STRAITS ROAD TO PYSHT WILL BE BUILT THIS YEAR

BIGGEST JOB COUNTY HAS EVER UNDERTAKEN

The new twenty-mile road from Joyce to Pysht, completing the northern portion of the West End circuit, is to be built this year, according to the decision finally reached by the Board of Commissioners, at their yesterday morning's session.

It is a big undertaking, the largest thus far put through in the county, this construction of twenty miles of hard surfaced road through a forest which is for the most part one of the heaviest in the state, and the total expense will probably not be far from one hundred thousand dollars, by the time the hard surface has been secured. The first cost is estimated at $88,000 and while it may not be possible to secure the full amount this year, yet the commissioners hope to make both ends meet.

Believing this road to be the most important undertaking confronting them at the present time, and one which means the most in the development of the whole county, each of the commissioners has, to a large extent, sacrificed his other plans. Commissioner Clark takes over the construction of the three and a half miles from Pysht east, to be paid out of the funds of the Clallam Bay district, or No. 3. He also agrees that the new steel bridge over the Calawa, which will cost $9,338, and the new road to LaPush shall be paid for by District 4. Commissioner Dick will have seven or eight thousand out of the general road and bridge fund, leaving the balance, as well as the permanent highway money to the credit of Commissioner Hansen.

Such was the agreement effected shortly after the close of the January meeting and formally adopted yesterday after a conference with Mr. Merrill of Merrill & Ring, the big timber owners, whose extensive logging operations to be instituted this spring at Pysht, make the road an actual necessity.

Merrill & Ring will log that portion of the road that lies within their own timber, but the county will have to do the clearing. They will, however, loan the county a donkey engine, as will also the P. S. M. & T. Co., to assist in the clearing.

Commissioner Hansen, in whose district the bulk of the road lies, and to whose ability in cracking a hard nut the county is indebted for the arrangements as made, states that he will at once order a carload of powder with the intention of getting at the work just as soon as the snow goes off. With a crew at each end, building a mile each per month, the grading should be completed before July, leaving ample time for the graveling, which will be done by contract and paid for out of the permanent highway money. Mr. Hansen states experience has shown that the county can save at least 20 per cent by dispensing with shoestring contractors and doing the work under the supervision of the county's engineering force.

LIVINGSTON, A SEQUIM RANCHER, CRUSHED UNDER FALLING BARN

David Livingston, a rancher living near Sequim, was crushed under his barn and killed when it collapsed from the excessive snow on the roof, last Saturday. He was making a pair of snowshoes at the time with which he intended to make the trip to town. His parents, both elderly people of over seventy, were unable to extricate him and the father walked over a mile through the four feet of snow to a neighbor's, who got out a rescue party.

Other barns have collapsed in nearly every neighborhood, but fortunately without any very great damage, save to the structures themselves. The Little River Logging company and Eacrett's mill report the caving in of their cookhouse roofs, which were slightly built. The roofs of barns on the Dougherty, Forsberg and Frank places on the Lower Elwha collapsed, also on the Coleman ranch on Little river.

STEEL BRIDGE ACROSS CALAWA RIVER, NEAR FORKS, TO COST $9,000

The contract for the steel bridge across the Calawa, a small stream a short distance northeast of Forks, was let to Chas. G. Huber of Seattle, by the board of commissioners this week, the contract price being $9,338. Two other bids were submitted, that of Ryan & Co., of Seattle being $9,457.50 and that of Harry Cotton & Co., of Port Anegles, $10,848.50. The Calawa, though a small stream with high banks, has a habit of becoming a raging flood when least expected, and the people of Forks and vicinity will doubtless appreciate a structure that is unquestionably safe and dependable.

Robert Kennett, the photographer, is showing postcard views of snow scenes taken on Front street, in which the piles of snow are actually higher than the buildings on the opposite side of the street. He has these in any number and variety at 5c each at his studio, corner First and Laurel.

Proposed Improvement Has Been Before Council for Two Years

February 8, 1916

Mayor Walton and the City Council, Port Angeles.

Gentlemen:

I am informed that City Attorney Smith has stated to you that I was opposed to any improvement of "I" or "K" streets at this time. To this I want to state, that I have never told him or anybody else that I was opposed to this improvement.

Furthermore, I want to say that I will stay with this proposition until this Council, or some future City Council, will see fit to put the improvement through. This proposition of building a road or walk up the hill from the Mill, has been before the Council for two years, without any definite action, and we are now, apparently, further off than ever. Personally, it don't affect me, but there are about forty people working in Earles mill, who live on Tumwater hill, and they should be considered.

Inasmuch as there are so many conflicting ideas, even between the former and the present City Engineer, as to the best way of constructing the road up Tumwater hill, allow me to suggest, for the present, to have constructed a six-foot walk from the mill entrance up "H" street. Build a trestle to the railroad track, and from there zig-zag up the hill, something similar to the Oak street walk. This walk would serve for the time being; would be a permanent and very useful improvement, and then at a later day undertake to build a wagon road up either "I," "K" or "L" street.

Respectfully,

G. M. LAURIDSEN.

FORKS OIL WELL SHOT LAST FRIDAY

Oscar Wahlgren Brings Word that People Are Confident Will Have Steady Flow of Oil.

Oscar Wahlgren, the first visitor from Forks since the heavy snowfall of last week, brought word yesterday of the shooting of the oil well at ten o'clock last Friday evening. The shot, according to Mr. Wahlgren, who was present and assisted the expert in the work, shook the earth, liberating or throwing out a great quantity of gas, and causing a flow of oil into the well which was estimate at about three barrels per day.

President Heidrick and Vice-President Fisher were present, as well as a considerable number of interested Forks people, all of whom seemed to be satisfied with the showing. A pumping plant is to be installed in the hope that the well will become a regular producer.

PROGRAM BAND CONCERT TO BE GIVEN NEXT FRIDAY, 11TH

PROGRAM

February 11th, 1916.

1. March, "The Southerner," Alexander.
2. Overture, "Stradella," Rozzini.
3. "Invitation a la Valse," Weber.
4. Grand Selection, "Hugenots," Meyerbeer.
5. Idyle (by request), "Evening Idyles," Barnhouse.
6. Cornet Solo, "The Favorite," Hartman—Mr. C. I. Thompson.
7. Idyle, "Dawn of Love," Zeher.
8. "Titl's Serenade," Arrd. Meyerelles—Flute, Dr. Wm. Taylor, Horn, M. McGrane.
9. Mexican Intermezzo, "La Paloma," Yrdier.
10. March, "Stars and Stripes Forever," Sousa.

Star Spangled Banner.

The band in the past eight months has evolved from a peacebreaking, nervesplitting organized quantity to the present state of perfection, capable of interpreting well any of the masterpieces of music. The fact of its influence and usefulness has long since been established.

Today, this band plays creditably well music that was the boast of many first class organizations now touring the country giving concerts. The band is an important factor in the present day life of our modern civilization. It performs many functions, the least of which is to amuse. This fact has been lost sight of by many. Its principal mission is to humanize—make good, and help cement the brotherly feeling which it has been the mission of religion and art to promote.

One of our modern writers compares it, and rightly so, with the same relation to the community as the choir is to the church—a highly important factor.

COMMERCIAL CLUB NOW IN ITS NEW HOME

The Commercial club is now situated in its new home in the room next to the Alf. A. Davis shoe store, in the Warren Morse block. Not only is the new room of convenient size, but it is modern, comfortable and above all, accessible. The rental paid will prove the best investment the club has ever made.

The school children are still enjoying their enforced vacation and some of the teachers have taken advantage of the opportunity to visit in Seattle for two or three days. While walking is not bad on the lower streets, the snow is still deep on the outskirts of the city, nor will conditions be much improved during the period of slush which will follow.

LOANING SCHOOL FUNDS UPON FARM PROPERTY

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT NECESSARY

The Port Angeles Commercial club, through its secretary, Frank C. Teck, is urging upon the commercial clubs of the state, at their federation meeting at Auburn this week, the endorsement of a plan for an amendment to the state constitution permitting the permanent school funds of the state to be loaned to actual farmers on good farm security. The idea, which was broached by Attorney Lindsay, has been set forth by him, as chairman of the committee, in the following resolution:

Washington Federation of Commercial Clubs,

Sirs:

Section 5, of article 16, Constitution of the State of Washington, as amended in November 1894, reads as follows:

"None of the permanent school fund of this state shall ever be loaned to private persons or corporations, but it may be invested in National, State, County, Municipal or School bonds."

The undersigned, Chairman of a committee of the Port Angeles Commercial club, has for several years advocated an amendment to the State Constitution permitting the permanent funds of the State to be loaned to persons actually engaged in farming, on good farm security.

Senator Iverson, of Kitsap county, introduced a bill to that effect in the Senate during the 1915 session of our Legislature but failed to get a report on his bill.

We would suggest, upon amendment of the Constitution, that the unloaned portion of the permanent State funds be distributed to the various counties of the State according to the school population; that said funds, so distributed, be charged up to the respective counties; that the responsibility of loaning that money be upon the County Commissioners and County Auditor.

This State had on December 31st, 1915, $11,763,991.80, of the permanent school and institutional funds, invested at an average interest rate of only 4¾ per cent. South Dakota loans a portion of its school and permanent funds on first farm mortgages and the Commissioner of School and Public Lands of that State, in a letter to the Chairman of this Committee, dated January 21, 1916, said:

"The State has never lost any money through loans, for the reason that the money is apportioned to the various counties to loan, the counties becoming responsible for the money received; consequently should a county make a bad loan they would have to reimburse the State and take the security. So far as we know there have never been more than two or three instances since Statehood where this procedure has had to be followed."

South Dakota now has $5,714,907.11 of its school and permanent funds loaned out on farm mortgages. The State of North Dakota had on January 1st, 1916, $3,800,895.00 of its permanent funds invested in farm loans. The State Land Commissioner of that state, in a letter to the said chairman, of January 21st, 1916, states:

"The State has never lost a cent by way of such investment. In fact, there have been only two foreclosures and in one case the State made about $1,000.00 by sale of the land. In one other case, the state now holds sheriff's deed by reason of a

LOST IN TIMBER FOR FOUR DAYS

No Matches or Food; Feet Frozen; Unable to Travel in Heavy Snow; Cries Brought Help.

Lost in the timber for four days and three nights, or from Wednesday morning till Saturday afternoon, without food or matches, and with frozen feet, was the awful experience of Jack Hyde, a logger employed by the Dungeness Logging Co., this week.

Hyde had left camp early in the morning with the intention of visiting at the Emery home, Mr. Emery being his cousin, and lost his way in the timber on the slopes of Blue Mountain, wandering around for four days in an effort to gain the main county road, only a short distance away, as distances go out in the open. Becoming thoroughly exhausted Saturday afternoon, he began calling for help, his cries being heard by the telephone lineman, when Paul Thorpe went to investigate. It was found necessary to obtain assistance to handle Hyde, as he was practically helpless and it was evening before he arrived at the Sequim hospital, where he is doing well, considering his injuries.

The advisability of carrying a small compass, when out in the timber or hills, is again emphasized by this experience of Hyde's. While it is true that the traditional 999 men out of a thousand always know where they are and are able to unerringly take the shortest, even tho most circuitous, way out to main trail or road, it yet remains the fact that the thousandth man may at times chance to be one of those who have had many years' experience and who is, in a general way, thoroughly familiar with the country. Every experienced man has known, once or twice in his lifetime, what it was to lose his sense of direction—to know he knows which way is north and at the same time to feel that he is wrong. Here in this county, some of the oldest woodsmen, men who have spent years hunting all over the mountains, have lost their sense of direction, and have only been found after days of effort on the part of searching parties. Others, not so fortunate in having friends who could correctly divine their course of travel, have never been heard from again, or at least not until some hunter or angler found their bleaching bones.

LINCOLN MEMORIAL SUNDAY OBSERVANCE AT CONGREGATIONAL

Next Sunday morning at the Congregational church "Lincoln Memorial Sunday" will be observed. Few subjects are of more value than the study of such a life as Abraham Lincoln's. Once a year is none too often to review the career of the man who lived "with malice toward none; with charity for all." The program will be devoted into four heads as follows: Lincoln—The Boy—Father of the Man, Mrs. Thos. Geisness. Lincoln—The Emancipator, Mrs. Stephen Smith. Lincoln—The Writer and Poet, Mrs. R. J. White. Lincoln—The Christian, Rev. Stephen Smith. No musical program can be arranged until the rehearsal Friday evening but there will probably be special music. Service at 11 o'clock. Everybody cordially invited.

DR. MAJOR TO BE HERE SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 27TH

Dr. Major, the pioneer preacher of the Pacific Coast will be here Sunday, February 27th, to assist with the three weeks series of union meetings to be held in the opera house, and which had to be postponed on account of the stormy weather. The ministers of our city are planning on a great religious revival, and especially interesting programs with fine musical numbers are being prepared.

COMMISSION GOVERNMENT HAS PROVEN A SUCCESS

Battle Creek, Michigan, has the proud distinction of being one city in the United States where the commission form of government has both worked and worn well for four years. Not that there are others, but the Battle Creek people are not slow in advertising their success and the fact that they have an ideal city in which to reside. Their government is backed by an interested and enlightened civic spirit and they say there is no sentiment for a change to the old form of government.

Strange as it may seem, the adoption of the commission form of government came about through a determination of the people, not, as might be supposed at first thought, through desire for a better system, nor for economy, but to secure a system of parks, in short, the beautification of the city. For several years the people, whenever assembled in a semi-public meeting, urged the purchase of land for parks, much, apparently, as we have been doing here in Port Angeles. To be sure, the mayor, city attorney and councilmen were always in favor of parks, but they were long on talk and short when it came to action.

Finally the people awoke to the fact that they had nothing to hope for from a city government constituted as was theirs and they forthwith proceeded to adopt a commission government, electing a mayor and four commissioners. The last commission included a skilled mechanic, a cigar manufacturer, a business man, and a lumber and coal dealer. The initiative, referendum and recall are in the charter. The recall has never been used.

Quick, business-like work has been the rule in the handling of all public necessities. Matters that ordinarily would have dragged along for weeks or months have been settled in a week. The gas company had been accumulating financial adipose for a long time; the city asked for a reduction of rates; nothing doing. A referendum was then put into action by the commission. The people were asked to vote whether or not they would like to have the commission build a gas plant. Gazing upon their parks, their paving, their bridges, their traffic regulations, the people said, "Go to it." The gas rate was cut from $1 to 80 cents and the people didn't have to build a plant.

Battle Creek's water was brought from a beautiful little lake. It was pure until the lake became popular as a summer resort. After a few thousand summer resorters had gone to the lake for their vacation it became apparent that something was the matter with the water. The commission went off in the opposite direction and put down 12 artesian wells at a cost of $60,000 and now they have perfect safety in respect to their drinking water.

Battle Creek is one of the prettiest towns in the country and one of the few that have iron flower boxes on the lamp posts wherein flowers are kept growing all summer. The street boxes are not maintained by the city. They were installed by an association of private citizens, and it is said that a man would as soon kick a baby off the sidewalks as to molest the flowers in these boxes. Where people take pride enough in their town to decorate the streets and waste places with nasturtiums and other bright colored flowers, you may make up your mind that they are intelligent, sociable, progressive, and altogether a desirable community in which to cast one's lot.

FORMER CLAIM AGENT GILLIES CONVICTED OF FORGERY

"Guilty as charged," was the verdict returned by a jury of seven men and five women in Judge J. R. Mitchell's department of the superior court at Olympia Friday, in the trial of John F. Gillies, deposed claim agent of the industrial insurance commission, on a charge of forgery in the first degree in connection with the frauds by which the accident fund was looted of a sum estimated at $20,000.

The verdict was returned at 10:30 o'clock after the jury had been out for about fourteen hours. Three ballots were taken to reach the verdict. The first stood seven for conviction and five for acquittal, five men and two women voting for conviction and two men and three women for acquittal. A second ballot was taken Thursday night and one of the women changed her vote and the count stood 8 for conviction and 4 for acquittal. Friday morning the evidence in the case was reviewed fully and after being in session for two hours and a half the jury reported through Baliff Elder that it had arrived at a verdict.

Assistant Attorney General J. M. Wilson, who represented the state in the case, said steps would be taken immediately toward the prosecution of the others of the series of graft cases in which Gillies, Stone, E. W. Kearns and Arthur Young are involved. Gillies' trial started Monday on a charge of grand larceny, and he will later be tried on a second grand larceny charge. After Gillies' coming trial, Stone's trial on a forgery charge is scheduled.

Out of a total of 987 delegates to the Republican national convention, which meets in Chicago on June 7th, 597 will be sent from states which have held preferential presidental primaries; thus a clear majority will come with credentials direct from the rank and file of the party. While the country as a whole will be interested in seeing what happens next spring, during March, April, May and June, in these twenty states, the chief interest will not be in the candidate, but in the need of the reunited party. The big men of the country, Roosevelt, Hughes and Root, have refused to have their names used as candidates, and none of the rest are clamoring to have their names upon the ballot. The Progressives are merely interested in seeing that the candidate selected represents the new spirit of Americanism. The point is that no one particular man must be selected in order to secure harmony.

Some three dozen questions were taken up by the prosecuting attorneys of the state who were assembled in conference at Olympia last week. It was decided that great caution should be observed in accepting reports of liquor held in excess of the statutory permit, when private residences are involved; also that a raid must not be made unless there is real evidence justifying it.

Alcohol intended for mechanical or chemical purposes is to be classed as intoxicating liquor; druggists may not ship into state without a permit; only regular homeopathic and alopathic physicians, and not osteopaths or veterinarians, may issue prescriptions; county auditors may not appoint deputies to issue permits outside of the county seat, but every applicant shall sign the book in the auditor's office; intoxicating liquors may not be sold to ocean going steamers and vessels, nor for shipment to Alaska; applicants for permits must reside in county where issued; habitual drunkards may not secure permits; permits may not cover both beer and liquor.

The mere possession of an excess amount of liquor constitutes a crime. No answer was agreed upon to the question as to how much wine a clergyman is entitled to have in his possession for sacramental purposes, nor that as to whether a physician must issue a prescription if he supplies liquor from his own traveling case, nor as to whether whiskey and brandy can be sold to hospitals on the order of a physician.

By the way, when President Wilson in 1914 asked the United States to back down on the Panama tolls question in what he called a spirit of "generosity" toward Great Britain, he said:

"I ask this of you in support of the foreign policy of the administration." Isn't it about time to collect on that in our present shipping questions with Great Britain?—Tacoma News.

The secretary of state is requesting that aplications for motor licenses be made out immediately, promising that those who get in before March first, will have their number plates mailed to them in time to be used on that date; also those applying early will get the low numbers. It will be impossible to insure any applicant the same number as that he is at present using.

"Drunkenness decreasing," is the report from all over the state. Arrests in the large cities for the month scarce exceed the former daily arrests made.

WITH MALICE TOWARD NONE

FONDLY do we hope, fervently do we pray, that this mighty scourge of war may speedily pass away. Yet if God wills that it continue until all the wealth piled by the bondman's 250 years of unrequited toil shall be sunk and until every drop of blood drawn by the lash shall be repaid by another drawn with the sword, as was said 3,000 years ago, so still it must be said, "The judgments of the Lord are true and righteous altogether."

With malice toward none, with charity for all, with firmness in the right as God gives us to see the right, let us strive on to finish the work we are in, to bind up the nation's wounds, to care for him who shall have borne the battle and for his widow and his orphan—to do all which may achieve and cherish a just and lasting peace among ourselves and with all nations.—Abraham Lincoln, Second Inaugural.

THE FAMOUS LINCOLN-DOUGLAS DEBATE

MORE than fifty years have passed since the famous debates occurred between Abraham Lincoln and Stephen A. Douglas, and yet they constitute to this day the greatest forensic struggle of the kind in the history of the nation. Douglas at the time was United States senator and was not only the idol of his party, but was generally regarded as the most brilliant politician and the foremost debater in the land. Lincoln was little known outside of Illinois. While he had the unanimous support of his party in the state for United States senator, his friends had misgivings that he would not be able to meet the great Douglas. Lincoln himself brought about the debates, however, because he wanted to reach the Democrats with his arguments.

There were seven of the debates, the first occurring at Ottawa, seventy miles southwest of Chicago, on Aug. 21; the second at Freeport, in the extreme north of the state, six days later; the third at Jonesboro, in almost the extreme south, on Sept. 15; the fourth at Charleston, in the east central portion of the state, three days later; the fifth at Galesburg, in the western part of the state, on Oct. 7; the sixth at Quincy, on the banks of the Mississippi, Oct. 13, and the last at Alton, a short distance north of St. Louis, Oct. 15.

The arrangements were that Senator Douglas should open with an hour, Mr. Lincoln following with an hour and a half and Douglas closing with half an hour on the first day, Lincoln opening with an hour, Douglas following with an hour and a half and Lincoln closing with half an hour on the second day and thus alternating regularly.

All of this is now a twice told tale, yet it is one in which the interest is perennial. Historians are generally agreed that these debates not only gave Mr. Lincoln the Republican nomination for the presidency, but forced Douglas into a position where to win the senatorship he had to alienate southern support, thus dividing the Democracy in 1860 and making Lincoln's election possible.

The debates naturally created tremendous excitement, and the crowds were record breakers for that day. Douglas began in a jaunty vein, and his references to Lincoln were patronizing. His opponent responded with straight and serious argument, refusing to resort to the wit for which he was famous. Mr. Lincoln's chief weapons were logic and clarity of statement, and before the struggle was over he had his antagonist worried.

The "Little Giant" lost his temper on several occasions, indulged in personalities and on one occasion charged Lincoln with attending a convention and helping frame a radical set of resolutions with which he had not the remotest connection. When this trick was exposed it brought condemnation on Douglas throughout the land. His personalities also gave offense. On the whole, the moral effect of victory was with Lincoln. The ability with which he presented the Republican position challenged nation wide attention.

The contrast between the two speakers was so marked as to be almost ludicrous. Douglas was as short and heavy as Lincoln was tall and lean. Douglas' voice was deep, and his enunciation slow and somewhat ponderous. Lincoln's voice was pitched rather high, but had great carrying power. Douglas sometimes attacked his audiences, made bitter remarks about the "Black Republicans" and on at least one occasion talked about fighting his opponent. Lincoln was always good natured, eminently fair and personally respectful in his attitude.

Douglas was boisterously cheered for his oratory, yet his hearers could remember little that he said. Lincoln usually won less partisan applause, but his points stuck in the minds of his audiences for years afterward. He attempted no flights of rhetoric, no appeals to passion or prejudice, but depended on straight, hard reasoning.

All the meetings were very large, with the exception of those at Jonesboro and Alton. One of the biggest was at Galesburg, where the stand was erected in front of Knox college. Here the crowd was with Lincoln. At nearly all of the debates the farmers drove in for fifty miles around, camping out on the prairie where accommodations could not be found. Reporters were present from the big papers, one or more of the New York dailies and nearly all those of Chicago being represented.

The debate that has taken the chief place in history was that at Freeport. Here Lincoln propounded his famous second question regarding the right of the people of a territory to exclude slavery before the adoption of a constitution. Douglas had asked Lincoln a number of questions at Ottawa, and at Freeport, which was the next meeting point, Lincoln said he would reply to his opponent's interrogations if Judge Douglas would answer an equal number. When asked directly if he would accept the terms Douglas remained silent. Lincoln then said he would answer his opponent's questions whether Judge Douglas reciprocated or not. He thereupon proceeded to do so, after which he propounded his own questions to Douglas. The second of these, it is claimed, lost the senatorship to Lincoln, but lost the presidency to Douglas.

Why this man bought a

Remington Junior Typewriter

"I have been investigating several of the recent makes of machines, seeking for one of simple construction for ordinary manuscript and letter writing. I was nearly ready to buy a machine of another make when I just happened to see for the first time the Remington Junior, and found it to be the very thing I wanted.

The man who wrote this is the postmaster of a small Southern town. He is only one of thousands who have recently bought a Remington Junior. But his reasons apply to everybody—they apply to YOU.

The Remington Junior is our latest product and the latest idea in typewriting.

It is strictly a high-grade machine.

It has the Remington Name, the Remington Guarantee, the Remington Quality—everything Remington except weight and bulk.

A "Simplified Remington" describes it exactly.

And its price is $50.00

Remington Junior Typewriters will be sent "on examination," without obligation to purchase.

Easy payment terms can be arranged if desired.

The Rag Doll Seed Corn Tester

By County Agriculturist, O. T. McWhorter.

Several of the most progressive farmers in the farming section about Port Angeles have faith in field corn as a silage crop. While it is somewhat a question as to the value of corn for silage in this section, many farmers have already demonstrated that it can be grown successfully for this purpose and the corn matured enough for seed. These same farmers have this past year saved seed and will plant from it this coming season.

Where farmers are contemplating trying corn they should if possible secure seed grown locally, or at least in Western Washington. It is a fairly well demonstrated fact that local grown seed corn gives the best results in most communities. Seed corn should be purchased on the ear and tested for germinating powers before it is shelled. A few kernels are taken from the center of the selected ears and tested for germination strength and test taken as an index of the value of the whole ear.

A Few Reasons Why We Should Test Our Corn.

1st. By testing we can know what we are planting.

2nd. It costs almost nothing except a little work.

3rd. Poor seed means a poor stand, with missing hills; one stalk hills weak stalks, producing little or nothing; also wasted land, and wasted labor.

The Rag Doll Seed Corn Tester.

KIND OF CLOTH—Use a good quality of bleached muslin. If a poor quality of cloth is used, the roots will grow through it and the test will be difficult to read.

SIZE OF RAG DOLL—The germination cloth should be 9 inches wide and 60 inches long. This will leave nearly 18 inches on each end for rolling.

MAKING THE RAG DOLL—With a black lead pencil make a line lengthwise the center of the cloth. Next start 18 inches from one end of the cloth and make lines 2½ inches apart down the length of the cloth until within sixteen or seventeen inches of the opposite end. This will give twenty rectangles which may be numbered, and will provide space for testing twenty ears of corn.

MAKING THE TEST—Lay out the ears of corn to be tested and number each ear to correspond with the numbers on the cloth squares. The cloth should be dipped in warm water and spread out on a table ready to receive the kernels from each ear of corn.

ARRANGING THE KERNELS—Remove six kernels from about the center of each ear, and place them with their points towards one side of the cloth and the germ side up. Be sure that the corn from each ear goes into the square having the same number as that on the ear itself.

ROLLING UP THE TESTER—After the squares have all been filled, roll up the tester, and tie a string about the center just tight enough to hold the kernels in place.

PUTTING TESTER IN PAIL—Put the testers now prepared in a pail or bucket, be sure that the tips of the kernels are pointing downward. Do not pack too many rolls in a pail. Eight or ten in a ten quart pail are sufficient. If packed tight they will heat and spoil the test.

WRAPPING UP THE PAIL—The pail should now be filled with lukewarm water, wrapped up carefully, and set away to soak for five or six hours. At the end of this time remove the wrappings, and drain the water off. Lay a wet cloth over the top of the rolls, wrap the pail up again carefully and set it away for a couple of days. At the end of two days remove the newspapers and and refill the pail with warm water and let stand for about five or ten minutes, then drain the pail and set it away in a warm living room or warm basement with a furnace, for about five or six days longer. The test should be read when the sprouts are about two inches long.

At the time the tests are read the ears showing poor germinating qualities should be discarded and only those kept for seed that show vigorous sprouts.

The rag doll tester may be used for farm seeds. No farm seeds should be planted without first finding out the germinating power of the seed. By testing we have everything to gain and nothing to lose. Let's quit guessing and go to testing.

The County Agriculturist will have a few more samples of Western Washington Seed Corn to give to parties wishing to try it out. Most of such corn, however, has already been spoken for.

PERNANENT HIGHWAY MAINTENANCE SYSTEM ON 18 PER CENT BASIS

According to figures compiled by Assistant State Treasurer, W. W. Sherman, the revenue derived from the motor vehicle licenses for the first six months operation, as paid into the state treasury by the secretary of state, after deducting the running expenses of the state motor vehicle department, indicates that the annual receipts from this source will net over $200,000.

The legislature provided that this revenue is to be credited to each county, in accordance with the amount of permanent highway taxes paid to the state, and is to be used for maintenance in addition to the 5 per cent maintenance already provided by statute, which amounts to $77,300, based on 1915 permanent highway levy of $1,546,000; the two together placing the permanent highway maintenance on an 18 per cent basis, or a total of $277,300 for permanent highway maintenance per annum.

As a matter of comparison to show the proportion that this new maintenance money bears to the total public highway and permanent highway fund levies, this amount of $200,000 would provide, as above stated, a 13 per cent maintenance for the permanent highway expenditures, based on the 1915 mill and one-half levy of $1,546,000. It would provide a 19 per cent maintenance for the public highway expenditures, based on the one mill 1915 levy of $1,031,000.

Although the permanent highway funds, strictly speaking, belong to the counties and the public highway funds to the state, it is well to compare the total motor vehicle maintenance revenue with the total levies of these two funds, since the state and county funds are often spent on the sameroads, and the county roads often form a part of the state trunk road system. This annual revenue of $200,000 would furnish an 8 per cent maintenance for both the public and permanent highway funds. based on the 1915 levies of $1,031,000 and $1,546,000 respectively.

The total maintenance money for one year amounts to $377,300, as follows: Motor vehicle licenses $200,000; permanent highway 5 per cent fixed by statute, $77,300, public highway, $100,000, being one-half of the total biennial appropriation, which puts the entire public and permanent highway system on approximately a 15 per cent maintenance basis for the 1915 levies.

It is not improbable, says Mr. Sherman, that this source of revenue will eventually maintain the entire state road system, both public and permanent highways, since the increase in the number of motor vehicles in use since the year 1915 is more than 50 per cent over 1914, the records of the Secretary of State showing 46,000 motor vehicles in use for 1915, and 30,000 for 1914.

Ordinance No. 533

An Ordinance confirming the assessment roll of Local Improvement District No. 36, created under Ordinance No. 498, for the construction of a trunk sewer on Lincoln street and other streets in the city of Port Angeles, approved May 18th, 1915; ordering the levy and collection of such assessments; establishing a special fund for said Local Improvement District No. 36.

Section 1. That the assessments and assessment roll of Local Improvement District No. 36, created by Ordinance No. 498, which ordered and provided for the construction of a trunk sewer on Lincoln street and other streets of the city of Port Angeles, approved May 18th, 1915, as said assessment roll now stands, as modified and approved by the reduction of the assessments on Lots Five (5) and Six (6) in block Two Hundred Twenty-five (225) of the Townsite of Port Angeles, Washington, to the amount against each said lot to Two Dollars and Seventy-eight cents ($2.78), in accordance with the action of the city Board of Equalization, at its regular sitting on the Twenty-fourth day of January, 1916, after due and regular published notice thereof in all things are hereby confirmed and approved.

Section 2. That each lot or tract of land shown upon said assessment roll is hereby declared to be specially benefitted by said improvement in at least the amount charged against the same and that the assessment appearing against the same is in proportion to the several assessments appearing on said roll, and there is hereby levied and assessed against each said lot or tract of land appearing on said roll, the amount actually charged and assessed against the same.

Section 3. That there is hereby created and established for said Local Improvement District No 36, a special fund to be known and designated as Local Improvement District Fund No. 36, for the uses and purposes provided by law and ordinances of the city.

Section 4. Said assessments or any of them may be paid without interest at any time within thirty (30) days from the date of the first publication of the City Treasurer's notice to pay the same as required by law to be given, and all assessments not paid within said thirty (30) days period shall thereafter be paid in ten equal annual installments with interest thereon at the rate of Seven (7) per cent per annum.

Section 5. That immediately upon the taking effect of this ordinance said assessment roll shall be turned over to the City Treasurer for the collection of said first annual installment, who will thereupon proceed to collect the same according to law.

Section 6. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after five days after its publication according to law.

E. J. WALTON,
Mayor.

Metropolitan Quartette

Fourth Number of the Lecture Course

H. S. Auditorium, Wed., Feb. 16

NO Lyceum quartet has won more hearty encomiums than has the Metropolitan Grand Quartet, a stellar attraction on the local Lyceum course. For five seasons the personnel has remained unchanged, and the quartet has been acclaimed one of the greatest combinations of male voices ever heard on the platform. Each member of this great company is a singer of established renown, capable of giving an entire concert engagement alone. The personnel is as follows: Charles L. Neth, lyric tenor; Paul Chase, robust tenor; John Eberly, baritone, and Thomas Wade Lane, basso. Mrs. Willo Page Lane is the pianist and accompanist of the company.

The members of this great organization are big men, mentally and physically. They sing the best music and sing it faultlessly. Withal, they sing with such a perfect understanding and appreciation of their art that their work appeals to critic and layman alike. Extended platform experience has rounded out natural gifts and splendid musical training, and they give a concert which will thoroughly please any music loving community.

Miss Eva Stevens, who was visiting in Angeles, returned home Thursday.

School closed Wednesday evening, and opened again Monday. The snow being so deep it prevented most of the children from attending school.

The snowfall this past week has been the heaviest for a number of years.

The roof of J. W. Boyd's mill went down under the heavy weight of snow.

Many families were busy several days shoveling snow off barns and sheds.

Ada and Frank Stevens, who were home for a few days, returned to Angeles Sunday.

Last Week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Harding and son of Angeles visited with A. H. Hall from Monday until Saturday.

The Misses Ada and Eva Stevens went to Angeles Sunday. Ada intends to enter the high school and Eva to visit with relatives for a few days.

Mrs. Wm. Watts and daughter, Nadine, visited in Angeles Wednesday and Thursday.

Mrs. Ed and Lew Buchman left for Seattle Thursday. Lew returned home Sunday after seeing his brother board the steamer bound to Los Angeles where he goes for medical treatment.

Miss Martha Beal, who was in Angeles for some time, returned home Wednesday.

Mrs. Mary Eacrett of Angeles arrived Friday to visit at the home of her son, Milford.

Mrs. Williams, Miss Tallmadge Miss Irene Reece and Alfred Lee and Terry Harrington left Friday evening for Blue Mountain to visit with the Broughton family, returning to Mt. Pleasant Sunday evening.

LA PUSH

Our basket ball teams are busy practicing for the opening games at Forks Saturday night. Our girls are in fair trim and hope to make a showing.

The girls' basket ball team played against Mrs. Keen's pick-up team of whites Saturday night and beat them 26 to 0. The pick-ups were not slow, either.

Little Robert Williams, son of Conrad Williams, died Sunday.

J. A. Ward, manager of the pool hall, departed Sunday for Neah Bay to stay for sometime.

Allen Mason went to Bogachiel on Wednesday to spend the rest of the winter trapping.

H. P. Smith of Quillayute Prairie delivered apples here last week.

We had an average temperature of 30 degrees through January, and not a day that the ground was not covered with snow. This is an unusual record for LaPush.

Miss Gillespie, teacher at Teelwhit, and Miss Laurel Taylor of Mora spent Saturday and Sunday with Miss Hurley, of this place.

The steelhead salmon are running well now. Our fishermen are getting about four hundred pounds daily.

The Flash of an Emerald

Five Parts

DE FUCA

We won't begin by telling you this is the worst snow storm we ever had, as everyone has told everybody that several times before now, but will proceed to relate a few incidents caused by the unusual storm.

Part of the roof of the Troy barn, one of the oldest barns in the vicinity, broke down with its weight of snow after withstanding the storms of many winters.

Jack Hyde, a young man who works in the logging camp near Dungeness, started to walk from the camp to Emery's at the beginning of the storm and was lost in the woods for three days. He managed to reach McDonald Creek and followed it down, but became exhausted before reaching the bridge so he called for help. His cries were heard by some men on the road and Paul Thorp went to his rescue. He was brought to Mr. Agnew's, where he is being cared for in the best way possible.

Mrs. C. A. Laurens, who had gone to Angeles to see Mr. Laurens at the hospital, has as yet been unable to return home, leaving the three girls to run the ranch.

Mr. Wm. Wooding, jr., was snowed in out here and was not able to return to his home in Angeles until Friday. He tried to get out on Tuesday with a team and also on horseback, but was forced to turn back. He managed to reach Chambers on horseback but had to walk a great deal of the way and break trail for the horse.

School closed the first day of the storm and we haven't been down to dig out the school house yet.

Mrs. Wm. Wooding and Mrs. C. A. Laurens spent last Monday afternoon at the Chambers home.

Through the efforts of Mr. Wooding and a few others our road has been fairly well opened down to the main road. A crowd has also been over the main road from Sequim and we hope to reach the outside world sometime soon.

The snow was measured to be three feet and four inches here before it settled. Some snow anyhow.

MORA

J. A. Ward was a passenger for Neah Bay on the Myrtle May.

Miss Gillespie was a week-end visitor in the F. D. Keene home at LaPush.

County Engineer Remp made the Quillayute country a flying visit last week.

Wm. Klahn returned Sunday from a several weeks' visit in Seattle.

The Myrtle May of Hoh, Capt. Ernest Fletcher, called in at the Quillayute river last week. In spite of the bad weather the Myrtle May has made three trips between Seattle and Queets, the most dangerous river on the coast to enter, in the last thirty days.

Snow ten feet deep on the mountain was reported by the mail carrier Wednesday after the big storm. Drifts on Quillayute Prairie required shoveling and lots of it. From Sappho to Clallam Bay the road is still closed to all but foot travel, the supervisor hopes to have it open by Monday. The storm has had few equals if any since the coming of the white man.

BELLEVIEW SCHOOL NOTES

A spelling match and contest was given at the Belleview school on Friday evening, January 21. The following made a perfect record in the contest:

Luther Nelson, Julia Williams, Dorothy Lewis, Frances Nelson, Mary Burgess, Florence Nelson, and Robert Williams.

Matthew Learnsberry has been transferred to the Central school as Mrs. Learnsberry has moved down town, but two other boys, Kenneth and Robert Osier, have come to take his place.

The school was dismissed indefinitely last Thursday on account of the snow.

The Ladies club secured a range for the school from Mr. M. O Mckee, and have had it in use for about two weeks.

The box social given by the ladies was a big success in every way. The total receipts were $27.55 and the expense was small. But few of the boxes sold for less than $1.00, some brought as much as $3.50. The ladies are already planning to have in a few weeks, what promises to be even a bigger success.

JULIA WARD HOWE'S TRIBUTE TO LINCOLN.

Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, who died in October, 1910, at the age of ninety-one, wrote this Lincoln poem only about a year before her death. It was almost the last piece of verse from the author of the "Battle Hymn of the Republic:"

Through the dim pageant of the years
A wondrous tracery appears.
A cabin of the western wild
Shelters in sleep a newborn child.

Nor nurse nor parent dear can know
The way those infant feet must go,
And yet a nation's help and hope
Are sealed within that horoscope.

Beyond is toil for daily bread
And thought, to noble issues led,
And courage, arming for the morn
For whose behest this man was born.

A man of homely, rustic ways,
Yet he achieves the forum's praise
And soon earth's highest meed has won,
The seat and sway of Washington.

No throne of honors and delights;
Distrustful days and sleepless nights,
To struggle, suffer and aspire,
Like Israel, led by cloud and fire.

A treacherous shot, a sob of rest,
A martyr's palm upon his breast,
A welcome from the glorious seat
Where blameless souls of heroes meet.

And, thrilling through unmeasured days,
A song of gratitude and praise,
A cry that all the earth shall heed
To God, who gave him for our need.

Herbert Baker, who has been visiting friends in Brewster, Nebraska, the past four months, returned to Port Angeles just in time to escape the big storms. He reports the coldest weather in Brewster was 30 below, cold enough to nip his ear and nose one windy morning. Mr. Baker never tires of boosting Port Angeles, especially the climate, and when he met a couple on the train who hailed from Minnesota and said they were bound for Sequim, Wash., he immediately proceeded to tell them of the balmy weather there at this season and assured them they would find flowers blooming and green lawns. He has decided, however, that for once he boosted a little too strong.

The proprietor of the Star theater has not given up his lease on the picture corporations, as was printed in the Olympic-Leader last week, but has given up the lease on the building now occupied by his show, the lease running for about three more months. Mr. Davidson, the proprietor, expects to stay in Angeles. He says he is keeping his eyes open to every opportunity and, although he may continue in the show business, says that this coming summer will be enough to let him know whether he can spring a big surprise he has in mind, or whether it will prove the opposite way.

Maurice Fisher and J. W. Pike left Sunday for Spokane to attend a meeting of the Eastern Washington Game Wardens' Association. The Port Angeles representatives are heartily in favor of the consolidation of the Eastern and Western Washington associations and will work with others to bring about this much desired change which will greatly simplify matters in changing some of the present game laws and framing new ones.

Robert Kennett has a collection of three dozen views of the business streets and principal business blocks, taken last week when the snow was at its height. Being printed on post cards they make an interesting and inexpensive souvenir, either for the album or to send to friends. They may be had at his studio, First and Laurel streets.

Wednesday evening of this week, the local K. of P. lodge will install officers, E. B. Fleming, deputy chancellor, acting as installing officer. All members are requested to be present. A supper and general good time will follow the installation ceremonies.

YOEMEN DRILL TEAM TO GO TO DETROIT

Mt. Angeles Homestead No. 985, Brotherhood of American Yoemen, has organized a drill team of Yoemen Guards. The guards will be organized in regular company formation and from this company will be picked eighteen of the best drilled men, together with the drillmaster to represent this lodge in the state and national drill contests. Officers who have been here, say the local order has material for a crack team. The state contest will be held in Seattle in April, 1917, and the winning team will be sent to Detroit the following May.

At a recent meeting of the Elks, two teams were appointed for the purpose of securing new members and rounding up the "strays." Chas. J. Filion and C. L. CHOPPED POTATOES DOUBLE FLOW OF MILK

O. M. Pringle, living out by the Westphal County Home, was in town Saturday with a regulation ranchers' sled made out of a couple of plank and two or taree rough boards, only in his case he had used square plank, giving a runner about six inches wide, and found that they acted exactly the same as a pair of skis, skimming over the surface of the snow. He learned something else during the storm: Running short of hay, he chopped up potatoes very fine and fed them, increasing the flow of milk from a half pail, in one instance, to one and a third pails at a milking.

WASTING A SHEET OF PAPER

In the practice of economy there must be reason and due regard to relative values, for in the saving of a little there may be the wasting of much. For instance, a certain bank president drawing a goodly salary, spends a great deal of time cutting envelopes for use as scratch paper. He is wasting his time, for he is worthy of being president of a bank, his brain value is of so much greater worth than the paper value he is trying to save, that he is penny wise and pound foolish. He should be thinking out the problems of his bank, not trying to save a few sheets of paper. On the other hand, it would be good economy for a large department store, burning hundreds of lights daily, to pay a man ten dollars a week to watch for needless waste of light and turn out those not in use.

A certain man dropped a nickel at a railroad station. In his endeavor to find it, he lost his train, lost his temper, missed a business engagement that held up four other men, and caused confusion all around, and had to spend a quarter for a telegram to hold the engagement for his late arrival. That was poor economy.

The point to be emphasized in all such endeavors is to impress upon the individual who wastes that if all were to do as he does, the loss would be enormous; and if all were to do as he should, the saving would be great. We are both careless and thoughtless. We leave our lights burning when they do no one any good. We leave the water running, forgetting that the meter is on its job all the time, and every turn of the wheel means money to some one, if not to us. It is all very well to say: "It's included in the rent,"—yes, but the landlord has probably figured that out when he fixed his rental. You pay, not he, for every hour you burn a useless light, or let the water run to waste.

A certain school teacher, wide awake to impress these things upon her pupils, got her great chance one day. A little girl made a few figures on a sheet of paper and threw it away. The teacher asked way she wasted that sheet of paper, and the pupil replied that " it was only a sheet of paper, and besides, it was furnished by the Board of Education free." Calling the class to order, she asked them to take out their pads and count the number of sheets. Then she told them what the pad cost and asked them to calculate the cost of one sheet—a fraction of a fraction of a cent. She told them how many pupils attended the schools of teh city on an average of 180 days a year and asked them to figure the cost of each pupil wasted but one sheet a day. The total was a surprise.

It's not the cost of a single sheet of paper, a single hour of useless light, a mat h, a cent or two, that counts—it's the cumulative totals that make the astonishing losses.

There is such a thing as being mean and niggardly with yourself, eating only enough to keep body and soul together, wearing clothes until they are a mass of patches, and living a life of strict denial to all the bodily comforts. That is not the point; you ought to live well, dress decently, and have wholesome pleasures, but be careful in your wasting, lest you be one of a great army, wasting it may be but a match a day, but if a million others are doing the same thing, we burn up a lot of wood to no useful purpose. Light your pipe with one match!

ORDER FIXING TIME TO HEAR FINAL ACCOUNT AND TO SHOW CAUSE WHY DISTRIBUTION SHOULD NOT BE MADE.

No. 562.

In Probate.

Andrew Chilberg, Administrator of the estate of John Varnberg, deceased, having filed in this court his final account and petition setting forth that said estate is now in a condition to be closed and is ready for distribution of the residue thereof among the persons entitled by law thereto, and it appearing to the court that said petition sets forth facts sufficient to authorize a distribution of the residue of said estate:

It is therefore ordered by the court that all persons interested in the estate of the said John Varnberg, deceased, be and appear before the said Superior court of Clallam county, State of Washington, at the court room of the Probate Department of said court, on the 2nd day of March, 1916, at the hour of 9:00 o'clock a. m. of said day, then and there to show cause, if any they have, why said final account should not be allowed and an order of distribution be made of the residue of said estate among the heirs and persons in said petition mentioned, according to law.

It is further ordered, that a copy of this order be posted in three of the most public places in Clallam county for a period of four weeks prior to said hearing, and published once a week for four consecutive weeks before the said 2nd day of March, 1916, in a newspaper printed and published in said Clallam county and of general circulation therein.

Done in open court this 1st day of February, 1916.

JOHN M. RALSTON,
Judge.

State of Washington, County of Clallam, ss.

I, A. J. Cosser, County Clerk of Clallam county and ex-officio clerk of the Superior court of the State of Washington, for the county of Clallam do hereby certify that the foregoing is a full, true and correct copy of an original order to show cause, made by said Court on the 1st day of February, 1916, in the matter of the estate of John Varnberg, deceased.

Witness my hand and the seal of said court this 1st day of February, 1916.

An Ordinance creating a general local improvement fund.

Whereas there is no fund provided or designated by law into which may be deposited and paid out moneys in payment of preliminary or overhead expenses, which are often deposited and paid out for the initiation of Local Improvement Districts before the creation of any special fund therein and before the collection of or proceedings for collection of special assessments are made or provided for such Local Improvement Districts; and the practice heretofore followed of using the current expense fund therefor is inconsistent with purposes provided by law for that fund and the issuance and payment of warrants for local improvement funds therefrom has proven confusing of funds and of warrants.

That to keep all Local Improvement Funds separate from all other funds of the City and to facilitate the keeping the many items of accounts of the several Local Improvement Districts by one general fund and a general account in which the accounts of the various districts may be classified, and especially for the immediate accounting and payment for preliminary expenses and to effect much saving of time and labor in the issuance of one warrant where otherwise many warrants would be necessary, Therefore,

Section 1. That a general local improvement district fund be and the same is hereby created for the convenience and economy in time and labor in the accounting, paying out and receiving of funds of the various local improvement districts now existing and which may be hereafter created, to be known and designated as "General Local Improvement Fund," into which shall be paid or for which shall be appropriated all funds or sums which shall belong to or for the use of all or any of the special Local Improvement Districts now or hereafter created, for preliminary or overhead expenses, for the improvements of such districts and all moneys to be used for preliminary expenses for the initiation of new districts and to pay out by warrants in payment of such preliminary and so called overhead expenses, of the funds therein for and which belong to each such special Local Improvement District.

That upon each such general warrant there shall be written and designated the Special Local Improvement District and the preliminary expenses for which such warrant is issued; and the City Clerk shall keep between such Special Local Improvement District funds and such General Local Improvement District Fund, itemized accounts which shall show in detail the amounts and for which the several sums are received and paid out by such general fund.

Section 2. The terms "preliminary expenses" or "overhead expenses" as used in Section 1, of this ordinance, shall be understood to mean and include all expenses, or money deposited to pay for, engineering, clerical hire, for supplies such as maps, stationery and the like and for all necessary work, labor and supplies necessary and incidental to the initiation and carrying on of such improvements and the collection of assessments and disbursements of the funds, issuance and payment of warrants and bonds, which shall hereafter be issued in payment of said expenses and shall also include all moneys received and to be paid out for right of way, for damages in opening or widening any street or avenue or public grounds for any special Local Improvement District or contemplated districts.

Section 3. All such general fund warrants issued for any special district not otherwise payable or redeemed may be redeemed by warrants or bonds of the local district issued against the Special Assessments of such local district and in case any local improvement district before it shall be fully initiated or before any assessment roll thereof shall have been placed in the hands of the treasurer for collection after confirmation thereof shall be abandoned or further proceedings therein shall be indefinitely suspended, there remains any funds belonging to any such local district still on deposit in such general fund after payment of all liabilities of such local improvement district for such expenses or purposes for which such moneys were paid into such general fund shall remain therein for the use of such local district upon any future revival thereof either in its first proposed form or substantially for the same improvements, although modified by some changes in boundaries of the district or other minor changes. if such revival shall occur within six months thereafter and after such lapse of time no such revival shall occur, such funds shall remain in such general fund for six months longer and if there shall be no demand for the return of the same within such last named six months, such funds shall be deposited in the current expense fund and used therein according to law.

In all cases where such deposits are made into such general fund for the use of any such local improvement district and such funds become exhausted before all warrants issued against such general fund in payment of such preliminary or overhead expenses of such local district, such warrants may be redeemed by warrants or bonds of such local improvement district or by cash upon appropriations made by order of the city council from such local improvement district and appropriations from time to time as required shall be made from the special local improvement funds sufficient for necessary payments of such overhead expenses, after confirmation of the assessment roll in such local districts upon like orders of the city council upon application and showing of the City Treasurer of the needs therefor.

And when upon abandonment or suspension of any local improvement initiated by the resolution of intention by the City Council, there shall remain any liabilities unpaid for want of funds and the same shall remain unpaid for six months from the date of such abandonment or suspension, without a revival thereof and without sufficient funds for payment of all such liabilities, such unpaid warrants or liabilities shall be paid or discharged by warrants of the current expense fund of the city and shall be refunded or repaid to said current expense upon any future revival of such abandoned improvement in any modified form as to district or other detailed change of district.

Section 4. It is the purpose of this ordinance that all warrants issued against said general local improvement district fund shall be cash warrants redeemable upon demand and secured by ample funds or other means for their redemption and it shall be the duty of the treasurer and the City Council to make every possible provision for their payment or redemption on demand.

Section 5. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after five days after its lawful publication.

Mayor.

Ordinance No. 532

An Ordinance prohibiting Minors in Pool Rooms and to regulate or fix the closing hours of the same.

Section 1. It shall hereafter be unlawful for any minor or minors under the age of eighteen years to enter or be allowed to remain or loiter in any Pool Room within the city of Port Angeles, excepting, however, that such minors may be permitted to enter such Pool Rooms on business or for the purpose of the delivery or receipt of messages or to deliver or take away some article or supply, but in such cases he shall not be allowed to remain any longer than necessary to transact the business requiring such entry.

Section 2. It shall be unlawful for any Pool Room, and all public rooms devoted exclusively to the playing of cards within the city of Port Angeles to be kept open or to transact any business therein or to use such rooms for playing pool or billiards or cards or to be used for any purpose after twelve o'clock midnight, and until 5 o'clock a. m. each day.

Section 3. Any owner, manager or other employee who shall violate or permit to be violated any of the provisions of this ordinance or any owner, manager or other employee of the owner of any such pool room who shall wilfully violate any of the provisions of this ordinance shall be punished, upon conviction thereof, in any sum not exceeding one hundred dollars or by imprisonment not exceeding thirty days or by both such fine and imprisonment.

The words Pool Rooms as used in this ordinance are hereby defined as public rooms used principally for playing pool and billiards for profit in which one or more billiard or pool tables are used.

Section 4. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after five days after its lawful publication.

LOANING SCHOOL FUNDS UPON FARM PROPERTY

foreclosure of a mortgage on which there was about $1400.00 due, and we are informed by a resident near the land, that it is worth $2500.00 to $3000.00. The interest rate on farm mortgages is 5 per cent."

The State Treasurer of the State of Oregon, in a letter to the said Chairman, of January 22nd, 1916, states:

"In regard to the loaning of the school funds nearly all of the interest and principal of the common school funds, as well as other trust funds of the State of Oregon, are loaned upon farm property, drawing six per cent per annum interest. As shown by our report of December 31st, 1915, there are over $6,387,938.79 in the common school fund of the state. Since the compilation of our last biennial report, we have disposed of bonds of school districts and all our loans are now based upon lands. Neither principal nor interest has been lost to the State during the last five years, on loans made on first mortgages on farm property."

The Commercial Club of Port Angeles, at its meeting on January 16, 1916, and after this question was presented, appointed the undersigned Chairman of a Committee to present this question of amending the State Constitution to the various Commercial Clubs of the State, and to the Press to the end that the various candidates for the Legislature, at the 1916 fall elections, would became interested in causing the Legislature to submit an amendment to the electors at the next biennial election.

The first move is to get the Constitution amended, then the details of loaning these funds would be worked out by the session of the Legislature following the adoption of this amendment.

Will your honorable body assist us by endorsing this plan?

J. W. LINDSAY,
Chairman of Committee.

COMMERCIAL CLUB HAS COMPLETE KELP MAPS AND POTASH DATA

The Commercial club has received from Senator Poindexter a complete set of specially-made maps illustrating the government's exhaustive expert investigation of the kelp beds of the Pacific coast, recently completed, which was provided for under the directions of a bill introduced and advocated by Senator Poindexter four years ago.

Altogether there are fifty-seven large maps in convenient sections, three of them, for instance, showing the shores of Clallam and Jefferson counties and the Strait of Fuca. The basis of these maps is the work of the Coast and Geodetic Survey, and all useful marine facts are included, such as the depths of water in all areas shown. The kelp resources are shown in four colors indicating the comparative quantities or luxuriance of the beds. The most important beds in Clallam county are at Freshwater Bay and around the point of Cape Flattery, while the heaviest and most extensive bed in the Puget Sound district is on the west side of Smith Island, about forty-five miles eastward from this city.

SPANISH WAR VETERANS TO MEET SUNDAY, 13TH, TO APPLY FOR CHARTER

In accordance with an appeal recently sent out by the United Spanish War Veterans, an organization having a membership of over 40,000 men, urging every eligible to become enrolled under its banner, a meeting has been called to be held at the office of the prosecuting attorney, S. C. Rose, on Sunday, February 13th, at 2 p. m. All those who served at any time during the war between the United States and Spain, or at any time during the war for the suppression of the Phillipine insurrection, are eligible for membership, providing they hold honorable discharge papers. The charter application must be signed by at least ten eligible veterans.

The call states that the time is now ripe for an enlargement of the forces of the Spanish Veterans; the people of the nation are thrilled with the spirit of preparedness; the legislative bodies are listening with attentive ears to the call of the patriotic and the press and platform are sending forth stirring summons to unite for the maintenance of the power and prestige of the Stars and Stripes, the flag which Spanish War Veterans have helped to make honored on land and sea. If you believe in America first, if you still have any of the red blood in your veins that tingled when the call went forth to "Remember the Maine," you will now give heed to the message which is sent you once more to call you to arms in defense of your country and your country's flag.

INDIANS MUST OBSERVE STATE FISHING LAWS

"The decision of the supreme court holding that Washington Indians are amendable to the state fisheries law when off their reservations, removes a menace which threatened in a large measure the destruction of the great food fishing industry of this state," says State Fish Commissioner L. H. Darwin.

"The contention of the Indians that this state could not make a law regulating the protection and propagation of our fish which would apply to them struck at the very heart of the industry, for the Indians have insisted on being permitted to make use of those appliances which prevented the fish from reaching the hatcheries and their natural spawning beds, which, of course, prevented the perpetuation of the supply.

"The Indians' contention as to their rights under the treaty has been a menace to the fisheries of Washington for the last twenty-five years. We have been parleying and temporizing up until two years ago, when the Indians' insistance upon the use of modern appliances, an attitude which prevented some of the hatcheries of this state from obtaining a spawn supply, made me feel that the time had come for a final determination of the question.

"In trying to enforce the laws against the Yakima Indians in Benton county last July, riot and bloodshed threatened for several days.

"United States Attorney Garrecht, of the Eastern Washington district, advised the Indians that their treaty gave them the right to disregard the state laws and when the inspectors from the fish commissioners office attempted to enforce them against the Indians, the latter commenced arming themselves and threatened to shoot the fishery inspectors.

The steamship Crow of Seville, of the Harrison Direct line, which arrived recently from London, at Seattle, will shift to the Smith Cove pier there next Friday to load 20,000 cases of canned salmon and 1,000,000 feet of clear spruce lumber for the voyage back to England via the Strait of Magellan. The spruce consignment is being brought from Port Angeles, Anacortes, Willapa Harbor and Grays Harbor.

The Superior court has fixed March first at the date for hearing of the director's petition for issuance of $25,000 in bonds for construction of the Highland Irrigation Co.'s ditch.

EMANCIPATION PROCLAMATION OF JAN. 1, 1863

FIFTY years ago on the 1st of January, 1863, the emancipation proclamation was issued. This was the culminating act of Abraham Lincoln's life, the one for which he will be longest remembered. There is abundant evidence to show that he contemplated the step long before it was taken. After his careful manner, he reasoned the question out from every possible standpoint, weighing the effects of his action.

The processes of the great emancipator's mind were revealed to his friend Leonard Swett, whom he sent for to call at the White House. There Mr. Lincoln read to him several letters concerning emancipation, then argued out the whole question in the presence of his hearer, as if thinking aloud. He then terminated the interview. This was in the summer of 1862. Shortly thereafter, on July 22, he called together the cabinet to consider the subject. To Frank B. Carpenter, the artist who painted "The First Reading of the Emancipation Proclamation," Mr. Lincoln remarked:

"I said to the cabinet that I had resolved upon this step and had not called them together to ask their advice, but to lay the subject matter of a proclamation before them—suggestions as to which would be in order after they had heard it read."

It was two months to a day, however, before this preliminary draft was given to the public. Secretary Seward urged that it should not be given out until there was a Union victory. This appealed to the president as good tactics, so it was withheld till after the battle of Antietam and was published on Sept. 22. In effect it proposed that after 100 days the slaves of all those remaining in rebellion should be freed as a war measure. The hundred day period expired on Jan. 1, and the final emancipation proclamation was issued on that day.

For this step Mr. Lincoln took the sole initiative and the undivided responsibility. Freeing the slaves as a war measure was a strategic move. Merely as president of the United States Mr. Lincoln had no power to emancipate the slave. But as commander in chief of the army and navy during a war he had unquestioned power to take the property of the enemy, a right that had been recognized from time immemorial.

THE VALENTINE PARTY.

How to Arrange a Jolly Time With Little Effort.

A valentine party can with little effort be made both attractive and enjoyable. The invitations might be written on valentine postcards, which may be bought at this season in great variety, the higher priced ones being works of art that would constitute very pleasing reminders of a joyous occasion, especially to the postcard collector.

The decoration of the house should come in for a fair share of the hostess' consideration. Hearts, love knots and all the insignia of Cupid should be in evidence, no matter what general form the decorative scheme assumes.

The color scheme should be either pink or red—love's own colors—with enough green in the way of ferns, palms and vines to accentuate the color and provide a pleasing setting. Festoons of red or pink cardboard hearts of varying sizes make effective decorations and are very inexpensive. Red and pink paper chains, which may be bought for a few cents a yard, may be used as a foundation for heart pendants, with most artistic effect. They may be arranged in the form of a canopy, using the chandelier as a central starting point, or they may be gracefully draped over doorways, window curtains and bare stretches of wall. A large horseshoe of red or pink paper roses should be hung in the doorway through which the guests must pass. From the chandelier depends a large heart of cardboard, pierced by a dart from gilt cardboard.

Have two collections of paper hearts numbered to correspond and when the guests have assembled distribute one set among the boys, the other among the girls. Then by matching hearts partners are secured for the opening game of the evening, which might be the familiar and popular game of hearts. The winner should receive some suitable prize—a heart stickpin, a book of poetry or a handsome heart bonbon box filled with sweets.

The refreshments should be served informally either at the small tables provided for the players or wherever the guests may happen to seat themselves. They should, of course, either in their composition or manner of serving emphasize the motifs of the decorative scheme. Ice cream frozen in heart shapes or served in heart cases pierced by a candy dart, cakes cut out with a heart or horseshoe cutter and iced with pink if the color scheme is pink or if it is red with white icing and decorated with red candy mites, candy hearts and nectar would be a harmonious combination.
