FIRST GLIMPSE--To Forks residents this familiar view of James Island often becomes all too common. To many who travel to the Olympic Peninsula this view is their first of the Pacific. ---Lonnie Archibald

AUTO ACCIDENTS

The following accidents were reported by Trooper Jaske, Forks.

Frank J. Carlson, 20, of Arlington, Washington, was killed instantly in an accident which occurred at 2 a. m. May 21, 3 1/2 miles east of Clallam Bay on Highway 112. Carlson, driving a 1960 Rambler stationwagon, was traveling westbound descending a hill when he failed to negotiate a curve to the right, skidded off the roadway to the left, rolled over several times coming to rest 100 feet below the level of the roadway on the side of the bank.

A passenger, Charles W. Harve, 20, Granite Falls, was thrown out of the vehicle approximately halfway down the side of the hill and was found under a cedar stump. Harve is in serious condition, unconscious at Olympic Memorial Hospital in Port Angeles.

A 2-car accident occurred at 6:45 a. m., May 21 at the intersection of Bogachiel St. and 6th Ave., within Clallam Bay city limits. Ronald D. Ing south on 6th Ave., and was struck upon entering the intersection by a westbound vehicle, a 1966 Ford pickup driven by Howard M. Barlow, 27, P. O. Box 11, Clallam Bay. Barlow's pickup skidded off the roadway striking a telephone pole, severed the pole and downed telephone lines, and came to rest on its side off the road.

Damage to the Heikkila vehicle, $400 damage to the front end; Barlow, $600 damage to the right front and right side. There were no injuries.

FORKS CITY COUNCIL

The Town Council met at 8:00 p. m., Monday, May 24, 1971 at City Hall. First order of business was the proposed Forks sewer system. Mrs. Ingrid Lingvall reported the telephone survey as being complete, and would be presented to the Town Council for study. Mayor Kennedy stated that the people of Forks would receive full information regarding the Council's study.

Taiji Miyamoto, representative of American Pacific Corp., (the firm handling the new Thomas Addition) was on hand to acquire a commitment from the Council in order that American Pacific Corp. might go ahead with their plans for an interim sewer system for the new Thomas Addition. He stated that funds had been set aside for that purpose, and that the interim system would not be a burden on the town of Forks. The Council voted tentative approval.

The renewal of State Liquor Licenses for the following Forks businesses was approved by unanimous Council vote: Antlers Restaurant, Pay n Save Foods, Clark's Vagabond Restaurant, Art's Place, Paul's Serv-U, and the Hangup Tavern.

The following building permits were approved by the Council: Garage and utility room, $2500.00, owner and builder, George Richardson; two-story building, $75,000, owner and builder, Al Fletcher; new house, $17,150.00, owner and builder, N. W. De-builder, Harvey Lindeman, owner, George Blattner; garage, $2,500, owner and builder, George Blattner; addition to Forks State Bank, builder, Del Guzzi, $70,000.00; remodel home, owner, Leonard Cote, builder, George Blattner.

The problem of too many unruly and unlicensed dogs is still a problem. The Town Council is working toward a possible revision of the city ordinance. The possibility of a leash law and the raising of dog licenses were discussed at great length. The council will have a representative of the Clallam County Humane Society at the next regular meeting. Changing of the meeting hours are published in this week's Forum. The Town Council invites, you, the citizen, to attend its meetings. If you have a question regarding your town, the Town Council meetings are at your disposal. Your neighbor can't help you; the Town Council will go all out. Try them, it's to your advantage.

SPRING CONCERT

Apple blossoms and greenery set the stage for this year's Spring Concert held Tuesday, May 18, with Mr. Stan Sells conducting.

The junior high band opened the program with the "National Anthem" and continued with "Champions on Parade", "Mozart Festival", Burt Bacharach's "Close to You" and "Prelude in C Minor".

"One Less Bell" and an interesting arrangement of "Battle Hymn of the Republic" was sung by the Sweetness and Lite, a vocal group comprised of Darlene Dawkins, Cheryl Ulin, Lisa Baker, Kayst Baron, and Julie Baker who also accompanied both selections on the piano and guitar. The girls wore long dresses, the new peasant look.

Enthusiastic drumming and lots of toe-tapping went into the elementary band's performance of "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes".

the high school choir. After a nibble of a cookie and a lick of the frosting, conducting got underway as the choir sang "Come Saturday Morning", "Clear Day", "Two Hungarian Folk Songs" and "Love Story". (Before "Clear Day", Mr. Sells had to consult a program to determine which selection was next and quipped, "Get me near food and I forget everything!") Accompanying the choir on the piano was Julie Baker.

The high school band gave an excellent performance beginning with "Billboard March" and "Magnificent Seven", continuing with the "Russian Choral and Overture", "Op. 39, No. 24", and "The Music Man". The final crash of symbols during "Variation Overture" brought the concert to a close.

As stated on the program, the concert was "dedicated in the humblest way to Igor Stravinsky, a 20th century composer who died this year after contributing more to music than anyone since Beethoven."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The following letter was received by Mrs. Henry Halverson from Satinder Boona Cheema Ruhs , 1968 IFYE from India:

Dear friend, Its been a long time since I wrote, its been a long road that I have come down since.

I wish I was writing this letter on a day full of peace... its peaceful where I sit and probably peaceful as you sit and read this letter.

Let me tell you about where I have been and what I have done in the last few years.

This year was spent in South Vietnam. An effort was made on my part to do something to help. But in Vietnam there is nothing to do.

Herb and I went back to India to get married. It was like coming of age, and this year with Herb has been one of learning and of growing.

Then you may ask what did I do for one year... I got fired from the International Voluntary Services because I wanted to love and eventually get married.

We went back to India for a few months and then started west to the USA as Herb's desire to get back into school was growing.

Then came another change. I was living with people who were all involved with the Committee of Responsibility, they worked towards evacuating war wounded children to this country for medical treatment.

I am sure that I will see some of it at the international and it was Christmas and the guns were quiet. He told me his story, and he said, "There are some good Americans". I realized that these good Americans were the ones that had given him the use of his legs and renewed hope in his once dead soul.

I hate the Americans that almost killed me, now I can never be a soldier and fight them and hate the same people and could define his hatred and love which many of us are never able to do.

Herb and I went back to India to get married. It was like coming of age, and this year with Herb has been one of learning and of growing.

Miss Slaton's second grade class has been doing creative writing for the past few weeks. They have either been given the title, the beginning, the ending or the plot for their story. Some chose to write poems. Here are samples of the students' writing.

"Ouch"
By Denette Beebe
Ouch, you're a grouch
You are a pouch.
You ran into me
You are a flea.
"Ouch"

By Claude Nelson
Ouch! Something pinched me.
I wonder what it could be.
It looks like it has three legs,
no it has six!
It is small as small can be,
It is an ant.

The End
"Widdy Biddy John"
By Clairisse Stanley & Danny Brooks
Widdy Biddy John got a widdy biddy bump on his head.
John said "Ouch!" I got a widdy biddy bump on my widdy biddy head.

"The Man That Lost His Wig"
By Clairisse Stanley
Once there was a man. He had a wig because he was bald and he did not want anybody to know he was bald. One day the wind was blowing hard and the man had to go to the store. The wind blew the wig off his head and he could not find it. One day he took a taxi ride. He saw something in the middle of the road. He made the driver stop. He got out of the car and saw it was his wig. He picked it up and put it on. And that's how the bald man found his wig.

"A Poem"
By Gina Smiley
To be grown up
You can go places
And you can go to school
Sometimes, and I just have one grade to go.
I do just one thing at work, and that's work.

"When I Was Young"
By Cheryl Addleman
When I was young I took a nap,
I went to bed to sleep on a map.
I slept and slept and then I crept all over the bed,
And now that I'm big I'll dance a jig.

These are just a few samples. Many others were just as good, but we did not have enough room for all of them.

Miss Charlene Anita Osburn became the bride of George Janose in a lovely candle-light ceremony April 24 at the Caledonia United Methodist Church in Middleville, Michigan. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duane Osburn. The bridegroom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Janose Sr., both of Middleville.

Reverend Robert Boyer performed the ceremony in the presence of 100 relatives and friends.
Mrs. Fred Rock was the organist and Patrick Glynn of Grand Rapids sang "We've Only Just Begun" and "The Lord's Prayer".

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of peau de soie with a high rise bodice, accented Alencon lace and pearls. A mantilla, edged with matching lace, completed the attire. She carried her Rainbow Bible covered with a corsage of white wedding orchids, stephanotis and ribbon streamers.

Maid of honor was Mrs. Charles Burghdoff, sister of the bride. She wore an empire styled gown in a moss green color. The bridesmaid, Miss Celia Osburn, also sister of the bride, wore an identical gown in a soft yellow crepe. Junior bridesmaid was Miss Robin Janose. They carried nosegay bouquets of yellow and green feathered carnations with ribbon streamers and their headpieces were green and yellow crepe bows with tulle.

Best man was Eldon Welch of Lowell and ushers were Michael Janose and Charles Burghdoff.

The bride's mother wore a dress of green crepe, a lace coat with bone-colored accessories and a corsage of green orchids. Mrs. Lena Oliver of Forks, grandmother of the bride, wore a two-piece dress of old rose crepe and a corsage of old fashioned flowers. Mrs. Harley Osburn wore a green brocade brocade taffeta dress with a white carnation corsage.

A reception at the VFW Hall in Middleton followed the ceremony. Mrs. Janice Drenten of Grand Rapids cut the cake. Mrs. Wendell Thaler of Mooresville, Indiana, sister of the groom, and Miss Elizabeth Osburn, poured. Mrs. Lee Fox of Grand Haven, aunt of the bride, ladled the punch. Miss Mary Osburn and Miss Diane Krosschell tended the guest-book. Assisting in the dining room were Mrs. Jerome Van Matre and Mrs. Charles Philip of Middleville.

It will go to the State Convention in June and hopefully, to the National Convention in November. Mrs. Merritt was quite surprised to win the honor, and pleased, as she had not planned to make anything for the contest this year, as she had had so many disappointments in the past several years. She relented, however, and hers was the only entry in the needlework contest from the Forks Prairie Grange. Mrs. Alice Fuhrman, now living at Omak, had made two entries in the sewing contest, a dress for herself and one for her little granddaughter, they were in two different categories. Her dress was given a blue ribbon and was to have gone to the State convention, until it was discovered that the wrong zipper had been used, disqualifying the entry. The child's dress will go on to state.

TEEN SOUNDS

By Steve Lingvall
 Combining the down-to-earth sound of country-and-western with hard rock produces a unique type of music--rockabilly. Not very many rock groups fit this category, but popularity undoubtedly follows them. Because country-and-western originated in this country, people automatically turn to it for entertainment, but the youth only "stomach it" when modern rock is thrown into the "bag". However, some of the world's most popular rock artists are into this new scene which has boosted their popularity even further.

It is pretty hard to argue with the fact that this group fits into the rockabilly scene. Who am I talking about? None other than Country Joe and the Fish. They usually present some zany material in their songs. Their two biggest hits have been "I'm-Fixin'-To-Die-A-Rag" and "Sweet Lorraine". Another rock group that has cashed in on this idea is Canned Heat. "Goin' Up The Country", written by the late Al Wilson, was their greatest hit single. This group which I have talked so much about are the kings in this scene. Guess who? Nobody but Creedence Clearwater Revival. You remember such hit singles as

"Green River", "Born on the Bayou", "Lodi", "Proud Mary" and "Lookin' Out My Back Door".

Although their songs don't deal with the beauty of this country in the Deep South, Crosby, Stills, Nash & Young undoubtedly sound very country-and-western-ish. But their popularity has exceeded their wildest dreams of success. PLAYBOY recently voted them the top vocal group in the world. Other groups that fit in to this new scene are the Band, four Canadians and one Arkansian, who have one hit single under their belt--"Up on Cripple Creek"--with three albums as well. Bob Dylan's music inspired Kenny Rogers and the First Edition to turn some of them into smash hit singles. For example, there are: "Ruby, Don't Take Your Love to Town" and "Reuban James". Both Michael Nesmith and his First National Band and the Nitty Gritty Dirt Band have released hit singles: "Joanne" and "Silver Moon" for the ex-Monkees' group and "Mr. Bojangles" for the latter. Four other such rockabilly artists have attained popularity. In order of success, they are: Poco (with several top LP's under their belt), and Blue Velvet Band (who specialize in rock concerts), the James Gang, and the McCoys (who had some hit singles under their belts before they split-up to join the rock-blues king, Johnny Winter). All of these groups are worth listening to--by country fans and rock fans, alike.

DOGS KILL DEER

With late spring and early summer comes the fawns. These young spotted creatures have many enemies here in the outdoors and among those who threaten the blacktail are dogs which run in pack. Dogs will kill and eat deer. In areas where high snow-falls occur, dog packs will run down the weaker deer and make the kill. Newly born deer also fall victim to the domestic dogs. This holds true here on the Peninsula as well as other areas of the state. A special bill which has already passed the house would, if made effective, place better protection on these young game animals.

HERE AND THERE

The State Game Commission reported the all-state deer herd at 500,000 to 600,000. Approximately 310,000 hunters turned out last year. There were about 94,000 elk hunters with tags last season, compared to the estimated 50,000 to 60,000 state-wide elk herd.

Jim Aggergaard reports slow fishing on the Dickey and Calawah over the weekend. Few fishermen and few fish.

Bill Gale and family ventured to Beaver Lake last weekend to score on cutthroat and a few silvers. William slept while the wife and children fished.

There were clams for everyone last Saturday on the ocean beaches. Those who made the return trip Sunday found the digging not quite as rewarding though a few razors were taken. Clamming was hot again on Monday as many dug limits before work. Then I guess a few never made it to work.

Art Stanley mentioned the fact that the day smelt were hitting on Beach Trail #4 over the weekend. This official announcement came immediately after his coffee cup had been emptied Monday morning at the Vagabond.

There is also a rumor around town that night smelt are showing at Riato.

The Washington State Department of Game fishing regulations also apply to the waters within the Olympic National Park. One does not, however, need a fishing license to fish within the park.

The fishing off LaPush was fair to good over the weekend as silvers awaited those who ventured to the calm waters. A few kings were reported but most were small silvers.

By Fred Jarvis

Had a whole week off and boy, did I ever feel good. Until this morning, that is. Had to go back to work! Not that I don't like work, I'm just allergic to it. Well, like they say, for better or for worse.

Janet Joseph rolled a 144 triplicate in the Tuesday Afternoon League. A pretty rare trick, rewarded by a patch from the W.I.A.C. Kathy Decker had a 215-531, setting hi scratch game for the league. Jerry Diimmel, with a 111 average hit a 163, and Jean Bungamer had a 193. That's a good way to break in a new ball. D & J Logging lost the roll-off to Parris and Hammel by eleven plus with Kathy hitting a 206-560. Gerry Benner??? had 170 and Esther Parris a 443.

In the new Junior-Senior Mixed, Kathy Decker, 180-437, Jerry Winn 200 and Jess Parris 500. For the Juniors, Theresa Decker 141-381, Edna Markham 97-192, Chuck Ward 176-484, Jimmy Gale 121-305.

Paul's Serv-U won first place in Thursday Beginners by defeating Westward Hoh Resort. Pat Lindquist, Colleen Gagnon, 143-394, and Betty Bonds, 143, make up the winning team. Cheryl McCoy, Darlene Neel, 173, and Margaret Windle, 170-488 on the second place team.

Thursday Nite Mixed: Kathy Hamby 194-507, Duke Streeter 207-582, Cheryl McCoy 113 average, 480 series, Randi Conery 106 average, 164 game. Lou Bigelow picked up the 5-7-9.

Louis Lato won a ticket on the T.V. at Saturday Nite Monte Carlo, while Fred Jarvis, Ron Klahn and Avery Bungamer all missed the Jackpot shots. Dum it! Saved face a little by winning our little sidepot on games of 253-209-287 for a 749 scratch. That's some way to come out of a slump!

SPORTS AT A GLANCE

By Greg Allen

On Friday, May 14th, the Spartans attended the sub-district track and field meet at North Mason. The highlight of the meet was the fact the top seven contenders would run in the district meet. All eight boys who went from the high school qualified to run in the district. The district meet was on May 21st at 6 p.m. in Sumner. The scoring in the sub-district meet went like this: Byron Windle, third, low hurdles; Chuck Rondeau, fifth, discus; Rick Gale, seventh, 830; John Dahlgren, George Schumack, Tim Anderson, Danny Hnichen, seventh, mile relay; George Schumack, John Dahlgren, Tim Anderson, Bruce Allen, seventh, relay team. The last relay team did not compete on the 21st. They were concentrating on the mile relay event. Teams which took part in the district were: 1. Lakeside; 2. Port Townsend; 3. Sequim; 4. Vashon; 5. North Mason; 6. Forks; 7. Clallam Bay; 8. Joyce; and 9. White River.

As far as the district meet was concerned, only the 1st place winners advanced to the State meet coming up. State will be held in Pullman May 20th and 29th.

This prediction was made concerning the district meet: "Byron Windle under favorable conditions could win the lows. There are five hurdles in the district, all within .2 of a second of each other," or so said the Spartans' coach.

Unfortunately, Bryon, a foremost leader in the hurdles, fell during the course of the race and finished seventh. Other results from the district shaped up like this: Chuck Rondeau, third in discus; Rick Gale, seventh in javelin; Chuck Rondeau, seventh in shot-put; and Mile Relay team, seventh.

Baseball made the scene last week as the Little League and Pony League began their season. Pony League got underway May 17th as the Red Sox, coached by John Medsker, took on the Senators, coached by Jim Springer, on the Red Sox home turf. When the umpire called the last out, the Red Sox walked home with the first victory of the season as they belted the Senators, 5-3. This, of course, took place in the Pony League. Pony League schedule shapes up like this: May 26th, Twins vs. Red Sox; May 31, Senators vs. Pilots; June 2, Red Sox vs. Cardinals; June 2, Senators vs. Twins; The home teams are listed first and the games are played on Monday and Wednesday.

Little League has been underway for a couple of weeks and has some interesting facts to share. Let's take a look at the top ten hitters with at least six official times at bat, including games played as of May 21st;

Neah Bay Slide

A massive rock slide has blocked State Highway 112 between Neah Bay and Sekiu, and Highway Department engineers on the scene say only emergency traffic will be able to pass for several days. The slide occurred late Thursday.

A pilot car will take emergency traffic through a private logging road owned by the Crown Zellerbach Corp. Highway Department District Engineer Ralph Kerslake has estimated that the roadway will be re-opened in several days, but could not set a definite date.

The Highway Department has authorized an emergency mobilization of contractor's men and equipment to the site in order that the slide be cleared at the earliest possible date. Extensive drilling and blasting will be required.

Special Decals

Special decals are now available from the Pre-school PTA members or at the Forks Town Hall. They are fire engine red, provided by the local fire department and are to be used for a special signal to local firemen.

The decal is to be placed on the window of young children's rooms, or the rooms of an invalid. This will insure in case of fire, that the firemen will automatically go to that room first.

The decal has a self-adhesive back which only needs to be peeled off and then applied to a clean window surface. There is no charge of the decals.

They may be obtained at any of the following homes: Cheri Seelye, 374-6494; Cindy Pederson, 374-6767; Sheryl Fouts, 374-5632; Lorrie Ramsaur, 374-5241; or Mary Swanson at Beaver, 374-5593.

Primary Aides Function

The purpose of remedial reading is to aid teachers with the reading program and problems. The salaries of the aides, equipment and books used, are paid by the U.S. Government under E.S.E.A., Title I, Compensatory Reading.

All classes are kept small so more individual help can be given and do not last more than one-half hour. Within the classroom small group aid is given under the supervision of individual teachers for specific deficiencies.

To achieve these aims these methods are used:

To create interest:
a. Have parents read to their children or listen while a child reads for 10 to 15 minutes a day.

b. Recommend books that interest a child like animal stories or current events such as our space program.

Help with phonics or letter sounds:

a. By learning all letter sounds and one word with the beginning letter sound.
b. Constant review so a child will know them at a glance.

Reinforce student's confidence:

a. By letting students read easy books to build confidence in their ability.
b. By checking to make sure students understand what they are reading.

During a half hour period, remedial work is concentrated on:

1st Grade--Phonics, rereading and worksheets.

2nd Grade--Comprehension, word meanings, and phonics.
3rd Grade--Comprehension and speed (by extensive oral reading).
In addition to the above program aides correct papers, thus releasing teachers to spend more time with remedial reading.

Mr. Morgan Collins, an attorney from Port Angeles, spoke to the Board in behalf of several parents of students in the Clallam Bay School. He listed 5 complaints they had in this order: 1. physical abuse on children; 2. verbal abuse; 3. students are treated discriminatorily; 4. there was some question about continuing punishment; 5. arbitrary treatment of children-authoritarian in nature. Mr. Gill spoke in behalf of the school. An open discussion period followed with people in the audience and teachers. Mr. Gill invited Mr. Collins to visit the school and talk with students, and Mr. Collins indicated he would accept.

Teachers' contracts were signed by the Board and adjournment came at 12 midnight. Next regular meeting will be June 14 in the Clallam Bay Home Ec. room.

TRAIL RIDERS NEWS

By Barbara King
This past week seemed extra frantic around here. I just don't know where the time goes. It seems to go faster with each passing day. I've heard it said when a person starts noticing the passing of time, that it is a sign of old age. I am beginning to feel like Methuselah.

Jeanette Gilmore has a nice new little mare at her place. Penny arrived about two weeks ago from Enumclaw. The mare is bred to a purebred Arabian for next year. Jeanette says the chestnut mare is a real pleasure to ride. It is a good thing the Gilmore's got moved out to the farm because their menagerie keeps growing. She wants a milk cow next, but Jeanette, you can't ride a cow! Have fun with Penny anyway.

I believe Larry Klahn's Appy mare was last in the stork race. I also believe she came up with the most unusual foal of this season. Would you believe an APPY MULE? The little jack is awful cute and will probably make a heck of a trail animal. I wonder which disposition he will turn out to have? Let's hope it is the Appy; as a rule, they have a marvelous disposition. All kidding aside, I sincerely think it is a good looking little fellow and with Larry all kinds of luck with the mare and offspring. Linda and Mike Peabody bought a Shetland pony mare this past Sunday. Mike brought Sandy home in the back of the Bronco from Glen Nickols' place up by Lake Ozette. Mike says there were many a weird glance at the sight of them traveling in such a fashion, but the joy the kids are taking in her is worth a few such looks!

Eighteen riders left our barn this past Sunday for the Rein Riders' trail ride. The weather cooperated again, as it did last year, and a good time was had by all. Those attending besides the Rein Riders were: Thelma Graves, Linda Peabody, Phyllis Byars and John Halverson.

I took a beautiful spill last night, right in a sandy mud bog! Someday my J. D. mare and I will get co-ordinated and things like that won't happen. It all started out harmlessly enough. A few of us nuts (no offense to fellow riders, Betty, Pam and Ron) went to LaPush to ride on the beach. After an exhilarating ride on the beach, we struck off across the marshes up past Harley's. My poor little J. D. mired down up to her tummy, so naturally with good intentions, I started to bail off to give her a better chance of regaining solid ground. At the same time I started out of the saddle, she, with a mighty lunge, came out of her bog. Some how our motions didn't quite match! I must have looked grand lying there in the sand, mud, what-have-you, underneath her front feet no less! Both of us continued the ride a little dirtier than when we started. (And if the others will put up with us, we will try not to pull anything like that in public!) Do you know that there are over 150 horses in the area now?

Programs For Handicapped Children

Legislation sponsored by Representative Paul H. Conner which required each school district to insure an appropriate educational opportunity for all handicapped children of common school age has passed the legislature. The measure directs the Superintendent of Public Instruction to establish functional definitions of the various types of handicapping conditions and eligibility criteria for handicapped programs for all handicapped children. Representative Conner said, "we must ensure that all necessary educational, health, and other such needed services are provided to such children."

TEENAGER EMPLOYERS

Employers who plan to hire teenagers for summer work are subject to several legal requirements, according to William C. Jacobs, director of the Department of Labor and Industries. He said the requirements relate to minor work

Labor Standards Act, the minimum wage is $1.60 per hour--unless the employer secures a special certificate authorizing payment of a lesser wage for full-time students in retail and service establishments.

Employers who are uncertain whether they are covered by the Fair Labor Standards Act may contact the nearest office of the U.S. Department of Labor Wage and Hour Division. These offices are located in Everett, Olympia, Richland, Seattle, Spokane, Tacoma and Portland, Ore.

The minimum wage for minors in those businesses not covered by the Fair Labor Standards Act, but under the mercantile or public house-keeping industrial welfare orders, will be raised to $1.40 per hour at a public hearing in Olympia May 20, Jacobs said. The new rules allow employers to hire untrained minors at $1.20 per hour for the first 240 hours, if authorized in the minor work permit.

"The minimum wage for minors is in no way any indication of the average wage paid to minors," Jacobs said. "From our records, it appears that the current average wage paid to employees under 18 is $1.68 per hour."

Certain occupations are forbidden to minors, Jacobs said. Operating or tending dangerous power-driven machinery is not allowed--unless the teenager has undergone approved training. Teenagers are not permitted to work as drivers or helpers on licensed motor vehicles in area congested with traffic, unless they have completed bona fide driver training courses. In manufacturing or food-processing operations, minor employees must be at least 16 years of age. Under no circumstances may teenagers work in logging or coal mining.

Jacobs said the hours teenagers may work are also regulated. While attending school, a minor's work schedule must be approved by the school. During the school year, 14- and 15-year-olds may not work later than 7 p.m., but may work as late as 9 p.m. from June 1 through Labor Day.

WEAR YOUR SEAT BELTS

Not too long ago, State troopers were called to a reported serious accident on one of the major freeways within the State. Upon their arrival they found two persons dead--a young mother and her five-year-old daughter. No one else was in the car.

There were seat belts in the car, but they had not been used. According to the troopers, there was little doubt that both the mother and daughter would undoubtedly have suffered only minor injuries at the most if they had been wearing the seat belts at the time of the crash.

The reason for the deaths of these two people was that they had been thrown violently about within the car and struck their heads and bodies on the hard surfaces.

"We constantly advocate the use of seat belts," said State Patrol Chief O. C. Furseth, "because our experience has taught us the value of these safety devices. Yet a great many drivers and passengers still fail to use them." Chief Furseth stated, "We don't have to remind the troopers to wear them--they know and appreciate their value."

Thousands of accident reports are received at the State Patrol Headquarters in Olympia each year, showing that drivers and passengers were seriously injured or killed, and that they were not wearing seat belts at the time of the crash. State troopers know from experience that in most of those accidents, serious injury and death could have been avoided if the seat belts had been worn at the time of the crash.

electricity and your environment

Electricity has a special role in protecting your environment. And that role will grow in the years ahead.

Today, electricity performs many tasks to provide cleanliness and comfort. Electric heating, air conditioning, humidifiers and de-humidifiers enable you to live in cleaner, more comfortable indoor environment. A variety of air cleaning devices, such as filters in heating and air cleaning systems and electronic air cleaners, remove smoke, dirt, pollen and other impurities from the air you breathe.

Exciting new electrical uses offer valuable benefits in protecting our natural resources by reducing pollution. In the future, electric automobiles and electrified rapid transit systems may remove much of the pollution now created by internal combustion motors.

Many other exciting new uses for electricity are on the drawing boards or in the experimental stage. In the near future, electric energy may be increasingly used to dispose of waste, re-cycle waste, remove salt from sea water, and treat sewage. Electric heat and climate control devices may be the means to stimulate the abundant, year-round crop growth needed to feed our growing world population.

To continue its present contributions to a cleaner planet and fulfill its future responsibilities, the electric industry will have many technical problems to solve, and research efforts must be stepped up. Electric generation plants must be built which more efficiently deal with adverse effects of discharging heat, gases, liquids and particulates to air and water. And, new technology to transmit and distribute power will be needed in the years ahead, if we are to satisfactorily solve environmental problems.

With careful planning and determined efforts, clean electric energy will be a positive force in protecting and enhancing environment today and for generations to come.

Your P.U.D. . . . part of the solution, not part of the problem.

CANINE AND EQUINE

By Sharon Clarke

My last article on dogs was about people-dog training sessions. Since then I've received many inquiries as to when there will be an obedience class offered. We have decided to have a meeting concerning this on Monday, June 14; time and location not yet decided. So far, there are 5 possible applicants. If we can drum up 5 more, there will be a 10-week course offered. Let me tip you on one thing--my husband, Al, and our Welsh Corgi, Sam, will be among the students. This you've got to see. Mutt & Jeff for real! Another candidate I must tell about is a German Shepherd named "Trina". She's a silver shepherd with a little gold here and there, and a notch out of one ear--reason unknown by this writer. When we first met "Trina", we were quite frightened of her. Here was a large German Shepherd leaping at the end of a chain attached to a large dog house. Her teeth were gnashing as she snarled and barked at us. We were grateful for the heavy chain! The reason for this unfriendly greeting was a litter of puppies playing around her.

Since this introduction Trina has become one of our best friends. She has been spayed and my what a change. Such a loveable animal to those she knows, and beings she takes care of the place where our horses are, we're well acquainted by now. We know our horses are well protected however, from any strangers who attempt to near them.

Trina is a dog who obeys the natural instinct of her breed--that of herding. She's always ready for that command to "head up" or rather in her case "heel out" the King's cattle when these bovine pests enter the sacred garden area of Glenn King, or the corral area where our "Babe" and little "Pesito" are--Trina is on the job. She knows where those cows should be and puts them there, but quick! Anyway, this lady will also be learning man's way of obedience along with "Sam" and others.

For further information call 6736. We need more interested people.
