THE LOCAL OBSERVANCE OF NATIONAL BABY WEEK

MRS. DAVIES, SEATTLE, THE PRINCIPAL SPEAKER

Everybody loves a baby, and the people of Port Angeles are no exception. The club ladies who have undertaken to observe in a small way "National Baby Week," by having a public program and demonstration at the High School auditorium next Saturday afternoon, have met with encouragement and success on every hand. The mayor and health officers, the doctors, lawyers and merchants, the school board and school instructors, the ministers, bankers and farmers, and last, but not least, the press, have all voiced their approval and offered their assistance. Now let every mother turn out next Saturday afternoon and show her enthusiasm and interest in this great campaign of preparedness, along the lines that will enable us to materially raise the standard of our citizenship in the years to come.

Superintendent White and the school board have turned the new Central school building over to the mothers and their children for the day. In the domestic science department Miss Pazandak, with a corps of young lady assistants, will serve tea and wafers. Here also will be a supply of fresh milk from the Angeles Dairy, kindly donated by Mr. Ustler in case some of the babies might get hungry. The hospital room on the first floor will be used as a nursery with a competent woman in charge, to look after the babies.

Mrs. Elizabeth Davies of Seattle, field nurse for the Washington Association for the Prevention and Relief of Tuberculosis, will be the principal speaker of the day. Mrs. Davies cancelled her appointments at Spokane and Walla Walla so that she might be able to come to Port Angeles and lend her assistance in this great work for better babies. Mrs. Davies received her training as a nurse in England and had many years' experience in hospital work before she became interested in the great work she is now doing. Her talk Saturday will be on "Better Health for Our Babies," and will be full of human interest. Every mother and father should hear it.

Mrs. Burkholder will open the program with a talk on "Purpose of Baby Week." Those who have been fortunate enough to have heard Mrs. Burkholder speak on her experiences on child welfare work will realize that this talk will be one of the most interesting on the program.

Another feature will be the demonstration work by Miss Glenn, a graduate nurse of the Minor hospital, Seattle. Dr. Hibbs of the Sequim hospital will explain the demonstrative work.

The subjects for discussion by our local physicians will be "Prenatal Care," "Feeding and Nutrition," "Sanitation," and "Children's Diseases.' Music suitable for the occassion will be given by members of the Musical Club.

Most people consider aviation as an extremely dangerous occupation. So it is, but it is far less dangerous than another that everyone must follow at some period of his or her life. Today the most dangerous occupation in the world is that of being a baby. Out of all babies born in America, from 1 in 12 will die before 1 year old

THE BABY

By Whittier

Where did you come from, baby dear?
Out of the everywhere into the here.

Where did you get your eyes so blue?
Out of the sky as I came through.

What makes the light in them sparkle and spin?
Some of the starry spikes left in.

Where did you get that little tear?
I found it waiting when I got here.

What makes your forehead so smooth and high?
A soft hand stroked it as I went by.

What makes your cheek like a warm white rose?
Something better than any one knows.

Whence that three cornered smile of bliss?
Three angels gave me at once a kiss.

Where did you get that pearly ear?
God spoke, and it came out to hear.

Where did you get those arms and hands?
Love made itself into hooks and bands.

Feet, whence did you come, you darling things?
From the same box as the cherub's wings.

Ho wdid they all just come to be you?
God thought about me, and so I grew.

But how did you come to us, you dear?
God thought of you, and so I am here.

A MESSAGE TO THE MOTHERS

"Better Parents, Better Babies, Better State," the New Slogan for Washington.

"The observance of Baby Week is an expedient for securing attention to facts about the needs of babies which are well known by scientific authorities and which if popularized will greatly reduce the loss of infant life thruout the country," writes Miss Julia Lathrop, chief of the Children's Bureau at Washington, who, with Mrs. Pennypacker, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, originated and supervised the nation-wide movement for the education of mothers, fathers and the public generally in the rearing of babies.

At the open meeting of the P. A. Reading club last Friday afternoon, Mrs. H. M. Brock, as her part of the program, read a collection of short poems by some of her favorite American writers, prefacing the reading of the last one, the above beautiful little sonnet, by saying that the author is well known to most of us. That about twenty years ago, when something of a literary critic herself, she had cut from a magazine this poem and a picture of the author, then a handsome youth of noble countenance. From the poem and the appearance of the young man, she pictured for him in her mind a bright future in the literary world. Is he hiding his light under a bushel?

Health authorities unite in saying that what is now needed is public interest to put into operation methods for infant welfare which are well ascertained and tested. Behind this movement are twenty-nine national organizations including the General Federation of Women's Clubs with its 2,000,000 members. Medical societies which are teaching the care that will not only save lives but develop stronger children, are included among these organiations. Almost all the Baby Week programs are devoted to babies less than one year old.

Although this is the first year when a nation-wide movement of this sort has been inaugurated, there have been Baby Weeks these past few years in several of the larger cities. However, the infant demonstration that is now being arranged is not only much greater in scope than these former Baby Weeks, but is also a much more highly systematized and organized affair. It is the first concerted movement for the proper rearing of children which has ever taken place in this or any other country.

Two thousand communities have responded to the federal call; and it is believed that 10,000 such observances will be held. As there are only 599 towns of over 10,000 population, it is evident that more than half the places must be in the small town class: The celebrations are taking place in every state and every type of community from the largest cities to smallest hamlets.

In this connection the Washington State Baby-Week Committee sends out the following:

Message to the Mothers of State of Washington.

The greatest source of joy in life is the "investment" of ourselves in other lives. It is for this reason that Parenthood is the greatest joy which may come to life. To be the "Father of the Race" has been esteemed a special privilege. To become the "Mother" has come to mean both a privilege and responsibility.

Make your great "Mother love" and uncertain instinct become loving and intelligent insight.

"To NURSE BABY is your first DUTY—MOTHER'S MILK is the ONE PERFECT INFANT FOOD."

"Even the smallest amount of maternal milk is worth while to the baby. If only one or two nursings a day, it is much better than nothing, especially through the first three months, which is far the most critical period of life." The cases in which maternal nursings are really impossible are very rare."

"The majority of mothers can nurse their babies, at least in part, if they have suitable care and advice. What is chiefly required is that this conviction should enter the mind of the mother and abide there; for fear that she will not be able to perform this function, or that the milk will not or does not agree with her child, has more to do with the supposed inability to nurse than any other one factor. The gland which secretes maternal milk is a wonderful and delicate mechanism. So intimate is the connection of the mammary nerves with the mind that the mental states of the mother are readily reflected in their function. Fear, anger, or worry may serve to check the secretion of the milk, or to change its quality so much that, for the time being, it is unfit for use, while on the other hand a calm mind, joy, laughter and delight in life, coupled with the desire and intention to nurse the baby, will make

BETTER BABIES THRU BETTER CARE

Remarks Upon the Proper Feeding of Babies Under Two Years Old.

By Dr. F. T. Hyde.

The above is a slogan that should have been sounded years ago, because thousands of little lives have been needlessly sacrificed through ignorance of parents, which could have been saved had this campaign been started earlier. Apart from the accidents and injuries attendant upon birth, a majority of these deaths are due to entirely preventable causes—I am speaking now of children in the first two years of life.

One of the chief causes of death is improper feeding. As I have gone about in the practice of medicine for 18 years I have been shocked to see what food parents will give their children. In many cases it is virtually poison. The main article of diet for a child under two years of age should be milk, and then more milk.

Beginning with birth a baby should have the mothers milk. This is its natural food and in every case where the mother is physically sound and her milk good, the baby should have nothing else, except water. The tendency of many young mothers to object to nursing their offspring is greatly to be deplored, because no other food can satisfy a baby's constitutional demands as can the mother's milk. The objection that many mothers offer, that they can not attend to their social duties or pleasures if they nurse their babies, is criminal in its tendencies and should be condemned by all right thinking persons.

Rarely it happens that for good reasons a mother can not or should not nurse her infant, and some substitute must be provided. What shall it be?

In the very great majority of cases there is only one answer and that is fresh cow's milk properly modified. There is no proprietary food, or condensed or canned milk made that will suit the average baby so well, or even be so easily modified as cow's milk. Because a baby lives, or even gets fat enough to have its picture taken as an advertisement for some particular brand of so-called "baby food," is no sign that the baby is thriving. Simply getting fat is no criterion for saying that a baby is doing as well as it should. Mothers are too prone to compare their baby aim to prove to compare their baby with some friend's baby and judge it accordingly. This is entirely wrong. Each baby is an individual entity, and must be fed and treated as such.

Beginning a few hours after birth the baby should be put to the breast, and then fed regularly every 2 or 2½ hours during the hours from 6 a. m. to 9 p. m., and once or twice between 9 p. m. and 6 a. m. They should also have about 2 ounces of water in the twenty-four hours. A baby started thus, will sleep properly at night and not keep the family awake. And here I want to say that a baby should NOT be completely undressed and bathed each day during its first week of life. It is entirely needless, and to completely undress, bathe and redress a baby

WHEN the Creator had made all the good things, there was still some dirty work to do, so He made the beasts and reptiles and poisonous insects, and when He had finished, He had some scraps that were too bad to put into the Rattle Snake, the Hyena, the Scorpion, and the Skunk, so He put all these together, covered it with suspicion, wrapped it with jealousy, marked it with a yellow streak, and called it a KNOCKER. This product was so fearful to contemplate that He had to make something to counteract it, so He took a sunbeam and put it in the heart of a child, the brain of a man, wrapped these in civic pride, covered it with brotherly love, gave it a mask of velvet and a grasp of steel and called it a BOOSTER; made him a lover of fields and flowers and manly sports, a believer in equality and justice, and ever since these two were, mortal man has had the privilege of choosing his associates. : : :

A wise suggestion to city, county and school district authorities thruout the state, which have outstanding warrants on which they are paying interest of five per cent or more, is made by W. W. Sherman, deputy state treasurer. Mr. Sherman suggests that the present market for bonds is so favorable that these taxing districts can issue bonds at interest rates lower than five per cent, and take up their warrants, thereby saving a margin of from one to three per cent on their indebtedness. The same opportunity exists for refunding old bond issues which are drawing high rates of interest.

In a recent interview the deputy state treasurer points out that money is very plentiful in the bond market, looking for good investment at the lowest interest rate prevailing in many years. The state itself, which invests school funds in municipal bonds, has been obliged to lower the rate of interest it receives, because of competition by private interests for the available bonds. Many taxing districts have warrants or bonds outstanding on which they are paying interest from five to eight per cent, with no immediate prospect of retiring the issues. If they can refund this indebtedness at a rate of interest about four per cent, it will mean a large saving to the taxpayers for some years to come. Mr. Sherman's suggestion has already been adopted in Tacoma, where about $160,000 of indebtedness is to be refunded by issuing bonds at lower rates of interest. Incidentally the observations of the deputy treasurer indicate a hopeful condition for investment of capital in western lands and industries.

The efforts of prosperity to benefit the lumber industry of the Northwest have met a handicap in the shape of car shortage, and for the first time in some years the mills have new orders coming in faster than they can cut lumber, and also faster than they can secure cars for shipment. They have petitioned the Interstate Commerce Commission for relief from the car shortage situation. The rush of business in the east has diverted freight cars to the number of 64,000 from western roads to points east of Chicago. When it is remembered that fully 75,000 loaded cars are tied up at Atlantic terminals waiting discharge to ships, with no ships available, it is easy to see why cars are not available for all the western demand. Orders for about 130,000 freight cars were placed by American railroads during 1915, but of course they cannot be filled instantly, and the relief will be slow. Meanwhile lumber and shingles are going up in price, and if the manufacturers can secure means of delivery, the new orders will be a great boon to the industry in the Northwest.

Incidental to this improved lumber trade, the shingle interests of the Northwest have united in an advertising campaign, using the trademark "Rite-Grade," and are advertising the red cedar shingle thruout the United States. Competition with patent roofing has taught the shingle men the absolute need of intelligent advertising if they want to keep their markets.

Republican clubs have recently been organized by members of the party in various cities of the state and are getting ready for active work in their localities. Those organized so far are modeled, in a general way, after the Young Men's Republican club of King county, which now numbers more than 3,000 active members and is recognized as a power in both political and state politics. The officers of the Republican state committee are doing all in their power to encourage organization thruout the state and are ready to give information to the Republicans of any locality who may desire to bring their forces together for organized work. Strong clubs were started last week in Chehalis and Centralia, and others are being formed in Southwestern Washington. The state committee is in hope that organizations will be perfected in many other towns by the time the state convention assembles at North Yakima on May 6.

DUNGENESS LOGGING CAMP MOVES AND ENLARGES

The Dungeness Logging Company has practically completed the moving of their camp to a point on McDonald creek, five miles south of its present site, where they have a large body of timber.

The company have added another entire logging equipment to their present outfit, including locomotive, rolling stock, etc, also a large, new donkey engine, and will operate on a larger scale than ever before.

This year they will run three sides, whereas heretofore they have run only two. The camp will employ one hundred men.—Sequim Press.

PAPER INDUSTRY HARDEST HIT OF ANY BY WAR

Because the manufacture of war munitions in the United States is usurping the markets for all raw materials used in the production of paper, that industry today is facing a situation unprecedented in its history. The cost of all grades of paper to the jobber has increased from 20 to 50 per cent and there are many varieties which are unobtainable at any price. Prospects for further advances are forseen by dealers.

This was the information given this morning by W. B. Reynolds, manager of the Richmond Paper Company.

In showing the great increase in the cost of producing paper, Reynolds quotes figures representing the advance in price of the component parts of paper. Casein, used in coating book covers and heavy card boards, has advanced 300 to 400 per cent in price. Alum, used in the preparation, is up 200 per cent. Soda ash, another necessity to the manufacturing process, is 300 and 400 per cent higher and bleached sulphides, used in cheap paper, have increased 100 to 150 per cent.

Analine dyes, formerly 40 cents a pound to manufacturers, have gone to $20 a pound. This is making it difficult to obtain colored papers of any variety. Bleach which formerly was obtainable by American manufacturers, at 1½ cents a pound, can not be obtained at any price.

Reynolds says the use of rags in munitions manufacture has caused England and Canada to place an embargo on their exportation Sulphides and pulp are also practically inaccessable to American paper makers. There are several European clays and pulps which are used in fancy papers that are entirely cut off from the market of this country.

BE ON YOUR GUARD FELLERS

Editor Cora B. Wanamaker of the Rock Springs Rocket, issues fair warning and directs attention to the law in the following clipped from her excellent editorial column.

"The custom which ordains that a woman may propose marriage to a man in leap year dates back seven or eight hundred years. An act of Scottish parliment, passed about the year 1228, made it a crime punishable by a fine for an unattached man to refuse to become the life partner of a woman who had the courage to 'speak ye mon she liked!'

"The custom in a milder form is referred to in a work published in 1606, entitled 'Courtship, Love and Matrimony.'

"'Albeit it has now become a part of the common lawe in regarde to social relations of life that as often as every bissextile year doth return the ladies have the sole privilege during the time it continueth of making love unto the men, which they doe either by wordes or by lookes, as to them if seemeth proper; and, more over, no man shall be entitled to the benefit of clergy who doth in any wise treat her proposal with slight or contumely.'"—Laramie Republican.

The state supreme court has cleared up a foolish muddle by declaring the commission merchant law, passed in 1907, invalid. The law sought to license and bond commission merchants, and regulate their business. It was thrown out by the court on the grounds that its terms are indefinite and that it provided punishment for violating clauses which are not understandable or capable of interpretation.

The law was passed after a lot of agitation in Seattle by newspapers, which claimed that commission men were making big profits on fruit and vegetables, while paying little to the growers. If the conditions alleged were true at that time, most of them have been remedied, so far as the consumer is concerned, by the public markets, which get fresh produce into the hands of the city folks at very reasonable rates. The farmers will probably never be quite satisfied with what the commission merchants do for them, but they now have a chance to propose a careful, workable and simple law to the next legislature, if they have need for specific relief at law. The nine years of litigation over the old law indicates the folly of passing one hastily drawn on a wave of excited agitation, and leaving the courts to straighten it out afterwards.

Ladies that send their laundry to be Rough Dried at the Angeles Steam Laundry are always satisfied. Look at the prices—twenty-five cents per dozen. Phone 10.

"There is no good reason why prices in Port Angeles in staple articles should be five or ten per cent higher than in Seattle. If anything prices here should be lower. This is one of the conditions which make for mail order trade.—Herald, March 6th.

WHERE THE MONEY IS GOING

Investigation of the cause of the increase in the cost of maintain the common schools in this state shows that a large per cent is due to the growing demand for vocational training quarters and fireproof equipment. Another source of increase is found in the permanent, fireproof structures that are being erected not only for school purposes but to be used as community centers. Instead of keeping the schools open about six hours five days a week, those modern plants are used by the community seven days and part of the nights. Father and mother and the big brothers and sisters are as much interested in the school as the enrolled pupils themselves.

Observation of the effect on the community of these modern school plants is tnat it is beneficial both from the moral and economic standpoint. The boy who becomes muddled in the intricacies of English analysis or flounders hopelessly in the conjugation of verbs, now finds an outlet for his activities in the vocational training classes.

Under the old regime he would have been considered a hopeless case and nine times out of ten lived up to the reputation. The girl who is bored with modern languages and higher mathematics finds facilities that make her a model housewife. The gymnasium and swimming pool of the modern school plant offer strong attractions for the older boys who work during the day. Many a pool room and cafe has gone out of business because of the competition of the modern school.

All this costs money, of course, but isn't the result worth it? The evidence is all on the side of the affirmative.—Tacoma News.

it possible to do so. Failing this spirit, all other measures may prove futile."—("Infant Care," Federal Children's Bureau.)

Have your BABY'S BIRTH REGISTERED at the Health Department. A certificate of birth will be necessary for school attendance, going to work, inheritance and citizenship .

CLEANLINESS in and about the home is even more important to the Baby than to the adults. Baby cannot protect itself from dust, dirt and flies. The conditions which favor growth of flies should be done away with.—(See Farmers' Bulletin No. 485, "House Flies.") Nothing short of a CLEAN MILK SUPPLY and a PURE WATER SUPPLY for EVERYBODY is the ideal. The Baby needs fresh air and sunlight as much as any plant.

Babies who are PROPERLY FED, KEPT CLEAN and have PLENTY OF SLEEP and FRESH AIR, and who have been trained in regular habits of life, have no cause for being "bad" and are therefore "good."

"Harsh punishment has no place in the proper unbringing of the Baby. A Baby knows nothing of right or wrong, but follows his natural inclinations. If these lead him in the wrong direction the mother must be at hand to guide him in another and better one, and to divert his eager interest and his energy into wholesome and normal directions. This is the GOLDEN RULE in the training of babies, and one which applies to the training of children of all ages." ("Infant Care," Federal Children's Bureau.)

"Remember that the period of infancy is a period of EDUCATION often of greater consequence than any other two years of life. Not only are all the organs and functions given their primary education, but the faculties of the mind as well receive those initial impulses that determine very largely their direction and efficiency through life." ("Infant Care.")

All babies need "mothering," and plenty of it, but healthy babies are better off with a judicious amount of "letting alone."

Babies NEED and LOVE "FATHERING" as well as "MOTHERING." Allow the "Dear Daddy" his full privilege and responsibility in the "care and culture of the Baby, and 'Parenthood' begins in full 'CO-OPERATION,' and that should 'begin at home.' "

The spirit of perfect SELF-CONTROL, expressed in PEACEFUL JOY and PLAY is the greatest conserver of Infant life. "Example" is more than precept." No mother should expect of the LITTLE CHILD the SELF-CONTROL through CHEERFUL OBEDIENCE, unless she expresses this in her daily life.

The supreme joy of woman comes in Motherhood—and the great joy of MOTHERHOOD comes in the highest development of the child. This necessitates an intelligent mother. Every mother should send to the "Federal Children's Bureau," Washington, D. C., and have her name placed upon the regular mailing list. Ask especially for "Pre-Natal Care" and "Infant Care."

Every mother should also read—

"A Study of Child Nature," by Elizabeth Harrison.

"A Mother's Ideals," by Andrea Hofer Proudfoot.

"Children's Rights," by Kate Douglas Wiggin.

"Natural Education," by Winnifred Sackville Stoner.

"No man liveth to himself, and no man dieth to himself." Community action is more important now than ever before in the preservation of the lives of babies. Mothers must recognize their VITAL RESPONSIBILITY and ACT TOGETHER to preserve the purity of the milk, water and food supply, the cleanliness of the streets and alleys, and the disposal of waste.

"Infant mortality is the most sensitive index we possess of social welfare and of sanitary administration. —Sir Arthur Newsholme.

"We are old only when we lose the vision of childhood."

"I see in EVERY CHILD the POSSIBILITY of a perfect man."—Froebel.

In many cases mothers think even with very young babies they should add some other article of food to the milk. This is a mistake. Up to 8 months of age the healthy baby needs only one addition to its diet other than milk, and that is water!

A baby is neither a rattle nor a moving picture show and should not be treated as a legitimate source of amusement for the neighborhood and family.

that is not getting any or very little food, (because the milk does not usually come in sufficient quantities until after the third day), is taxing its strength very severely. I have noticed that many babies that are not daily tubbed in the first week, hold their birth weight much better and are not so "fussy."

But we will grant that the baby has, despite its handicaps, reached its first anniversary. What shall we feed it now? Again the answer is milk mostly.

To this may be added orange juice, but not within two hours of taking milk, barley or other cereal gruel, meat juice, chicken or mutton broth, and soft boiled eggs.

The great majority of children are given solid food too early and in too large quantities.

After the child is 18 months old we may add cautiously zwieback, crisp toast, educator and graham crackers. A little thoroughly cooked fruit, such as baked, scraped apple, prunes or figs may also be carefully given. Potato and other vegetables should be kept until after the second year. Also raw fruit.

Space however, will not permit us to write any more, but before I stop I would suggest that all mothers should have a copy of one or more of the many good books now available on the proper feeding, dressing and care of young children.

"BABY WEEK' AND 'BABY YEAR"

This is "Better Baby Week." This week is being celebrated throughout the United States in an effort to educate the people in the means whereby their children may be made stronger, happier, better citizens.

Spasmodic efforts produce spasmodic results. During this "Baby Week," many mothers will learn ways and means by which the health of their children may be improved and protected. This knowledge will become permanent property of these particular mothers. However, there are three thousand babies born every month in the state of Washington. Where are these new mothers to get the information that is being promulgated during this single week? If a week of teaching is justifiable, is not constant teaching justifiable. Our boys are being taught manual training in our schools and much money is being expended in manual training departments. Our girls are being taught domestic science and much money is being expended in our domestic science departments, but do these domestic science departments include that most important of all domestic functions—the care of the baby? This feature should certainly be included in our school curriculum and the department thrown open not only to the children of the higher grades in our schools but to the parents of these children, because these parents have never been given such teaching.

One of the features that will be brought out in most of the localities conducting a "Better Baby Week" campaign, is the importance of a pure milk supply. The question will be discussed and ways and means of securing such a pure supply will be considered, but if the "Better Baby" campaign is to end with a single week's efforts, the milk supply will be improved in very few localities.

Why adjourn these efforts at the end of a single week? On the other hand, why not make this "Better Baby Year" in Washington? Let everyone of us work together for better babies in this state for one year, and at the end of the year take stock of the results of these efforts and if improvement is not shown we know it has not been a profitable business. If improvement is shown the business will naturally continue.—Bulletin Washington State Board of Health.

SPOKANE TRUST COMPANY TAKES OPTION ON BOND ISSUE

Joseph Tyler, of the Spokane & Eastern Trust Company, of Spokane Washington, appeared last night before the city council and asked the city for a ten day option for his company on the $30,000 light bond issue, which was turned down by the Toledo company two weeks ago. Following is the agreement, which was satisfactory to the council, and the option given:

That city give the Spokane & Eastern Trust Company an option to be accepted on or before ten days for $30,000 face value of the city of Port Angeles 6 per cent revenue light bonds to be dated January first, 1916, due serially as follows: $2,000 on December 31, 1921, $2,000 on each succeeding December 31st thereafter until paid total issues to be due 20 years from date at $30,760 together with accrued interest at the rate of 6 per cent from January 1st, 1916, to date of delivery of these bonds to said Spokane & Eastern Trust company, free of other expense, in Spokane. This option is also based on an understanding of the following conditions:

First. That said Trust company furnish blank bonds free of expense to the city. Second. That Trust company is to be furnished a certified copy of all proceedings incident to the issue, they to defray all costs of attorney fees and examination of such proceedings. Third. That all matters relating to this issue shall be satisfactory to Trust company and attorneys. Fourth. In the acceptance of this offer it is understood and agreed between us that the city council will pass an ordinance awarding these bonds to Spokane & Eastern Trust Company at the price quoted above stated and will also pass an ordinance providing for the establishment of a sinking fund to be known as "The Electric Light System Bond Sinking Fund" into which the city pledges itself to deposit on the 30th day of June and the 31st day of December of each year during the lifetime of these bonds a sum equal to 20 per cent of the gross revenues and receipts of the electric lighting plant and system of the city of Port Angeles for the six months period immediately preceeding. Fifth. That the city of Port Angeles pledges itself to use such sinking fund solely as follows: First. For the retirement of the bonds of this issue in numerical order under the terms of retirement incorporated in the authorization of this issue or for the purpose of purchasing the bonds of this issue in the open market at market prices, if such prices are acceptable to the city council or sinking fund committee having control of these funds.

It is understood that this option takes effect March 7, 1916, and is in full effect up to and including March 17th, 1916 and it is further understood and agreed on our part that a telegram or letter of acceptance will constitute an acceptance.

It is also understood upon receipt of acceptance that Trust company will forward to city of Port Angeles immediately a certified check for $1,500 to be held by city and used as part payment on the purchase of these bonds upon delivery to Trust company and in the event that said bonds are sold elsewhere said check will be returned to Trust company immediately.

MYSTERIOUS SAFE CHANGES ITS OWN COMBINATION

A large and heavy safe, belonging to James Fitzgerald, the butcher, which has been used to hold the daily and weekly receipts of that business for many years, proved a mystery to the meat man last week when he found that the safe had changed its own combination and refused to open. The end of the week came and Mr. Fitzgerald, who wanted to post the books, found he would have to send to Seattle to get a safe expert. But as luck would have it, one of the boys of the family, who had changed the combination accidentally, managed to open it. The business proceeded under its regular routine, and statements were mailed to the debtors of the meat man.

There are certain other things that are very important for the baby.

The baby needs fresh air—night and day—just as much as it needs food.

McWHORTER POINTS OUT NEEDS OF FARMER IN THIS COUNTY

President Callarman introduced Mr. McWhorter county agriculturist, who delivered a forty-minute address on the subject of farm and city cooperation to stimulate both the business of the farms and the business of the city. He said that the three chief needs of improvement in farming in Clallam county are: First, better dairy cows and more home-grown feed for livestock; second, establishing a system of crop rotation, and third, standardizing livestock, vegetables, grains and fruits according to most favorable kinds and demands of the markets. Another highly important problem is to get money on long-time loans at low interest rates. Business men should help the farmers get rural mail delivery; it improves farming and business. A local public market would vastly and immediately improve the quality, grading and preparation of products offered for sale, and like the county fair it would be an agricultural school.

Dr. Lewis delivered an interesting address in which he suggested that unimproved lands in excess of one section per owner should be listed for taxation by the owner at a valuation fixed by said owner and that the state should be empowered to condemn such land for sale at a price ten per cent in excess of the owner's valuation as listed for assessment. This would do away with the bugaboo of inflated values of logged-off lands. Then it would be wise constructive policy for the state to create a farm loan fund by bonding the state to the amount of perhaps $15,000,000. All this could be accomplished without ultimate cost to the state.

In a letter to Senator Poindexter, dated February 16, 1916, First Assistant Postmaster General Daniel C. Rogers stated that while Port Angeles with postal receipts of $14,906 for the year ended June 30, 1915 was entitled to free city delivery, no action would be taken before the city provides sidewalks throughout the district to be served. Postmaster F. S. Lewis said that ordinarily in a city of this size three carriers could cover the city, but the inspector who was here last December found that five would be required, owing to the scattered residential districts. He said also that, while the salaries of carriers alone would foot up to $3,200, the receipts from box rents would be reduced at least $1,000 annually, so that the income of the office would not justify more than three carriers. It is contemplated, however, to try to formulate rural and city delivery system.

A letter from the Alaska Bureau of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce transmitting a map showing the marine wreck history of Alaskan waters, was read and filed.

A letter from Trick & Murray Seattle printers and bookbinders, offering the services of that concern gratis when in need of a personal representative in Seattle, was read and filed.

The Stephens national defense highway bill, H. R. 3667, was read and discussed, but it was thought unwise to take action for or against the measure, a strictly national project, to construct 10,000 miles of military highway, appropriating $100,000,000.

After discussion, the secretary was authorized and directed to act for the club in support of the effort to eliminate the $17.50 differential passenger tariff enacted by the Southern and Southwestern railroads on traffic bound for the Pacific coast when destined to Puget Sound.

Letters from Congressman Lin H. Hadley and W. E. Humphrey, relative to pending house bills endorsed by the Club were read and ordered filed.

A letter from Managing Secretary G. C. Corbaley of the Spokane Chamber of Commerce, asking co-operation in its efforts to suggest a more effective, economical and efficient system of county government, was read and referred to the Board of Directors.

No action was taken relative to a communication from Lee McKenzie of the Washington Surveying and Rating Bureau, requesting attentive interest in the Bureau's publication, Fire Facts, as a means of reducing fire dangers and consequently insurance rates in this state.

No action was taken relative to the invitation specially extended to the executive officer of the Club, and generally to all its members, to attend the inauguration of President Henry Suzzallo of the University of Washington, March 20 and 21, 1916.

OWNERS PROTEST USE OF STREETS FOR PUBLIC MARKET

The council met in regular session last evening and transacted a large order of business. Mayor Walton was absent, Councilman H. M. Fisher occupying the chair.

An ordinance, placed on its initial readings and referred to the ordinance committee and city attorney, would authorize the mayor and city clerk to issue bonds against the special fund of local improvement district No. 33, to pay the cost and expense of the improvement authorized under ordinance No. 496, entitled "an ordinance ordering the construction of a trunk sewer on Francis street from Railroad avenue to the alley between Seventh and Eighth streets and certain lateral or subsewers leading thereto in the city of Port Angeles, the adoption of the plans and specifications and the payment thereof by the mode of payment by bonds" approved May 5th, 1915; prescribing the rate of interest on said bonds and for their sale and delivery.

An ordinance creating a fund to be known and designated as the Road & Bridge Fund for the deposit and payment of funds or moneys annually remitted by the county treasurer of Clallam county, State of Washington to the city clerk, of the 15 per cent of all money collected by said county for the general road and bridge fund of said county in the city of Port Angeles in accordance with the provisions of chapter 171 of the laws of 1915 of the State of Washington and to provide for the use of the same as required by said law, was placed on its initial readings and referred to the

LINCOLN HEIGHTS SCHOOL BUILDING WHOLLY INADEQUATE FOR POPULATION

The school board and patrons of the Lincoln Heights school held a joint meeting at the Lincoln Heights school Tuesday evening for the purpose of talking over what was best to be done about the overcrowded conditions of the school rooms. The building is not near large enough to properly accomodate the large number of pupils and the basement has had to be pressed into service.

The parents strenuously object to additions on to the present building as they do not consider it much more than a fire trap now and really unsafe as well as none too sanitary.

The consensus of opinion at the meeting seemed to be that a new brick or cement building was a public necessity, and it was unanimously decided to hold a mass meeting at the high school auditorium Tuesday evening, March 21st, for the purpose of getting a public expression of the matter and talking up a bond issue.

FLOYD MC GOFF PASSED AWAY AT MONROE, THE RESULT OF AN OPERATION

A telegram received by Mrs. Pete McGoff Sunday, March 5, told of the death of Mr. McGoff's son Floyd, at Monroe, at 7 o'clock that morning, as a result of an operation for appendicitis. The letter which followed the telegram said that Floyd had practically recovered from the operation and that death was caused by an attack of acute dilation of the stomach. Letters telling how nicely he was getting along had been received from the officials so his parents felt no uneasiness about him, consequently the telegram with the sad news came as a great shock to them. Mr. McGoff was in Puyallup at the time but his wife wired him and he went to Monroe and brought the body of his son to Port Angeles this morning. The funeral services were conducted at the Fulmer Chapel by Rev. C. E. Fulmer at 11 o'clock this morning. A beautiful vocal solo was sung by Mrs. Minnie Troy.

The pall bearers were Earnest Harding, Phil Meredith, Asa Byers, and Hilling Dorr.

Floyd was born in Port Angeles September 12, 1895, so was 20 years and five months old at the time of his death.

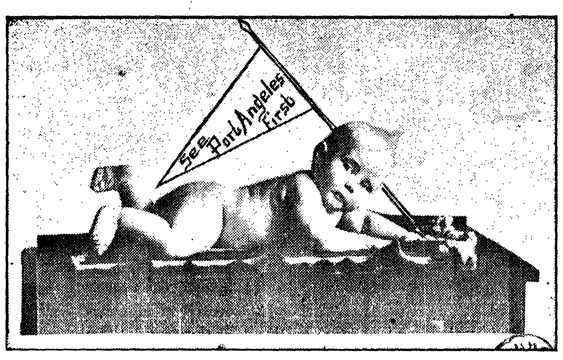
SAVE THE BABIES!!

By being good to them! Give them pure pasteurized cow's milk. Sold in this city only by the Port Angeles Dairy

This week, "Baby Week" will go down in history as the greatest week the country has ever seen in the progress that has been made for better and healthier conditions for our babies. To unsanitary conditions, carelessness in the handling of cow's milk at the dairies may be traced the causes of many a baby's death. Baby specialists tell us that if more of our dairies used "cleanliness" as their motto, infant mortality would be greatly decreased.

We are proud to claim the fine looking baby on this page as a partial product at least of the Port Angeles Dairy. He has been practically brought up on our pasteurized milk since four months of age and is now almost one year old.



But we are not satisfied with cleanliness alone. All the dairymen delivering milk to us must have their barns and places regularly inspected. The cans in which they bring the milk to our depot are dry steamed and returned free from deadly germs

The plant of the Port Angeles Dairy will be found on Fourth street, between Laurel and Oak. It is kept strictly sanitary. The latest scientific methods are adhered to in the pasteurizing of the milk and care of the bottles and other utensils. The hundreds of satisfied customers in Port Angeles is a convincing argument in favor of our milk. Every day the cans and bottles are thoroughly steamed, thereby completely destroying any and all germs. We invite public inspection of our plant.

THE LITTLE PEOPLE

By Whittier

A dreary place would be this earth,
Were there no little people in it;
The song of life would lose its mirth,
Were there no children to begin it;

No little forms, like buds to grow,
And make the admiring heart surrender;
No little hands on breast and brow,
To keep the thrilling love-chords tender.

The sterner souls would grow more stern,
Unfeeling nature more inhuman,
And man to stoic coldness turn,
And woman would be less than woman.

Life's song, indeed, would lose its charm,
Were there no babies to begin it;
A doleful place this world would be,
Were there no little people in it.

ABOUT THE COUNTY

EDEN VALLEY

Last Saturday night was held another meeting of the Eden Valley Farmers' Club. Mr. McWhorter, the county agriculturist, came out and gave a very interesting talk on "Balanced Rations." He will be out again Wednesday night and the subject for discussion will be potatoes.

Tuesday night a jolly bunch of neighbors dropped in to surprise Mrs. Kelly and help her celebrate her 10th birthday. If laughing is any sign of a good time they surely had it. The party broke up in the wee-big hours of the morning.

Mr. Hartley Goodwin and son, Earl, were up in the Valley Friday buying sheep from Jay Gould.

LOWER ELWHA

"Dog Days" seem to have arrived a few months ahead of the usual schedule here in the Valley. Perhaps we should accept them as an accompaniment to the spring fever which has prevaded our midst to some extent.

Mr. and Mrs. Hartley Goodwin of Dry Creek were in the Valley on Thursday of last week.

Mrs. Chas. Lundquist entertained a number of her lady friends last Thursday with a Carpet Rag Bee. The guests proved themselves to be quite proficient in the work of sewing carpet rags and were rewarded for their industry by the sumptuous one o'clock dinner served by the hostess who has more than once shown herself an adept in the culinary arts.

The annual school election of District No. 35 was held last Saturday and resulted in the election of Garfield Davis for the three year term and Will Brandt for the one year term.

Mr. W. S. Miller, deputy county assessor, was in the Valley on Wednesday and Thursday of last week.

Mr. Walter Rasmussen was a visitor in the Valley on last Thursday.

Mr. Clyde Goodwin made several trips to the Elwha last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Guthrie, Mrs. Edwin Guthrie and Mr. Henry Bradshaw spent last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Garfield Davis.

DE FUCA

Mr. Chas. Agnew went to Port Townsend on the train last Tuesday to see Mr. Weymouth, who has been been very sick all winter.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Hazlett moved their family out from Angeles last week and came to the farm to spend the summer.

Mrs. Wm. Richards spent Friday and Saturday in Angeles visiting her father, Mr. Trahair, who is sick.

At the school election last Saturday, Mr. N. Heuhslein, Jr., was elected for a term of three years. It seemed to be everybody's day in town so there were only six at the election.

Mr. Joseph Brickley was a visitor in the neighborhood one day last week.

Misses Helen and Minna Laurens called on Mrs. Chambers at Fairview last Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Reeve had the very bad misfortune to lose their house by fire last Saturday morning. The fire started early in the morning upstairs, but was not noticed till about 8:30, just as Mr. and Mrs. Reeve were getting ready for town. The neighbors all turned out to help and several things were saved. They are living in a small house on the place until further arrangements can be made.

LA PUSH

The pretty weather we boasted about last week went somewhere else. A strong wind with sleet and snow visited here Thursday, almost covering the ground.

The Girls' club beat the Quillayute Prairie girls in a game of basket ball here Friday night. Of course Katie got seriously? hurt, but after a little coaxing the game continued.

The Quillayute Prairie boys played the second team here Friday night. The score was in favor of the Indians. This was one of the most interesting games played this season.

Forks came down Saturday night and played another double header. The Forks girls are keeping up their good record, scoring 20 against 15 for the Indian girls; Forks first team lost with a score of 23, the Indians making 29. We wish to praise referee Penn for making it a clean and fair game, and Manager Max Hudson for his ability to keep up an interesting line of sports.

W. T. Payne lost a valuable horse last week.

Mrs. John Zaccardo was elected director for one year, receiving 22 out of 26 votes. We all feel that we have elected a splendid board of directors and feel sure that the best interests of the school will be well and ably served. We extend a vote of thanks to Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Delaney and Mr. Manuel Rogers for their faithful and untiring service as we realize that had it not been for them the school would not have attained its present degree of efficiency. They have had greater odds to contend with than perhaps any other district in the East End. Mr. Hudon was re-elected, which is of itself sufficient testimony as to his services.

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE EXPERIMENT STATION

The Twenty-fifth Annual Report of the Agricultural Experiment Station of the State College of Washington is issued and should be in the hands of every farmer. The report gives the results of all experiments carried on during the year in all branches of the work; horticulture, crops, soil, animal husbandry, etc. Forty-three thousand two hundred eight bulletins have been distributed upon special request; 6,609,000 pages of printed matter have been distributed.

This report may be obtained free by writing to the Experiment Station, State College, Pullman, Wash.

The greatest interest is being shown throughout the state in the work of the Boys' and Girls' Clubs. The applications for membership are coming in rapidly to the office of the State Leader at the State College.

Something new has recently been arranged for the Girls' Clubs in the way of cooking lessons. These lessons are free to the members of the clubs.

HAVE YOUR SEED TESTED

Inferior seed costs the farmers millions annually.

Inferior seed may cause loss in two ways:

First—It may be of low vitality, thus one, in buying seed, pays for something he does not get or gets only in part, or second—it may contain impurities.

Few farmers realize how many weed seeds there may be in a sample of seed which is relatively pure, i. e., pure enough to pass legal standards. The law requires alfalfa to be 96 per cent pure. Suppose the impurities in alfalfa which is 96 per cent pure consist of 2 per cent inert matter, which is of little consequence, 1 per cent green foxtail and 1 per cent dodder seed. Dr. Ira D. Cardiff, director of the Washington Agricultural Experiment Station at Pullman, states that there are approximately 400,000 green foxtail seeds in a pound, which would mean 4,000 seeds of green foxtail and 10,000 seeds of dodder in each pound of this alfalfa seed. Sowing 10 pounds of alfalfa per acre would mean 40,000 seeds of green foxtail and 100,000 seeds of dodder on each acre, or approximately 7 foxtail seeds and 20 dodder seeds to each square yard of ground.

To sow such seed is a crime against yourself, your neighbors, and the agriculture of the state.

WEEDS

Use the food materials of the soil which should go to the crop.

Exhaust the soil moisture.

Shade and crowd the cultivated plants.

Many of them produce poisons in the soil and many others harbor disease producing fungi.

WEEDS

Cut down the yield and lower the quality of the crop.

Therefore, the farmer cannot afford to deliberately sow weed seed at the rate of fifty or a hundred thousand seeds per acre, or in any amount.

But only the best seed obtainable.

The low-priced seed is often the most expensive.

Buy your seed subject to test. It will cost nothing to have it tested.

Pure seed, like pure bred stock, is one of the farmers greatest assets.

POWDER CLUBS ARE NEEDED FIRST, AND THEN COW CLUBS

University of Washington, Mar. 7. —Powder clubs first—afterward, cow clubs—is the sum of a policy recommended by Dr. H. K. Benson, professor of industrial chemistry in the University of Washington, Friday in an address before the Seattle Real Estate Association on the logged-off land problem. For such areas as more profitably could be reforested, he urged a legislative protection of private enterprise or the initiation of a state reforesting system.

"As I see the part of the problem that has to do with the agriculturally possible logged-off lands, it is the city that must make the farms," Dr. Benson declared. "I mean that the financiers and the land-holders, most of whom dwell in the cities, must join with the men on the land or the men who want to get on the land, and furnish the money for the clearing powder.

"There are two lines of constructive effort that require organization. We have 1,500,000 acres of logged-off land that should be reforested. If the private individual or association undertakes reforesting, the undertaking soon comes under the eye of the assessor, and forthwith begins a process of taxation assessment that by the time the stand has reached maturity has eaten up the profit. We must either devise legislative protection against taxation for such undertakings, or the state itself must do the reforesting. I regard this as a distinct challenge to the citizens of Washington.

"In the matter of clearing the logged-off lands suited to agriculture, the policy to be pursued is one of proper organization for private enterprise. Under present conditions, the farmer with mortgageable property can get money for land clearing at 8 per cent. That is prohibitive. Without such property, he cannot borrow money. Now, it takes, at 8 per cent on money, $2,400 to pay the powder bill for clearing 40 acres of land. Powder is what interests the farmer. He is not struck by suggestions for by-products and experimentation.

"Organization of the farmers and their needs on the one side and of finance and its prospects on the other, followed by a joining of the two, is imperative. There are registered successes in similar enterprises. Irrigation districts have been fomed. Cow clubs are established facts. Why not powder clubs? I recommend powder clubs first and cow clubs second.

"Our land owners and our bankers must see the prospect here for a permanent business, of increasing wealth, followed hard and consistently on the adoption and enforcement of a good, sound financial policy with reference to agriculture attempted on the logged-off lands."

About Port Angeles

The grandest view to be had from sea level of any portion of the Olympic mountains is that afforded at the Lower Elwha—as the farming district lying within the delta of that river is called—at this particular time of the year, when the winter snows lie deep over the glaciers and between the serried ramparts of Mt. FitzHenry and the Bailey range, apparently not more than five or six miles distant.

The naming of FitzHenry—one of the most prominent of the Olympics, being but ten miles above McDonald bridge where the Olympic highway crosses the Elwha—after a local engineer and a comparatively late-comer to this country, was due to its resemblance to Mt. Olympus. The early explorers sailing around the Cape and up the Straits, had no idea, when this rugged mountain burst out into full view as they passed the gorge of the Elwha, but that they were again looking upon the Mountain of the Gods, the most prominent of the Olympics, as seen from the Pacific. Even as late as 1889 when the Seattle Press started out its little exploring expedition under the leadership of Capt. Chas. A. Barnes of the regular army, it was assumed that this 7,000-foot peak and Mt. Olympus were one and the same.

Very little was known of the Olympic peninsula country at the time of the Press expedition. Government charts contained but one or two elevations of the whole range. The party left Seattle on the 8th of December, believing it would be necessary to go in in winter that they might be over the first ranges and into the mythical central valley region, which they expected to find, by spring. They built boats with which to make the start up the Elwha, leaving the mouth of the river on the 3rd day of January, 1890. McDonald, seven miles up river, was reached the 23rd of January, the party evidently experiencing a great deal of inclement weather. Here, finding the river to be a continuous succession of canyons and rapids, absolutely impossible for navigation, they abandoned their boats which had caused a loss of two months' time, and took to the elk trails. These led them past the western spur of Mt. Eldridge, or Hurricane Hill, which they named the Devil's Backbone.

Undoubtedly they proceeded upriver in great trepidation, not knowing what moment the gods on Mt. Olympus (FitzHenry) just overhead, would descend and destroy them for their sacrilegious invasion of hitherto sacred precincts. Thus it was that upon reaching the first canyon they applied the name Goblin Gate and Goblin Canyon; their report to the Press described the Gate as "ledges of slate where the Elwha is crowded thru a narrow portal 12 feet wide with walls hundreds of feet high which seem to swallow the river down its gloomy depths." Then came Geyser Valley, ten miles up river from McDonald bridge, doubtless so named because of hearing the drumming of partridges, for of geysers there are none.

Finally reaching the head of the river, the entire trip thru the mountains taking them six months, they proceeded to name the important peaks after the more noted editors of the country, like Charles A. Dana, thereby eventually receiving considerable publicity for the paper they represented. The highest peak of all they reserved for Professor Meany, Washington's historian, then connected with the Press. Another, and perhaps the most prominent and striking mountain of them all, as viewed from the head of the river, was put down as Mt. Seattle. But unlike the volcanic peaks, or even Mt. Angeles, which stands out distinct and alone from any point of view in the higher Olympics, Mt. Seattle is lost in the maze of peaks and ridges of the Main Divide and cannot be distinguished from any particular distance. After spending some time in a country that is almost entirely glacier-covered — a country which carries more glaciers than the entire Glacier National Park, now so widely advertised by the railroads—camping along the streams every branch of which has its source under glacial ice, the company crossed the Low Divide and left the Olympics via the Quiniault, reporting upon their return to Seattle that "although the snowfall was very heavy, no glaciers were found, even upon Mt. Olympus, and no streams showed glacial origin." The explanation lies in the fact that the entire country was deeply covered with snow that early in the year.

The fact that Captain Barnes had mistaken the Bailey range for Mt. Olympus is very apparent from the map prepared and published as a part of his report. Discovering this while engaged upon the government topographical survey, Mr. Rixon named the central peak after his wife, Carrie, and Mr. FitzHenry, now the state's surveyor general, claimed the northern end of the ridge, which carries one of the finest glaciers to be seen between the Main Divide and the Straits.

It is an exceptionally pleasant walk when the sun is shining in the early morning, that from the Earles mill along the beach to the mouth of the Elwha. Spring always seems to be a few days earlier near the salt water, the first shoots of the red elder being two inches in length and already unfolding. At the lagoon, too, some hundreds of waterfowl make their winter home, chief among these being the glaucous-winged, short-billed and Heerman's gulls, the bufflehead and scaup or bluebill duck, the white-winged scoter or squaw duck, and the cormorants and grebes. When the tide is nearly out and the water low under the Third street extension one can see the horned grebe darting swiftly along beneath the surface, seemingly catching the elusive minnow almost without effort in a straight-away chase; or if the tide be out, with little islands of gray sand, the gulls will have gathered to hold their grotesque dances, jumping up and down first on one foot and then the other, stopping between times to pull out a few juicy marine worms which have poked up their heads to see what the commotion was all about.

There could be no more noble embattlements than the bluffs extending west of the lagoon, were their pinnacles, towers, and deep chasms everlasting granite instead of a solid mass of common, everyday gravel. Here and there there is a slight indication of a beach, with a little driftwood, but for the most part the waves dash against the foot of the bluffs at high tide, and one must needs know that he is going to be able to get thru before he starts upon his stroll down the beach. At this time of year, when the frost is coming out of the gravel and tiny streams of water gush forth here and there in a thousand places, the continuous dropping of small boulders from the face of the precipice sounds like the first big drops of rain upon the roof, and one might easily think himself skirting the base of Gibraltar Rock on Mt. Tahkoma, which because of dropping stones is only safe in the early hours of morning.

Those working on arrangements for the July outing of the Klahhane club, to Mt. Olympus and the Sol Duc springs, are much encouraged by the evidence of interest from outside the city. It is believed there will be as many applications to join coming from non-residents as there will be local members of the club participating. Prof. MacNeal, a charter member, has written of his intention to return to the coast for his summer vacation and to climb Mt. Olympus, and three or four members of the Seattle Mountaineers, to whom the trip particularly appeals, will also be members of the party.

Bulletin No. 4 of the Klahhane club will be published the latter part of the week; it will be the most interesting of any thus far gotten out and extra copies will be provided for all who wish to use them in interesting others in the club and its work.

POPULAR YOUNG COUPLE UNITED IN MATRIMONY

(Valdez Miner)

At midnight on Sunday, February 6, in the parlors of the Cliff House, Edwin W. Hunt of Valdez and Nellie Ethel Falk of Port Angeles, Wash., were united in matrimony by Rev. F. J. Dunstan. The wedding was private, only the contracting parties and the parents of the groom being present. The young couple will make their home in the residence recently purchased by the bridegroom at the corner of Sherman and Broadway streets.

Mr. Hunt has a confectionery store, making his own candies as well as ice cream, and his wife assists in the store afternoons and evenings. On the evening of the 6th they had an extra late run, the clock striking twelve before the knot was tied, so in reality they were married the 7th of February. Rev. Dunstan kept their secret and it was not known until this evening, the 13th, that the ceremony had actually taken place.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Hunt are well known in Valdez, having lived here for years, and are very popular. Their many friends are congratulating them and wishing them happiness and prosperity on their journey thru life together.

F.E. Warner, optometrist, may be found in his new offices, rooms 122 and 123, Warren Morse Block.

THE CITY COUNCIL

city attorney and ordinance committee.

Davis & Woods, A. G. Frye, F. L. Thompson, W. B. Smith, A. R. Pringle and James Fitzgerald registered written protests against the establishment, by the Port Angeles Commercial Club, of a public market, to be conducted on certain streets. Some of the protestors did not object to the idea but did not want the market on the streets, which adjoined their lots. Others thought "it would be a detriment to their down town property." Upon motion of Councilman Hooker, Acting Mayor Fisher appointed Councilmen Hooker, Best and Filion as a committee to look into this matter.

Lindsay & Redden presented the following letter to the council: "At the time your honorable body met as a board of equalization on the assessments in local improvement district No. 34, you will recall that the assessments on gulch lots on Third street were eliminated and the sums originally assessed against these lots by the city engineer were added to the assessments on the other lots fronting on Third street pro rata. At the last meeting of this board of equalization when the amended assessment roll was placed before you, our Mr. Lindsay stated that a new notice should be given because of the condition of the assessment roll with reference to the increase in the assessment of the lots on Third street. The increase per lot was so small it was suggested that the defect was technical and it was thought that no one would raise the question of the validity of the matter and the amended roll was confirmed. We find it impossible to sell the bonds with your record in the condition in which it is and we respectfully ask that your body pass a resolution directing the city clerk to give a new notice, and reconvene your body as board of equalization for further consideration of the assessment roll."

The resolution was passed and the date of hearing on assessment roll for district No. 34 will be held on April 17th, 1916.

H. A. Coventon and P. A. Petersen wrote the council asking for a settlement of labor claim against Mettler & Coit. Filed.

Leroy H. Woods, for two years custodian of the fire apparatus and chauffeur on the Buick fire truck, writes from Portland, Oregon, tendering his resignation, saying he had secured another position. Resignation accepted but no appointment has been made to fill the vacancy.

Said roll as amended and modified as aforesaid has been set down for hearing at the regular meeting of the city council to be held in the council chamber in the city hall in the city of Port Angeles at 10 o'clock a. m., on the 17th day of April, 1916, and all persons who may desire to object to said assessment, are notified to make such objections in writing and file the same with the city clerk at or prior to the date fixed for such hearing. At the time and place fixed and at such other times as the hearing may be continued to, the council will sit as a board of equalization for the purpose of considering such roll and at such hearing or hearings, will consider such objections made thereto, or any part thereof, and will correct, revise, raise, lower, change or modify such roll or any part thereof, or set aside such roll and order that such assessment be made de novo, as to such body shall appear just and equitable and then proceed to confirm the same by ordinance.

PARENT-TEACHERS' MEETING AT HIGH SCHOOL MONDAY

All patrons and interested friends of the public school are generally requested to be present at the regular meeting of the Parent-Teachers, Association next Monday evening, March 13 at the H. S. auditorium at 7:30. The principal subject for discussion will be "What Are We Going To Do With Our School Grounds?"

The discussion will be opened by talks from Mr. York, principal of the high school, members of the school board and other prominent citizens. This is a subject of vital interest to all parents and citizens of Angeles. We would all like to see the school house grounds and court house grounds made the beauty spot of our city. Let's do it. Show your interest by attending this meeting.

The small house of George Smith, situated on the bluff at the end of Eighth street, slipped down the side of the hill yesterday afternoon, somewhat disarranging two old buildings at the foot and sweeping away a fence. Other slides on Eighth street are reported today as well as some on Front street. Mr. Smith had just moved out of his house a couple of days ago.

Dr. T. D. P. A. READING CLUB HAS LITTLE SURPRISE

On Friday afternoon the Port Angeles Reading Club held an open meeting at the home of Mrs. W. A. Stovel, when each member had the privilege of inviting a guest. A few words of welcome and greeting were extended to the guests by the president, Mrs. Jessie Webster, after which a very interesting and enjoyable musical and literary program was rendered. The opening number was the singing of the State Federation song by Mrs. Minnie Troy.

Each club member then gave a reading from a favorite American author not included in the year's program. The readings were quite varied and included both prose and poetical selections. Musical numbers including vocal selections by Mrs. Troy and instrumental numbers by Mrs. Stoval and her daughter, Miss Vivian, added greatly to the afternoon's pleasure. Mrs. H. M. Brock read a collection of short poems and aroused the curiosity and interest of those present when she announced that the closing one was by a well-known Port Angeles man, who proved to be no other than F. C. Teck, secretary of the Commercial Club. The poem appears in the paper this week so that all our readers may enjoy it. An especially interesting feature of the program was the splendid talk given by Mrs. Burkholder, on her personal experience in Child Welfare work and incidentally making a plea for "Better Babies."

COVERS FOR 350 LAID AT BANQUET GIVEN BY W. L. C.

In honor of the 19th anniversary of the W. L. C., a reception was given to the immediate friends and relatives of the members of the club on Friday evening at Odd Fellows hall. An excellent program was given, in which covers were laid for 350. The remainder of the evening was given over to dancing, which was enjoyed until the small hours of the morning. Music for the dancing was furnished by the Parks orchestra, and Miss Juanita Glenn played a few selections on the violin. For those who did not dance cards were provided.

The body of Mrs. Maclaclain, the school teacher who died on the steamer Bellingham last Thursday morning while enroute from Dickey Lake to Angeles, was shipped Monday by the Fulmer Undertaking Company to Kansas City, where two brothers reside. Mrs. Maclaclain came from a very prominent family in the East, having moved West some 12 years ago. Her husband passed away about nine years ago and since that time Mrs. Maclaclain has been teaching school and had lived in Clallam county but a few months.

The club ladies who have had the program in charge for "Baby Day" at the High School Auditorium, feel most grateful to all the merchants and business houses for the progressive spirit they have shown in so attractively displaying their baby wares and infant apparel in the store display windows this week, also for helping to create a stronger sentiment in favor of Better Babies through their advertisements.

Wm. Geelheart and Miss Ida Robinson were married Tuesday morning at the home of the bride in Eden Valley. Mr. and Mrs. Geelheart left on the afternoon boat for Seattle. They will make their home in Eden Valley.

At the regular meeting of the Yeoman lodge Tuesday evening five new members were added to the roll. A social session will be held next Tuesday evening. Mrs. Robert Morrissey is in charge of the program.

The Fulmer Undertaking Company shipped the remains of Capt. Russell, who died Monday on board the gasoline schooner Thor-Hi, to his home in Grants Pass, Oregon.

At the meeting of the City Council last evening a committee was appointed to act on the public market proposition with a committee from the Commercial club.

Mrs. B. T. Smith and family have moved from their home on 11th street to the Robertson cottage on 4th street, near Oak.

Chas. Ulmer and family have moved into the Smith cottage on 11th street.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL

The services of next Sunday will be of unusual interest. Sunday school meets at 9:45. During the session of the school Dr. Major will speak to the scholars.

Following this session the usual church service will be held during which the Sacrament of the Lord's supper will be administered. Rev. Cram, who conducts the singing at the Union services will be present and assist in the services.

In the evening the services will be held in the opera house. This will be the last opportunity to hear Dr. Major and Mr. Cram. The public are most cordially invited to be present. We are planning in the very near future to have a Pay-Up Week in our church when it is hoped all of our church obligations will be fully met. More announcement will be made later. But keep it in mind. The social session of the Ladies Aid which was to meet with Mrs. MacKechnie Wednesday will be postponed until some future date.

THEODORE SHARPE,
Pastor.

NOTICES WERE DULY POSTED

By order of the school board I wish to announce to the public that official notices of the school board election, held March 4, were duly posted according to law in three public places the post office, the front entrance to the old Central school grounds in plain sight of all passers by, and at the place of election, the new Central school building. The notices also appeared several times in the Olympic-Leader and Tribune-Times.

As to the votes cast at the election there was no time when Mrs. Boomer's votes tallied even with Mr. Pettit's.
