MILWAUKEE TO EXTEND ROAD

C. C. Donovan, Construction Engineer, Directed to Survey for 25-Mile Extension.

It is definitely stated that the Milwaukee railroad has decided to extend its line 25 miles further west than the present western terminus at Earles. C. C. Donovan, constructing engineer, who has had charge of all the work thus far done on the peninsula, states he has been directed to make the survey and that work thereon will commence next Saturday. Mr. Donovan does not say however, that construction work will immediately follow the survey, but such is the assumption. In this event a portion of the extension would be ready for operation before fall.

This will be the first entrance of Milwaukee rails into Milwaukee timber and on account of this it is presumed the company contemplates marketing much of its timber on the eastern borders of its holdings in the Twin river district. If this be the case, either the Puget Sound Mills & Timber Company will have to double its operating capacity by running continuously day and night, or a second big mill will be necessary. While local officials say they have no knowledge of any plans for a big mill, it would seem the logical move on the part of the Milwaukee to haul its own timber inland instead of selling logs to the export mills.

JOYCE-PIEDMONT PEOPLE AFTER FREE DELIVERY

A number of farmers of the Joyce, Eden Valley, Elwha and Indian river districts are organizing and preparing to petition the post office department for the establishment of a rural mail delivery route from Port Angeles west to Joyce; southeast to Piedmont and Lake Crescent; over the new cut-off from Piedmont to East Beach, thence over the Olympic highway from East Beach back to Port Angeles, making a complete circuit of about 43 miles.

Residents of these districts have for some time been working for the establishment of a rural mail service and with the completion of the Olympic highway last year they decided to put forth their best efforts to gain recognition from the postal service to the end that this district might enjoy rural delivery privileges granted in other sections in the United States.

STATE VETERINARIAN HOLDING MEETINGS HERE

Dr. S. B. Nelson, former state veterinarian, and at the present time at the head of the Veterinary Science department of the Washington State College, is here this week, county February 21, 22 and 23, working in co-operation with the Extension Division of the State College and Mr. McWhorter, county agriculturist. Dr. Nelson is without a doubt the best posted man in the state, along his line of work, because of wide experience and long residence within its boundary. Meetings are being held at Eden Valley, Dry Creek and the Ramapo school house. These meetings are part of a special campaign for the control and prevention of contagious abortion in live stock. Demonstrations of practical treatments for this disease are planned.

No. 7018, the big engine which went through the piling at Earles mill a few weeks ago, resulting in the death of John Harding, the engineer and the injury to Ben South, fireman, has been taken to the Tacoma repair shops of the Milwaukee railroad, where it will be repaired. While the engine is in the shops another one will be added to the local equipment. The scene of the wreck is cleared away and new piling has been driven in place of the old. The log dump is working again.

DR. MAJOR REVIVAL MEETINGS BEGIN SUNDAY

Sunday evening, February 27, will commence the series of big revival meetings to be conducted at the opera house by the Congregational, Presbyterian, Methodist and Baptist churches under the leadership of Dr. Major, for twenty years pastor of one of the large Seattle churches and said to be one of the most forceful speakers of the Northwest. He is a broad, liberal minded man, and also possesses a great deal of personal magnetism which insures him a large and attentive audience wherever he speaks. Fine music will be provided for every evening.

An especially good musical program was enjoyed by those who attended services at the Congregational church Sunday morning.

BABY WEEK TO BE OBSERVED HERE

Dr. Lillian Irwin Expected to Make Address; Clubs Will Unite in Preparing Program.

"Baby Week," which will be generally observed all over the United States between March 4th and 11th, is to be observed in Angeles by the club women on one afternoon of the week, the date to be decided as soon as the speaker of the afternon, Dr. Lillian Irwin of Seattle, is heard from.

The P. A. Reading club took the initiative in the matter and so far the Women's Library club and Musical club have both expressed their willingness to assist in every way. The Musical club will furnish the lullabys for the program.

"Baby Week," is a direct result of the great work that has been done the past few years by club organizations, magazines and the press, in an effort to prevent the dreadful mortality among the infants of our land, much of which could be prevented if mothers understood better how to take care of their babies. The "better baby contests" have accomplished a wonderful good as have also the Child Welfare Leagues, and the nurseries in many cities where "the little mother movement" has done much to train the older sister of the family, on whom so much responsibility falls, in how to properly feed and care for the babies while the mother is off to work. It is not only the home conditions that need investigating but the source of the milk supply, the grocery, the meat shop, the bakery—all these storehouses of our food supplies. Are they clean and sanitary?

Mrs. Burkholder, wife of Rev. A. H. Burkholder of the Presbyterian church, has spent many years working with the Child Welfare Leagues and in the interest of "better babies" in the large cities and she will be one of the speakers of the afternoon.

SEATTLE FIRM LOW BIDDER ON HAPPY VALLEY DITCH

The following bids for construction of the Happy Valley Irrigation ditch were opened at Sequim today, but the contract was not awarded at the time of going to press, though it is presumed it will go to the lowest bidder, McDonald & Jones of Seattle. There were three bids from Port Angeles firms.

Following were the bids:

Sloan Bros., Seattle, $22,280.40.

The Straits Construction Co., of which Harry Cotton is manager, $23,370.

McDonald & Jones, Seattle, $18,818.46.

Chas. Filion and Hugh Phelps, Angeles, $22,920.

Burnett Construction Co., Seattle, $21,229.

Zindorph, Seattle, $19,042.05.

Mitchell, Seattle, $23,500.

Kuppler & Johnson, Angeles, $23,850.

The Earles mill is again running full blast and orders are coming in at such a rapid rate that the full crew has been forced to put in overtime at night.

SHERIFF MAKES THREE RAIDS

Blind Piggers Beginning to Realize They Are Up Against the Real Thing in Sheriff's Office.

The mystery of the little jewelry store, located on West Front street, which never appeared to do any business, nor to contain any stock other than that displayed in the windows, was solved this week when the stand was found to be a sort of side issue or inanimate stool pigeon for Sam Rubyn, so-called jeweler.

Monday morning, Sheriff Bishop, who has already two raids to his credit since the prohibition law went into effect, suspicioned that the Portland rooming house must be a haven for drinkers. The fact that considerable bona-fide business was done there with transient lodgers was certain, but evidence showed up which proved that a blind pig was also in operation, and that drinks were being sold at regular red light district rates.

The sheriff quietly slipped upstairs and was confronted by Miss Brown, who runs the rooming house with Rubyn, and was assured that no whisky could be found in the house. The sheriff raised the arm of the law and made a raid of Rubyn's room, believing the woman's statement untrue. Everything opened and pried into contained no liquor, except a trunk, which was found to be full of sealed bottles of whisky.

A raid on Miss Brown's room yielded six quart bottles of whisky, brandy and creme de menthe. These were discovered behind a pile of clothing in a bedroom clothes press.

Sam Rubyn was taken to the county jail. Miss Brown was allowed her liberty pending action of the court.

Later in the day the sheriff broke into the jewelry store and found a large quantity of fifteen quarts of whisky there. It was found stored in drawers, on shelves and even in a show case which was within a half dozen feet of the front window.

MORE TO COME

The report of the two raids spread rapidly about the city, and on Tuesday morning came the news that the Scandia House, on West Second street, had been raided Monday night by the deputy sheriff and prosecuting attorney. The Scandia House was recently taken over by L. H. Kempton, who formerly ran the Gate City Buffet. Ten gallons of whisky and other intoxicants were seized. It is supposed that the liquor, which was in Kemptons possession, was taken by him from the saloon to the Scandia House, where it is said he was doing a land office business. Kempton was promptly arrested and then released on his own recognizance.

The sheriff stated that none of the liquor in the saloons had been shipped out of the state when the dry law took effect, as far as he could learn. He thinks that there is still much liquor cached away in town.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY DULY OBSERVED BY BANKERS

Washington's birthday, February 22nd, was duly observed by the banks and government institutions of the city. All flags were put up, and the glorious sunshine that is appealing to the hearts of all our citizens helped to make the day ideal. The schools, however, did not close, owing to the long enforced vacation which the children have just had, and which will give them a chance to make up their back studies. The revenue cutter Snohomish lay to the starboard in the harbor, with flags of all nations streaming down the mast-head guy ropes and from her mast heads, the American flag waving proudly above them all. As the hour of twelve o'clock noon was striking, the cutter Snohomish, anchored in the middle of the harbor, gave a salute of 21 guns in honor of the man who fought for this country's greatest cause.

ROAD TO LAKES STILL BLOCKED WITH SNOW

Last Friday morning two big red steamer loads of freight, carrying a passenger, Ward McMahon and Van Welsh, left for the lakes with the idea that they would be able to get there before sundown. They plowed through the snow to Herrick's store and after vain attempts to break thru the worst of it, had to come back, to Port Angeles. Saturday, however, a big city transfer wagon was loaded up, and drawn by four horses, started for the lake, and, after much hard work, succeeded in getting to the Elwha River bridge, where the big load of freight was taken off and sledded to Herrick's store. Van Welsh, with the first class mail on his back, walked on out to the lakes.

HOUSE-WARMING AND SHOWER

Patrons Belleview School Extend Invitation to Public to Attend Doings Friday Evening.

Interested friends are going to give a house-warming and shower for the benefit of the Belleview school Friday evening of this week at the school house and a cordial invitation is extended the public to come and have a good time. An effort is being made to make this school a social center. The patrons of the school are raising money to buy a cook stove and organ. To encourage and help along the good work, interested friends suggested the idea of an old fashioned house-warming, when each one who can donates something in the way of cooking utensils, chairs, pictures, mirror, clock), food supplies of any kind, sewing materials, garden tools, flower and garterials garden tools, flower and garden seeds, playthings, books and magazines.

An effort is being made to serve something hot for the children's lunches each day and Mr. Lively, the teacher, hopes to be able to get the children interested in gardening so they will have some supplies on hand for next year.

Mrs. Lively is taking a "lively" interest in the school and appreciates any assistance offered. The mothers in the district have organized themselves into a club and have done splendid work in the interest of the school, but so many things are needed. So the thought was that perhaps from your home could be spared some articles that would help in furnishing one of the vacant rooms and making it more home-like and attractive.

If you wish to give something and cannot take it out yourself, phone Blue 11 or Blue 110 and it will be called for. But we hope to see you Friday night and will entertain you with cards and music and also serve light refreshments. There will be no admission charges.

BAND CONCERT AND DANCE FRIDAY NIGHT

A band concert will be given in the opera house Friday under the auspices of the Port Angeles band, after which will follow a "jitney dance." Miss Frances Hoare, the talented young singer, who is claimed to be Port Angeles' best soloist, will render "My Ain Folk," and Mr. Wm. D. Welsh, another one of our best singers, will render "Can't You Hear Me Callin' Caroline."

NAVAL LODGE PRESENTS STEIN SET TO TACOMA ELKS

G. W. Muck left Sunday for Tacoma to attend the dedication exercises of the Elks' temple in that city. As a representative of the local lodge, Mr. Muck presented as its gift on this occasion, a beautiful hand-painted stein set, bearing the Elks' head and emblem of the order. The work was executed by Mrs. Troy.

FREE PUBLIC MARKET DAY

Commercial Club Committee Reports Favorable Progress. Club May Reorganize.

Chairman L. J. Leonard of the Commercial Club's special committee appointed February 14th to formulate plans for a free public market day, reported favorable progress at the meeting of the Board of Directors held Monday afternoon. The committee has decided on the west half of Cherry street from Front to First as a site and will ask the City Council at its next meeting to also grant the club control of the vending privileges on the west side of Oak street and all of Cherry street from Front to First, and on Front and First streets from Oak to Valley. The estimated cost of the sheds and other needed structures was stated at not to exceed $150, and the committee will ask the city to donate $75 for this purpose. The action of the committee was approved.

City Development Bureau Project.—A general discussion of the affairs of the club and the possibility of enlarging its resources and activity was inspired by a letter from President H. Van Rensselaer Chase of the City Development Bureau of San Francisco, now reorganizing the Bellingham Chamber of Commerce, who offered to present in person without cost to the club his project for the reorganization and financing of this club. After an extended discussion, on motion, the secretary was directed to invite Mr. Chase to appear before the Board.

Federal Building Bill.—Senator Poindexter's Port Angeles Federal building bill, S. 1373, introduced December 10, 1915, and referred to the Senate committee on Public Buildings and Grounds, appropriating $150,000 for a public building in this city, was unanimously endorsed and the secretary was authorized to employ every available means in its support.

Naval Academy Bill.—Representative W. E. Humphrey's bill No. 9318, introduced in the House of Representatives January 18, 1916, and referred to the committee on Naval affairs, was likewise endorsed upon motion. It provides for a naval academy to be established in the state of Washington, location to be selected by the Secretary of the Navy, and appropriates $5,000,000.

Status of Ten-Acre Lots.—Mr. Aldwell of the special committee supporting the Joyce-Pysht wagon road project reported favorable action granted by the county commissioners on February 7, 1916, at which meeting R. D. Merrill and T. Jerome of the Merrill & Ring Lumber Co., appeared with the committee in urging the building of the road. Thru a re-apportionment of all the county road funds, a sufficient amount had been agreed upon to build the most desired extension to Pysht and the entire project is now in the hands of County Engineer R. W. Remp. The action of the committee approved.

PEOPLES' MARKET EXHIBITS CURIOUS MOON FISH

A peculiar, long shaped fish, called a moon fish and supposed to belong only in tropical climates was caught in the sound Monday by one of our local fishermen and is on exhibition at the Peoples' Fish market. It is almost 4½ feet long and about six inches in breadth at the widest part of its body.

KNIGHTS WILL CELEBRATE THEIR 25TH ANNIVERSARY

The Knights of Pythias are arranging for a grand celebration Friday evening in honor of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the local lodge and of the fifty-third anniversary of the general lodge. A banquet and ball will be the attractive features of the evening's entertainment, which will be held at the I.O.O.F. hall.

Judging by the number of baby boys the stork is leaving at the various homes in Angeles, one is led to believe that the bird is a strong advocate of preparedness. Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Gangler had a call from the stork Sunday and are now receiving the congratulations of their friends over the fine nine pound boy he left.

PROF. FULMER KILLED IN WRECK

State Chemist Victim of Railroad Collision at South Cheney, due to Dense Fog.

Prof. Elton Fulmer, brother of the Rev. C. E. Fulmer of Port Angeles, was one of five persons who were killed Sunday at South Cheney, seventeen miles west of Spokane, when the N. P.'s North Coast Limited ran into the rear of a U. P.-Burlington train, telescoping an empty day coach into the rear Pullman of the Burlington train, which was standing in front of the station. The accident happened in a dense fog.

All the dead and injured, of which latter there were three, were either asleep or dressing when the crash came, but several had gone ahead into the dining car and were not injured.

Prof. Fulmer, who was state chemist at the agricultural college at Pullman, Washington., had taken out an accident insurance policy for $25,000 in case of death on the trip, the policy being purchased before he boarded the train at Pullman.

Rev. C. E. Fulmer left Port Angeles Monday afternoon on the Sol Duc for Seattle and Spokane, where his brother's body was taken after being found in the wreck.

NEW MOUNTAINEERING CLUB ORGANIZED AT HOQUIAM

The Klahhane club is no longer the baby mountaineering club of the state, a sister organization to be known as the Olympians, having been started at Hoquiam, with F. H. Lamb, president of the Hoquiam Commercial club, as its president. In response to an invitation extended by Messrs. Phillips and Webster, president and outing committee of the local club, who are now making arrangements for the second annual outing, which is to leave the city on July eighth and ninth, with Mount Olympus as the objective point, Mr. Lamb wrote that he would bring up the matter at the next meeting and had no doubt they would be able to arrange to meet us at the Low Divide or Elwha Basin on the 10th or 11th of July. In that event a portion of their members would make the through trip with us via the Solduck park, Sol Duc springs, and Lake Crescent, while possibly some of our members might return with them down the Quiniault. If such a trip can be arranged, it will be our endeavor to enlist the co-operation of mountain lovers from every city on the peninsula, that we may have an all Olympic mountaineering association.

"JUST NATURAL"

The best joke heard in the high school this week, runs something like this:

Teacher. "Percy, what country borders Germany on the west?"

Percy. (Playing with the girls across the aisle.) "Ma'am?"

Teacher. (Repeating the sentence.) "Have you been studying anything about the war lately."

Percy. "No, er, no ma'am. I'm n-a-t-u-r-a-l."

Yet, when you come right down to it, we're really kicking our own shins, for so long as our city and county and state governments do the many things we at different times have requested them to do—the many governmental activities unknown twenty-five or fifty years ago—we ought to pay the bill without whining. — Olympia Washingtonian.

"If any place in the world may rival Seattle as a healthy community it is Anacortes," says Dr. H. E. Frost, of that city. Dr. Frost has been visiting in Seattle, having found that his patients in Anacortes have been entirely too well of late. "About the only persons in Anacortes who are dying," said Dr. Frost, "are the doctors, and they starve to death. In a way this may reflect credit on the physicians for maintaining such excellent conditions, but it must be remembered that doctors draw no fee from well persons. In China, every civilized person has his doctor, and pays him a regular salary whether the individual is sick or well, but China is not here." Port Angeles can say just as much for herself as Dr. Frost has said for Anacortes. There are at present a few cases of illness here, but they are slight. The only use we have for the hospitals right now are for workmen who get hurt in the logging camps and the mills. We seldom see a doctor carrying a grip here any more, and in fact we know that two of our own well-known doctors are at the present time spending a long vacation, just because the people don't and won't get sick. Port Angeles can compare with any city of its size in the country for a small sick list or a low death rate.

Friday, March 10, will be National Salmon Day this year, and as such will be celebrated the country over by banquets and speeches and advertising displays, while salmon in many forms will be served by leading hotels, dining cars, steamships and restaurants. Salmon Day was the first of the big advertising "days" to be established in this country, and has been most successful in teaching the people the merits of canned salmon as a delicious, nutritious and economical food. It behooves people in this state, where the fishing industry is so important, to co-operate heartily in Salmon Day.

LAND COMMISSIONER MAKES SPLENDID SHOWING

Land Commissioner Clark V. Savidge reports having leased 71,094 acres of grazing land in Yakima, Kittitas and Benton counties alone within the last thirty days, which will increase the revenue of the State approximately $7,000.00 a year.

In Yakima county...39,434 acres
In Kittitas county...12,603 acres
In Benton county....19,057 acres

These are all lands which have been used by stock men for years past, with no revenue whatever to the state. Mr. Savidge's policy, during the past three years, has been to compel those who have been using state lands for years without compensation to lease these lands and pay a reasonable rental to the State therefor. The revenue from this source alone has increased $57,282.55 annually and the continuance of this policy, it is anticipated, will increase the State's revenues at least $20,000.00 the coming year.

The receipt of rentals is a clear gain to the State, owing to the fact the State does not part title to any of its holdings and all moneys received in this connection go to the current school fund and reduce the tax levy in just that proportion.

Extracts from Mr. Savidge's annual reports, for the past three years, make a favorable showing for his department in other directions—for instance, in the matter of the collection of delinquent interest on contracts of sale. Three years ago, when Mr. Savidge took office, there was $93,000.00 of delinquent interest due the State on such contracts. This year, there is less than $22,000.00. At the same time, there was $25,290.92 of delinquent rental due on leases, which amount was an entire loss to the State, owing to the fact that the delinquencies covered periods of from two to five years and upon cancellation of the leases there was nothing for security.

This year there is no rental due on leases for more than nine months and that is well secured, either by growing crops or improvements on the land, and extensions have been granted rather than to work a hardship upon the lessees.

Comparison of the cost of maintenance of this department shows the appropriation made for the last biennium of the previous administration to have been $168,000.00 of which the sum of $3.10 is shown to have been unexpended. For the first biennium of the present administration there was an appropriation of $167,000.00, of which amount there was unexpended $5,722.36. The appropriation for the present biennium was $157,000.00, or $10,600.00 less.

ROTARIANS WILL GIVE ANY CITY A NEW LIFE

A city with a Rotary Club is sure to be a live city. It may have been ever so dead before a club was formed, but very soon it is going to be awakened as though a battery of Big Bens had gone off right under its municipal head.

The true Rotarian lives every minute of his life the saying, "Home is where the heart is, and home is the best place on earth." He takes a personal pride in his city; he wishes to beautify it, to have it appear prosperous, well kept, with clean streets and good paving, he advocates better schools, more parks and playgrounds.

And a Rotary Club working with, not independently of, the other commercial and civic organizations will accomplish all of these things. With memberships of fifty up to 300 live, successful men, each a representative man in his particular business or profession, the possibilities or service to the community by a Rotary Club are unlimited and its influences far reaching.

No club wants to run the city. It is willing to follow the Chamber of Commerce, the charities, or any other organization, and it does its work. —Albert S. Adams, Atlanta Rotary Club.

WHAT THE FLAG REPRESENTS

(Chas. N. Fowler.)

The flag represents whatever constitutes the nation. The flag of any nation symbolizes its characteristics. It in no way suggests government, whether a kingdom, an empire, or a republic; for government is only the temporary garment of the people who constitute the nation. Parties may come, and parties may go; kingdoms change to empires and empires in turn are forerunners of a republic; but the flag of a nation may persist through a revolution of successive changes, always remaining the emblem of the soul of a nation—the emblem of nationality.

We lift our eyes to the flag of the American people, the American nation—and behold its beauty with such emotions as spring from a comprehension of its true significance.

It typifies the citizen. It typifies organized society. It typifies all social forces resulting in the organic life of the people, which is composite of the charatcer of one hundred millions of freemen.

The flag cannot signify more than the average and aggregate of all.

But above and beyond all else may this flag symbolize, in the coming time, the genuine and true in contrast with the spurious and fraudulent.

If it floats over a shoe-shop, may it suggest good leather and good workmanship. If it finds a place over the builder's quarters, may it signify good material and good carpentry. If it hangs from the window of a factory, may every employe be inspired to faithful service, and every employer to genuine sympathy for his fellows and the noble purpose of co-operation. If men make it a means of calling attention to their wares, may it be a guarantee of quality and not a mere herald of quantity.

If it is borne into distant climes by an American merchant marine, may it signify everywhere and always the sterling character of the goods in the holds of the ships, until the entire world shall take our products as the standard by which all others are judged—the test and touchstone being the interrogatory: "Is it as good as the American "

If it should decorate the office of the physician or the lawyer, may it serve to exalt the ideals of both and lead them to a genuine and sincere service of mankind.

If any social order shall select the flag as its emblem, may it symbolize for it those virtues upon which the stability of society rests; charity, justice, brotherhood and fidelity.

If it is to be sustained by the flag staffs over a thousand municipal buildings, may it soon come to stand for economy, efficiency and honesty.

If it crowns the domes of our State Capitols, may it bespeak intelligence, sincerity, courage and patriotism.

If it continues to float over our public schools, may it ever be a guarantee that from generation to generation to the end of time, better, wiser and braver men and women are going out from their doors into a world that will be made a little better—just a little better—because its influence has entered into their lives, and the flag, in turn, be made a little richer and rendered more significant because their spirits have visited the earth, until this flag shall become the harbinger of every virtue and the chief glory of the world.

If it shall find its way into and become enshrined in the churches and chapels of the land, may it fill their atmosphere with the most free and generous impulse of goodfellowship and a catholicity of spirit leading them all into the realms of true and unalloyed righteousness—into a common and generous endeavor for the amelioration of all mankind, and act as a solvent of all traditional prejudices and unreasoning dogmatism.

If it shall adorn and beautify an American home, let it stand for the honor of our men and the virtue of our women.

The Holy Spirit don't want to take a bath of beer and swim around in booze. Not on your tintype.—Billy Sunday.

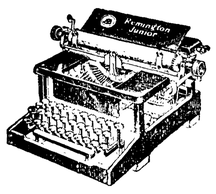
Why this man bought a

Remington Junior Typewriter



"I have been investigating several of the recent makes of machines, seeking for one of simple construction for ordinary manuscript and letter writing. I was nearly ready to buy a machine of another make when I just happened to see for the first time the Remington Junior, and found it to be the very thing I wanted.

The man who wrote this is the postmaster of a small Southern town. He is only one of thousands who have recently bought a Remington Junior. But his reasons apply to everybody—they apply to YOU.

The Remington Junior is our latest product and the latest idea in typewriting.

It is strictly a high-grade machine.

It has the Remington Name. the Remington Guarantee, the Remington Quality—everything Remington except weight and bulk.

A "Simplified Remington" describes it exactly.

And its price is $50.00

Remington Junior Typewriters will be sent "on examination," without obligation to purchase.

Easy payment terms can be arranged if desired.

How Have You Planned to Improve Your Soil?

The importance of growing leguminous crops in rotation with other farm crops for soil improvement has long been established in the minds of good farmers. Legume crops accumulate nitrogen which is left in the soil for following crops. This accumulation of nitrogen is due to the presence of minute soil bacteria which can grow on the roots of legumes and possesses the power to take free nitrogen from the air and convert it into available food for succeeding crops. The legumes commonly grown, such as clover, alfalfa, vetch, and field peas have their own individual strain of legume bacteria; for example the bacteria which produce nodules upon alfalfa will not form nodules upon the cowpea.

It is readily evident that for the most successful growth of clovers, vetches and field peas, our most common crops (and to this list we should add alfalfa), these proper organisms should be abundantly present in the soil. In some sections these organisms seem to be abundantly supplied while in others they must be supplied by artificial introduction for the particular legume it is proposed to grow.

Field Soil Innoculation

When a field is known to be well innoculated for a certain legume crop, for example, alfalfa, as indicated by the presence of numerous noddules upon the roots of alfalfa plants growing in the field, such soil may be used and is very desirable for the innoculation of other fields on the same farm or near-by farms upon which alfalfa is to be grown the first time. Such soil, well sifted, can readily be applied to the new field through the fertilizer attachment on a drill. One hundred pounds per acre will be sufficient per acre when applied in this way. The soil may be broad-casted by hand but a larger quantity will be required and it should be done in the early morning, evening or on a cloudy day since the direct sun's rays are injurious to the thin layer of innoculated soil thus exposed to it. The field should be immediately harrowed after broadcasting the soil.

Pure Culture Innoculation

Liquidpure cultures of these beneficial bacteria have for several years been distributed by the United States Department of Agriculture and the large percentage of successful experiments with these cultures warrants a continuation of this distribution. These pure cultures may be secured also from the Experiment station at Pullman. The county agriculturist will be glad at any time to help secure the same for small acreages but he should be notified at least three weeks before they are to be used. These cultures are mixed with the seed as per directions accompanying them.

It may be said in regard to the use of cultures and field soil innoculation:

It is inexpensive.
Never hurts the crop or soil.
Often is very beneficial.
Sometimes absolutely essential.

It is to be expected that failures attend the innoculation of leguminous crops. These failures are sometimes due to careless methods of innoculation or failure to follow directions. In Western Washington it is more often due to the acid or sour condition of the soil. Sour or acid conditions do not favor the growth of these minute bacteria, and often hinder or entirely prevent their development. Much emphasis should therefore be placed upon thorough drainage when necessary to change wet, sour, or acid conditions, and upon the use of ground limestone to neutalize the acid in the soil. Ground limestone is the safest to use and may be had for $5.00 to $7.00 per ton, on the Peninsula.

It should be remembered that lime is seldom if ever used as a fertilizer. The need of lime in Western Washington is to correct acid conditions of the soil.

One to two tons per acre of the ground limestone should be applied, after the field is plowed, and thoroly mized with a disc or some other good harrow. There is no hard and fast rule as to the amount of limestone to apply. Different soils vary. Farmers often make the mistake of applying too little limestone. One Peninsula farmer reported that lime did his soil no good and when he began to figure it out he had only used about 100 pounds per acre. Not enough to do any good whatever, as far as correcting the acid or sour condition of his particular soil.

The growing of more legumes will do more than improve the soil. It will lessen that feed bill. It will keep at home the money you send away for alfalfa each year. How much did you pay out last year for feed? Some Western Washington farmers with much cleared acreage paid out about $34.00 per cow for feed and blamed the markets for his failure to make money. The markets may have been partly to blame but but poor cows and high priced feed caused much of his loss.

You say that clover crops do not thrive well here? Many have said the same thing but even at that we find the farmers having success with these crops when they follow the best methods of culture. The growing of leguminous crops as a part of a more or less fixed crop rotation will be adopted sooner or later on the peninsula just at it has been adopted in other farming sections after the virgin fertility has been exhausted from the soil by poor cropping methods.

The Peruvian bark Callao, which was blown from Cape Flattery to San Francisco in a great gale at the end of December, while attempting to come to Puget Sound, was purchased Monday morning by George W, McNear, Inc., of the Golden Gate port, according to a dispatch received in Seattle Sunday. It is reported that the McNear firm will place her under the American flag. The firm will operate her in the Pacific trade out of San Francisco.

NORTHERN IDAHO A CLIMATIC PARADISE

Editor Olympic-Leader,
Port Angeles, Wash.
Dear Sir:

You evidently misconstrued my meaning in stating that I am sorry I left the "banana belt." (Banana belt, with three feet of snow!)

During June, July and August, Port Angeles has the finest climate I ever encountered, but during the other nine months of the year give me northern Idaho by an infinite majority. As to snow, you seem to have as much of it as we, and it seemed to paralyze street traffic and put the schools out of commission, while here business goes on just the same, and no pupil lost a single day's attendance on account of the snow. As to cold, I put in three winters in Port Angeles and am on my fourth winter here; and without reference to the mercury, have been much colder in Port Angeles than I have been here, though I am out of doors much more here, and dress exactly as I did there.

I regard this as the finest year-round climate I've ever seen, and if I didn't think so, I shouldn't stay here because there is really no compulsion about it.

Hoping that you'll have an opportunity some time of learning what a really fine climate is, I am

Sincerely,
O. B. FLEMING.

Business, being transacted in the East, and as far west as Chicago, to the effect that representatives of the Belgian government are in the United States to get lumber for all purposes, particularly for buildings, are interesting little "straws," and point the way to which the business wind is blowing. The Soutnern Pacific has placed an order in Columbus, Ohio, which will consume practically 8,000,000 feet of lumber, in the construction of 760 stock cars, 900 box cars and 650 flat cars. Another contract has been placed by the same road with a Michigan concern, for 1,000 box and 250 gondola cars, for which 4,000,000 feet of fir lumber will be required. The fact is that Belgium is only one devasted section of Europe, that must be rebuilt as soon as the war ends, and every one of these battle zones will be compelled to draw a large amount of its supplies from Western Washington.

ABOUT THE COUNTY

LOWER ELWHA

That the deep snow and rather disagreeable weather of the past few weeks did not end the social activities of the Valley was shown by the party given by the neighbors here for Mrs. Dougherty to celebrate the anniversary of her birthday which occurred on the fourteenth of this month. The party took place on the Saturday evening previous and resulted in a surprise on almost the entire household. A very pleasant evening was enjoyed by all present with the usual program of card playing and in partaking of a delicious luncheon, served by the ladies. Mrs. Garf Davis and Bill Brandt were the successful parties who received the prizes, which were awarded for the highest score made in the card game.

Our school re-opened last Tuesday after a two-weeks' vacation due partly to the bad weather and partly for the reason that Miss Bown was called home on account of the illness of her brother, Lewis, who is now recovering from a severe seige of inflammatory rheumatism.

Mr. John Dougherty and Mr. Chas. Dougherty are very busily occupied in the work of re-constructing the barn on the Dougherty farm, which was considerably damaged by the recent snow storm.

Mrs. Hartley Goodwin and Mr. Earl Goodwin were visitors in the Valley on Friday of last week.

The farmers here have all had their chance to travel over the bad roads, as each one has had his turn in hauling the milk to town since Mr. Brandt has been unable to use his truck, which everyone is anxious to see in operation again.

If the promoter of the Eden Valley Bachelor's club should care for a further opportunity to develop his ability as an organizer, he will find ample material, with which to work, among the residents of our own Valley. We have among us, a group of the most industrious, most amicable, most independent and best looking bachelors to be found in any community. Should it become necessary for a union for mutual aid and protection against any designing foe, a stronger league could not be desired than one formed by our men. But, unlike the Eden Valley Bachelors, those of the Lower Elwha have had no occasion to take such drastic measures, as the absence of the gentler sex in the Valley has long been an accepted situation, a fact which has established a feeling of perfect security among the bachelors here. Can anyone imagine a better or stronger league than one which might be formed, should the occasion arise, with the following members? Gus Anderson, Curly Workmen, Charles Singhose, John Delaney, John Lundquist, Herb Garrison, Victor Ridley, Mr. Rover and several others who might be counted as having a right to membership, namely Walter Rasmussen, Clyde Goodwin, Charles Dougherty, Earl Goodwin, John Dougherty, Henry Mack and Mr. Dean.

Several of the Lower Elwha ladies spent a very pleasant afternoon last Friday with Mrs. Borgette. After spending a few hours in quilting, the guests partook of a dainty luncheon prepared and served by the hostess.

Mr. Borgette of Bremerton arrived here Sunday for a visit of several days with Mrs. Borgette.

BLYN

Miss Isabel Correia of Seattle has been visiting her mother, Mrs. Christina Correia. She returned to Seattle Wednesday, accompanied by her little brother James, who will receive medical treatment in the city.

Mr. Spearing has moved back into his own home just across from James Nason's.

Sam Poland gave a dance in his new house Wednesday night.

Mr. Edgar Cook returned Sunday night from a visit with friends in Dungeness.

While making the run to Port Williams Sunday afternoon Mr. Gunderson's launch ran on the mud flat just inside the spit. Although other boats endeavored to pull the launch off, they failed to do so and Mr. Gunderson was obliged to wait until the tide rose high enough to float him off.

Th family of Paul Violett have been quite ill. During the heavy snow their road was so drifted that they could not get out and no one could get in. The telephone was out of commission so they had a most unpleasant time for several days.

Leino Fernandes was a guest at the home of Manuel Rogers the fore part of the week, while on his way from Port Angeles to Port Townsend.

A train with Engineer Donovan in charge arrived Tuesday and attempted to go on to Port Angeles, but the road was in such bad shape that it could get no further than Antone Erickson's. Wednesday morning it returned to Port Townsend.

Dick Bennett has been overhauling his launch and Tommy Rulson has been making the run to Port Williams in his place.

Mrs. Wallace Lonsberry, Mrs. Edwin Severn, and Miss Ruby Delaney motored to Sequim Monday on a shopping expedition.

Mr. Frank Leonard and Miss Rita Romo stole quietly away Sunday night at 11:30 and motored to Port Angeles, which place they finally reached after shoveling snow from the road in many places that the car might get through. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Lambert and Mr. E. M. Severn, and at two p. m. Monday were married at the court house by the justice of the peace. They returned to Blyn Monday night. Tuesday night thirty-five of their friends gave them a chiviari at the home of John Hopkins. Mr. and Mrs. Leonard are popular young people and we all wish for them all the happiness that life may bring.

Mr. and Mrs. Joshua McKinney left Friday for Kansas to make their future home.

Dan Bellas is painting his new house and will soon occupy it.

School election will be held the fourth of March and it is not too soon to be thinking of it. Let every voter turn out and do his duty. While the irrigation question is an important one, the question of what we can do to make our school what we want it to be is still more important. One new director is to be elected, and there are other questions of importance that are to come up.

Clarence Cole returned Sunday from Port Angeles.

The sawmill is being repaired and put in shape and will start running in a few days with Antone Maroldo as foreman, Arthur Fairchilds millwright and Charlie Lambert, setter.

Miss Eva Owen of Seattle is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Robert Burrowes.

Tony Moniz is working at Gardiner's camp.

Azelda Hudon has returned from Seattle where she was attending school.

LA PUSH

We have one on all of you, in that our recent deep snow has entirely melted away.

Last Friday night the boys' Athletic club gave a boxing contest, which was well attended and appreciated. There were three interesting bouts. The contestants were Eddie Black vs. Ervin Obi; Roy Black vs. Wm. Penn. and the pride of La Push, Jeffries Hudson, vs. Alec Hobucket. Black defeated Penn in the second out in four rounds. The first was a draw in four rounds, and the last a draw in six rounds. Fighting Jack Martin of Forks was referee.

There were many from the outside who came down to witness the fights Friday night including Joe Marsh, Hugh Morse, Eben Morse, Mabel and Luck Hosac, Ed Smith, Laurel Taylor, Mr. Wright and others.

Mont Hudson, Eddie Black, Raymond Hobucket and Gertrude Johnson are on the sick list and out of school this week.

Our girls' and boys' basket ball teams went to Forks Saturday night to compete with the teams there. We regret to say that both teams suffered though our boys gave their opponents a very tight game. Both teams did nobly with but few errors.

Louie Yocum of Neah Bay is sojourning in our village for a few weeks.

The Indians have been fortunate in saving most all their live stock through the winter. Grass is coming now and is certainly welcomed by stock owners.

The Roberts family are all on the sick list this week.

Lyle Lewis is visiting at his grandma's place, Berlinguette's, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Pellerin, who have been visiting at the Chambers' home the past few weeks, have gone to their home at Eden Valley.

Mrs. Richards ofDe Fuca, and her small daughter, Sarah, called at the Chambers' home one day last week.

Everyone is happy to see a few spots of bare ground for a change.

Now that spring and warm weather is close at hand, the domestic science work at school will discontinue. Since the middle of November the children have each been taking his or her share and the older girls did the cooking, which was mostly nice warm soups to eat with the lunch pail dinners. The children all enjoyed it very much during the cold weather. A SERIES OF "MYSTERY WALKS"

The Klahhanes, as the Olympic peninsula mountaineering club is called, have planned a series of "Mystery Walks," the first of which is to be held this week Sunday, leaving town at 9:00 a. m. These little outings, which will be as widely different in character as may be possible, are intended to fit the members for more pretentious efforts later on. They are not limited to the club membership; anyone having a good reputation and a fondness for outdoor life will be made welcome. Outing shoes or storm rubbers, a lunch and a cup are all the requisites.

Some merchants wonder if it pays to advertise. The Peoples' Fish Market do not wonder, they know it pays. A couple of locals in the Olympic-Leader were responsible for their selling in an incredibly short time 200 boxes of fine local apples. Mr. and Mrs. Grossman, the proprietors, believe in keeping all the money at home and therefore buy all local products that they can to help along the producer.

In honor of the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding day Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Gilbert entertained about a hundred of their friends with a dancing party at the Parish hall last Friday evening. The host and hostess received their guests.

Under a large silver bell, assisting in receiving were Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Walton and Miss Geraldine Gilbert.

Miss Nellie Ethel Falk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Falk, was married at Valdez. Alaska, February 7, to Mr. E. W. Hunt, of that city. Miss Falk is well known in Angeles, where she spent a number of years of her girlhood and the best wishes of a host of friends go out to her in her far away Northern home, where happiness has crowned her life.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Fathers were pleasantly surprised last Saturday evening by members of the Royal Neighbors lodge and Modern Woodmen. The evening was spent at cards after which dainty refreshments were served. The party was in the nature of a farewell to Mr. Fathers, who leaves next week for Alaska.

The third of a series of whist games will be held at the Catholic Social hall tonight. Mrs. O'Donnell and Mrs. Larkin will act as hostesses. The fourth and last series will be given on Wednesday evening, March 5. You are cordially invited to attend.

The dedication of the Elks new home on Lincoln street has been postponed until Thursday, Friday and Saturday, May 4, 5 and 6. It is expected that delegations from all parts of the state will atend the ceremonies.

The Nicholson grocery store on 8th street, at the west end of the Tumwater bridge, has been sold to J. R. Burke, formerly of this city but late of Seattle, where he has conducted a successful business that carried with it a reputation.

Mrs. E. A. Prickett, who has been spending the winter in California for her health, returned home Sunday morning much improved.

Henry Fey has bought a ranch from E. Saltman, near Mora and expects to move out there soon with his family.

A scald, burn or severe cut heals slowly if neglected. The family that keeps a bottle of BALLARD'S SNOW LINIMENT on hand is always prepared for such accidents. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by Mathewson's Drug store.

While Bachelors' clubs are being formed in all parts of the country we find that the women are not as idle as often thought. Even though the men may not form into a single body for the protection of their rights, it appears that the women can find amusement in their own society and under very sociable conditions. Last Saturday night Miss Lucy Bonker and Miss Jessie Cummings acted as hostesses to a "Slumber Party," in which seven popular young ladies took part. It was held at the home of Mrs. J. C. Delabarre. In the early evening the time was spent at the movie show, after which the party made the Delabarre home their rendezvous for the rest of the evening. The evening hours passed quickly, the girls enjoying themselves with music, candy-making, story-telling, and singing. As the hands of the clock turned towards the last hour of the day, the innovation of the so-called "Slumber Party" then took its effect and all hands on deck turned in for the night. Those who made up the party were the Misses Margaret Fitzgerald, Anna Filion, Constance and Frances Hoare, Mary Stocklen, Lucy Bonker and Jessie Cummings.

AMERICAN IDEALS AND WEAKNESSES

Opinions may differ materially as to what is the leading motive in the life of the average American and what the leading ideal. We have been charged with being a nation of materialists, bent on getting money, getting money all the time and all we can of it—not to save particularly, but to spend. Our aim is not to save more, but to earn more. If we cannot have what we want, we do not do without, but work harder for it. We believe in guaging our pleasures by the cost and not the satisfaction we get out of them. When we make up our minds that we have been foolish and frittered away our possessions, we try to recoup, not by spending less, but by earning more.

It must be admitted that we can, as a people, make money. We can save only a small part in comparison with other nations, but we do have the knack of getting it. The salaries paid our officials and leading business men would make some European princes envious, and the wages of American workmen have attracted hoards of European laborers to our shores.

No one denies that we make money, but is that the leading motive in American life? The questions: "What in your opinion are the leading ideals of the men with whom you associate?" and "What do you consider to be the chief points of weakness in American life?" were put to about one hundred leading men—lawyers, bankers, editors, business men, farmers, scientists and others, and the replies show that forty-six consider service to one's fellows to be the leading ideal, while twenty-eight think the making of money for selfish enjoyment or personal power is the leading motive.

A Wall street financier and Vice-President of a large trust company said:

"I think that the leading ideals of the men with whom I associate are in general the ethics of Wall street, where a man's word is of greater value than anywhere else in the country. I feel, too, that their attitude has become much less provincial than heretofore, and that often the good of the country, the State, and business at large is considered by them more than individual profit."

A prominent magazine editor replied:

"Our ideals are:

"Honesty and integrity.

"Intellectual achievement.

"Beauty in art and music as a solace in life.

"Domestic happiness."

A Congressman had this to say:

"Extravagance in living. Most Americans prefer to spend money rather than not to spend it, and therefore very many spend money foolishly and upon things which were better not purchased.

"The feeling that what we do ought to meet the approval of other nations, for example, rather than our own approval. This is because as a nation and as individuals we are still rather more vain than proud."

A Boston banker wrote:

"The passion for 'getting on,' with accompanying failure to see what one is getting on toward.

"Pride in power and in the ownership of things. Too great reliance on the finality of material.

"The lust for spending and having others know that one spends."

A religious director of 6,000 university students answered:

"One weakness is that of indulgence. Our life is crammed these days with opportunities for relaxing; the picture show, the ball game, the theater, the novel, and the canoe grip the lives of a great many and absorb their best energies."

A bank examiner gave this list:

"Materialistic tendencies.

"Striving for effect at the expense of any or all ideals.

"Lack of simplicity.

"Lack of serious application to present or future problems.

"Loss of early ideals through the breaking up of what formerly constituted 'home life.'

"Lack of interest in religious thought."

The President of one of the largest life insurance companies answered:

"In business—

"To succeed. Success means more than mere money; it means the power to advance methods and thereby benefit others.

"Socially—

"An utter contempt for 'society' as that word is usually applied. No especial program that does not aim directly at intellectual and social betterment."

EASTER COMES LATEST IN TWENTY-SEVEN YEARS

Easter Sunday this year will come on just about as late a date as it possibly could, approaching within two days of the extreme limit allowed for that church holiday to fall upon. This year Easter Sunday falls upon April 23rd, the latest Easter has been since 1905, when it was on the same date. Not until 1943 will Easter again come as late in the year and then it will fall upon April 25th—the latest possible date.

Ash Wednesday and Easter Sunday were established by the Council of Nice, A. D. 325, the former to occur 46 days in advance of Easter Sunday and the latter to be fixed by solar and lunar calculations. According to the Niocene laws, Easter day shall occur annually on the first Sunday after the first full moon on or after the vernal equinox, which generally falls on March 21st.

As this indicates the earliest possible date on which Easter may fall is March 23rd. Ash Wednesday this year will occur on March 8th.

Few persons now alive will probably live to see Easter occur again so late except in 1943, as after that year Easter will not be observed as late until the year 2000, when it will fall on April 23.

Another event noteworthy because of its uniqueness this year, is the fact that the year began on Saturday and will end on Sunday. This gives the year fifty-three Saturdays and fifty-three Sundays.

Were it not for the fact that the compilers of the Gregorian calendar provided that centuries not divisible evenly by four should not be leap year this would occur regularly every twenty-eight years. Hence when such a century occurs as did 1900 there is a lapse of forty years between leap years that begin on Saturday and end on Sunday.

THE KIND OF SPRAY NOZZLE TO USE

The selection of the proper nozzle for spraying fruit trees is largely a matter of personal taste. Just as some people might prefer to eat with a fork and others with a spoon and both accomplish the same end, so some people prefer to spray with a Vermorel nozzle while others think that anything but a Bordeaux nozzle indicates bad judgment. The end achieved with either nozzle is the same, namely to transfer the liquid from the spray tank to the tree or bug, even though the means of transportation may vary. However, there are some basic principles underlying the selection of a nozzle, which are not merely matters of conventional form, and these have been explained as follows by Dr. A. L. Melander, entomologist of the Washington Agricultural Experiment station.

It takes a definite amount of material to spray a tree properly, whether applied as a mist or as a spray or whether applied by high or by low pressure. Therefore to be economical in application a nozzle should not be wasteful of time, effort or material. The spray must be applied quickly for the labor cost often amounts to more than the cost of the material used.

It is self-evident that it costs twice as much to spray with a gallon-a-minute nozzle as with a two-gallon nozzle. Some nozzles throw a hollow cone of mist; others project a flat sheet of coarse spray. The latter are popularly regarded as the more wasteful of material, which assumption is based on their greater output. The idea that a tree "peppered" with mist is better protected than one washed with spray is not founded on fact. Much of the liquid from a mist nozzle blows away without reaching the insect and is wasted, while their hollow cone hitting around the mark misses the aim as well as the purpose of the spraying. The nozzle must not be wasteful of material.

Much of the confusion regarding nozzles has resulted from not appreciating the difference in the duties they are to perform. A nozzle intended to give a thin, uniform surface coating over foilage or bark might not answer in driving the spray into the bottom of the calyx cups, into the innermost crevices of rough bark, or behind swollen buds, or in penetrating aphis-curled leaves, or in shooting aside overhanging leaves or fruit to reach the concealments of insects and place the spray in necessary contact with their greasy bodies. To stand up under the hard test of final efficiency a nozzle must have penetrative force. Any kind of nozzle can reach the easy places; but to assure 100 per cent efficiency calls for a Clipper or Bordeaux type of nozzle.

Schools of the County

The next Teachers' examination will be held in Central school, Port Angeles, March 2, 3 and 4, 1916. Fifty per cent of the Theory questions will be based on the course of study as found in the 1915 edition of the State Manual, and twenty per cent on Charter's Teaching the Common Branches; thirty per cent will be general questions. The State Manual questions will be based upon the 1915 edition of the State Manual.

Under date of February 14th the County Superintendent has certified to the Board of County Commissioners the disorganization of district number 20, Clallam county. The reason for the disorganization is that said district number 20, did not maintain six months school during the school year ending June 30, 1915. The territory embraced in district No. 20 and the cash on hand has been divided equally between districts No. 17 and 56.

Requisition has been sent in for 500 copies of the premium list of the State Fair at North Yakima, Washington. Appropriations have been secured from the State Fair Commission with which to establish a Boy's and Girl's camp. The State Superintendent has also appropriated $50 for each county participating to make a showing in the matter of county fairs. It is probable that arrangements can be made with the local fair committee and the County Agriculturist, Mr. McWhorter, to work out a plan for local exhibits with their co-operation and assistance. As soon as the premium lists arrive definite announcements will be made.

The program for the annual meeting of the Western Washington Horticultural Association, to be held in Olympia, February 24 and 25, has been announced by T. O. Morrison, assistant commissioner of agriculture. The program was made out by President R. B. Miller, of Startup, in co-operation with Commissioner Morrison. Many topics, chiefly those on fruit, nursery stock, the school problem in agriculture and horticulture, orcharding and dwarf trees, blight of pomaceous fruits, and a talk on nuts, will be discussed by the association and addressed by the leading authorities on their own particular subjects. Governor Lister will give a talk on the "Standardization of Fruit Products." February 25th, officers will be elected for the ensuing year.

Thurston county has a spud club, formally organized as the Olympia Potato club, the members of which have agreed to expend their spud-growing activities this year, says the Gray's Harbor Washingtonian, on four varieties—the Pride of Multnomah, White Star, Burbank, and Netted Gem. Meetings are held twice a month and any farmer may join who signs the club's contracts relative to the buying and selling of produce.

TO MY FORD

You sturdy steed of wood and steel,
What thrills of conscious joy I feel,
As gazing on your structure free,
Arise the miles you've carried me!—
Not painful miles with aching limbs,
But miles of pleasure, as with the winds,
They talk of the magic rug of old
That bore Aladdin through space so bold;
Of Hermes, courier of great Jove,
Who, through the boundless air did rove;
Of all the rest of ancient lore,
Who conquered time in days of yore:
You're more than they, though you're a dot,
For you are real and they were not.
I crank you up. As I start out,
A humming noise I can make out,
Which says your motor, leal and true,
Still runs as well as when 'twas new.
I press low gear, we start to move,
And that you're right, again I prove.
We pass on out and through the gate
(Which nuisance always makes wait.)
At last we're free and in high gear;
It seems you've been confined a year;
So bold you try to break away,
In spite of rain, this winter's day.
I check your speed with the little lever,
Then we ride on so blithe together.
Now swift along the road we soar,
Avoiding ruts and mud galore;
For I admit, on such a hike,
Such things as these, you do not like.
But you go through in spite of all,
And then, when good roads to us befall,
You get the gas, your speed is doubled;
For we can go when we're not troubled
By ruts and mud and teams in the way
With loads of wood and loads of hay.
But all the world's agreed, it seems,
To check your speed by every means.
Yet just one thing may give the rear view—
Another machine, the same as you.
A long hill there! "My pet, can you
Go up that hill on high gear too?"
"Give me gas and see me try;
I'll climb that hill or know just why."
So up you go; but, at the top,
To take a rest you never stop.
Faster you go. "As if it could be,
A hill like that could ever tire me."
And thus we fly o'er plains and hills,
Through woods, through towns, o'er tracks, o'er rills;
Each turn of the wheel brings something new,
And changes the ever-changing view.
Now sad we near our journey's end;
"Oh please, don't me, to the garage send;
I've just warmed up on this short flight;
I'd like to run till late tonight."
But, when I think of my lack of gas,
"No, no, my pet, this is the last;
Just now, at least, I'll put you 'way,
But we'll be out again some day."
A turn of a switch, your voice is still,
To sound again with my mind and will.
You noble and wonderful chariot of steel,
Controlled by a lever or turn of a wheel;
You're more than steel, for in you I can see
The dreams of ten centuries, wrapped up in thee;
The work, thoughts and hopes of the ages long past,
Now brought into full realization at last,
In the realm of machinery, you are the last word,
And love you, I do, though you're only a Ford.

—Lester Sweet.

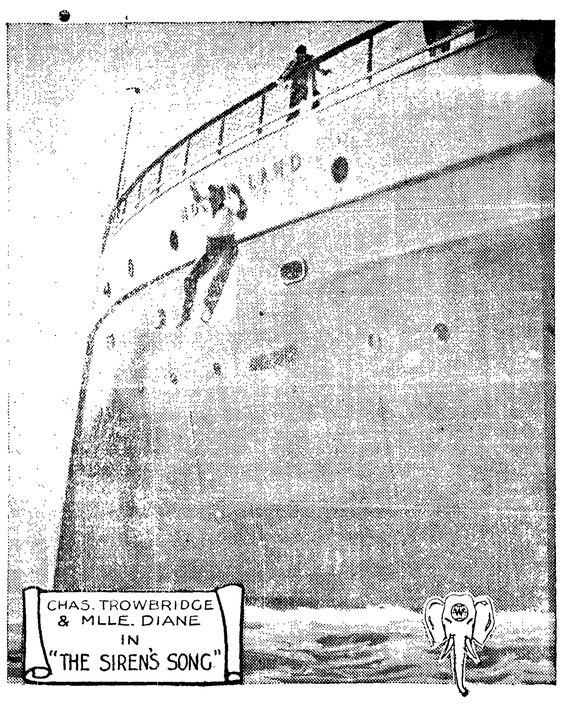
STAR THEATER



"The Siren's Song"

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 23rd

FINAL TOUCHES BEING PUT ON TOUCHDOWN

The final touches to the delightful operetta, The Touchdown, are being put on by the talented youngsters of the high school tonight, so that everything will be in readiness for the opening scene at the opera house tomorrow evening. The stage is undergoing a complete change and the scenery is being installed, the most of which was kindly loaned to the high school by the Nattinger Hardware Co. Every ticket in the house is sold and the play, it is believed, will be the best that local people have witnessed for a long time, even though it is acted by "home-made talent."

The students have practiced hard for many weeks to make a success of the playlet, and want this one to excell all previous plays. Miss Elsie English, of the high school faculty, put the pupils through the preliminary training and deserves much credit for her untiring efforts. Miss Helen Redington assisted in putting on the finishing touches of the play and in giving the proper effective interpretation.

While we know that Frank Dann will be the one big scream in his ponderous love affair, you will find it a hard problem to single out any one pupil who has not made good.

An orchestra accompaniment of local talent has also been obtained and consists of a company of young violinists from the high school. The orchestra will be directed by Mr. Lyman Johnson, the exceptionally fine pianist, whose services are always in great demand.

The following program gives a complete list of the players and the parts they take in the breezy playlet, which you cannot fail to witness.

Cast of Characters: Grant Hayden, Oral Freeman; Robert Hayden, Prescott Ulmer; Alfred Wolfe, James Clarke; Gene Clarke, Harold Dodge; Junius Brooks, Frank Dann; Henry Sumner, Rueben Dickinson; George Holman, Norman Nelson; Frank Mitchell, Oliver Mitchell; Watassa Faulkner, Marcella Schweitzer; Rena Maynard, Florence Gehrke; Margery Carson, Lavina Graybill; Dollie Sylvester, Ellen Finch; Evelyn (Echo) Sylvester, Eva McMullen; Priscilla Parmalee, Geraldine Gilbert.

READING CLUB ENJOYS MUSICAL PROGRAM

The Port Angeles Reading club enjoyed a very pleasant musical program last Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Troy. Interesting sketches of the lives of some of the great American musical composers were read by the hostess, and a number of selections from their works were given on the piano by Mrs. F. T. Hyde. An excellent paper on the great American song writers was then read by Mrs. Troy, who intersperced it with a number of vocal selections, Mrs. Hyde playing her accompaniments. An interesting article on the value of music was read by Mrs. Webster, all the ladies agreeing with the author that "music washes away from the soul the dust of every day life" by luring the thoughts away from such cares. Some time was spent in a discussion of plans for a suitable program for "Baby Week." It was finally decided to get a speaker from Seattle and all the clubs of the city be invited to participate. The next regular meeting of the club will be March 4 at the home of Mrs. W. A. Stoval. when a special program will be provided and each member may bring a guest. The meeting with Mrs. Geisness has been postponed until Mrs. Burkholder will be able to give her paper.

WHIST TOURNAMENT FOR BENEFIT PUBLIC LIBRARY

The trustees of the P. A. Public Library Association held their regular monthly meeting at the library room Tuesday afternoon. The librarian's report was very encouraging, but strange as it may seem it shows that the library is far better patronized by the new people of the town than by the older residents. Twenty dollars was voted toward the purchasing of new books. which will be bought from local dealers if possible. Donations of books are always very acceptable, whether new or old. as the association has had very little money to expend in books the past year. Some members are behind in the payment of their yearly subscription dues and all are urged to pay up as soon as possible as the funds are very low at present. For the benefit of the library fund a whist tournament will be given in the very near future.

Thursday, night, February 24th. Don't miss it. Reserved seats, 35c. General Admission twenty-five cents. Seats may be reserved at Mathewson's. But don't delay. Reserved seats are almost all sold. The play is too good to miss. Get your ticket at once before the house is sold out.

Garden Tools

Did you know that, with snow still on the ground on the sheltered side of buildings and shrubbery down near the waterfront, and covering the landscape like a blanket only a few blocks back --- did you know that people are already making garden? They are, and the early sower will pick the first bouquets of sweet peas and have the first homegrown peas and potatoes. All of which leads us to remark that we have an especially complete line of garden tools, including everything from a wheelbarrow to a trowel. You save labor and time by using good tools, and money by buying them at
