IOWA PRONOUNCED "A GOOD STATE TO COME FROM"

INTEREST IN CLUB INCREASING

The last census showed the population of Iowa decreasing, and the question was, "Where are we all?" More than a hundred people in Port Angeles are registered Iowa born—evidently the Hawkeyes have swarmed westward.

Iowa Port Angeleans, feeling that in union there is profit and pleasure, as well as strength, called a meeting at the Commercial Club rooms of Port Angeles October eighth, and began an organization to be known as "The Iowa Association of Clallam County," the object being to bring Iowa people together, promote good fellowship and stimulate socialibility, to keep alive a respect and loyalty for the Hawkeye state, and disseminate a knowledge of her splendid history and ideals; to entertain distinguished guests from Iowa and to induce anyone who contemplates leaving their native state, to locate in the Evergreen state and to assist all such matters in every way possible.

Mr. H. Van Brocklin was eleced President, J. E. Cochran, Vice-President, Benj. N. Phillips, Treasurer and Miss S. E. Brown, Secretary.

Mr. Lindsay was appointed committee on constitution, and the President and Secretary, a committee to prepare a literary program for the next meeting.

After pleasant reminiscences of the old home in Iowa, the meeting adjourned to meet November fifth.

At the appointed time, thirty-three Iowans assembled in the High School auditorium. The organization was completed by adopting the constitution drawn by Mr. Lindsay and elecing Mr. T. F. Trumbull, Mr. J. B. Nattinger and Mrs. F. S. Plummer to serve with the officers of the association as the executive committee. Mr. W. K. Nattinger, in current events of Iowa, showed that the future policy of the state is to manufacture its raw material into finished products within its own border.

The association sang the state song, "Iowa, My Iowa," and "The Little Brown Church in the Vale." This church, made famous in song, is located in Iowa not far from Mrs. E. B. Webster's home in Howard county. Mrs. E. O. Brown personated an old farmer away from home and longing for "The Clover Blooms of Iowa.' T. F. Trumbull heartily commending the management in general and everything in particular made a very neat speech,complimenting the ladies of both states. He believes Iowa is a good state to come from and Washington is a good state to come to.

Miss Wiggins made a great fuss over a pudding which might have been made in Iowa but of which we have our suspicions.

The association then sang a parody on "Everybody Works but Father," entitled, "Everybody Milks in Iowa," led by Miss Gilmore and Miss Brown. A Port Angelean muse started a Washington version of this parody and after three stanzas collapsed in a fit. All who heard the song agreed that it was too much for one muse, yet the world needs twenty stanzas of that song to express adequately the beauty and grandeur of the state of Washington. The other muses are requested to come to the rescue and contribute the other seventeen stanzas at our next meeting. Only one stanza will be required of any muse.

The next meeting will be a social held December tenth, in a place selected by the committee, Miss Gilmore, Mrs. J. B. Nattinger and Mrs. Plummer. All Iowa people and their families who have resided in Iowa one year are eligible to membership Dues are fifty cents per annum, payable any time before January first. There are thirty-seven charter members. There should be a hundred.

All ye Iowa people, come out to the next meeting. "Birds mit von fedder should flock mit demselves"—occasionally. The place of meeting will be announced through the local press.

CHRISTMAS TREES AND OUTDOOR CAMPFIRE ON SNOWY MOUNTAIN

Taking their cue from the municipal Christmas trees which have become such a feature of the holiday festivities in Eastern cities, where they are set up in a park or the public square, the local mountaineers or Klahhanes, which is interpreted as the "good times club," have planned a New Years Celebration and Christmas Tree outing at their lodge, "a half mile up on the side of Mt. Angeles." The tree, or trees, for there will be a large one without and a small one, about twenty feet high, within the lodge, are to be profusely decorated and ablaze even to the topmost bough with dozens of candles. Santa Claus, who by that time will be through with his arduous duties from north to south and east to west, has promised to spend the night at the lodge and to distribute a big sleigh-load of presents. A New Year's dinner Saturday afternoon and a campfire of immense logs are also promised as additional features of the two days' entertainment.

Notices of a series of week-end outings, sent out this week, also include a Thanksgiving outing with a feast typically Indian in character, to be followed by a special program, "musical and otherwise." This will be in the nature of a celebration over the completion of the fireplace, which in itself is as large as a small house and has a 24-foot chimney.

Then there is to be a two days' trip up the Elwha to visit Game Warden Pike's herd of elk; an Annual Snow Frolic; an outing to Lake Crescent; another to Lake Angeles; etc., the whole interspersed with monthly entertainments, beach parties, local walks, etc.

The second annual outing, to be given the latter part of June, will be to the Main Divide at the head of the Elwha, Quinault, Queets and Hoh rivers—the land of glaciers, snow fields, waterfalls, canyons, roaring rivers, stunted trees and flowery meadows, and the home of the elk, deer, cougar and bear.

Taken altogether, it is quite a pretentious program the mountaineers have put out, and one which will afford the members, of whom there are now about forty, a great variety of amusement. Small wonder they should call their club "The Klahhanes."

FOOTBALL GAME CANCELLED AT ELEVENTH HOUR

The football game scheduled for Saturday, November 6, was postponed on account of the death of one of the high school students to Tuesday, November 9, and was then cancelled by telephone the night before the game by Townsend high school. A determined effort was made on the part of Port Angeles management to have the game played as scheduled, but all efforts failed. After three telephone conferences with the superintendent and president of board of education at Port Townsend, the latter reported that it would be unwise to consider playing the game. However, no consideration was given the Angeles high school for advertising and having an advance sale of tickets sufficient to pay expenses of the game. It was also a disappointment to the high school students as they had planned and had gone to an expense for a reception for Port Townsend. Port Townsend can hardly do less than reimburse the local athletic association for necessary expense in connection with the game. All people holding tickets please return them and get your money.

GETTING READY TO LOG 3,000,000,000 FEET OF TIMBER

WILL LAST TWENTY YEARS

Steps preliminary to a development project which contemplates an outlet for huge timber holdings in Clallam county were taken today when the state board of land commissioners appraised tide lands along the Pysht river for which application to purchase has been made by the Merrill-Ring Lumber company, of Seattle, says the Seattle P.-I. of Nov. 8.

The Merrill-Ring Company notified the board today that it has 25,000 acres of valuable timber holdings lying back of and adjacent to the Pysht river, which empties into the straits of Juan de Fuca. It is estimated that this land contains 3,000,000,000 feet of merchantable timber and the company desires the tide lands lying along both sides of the Pysht river and fronting on the mouth of the river to build a breakwater for booming purposes.

The company made applicaion to purchase a total of 715 chains of tide lands which the state board today appraised at $5 and $10 a chain $5 a chain for the tide lands lying up the river, and $10 a chain for that lying along the Straits of Juan de Fuca at the mouth of the river.

This land will be put up at public auction in the January sale, and a stipulation was entered into today that before the sale will be confirmed by the state board the company and the board must make mutual arrangements whereby the company will take 560 acres of state timber land lying within the tract of private timber holdings now owned by the company. The board also granted the Merrill-Ring Company right-of-way over state land for a logging road for the nominal sum of $100.

COMMERCIAL CLUB TO GIVE A GRAND ASSEMBLY BALL

Friday evening, November 19, the Port Angeles Commercial Club will give a grand Assembly ball in the Davis & Woods pavilion, music by the Port Angeles Marine band orchestra. It will be the first of a series of noteworthy entertainments to be given by the club during the coming winter, the dates now announced being as follows:

Friday evening, November 19, assembly ball.

Friday evening, December 17, ball.

Friday evening, January 21, ball.

Washington's Birthday, February 22, annual banquet.

It was decided to make a charge of 50 cents per person for admission at the first Assembly ball, and invitations to the gentlemen guests to be asked to participate will be issued within a few days.

Arrangements are also under way for regular weekly luncheons to be given by the club for its members during the winter. These will be topical business luncheons, each luncheon being featured by the discussion of some specific subject of general local interest.

This much has already been decided by the live new Entertainment committee of the club, which held an interesting meeting again on Monday evening of this week. The committee is composed of G. W. Muck, chairman; Andrew Severyns, Howard H. Van Brocklin, W. J. Mathewson and Harry B. Stiles. The Monday evening meeting was held in the office of Judge Severyns.

UNION THANKSGIVING SERVICE

The Union Thanksgiving Service will be held this year at the Congregational church at 11 a. m., November 25th. Rev. A. H. Burkholder will preach the sermon.

POPULAR SEQUIM COUPLE MARRIED HERE WEDNESDAY

Just at the noon hour, Wednesday, November 10th, Henry George Lotzgesell and Hazel Cays, both of Dungeness were united in marriage in the parlor of the Merchants Hotel by Rev. C. E. Fulmer. The only witness to the marriage besides the parents of both bride and groom were Messrs. Day and Abbott, proprietors of the hotel. After the ceremony the wedding party ate dinner at the hotel and then accompanied the young couple to the Sol Duc on which they left for Seattle to remain a week.

Upon their return to Dungeness next Wednesday they will be tendered a reception in the evening by the Woman's Club of Dungeness, in the dining room of the Dungeness Hall, which will be largely attended by the hosts of friends of this popular young couple.

The bridegroom is the son of the former county commissioner, Frank Lotzgesell. He is one of the exemplary young men of Clallam county, and expects to be one of her foremost farmers. He and his charming young bride, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Cays, will go to housekeeping at once on the old Lotzgesell homestead at Dungeness, near where they were both born and raised native off-springs of Clallam county. The Olympic-Leader joins with the many friends in extending congratulations for their future happiness and prosperity.

The truth of the old adage, "There's no great loss without some small gain," was borne home to Jefferson county this week, upon receipt of $2,189.40, apportionment from sales of timber from national forests, which represents 25 per cent of the total received from the federal government, paid to the counties for roads and schools. The entire proceeds in the state are divided in proportion to acreage each county has in the reserves and Jefferson ranks high. Clallam's share is $1,366.12.

STATE LAND COMMISSIONER MAKES IDEAL RECORD

WORTHY OF GREATEST PUBLICITY

For the first time in the history of the State of Washington a Taxpayer's League took upon itself the task of inspecting an office of a state official, when during October Cassius M. Williams, certified public accountant, F. W. Shillestad, cashier of the Denny-Renton Clay and Coal company, and Fred R. Butterworth, cashier of E. R. Butterworth & Sons, representing the Seattle Taxpayer's League, investigated the office of Clark V. Savidge, State Land Commissioner. This extended report was handled at great length by the Seattle Post-Intelligencer and the Seattle Times and has caused statewide comment for it shows how one state official, without previous public experience, by the application of business methods increased the efficiency of his office fifty per cent and at the same time cut the salary list $500 a month. The Seattle Taxpayer's League goes into detail concerning the work accomplished and in commenting upon the findings, after the checking by experts, the Post-Intelligencer on November 4, printed the following editorials.

COUNTY GAME WARDEN STARTING A "BIG GAME" COLLECTION

The shipping out of a family of six of the Roosevelt Elk last week bro't in from the Hoh river by a party of taxidermists from the Field Museum of Chicago, who were collecting under permit from the state game warden, seems to have imbued Game Warden Pike and Sheriff Bishop with the idea that Clallam county should take steps to secure material for a first class exhibit of big game before other museums from San Diego to Podunk, Maine, clean out all the old bulls in the Olympics. Being experienced hunters and apparently knowing about where to find their game, they returned to town with three fine capes the first trip, two of the elk being old bulls and the other a cow. Incidently—such is the ingratitude of man—they arrested Dewitt Sisson on the charge of killing the animals, he having the capes in his house already prepared for the taxidermist. Sisson claims that he is a collector for the Smithsonian Institution, the national museum, but whether he had a permit from the state is another matter upon which there seems to be some little doubt. Anyway, just to clear up the mooted point, he was required to give bonds in the sum of $250. It is said misfortunes always come three in a row, and this is the third time Dewey has had to give bonds within the past few days.

ODDFELLOWS' SMOKER WAS A HUGE SUCCESS

The smoker given by the local Oddfellows last Monday night was a huge success in every detail and one of the largest gatherings of men ever held at the hall was in evidence, about 200 being present. Features of the evening's entertainment were talks by various members, a whistling and other solos, interspersed with musical numbers, closing with one of the famous feeds in the spacious dining room. A raffle of the piano was also had during the evening, which with the side prizes made a very exciting contest. $5 in gold won by , $10 by R. H. Hungerford, and the piano ticket was held by Miss Radamaker. Another event of like nature will be held early in December when Grand Master Wilson will be present.

COMPLETION OF RAILROAD ALREADY ANCIENT HISTORY

Port Townsend people seem to have abandoned the idea of celebrating the completion of the railroad to that point with an excursion to Port Angeles and a banquet and dance to be furnished by the people of this city, and are now actively engaged in raising funds for the purpose of pulling off a celebration themselves. Their committee of five men was given two weeks in which to induce the business interests to loosen up. Judging by what two men are able to do here in one afternoon in the way of financing a celebration, they must be contemplating some entertainment.

NEW EDITOR SEQUIM PRESS A LIVE ONE

The formal transfer of the Sequim Press from Geo. W. O'Brien to Angus Hay of White Bluffs was annuonced in last Saturday's issue of that paper.

Mr. O'Brien has published a good paper since he started up in 1911 and has made friends of all the East End people. Also he has paved the way for bigger and better things in the nwespaper line, which Mr. Hay announces he will take advantage of, saying that, "It is evident that with the inauguration of railway traffic and the field of possibilities it opens this district needs publicity of the right sort. The Sequim country is worthy of it and needs it. Homeseekers are searching for just such a region—thousands of them. And the truth will bring them here. And once they are located in a spot so favored by nature, they'll be glad they came. The Press hopes to be able to furnish a considerable part of such publicity, the truth and nothing else. And the truth is good enough for Sequim and the Sequim country.

NEW CASES FILED

The Superior Court will convene again Monday, November 22, for which date several matters have been set for hearing.

New cases filed:

H. A. Falk vs. J. A. Cochran, foreclosure tax certificate.

R. M. Clark vs. Lillian, divorce, desertion, no children or property.

J. A. Adams vs. L. D. Soule, et al., to quiet title to Dungeness lands.

Filion M. & L. Co. vs. F. B. Carlisle Co., promissory note.

Margaret Hines vs. Clallam County, $5000 damages for alleged injuries sustained in being overturned in hole near Pysht.

Gomer Jones vs. L. M. Campbell, et ux., foreclosure, two cases.

P. S. Sheet Metal Works vs. R. Shields and Harry Cotton, foreclosure Machanics lien.

ALDWELL & CO. AGENTS MILWAUKEE LAND COMPANY

The T. T. Aldwell Real Estate Co. received word this week that they had been appointed agents for the Milwaukee Land Co. and would have charge of that company's holdings in Port Angeles.

The report was received here on Tuesday from Aberdeen that K. Y. Church, formerly City Marshal and long resident of this city, died that day of blood poisoning. Mr. Church was taken ill several weeks ago with a carbuncle on his neck and he had continued to grow worse until physicians despaired of saving him.

For the past six years "Ken" Church has been detective on the Aberdeen police force, many notable arrests of big game being made by and through his sagacity. While city marshal here he was known for his fearlessness, having at one time stood against a long knife in the hands of a burly disturber, and he knocked the big fellow down with his bare fist.

"THE SPIRIT OF A PROGRESSIVE, NEIGHBORLY COMMUNITY."

"Everybody who attended that convention had a great and companionable and wholly pleasurable time," writes Prof. Frank G. Kane, of the Dept. of Journalism, in a recent letter to the Olympic-Leader—a letter of more than usual interest in that he refers to Dr. Suzzallo's visit, which was so enjoyed by our people here. "There was much profit in it," continues Mr. Kane, "for the newspaper man, sightseer, common human being. The city, formally and through the individual citizens, made us fully welcome. And you newspaper publishers fairly outdid all expectations, with the kindliness and thoughtfulness of your program for us. But of all who attended, I have no doubt the representatives of the university received extraordinary courtesy. My feelings in having neglected to write you this before are the more poignant because you did so much to make pleasant President Suzzallo's reception, and to honor him; for he was somewhat the personal guest of Mr. Kennedy and myself at that meeting. He has reverted time and again to his delightful experiences there, and I believe we may place to the credit of Port Angeles and her editors a good share of the cordial reception he has won everywhere. Port Angeles was the first city outside Seattle visited by him in his then new capacity of president of the state university, and Port Angeles set a standard in appreciation of him and pleasant experience for him.

"In company with the rest of your guests, we were informed as well as entertained by the visits and trips to points of interest in and around your city. But most of all, I think, you showed us the spirit of a progressive, neighborly community."

Chehalis, in anticipation of the closing of the saloons, has already provided reading and lounging rooms for the young men and those who have no real home, by fitting up a large building with easy chairs, games and books. Other cities are doing the same thing; in some several organizations combined in the expense and work. If anything is to be done here, it would seem that the quicker we get it under way the better.

Circulate the home dollar at home. It will then pass through many hands, help many merchants and increase home prosperity. A dollar well spent is a dollar spent here.

WEEKS TO CHRISTMAS

EARLY Gift Buying Means BETTER CHOICES

FAREWELL TO D. RUM; ON WITH GRAPE JUICE!

The melancholy days have come, we'll soon put skids 'neath Demon Rum; we'll soon go on the Clysmic cart and Welch's grape will warm our heart; and when we want to have a time, we'll take a drink of seltzered lime, and when for juleps cool we dream, we'll blow our sheckels for ice cream, and when we feel like breaking loose we'll buy a beaker of grape juice.

The cold gray dawn will bring no thirst, or heads that feel about to burst; no more the clink of ice will cheer the ragged soul on mornings drear; no more will pickled cherries lure those following the cocktail cure; no garish signs will greet the eye and tempt the thirst of passers-by; no bright lights lead to polished bars and cut-glass twinkles like the stars.

When soft stuff you can stand no longer, and sigh and year for something stronger, you'll pungle up two-bits and get a passport for some Schlitz, and order from a nearby state twelve quarts of brew shipped in a crate; you'll wait a week, and mayhap two, before the wet express comes through; perhaps by then you'll be not dry; you find the cost was rather high, and find that soft drinks aren't so bad—let's hope so, anyway, egad!—Auburn Republican.

LONE SURVIVOR'S STRUGGLE

The lone survivor of the first settlers in the west end of Clallam county, F. T. Balch, whose home is a short distance west of Sequim, is dangerously ill. He suffered an attack of apoplexy on Wednesday of last week. He is given the best attention by neighbors and the Odd Fellows, directed by the family physician, Dr. Dent, and strong hopes are entertained for ultimate improvement. Mr. Balch is 71 years old. Sixty-two years ago he came to the Puget Sound region from the New England states, and for more than 40 years he has been a resident of Clallam county, prominent in its affairs and closely identified with its development.—Sequim Press

ACTIVITIES OF THE STATE'S DEPARTMENTS

Accurate Statistics Compiled On the State Highways.

Olympia, Nov. 11.—The most accurate statistics yet compiled in regard to Washington roads, just completed by the state highway department, show a total of 42,529 miles of officially located roads in this state, nearly enough to encircle the globe twice.

However, two-thirds of this mileage, 28,049 miles to be exact, consists of unimproved dirt roads. Another 9,634 miles are improved dirt, sand or clay roads, with proper provision for draining, crowned and having easy grades. There are 4,845 miles of surfaced roads, including 3,923 miles of gravel, 503 miles of macadam, 134 miles of oil or tar surfaced macadam, 105 miles of planking, 41 miles of corduroy, 23 miles of patent paving, 9 miles of asphalt, 79 miles of concrete and 26 miles of brick.

Lincoln county, with 3,100 miles of officially located roads, or enough to stretch across the continent, has the greatest road mileage, Whitman and Spokane counties following in the order named.

King county, with 1,489 miles of improved roads, has the best highway system, Pierce and Spokane counties following, in the order named, in the mileage of improved highways.

State Fair Grows More Important Each Year.

Final report of the 1915 state fair, rendered this week to the agricultural advisory board, shows that out of the fair appropriation of $35,000 there was used for current expenses of the fair $9,336.55 and for permanent improvements $9,270.75, leaving a balance of $16,392.70 for next year's fair.

Cash receipts of the fair were $21,127.27, greater than any preceding year. Current expenditures were $8,823.31 for premiums, $2,668 for music and free attractions, $6,713.66 and $12,258.85 for administration and all other expenditures, aside from $9,270.75 for permanent improvements.

The 1915 fair at North Yakima was said to have been the best in the history of the event, and in view of the good financial showing made it is altogether likely that Secretary Frank Meredith will be reengaged. For many years previous to 1915 he was secretary of the Oregon state fair.

Work Harder to Rid State of All Tubercular Cows.

Activities for the coming year of the state department of agriculture were planned at the meeting of the advisory board this week. Commissioner H. T. Graves submitted reports of all lines of work of the department for the past year, showing that more than double the work of any previous year has been done in applying the tuberculin test to dairy cattle. This work will be continued with even greater energy to rid the state of all tubercular cows.

Governor Lister Approves Appointment of Mrs. Hall.

Governor Lister has approved the appointment by the board of control of Mrs. Sadie E. Hall, as acting superintendent of the state school for blind at Vancouver. Mrs. Hall is the widow of former Superintendent W. B. Hall, who died suddenly a few weeks ago. Mrs. Hall will be in charge of the school as acting superintendent till the end of the school year next summer and then probably will be made permanent superintendent.

She is the second woman to be appointed superintendent of a state institution, the first being Miss Mary Campbell, head of the state school for girls at Grand Mound.

Notable Resumption of Business Activity Indicated.

A notable resumption of business activity in Washington is indicated by the October statement of the industrial insurance commission, which shows 383 new employers, firms or individuals, listed during that month. From the rate at which new employers' accounts have come in during the early days of Novemebr, it is likely that the record for this month will beat October, although work ordinarily falls off as winter approaches.

During the fiscal year ending September 30, the department listed an avrage of 258 new employers a month. The fact that several new industries were taken under the act, however, explained a considerable portion of the increase during the year. This is not the case with the 383 new employers listed during October. A considerable number are engaging in logging enterprises.

Annual reports for the year ending June 30, 1915, filed by the N. P. O.-W. R. & N. and S. P. & S. railroads with the public service commission, indicate a falling off of about 10 per cent in gross revenues during the year, operating expenses being reduced, in most cases, however, so that the actual net income of the railroads shows little decrease.

The Northern Pacific, largest employer of labor in this state, indicates in its report that conditions in this state have been mending rapidly since last spring. Its report shows 7,834 employes in Washington February 15, 8,876 on April 15 and 9,959 on June 15.

Public Service Commission Filed Petition This Week.

The public service commission this week filed with the interstate commerce commission a petition asking the commission to cite the leading transcontinental railroad lines as defendants in an action to abolish the $17.50 "northwest differential." The peition sets out that a passenger coming from Chicago to San Francisco, may return via Los Angeles, El Paso and New Orleans for $62.50, but that if he chooses to return via Portland, Tacoma, Seattle, Spokane and St. Paul, a route 253 miles shorter, he is charged $80. This practice is discriminatory and prevents eastern tourists in many instances from taking advantage of an opportunity to visit the Pacific Northwest, the petition declares.

Court Does Not Pass on Anti-Private Employment Law

The supreme court held last week in a divided decision that the anti-private employment agency law, adopted by initiative a year ago, does not prohibit the operation of teachers' agencies. The court did not pass upon the question of the validity of the act as affecting other employment agencies. Five judges signed the majority opinion, written by Judge S. J. Chadwick, and three the dissenting opinion, written by Judge John F. Main.

October Accidents in This State Numbered 1,285.

October accidents reported to the industrial insurance commission numbered 1,285, including 19 fatalities. This brings the total for the ten months of the current calendar year to 11,287, as compared with 12,472 for the corresponding ten months of 1914 and 14,172 for the corresponding ten months of 1913.

H. C. Lucas of North Yakima Appointed Member of School Board.

H. C. Lucas, president of the Yakima Trust Co. of North Yakima, and also president of the state bankers' association, has been appointed by Governor Lister a member of the board of trustees of Ellensburg Normal school, succeeding J. D. Cornett, of Toppenish, Wash., resigned.

YOU ARE WANTED TO SELL RED CROSS SEALS THIS YEAR

Anyone in Washington with energy, enthusiasm and a love for humanity can become an agent for the sale of Red Cross Seals in his community by communicating with the Washington Association for the Prevention and Relief of Tuberculosis. The second week of the sale, December 5 to 12, presents a new educational feature know as "Health Week," an expansion of "Tuberculosis Sunday," with Friday, December 10, designated as "Childrens' Health Crusade Day." An effort is being made by the association to reach every school principal in the state asking co-operation by devoting a part of the day to practical health education. Playlets for the children and outlines suggestive for talks will be gladly furnished by the Association, 916 Cobb Building, Seattle, Wash.

Do not delay ordering Seals and "Health Week" material. Seals sell for a penny each and may be used only on the back of mail matter. Do not wait for your neighbor to do this. The world is waiting for leaders. Do it now.

"Little Visits" No. 5

Dr. Theodore Sharpe.

These little visits are based upon one of the most basic beliefs of the writer's religious faith. He is trying to preach and teach and live the truth that the world would be better and happier if men would seek the good in men and things, rather than look for evil and failings.

Another viewpoint of this truth is found expressed by Bobby Burns in "The Darling of Scotland:"

Then gently scan your brither, mon,
And gentler sister, woman,
Though they may gang akennin' wrang,
To step aside is human.

My own personal confession is, "I would rather have a bunch of dandelions handed me while I am alive than have my grave piled a mile high with American Beauties and hot-house bouquets. A little appreciation in this world is worth a world of appreciation when you are gone. Let me have a little bag of Scotch taffy rather than a tombstone of "epitaphy."

Well, I started out to tell of my pilgrimage to the City Council. Folks may well ask, "Why did you start in this way." I will answer in the words of the little boy, "Because."

I was not living here very long before I made up my mind that I wanted to see how the affairs of Port Angeles were conducted and by what kind of men. I was very anxious to see my "City Fathers." Some folks are mean enough in some places to say "City Grandfathers;" I have not been guilty of that meanness.

I also had a very personal reason for visiting the sanctum sanctorum of the city.

Some days before, I made the acquaintance of the mayor, Mr. White. When I first met Brother White I was impressed with two things, the small physical size of the man and the great strength of his hand clasp and the warmth of his smile. This little man in body soon demonstrated to me that he was a big man in heart and soul. I have a warm spot in my soul for Mayor White because he was one of the first to greet me and welcome me to Port Angeles. From the many good things I have since heard of him I have come to the conclusion that his little head contains a great deal of brains which he knows how to use quite wisely.

Well, I must hurry to the City Hall and tell you what I saw and what I didn't see.

As I entered the well-lighted room the Council was already in session and a young looking chap was reading the minutes of the last meeting. I soon discovered that this was Clerk Beam. He read well and the City Council tried to look interested but really most people are just bored when "minutes" are read. I think there must be some substitute of that old saying, "The minutes of the last meeting will now be read." It takes too much good time from busy men.

Mayor White is more than a gavel-swinger. He is a real presiding officer and understands his business well. I was deeply impressed with the ease with which he conducted the matters before the council.

The other members were strangers to me with one exception, and I spent a delightful twenty minutes in sizing them up. I was much taken by the good natured appearance, kindly smile and intellectual look of one whom, I said to myself very silently, "He must have been born in Ireland with auburn hair but he has lost most of it." I have since found out who this brother is and my first opinion of him has been deepened. He is a real gentleman and greatly interested in the affairs of the city. He is a credit to himself, his brothers, his family and to his city. You all know him.

I was greatly puzzled by another gentleman sitting near him. It took me some minutes to locate him and then afterwards I found I had missed my conclusions very badly, a thing unusual for me. I said at first that he must be a lumber magnate as he had the portly appearance of a well-groomed millionaire. He acted with the deliberateness of a man of money and means and his very confident method of speaking to the Chair foretold to me the man of mighty importance. I liked him, I liked his appearance. I liked him all the way around and I said I must make this man's acquaintance for he has the look of being the most celebrated man in Port Angeles.

Well, I met him after the adjournment of the session. I still like him very much but I learned another illustration of the old saying, "Do not judge always by appearance. By the way this man makes a fine member of the City Council, even though I took him for a timber magnate.

Perhaps in the near future I will complete my impressions of the men I found composing the council but I have not the time now, I must hurry to other things.

When I entered the room I expected to find the seats in the audience gallery completely filled with most attentive and interesting folks. I thought surely that the people in Port Angeles would be wonderfully absorbed in the men who conducted the affairs of the city. I thought that many of the citizens of the city would be as interested in their own city as a stranger like myself. I almost rubbed my eyes. I was not sure whether I saw straight or crooked. I only saw another man beside myself. But I said in the most kindly way to myself, the people of Port Angeles have just forgotten that this is Tuesday evening and the regular session of the Council.

Now just a little preachment from the preacher. These men who sacrifice their time to conduct your affairs would be greatly helped by the attendance of the folks whose business they are conducting. There would be a greater appreciation of their services and a better understanding would arise which would sweep away much undue and unnecessary criticism. These men are performing tasks and duties which must be done by someone if the city must grow and take its place in the fore rank of all good and prosperous places of modern homes and improvements.

Now right here I am going to raise a point which will raise a howl of criticism and bring down upon my head a torrent of small talk. This is given not on the spur of the moment but from a study of municipal and civic conditions in many places.

I think that a meeting of the council once a week is just twice too often. Once every two weeks will increase the efficiency of the men and the improvement of the work done. The work to be done the coming year is very important and the men who are to do this work should be in the best physical and mental condition. There is such a thing as growing stale even in the conduct of municipal affairs. The amount of work done will not be less but rather more and better.

Now when I am writing this I do not know who the next Mayor will be nor do I know the new members of the council. I am not a prophet; I only prophesy when I know. But I want to say this in all kindness and good will. Let us give the new council when it assembles next year a great send-off. Let the good people of Port Angeles assemble in the council rooms and pledge their hearty support to the city council for the coming year. Let the Commercial Club have a representative present, let the lodges, let the churches, let every organization that has the prosperity of Port Angeles at heart. It would do many good things but the best of all it would create a bond of good fellowship between the members of the council and the good citizens which would lighten many burdens and clear away numerous obstacles.

Pile high the Mayor's desk with flowers and bouquets, pile high the places of the members of the council. A little appreciation in this old world will be worth a library of eulogisms after we are gone to the eternal home. I sometimes think we are so thoughtless of one another's feelings. We hurt when we do not mean to do so.

I am returning to my introduction of this little visit. The City of Port Angeles is undergoing an era of change and improvement. She cannot go back to old things. There is no such thing as stationary or balanced position. If Port Angeles be not making progress and advancement then she is retreating and retrogarding. Times of change and progress are always times of unusual adjusment. There are birth pangs of progress as well as birth pangs of nature.

The men of the City Council are the men who will work for the improvement of this city. They need all the sympathy, support and the friendship of all classes of people. There should be no party or political or personal lines when one is working for the good of the community. There are better times ahead for Port Angeles if the council, old and new be given royal support and backing. Let us give all credit to worthy service and due appreciation to every effort which any one puts forth for service for his fellow men.

I say again, I do not know who the next Mayor will be. But I repeat whoever he is and whoever the members of the council may be I, for one, will stand by him and assist them all I can in my feeble way, support them through their mistakes, their misjudgments, their failings as well as their achievements and triumphs. I will be one when the new council assembles, to pledge them my faith and service.

If people can get as much good out of a little visit to the Council Chamber as the writer has, then I say, "Visit the sessions all you can and you will receive liberal education in civic and municipal affairs." Sometimes we condemn through ignorance when we would praise through knowledge. Perhaps someone has condemned because they did not know. Let us have the philosophy of Josh Billings, when he said, "It is better for a man not to know so much, than to know so many things that ain't so."

TWO HUNDRED AND FIFTY STORIES

And every story a good one. They are entertaining, but that is not all you can say about them. You know there is hardly a periodical published that is not full of time-wasting stories, but not a single story in the Youth's Companion is a time waster. Take the stories of C. A. Stephens. It would be hard to pick out one from which you cannot learn something useful and yet entertaining.

Some of The Companion stories refresh your knowledge of geography; some tell you the mysteries of chemistry; some reveal the secrets of forestry and of general farming. They cover a wide range. They are chosen with an eye to the possible likings of every member of a Companion family—stories of vigorous action and stirring adventure for boys, stories of college life and domestic vicissitudes for girls, stories that range all the way from sheer drollery to deep seriousness for men and women. There are no stories quite like those in The Companion.

If you are not familiar with The Companion as it is today, let us send you sample copies and the Forecast for 1916.

New subscribers who send $2.00 for 1916 will receive free a copy of The Companion Home Calendar for 1916, in addition to all the remaining 1915 issues from the time the subscription is received.

NOTES

The pastor was greeted last Sunday by the largest congregation since his arrival. He was glad for once, anyway, in his life, that he was a Methodist preacher. The response at the close of the evening service was spontaneous and warm. He was delighted to receive the glad hand from so many friends and strangers.

Mr. Hubert, the genial manager of the Goody Shop and Piano sales rooms, delighted the morning audience with his solo. Brother Hubert has a wonderful voice and any choir would be honored indeed to have his actice service. May we have much more of him.

The subject for the evening will be "Where the Harvests Never Fail." The morning theme will be "The Outcome of Being a Man." Both these subjects are wonderfully interesting and you will be helped by your attendance at our services.

The great test of religion is in the time of trouble. Times of prosperity and continued convenience and comfort develop in man the spirit of self independence. He thinks he can make life successful by his own efforts. We need the storms to develop the muscles of the spirit.

As I write this I can see a white rose swaying gently in the warm air against my study window. It seems a long way from the storm and cold. And yet by just turning my head a little I can see the mountains almost at my back door piled deep with the snow and around the tops a furious snow storm is piling it deeper.

It is not very far distant from prosperity and good times to the bitter things of life. We need the faith to meet all the experience and exigencies of life. The church will help you to do it.

A welcome and the Glad Hand to all our services.

THEODORE SHARPE,
Pastor.

DR. STEELMAN BEGINS BAPTIST'S FIELD WORK

Rev. A. J. Steelman, for the past three years pastor at the University Baptist church, will preach his first sermon at his new charge in Port Angeles this morning, says the Seattle P.-I. of Sunday. He has given up his pastoral work to act as field man among the Baptist churches of Western Washington. He probably will spend six months at Port Angeles.

Dr. and Mrs. Steelman were given a farewell reception in the University church Friday night by members of the congregation and ministers from other churches in the district. A program of appreciation of his services as a pastor and friend was given. The congregation made up a purse of $100, which was presented as an offering of love to the retiring pastor and his wife. Rev. H C. Mason, of the University Congregational church, and William K. McKibben spoke.

Dr. Steelman came to the Pacific coast as secretary of the Society for the Friendless. For two years he labored with the destitute and friendless prisoners, over 200 of whom were aided by his efforts. The difficulty of financing the work of the organization led Dr. Steelman to accept the pastorate of the church at Bremerton, where a new $8,000 building, practically free from debt, was dedicated after eleven months. On the death of Dr. B. L. Whitman, pastor of the First Baptist church, Mr. Steelman was asked to become acting pastor, and he served in that capacity for nearly a year, until the coming of Rev. Carter Helm Jones.

Dr. Steelman won his Doctor's Degree in the University of Chicago, where he was a student in the department of Sociology, making a special study of child-saving work.

One hundred and eighty-five members were added to the congregation of the University church during Dr. Steelman's administration

To demonstrate the productivity of Sequim soil in growing potatoes, J. A. Adams, one of the pioneer developers of this district, offered a prize of $5 for the largest potato presented at his office before November 1. The honors go to J. B. Mapes, a Dungeness farmer. He took to Mr. Adams' office only six tubers, but it was a strong prize-winning collection. The half dozen ranged in weight from 4 pounds and 1 oz. to 7 pounds and 3 ozs. The combined weight is 28 pounds and 12 ozs., or 1 pound and 4 ozs. short of half a bushel. The Mapes potatoes were grown under irrigation, though no effort was made to produce unusually large sized spuds, the prize winners being selected from the run of the field. S. A. Wilbur, residing in town, also displayed some splendid potatoes at Mr. Adams' office, but did not enter them for the prize. And so, bit by bit, the wonderful fertility of Sequim land is coming into renown.

Manuel Silvia has returned from a trip to Port Townsend.

Joe Almaden has obtained the contract from the Snow Creek Logging Company to fill in two hundred feet of railroad track in the mud flat west of Blyn.

FAIRVIEW

Owing to the last Saturday in November being so near Thanksgiving, the next dance at Fairview will be November 20th.

The Sutter family spent last Sunday with friends in Blue Mountain.

Mrs. Harbaugh and son Chester are visiting Mrs. McCumber of Eden.

Mrs. S. P. Cary spent part of last week at the Berlinguette home.

Mrs. Chambers is boarding six of the men who are working on the telegraph line.

Mr. Chambers is having a new milk house built.

The Halloween program given at the school house November 1st was very much enjoyed by all present. The decorations of Black Cats, Owls and Pumpkins were very good. Three spooks met all guests at the door and gave them a welcome with a cold clammy hand; after the program was over games were played until supper time.

BLUE MOUNTAIN

Miss Geist gave a Halloween entertainment at the schoolhouse Friday evening. Everybody and his wife were there and all enjoyed themselves exceedingly.

There were ghosts, clowns, oldmaids, and various characters that were mysterious and amusing. One big ghost was keeping them guessing when his little girl's "Hello Papa," brought the house down.

The literary part of the program was very good, the little tots especially deserving mention. Little Bernice Maybee made her first appearance on the stage with a cute little recitation delivered with appropriate tones and gestures. It was greatly appreciated as was also recitations by Luther Jackson, Myrtle Cary and Ethel Brauer, all so nicely spoken.

The visiting guests were Ethel Geist, Mr. and Mrs. George Critchfield and family, Henry Cary and wife and Chas. Cary and wife. The last mentioned passed the evening with bated breath, having heard a rumor of a second charivari. It was only a rumor.

Geo. King and Sam Emery are hauling poles for the new telephone line. Henry Emery is one of the crew setting poles.

Chas. Lewis is building a house for Mr. Fred Neuenschwander.

Grandma Campbell was out last week to see the little granddaughter.

Sunday, October 31, Louie Johnson, Florence Gherke, Clay Wolverton, Lavina Peterson and Henry Malchau spent Sunday afternoon at Wm. Broughton's. Dorothy and Merton returned to Angeles with them.

Mrs. Gordon of Seattle, with her son Charlie, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Heath. Charlie likes it out here so well that he will remain with his sister all winter. Mrs. Gordon returned home Monday, November 8.

Carl Setterburg came out from Port Angeles Saturday evening for a flying visit with Mr. and Mrs. Lewis and to get his wife who had spent the week out here.

Ethel Walker of Seattle, who is spending several weeks with relatives this side the Sound, is with her cousin, Mrs. Susie Maybee.

Thursday of last week occurred the first log-rolling bee. They were planned to be held once a week but some are so well pleased with them that they want to have them twice a week. Everybody's wife was here too, and others. The ladies remained in the house and talked—each one trying to out-talk the others until they got to wool-pulling.

The work was done for Aaron Emery and he says that he wouldn't take fifty dollars for what was accomplished, and Mrs. Emery has quite an amount of wool ready for spinning.

The men folk can't forget the dinner—"Oh, such an eat." "The feed we had," and similar expressions were heard on all sides.

Mrs. Broughton and Miss Talmadge came home Friday to spend the week-end. Jeanette Broughton came with them for a week with home folks. Marie taking advantage of Jeannette's presence, shifted her housekeeping duties upon her sister's shoulders and is doing some visiting. Monday she spent with Mrs. Jno. Winters, two or three days with Miss Talmadge and the Misses Race of Mt. Pleasant, then a few days in Port Angeles.

Saturday evening a few friends spent the evening at Wm. Broughton's. Several club members being present we listened to the report of the building committee. The estimate of lumber was given and two members appointed to ascertain the best prices and terms on the bill of lumber.

AGNEW'S CROSSING

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Wooding, Jr., and daughter Kathleen are out at Wooding's for a while as Mr. Wooding has work near here.

The Thorp family is moving from the Troy place to their new home at McDonald creek, and we are indeed sorry to lose such good neighbors.

This is birthday week again, those of Mrs. C. A. Laurens, Mrs. Heuhslein and Sarah Richards, coming on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

The Priscilla Club had its monthly meeting at Mrs. Heuhslein's last and children present.

Mrs. Burns Thorp left last week for Seattle from which place she goes to Chicago, to be gone most of the winter.

Mr. Hazlett spent the latter part of the week out here working on his place.

LOWER ELWHA

Mr. and Mrs. Hartley Goodwin of Dry Creek were visitors in the Valley on Sunday of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernie O'Brien of Port Angeles spent Sunday with Mrs. Jack McDonald.

Mr. Chas. Peters and Mr. Chas. Cable of Dry Creek were in the Valley on Sunday afternoon.

A number of the residents of the Valley attended the dance at Dry Creek last Saturday evening and report an enjoyable time.

Miss Maud Cary of Seattle is spending several weeks with her sister Mrs. Borgette.

Mr. Chas. Dougherty of Angeles was a caller at the Davis home last Friday.

Work on the lower road was commenced last Saturday, which will greatly improve road conditions in this part of the county. The roads will be graveled and worked over by the farmers.

Mr. McWhorter, county agriculturist, paid his first visit to the Elwha Valley last Friday. The farmers here were pleased to meet Mr. McWhorter and hope to become better acquainted with him in the near future. A great amount of benefit may be derived by the farmer by cooperation with the county agriculturist.

Mr. Harry Linn of Angeles spent Sunday and Monday with Erwin Brandt.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Congregational church are giving a social this evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Geisness.

Married by Rev. Stephen Smith of the Congregational church at the parsonage Wednesday afternoon, November 10, Mr. George Bently and Miss Alice E. Bell, both of Sequim.

Mrs. Ed Ramsey entertained a party of young people at her home on Thursday evening as a surprise for her neice, Miss Gertrude Martell. All enjoyed a happy evening with games, music and dainty refreshments.

Remember the whist tournament this evening in the opera house for the benefit of the Port Angeles Public Library. Everyone invited. Tickets 25c. Come out and help a worthy cause that needs your support.

Mrs. A. B. Butz of Janesville, Michigan, is a house guest of Mr. and Mrs. G. V. Smith, while here for a visit with her brother, E. E. Beaumont. The lady is paying a visit to a number of her relatives in the west and goes from Angeles to Centralia.

The Woman's Auxiliary to the Commercial Club met at the club rooms Tuesday afternoon. Plans for the customary charity work at the holiday times were discussed and it was also decided to give a holiday ball sometime between Christmas and New Years.

Mrs. A. M. Sonntag entertained on Monday afternoon and evening in honor of her sister Miss Emma Markert and her sister-in-law, Mrs. C. F. Sonntag both of Tacoma. Progressive whist was played in the afternoon and the prizes were awarded to Mrs. W. H. Worster and Mrs. G. Ellinger.

Messrs. E. D. Short, Ed Christopherson, H. M. Fisher, Lew Harrington and Wm. Regor, the Elks' committee on the furnishing of the new lodge home, are off this week, on a tour of inspection of other lodge rooms to get ideas to help them in their selection. They will visit Port Townsend, Anacortes, Bellingham, Everett and Seattle.

T. T. Aldwell returned Thursday morning from his eastern trip. He visited Chicago, New York and Winnipeg and reports business conditions greatly improved and everything looking good, so he is feeling very optimistic. He looks for good times all over the sound country and especially Clallam county and we would not be surprised if he had some very good news to divulge a little later. Mrs. Aldwell is still in Los Angeles where she is detained, settling her mother's estate.

The Degree of Honor are busily engaged in making elaborate preparations for their annual grand Thanksgiving ball, to be given at the Davis & Woods Pavilion on Thanksgiving eve. A special feature will be the prizes which will be mostly of fine needlework and which are on exhibition at C. S. Stakemiller's clothing store. The entire lower floor will be given over to the maskers and the balcony for spectators. Admission for maskers will be 50c; spectators 25c.

Miss Pazandak goes to Seattle tomorrow to meet her mother.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Schaible are spending a few days in Seattle this week.

Al. Filion and P. Grubb were business visitors this week to Seattle, going up Wednesday.

The Degree of Honor will give their annual masked ball on the eve of Thanksgiving day.

E.E. Seevers was a business visitor to Seattle last week. He returned last Friday evening.

Mrs. E. J. Burroughs was called to Tacoma the first of the week by the illness of her sister.

St. Andrew's Guild met Wednesday with Mrs. M. Bell. Mrs. Brumfield will be the next hostess on the 17th.

Hugh Phelps was down from Seattle the first of the week to perform his duty as an American citizen by voting at the primaries.

Carve that Thanksgiving turkey with one of those handsome carving sets so attractively displayed in Schaible & Hutchinson's window this week.

Mrs. C. F. Sonntag and daughter Antonette, returned to Tacoma Saturday after spending a very pleasant visit with her sister-in-law, Mrs. W. H. Worster.

Miss Ruth Hanson and sister Eleanor returned to Port Townsend on Monday after visiting at the home of their uncle J. C. Hansen.

Mrs. Hazel McBride and daughter, Rena, arrived Tuesday from Skagway, Alaska, for a long visit with her mother, Mrs. A. H. Gould.

William A. Whitcomb and Louisa N. Alverson of Forks were married in the office of Rev. Fulmer at noon Monday, Nov. 7. They left the same day for a wedding trip to Seattle.

Miss Dorothy Basnett, who has been clerking in the Phelps Dry Goods store the past year, was called home this week by the illness of her father. Mrs. E. O. Brown has taken her place.

Many housewives are casting envious eyes at the beautiful display of table silverware in Schaible & Hutchinson's window this week already to grace the Thanksgiving table.

Mr. Ullstrom returned on the Sioux Friday night from a two week's trip to San Francisco which he enjoyed greatly, pronouncing the Fair one of the wonders of the century.

Mrs. Ed Gierin was hostess to the Thimble Club Thursday, entertaining them with luncheon at the Bungalow Inn, afterward going to Mrs. W. H. Ware's for the afternoon with their tatting and embroidery.

About seventy-five ladies responded to the invitation extended by Mrs. Sharpe, wife of the Methodist minister, at home last Friday afternoon. The rooms of the parsonage were tastefully decorated in autumn flowers and foliage and the guests were admitted by little Miss Loretta Graves. Assisting Mrs. Sharpe in receiving were Mrs. S. F. Phelps and Mrs. E. D. Short. The dining room was presided over by Mrs. P. E. Graves, assisted by Miss Elsie Meeks and Miss Ellen Finch; with Mrs. Holt presiding at the coffee urn. A pleasing musical program was given during the afternoon, consisting of vocal selections by Miss Katherine Reed, Miss Florence Hamilton and Miss Frances Willever, with Miss Pazandak and Miss Hazeltine accompanists. In the dining room Miss Lorena Fulmer had charge of the victrola. Mrs. Sharpe is a very delightful and interesting hostess and the Port Angeles ladies are glad to welcome her and were pleased at the opportunity to call at her home and make her acquaintance.

THE LAST SAD TRIBUTE

The funeral of Mrs. Conklin, which took place at the Fulmer Chapel, Saturday, November 6th, was an occasion to reflect much credit on Rebekah Oddfellowship, showing that for which the order stands pledged, to give relief to those in sickness, distress or sorrow. Mrs. Conklin was a stranger in our midst, having come to Sequim with her husband from South Dakota about four weeks previous to her death.

A few days after her arrival at Sequim she was taken ill and was brought to the General hospital with a very bad case of blood poisoning. She made herself known to the sister Rebekahs here and a large number of them called on her, bringing flowers and good cheer and making her feel she was not a stranger in a strange land, Mrs. Conklin apparently recovered of her illness and went home to Sequim, but only a couple of days later the All Wise Providence saw fit to remove Sister Conklin from her earthly home, to where life's troubles are no more. Notice was given to one of the officers of Mountain View Rebekah Lodge No. 34, that her body had been brought here. A choir was provided, pall bearers were engaged, flowers were ordered and the Chapel was nearly filled with Rebekahs and Odd Fellows to pay a last sad tribute of respect to a departed sister and show their sympathy to the lone husband in his deep sorrow.

Services were conducted by Rev. Johnson of Sequim. The members accompanied the remains to the boat the body being taken back to Illinois, Mrs. Conklin's birthplace, for interment. Mrs Conklin was fifty-three years of age and a member of Rebekah Lodge No. 1 of Dakota, and leaves to mourn her loss a husband, son and daughter.

RECEPTION FOR TEACHERS

The Parent-Teachers' Association held its first meeting of the year at the H. S. Auditorium Monday evening with a very good attendance. After an entertaining and amusing reading by Miss Wiggins, business matters were attended to and Mrs. W. J. Ware duly elected and installed as president of the association. The other officers are Miss Ester, vice-president, S. A. Stakemiller, secretary and treasurer. The president will appoint a program committee whose business it shall be to arrange a program for the year. It is the intention also to have every other meeting an afternoon one and in this way try to get out more of the mothers. An interesting talk on the W. E. A., which met in Seattle last week, was given by Prof. Geisness. The parents of the Association will give a very informal reception to the teachers at the Central school building Friday afternoon, November 19, to which all interested patrons are cordially invited. Coffee for this occasion has been donated by W. E. Wolten, successors to Merrill's grocery.

WESCOTT & STILES

The Port Angeles Grocery Company made an important business change this week; Cecil McNutt selling his partnership out to Harry Stiles of the City Fish Market. The Port Angeles Grocery was formerly owned by Harry's father, F. A. Stiles and it was here Harry served his apprenticeship, so he looks quite natural back in the old place. He and Mr. Fred Wescott, the other partner, are planning many improvements on the interior of the store and hope to make it the cleanest and most attractive grocery in the city, with service and quality second to none. They are deserving of a generous share of the public patronage and we think hey will get it. Success to you, boys. Cecil McNutt is undecided how he will spend the winter but we wager he will not be idle long.

THE BIBLE IN LITERATURE

Last Sunday evening at the Congregational church, Superintendent White introduced the subject of the Bible in Literature. It is thought best to carry this thought forward for service Sunday evenings. Next Sunday evening Mr. Smith will take the Bible in Song and the following week it is proposed to have some one speak on the Bible in Art. These subjects are exceptionally instructive and will exalt the precious truth of the Bible and the influence it has exerted on modern and classical art and literature. There will be special music and Miss Nina Taylor will sing a solo.

THE RED CROSS BENEFIT

Tuesday, December 7th, has been selected as the evening on which the Red Cross entertainment will be held. A fine bill is being arranged by the Ladies Musical Club under the Presidency of Mrs. Troy and an active canvass of the city and the neighborhood will be made for the sale of tickets, which have been fixed at 50c for all parts of the Opera House. There is every indication that the entertainment will be a bumper.

TO THE PUBLIC AT LARGE

Fellow citizens, I am pleased to take this means of thanking you one and all for your generous support in the primaries. My necessities are identical with yours.

Respectfully yours,
F. A. JENSEN.

100 Favorite Recipes

By Prof. Mary E. Sutherland of the Washington State College.

CHOCOLATE CAKE

1½ c butter, 1 c sugar, 2 eggs, ½ c milk, 1½ c flour, 2½ sp baking powder, 2 oz. chocolate, ½ tsp vanilla.

Cream the butter, add sugar gradually, eggs well beaten and milk. Add flour mixed and sifted with baking powder. Beat thoroughly, add chocolate and vanilla. Bake in layers. Frost with White Mountain Cream Frosting to which 3 tbsp of grated chocolate have been added.

CAKE FROSTINGS

WHITE MOUNTAIN CREAM

1 c sugar, 1-3 c boiling water, white 1 egg, 1 tsp vanilla, ½ tbsp lemon juice.

Boil sugar and water in a sauce pan until it forms 2 in. "threads," when tried with a fork, or until it forms a soft ball in cold water. Pour syrup gradually into beaten white of egg, beat constantly until of right consistency to spread. Add flavoring and puor over cake.

CHOCOLATE FROSTING

1½ c sugar, 1 sq. chocolate, 1 tsp vanilla, 2-3 c milk, 1 tsp butter, 1 tsp vanilla.

Put butter in a sauce pan, when melted add sugar, milk and chocolate. Boil 13 min. or until it makes a soft ball when tried in cold water. Let stand until cooled. Beat until creamy. Add flavoring and pour over cake.

GELATINE

USE OF GELATINE AS A PROTEID SPARER

Gelatine is not soluble in cold water, it should always be soaked 10 or 15 min. in cold water; it is then soluble in hot water. Gelatine should never be cooked, as it will not solidify on cooling. Gelatine is a proteid sparer, hence is valuable in invalid cookery.

CREAMED LEMON JELLY

2½ tbsp granulated gelatine, 2¼ c boiling water, ½ c sugar, ½ c lemon juice, ½ c cold water, rind of 1 lemon.

Soak gelatine 15 min. in cold water, then disolve by pouring boiling water over it; add sugar, lemon juice and rind. Just before the mixture comes to set, beating with a Dover egg beater will make it light and fluffy, before the mixture becomes too firm, put in moulds.

SNOW PUDDING

Take ½ lemon jelly recipe, when jelly begins to set, beat with Dover egg beater until frothy, add stiffly beaten whites of three eggs, put into moulds. Leave until it becomes firm. Serve with custard sauce.

MANHATTAN PUDDING

1 pt. fruit juice, sweeten to taste, 1 pt. beaten cream, sweetened and flavored with ¼ c sugar and ½ tsp vanilla. Put fruit juice in mould, beaten cream on top. Do not mix; let stand on ice 3 or 4 hours.

COLD CABINET PUDDING

1 tbsp gelatine soaked in ¼ c cold water; 1 pt. milk, ½ cup sugar, yolks 3 eggs, 2-3 tsp vanilla, ½ tsp lemon.

Make custard of yolks of eggs and milk; add gelatine; when it begins to thicken pour over lady-fingers or sponge cake in moulds. Garnish with angelica and cherries.

PINE APPLE BAVARIAN

1½ to 2 tbsp gelatine, 1 c pineapple juice, ½ c boiling water, ½ c sugar, whites of 2 eggs whip from 3 c cream.

Soak gelatine in ½ c cold water, disolve in boiling water, combine the sugar and fruit juice, add gelatine, add beaten whites of eggs, then fold in whip from cream. For Panachee, line mould with sporge cake and fill with Pineapple Bavarian.

STRAWBERRIES AGAIN IN SEASON, IN LOS ANGELES

A number of the letters written from Los Angeles last winter by the senior member of the Webster Publishing Company were, to us at least, very interesting in that he gave a somewhat different idea of the country than one gets from the ordinary sources. Believing portions of these letters would be of interest to our readers, and particularly to those who have visited the Sunshine state, we shall publish them, or extracts from them, occasionally during the winter.

It must be understood that the following, the first letter to be received from him this year, is a personal letter, written with no tho't of its publication. The people he mentions are old-time friends, Iowa people, who are either living in California, or retired business men, in the habit of spending the winters there. The Mr. Baker he mentions is a relative, a retired merchant who spent a very considerable portion of his time last winter in seeing to it that Mr. Webster enjoyed his visit. It must also be remembered that, by reason of being blind, the senior editor is very seriously handicapped. There is a possibility that his letters would be far more interesting if he could himself see the country and the things about him; also he doubtless would be much better able to describe that which he does "see" if he could read a word of that which he has written. However, the letters need no apology.

Thursday, November 4th.

Dear Children: It is twelve days since we arrived here in the Southland and it has been twelve days of bright sunshine. The nights are a little cool with a very heavy dew. so that the sidewalks are wet and everything dripping with moisture, and there is usually a heavy fog each morning, but this clears away by nine o'clock. These dews and fogs are the saving of vegetation; not a drop of rain has fallen since last May and everything is begrimed and dust laden. The right, sunshiny weather is especially agreeable to your mother; we are out doors taking it in every day and this, I feel sure, is having a beneficial effect upon her. We have been taking most of our dinners out and gadding much of the time. As Mrs. Baker remarked yesterday. just as we were leaving for down town, "I declare, I am not finding time to do my housework."

Thursday of last week, in company with Mr. and Mrs. Baker and in their auto, and accompanied by Mrs. Klemme of Ridgway, we enjoyed a trip to Pomona, 57 miles distant, the route via a concrete highway and thru a rich country with the towns and cities so numerous by the way that Mrs. Klemme asked, "How do you know when you have left one town and are in another?" There was only one discomfort on the entire trip and that was during midday, when, as we traveled along the valley road, the atmosphere was as hot as if it had been heated in an oven, as we sped along at a 25 mile clip.

As we passed thru the city on the way out we ran into a great bevy of school children standing on the walks, eager to catch a glimpse of Thomas A. Edison, the greatest inventor of the ages. Our party also got a glimpse of the Edison party. At Pomona we also ran into another celeration and parade commemorating the 40th birthday of the city, with floats representing the material prosperity and progress of the community. It was a great crowd and no doubt a great day for that prosperous city of 20,000 souls. We experienced a little difficulty for a time in getting something to eat but that was overcome and all was lovely.

Saturday we went down town and met another parade and this one would have pleased Dorothy. A great number of boys and girls were marching along the streets in their annual Halloween parade. They were fantistically dressed in black and yellow and carried all sorts of banners. Some of them wore long, pointed shoes, long gloves, and hats made in imitation of pumpkins, with a long point upward. A few even wore the old satan-like tail. Each carried a tin horn; they also had their voices along and as noise makers were a complete success. They were so numerous as to stop all the street traffic for a time.

The Foreign Mission Society of the M. E. church has been in session in the city for the past ten days. Many missionaries in foreign fields have been present, as well as nearly all of the Bishops of the M. E. church in the country, and the meetings have been feasts of good things intellectually. We have listened to some beautiful music and singing, as well as some grand addresses by the Bishops and highly interesting talks by foreign missionaries. Last Sunday I listened to the grandest temperance lecture it was ever my lot to hear. California temperance people have started on a campaign for the elimination of the saloon in 1918, and all spirituous liquors except for sacramental, medicinal and mechanical purposes in 1920.

Yesterday it was our good fortune to hear Bishop Quagle, said to be the most poetical speaker in the manner of putting sentences together of all the Bishops of the church. His theme was, "God Everywhere." God abideth everywhere. When you go into the mountains God abideth there. A true lover of the beautiful in nature sees God in everything, in the flowers on the mountainside, in the trees, rocks and crags, in the waterfalls—and oh, how he plead in flowery language that everyone might so live that they might see the vision in everything and at all times.

Mr. Baker received a letter yesterday from Mr. Wilbraham saying that he and Mrs. Wilbraham, Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Norton, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Lomas, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Gaskell, Mrs. W. K. Barker and Mrs. Wm. Blackburn would start for Los Angeles on next Tuesday. Mrs. Farnsworth wrote that she thought they would come out later.

We are enjoying the luxury of fine strawberries, green peas, and Evergreen sweet corn, and above all the raisin grapes. The strawberries retail at the groceries at two boxes for 15c, the grapes at 5 lbs. for 10c. Someone told your mother that she could make raisins of the grapes by simply hanging them up in a warm room and she is trying the experiment. The summer orange crop is about gone and the winter crop is yet green upon the trees. Oranges and lemons ripen here in December and January. The orange crop is said to be small as compared with that of last year, but the lemon crop is immense. The best of lemons are now retailing at five cents per dozen.

Your Father.

GLENN FLEMING: A "LAST TRIBUTE"

Seldom if ever was our community more shocked than on Thursday morning when word was passed around that Glenn Fleming was no more; his illness was of short duration, and the vacancy in his home, among relatives and school mates, will be keenly felt. The family and friends appreciate the kind and useful floral tributes tendered them in their great sorrow. Truly "One touch of nature makes the whole world akin."

Robert Glenn Fleming was born in Oklahoma, July 20, 1901, and came with his parents, E. B. Fleming and wife to Port Angeles when less than two years of age. Soon after his recovery from a severe attack of pneumonia; for some time he was rather delicate, but in recent years had grown to be a healthy boy of great promise and prospects he being a strong man both physically and intellectually. Books were his delight, and an education his ambition. With his happy jovial disposition, he made hosts of frends among old and young, who, with parents, sisters, relatives and friends, mourn his untimely departure.

"He is dead," they said, "come away,
Kiss him and leave him, thy love is clay."
They smoothed his tresses of soft brown hair,
And on his young brow they laid it there.
Over his eyes that gazed too much,
They drew the lids with a tender touch,
With gentle hands they closed up well
The sweet young lips that had secrets to tell;
Over his bosom they crossed his hands—
"Come away," they said, "God understands."

Smiles and Frowns from The Stage of Life

O. Stockmar

Presuming that half of the chickens and geese and ducks that are stolen on Lincoln Heights, wander away from home and become roosters in some neighbor's coop, we have at least found one case where this is true. It did not happen on Lincoln Heights though. The goose lives, or rather roosts at the home of Master Robert Hoare, on Peabody street. His ducks and geese generally find their way home every evening, after ravaging the vacant lots all day in quest of food. One sunset, not long ago, a gooselet disappeared. Master Robert has been playing Sherlock Holmes ever since, but has not been successful in tracking the bird. Wednesday night, when everybody in the house was away or had gone to bed, except Robert's father, who was in the barn grooming the horse, a cackling and disturbance was heard by the parent in the bird pen. This disturbance was an unusual thing so late at night, so Mr. Hoare ran out of the barn and yelled hoarsely, "Who goes there?" There was no answer, but he distinctly heard a loud "plop," as if something were falling on the hard ground and then all was still. Not satisfied with calling out, Robert's father started an investigation, and to his surprise, found in the pen the missing goose. It looked as though it were being fattened for Thanksgiving. Mr. Hoare picked up the fowl and found an envelope tied around it's neck. By the light of a lantern he read the missive, the inscription being written with pencil and rough hand. It read: "Keep me at home, or I die!" Now perhaps the folks on Lincoln Heights have not kept their ducks and geese and chickens at home!

* * * *

Last week a painful accident happened to one of the citizens of the "state." It occurred in Spokane, but we have a reason for mentioning it away over here in Angeles. As the story goes, the man hurt is a cousin to Professor White of the high school. He was hit by an automobile on the streets of Spokane. Professor White can tell you all about that. And also last week the man at the head of our high school, received a letter from the state officials at Olympia. It was from the automobile license department. Now, Mr. Guy Dann, who is an optimist and who wouldn't hurt or hit anybody, has an automobile which he calls a "tub"—he's in the laundry business you know. It has a license. The license number on his machine corresponded exactly with the one in Spokane. And again, while Mr. Guy Dann was busily engaged in taking the blackness from the whiteness at the laundry, someone took his machine (the state thinks so) over to the other end of the state and ran down a perfectly good citizen, who happens to be a relative of the local professor's. So Guy Dann cannot figure out how the "tub" got over there, while it was here, and the fact that it only carries two quarts of gasoline and himself and his frau. It is sadly a shame, Mr. Dann, indeed.

LAND COMMISSIONER MAKES IDEAL RECORD

payer's League has visited Olympia, investigated the system employed to handle the business of the state land office, and now makes the extraordinary statement that Public Land Commissioner Clark V. Savidge has reduced the cost of operating his office by $10,000 and increased the office efficiency by at least 50 per cent.

It is a refreshing incident in the common mechanical and wasteful administration of the public business to find an official who is conducting a public office on a business basis. Instead of finding places for his friends, and placing the state treasury at the disposal of a personal machine, this officer has the novel idea that he should administer his duties in the best possible manner at the smallest possible expense.

Also, the record of state land leases and sales, instead of being a crazy-corner where matters are dumped to take care of themselves, is a live, up-to-date, accessible record, in which collections are attended to and followed up wherever necessary. Under Mr. Savidge's direction, we are told, money due the state is sought and collected, and overdue accounts are not allowed to drift.

Surprising as it may seem, we are told by the committee that Commissioner Savidge is asking citizens who have calmly helped themselves to the state's grazing land and timber to pay for it. The committee reports that leasage receipts have been increased $20,000 a year by this means. The commissioner is also insisting on the payment of about $30,000 by individuals who have helped themselves to the state's timber.

When an official accomplishes all this, and at a saving of more than $500 per month under the ordinary and usual office expense, it is so noteworthy and revolutionary an accomplishment as to call for special mention, and the Seattle Taxpayer's League is to be commended for drawing attention to it.

The state is thus leading the way to official economy and efficiency. It is hoped that the example will be followed by counties and cities and towns.
