DISAPPEARANCE OF CITY'S $900 "A GRAVE QUESTION"

FORGET IT TILL AFTER ELECTION

Tuesday's city council meeting was a record breaker for recent years in time of adjournment, that hour arriving in just forty minutes. Routine business throughout. The event of the evening was the report of City Attorney Smith on the communication of the attorney general referred to him. It was unique indeed, the gist of which was: The matter was a grave question, and should not be discussed in the throes of a campaign, because of the tendency at such a time to dodge the issue. He will therefore take several weeks to prepare an opinion, when he can do so impartially and after full consideration. The whole burden of the matter has been placed upon him, he said, but he is willing to assume it. He also stated that the giving of opinions in advance of hearings to the council publicly might be detrimental to city's interests and that council should be advised privately. No action.

Franchise ordinances were read first and second times and referred. They are for the grants to Standard Oil Co. as noted in last week's Olympic-Leader, namely tankage and warehouse storage tanks on lots 9 and 10, block 48, and wharfage privileges at foot of Tumwater street in lieu of grants to Angeles Brewing Co. which rights have been assigned to them. A resolution was also offered by Mr. Bigelow and referred giving permit for connecting pipe lines, all to conform at all times to city ordinances and regulations.

Ordinances by Mr. Fisher were also read and referred. They provide for the issuance of bonds to pay for the construction of sub-sewers in the territory just southwest of 2nd and Lincoln streets. The amounts were not named.

Walk ordered put in on Front street between Albert and Francis, was on motion of Mr. Fisher ordered rescinded, and old walk between Eunice and Francis ordered renewed.

Street superintendent was ordered to put crossing on north side of Front street at Peabody in good repair.

Engineer was granted privilege of taking old drain pipes on flat for garbage dump, and of removing old timbers at end of Lincoln wharf, which he declared were a menace to the new sewer outlet.

Permits were granted to Arnt Nelson to construct a modern dwelling at Seventh and Laurel streets 26x42, and to V. L. Booth to construct a building at 2nd and Cedar 24x24, to cost $200.

MC GOFF SENT TO REFORMATORY

Will of Mary Louise Peterson admitted to probate and Louise Garvin named as Executrix. Bond fixed at $5000.

Final account and discharge of administrator in estate of Wm. J. Shaw ordered. This matter has been in the court for several years.

Case of Fred Farmer vs. Sol Duc Transportation Co. was dismissed upon motion of plaintiff, suit being settled out of court.

Demurrer in damage suit of Davidson vs. Thomas was overruled and defendants given ten days to further plead.

Mortgages aggregating $2500 were foreclosed in favor of F. E. Ullstrom against G. M. Rouse. According to decree Rouse will retain possession of home pending year of redemption.

Jane J. Fisher was given decree of foreclosure against John Thompson for $350 on two lots at 12th and C Streets.

In the case of Seattle Mer. Assoc. vs. J. N. Marshall, et al, appealed from the Justice court. Court ordered case continued until November 22, to permit entire record from Justice court to be filed.

Messrs. Cochran and Plummer and T. F. Trumbull appeared before the Court Tuesday asking a reduction of the bond of DeWitt Sisson, and reciting in affidavits that the sheriff and prosecutor had been overzealous in the matter of this bond and in their efforts to retain Sisson in jail. Prosecutor Rose filed counter affidavit and explained to Court his position, namely, that he was certain Sisson would go when released on bail, and that he simply wished to be sure that if he did go that the county would have a sufficient and good bond. The court held that the prosecutor was fully justified in his action, and in view of the fact that another information was to be filed against defendant and the fact that cash bail was to be advanced, ordered bail reduced to $2000, which was forthwith put up and defendant released.

D. C. Sisson and Floyd McGoff were arraigned Wednesday upon the charge of grand larceny in relieving Mrs. Gallinger, a resident at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Van Kuren, of valuables to the value of $60. To this plea Mr. McGoff, who says he is 20 years of age, pleaded guilty, and was sentenced 1 to 15 years in the State Reformatory at Monroe; Sisson entered a plea of Not Guilty, and was released on bonds of $500. In the arson case McGoff was sentenced to 1 to 10 years at Monroe.

The Knight-Godfrey company secured judgment against Ole Berg of Sequim for $91 and costs on account of goods furnished.

IOWA ASSN. MEETING IN AUDITORIUM TONIGHT

The second meeting of the Iowa Association, planned particularly for the benefit of those who wish to enroll as charter members, will be held at the high school auditorium tonight. A splendid program, including an original Iowa song, has been arranged and it is believed all who attend will enjoy the evening. The membership is not limited to those who were born in Iowa, tho there are over a hundred registered voters in Port Angeles who gave that state as theirs by right of birth, but all those who claim Iowa as their "home state" are eligible to membership.

RED CROSS WILL HOLD CONCERT IN OPERA HOUSE

The committee of the Red Cross Society met at the British Consulate on Wednesday and arranged for a concert to be held at an early date at the opera house. Committees were appointed and everything points to a great success. An effort will be made to bring one or more noted singers from Victoria to take part in the entertainment.

Citizens of Port Townsend met in mass meeting yesterday afternoon for the purpose of naming an executive committee and arranging preliminaries for a celebration to mark the completion of the railroad.

"Little Visits" No. 4

Dr. Theodore Sharpe.

It looked as though "Little Visits" would be interrupted this week as this scribe has been in bed since Monday morning with symptoms of that peculiar malady which the Irishman described as a disease which you have six weeks after you are better. Now there, I have made a false statement on the very start. I was up a few hours Monday evening and attended the monthly meeting of the Commercial Club. These gentlemen were very patient, like Job of old, while I bored them with a speech that did not seem to have much rhyme or reason in it. That occasion is still a nightmare to me and ever since I have been searching for a harness that I might control the creature and have a chance to examine my mad midnight sayings.

Well, I must complete my pilgrimage to the Commercial Club. I have been talking like a garrulous old grandam at a wedding and not saying a thing.

When I entered the rooms of the Commercial Club many things struck me, some pleasantly and some unpleasantly. The unpleasant things I will only whisper in the ears of the officials. They have no reference to folks, only to things.

The most pleasant thing in all that room, and there were many pleasant things and folks there, was the genial countenance of the secretary of the club, "Brother Teck." He looks so much like a fellow Methodist in the East that I know he will pardon the nomenclature which I have applied to him and which I have taken from the religious and social catalogue of all good folks who have the fellow-feeling in their hearts.

This man who has the work and burden of the Commercial Club upon his heart and hands has the dignity of a cabinet official, the face of a bishop, the bearing of a supreme judge, the welcome and handclasp of a newly found friend, the smile of a summer day, the hospitality of the South before the war. This man has many more qualities and characteristics than these but I must refrain from mentioning them as he is a very modest man, like all real men. I wish this man would join the Methodist church. I would give him a local preacher's license and make him my assistant. But above all things I have tried to say I want to say this. Men of his type are doing a work for our western cities which cannot be estimated from dollars and salaries. Drop in the rooms where he holds sway and get acquainted with him. Listen to him as he boosts for "Our Town" and you will at once become a fellow booster for the finest city on the Sound or Strait.

Now I must mention the man who presides over the destines of this wide-awake Commercial Club. I did not have the happy fortune of meeting Mr. Walton until some days after my first visit to the club. I am not yet familiar enough with him to apply the friendly terminology which I did to "Friend Teck" but my first impression was, "Here is a man who improves with acquaintance." I have since found I did not err in my first impression. Mr. Walton is a very busy man indeed as one may know from the fact that he is at the head of the Walton Lumber Co.

This man is quiet but very constructive and he presides at the public sessions of the club as well as at the meetings of the Board of Directors with the composure and ease of Joe Cannon but without the brusqueness and harshness. The destinies of the Commercial Club of Port Angeles are in safe hands and this man of quiet and dignified manner and mien will bring the ship of Port Angeles into the harbor of material and moral prosperity and happiness. Let every man who loves "Our Town" get behind this man and his loyal followers and bring the Commercial Club to the mountain peaks of service and usefulness.

Now I have been thinking outloud since I started this little talk and thus again I show the wander lust of my mind and I am compelled to side-track again and put my thoughts in words so that all who read this may know of what I have been thinking

The social spirit has not yet died out in man. And yet how this soul of life is being allowed to petrify and ossify. Yes indeed, in many cases of man it is a fossil and as

The petition of the Merrill & Ring Lumber company, signed by the Goodyear Lumber Co. and by many of the leading residents of the West End, praying for the construction of a road from Joyce to Pysht, was referred, by the county commissioners in session this week, to the county engineer for report. A consideration of ways and means will be taken up at a future meeting, an effort to meet Mr. Merrill's request that the road be pushed thru this year if possible.

The engineer was also instructed to survey the road from Mora to La Push and to report regarding the location of a ferry.

There being no objection to the Highland Irrigation Ditch the Board directed that the district be established as prayed and designated on Tuesday, November 23rd, as the date of election of directors at large.

COUNTY AGRICULTURIST O. T. MC WHORTER NOW ON THE JOB

SUBJECT TO CALL AT ANY TIME

"The work of the agricultural expert is generally misunderstood," said Prof. O. T. McWhorter, the county's new agriculturist, who arrived this week "He is not sent out primarily for the purpose of instructing the farmers. Over 80 per cent of his work consists in making a study of the methods of those who are the more successful in various lines of the industry, and then passing on the information to others in the same community. The individual farmer has neither the time nor, often, the inclination to travel about the country in search of the desired information, gathering it a little here, a little there."

Mr. McWhorter comes here from Snohomish, where he has held the position of instructor in agriculture in the city schools, the course proving so popular that more wanted to enroll than they could handle. A feature of his work there was the instruction of boys in stock judging, for which purpose he divided his class of thirty-six boys into three teams. They won the silver cup at Puyallup this year, four teams competing.

Prior to taking up the work at Snohomish, Mr. McWhorter was superintendent of farming at the state training school at Chehalis, where there are about 400 people; the school keeps 70 head of dairy cattle and raises some thirty acres of miscellaneous vegetables.

Mr. McWhorter says that for the present he will be in his office, in the county commissioner's room at the court house, on Saturday forenoons, spending the remainder of his time in the field. He wishes every farmer to understand that he is subject to call; that he wants to go out on their ranches and help them work out their problems, rather than attempt to teach anyone how things should be done. A farmer himself, as all state men have to be, he is prepared to take up crop rotation, plant and animal diseases, feeding dairy problems. Later he hopes to form a cow testing association, giving farmers an opportunity to eliminate the boarders from the herd; also to consider questions of marketing, irrigation, and drainage.

Mr. McWhorter will be provided with a Ford purchased jointly by Jefferson and Clallam with which to tour the two counties. The state pays one-half the $1,800 salary, and expenses, to be paid by the counties, will probably amount to as much more, making each county's share about $900.

SHIP ARRIVES WITH SAILS IN TATTERS

Returning with Cargo of Whale Oil After Taking Supplies to Explorer Stefansson.

After being buffeted for seventeen days by the heaviest seas Capt. S. F. Cottle, her master, had experienced in twenty-seven years, the auxiliary power schooner Ruby, with whale oil and fertilizer, arrived here in tow of the United States life saving tug Snohomish Monday night, with a broken rudder and her sails in shreds, says W. D. Welsh, in a Port Angeles Special to the P.-I.

Capt. Cottle, who took supplies to Vilhjalmm Stefansson at Bathurst, near the mouth of the Mackenzie river, saw the explorer last when he left Bathurst on the Gladiator to look for his schooners, the Polar Bear and the North Star, which had left for Kellett on Banks land and which he feared had been lost.

Stefansson was enthusiastic over his discovery and meant to push on to latitude 80 north, he having explored about 184 miles of this new land.

Capt. Cottle says that Stefansson has the best outfit so far and is confident of success.

The Ruby left Bathurst September 1, the same day that Stefansson sailed for Kellett and the other party of explorers left on the schooner Alaska for east of the Mackenzie

The Ruby loaded 395 drums of whale oil, three tanks of oil, 1,136 sacks fertilizer, three pieces of machinery, 153 empty drums, for Seattle, at Akutan, Unalaska.

From the date the Ruby left Akutan she ran into heavy weather and when 600 miles from Cape Flattery the last piece of her sails gave way in the tempest and her rudder snapped.

Capt. Cottle managed to partly repair the rudder with planking, which held until the Ruby entered the strait. She was at the mercy of the currents when the Snohomish found her floundering around at Pillar Point, twenty-nine miles west of Port Angeles.

A meeting will be held at German Hall next Sunday afternoon, under the auspices of the German Society of Port Angeles, for the purpose of making final arrangements for the raising of money to send to the German Red Cross, where it will be used to assist the sick and wounded.

MOUNT OLYMPUS NATIONAL PARK MEETING NOV. 19

Representatives of chambers of commerce, commercial clubs and other public-spirited organizations will meet in Seattle Friday evening, November 19, to formulate plans for a concerted fight before congress to have Mount Olympus national monument designated a national park. Call for the meeting was issued by Mrs. W. S. Worman, state chairman of the conservation committee of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, an international organization. The meeting will be held in the committee room of the chamber of commerce. The movement to change the status of the reserve that takes in the higher elevations of the Olympic mountains surrounding Mt. Olympus from a monument to a national park was strongly endorsed at the convention of the General Federation of Women's clubs held in Spokane last summer, and support has been pledged in favor of such a bill before congress. The Mt. Olympus national monument now covers an area of 608, 480 acres and reaches 27 miles from east to west.

SEVERE GALE CAUSES DEATH OF THREE MEN

The first severe gale of the season, Saturday night last, caught the power boat See-Ann, carrying salmon from Hood canal to the H. J. Bugge cannery at Washington Harbor, and drove her on the beach about two miles from Point Partridge. Capt. Geo. Bridges, owner, Wickersham, son of L. G. Wickersham of Clallam Bay, and a man thought to be Hicks, who comprised the crew, were drowned, their bodies being picked up on the island shore. Bridges and Wickersham were found the morning after the storm and Hicks was found Wednesday. It is believed the boat's engine broke down, as she was considered a good sea boat. The three men had on life preservers and had evidently made a strong effort to reach shore. The boat had 3,500 salmon on board.

The open season on deer, blue and ruffed grouse and quail closed with the last day of October and hereafter every man carrying a gun will be viewed with considerable suspicion by the county game warden and his deputies. Trout may be lawfully taken until the 30th of November.

The death of twenty-one little children in a fire that gutted St. John's Parochial School in Peabody, Mass., again puts the question of local conditions squarely up to the authorities in every city and town in the country. In Tacoma, several schools have been found lacking in the matter of safe exits. However, the principal offenders against the safety of the public are the owners of theaters and other buildings in which public gatherings are held. In case of fire and loss of life thru the inevitable struggle in narrow and twisted hallways the city authorities would be held, and justly, to be equally responsible with the owners.

After the most aggressive campaign, in any line of politics, for many years, a campaign in which many thousands of women were actively interested, the states of New York, Massachussets and Pennyslvania have rejected woman suffrage, Though the people of those states would have benefitted politically and morally by admitting women to the polls, the defeat of the cause was a foregone conclusion. There are prophets who say they never will win, but that prediction is not in consonance with justice; they will win eventually.

Ohio has again turned down prohibition, though by a greatly decreased majority in comparison with the vote taken one year ago.

WEEKS TO CHRISTMAS

Not Too Early to Begin Christmas Gift Buying

"If things are not going just as a man thinks they should," said Field Secretary Trefz of the United States Chamber of Commerce, in an address to the Tacoma commercial bodies last week, 'the best way to find the trouble is for that man to go home and face the best looking-glass in the house." Mr. Trefz, like unto Billy Sunday, strikes straight from the shoulder; he lists as the undesirables who restrain a city's growth the selfish non-participant, the ignorant egotist, the unhearing idles, the indifferent snob, the poison-tongued, thimble-brained critic of other men's activities. He says that every wise man sees the advantage in co-operation, in organization, in team work. Only the unwise stand on the side lines and complain. In every town many good men are on the siding, idle. Some have permitted the little meannesses of other men to sidetrack them; some, with the shallow side of their characters uppermost, have adopted the rule or ruin policy, while some profess not to be able to keep up their memberships in their commercial clubs and pay for gasoline at the same time.

There is no rule by which an amateur or anyone else can distinguish the edible from the poisonous forms," says Prof. J. W. Hotson of the U. of W., in speaking of mushrooms. "All popular rules are unreliable when made general. All puff balls are edible, but when the spores ripen they are past the edible stage. TheClavarias (whatever they may be) that are not bitter or tough are edible. The Morells and the Shaggy Manes are fine, while the white spored forms include some of the most poisonous species." The Professor suggests that the only safe way is to become familiar with certain definite species—and very kindly concludes his chat by giving a number of antidotes that might prove useful to the amateur.

A Port Townsend dispatch reports the probable reopening of the Classen Chemical Company's plant at the head of Townsend Bay. The plant cost $750,000 and after being operated for a time in the manufacture of alcohol from both sawdust and molasses was leased to a San Francisco firm and closed. The lease has now expired and it is said the company will again manufacture denatured alcohol, bringing the molasses from the Hawaiian islands

ACTIVITIES OF THE STATE'S DEPARTMENTS

16,069 Cows Tested for Dread Disease—Tuberculosis

Olympia, Nov. 5.—A record of 16,069 cows tested for tuberculosis during the last sixteen months, an average in excess of 1,000 per month, has been attained by the state agricultural department. Tacoma city authorities during the same period made 2,526 tests, checked by the state authorities, so that during this time the tuberculin test has been applied to considerably more than one tenth of the 175,000 dairy cows in the state.

The state and Tacoma tests combined showed 1,502 tubercular cows. Pierce county was found to contain the most disease, approximately 17 per cent of the cows tested being reactors. In the rest of the state only 5 per cent of the cows tested were reactors.

Of the tests listed 6,555 were made under the new compensation law, effective June 10.

As an indication of how this law is working out, Agricultural Commissioner H. T. Graves has tabulated statistics dealing with the first 209 cows found diseased and slaughtered. These cows were appraised at a total of $5,989, or an average of $28.66.

After being slaughtered the carcasses were sold for meat or tankage, depending upon the progress of the disease, and brought for the owners $2,606.87, an average of $12.48 per carcass. The state made up the balance of the appraised value, paying a total of $3,382.13, or an average of $16.18 per condemned animal.

Commissioner Graves believes that at the present rate the $25,000 appropriation for compensation purposes will allow the testing of a total of 30,000 animals.

Success Announced in the Hatching of Sockeye Salmon

State Fish Commissioner L. H. Darwin, in a circular letter addressed to all interests connected with the fishing industry, announces the success of his experiments this year in hatching sockeye salmon in Washington waters, and states that there is no reason why 25,000,000 sockeyes cannot be hatched in this state this year and increasing numbers in following years, so that the Puget Sound salmon industry can be built up to its former status.

The sockeye breeds naturally only in Canadian waters and refusal of the Canadian authorities to allow the establishment of hatcheries on their streams, and interference by railroad work and otherwise with the natural spawning grounds, has threatened the possible extermination of the best food fish that runs in Puget Sound waters. This year Commissioner Darwin undertook as an experiment the hatching of 1,000,000 sockeyes in the Samish hatchery and in spite of numerous difficulties carried the work on successfully.

The letter to the fishing interests reviews the progress of the fisheries department during the two and one-half years of the present administration, during which time seven new hatcheries have been constructed and several others enlarged and reopened, so that the total hatchery capacity has been increased 60 per cent, while one Washington hatchery alone took more eggs last year than all Oregon hatcheries combined.

This has been made possible thru department economics, Commissioner Darwin's letter states, showing that while the average cost of hatching 1,000 salmon was 88.8 cents during the last year of the previous administration, this cost was reduced to 56 cents for the first year of the present administration and to 43 cents for the second year.

Agricultural Department to Make Plans for the Coming Year

Governor Lister has called a meeting of the advisory board of the state department of agriculture for November 8 to make plans for the coming year's work of the department in all its branches. It is likely that the contract of Frank Meredith, as secretary-manager of the Washington state fair, will be renewed at its expiration, as this year's fair at North Yakima gained the credit of being the best in the history of the institution. Meredith for many years was secretary of the Oregon state fair.

Frederick Bausman takes Seat on Supreme Bench

Judge Bausman gives up a practice reputed to be among the best in Seattle to accept Governor Lister's appointment to the supreme bench. He is 52 years of age, has practiced law in this state for 24 years, has traveled widely and is known prominently as a student of foreign systems of jurisprudence and as a contributor to law reviews. He has been prominent in public affairs but has never held office or been a candidate since serving as private secretary to Eugene Semple, last territorial Governor of Washington, from 1887 to 1889.

Proceedings Started on Several Navigation People of Puget Sound

The public service commission last week started the first proceedings under the "unfair competition" act of 1913, naming as defendants the Puget Sound Navigation Co., Inter-Island Navigation Co., Kingston Transportation Co. and W. H. Kasch, who have been engaged in a four-cornered rate-cutting war in upper Puget Sound waters. The unfair competition act prohibits rate cutting, below the cost of the service, for the purpose of driving competitors from the field, and is intended to preserve fair conditions of competition.

The commission also has started the first proceedings under the false billing section of the public utilities act against two lumber firms, which shipped doors and windows in one case, and maple flooring in the other, under the designation of "fir lumber" to obtain the lower freight rate.

Last Brief Filed in M. & K. Gottstein Case

The seventh and last brief in the M. & K. Gottstein case, involving the validity of the prohibition act, was filed last week by the attorney general's office and this case has been finally submitted to the court. Four briefs were filed in all by opponents of the law and three answering briefs by the attorney general's office and counsel for the Anti-Saloon league. The briefs contain approximately 950 pages or 190,000 words.

Tabulation on Inheritance Tax In the Last Fourteen Years

Tabulations by the state tax commission show that in the 14 years since the inheritance tax law has been in effect, a total of $1,139,380 has been collected.

During the first three years average collections were only $20,000 a year. During the last seven years, during which time collections have been in charge of the tax commission, collections have ranged from $94,262 to $186,441 annually, exceeding $120,000 for each of the last five years.

Of the total collections $476,538, or more than 40 per cent of the total amount, has been paid upon estates probated in King county.

$400,000 Will Be Derived Under New Automobile Law

Under the new motor vehicle license law thus far 38,739 automobile licenses have been issued, bringing in $203,684, an average of $5.25 per car, and 4,940 motorcycle licenses, bringing in $12,331, an average of $2.50 per motorcycle.

For next year 44,200 automobiles licenses and 6,200 motorcycle licenses are the estimate, which would bring the total receipts for the year to $247,550.

After paying administration expenses, approximately $400,000 will be derived under this law during the biennium for permanent highway maintenance work.

HIGH SCHOOL HAPPENINGS

Mrs. C. P. Brown entertained the football boys and Mr. Regnier at dinner Monday evening. The house was decorated in yellow and black with Halloween lanterns, scarecrows and skeletons so that the effect was quite spooky and altogether charming. While at the dinner table, a picture was taken of the boys, their hostess and the four girls who assisted in serving and this photograph will be used in the "Tum Tum."

After dinner a game of table football was started and, judging from the noise made in playing, it must have been a most fascinating game. Music made a pleasant ending to a very jolly evening and the boys will not forget the good time they had at the home of the high school yell leader.

Remember the football game Saturday with Townsend. It will be the last big game of the season and we are confident that the boys will win. They managed to hold their own so well in the last half of the game at Townsend and played such a splendid game with Everett that we look forward to a victory and want everyone to turn out and support the team.

The Seniors had a "circle" with the medium, Madame Schorey, last Tuesday evening and many and wonderful were the things they learned about themselves in regard to their past, present and future. They plan to use these interesting facts in the Senior prophecy for the high school annual.

The domestic art students have been making samples showing the different kinds of stitches used in practical sewing. They also began recitation work on Thursday and this will take two periods a week.

In the case of A. Del Guzzo vs. Messrs. Lindsay & Redden, for alleged fraudulent assignment of contract, plaintiff is required to set out more fully alleged oral contract, and to state whether plaintiff or defendants represented to city council that assignment was not a real assignment to protect said Lindsay & Redden. The rest of defendant's motion to make more specific was denied.

Judgment by stipulation was given in favor of the Klock Produce Co. vs. E. W. Merrill & Co., in sum of $270.

Notes given by C. E. Fulmer and Chas. Morse for $500 each to NW. Mausoleum Co. for stock, upon representation of agent that they would pay said notes out of commissions earned by reason of a mausoleum being constructed in this city, during last year, the former through sales of crepts and the latter through overseeing the construction of the building on a 10 per cent basis, were by the court ordered cancelled, and stock, given with the service of a summons, ordered returned to the NW Co. Mr. Henry, attorney to whom notes were assigned for collection, denied the right of agent to make such representation, and presented the applications of defendants wherein any rights except therein stated were denied. Mr. Henry gave notice of appeal.

It was finally agreed between counsel that the device will be changed so that no new pipe line will be required by Mr. Dechman, but so as to insure that but the quantity of water decreed by court will be hereafter taken.

MONROE REFORMATORY INMATES LIKE TO READ

The inmates of the Monroe Reformatory can be helped and touched very easily if you care to take the trouble of boxing or wrapping any magazines or books that you do not regret losing and notifying an express company to call for same, after marking the package, "Library Dept. W. S. R., Monroe, Washington.

The reformatory will pay the freight and the inmates will pay with renewed ambition, better service to society and a realization that you people outside have gone out of your way to cheer and help them.

As you might suppose, our most pleasant hours here are those we spend in the reading room or in our own private room with books and magazines.

All our magazines and most of our books are gifts from the great outside world. We have hundreds of magazines now that are in good repair and some that are not able to stand much more handling. The same with our books. But they have been read and re-read by 450 inmates until a patron of the inside library feels highly elated when he is offered a magazine or book which he has not seen before.

And winter is here. When it rains we do not go out to work. We in the Honor Community must stay in the domestic building where we content ourselves with checkers, wrestling, music—and reading. We in the main building stay confined to our little individual rooms and—read.

Last winter an appeal of this kind was made and a suprisingly generous response was the result. Thousands of old magazines and some not so old and books in proportion came flowing in and continued to flow through the year 1915. Even now we receive an occasional package of periodicals. The weekly newspapers of the state took up the cause and advertised our wants in a very generous manner.

However mild your sympathy for us may be, the gift of your discarded reading matter, or the books and magazines you have no particular use for, will cost you but a little time to send to us and will accomplish great good for the men who are shut away from the pleasures and joys of free life in the distant world.

All magazines—the books you yourself enjoyed, and especially mechanical and scientific publications, are desired. We have a band and an orchestra and classes in trades. Music, trade instruction publications, or any special literature you care to send will be used. We hope that you will feel as cozy 'round the heart as do we, when you have thus "cast your bread upon the waters."—The Index, Monroe State Reformatory.

Say, but they sure have some nifty watch fobs, both ladies' and gent's, in the display window of Schaible & Hutchinson. It wouldn't be a bad idea to select one now for a Christmas gift.

FORKS AND THE WEST END

By J. V. Koenig.

The weather was rather bad Saturday night so the crowd that turned out to the dance was rather small.

Mrs. E. F. Ross of Tyee has returned home after an extended visit in the East.

W. F. Taylor has moved into his new store building at the mouth of the Dickey river.

Mrs. C. W. Palmer, who has been ill with pneumonia during the past week, has nearly recovered.

Mrs. Grace Voltz, the teacher of the Quillayute school, attended the meeting of the Washington Educational Association in Seattle.

Those who attended the Halloween pary given by the Odd Fellows Friday night seemed to have a big time for they have talked of nothing much but witches and devils and black cats since the party.

The Toggery has moved to its new quarters in the Odd Fellow's building.

Forks will have direct telephone connection with Port Angeles in a few weeks. The Port Angeles Telegraph and Telephone Company are extending their line from the Rixon place at Sappho. This will fill a long felt need. C. D. Sult will have charge of this end of the line.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Peterson returned from their California trip last week. They made the trip down there on a motorcycle. Oscar says they found some roads in southern Oregon and northern California that were much worse than Clallam county roads. They spent four or five days at the fair and then toured over California almost as far south as Los Angeles. The return trip was made by the ocean route.

The first moving pictures for Forks were shown last week in the Athletic Hall under the direction of Curtis and Billsborough of Seattle. A good program of farce and "mellerdrammer" was enjoyed by an appreciative crowd, especially by those who had never seen a moving picture before.

TUBERCULOSIS LEAGUE ASKS FOR HELP

With over one million Red Cross Seals on hand to exchange for pennies to be used as ammunition in the fight against tuberculosis, the Washington Association for the Prevention and Relief of Tuberculosis issues a call for volunteers in every community to act as agents in the sale. In these cheery little tokens now awaiting distribution lies the power to carry the campaign for health forward another year. Through the anti-tuberculosis crusade, three institutions for the exclusive care and treatment of the disease are now operating in Washington. "Firlands," near Seattle, in King county; "Mountain View," near Tacoma and "Edgecliff," near Spokane. The present bed capacity of these is about 275 patients, but with contemplated additions seven hundred can be accommodated. Several other counties are now considering erecting similar institutions. The fight has only begun. Lives are yet at stake through the menace of this disease.

Remember the Red Cross Seal has an educational value that perhaps exceeds its financial worth. It is also a token of interest and good cheer on your part and a message of love, sympathy and helpfulness to the tuberculosis of the state. Seals cost only a penny each. The sale begins November 29th, closing Christmas Eve. Order now. For information about the sale write to the Washington Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis, 916 Cobb Building, Seattle.

A letter received from Mrs. W. B. Webster, of the Webster Publishing Company, yesterday morning, tells of the enjoyable time they are already having in Los Angeles, where they are comfortably situated in the same flat they had last year. They entered the Golden Gate at San Francisco at eight o'clock, just as the illumination in honor of Edison was at its height.

In the copy of the Examiner which Mrs. Webster sends we find K. C. B., OUR Kenny of the P.-I., under the familiar "Ye Towne Gossip" heading, paying his respects to Henry Ford, who accompanied Edison on his Western trip. "You don't know me," he addresses Henry, "but I'm the little man with the cane and the yellow gloves that shook hands with you for the movies on Tuesday night on the roof of Stanford Court. And I want you to know that I'd waited two hours for a chance to get into the pictures. And besides that I was tired. I'm always tired for I haven't any automobile or Ford or anything. And this morning I saw in the paper that you'd given away four Fords to some Naval officers and it seems so foolish. They can't use them; they've got ships to ride around in. And I understand that you make a Ford every three minutes and I want to ask you if you could give me just three minutes of your time. I've got so much to do running around to hospitals and bazaars and everywhere. I just want a little one with two seats; that would do till I get money enough to buy an automobile. I asked George Emmons and Bill Hughson who sell them here if they'd give me one. And W. F. McLeod promised to teach me to run it. And they told me they'd let me hear from them. But I've lost my hearing or something, and anyway I get so tired just running around with my feet. And Saturday night I'm going to the Letter Carriers' Ball and if I get one before then I'd be so much obliged. I'm so tired all the time."

If Kenny did not get "his auto" it must have been because Henry Ford did not have the privilege of reading his appeal, or perhaps because Ford himself "never was a boy."

GLEN FLEMING DIED OF PNEUMONIA THURSDAY

The sympathy of the community goes out to Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Fleming in the loss of their only son, Glen, a bright boy of fourteen, who died Thursday morning of pneumonia. Glen was a Freshman in the high school and a general favorite with his classmates in spite of the fact that he had never been as robust as the other boys. Funeral services will be held at 10:30 Saturday at the church on Lincoln Heights, Rev. Stephen Smith of the Congregational church officiating.

CHILD DIES ON BOARD STEAMER SOL DUC

One of the saddest events that has occurred to Port Angeles people in a long time was the death Saturday evening of the 12 months old baby of Mr. and Mrs. Betaque. They had embarked on the Sol Duc for the purpose of taking the baby to Seattle that it might have the benefit of care by a specialist, and had barely reached Port Townsend when it had a sinking spell; the steamer was held while Dr. House was sent for but he found that the little one had already breathed its last. The stricken parents continued on to Seattle, remaining on the steamer and returning to Angeles. Mr. Betaque, while one of our more recent residents, is well known as assistant engineer.

LITTLE VISITS NO. 4: THE COMMERCIAL CLUB

Man must be more than social. He must be sociable. There is a mighty difference. Here is a work for the Commercial Club. The development and growth of the material, the political, the sanitary, and the moral life of the community is very important indeed, but yet there is another phase of life which many have forgotten. It is called the "Joy of Life." This joy is not found by sticking all day at one's business, so absorbed in money making that the real life is missed but it is found by rubbing elbows and exchanging words with your fellow man.

The business meetings of the Commercial Club can be made much more interesting if we remember that fact. Let these meetings be made not social but sociable. Half an hour ought to be sufficient to transact the regular business. Let this be done as well and orderly as it was done Monday evening and a great deal of important business can be transacted in thirty minutes. Then turn the meeting into a sociable session. A little bit of arranging, etc., and the rooms would be made cosy and attractive so that the members and the invited friends would be delighted to linger to chat and perhaps to eat a little bit. Every now and then let the members bring their friends and when the business is over adjourn to some good place and renew the good times over the dinner plate.

I think myself there would be better results if the meetings were held twice a month. Get folks to love a place and there will be no trouble in getting them there to stay until you will have to drive them away. But perhaps this will fall upon heedless ears—but this being so I have lifted the burden of my conscience and placed it on others.

Now this brings me to another "thing."

The Commercial Club has appointed an entertainment committee to arrange for a series of social gatherings for the winter and early spring. Since the Commercial Club stands for the community spirit those entertainments ought to be of such a character that all persons, even those with legitimate religious convictions, could participate in them. Speaking for myself and family I say with all candour I like to mingle with folks and have a good time with the consciousness that I am in perfect harmony with convictions of duty and service and example.

If any Commercial Club accepts me as a member it ought not to raise any bars against my social life and prevent one of my convictions from participating in having a good time.

Let this scribe make just one suggestion. Let this be tried but once. If it fails, then never a word again.

Back in old college days we enjoyed the old-fashioned promenade. How the college halls and rooms resounded with joy and laughter and a good time. Everyone had a good time from "Prexy" and his three hundred pound wife down to the greenest freshman. The music of laughter was there, the preacher was there, the doctor was there, the merchant was there, in fact everything that constitutes fellowship and a good time was there. Even the refreshments were present.

Here we have a beautiful and handsome school building with a splendid auditorium. This building belongs to the folks of Port Angeles and it ought to be used more by them. It ought to be more than a place where the boys and girls are taught to acquire an education. It ought to be a social center for the people.

Just think of those halls and rooms. What a good time the Commercial club or any other folks who will boost and work could give the good people of Port Angeles. Here is an ideal place for an old-fashioned promenade where all folks could gather and have the times of their lives.

With very little cost of money this school building could be opened every Friday evening to the public and I venture the statement that many a person now living a clam life would open up and hardly recognize themselves. The great trouble with this city as with thousands of others is the fact that folks are strangers to one another. Get them together and much of the misunderstanding will disappear.

Now I hear some one say, "Trying to substitute this for the dance." This is exactly what I am suggesting to the Commercial Club committee. I hope they will give this suggestion a chance to work itself out. I am not a fanatic on anything and Port Angeles will soon find that out. But I do have the courage to say let us have some social gatherings and functions where all people can meet and have a good time and at the same time hold true to any convictions they may have on social questions, mooted or unmooted.

I hear some one say, "This is too tame." Then I must retort, "There is something wrong in the outlet of your social springs."

In conclusion this is not a criticism of anything or anybody, it is a mere suggestion from one who has the social heart of the city upon his mind and thought.

Speak out your mind now and let me hear your thoughts.

R. H. CALLARMAN

For Councilman-at-Large.

I could write several columns regarding what I would do if elected to office. Every public official is bound by the oath of office to perform his duties honestly, as efficiently as he can and to defend the public against outside interests as he would defend himself. These subjects are therefore eliminated. The city should confine its expenditures to improvements that are needed for actual use and not those which are to lay idle and deteriorate from lack of use.

I believe in the development of the electric light system to its highest efficiency, as it is one of the greatest factors in the upbuilding of the city. The proposed $30,000 bond issue for this department is a measure of economy as well as progress and should pass.

I have no interest in personal or factional disputes of any kind. They have no connection with the city government.

If there is anyone in the race better qualified than myself I hope he will be elected. If elected I shall give the city the best that I have. This is my platform.

Yours truly,
R. H. CALLARMAN.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Sims and Mr. and Mrs. Allan Trumbull of Port Townsend motored thru to Forks, Mora and Clallam Bay this week, all being very much surprised and pleased over the splendid condition of Clallam's highways at this time of year. Mr. Sims was particularly interested in the road as a section of the Olympic highway, for which he did such yeoman service in the last legislature.

ROSS MACKECHNIE PLAYS FOOTBALL IN CALIFORNIA

Among the twenty football players who left for California Tuesday morning was Ross MacKechnie, a former football star on the Angeles high school team Ross was one of the twenty men picked by the far-famed Coach Dobie for the big game with California this week. It is evident that he is a first class man as described in Seattle papers. Ross plays halfback for the U. of W.

MERCHANTS ARE WISE

A man with a fake advertising scheme blew into town Monday morning and called at the Journal office to get prices on a job he was figuring on having done, but finding that the merchants here were not as "easy" as he anticipated, he departed for other parts without securing a single "rise."

As a sidelight on this kind of business, the man who was here Monday told us of his experience at Puyallup. They have a merchants' association down there, and the first man he struck for an ad. asked him if the scheme had been sanctioned by the association. This same question confronted him at nearly every store he entered, until he decided that he had better move on to some other city.

Almost the first question he asked us when he blew in Monday was if there was a merchants' association here.—Kent Journal.

REGULAR SESSION OF THE COMMERCIAL CLUB

Regular meeting of the Commercial Club, November 1, 1915, 8 p. m. Present: President Walton, Rev. Theodore Sharpe of the First Methodist Church, Rev. A. H. Burkholder, of the First Presbyterian Church, and about thirty members of the Club and citizens.

Minutes of the adjourned regular meeting of September 13, 1915, were read and approved.

T. ALDWELL CORRESPONDENCE

The secretary stated the gist of an encouraging letter received from Thos. T. Aldwell, dated aboard train en route from Winnipeg to Chicago, October 27, in which Mr. Aldwell emphasized the need of safeguarding the industrial sites on Ediz Hood sandspit.

RAYMOND RAILROAD CELEBRATION

A letter of invitation from the Raymond Commercial Club, inviting this Club to participate in the Milwaukee railroad celebration on Willapa Harbor, November 8, 1915, was read.

CLALLAM COUNTY FAIR CORRESPONDENCE AND REPORT

State Horticultural Inspector F. N. Rhodes' letter commenting on the Clallam County Fair of 1915, as compared with that of 1914, at both of which he judged the fruit exhibits, was read and discussed. As he has for several years inspected all the fruit sold in Seattle markets and is at the same time familiar with local possibilities of growing fruits most in demand in that market, his suggestion that Clallam county growers should specialize in Gravenstein, Wealthy, King, Winter Banana, Grimes Golden and Wagner apples, and Bartlett, Anjou, Comice and Winter Nellis pears, was considered of great utility and value. In closing his letter Mr. Rhodes said: "I also think your Commercial Club .....deserves great credit for its untiring efforts in trying to make your fair a success, and I think it should be backed up to a finish by your farmers and business men."

The complete detailed report of the Clallam County Fair executive committee, composed of R. H. Callarman, J. W. Hooker, L. J. Leonard, W. J. Ware and Stephen Land, was read and discussed, the report having previously been commended and adopted by the Board of Directors. Chairman Callarman of the committee stated that it is planned soon to formulate a complete system of permanent bureau organization to have charge of Clallam County Fair management under the auspices of the club.

ROAD EXTENSION TO PYSHT

A letter from J. F. Rudisile of Clallam Bay, calling attention to the extensive logging operations now developing in the Pysht river district, and which will probably next spring employ from 500 to 700 men, and suggesting the necessity of extending the wagon road from Joyce to Pysht, a distance of about 18 miles, was read and discussed by County Commissioners James Dick and John C. Hansen, and others, the latter stating that a petition asking for the road is on file but has not yet been considered by the Board. Both commissioners admitted the advisability of building the road if the money required can be obtained, and suggested they would appreciate the co-operation of a committee from the club when considering the problem. Senator A. A. Smith and Dr. D. H. Craig moved that the president appoint a special committee of three for that purpose. Later the president appointed as such committee Messrs. Thos. T. Aldwell, Lewis Levy and Peter Grubb.

THANKSGIVING EVE BALL AND ENTERTAINMENT

Mr. Andrew Severyns of the entertainment committee reported that the committee had definitely decided upon giving a ball on the evening of Thanksgiving Day, although none of the plans and details have as yet been worked out. The committee expects to report at the next regular meeting of the club a complete outline of entertainments which it proposes to be given under the auspices of the club throughout the winter.

"MY TOWN OR OUR TOWN—WHICH?" REV. THEODORE SHARPE

At this time the president introduced Rev. Theodore Sharpe of the First Methodist Episcopal church, who delivered an interesting and inspiring address on the subject of community co-operation, entitled "My Town or Your Town, Which?" He said that he is as much interested in the success of the Commercial Club as in his own church, because the success of the club means the success of the city, which alone makes possible the progress and upbuilding of the church. The co-operating community man is always sure of personal reward for his community boosting enterprise. He said he knew more about banking and political economy than about the ethics of his own church. Lots of people expect Providence to do for the town what only active community spirit and effort can do for it. There is the least graft in cities where the community spirit is the strongest. Team work, active co-operation, wins the greatest results in all walks of life. Don't knock the knocker—take him home to dinner and coax him to co-operate with you for the benefit of the town. Abuse will never win him.

On motion of John C. Hansen a vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Sharpe, and Rev. A. H. Burkholder was invited to address the club at the next regular meeting, Monday, December 6.
