present. The program and decorations were in keeping with St. Patrick's Day and roll call was responded to by telling Irish jokes. At the close of the program, dainty refreshments were served. Mrs. Laura Littlefield was hostess Friday, March 26th, 27 members and two visitors present. The program, Parliamentary Drill by Mrs. Maria Durmel, Modern Inventions by Elizabeth Cloukie, and recitation by Nettie Dustman, was enjoyed very much. Refreshments were served and the sherbet was pronounced especially fine. Adjourned to meet in one week at the Teachers' Institute.

"A miscellaneous shower" in honor of Miss Dorothy Donovan was given by Mrs. J. C. Delabarre at her home Saturday evening. Guests of the early part of the evening were the young ladies of the San Souci Sewing Club, who were joined later by their gentlemen friends and a few other guests. Dancing and music formed the principal part of the evening's entertainment. Miss Donovan was the recipient of many beautiful gifts, "showered" upon her by her admiring friends, and the evening was most happily spent.

Mrs. E. J. Walton very charmingly entertained the Cherry Hill Auction Bridge Club at her home Wednesday afternoon with an Easter party. The house decorations were all in yellow and white, consisting of daffodills and Easter lilies. The dainty luncheon was also suggestive of the Easter tide and each guest was presented with a little Easter favor. Favors for highest scores at cards were won by Mrs. C. C. Donovan, the consolation going to Mrs. Meredith.

The P A. E. Club held a very enjoyable April Fool's party at the home of Mrs. C. D. Trimble on Second and Pine streets, Thursday, April 1st. A penny fine was placed on each member saying yes or no for thirty minutes. A collection of 30c was thus taken up. The Club will meet at the home of Mrs. Thos. Voy on 2nd and Pine streets on April 23.

Mrs. Bradbury's home was the scene of a merry party Wednesday evening, when the boarders surprised Miss Porter with a "kitchen shower." It was a right jolly affair and was immensely enjoyed by all the participants. Miss Porter received many useful and ornamental gifts. She returns to Seattle today and will be married in a few weeks.

Miss Eunice Stakemiller was pleasantly surprised Monday evening, when , at the regular meeting of the San Souci Sewing Club, she was given a "shower" by her young lady friends. She was presented with many useful and beautiful gifts and the evening was one of unalloyed pleasure to all present.

The Study Club tea of the Presbyterian church, anounced to be given this week at the home of Mrs. Arthur Filion, has been postponed until Wednesday of next week.

The Ladies Musical Club will entertain their friends at Mrs. Mason's music store Tuesday evening, April 6th. A good time and a miscellaneous program will be given.

Mrs. C. J. Tucker entertained a few friends at a dancing party on Wednesday evening for Mrs. Robert Jose.

Mrs. C. C. Donovan had in a few friends to luncheon Tuesday, complimentary to Mrs. Helen Jose.

Mrs. Grace Moore was hostess to the Fortnightly Card Club Tuesday afternoon.

AUXILIARY WHIST TOURNAMENT APRIL 9

Mesdames J. C. Delabarre, E. J. Walton and D. J. McCarthy will have charge of the whist tournament and dance to be given Friday evening, April 9th, in the opera house, for the benefit of the Port Angeles Public Library. Tickets to the tournament will be 25 cents and an additional 25 cents will be charged the gentlemen for the dance. JUDGES WILL HOLD COURT NEXT WEEK

Judge Allston or Judge Bell of the Superior Court of Snohomish county will hear a motion for dismissal of D. M. Talbot, brought into court something over a year ago, charged with illegally taking timber from the lands of Minerva Duncan. The dismissal will be resisted by Mrs. Duncan and by the present prosecutor. Judge Ralston will also hold court here Monday, and possibly the balance of the week, quite a docket gathering.

DR. MAJOR LECTURE WELL ATTENDED

The lecture of Dr. Major of Seattle given in the opera house last Friday evening under the direction of the Presbyterian Church received a hearty support from the church and its friends. The lecture was enjoyed by all. Mrs. Hopkins rendered several vocal selections. Miss MacMillan gave an interesting reading.
