Gambling bill passed by Senate

The Senate has passed and sent to the House of Representatives the basic Constitutional change needed to allow the playing of bingo and the holding of charitable raffles.

By a 39 to 9 vote, the amendment to strike from the Constitution the phrase "the legislature shall never authorize a lottery" was adopted by the Senate.

Interestingly enough, Attorney General Slade Gorton, previously reluctant to support such an amendment, testified at a hearing that the Legislature should proceed to adopt the change in order to legalize bingo and raffles.

The Attorney General was interested, of course, in limiting such social gambling strictly to bingo and raffles. He also urged that the Legislature pass an annual general elections measure, so that the lottery amendment could go before the people this fall. He also advocated a second measure, to go into effect if the amendment were adopted by the people, setting out the gambling limitations required to avoid the possibility of "Las Vegas" type operations in the state.

There is no question of the tremendous public interest in restoring the bingo games which are so popular among many of our citizens. The need for this method to raise funds for charitable and educational purposes also is well understood. There probably has been more mail to legislators on legalizing bingo than on any other subject this session.

The question is whether the House will accept the Senate's position that the Constitutional Amendment is needed first to get the lottery prohibition, which has been ruled to apply to bingo, out of the Constitution. Then, the Legislature can proceed to legislate the proper restrictions against commercialized gambling.

In the education field, the Senate took steps to recognize the contributions that have been made by our private colleges and universities in the state.

Twenty-five members joined in introducing legislation that would set up a "tuition supplement" of up to $100 for each student attending a full-time course in a private college or university in the state. It is estimated that this would assist some 26,000 resident students each biennium.

Heart Fund Drive begins

Clallam County's Heart Fund volunteers are organized and ready to do their share toward raising this state's quota of $834,768 in the February Heart Fund Drive, Mrs. Peggy Broemeling of Sequim, county chairman reported this week.

Port Angeles city drive is being directed by Jerry D. Barnes, insurance man who resides at 527 East First St. Assisting him as co-chairman of the Heart-to-Heart solicitation in Port Angeles are Mrs. Don Boyd of 1125 Third St. and Mrs. Arne Martilla of 141 West Columbus.

Mrs. Mark White of Route 2 Sequim is chairman in that community, assisted by Mrs. Thomas Illman of Route 2 as business chairman.

Mrs. Donald Archibald directs the Forks Drive.

Mrs. Broemeling pointed out that Clallam County has benefited directly from the Heart Fund during the past year.

Twenty-seven Clallam residents receive free penicillin through the Rheumatic Fever Control Program co-sponsored by the Washington State Heart Association and state and local health departments.

FROM THE PAST--A few shingles still cling to this weathered structure which once served as a steeple for the old Quillayute Prairie Church. The church is gone now as are many of the pioneers who worshiped here. Moss has now taken hold and will soon cover this skeleton as it gradually gives way to brush here on the Quillayute. ---Lonnie Archibald

The Mansfield Story

Tom Mansfield in the "Good Old Days".

The Mansfield years as commissioner began January 15, 1957. Mansfield was appointed to fill the position of Bert Cole, who was the newly elected State Land Commissioner. The father of the newly appointed commissioner had served the county in the same capacity from 1937 to 1939.

On the agenda for the first meeting attended by the new commissioner were problems still existing in some form today as he leaves office. These are topics of a controversial nature and have been the cause for much public debate. They concern the eventual adoption of comprehensive county planning, construction of a new county courthouse, flood control and garbage disposal. It now appears that during the intervening years some breakthroughs have been made in regards to public desires on these items and solutions are in the works.

Throughout the years of service as commissioner many satisfying achievements were made. The Hoko Bridge was an early start on rebuilding of many bridges in the West End. There has been approximately 11 bridge projects either of new construction or of rebuilding. The solution of what to do with the Burnt Mountain Road probably is the most outstanding as it represented an accomplishment that was beyond the resources of Clallam County. The tremendous amount of cooperation of the many government agencies is a story in itself.

Next to the Burnt Mountain project the juvenile hall gives Mansfield extreme pleasure in being a part of the group bringing it into existence. The Public Health Building makes available to local residents services that would be non-existent otherwise. The acquisition of Camp Hayden, Voice of America property and Shi Shi Beach Parks are steps that secure recreational opportunities for many generations to come. Many other small parcels of park property have been preserved for future needs.

Mansfield as commissioner found most of the people he worked with extremely dedicated to serving the public. The first board was composed of Elmer Critchfield, Tom Mansfield and Val Cameron. Later boards were to have Harvey Eacrett, John Kirner and Harry Lydiard.

As Tom sees it, the future for the commissioners will shape more around county planning and the direction it will take. An increased emphasis on development of the recreational sites acquired. One of the major problems will be the disposal of solid wastes, as the state demands more rigid disposal methods.

The Tom Mansfield honorary dinner will be held February 27, 6:30 p. m.

Cub Scouts

All parents and boys interested in Cub Scouts are urged to attend an organizational meeting, February 23, 7:30 p. m., at the Multi-purpose room of the Elementary School. Boys must be 8 years old to join and the group is in need of den mothers.

MAN ARRESTED

George Lytle, 19, of Forks was arrested February 11, 11:30 p. m. by Forks Deputy Marshal Gary Victovich for allegedly selling dangerous drugs (LSD) to a minor. He is being held in the Clallam County jail in Port Angeles in lieu of $2,000.00 bail.

House Burglarized

The Forks Marshal's office reported that the Logan W. Kaas home on Calawah Way was burglarized January 25, money was taken and a pickup belonging to Kaas was stolen. Two juveniles, age 15 and 16 years old were arrested. Charges have been filed, but a hearing has not been scheduled.

School Board Tonite

The Quillayute Valley School Board meets tonight, 8:00 p. m., in the Science room of the high school. All are invited to attend.

The agenda is as follows: student lounge, etc.; shop janitor situation; carpentry and related vocational class experiences; 1971-1972 school calendar proposal; policy change request on written excuses; classified personnel requests--salary and other; consideration of a special levy proposal; WESPA resolution on entrance ages; responses to bus maintenance questionnaire; architect appraisal; Blaine's assessment of intermediate school, etc.

Man injured in fall

Kenneth J. Kroll, 20, Route 2, Monroe, was running across main street in Forks to avoid the rain, he stumbled on the curb, and fell head long into the window at the Coast-to-Coast store. Kroll suffered severe lacerations and was taken to the Port Angeles Hospital.

EDITORIAL . . .

By Nedra Reed

Forks, a small town, population of the area approximately 4,000, a hospital, a doctor, seven churches, a fine school, a drug problem.

Yes, we do have a drug problem among our young. The problem of drug use is no longer confined to the large city, the ghetto areas. Now it has spread to our own small town.

Just recently there have been arrests made in the county for alleged trafficking in drugs, there have even been arrests in our town.

The heartbreaking fact is that the majority of the young people involved with drugs aren't the delinquents, the drop-outs from society. They are the children of so-called average middle class families.

What is lacking in our society that causes the young to search for something they feel they find in drugs?

They say they are dissatisfied with our materialistic society, the government, the everyday push for the dollar. The double standard of liquor and cigarettes as compared to pills and marijuana.

The responsibility rests on parents, you and I. We expect responsible actions from our children, yet fail in examples.

Educate ourselves thereby educating our children. The Department of Health, Education and Welfare has information concerning all kinds of drugs, so does the PTA. Inform yourself, talk to your children and bridge the communication gap.

Lets help our children and thereby help ourselves and our nation.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Editor,

Taking something out of context is not suppose to be according to Hoyle, so when your paper published the responses to a letter of mine I had written to the Aberdeen World without also including the original that prompted the negative responses, I have felt that I should be given space to reiterate my opinions.

I am not alone in feeling that there was in view of the condition of wildlife in the Upper Hoh-Clearwater areas, officially 10-KN absolutely no justification for an extended all age, all sex open season there for bow and arrow hunting, or any type of hunting either. The Game Department keeps no close check on game wounded and escaped, but after the cries of outrage from such a large percentage of the residents of 10-KN I tried to do that. Even with the excessive depletion of all wildlife there which would seriously decrease the chance of a successful hunt. I learned of four head of big game either feathered with arrows or found dead of arrow wounds and in that checked area not a single successful kill. I can only assume that things must have been much the same over the entire 10-KN areas as around the Upper Hoh Valley, where there is a resident population to observe what goes on.

I am not opposed to sports hunting, for it is a valuable adjunct to game management, if property used but why approve what our Indians gave up long ago as inefficient. I also am opposed to gladiatorial contests, bull baiting, cock pitting and a whole list of other activities in addition to such things as bow and arrow hunting, tho humans have indulged in such in the past. Let us be as civilized as we can and if we must remove surplus wildlife in its own interest let us not devise an inefficient and outmoded manner of doing it and call it sport.

LENA FLETCHER

Editor,
Open letters to Lonnie Archibald, your bill prohibiting the killing of female elk or deer for three years would be defeated, noted.

Still, there is a bill coming up to give the Department of Game the authority to give special protection to endangered species.

That should take care of everything! What species around here at least, are more endangered than the deer, elk and grouse? Here's looking to see if they get any help from headquarters!

Marie Lewis

St. Rt. 1, Box 438

Forks, Washington

Editor,

Regardless of what Lonnie Archibald says, the bow and arrow are not adequate weapons for hunting elk. Granted, elephants have been killed with the bow, the natives used poison arrows. It is also possible to drive 90 miles per hour in a 25-mile zone.

Ask any hound hunter who has taken bow and arrow dudes out. I have heard some sad stories of chewed-up dogs and mad animals that had to be finished off with a gun. They can't even kill an animal sitting on a limb 20 feet over their heads.

Last year our little beagle dog was shot with a broadhead arrow, even though it penetrated 5 or 6 inches he made it home from down the road and across the street and lived for about 30 hours. Had it been a wild animal he would never have been recovered. Think how much more it would take to anchor a 600 pound elk.

Arrows do not produce the shock necessary to stop big game. It often takes 3 or 4 shots from a rifle to drop an elk. You seldom get a second shot with a bow and almost never with a muzzle loader. Single shot weapons should be banned from big game hunting for this reason. It is useless waste when a big game animal escapes wounded.

I have hunted all my life, I discarded the bow long ago. The .22 in my opinion is a much better weapon, as you can make clean kills with head shots, even on an elephant. But that doesn't mean the .22 is adequate for elk.

The 75 percent figure on wounded animals that escape to die a slow death of infection from a rusting arrow head is probably about right, considering the skill of the average bow hunter. It is extremely difficult tracking a wounded animal when it is raining all the time.

It is doubtful if the Game Department has the moral right to grant a special season to minority groups armed with inadequate weapons. This is but part of another plan to sell yet another tag for $5.00, and thus squeeze the last possible dollar out of those who fish and hunt.

CROWN Z TO BUILD TREATMENT PLANT

Construction plans for a new $3 million primary treatment system at its Port Angeles Mill were announced today by Crown Zellerbach. Major work will begin shortly on the facility which is designed to improve water quality in the Strak of Juan de Fuca. Scheduled for completion in July, the system will treat paper and wood mill waste effluent to remove settleable solids, according to Donald A. Nadig, Port Angeles Mill resident manager. This facility is the newest phase of Crown Zellerbach's $80 million corporate-wide environmental control program projected through July 1975.

The primary treatment plant will be constructed west of the wood mill beyond the chip storage area. The clarifier, or settling basin, for treating waste effluent will be 165 feet in diameter. Plans for the new project, which also includes a process sewer collection system and facilities for dred sludge disposal, have been prepared by the company's Central Engineering Office in Seattle.

Effluent and process water from the mill's paper machines and wood mill will be collected and pumped to the treatment

Pen. Tel. paging service

Want to carry your telephone bell in your pocket?

It now can be done--at least figuratively speaking--through a new personal radio paging service being offered in the Forks area by Peninsula Telephone and Telegraph Company. Personal radio paging is a relatively new communications concept, involving a pocket-carried radio receiver that tells you an important message is waiting. Whether you're in an office, on the street, or in your car, anywhere in the town or country. "It's like carrying your telephone bell wherever you go. You always know when someone has called you. You always get your calls promptly," according to Maurice R. Hull, president of Peninsula Telephone and Telegraph Company. He added that the new personal radio paging service is ideal for doctors, lawyers, salesmen, realtors, loggers, contractors, and servicemen. "The paging system means these men can be on the go without ever being out of contact." Making this new service possible is a compact radio receiver. This transistorized unit is so small that it can be carried in a pocket or clipped to a belt. Its total weight is only 9-1/2 ounces.

Basically, here's how the system works. When you're away from the office and have a message, your secretary dials your pager number. This alerts you with a radio tone to your individual radio receiver. When you hear this alerting tone on your pager you know there's an urgent message waiting. At your earliest convenience you call your secretary to receive the message. The personal radio pager contacts only the person for whom the message is intended. You hear only the calls meant for you.

Funds for the excavation work were depleted until the grant was made, officials said.

The money will be utilized for salaries and logistical support for the field crew, supplies and equipment necessary for continuing excavation and further research into preserving the artifacts which are being found.

The Ozette Indian Village is owned by the Makah Indian tribe, which is assisting WSU archeologists in efforts to recover artifacts and document the cultural background and history of their ancestors. The village was inhabited as long ago as 5,000 years.

our pilots shot down over N. Vietnam are P.O.W.'s. Hanoi claims they are war criminals for they have attacked a country which is not a belligerent, killing indiscriminately, destroying civilian targets, and violating N. Vietnamese air space. Senator Mansfield, the ranking Democratic senator under Johnson, when questioned about the "alleged" understandings on which the Administration agreed to end the bombing of the North, said there were no such understandings, written or oral, that these were only our assumptions.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Editor,
In President Nixon's military aid message to Congress he said, "In today's world, peace is synonymous with the strength of America and her friends..."

If peace were synonymous with the strength of America and her friends, simple logic tells us that inasmuch as America is the world's most militarily powerful nation, peace should have come to S.E. Asia long ago. We have been militarily involved in Indo-China for more than twelve years, but, instead of having twelve years of experience we have one year's experience repeated twelve times. We never learn because we are still striving for a military solution to political problems.

James Reston, associate editor of the New York Times wrote in the September 2, 1965 issue of that paper that, "Premier Ky told this reporter (Reston) Tuesday, that the Communists were closer to the people's yearning for social justice and an independent national life than his own government." A recent poll shows that 60 percent of the country believes we should never have gone to Vietnam in the first place. How do we tell that to those boys who came home in a basket or a box?

We are now in the process of substituting massive bombing (again) for the action of American ground fighting forces. We have the nuclear weapons ready to use in Vietnam, and are leading up to it's possible use. We will not set a date for pulling all of our forces out of that country because we have no intention of leaving. The "winding down the war" talk is salve for the weak-hearted who wish an end to the killing.

Another aspect of this war needs clarification. The prisoner of war situation. We claim

The M.V. prison camp raid proved not consideration for our men but rather how far we will stray on obviously false information. I am not a military statistician, but I consider it a normal observation of reality to assume that a goodly portion of those shot down perish in the wreckage of their planes. We demand that our invading killers be well treated when captured, but the V.C. and the N. Vietnamese know that torture and death is their fate when they fall into our hands. Consider the difficulties placed in the way of the Red Cross when they attempted to inspect Pulo Condor prison. They were only allowed to see 20 out of 9,000 prisoners, and no more, period.

In 1969 Senator Kennedy reported more than one million casualties in Vietnam, between 1965 and 1969, "some by the Viet Cong, but the majority by the Army of S. Vietnam and U.S. forces." Our concern for a poor small country is coldly indicated by the late Congressman Mendel Rivers, "One American is worth more than all the Vietnamese". Arrogant, American racism at it's very best. Telford Taylor, U.S. prosecutor at Nuernberg says our widespread bombing of Vietnamese villages and hamlets brands us as war criminals, according to our standards set at Nuernberg.

Don Luce, in S. Vietnam as a correspondent for Religious News Service was classified "persona non grata" and invited out because he took American Congressmen Anderson and Hawkins into no-no territory. Con Son prison, where they visited, is the original "tiger cage" prison where prisoners are kept under inhuman conditions. One can understand why the S. Vietnamese warden tried to keep the American Congressmen from seeing actual conditions, but how does one justify the action of Frank E. Walton the American advisor who supported the warden's attempt to conceal the grisly conditions existing there?

On top of our crimes of gassing, bombing, and burning are added that of deliberate starvation by crop destruction. Starvation is a slow agonizing way to die and kills babies and mothers first. How can we so piously condemn atrocities in other countries and be so unconcerned of our own atrocities in Vietnam? I offer for your sober Christian consideration this excerpt from an editorial in a recent edition of a Seattle paper. "...Unhappily for America, the addicted servicemen are taught the skills of crime in Vietnam. They not only learn how to use firearms and explosives but they become hardened to violence. For some it is a small step from the combat zone of Vietnam to the underworld at home. This is the ironic story of how the violence we have visited upon Vietnam is now boomeranging against the U.S."

Another interesting news quote appeared in a Seattle paper April 1, 1968 and this time it was again Premier Ky of S. Vietnam. The headline says KY BLASTS U.S. AND OWN REGIME. Said Ky, "...The main American motive in Vietnam is self-interest, that his own government is useless and corrupt. The Americans are here to defend their own interests which do not always correspond with those of Vietnam. They are here because they want to remain in Asia and not because they have any particular concern about us... Always it is these large countries who talk of democracy and freedom in order to carry on colonialism. The elections here (Saigon) have been a loss of time and money. They were a joke. They have served to install a regime that has nothing in common with the people--a useless, corrupt regime". Unquote.

This is the same Nguyen Cao Ky, now vice president of S. Vietnam, who in a 1965 Life Magazine interview stated that, "... Americans are big boys. You can talk them into almost anything. All you have to do is sit with them for half an hour over a bottle of whisky and be a nice guy." Upon what basis can we justify aid to all that he represents?

In a way Nixon is right when he says our military might bring peace, --the peace of death. I wonder if the chaplain asked God to watch over Captain Medina's troops when they went out to murder old men, women and babies.

Let us bow our heads and pray: Oh gentle Jesus, bless each bomb we drop today on Vietnam. Amen
Sincerely yours,

Spartans Revenge Pirates

The Forks Spartans picked up their second league victory off the year Friday evening--downing the Vashon Pirates 59 to 54. The victory was a sweet one for the Spartans as the Pirates had beaten the Spartans earlier in the year, 71 to 53. The Spartans now are two and six in league play while Vashon is three and five.

The victory was an up hill battle for the Spartans as they trailed throughout the first three quarters. The Spartans started their comeback late in the third quarter trailing by 11 points the Spartans got eight quick points and trailed by only three starting the fourth quarter, 45 to 42.

In the fourth quarter the Spartans were a different team than what I have witnessed this year. The Spartans played very much as a team, what I mean by this is that they moved the ball unselfishly, they worked hard on defense helping each other when needed, and most of all they were patting each other on the back in an attempt to keep the rally going.

Spartans Cool Hyaks

Forks High School made a clean sweep for the week-end beating the Moclips Hyaks 72 to 62 Saturday evening in Forks. The victory raised the Spartans season record to 8 wins and 10 losses and gave the Spartans a change to even up their season record Friday and Saturday when the Spartans battle Lakeside and Sequim. Forks will be at Lakeside Friday evening and at home against the Sequim Wolves Saturday game time is set for 6:30 p.m. for the JV's and 8:00 p.m. for the varsity on both nights.

The Spartans led 17 to 12 at the end of the first quarter, trailed 33 to 31 at the end of the half, and led 52 to 51 at the end of three quarters in the see-saw contest. The Spartans trailed as much as seven points in the contest and led as much as 10 different times.

It was in the fourth quarter that the Spartans took control of the game. Don Hurt was the one who put the spark in the Spartans as he scored 10 points in the quarter. Don scored a total of 24 to take game honors in that department.

In the fourth quarter the Spartans held Vashon to a total of nine points while scoring 17 points to get the victory. Don Hurt led the Spartans in scoring with a total of 19 points, but it was Mike Simmons and Bruce Allen controlling the backboards, Ray Maxwell and Eddie Jackson scoring five points apiece, and a super team effort on defense that proved the victory for the Spartans.

Tests Scheduled

Leon Golden, counselor at Forks Junior-Senior High School will be administering to the 8th and 10th grades the NATIONAL EDUCATIONAL DEVELOPMENT TESTS, a testing program which helps professional educators, parents, and students plan together for the educational and vocational future of the students.

The NEDT Program will show how well the students can apply their skills acquired since entering school. It will help us recognize the strengths in each student's educational development. At the same time it will pinpoint weaknesses. This information will enable us to know how we can help a particular student while he is still in school and will guide us in improving our program so that other youngsters can be helped earlier in their education.

"Since every cent of school funds should be spent effectively and efficiently, the administration is interested in choosing devices which can bring the best results. The

DNR relocates harbor lines

"The relocation of outer harbor lines at Port Angeles and Bellingham has been approved by the Board of Natural Resources," Bert L. Cole, Commissioner of Public Lands, announced today. The present lines were modified to meet the current and future harbor requirements of the two cities.

"It is the Department of Natural Resources' objective to provide adequate space for expansion of commerce within the existing harbor areas without letting it overflow into relatively undeveloped areas," Cole said.

Relocation of the outer harbor lines will permit Port Angeles and Bellingham to construct terminal facilities designed to meet the requirements of large, deep draft ships operating with modern cargo handling techniques.

Cole pointed out that, "Intensive development of our urban industrial-port complexes through modern systems management planning is the key to preserving the quality of living in the Puget Sound region."

THE LIBRARY CORNER

The Forks Memorial Library has a visitor, a lovely lady, dressed in black lace, with red hair and blue eyes and she belongs to Mrs. A. Johns. The doll, part of Mrs. Johns' collection, is an Armand Marseille doll from Germany. The doll is from the 1890's and was a gift from Mrs. Johns' husband. Ruth said they found the doll in an antique shop and she fell in love with it and in her words, "just had to have it". Mrs. Johns also has several other dolls that will be on display in the library in the future.

Dr Leibold attends course

More than 100 family physicians from Washington and other states went back to school the week of February 1-5 to attend the Family Practice Review course at the University of Washington.

Among those attending the course was Dr. Edwin Leibold. The course was conducted chiefly by faculty members of the U.W. School of Medicine. Five private practitioners were participating in the seminar as moderators of the sessions.

They were Drs. Leon F. Aller, Jr., Snohomish, Wn.; Lyle L. Cowan, Omak, Wn.; Charles C. Strong, Vancouver, Wn.; and James H. Dahlen and William F. Mead, both of Seattle.

In addition, Dr. James Hazelrigg of Tacoma and Dr. Donald McCluskey of Bremerton were involved as part of the seminar faculty in the psychiatry demonstration sessions.

Sponsored by the Division of Continuing Medical Education, the Family Practice Review course is designed to bring the family doctor up to date with the latest in medical knowledge and methods of practice. The five-day course covers a wide range of topics, including internal medicine, surgery, orthopedics, urology, psychiatry, pediatrics, obstetrics and gynecology, and diseases of the eye, ear, nose, and throat.

Many of the physicians who attended are preparing for examination by the American Board of Family Practice, which certifies physicians for practice of the newly recognized specialty of family medicine.

Road construction by F.S.

Construction of Forest Service roads, necessary for the ever-continuing management and protection of all forest resources, can be financed in several ways, according to Donald F. Markham, Construction Engineering Assistant on the Soleduck Ranger District of Olympic National Forest.

Normally, construction of forest management roads is attached to a timber sale contract.

"In this way," Markham said, "the cost of road construction is initially borne by the purchaser of the timber sale. As the road construction progresses, the purchaser is allowed 'purchaser credits', which are applied to his stumpage costs as he logs the sale. Briefly, this means that the purchaser is reimbursed for the road construction he completed by receiving timber at reduced stumpage rates, until the cost of road construction is offset", Markham explained.

In some cases, road construction cannot be financed on a timber sale contract, because the construction costs would make the timber sale economically impossible.

"On the Soleduck District, this is usually the case in areas of second growth timber, where access is needed for the intensive management of the timber stand", said Markham. Road construction necessary

"These roads were the first to be constructed on this district under construction contracts financed wholly by appropriated money", Markham said.

The Littleton Road #3069 was constructed by Del-Hur Construction Company of Port Angeles and the Section 32 Road #301G was constructed by OLCONGO of Port Angeles. These roads were constructed at a total cost of $56,500.

They add a total of 2.5 miles to the district road system and provide access for the management of approximately 720 acres of second growth timber, according to Markham.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETS

The Quillayute Valley School Board met January 21, and at that time the request for a student lounge for the high school was discussed. Student body president Bruce Dunlap gave an outline of the students request. They plan to use Room 213 of the high school, this is the upstairs room over the halls, and Mr. Traver's office. They felt that since this room was not used it was most adaptable to their use, but indicated that their plans could be adapted to other rooms.

The lounge would be governed and policed by students. They have plans for student government to control those who do not behave. The principal must pass on their decisions. Linda Johnson gave a report on other schools and principals who have had a program of this type, the results showed that those who had problems worked them out and they felt the results were good.

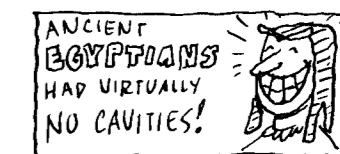

Cheryl Ulin reported that it might be possible to get concession machines. Gene Lemmon, agreed to provide a juke box and to keep it up for a percentage.

The board agreed to endorse the student lounge in principle, with the stipulation that students get together with the administration on a possible room and make a decision before February 12.

The question of school closure during bad weather was discussed. Many ideas were presented. The schools position is that to shut down school you have to make up those days lost during your Spring vacation or at the end of school in June. This presents a problem for teachers who have college classes scheduled for the summer. School money comes from the State on the basis of enrollment and days of school taught. With our money shortage this could be a real problem. No law had been found anywhere that schools could miss ten days without loss of remuneration from the State though this rumor had gone around the school and home to parents. Mr. Hitecock had asked superintendents from three counties at a recent meeting he had attended and they had not heard of this change either. A revised proposal from Honeywell, Inc. was accepted by the Board to take care of all the heating controls in all the schools both new and old for $1300.00 per year. That would mean $750.00 at this time to June 30 with the right not to renew at that time if the service is not satisfactory. Resignation of Elizabeth J. Lorenz from her one period Social Study class as of January 27th was accepted. Resignation of Hope G. Albrook, who is retiring, and Mary Eliasson Anderson, who has married and will join her husband, as of June 11, 1971 were read. The resignations were accepted.

Mr. Hitecock recommended hiring Mrs. Pamela Olsen to replace Mrs. Lorenz. The Board accepted the recommendation.

Linkletter Urges Parents To Learn About Drug Abuse

Art Linkletter looks to the young to turn off on drugs—by themselves.

Speaking at the 75th annual meeting of the National Association of Manufacturers, the famed television star cited some of the more successful programs young people are promoting to fight drug abuse. Mr. Linkletter mentioned volunteer organizations whose teenage counselors give periodic lectures and aid students who need information and help. There should be more such organizations, he says.

Mr. Linkletter's speech before the NAM's membership was entitled "The Role of Business in Drug Control." He urged the industrial leaders to "become the leaders in the fight against drug abuse." "There is no parent in the United States today of whatever power, wealth, fame, neighborhood, education or religion whose child is not in danger of being tempted to experiment with some kind of drug," he said. How to solve this menace? Mr. Linkletter urges parents to find out all they can about drug abuse, and then to do everything they can to communicate with their children so that they can help them when necessary and exchange ideas before it is too late. He makes a special plea to educators who, he says, are often the last to know what is going on in their schools. They, too, must face up to the problem and help eradicate it in the schools. But it is to the youngsters themselves that he looks for the best solutions. They can turn it off just as easily as they can turn it on, he believes.

ABOUT THAT TIME AGAIN

Well, its about time once again for all clam diggers to mend their shovels and check the 1971 razor clam regulation pamphlet in preparation for the new season. Glancing at the tide book we find minus tides beginning the last week of March with tides running every other week thereafter. You can bet this will bring out the best of the clam diggers as early spring will provide the sportsmen with fatter and tastier clams.

REGULATIONS

The daily bag and possession limit is 18 clams this year as in past years. Beaches will be open 24 hours a day, seven days a week, except for the period July 15 through September 15 when all beaches are closed to digging. It is unlawful for any razor clam digger to return any clams to the beach. The first 18 clams dug comprise the limit and it will also be unlawful for anyone to dig another person's limit for him. There is no size limit on razor clams. Happy Digging.

William Read displays 16-pound steelie from Quillayute.

HERE AND THERE

Local game protector, Jim Aggergaard, was heard on "Action Line" on KVAC Radio, Saturday morning as he answered questions related to hunting and fishing. William Chaney and Al Ramsaur boldly hiked the North Wilderness beach Monday morning in search of glass floats and other jetsam brought ashore by Sunday's west winds. The exact location and the amount of floats found will not be made public at this time. I can

Sunset Highlites

By Fred Jarvis

You girls can breathe a big sigh of relief. Its all over until this time next year, except for the ones going to the State Tournament and the All-Coast. I must say you did yourselves pretty proud. Too bad everyone couldn't be winners. Congratulations on a well-managed and well-represented tournament.

Tuesday Afternoon had Ollie Swearingen at 164 and Barb Windle with a 451.

Sunset League B, P. A. A. team event saw Darigold hit a 3046 to take over top spot. Frank Goos hit 220, John Nagel 243-599, Kaye Kelso 225, and "Hoss" Caulkins 219-607.

Good bowling in the Wednesday Powder Puffs. Wilma Engeseth 207-516, Jerry Beebe 511, and Mary Kennedy ??? 202-537. Lida Gott had a 147-148-149 statstep. Patsi Hodges picked off the 3-6-7-8-10, Betty Blattner the 4-7-10. Billie Crist set a record, going 3 frames without a split.

Thursday Beginners: Charlotte Connell 151-367, Sheryl McCoy 143-368, Carol Woody hit 188 and Wilma Engeseth a 191-512 for the Captains.

Couple gals we haven't heard from in quite a while topped Women's Thursday Nite. Anine Lehman 214-518 and Gladys Allen ??? 189-524.

Willis Bryan had a 233 in the West End League and Jim Hjelmeseth a 213-569.

Friday Nite Mixed: Paula Lyda 195-514, Bob West 206, Jerry Winn 522. Mother picked off the 7-9 split and won 10 free games.

Clark's Vagabond rolled a 2141 on the last shift Sunday and won the class A team event, beating out Pay and Save Foods who had been sweating it out with a 2128. Hammel and Parris captured the "B" trophy with 2178. Darlene's came in second with 2150.

"A" All-Events scratch and handicap went to Wilma Engeseth with 1571 and 1805. Jerry Beebe placed second scratch with 1498 and Barb Windle had 1693 for second handicap. Janice Wentworth's 1326 was good enough for first in the "F" class with Pat Hammel close with 1305. Colleen Gargon took the handicap with a 1703 and Pat Hammel second at 1683.

Sunday Nite Mixed: Billie Crist 199-496; Chuck Hamby 201; Al Whitehead 542; and Judy Harrison converted the 2-4-9-10.

Darrell broke in a new ball in the Forks Prairie League, hitting a big 235-611. Bob West rolled a 222-589, Bill Long, with a 138 average, hit 213.

By the way Abigail, did you bawl Sally out a little?

assure you, however, that several floats were found, some still with netting.

Though local rivers rose sharply Saturday and were out of shape by Sunday afternoon. Steelheaders did their thing over the long 4-day weekend. Friday and Saturday provided steelheaders with many fish in the 12 to 18-pound bracket.

Bill and Luelle Read spent Friday plunking on the Quillayute and returned with 16, 12, 9, and 8-pound ironheads. These are my neighbors to the south. My part-time neighbor to the north, with companion, took a boat trip down the Soleduck returning with 17, 14, and two 8-pound fish on Friday, and repeating the action Saturday.

Saw several campsites filled at Mora campground over the holidays and twenty-eight cars at Rialto parking lot Monday. This must be Forks, home of the outdoorsman.

Log exports reach high

Export of logs totaled 2.5 billion board feet, Scribner scale, from all ownerships in Washington, Oregon, northern California, and Alaska in 1970, according to Research Economist David Darr of the U. The volume was 10.2 percent greater than the previous high in 1968 and 16.6 percent above the total for 1969.

Log exports from the Oregon Customs District totaled 636.9 million board feet in 1970, an increase of 13.4 percent over the 1969 total. Northern California log exports in 1970 amounted to 192.1 million board feet, down 7.1 percent from the previous year. Shipments from Alaska totaled 51.6 million board feet in 1970 compared with exports of 31.9 million board feet in 1969.

Japan received 2.4 billion board feet in 1970, or 96.2 percent of total West Coast log exports.

The total value of 1970 log exports was $308.2 million, and the average value was $125.32 per thousand board feet, also a record high. Douglas-fir averaged $119.82 per thousand board feet; Port Orford-cedar, $327.22; and other softwoods, $122.08.

TEEN SOUNDS

By Steve Lingvall

One of the greatest races in the field of contemporary rock music is the struggle to attain the number one position. England seems to be the breeding grounds for the "birth" of new talent. First there were the Beatles and now, a fantastic rock group known to the world as Led Zeppelin. Popularity seems to come in fours, as it is evident with three of the most powerful influences--the Beatles, Led Zeppelin and Creedence Clearwater Revival.

Acid rock was first introduced by Jimi Hendrix. As was to be expected, several new rock artists also decided to cash in on this new form of musical composition. In 1969, Led Zeppelin became a household word with the younger generation and began to steadily rise in popularity. Their first album introduced them; plus two hit singles--"Good Times Bad Times" and "Communication Breakdown". However, when their second album (LED ZEPPELIN II) came out, featuring their smash single "Whole Lotta Love", they produced a miracle by topping the kings of the new rock, the Beatles.

To date, this powerful group has released three albums; all of them have received the gold record award for selling over a million. Their latest album (LED ZEPPELIN III) is one of the biggest LP's of the new year. It features their rising hit single "Immigrant Song", which is presently the number one song in America. Not many older people consider this "excessively loud noise" music, but it is. Granted that some of their recordings center about a great deal of electronic experimentation but that doesn't deter from their musical talent. Its just like listening to an extremely small symphony orchestra.

Led Zeppelin consists of four extremely talented young men--Robert Plant, John Paul Jones, John Bonham, and Jimmy Page. They each belonged to another popular rock group (s) and split-off to form this powerful super-group.

Lindsey served 2 years in the Army and graduated from Pennsylvania State University in 1960 with a degree in Forestry.

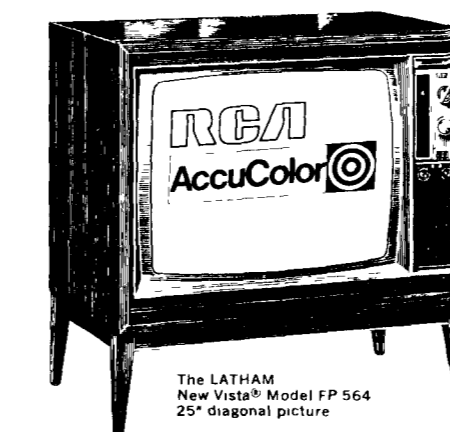

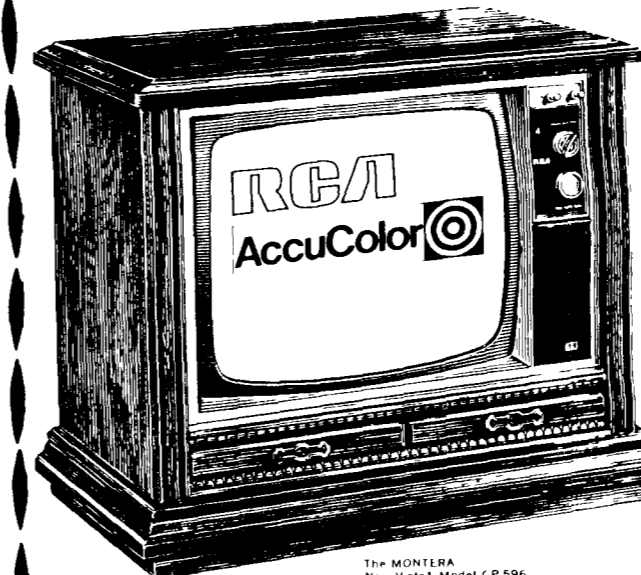

Lindsey's wife and four children will be joining him in June when school is dismissed at Springdale, Oregon.

CONNER TO DEAL WITH DRUG PROBLEM

State Representative Paul H. Conner has been named to a special sub-committee of the Social and Health Services Committee to attempt to put together legislation dealing with the drug problem among minors. While administrative leaders feel that not enough is known yet to enact legislation, Rep. Conner stated that he felt it was imperative for this session of the legislature to tackle this growing and menacing problem and that hopefully we will be able to be of assistance.
