TRUST COMPANY OF TOLEDO TAKES $30,000 LIGHT BONDS

$31,581 AND ACCRUED INTEREST

The city council held a three hour session last night in which the contract for $30,000 worth of electric light bonds was awarded to the Security & Trust Company of Toledo, Ohio, for $31,581. Following was the bid: For $30,000 Port Angeles, Wash., 6 per cent electric light bonds, dated on or about February 1, 1916, denomination $500 or $1,000, interest payable semi-annually, principal and interest payable at the city treasurer's office, Port Angeles, Wash., principal due $2,000 in five years and $2,000 each succeeding year to and including 1935, all without option of prior payment, and having an average maturity of not less than 12 years, we offer $31,581 and accrued interest to date of delivery of bonds to us at the National Bank of Commerce, Toledo, Ohio.

The next best bid was the bid of the Western Bond & Mortgage Company of Portland, Oregon, offering $30,757 and accrued interest or offered to take 5 1-2 per cent of bonds at par.

The Bank of Clallam County submitted bid for Keeler Bros., of Denver, Colorado, offering $30,019 and accrued interest.

Wm. D. Perkins & Co., bankers of Tacoma, offered to purchase bonds at par and stated if the bonds are an obligation payable out of the revenues of the light plant only, the above rate of interest would be 7 per cent.

The Guardian Trust & Savings Bank of Seattle, Washington, offered $30,080 for bonds with accrued interest.

James N. Wright & Co., Denver, Colorado, offered $30,300 with accrued interest.

The Rudolph Keypolte Company, Cincinnatti, Ohio, offered a bid of $1200 premium, but no certified check accompanied the bid and it was not considered.

In regard to the $1100 right-of-way matter, which has been a thorn in the council's side for some time, Councilman Best as chairman of committee of investigation, advised that committee suggested matter as to title, rest as it is now, but Councilman-at-large Jensen took exception to report of city attorney, absolving himself from all blame. Then ensued a verbal battle between the two gentlemen which finished with the following :

City Attorney Smith: "Do you know the law on this matter, Mr. Jensen?"

Mr. Jensen: "No. Thank God! I don't know law like the lawyers know it."

Councilman Filion then made a motion that the final assessment roll on this Francis street trunk sewer be withheld from the city treasurer for collection until this entanglement was straightened out satisfactorily. The motion was ruled out of order.

The treasurer, in a communication asked for help in sending out statements for installments on tax payments on the various improvement districts, stating there was a fund created for this purpose which had not been touched. After a half-hour debate over the legality of the matter it was decided the mayor appoint a man to assist the treasurer with his rolls for one month.

Best and Hooker were appointed as committee to investigate purchase of supplies and changing of records in city treasurer's office.

An ordinance was introduced regulating pool room proprietors and the hours they should keep. The pool rooms are to close at 12 instead of 1 o'clock and boys under 18 are not allowed in the pool rooms unless carrying messages or on other business. The ordinance was placed on its first and second reading and referred to attorney and ordinance committee.

The police situation was straightened out last night when a resolution was adopted raising chief of police salary to $92.50 and police officer to $87.50 and street superintendent French was appointed a police officer to take care of men on street work without extra compensation. An ordinance will be brought in at the next meeting to validate the resolution.

Leroy Woods' order for supplies to repair fire apparatus was passed on favorably.

H. M. FISHER PRESIDENT STATE GAME COMMISSION

H. M. Fisher, a member of the county game commission of Clallam county, was elected president of the state association of game wardens and commissioners at the fourth annual meeting held in Seattle last week. A resolution favoring consolidation with the association of eastern Washington and a decision to hold a joint meeting in Spokane within a few weeks was adopted.

METTLER FINED $250 AND COSTS

First Arrest for Violation of Prohibitory Law Involves Hotel Angeles Men.

At the hearing given S. Mettler and John Pollanz, proprietors of the Hotel Angeles, Tuesday morning, in the Superior court, before Judge Ralston, the former Simon Mettler, who made no defense to the charge of having intoxicating liquors on hand contrary to law, was fined $250 and costs while Pollanz, who plead not guilty will be held over for jury trial.

In accordance with the state law, all stocks of liquor should have been shipped out of the state by Monday, the 10th. Receiving information that Mettler and Pollanz had not observed the plain requirements, a raiding party consisting of Prosecuting Attorney Rose, Sheriff Bishop and Chief of Police Sullivan searched the premises finding twenty gallons of whisky and other liquors and four cases of beer which gave every evidence of being intended as stock for a blind pig.

While they were at it the search was continued through other saloons on Front street, but without adding to the sheriff's stock.

Another raid was made Monday night on the same place and back of the back bar, on top, was found by the prosecuting attorney and Sheriff Bishop and deputy almost as much whiskey and beer as had been taken in the first raid.

SCENT OF "JOHN BARLEYCORN" GROWS STRONGER

A young lady, Jean Gordon, was yesterday fined $50 and costs, or to be exact $64.80, for keeping liquor on the premises where she resides, the Belmont rooms, directly above Sparks Confectionery store. It is stated that Mr. Dustman, who patrols this section through the early morning hours, heard voices in the back of the candy store, and immediately, started a search, which soon proved that he was on the track of old "John Barleycorn." He decided to wait for the sheriff, whom he called to the scene at six o'clock yesterday morning and together they found the hidden intoxicant. The liquor was found stored away in an old shed behind the building. One gallon and a half of whiskey was all that was discovered, but even that amount was enough to bring the guilty party before Judge Ralston in the court house for reprimand and fine.

CITY OF ANGELES MAY RUN TO NEAH BAY

Thirty thousand dollars, or, to be exact, $30,633.33, was the price paid for the steamer "City of Angeles" and other property owned by the Angeles Transporation company at the receiver's sale held in Seattle on Monday. The bid, while made by Frank E. Burns, was presumably for the Inland Navigation company. In fact, it is said that the steamer will be put on this run, either from Seattle to Neah Bay, or possibly from Angeles to Neah Bay, but nothing definite concerning this will be made known prior to the return of President Green from his present trip to New York and Florida.

No other bids approaching that Mr. Burns' were received, the highest being $7,000 for the hull alone, by C. S. Barrington. The Alaska Junk company offered $2,400 for the steamer on the assumption that she had passed her period of usefulness instead of being a perfectly good passenger steamer.

As the debts of the bankrupt company amount to some $38,000, with an additional $3,500 or thereabouts due to the playing of politics over the matter of the receivership, non-preferred creditors cannot hope for a very favorable settlement of their claims.

PROGRESSIVES WILL JOIN IN LINCOLN DAY DINNER

ABERDEEN TO BE OVERLOOKED

Preparations for the 1916 state campaign are already under way in many parts of the state, and will be given their first impetus when the Republican State Central Committee meets in Seattle on Lincoln's birthday, February 12, to make arrangements for the state Republican convention. Chairman Hartson arranged the central committee to accord with the date for the annual banquet of the Young Men's Republican club of Seattle, one of the biggest events of the year in Republican circles. It is reasonably well settled that there is to be a re-united Republican party this year, the former Progressives overlooking the Aberdeen convention and the subject being taboo at the feast.

The state convention will probably be held late in April, and at that time the delegates to the national convention will be chosen. The national convention has already been arranged to meet in Chicago in June. Delegates to the state convention will be chosen by county conventions probably early in April.

Three cities are actively seeking to entertain the Republican state gathering this year, Spokane, Everett and Olympia. Before the state convention meet here, several states will have held presidental primaries, and there will be a more definite trend of thought on the question of the presidency. At present the Republicans in this state have no very strong preferences, but seem ready to unite enthusiastically on whoever may be nominated. The western sentiment in favor of Senator Borah of Idaho may find expression here, but until the state convention meets it is difficult to forecast the general majority opinion.

AND EVEN SO, THE TRUTH HAS NOT HALF BEEN TOLD

A local resident sent to Captain Charles Noble, of Los Angeles, Cal., a copy of the beautiful book "The Beauties of the State of Washington," by Harry Giles, deputy commissioner, State Bureau Statistics and Immigration," and in writing of the book, Captain Noble says in part:

"Another book like that and I am off for Washington on the next train.

"That man Giles is a liar 'by the watch.' Were one half his statements true Puget Sound would be choked with the corpses of those seeking homes in that state. Why! According to his description, there isn't another place on the 'footstool' that will compare with it; and I have an idea that if a Washingtonian should die and go up to the 'pearly gates' (mind you I don't concede that any of them will go there, that is if they are all as big prevaricators as Giles), the following, or something like it colloquy would take place between the aforesaid Washingtonian and St. Peter:

" 'Knock!'

" 'St. Peter—Who's there?'

" 'Ans—John Smith.'

" 'St. Peter—Where from?'

" 'Ans—State of Wshington, U. S. A.'

" 'St. Peter—What do you want?'

" 'Ans—Want to come in.'

" 'St. Peter—(After considering the matter)—Well! You can come in and look around but I have no idea you will be satisfied.'

"So with me; if Washington State is what Giles represents it, it is good enough for me. I shall come up and if I die there I am willing to stay, do not care to go higher or lower.

"The book is a dandy booster."

A primitive sort of a snow plow, or road scraper was pressed into service on the Lake Crescent road in order to rid it of the heavy fall of snow which made automobile travel almost impossible last week. The roads are reported to be in fine shape now.

SENATOR JONES WOULD INVEST 20 MILLION IN MILITARY SCHOOLS

Senator Jones Monday introduced bills appropriating $15,000,000 and $5,000,000, respectively, to establish a military academy and a naval academy at points in the state of Washington, to be designated by the departments. Representative Humphrey will introduce duplicate bills.

Senator Phelan of California, is pressing a similar bill for a naval academy in California, but pending propositions to enlarge the existing plants at West Point and Annapolis have caused the department to withhold approval from such measures.

Senator Jones also introduced a bill appropriating $3,000,000 for the construction of a new dry dock at the Puget Sound navy yard at least 1,000 feet long and capable of accommodating the largest contemplated battleships. Representative Humphrey introduced a similar bill earlier in the session.

Admiral Stanford, chief of the bureau of yards and docks, in his testimony before the naval affairs committee of the house last week, indicated that sound military policy demanded the construction of another dock at Bremerton.

The last number of the series of band concerts is to be given at the opera house Friday evening, January 21st. Everyone who has attended the concerts has been more than delighted with the splendid programs given. All lovers of good music have pronounced them a real treat and the last concert called out a large and appreciative audience. This week the hall should be filled for the boys have been keeping the best till the last and Friday night's program is to be the climax.

A meeting of the Port Angeles Humane Society is to be held Saturday afternoon, January 22, at three o'clock in the Commercial club room. Everyone interested at all in the work will please attend.

STATE HUMANE SOCIETY OUTLINES WORK AND NEEDS

ANNUAL MEETING IN SEATTLE

By Mrs. D. E. McGillivray

The meeting of the State Humane Bureau with delegates from Humane societies from all over the state, took place in Seattle at the Commercial club rooms January 10th and 11th.

The meetings were well attended in spite of the cold weather. Hon. C. M. Farrar was chairman. The sessions were made up of the discussion of the intimate problems of the mentally defective children, kindness to dumb animals, and the administration of Humane societies, including the relation to man and to society of the dumb animal, both domestic and wild.

The delegates were welcomed by Mr. Harry L. Parr, secretary of the state humane bureau, Olympia. Hon. W. G. Gorham, president King county humane society, gave a splendid address on the work accomplished in this state and the manner in which most difficult situations are mastered. He said if a large community had a society capable of handling these cases of cruelty successfully, surely small communities should be able to have all children and animals, or those who cannot speak for themselves, adequately cared for and protected. After general discussion of cases over the state, and many problems solved by those experienced in similar cases.

Mr. G. F. Overhulse of the state department of agriculture talked along his line of work, as assistant state veterinarian. He said that four per cent of our cattle are infected with tuberculosis. There are five inspectors in our state for the inspection of dairies, and in case there is a question in regard to a source of milk supply, by notifying the agricultural department, one of these inspectors will be sent to investigate and to see that an unclean condition of stables or yard into which cattle are turned, is remedied and if the cattle are diseased the state will look after them.

Prof. W. G. Beach of the University of Washington, professor of social science, gave an address on "Poverty and the Child Worker." Prof. Beach pleaded strongly for compulsory education till the child is at least eighteen years of age--the last four years of the training to be for whatever life work in which the pupil expects to engage. Then their bodies are developed and there should be the right foundation for any personal experiences and the young man or young woman may enter into the work for which they have received adequate training. Prof. Beach said that in Massachusetts there are 5,000 children under fifteen years of age who are working for wages, in most cases because the father's income is inadequate. $400 is the average annual wage, while with a family of four or five, from $800 to $900 is absolutely essential. He believes the boys and girls should be prepared to earn a living but that they be kept from such responsibility till 18 years of age at least.

The humane officers from Spokane, Everett, Tacoma and Seattle gave very interesting addresses which included the experiences of each in his county. One subject, to which the attention of all lovers of our four-footed friends is perhaps oftenest called, is the "pound," where animals, lost or strayed, are kept till redeemed by the owner, or in case of failure to do so, disposed of same by being killed or being sold. The plea was for humane societies, in the communities where there is a paid humane officer, managing pounds. A year ago in Tacoma the "pound" went behind $900, but this year the humane society took charge of it and paid off the $500 and had $500 to the good. Mr. Wm. S. Van Voris, the Tacoma humane officer, invited all present, if in Tacoma at any time, to visit stables and notice the provision made for the comfort of horses and said that the Tacoma stables are a credit to the community with their wide stalls and good bedding, as well as blankets and absence of that senseless article of torture, the checkrein. This last article, the checkrein, is a relic of the dark ages of cruel force and is a proof of the thoughtfulness of the user, or of wanton cruelty, for so many fine horses have this inflicted upon them by masters who would not think of neglecting to feed and blanket and carefully bed his faithful beast. The check impairs the breathing and oppresses the chest and causes paralysis and severe head aches as well as cutting or hardening the mouth, thus not only causing actual suffering, but making the mouth numb causes the horse to not be sensitive to the bit and thus is responsible for many accidents.

Mr. W. H. Moore spoke on "The Need of Public Maintenance for Humane Work."

Hon. E. M. Day of Bellingham told of the obstacles which were overcome in the Legislature in creating the state humane bureau, and get-

"Little Visits" No. 14

Dr. Theodore Sharpe.

I am glad that when a boy I stored my mind with many things I saw and heard. But I am more glad that my memory is long enough to reach backward and bring to light many experiences of my boyhood, for the happenings of my early life have been suggestive of many sermons and speeches and scribblings.

Years ago the old home town of this scribe was in dire need of a sidewalk in a certain section of the main thoroughfare. The interested citizens gathered in public meeting to make their sentiment crystalize in official action. The elected charman presented the matter somewhat like this: "Gentlemen, we are gathered here for the purpose of building a board walk in our vicinity; therefore, my fellow citizens, let us put our heads together and the thing is easily and quickly done." The chairman must have meant what he said because he did not understand the laugh which greeted his suggestion and proposition.

Now sometime ago the Solomonized and Solonized head of F. C. Teck, who spends most of his days and nights planning to increase usefulness of the Commercial club, issued a call that men should gather from everywhere and put their heads together and build that Pysht road, which is just as necessary for Clallam county as veins are for a man's body.

I said I would be present and see how many and what kind of heads would represent Clallam county and Port Angeles. In spite of the fact it was the coldest night I had experienced since leaving Wisconsin, I was glad to put my head with other heads and listen to what some heads had to say. The first thing I did was to take a survey of the heads present and classify and catalogue them. There were merchant-heads, lawyer-heads, doctor-heads, official-heads, teacher-heads, real estate-heads, insurance-heads, farmer-heads, editor-heads, business-heads, a Goodbrand-head, a Jack Leonard-head, and some other kind of heads besides a few bald heads. I was glad to note that the swelled-head and the block-head had the cold head and remained at home to get some warmth into their frozen gray matter. The logger-head, with no reference to the man of timber and lumber, was conspicuous by his absence. And by the way I have discovered several distinct species of this order of man in Port Angeles.

Mayor Walton, who is not only the Head of the city management but also Head of the Commercial club, turned the head of the meeting over to Thomas T. Aldwell. Speaking scientifically this man has a dolichocephalic head. Speaking so that most folks will understand, he is long-headed in business and finance and broad-headed in civic and community affairs. When he puts his head with other heads something happens besides motions and mental contortions.

The real speech of the evening was that of Mr. Remp, who is the Head of the engineering department of the county. Now I am not going to describe the excellent speech of this well educated and experienced man. You can read that by looking up a copy of the Olympic-Leader or Tribune-Times. The editors of these papers were present with their wise heads.

I am going to make a little preachment and since many of my readers have not heard a sermon for some time I hope the seed will fall on absorbing minds. Now what is my sermon? A good head at the head of block-heads working with heads together will accomplish more and get farther than an army of wise heads pulling apart or sulking like Achilles in his tent because he could not be head of the universe. I would rather be the head of a regiment of simple heads all in harmony than be a general of an army of swollen-heads of which every head wanted to be head. Heads together in any community will produce progress, prosperity and happiness.. Heads apart will result in bitterness, stagnation and retrogression.

Port Angeles, with a "Heads Together" community, plus a "Heads Together" campaign, will heal more old sores and swellings than a thousand sore-headed and swollen-headed folks scattering their sanctified speech and spreading their egotistically concentrated conversation over the street and corners of Port Angeles.

Any ordinary head, after hearing this speech would say that the Pysht road must be built.

The next head that was prominent was that of Commissioner Dick. There is smething about this man I like. He may not be complimented by my opinion but since he came to church one night and listened to my sermon in great patience and forebearance, I must credit where credit is due, especially to such a good listener as Brother Dick.

Now I do not know how much psychology, epistomology, archaeology and anthropology, his head contains but I do not know this head contains a complete cycolopaedia and

CRUISE OF STATE'S SCHOOL SECTIONS IS PROGRESSING RAPIDLY

Results of the first season's work of the state land exchange of school sections isolated in forest reserves and the cost were summed up at a meeting held Friday between Stanton G. Smith, representing the government, and Commissioner of Public Lands Clark V. Savidge, representing the state land board. Cost figures, compared with the amount of work done and the results attained, are declared by both representatives to be most satisfactory, as the first season's expense includes not only the actual cruising cost, but all overhead expenses and the necessary expenditures incident to the starting of an undertaking of this magnitude.

At the close of the entire field work, which probably will not be finished until June, 1917, nearly 1,000,000 acres will have been cruised. This year, 233,274.55 acres have been cruised, at an expense of $30,568.29, showing the cost an acre, including the overhead, traveling and field expense, to be 13.1 cents.

This remarkably low figure—considering that the sections cruised are badly scattered and in high altitudes—is due to the fact that some barren and burned sections have been encountered, necessitating only a scrutiny of the ground, in order to get the topographical features, and not necessitating the expense incident to a cruise where there is timber.

This has cut the average from what it would be if all of the sections cruised had been timbered. The expense has also been somewhat decreased by the fact that both Smith, for the Forest Service, and Savidge, for the state, have been able to carry on a great deal of the clerical work necessary with their regular forces, without depleting the land exchange funds. From present indications the state cruise will probably be completed within the appropriation of $50,000.00 made by the Legislature.

The area available in the Olympic Forest for use in the exchange is placed at 60,302 acres, of which 5,715 have been cruised. The total area available in the state amounts to almost a half million acres.

HUMANE SOCIETY MEETING

ting an appropriation of $1000. Mr. Day worked hard for a much larger appropriation as well as for the passing of certain laws along this line. He said we have as good laws as any other state except Montana. Other states have much larger appropriations. In Wyoming an appropriation of $7500 has failed to cover one year's work and will be much increased at their next Legislature.

Fourteen states have compulsory humane education in the public schools.

Mr. Rudersdorf, president Spokane humane society, said one of the greatest and most satisfactory things noticeable at the International Humane Societies meeting was that every civilized nation was represented in person or on paper.

He spoke of the terrible cruelties imposed upon animals in securing moving picture films. It was suggested that any person attending a show where such pictures are given, should notice the name of the film company and get the address and then write a personal letter telling the company of the displeasure experienced in witnessing pictures of such a type and telling them that he or she will not only not attend shows where said companies' films are used but will use his or her influence to keep friends from doing so, unless discontinued.

Miss Nellie M. Goodhue, special teacher for 175 backward children in Seattle schools, gave a splendid talk on the subject of delinquent children, using Goddard's charts in illustrating the great factor responsible for the delinquent child—heredity. Miss Goodhue also spoke of the wrong in expecting a teacher to put knowledge into a head which is a part of a body containing an empty stomach, or a stomach filled with coffe or other stimulant or food which satisfies the appetite, but gives no nourishment to the body.

Dr. Lillian Merrill, chief probation officer, of Seattle, gave a splendid address on "Some Aspects of Child Neglect Related to Delinquency." Dr. Merrill said that parents who whipped or inflicted other similar physical pain upon their children were not the ones who were most cruel to their children, for parents can neglect their children in form more cruel than physical neglect. A lack of true companionship between parent and child he considered most unfortunate for the future of the child. In so many instances the kinship between the parent and child is just material relationship. It is merely an accident of birth.

Dr. Merrill has had many years of experience in this line of work and illustrated his talk with many sad tales. He said he believed in regulation of child-labor, but likewise, believed an idle child is in greater danger than the busy child.

Dr. Anna Streng discussed Uncle Sam's 30,000,000 children and gave many scientific reasons for spiritual, mental and physical training being taught in equal proportions that the result may be a normally balanced child.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Ustler very pleasantly entertained a host of friends at their home on Fifth street Friday evening, last. The guests spent the evening listening to the new Edison phonograph, recently installed in the Ustler home, after which the jolly party, bundled in warm wraps, took a sleigh ride about the city returning to the Ustler home again and there enjoying a delicious luncheon of warm morsels of food and drink. Those present were: The Misses Nellie and Helen Linn, Lola McDowell, Nora Donahue, Margaret Gormley; Messrs. Oliver Mitchell, Clyde Finn, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Reis and Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Ustler and daughters, Helen and Lucy.

The music at the Congregational church already begins to show the result of Mr. Brown's careful training. This was especially true of the anthem last Sunday morning, the obligato solo being finely rendered by Mrs. Conrad Luppen. In the evening Mr. Brown sang with exceptional beauty of voice and interpretation, the solo "King David's Lament" (Swift) and by special request he has consented to repeat the selection at the morning service next Sunday.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The high school basket ball game between Angeles and Townsend was one of the fastest games ever played here. Surely it is a credit to the A. H. S. to have such a team. Although the score was 19 to 14 in favor of our opponents, we felt that our boys had done splendidly. Howard Sinnett, as guard, played remarkably well for his first year.

Mr. Twitmire was inspecting the high school Monday and gave a very interesting talk to the students. He spoke on the necessity of hard work in school and out if we wished to ever do anything worth while. At the same time, we were very grateful to him for keeping us from our work for a while.

The Senior class took advantage of the snow and clear weather to have a coasting party Monday evening. The class met on Lincoln street and spent three hours in that delightful sport. One accident occurred during the evening which resulted in a sprained ankle for Loucygne Wilcutt. One bob sled was coming down the hill with good speed and struck another one that had been left in the track. No other serious injuries resulted.

The play which the Seniors chose to give for the benent of the "Tum Tum" is "The Touchdown." It is a very exciting-plot and will be sure to interest everyone. Those taking part are practicing hard and hope to be able to stage it soon after the examinations. The semester exam's begin on Tuesday morning.

Talks on Thrift

Thrift Campaign Series

SAVING AT THE SPIGOT AND WASTING AT THE BUNGHOLE

There is an economy that saves at the spigot and wastes at the bunghole. To practice economy in little things and forget it in the larger ones is no economy at all. To walk a mile in order to save five cents may not be good policy, for the time may be worth many times the saving. It has been figured out that it does not pay a carpenter to stoop down to pick up a nail, for the time he wastes would buy two nails. You often see men and boys in the big city dashing in front of autos, dodging trolley cars and taking desperate chances with their lives to save a few moments time, and then stop for ten or fifteen minutes to watch some gentleman in a window advertising a corn cure. Be consistent!

It never pays to buy something simply because it is cheap. If you do not need it it is dear at any price. The woman who is eager for bargains and buys simply because she cannot resist the temptation to get a bargain has swindled herself. True value consists in getting the maximum return for the money spent.

Last summer a woman bought six baskets of peaches that were spotted, and thought she bought them cheap, and her economical soul was exultant; but when she found she had fewer cans than if she had bought sound fruit, and the scraps were useless for "peach butter," and in her anxiety to get them canned before they spoiled she worked herself sick and let the syrup boil until it crystallized, she realized that there are some bargains that are not bargains.

When a wave of economy strikes the household, the wife generally decides to save on the table, which is all very well, provided she knows how. But to buy cheap meats and stale vegetables may be the poorest kind of economy.

There are some cuts of beef as nourishing as porterhouse at one-third less the cost; but to buy bone and gristle for beef is to deceive yourself. If the family eats not fat, buy lean cuts. Pork chops can be had with practically no fat or bone at all. These are the loin chops. Rump roast is all meat and no bone and goes a long way because there is no waste. In the matter of clothing costly economy can be practiced. Two pairs of two dollar shoes will not last half as long as one pair of four dollar ones. Gingham costs more than calico, but it wears longer and looks better. It costs just as much make a dress of calico as of gingham and the only difference is the small saving in material cost, which is overbalanced by the short wear. A remnant is not cheap unless you can use it.

It may pay a woman to do her own laundry but if she breaks her health it is costly washing. You can save money by doing without eating—at least cutting it down to stopping the craving for food. You can eat candy just before dinner and not want soup and meat; but that is saving money to hire a doctor. True economy does consist in doing without some things—needless luxuries, but not in doing without the necessities of life. There are many ways to save, but look out that in saving at the spigot you don't forget the bunghole.

PORT ANGELES TRUST AND SAVINGS BANK

"WHEN MINE EYELIDS CLOSE IN DEATH"

There is truth as well as some poetry in this one:

"When I cash in, and this poor race is run, my chores performed and all my errands done, I know that folks who mock my efforts here will, weeping, bend above my lowly bier, and bring large garlands, worth three bucks a throw and paw the ground in ecstacy of woe; and friends will wear crape bowknots on their tiles, while I look down (or up) a million miles, and wonder why these people never knew how smooth I was until my spirit flew.

"When I cash in, I shall not care a yen for all the praises heaped upon me then. Serene and silent in my handsome box, I shall not heed the laudatory talks; and all the pomp and all the vain display will just be pomp and feathers thrown away. So tell me now, while I am on the earth, your estimate of my surprising worth; or, tell me that a lulu bird I am—and please cut out the all too frequent slam."—Exchange.

Why this man bought a Remington Junior Typewriter

"I have been investigating several of the recent makes of machines, seeking for one of simple construction for ordinary manuscript and letter writing. I was nearly ready to buy a machine of another make when I just happened to see for the first time the Remington Junior, and found it to be the very thing I wanted.

The man who wrote this is the postmaster of a small Southern town. He is only one of thousands who have recently bought a Remington Junior. But his reasons apply to everybody—they apply to YOU.

The Remington Junior is our latest product and the latest idea in typewriting.

It is strictly a high-grade machine.

It has the Remington Name, the Remington Guarantee, the Remington Quality—everything Remington except weight and bulk.

A "Simplified Remington" describes it exactly.

And its price is $50.00

Remington Junior Typewriters will be sent "on examination," without obligation to purchase.

Easy payment terms can be arranged if desired.

Services at the Churches

PRESBYTERIAN

Rev. A. H. Burkholder, pastor. The subject for the morning service for next Sunday, January 23rd, will be, "Cast your bread upon the water," in the evening, "Mistaken Signs." The Presbyterian church joins heartily in the plan of the union evangelistic meetings to be held in the opera house in February, but on account of the distance of the church from the center of the city the Sunday evening services will be continued separately during the union preparatory services held in other churches.

METHODIST CHURCH NOTES

Preparations are now being made by the evangelical churches of Port Angeles for a revival campaign to be held in the opera house in February under the leadership of Dr. Major of Seattle. The churches will unite in the second union prayer meeting at the Congregational church Thursday evening. This service will begin at 7:45 so that there will be plenty of time to hear Judge Alden in the high school auditorium. Let all who have the interest of these meetings upon their hearts be present.

Next Sunday evening the first of the union preparatory services will be held in the Methodist church. Dr. Steelman of the Baptist church will deliver the address. Let all the members of the churches and the Christian people unite in that service so that they become acquainted and thus work the better.

A Leap Year party will be given at the Parsonage Friday evening by the Epworth league. The invitations are only limited to the size of the house. Let us have a crowded time. at Sixth and Chase. The pastor will preach next Sunday morning on the subject, "Spiritual Parasites."

Miss Edna Holt of Seattle will sing for us that morning and evening. Mr. Samuelson and the pastor are planning for the organization in the very near future of the Boy Scouts. Mr. Samuelson is a keen lover of the boy and understands boy life. All boys interested in that phase of life can get in touch with him by being at the Sunday School next Sunday morning. They are planning some trips to the mountains especially to Mount Olympus.

Let us have the best time of our spiritual lives next Sunday.

THEODORE SHARPE,
Pastor.

ALCOHOL NOT IN SAME CLASS WITH INTOXICANTS

That a distinction is made between intoxicating liquors capable of being used as a beverage and alcohol to be used for chemical or mechanical purposes and that it will not therefore be necessary to secure permits to obtain the latter, is the consensus of opinion of leading lawyers of the state is stated in a circular recently sent out by one of the big wholesale drug houses of Seattle. The druggist must satisfy himself that the alcohol is to be used for legitimate purposes and obtain his customer's signature to that effect. The customer, however, is made liable for any false statement.

Section 7 of the act says "that nothing in this act shall be construed to prohibit a registered druggist or pharmacist from selling intoxicating liquor for medical purposes, upon the prescription of a licensed physician . . . or from selling alcohol for mechanical or chemical purposes. Every druggist selling intoxicating liquor or alcohol for the purposes above provided shall keep a true and exact record in a book provided by him for that purpose, in which shall be entered at the time of every sale of intoxicating liquor or alcohol made by him or in or about his place of business, the date of the sale, the name of the purchaser, his place of residence, the kind, quantity and price of such liquor or alcohol and the purpose for which it is sold . . . and when the sale is of alcohol for mechanical or chemical purposes, the purchaser shall be required to sign the record of the sale in the book."

We note the reflection cast upon our weather prognosticator in last week's Press, and our hat is at once in the ring in his defense. It's no fault of the local weather bureau, nor the brown end of our yellow caterpillars, that our balmy zephyrs have been replaced by such reputation-destroying, freakish weather since 1916 was ushered in. The scientific fact of the matter is that since the ducks have destroyed our pastures and clam industry, they have now attacked the Japanese current and have destroyed it. How can one expect the brown end of a yellow caterpillar to prevail against such odds.—Sequim Press.

The tax rolls of the taxes for the year 1915 have been turned over to the Treasurer for collection and will be due on and after the first Monday of February, which is February 7.

dictionary of common sense and practical ideas; and more than that, his head is not swollen or lop-sided and contains so much bigness that he can see the good of the whole county rather than his own little place.

Some folks had said in my hearing that Dick's head was narrow and that he needed glasses magnified to see anything as far as the Pysht road. But he proved them all compromisers of truth and relatives of Baron Mauchausen and Mr. Gulliver. He said that that afternoon he had put his head together with the head of Commissioner Hansen; and when those two heads came together one brain would have done as far as the building of the Pysht road was concerned. I felt like patting the head of Dick for his bigheartedness and farseeingness and his broad-mindedness. When this man puts his head alongside of the head of Hanson why that Pysht road is as good as built.

Now in order to be orthodox I must add an exhortation. "Never put a pin-head at the head of anything and thus progress will never be scratched."

At this time a new order of heads was introduced. The heads of Port Angeles listened to some heads who had come all the way from our friendly neighbor, Sequim, the beautiful and blessed.

The town of Sequim has made its place on the map and geographically and topographically with such heads to guide it will sme day soon be a garden spot of the Northwest.

Mr. Keeler was the first speaker. He has a large head, physically and mentally and I hope morally. I believe he has the latter because he said one thing that coming from a man who sells real estate almost took my breath away and at the same time I almost knocked the breath out of Commissioner Hansen, who sat next to me, by losing control of my physical powers and giving the aforesaid Commissioner a terriffic dig in the short ribs. I was so astonished that I know Hansen has forgiven me although not forgotten. Mr. Keeler said that he considered the man to be his friend who told him of his mistakes and failings. That had not been in accordance with my experience. I know a great bunch of sore-heads who became afflicted with that disease because someone told them of their faults. Mr. Keeler is quite orthodox in his sermon. Wouldn't we have a city if every citizen would welcome with a glad heart and mind anyone who would tell us face to face our sins and failings. I think I will persuade this man to preach for me some day. If he does as well as he did in the Commercial club rooms he will have my admiration and friendship forever.

The chairman called on a man whom I had already met and whom I liked on account of his pleasant smile and optimism. This was Editor Hay of the Sequim Press. This newspaper scribe is some orator and he handed out his speech with punch and logic that made me blush to think how weak I was when I essayed the delivery of speech and sermon. Now I looked at this man's head for a long time, admiring it all the while. His head belongs to that classification known by every school boy as brachiocephalic, figuratively speaking it means short on cash and long on brains. I would rather be long on brains anytime and anywhere than long on cash, that is I could not be long on both. I just ran out of adjectives describing this man's head. Sequim is to be congratulated on having such a man as Mr. Hay living in their midst and conducting such a modern and progressive newspaper. I wish he would move up here and join my church. If he won't do that I wish he would join the church down there and publish a sermon every week on, "Why I think we have the best country in God's own land."

Come again Brother Hay and tell us just what you think of us and we will welcome your advice and we will enroll your name on the tablets of our heart. May your fine head ever eject big ideas into the pinheads and swollen-heads and cause an expansion of life and thought.

Then there were three other heads from Sequim whom we were glad to welcome by listening to them. I hope that Mr. Mortland, Mr. Govan and the other whom I have just forgotten will come again and mingle their heads with the heads of the Commercial club and others.

I am glad to say that my head was enlarged because I listened to some other heads which contained more than my head.

Since these heads came together the road to Pysht will be built.

STATE ASSESSOR CONSIDERS VALUATION OF BANKS

Commissioner Jackson of the state tax commission stated in an address at the annual convention of the county assessors of the state, held at Olympia Monday, that the plan of assessing banks on the basis of their "book" value, while not in all instances satisfactory, is the most feasible plan in that it makes for uniformity.

"In the case of a large majority of the banks," said Commissioner Jackson, "the assessor has no means of ascertaining the full and fair value, or in other words, what the market value of such shares of stock may be, as there are no sales of stock and the value is fluctuating and uncertain. The stock of very few banks is worth less than its book value, but in many cases the stock is worth more than the book value.

"It is the custom in most all counties of the state to assess the stock of a bank at par, adding thereto the surplus and undivided profits, shown by the banks' statement as of March 1, taking this as the total valuation of the banks' assets. While we believe that this method is not in all instances satisfactory, or what the law prescribes, it does tend to make the system of assessment of banks uniform, and this board is constrained to believe such a method to be the most feasible."

Assessor E. A. Prickett of Clallam county was in attendance.

NEWSPAPERMEN ROYALLY ENTERTAINED AT INSTITUTE

The program given at the Newspapermen's Institute in Seattle last week, was found to be very interesting and beneficial and the splendid attendance was most gratifying to the officers in charge. Some excellent addresses were made, and the newspapermen's troubles were discussed by the different editors of the state. Delightful entertainment was provided for the ladies each day. On Thursday Miss Corey, a charming reporter for the Seattle Times, acted as hostess for Mr. Joseph Blethen, president of The Times Publishing company. by entertaining the ladies with a luncheon at the Washington and a theatre party afterward at the new Coliseum. Friday, the young ladies in the journalistic department, who work on the University Daily, acted as hostesses at a luncheon at Frederick & Nelson's, afterwards visiting the ice skating rink and other places of interest. One of the special features of the institute program was the excellent address by Miss Rausch, assistant professor of home economics in the University, on "A Housekeepers' Conference in Your Town." This is something of interest to club women and such a conference would be beneficial to Port Angeles as it has been to many other towns and cities throughout the state where housekeepers' conferences have been held.

Taking advantage of the splendid sleighing Monday evening, a crowd of 35 merrymakers from Angeles enjoyed a trip to the DeWitt Burns home at Mt. Pleasant were dancing and bob sled coasting were a treat for the younger members of the party. Mr. and Mrs. Burns had not been informed that they were to be host and hostess to such a large number of guests, nevertheless they proved equal to the occasion and a jolly good time was the result. The cold evening and long ride had provided the uninvited guests with a keen appetite and the splendid coffee, cake and sandwiches were a treat.
