MAKAH DAYS 1971

By Sheila M. Schott

Many of the people in this area have either heard about or gone to Makah Days Celebrations. But, how many of us have realized the true meaning of what the Makah Nation is celebrating at this particular time?

The first official Makah Day was on August 26, 1924. On this day, the Makah Nation was made full-fledged citizens of the United States of America, giving them full voting rights.

An official ceremony was held at Neah Bay with the United States President's Emisary presenting the United States Flag to James Peterson, Albert Irving and Luke Markstrom, making these men the original flag raisers for the Makah Nation.

At this year's celebration, the flag will be presented to the descendants of the original flag raisers in a special ceremony.

This celebration has become an annual event, in which each year the Makah Days have grown from a small celebration to one of large proportions.

The Makah Nation can well be proud of the type of celebration they have. Many hours of hard work and planning go into this event.

On Saturday, the general public is very privileged to see many of these people's original customs come to light.

The children's dances seen during the day are all original, and taught to them at an early age. The costumes worn are all handmade and authentic.

The canoes used in the races on Saturday and Sunday are all handmade from cedar logs. They are made in the same fashion as the earliest war canoes. Some of the canoes you will see are from 25 to 30 years old. Each year there is work done on these canoes to make them as light and fast as possible. On close examination, you will see that some of them are almost paper thin.

Both men and women will be racing on a long course, and you can expect lots of action. These people spend many hours in training, learning to be good pullers.

On Saturday evening, you will be privileged to see the adult Indian dances performed. These dances are family dances handed down from generation to generation. These dances originate from dreams, visions and actual happenings. All of the dances have special meanings and are sacred. Therefore, you will not be allowed to take your camera along unless you receive special permission from the family whose dances are being performed.

Salmon for the salmon bake held on Saturday will be baked in the traditional way. The salmon are split and mounted whole on stakes which are driven into the ground around an open fire pit to cook. Be sure and have some of this salmon. It is delicious.

Bone games, which usually take place after the ceremonial dancing at the community hall, are an old traditional guessing game. Two teams are seated facing each other. Each team keeps the same pointer, whose job is to guess the opponents unmarked bones. If the pointer guesses right, the bones go to his team. This game is played with Indian bone game songs and the beating of the drums. The Indian people feel that mysticism plays a great part in the handling and pointing involved in the bone game.

For a truly delightful and entertaining time, be sure and visit Neah Bay this weekend. You will find a full schedule of events on page 6 of this paper.

Local sales tax distributions

Local retail sales and use tax revenues totaling $8,479,585 for the May-June period will be distributed this month to 32 counties and 243 municipalities, totaling disbursements for the first half of 1971 to $21.6 million.

The total will be the largest two-month pay-out since the tax was started in April, 1970, exceeding by a million dollars the previous high of $7.5 for the November-December period last year.

Forks and Clallam County will received $6,729,58 and $26,613.96, respectively for the 2-month period.

JR.-SR. HIGH REGISTRATION

New students in grades 7-12, or returning students who have not completed scheduling, may report to the high school office beginning August 30 through September 3 from 9-12 noon. Fees may also be taken care of at this time. Waiting until the first day of school on September 7 is not advisable.

Deadline nearing for deer and elk drawings

State Game Department officials reminded hunters today that application deadline for antlerless deer permits is 4:30 p. m., Thursday, September 2. Deadline for cow elk applications is 4:30 p. m., Thursday, September 16.

Hunters are reminded that it is unlawful for any person who drew an elk permit the previous year to apply for the next two succeeding years. Any person applying for an elk permit during the period of ineligibility will be automatically disqualified for an additional two years. There are no restrictions applying for successive antlerless deer permits.

Application for an individual permit is made on the form attached to deer and elk tags. Applications may be hand delivered to any Game Department Regional Office or mailed directly to the Olympia main office at 600 North Capitol Way, Olympia, Washington 98504.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Editor,

People seem always to go too far when they get started even in a good direction.

There is no doubt that things can go wrong and need revision, but always there are these fanatics around to push things out of alignment. Fanatics have always been around. We have found some of our dearest examples in religion, for look at Ireland today, and Pakistan, and then think back to the crusades and the Inquisitions and many other examples.

Today we are simply overwhelmed with the ecologists and preservationists activated by blind faith, and with one side of the picture over-promoted until reasonableness and good sense are both kicked out. The latest silliness is sprouting very near our community. At last, after many years of desultory and half-hearted effort, the State of Washington has developed a scientific and well organized method of managing the thousands of acres of State School Lands concentrated in Clallam and Jefferson Counties in an area that is absolutely a natural for tree farming.

Revenue from the harvested timber helps keep our schools going and lightens the burden of the taxpayer, which we all know is heavy enough. Of late, a new idea has arrived among our fanatics. They now want to add to the already overwhelming size of our new productive lands by prohibiting the present practice of clear logging in the Clearwater-Hoh State Forests and the construction of roads there. We already have the more than 800,000 acre Olympic Park in which nature has her ways in which more than 600,000 acres are entirely unvisited and hence, unused, and barely 5% gets 90% of the visitation. Who stirred the mess up for the State School is hard to say, but almost any suggestion will activate the ecologists and conservation dubs today, 90% of whose membership are, in essence, only Sunday woodsmen and therefore don't really understand the outdoors and the way nature operates. If a forest is unharvested, for every tree that grows another must die and decay so production is zero. Properly harvested and protected, that same forest will, in course of less than 75 years, completely replace its own original value. There are two usual methods of logging; selective, in which only desirable trees are cut and the rest are left behind, and clear-cut in which everything is harvested. In proper practice, trash is then burned and the area replanted. Here the trees get an even start and by proper management, a forest of straight clear timber is the end result. Going back to selective logging, it is almost impossible to burn trash without damaging relict trees, growth is uneven, some trees getting too much light, others not enough, and in case of a storm, many of the unharvested trees bereft of protection of others will go down. Also, it is almost impossible to avoid breaking saplings with timber being felled. All of you people of Forks who have lived here--about for 25 years or more cannot fail to have noticed how our once abundant wildlife has dwindled away in the course of even that relatively short period of time. Again a case of now management with nature having her way and man stepping in. If there were no people around, the cougar would starve when game arrived at a certain low so there would be a balance. So add the man and his gun and soon the cat and man have cut the wildlife population beyond level of reproduction.

If we want to profit from our resources, we must use wisely, husband carefully, avoid waste, and replace what we have used. Nature is a wastrel or a producer according as to how we approach her. Lena Fletcher Forks, Washington

Editor,

Is it possible that some of the earnest but timid writers of the more expressive type of letters take concealment behind assumed names and would you be aware of it if you read such a letter? Happily, I am not tempted to put out any.

You are right, of course, in refusing anonymous letters, but some of them (Slurp! Drool!) would surely inflate the circulation were they made available to the public!

Marie Lewis Star Rt. 1, Box 438 Forks, Wash.

Editor,

It is regrettable that the unhappiness incidental to the crowning of the 4th of July queen should have been dragged across the printed pages, causing added embarrassment as well as making history that should be forgotten; as it involves a young person or persons whose inclinations will probably undergo many changes between now and maturity.

This should only happen to politicians in the public self defense! I would recommend that all candidates know fully where they stand before they have to face the public, in this case an estimated 8,000 persons!

I did not see the crowning, but remember thinking; "Someone here today is unhappy", and thought of the candidates for queen as a likely area. It was,

FATAL ACCIDENTS REPORT

The first annual report on fatal traffic accidents on the Washington State Highway System was presented to the Washington State Highway Commission during its regular monthly meeting in Olympia this week.

The report was compiled by the Traffic Division of the Washington State Highway Department after extensive investigation and research into each of the 390 fatal traffic accidents in which 469 fatalities occurred on the state highway system during 1969.

The time lag between the date of the accidents and the date of the report is due to the wait necessary for all the statistics for the year to be gathered, and the time needed to put the investigating and statistic gathering machinery into operation. In addition, time was needed to carefully evaluate all the data from each of the accidents.

The report reveals some rather surprising facts, as well as data which seems to substantiate already available information.

The largest number of fatal accidents (22.8%) occurred in King County, followed by Snohomish County with 8.5% and Pierce County with 8.2%. Wahkiakum County was evidently the safest part of the State. It was the only county with no fatal accidents on the state highway system.

Interstate Five, the most heavily traveled highway in the state, had 70 fatalities caused by 58 accidents. State Route 12 had the second largest number of fatalities, 41 in 28 fatal accidents. Of the 166 State Routes within the state, 80 did not have a fatal accident.

The often stated warning--if you drink--Don't drive!--proved correct in this study as the number one major causative factor was the drinking driver. In all the fatal accidents, 29% of the drivers had been drinking.

The other major causative factors in order were: vehicles turning into paths of others; excessive speed; driver falling asleep; and pedestrian failure to yield right-of-way.

A strong case was made for the use of seat belts as only 3.8% of those killed were wearing them. As an interesting sidelight, out of the 1024 occupants of automobiles involved in fatal accidents only 50.9% had seat belts available. Of those, only 13.8% were using them.

WARNING ADVISORY SIGN

Bad roadway conditions were not at fault as much as some would believe. Over 68% of the fatal accidents occurred on a dry roadway. In addition, 33.8% of the fatal accidents happened during daylight hours in clear and dry weather.

The worst month, day, and time for fatal accidents throughout the year were the Fridays in August between seven o'clock and eight o'clock in the evening.

In multi-vehicle fatal accidents, the report revealed that head-on collisions were by far the most deadly. Over 27% or 106 of the fatal accidents involving more than one car were head-on collisions.

Angle collisions at intersections caused 37 fatal accidents (9.5%), and rear end collisions accounted for 16 fatal accidents (4.1%).

In single vehicle fatal accidents, 16.7% or 65 were caused by the automobile colliding with highway appurtenances. The next three major types of collision in single vehicle fatal accidents involved: collision with pedestrians 12.8% or 50 fatal accidents; collision with a fixed object other than a highway appurtenance 10.8% or 42 fatal accidents; and non-collision 11% or 43 fatal accidents.

The types of objects most commonly hit by out-of-control vehicles were guardrails (6.9%) and bridge abutments, columns, and railings 4.7%.

Of those collisions involving pedestrian, 1.4% occurred in April and November with Sunday being the most deadly day (2.4%). Fifty-six percent of these pedestrian fatalities occurred in urban areas.

The Washington State Highway System Fatal Traffic Accident report will be compiled annually now as a part of the Washington State Highway Department's continued effort to evaluate the causes of fatal traffic accidents and eliminate them whenever possible from the state highway system.

The Washington State Highway Commission approved this week an advisory sign informing motorists driving trucks, pulling trailers or hauling campers not to use the left or median lane on Washington Highways six lanes or wider.

The new sign has been used experimentally for the last few months along Interstate Highway 5 between Olympia and Tacoma with favorable results. Now the sign will be used on a larger experimental scale on selected sections of Interstate Highway 405 and 5.

Test results compiled by the Washington State Highway Department during the first stage of the Olympia-Tacoma experiment showed a much more even traffic flow and less congestion.

The new advisory sign is heavily supported by the Washington State Patrol. Troopers find slow moving vehicles consist mostly of cars pulling trailers, camper trucks and regular trucks utilizing the state highways. With the implementation of the new sign, however, congestion will decline and another highway hazard eliminated.

The new approved experiment will last about six months. At the end of that time Washington State Highway commissioners will further explore the possibilities of utilizing this sign under regulatory standards on heavily traveled vacation routes.

WAR VETERANS ON FISHING TRIP Twenty-eight Vietnam War Veterans from the Naval Hospital in Bremerton were enjoying free lodging at Ocean Park Resort August 17, and the next day were taken on a fishing trip by Fisher's Charter. The Chamber of Commerce in Port Orchard and the merchants of South Kitsap got together and arranged the fishing trip. The "outing" was started 5 years ago by Claude Hill and was taken over this year by Caryol and Bill Cummings. A certain percent of the fish caught will be used for a salmon and old-fashioned picnic August 29, to which the veterans, the men and their wives will be invited. The deputy sheriffs and their wives will take over all the cooking. Bill Winsor from KIRO T. V. went along on the fishing trip which was shown on Channel 7, August 19. Dog Obedience Class...

About 8 weeks ago, we began a class in novice obedience work. Starting with 10 dogs of various shapes and sizes, we have now narrowed down to 7 remaining pupils because of drop-outs---(moving, no time, etc.). The progress of these dogs and their handlers has been amazing. Anyone who witnessed our class the first week or two would be able to attest to this.

The term "graduation" is reference to a dog class has been openly snickered at in my presence recently. This insulted me until I realized this person was not being as much as he has ignorant of what we do to reach this point. A lot of hard work, patience and just plain determination goes into obedience training. My hat's off to all those who have stuck with it through discouragement and actual despair over their animal's lack of attention. Our finished products will be a little in the rough, but a lot more polished than they were 8 weeks ago. My appreciation for the handlers' cooperation, and my pride in their accomplishments is expressed in the graduation class. As instructor, I have seen the progress each dog and handler have made and I appreciate it all.

Our graduation will be held at 7:30 p.m., August 30th (Monday). We have an instructor from Sequim coming out to judge the exercises. There will be a trophy and six place ribbons awarded our pupils. Anyone interested may attend. We are considering the possibility of offering a class during the winter months. This will be a 12-week course and will be indoors. I have learned a lot from this class that will help make the next one even better with the two-week extension and the lack of distractions we had to contend with at the park. We must have at least 7 dogs before a class can be organized. If you are interested in enrolling or in attending our graduation, call 6736 for details.

VFW NEWS

Shirley Sharpes, Sr. Vice President of Fletcher-Wittenborn Auxiliary to Post #9106, presided at the August 16th meeting in the absence of the president, Martha Lewis. Committees reporting proved there is much activity despite the summer vacation. Rehabilitation chairman, Shirley Fox, reported many sympathy and get well cards had been sent as well as memorials to the Cancer Fund. Jeanne James, chairman of the cancer program, announced the cancer quota for the new year had already been reached. Sybil Merritt reported that there were new residents in the Washington cottage at the National Home, a new house mother and her four youngsters have taken up residence there. The Auxiliary agreed to have a national home scrapbook this year.

Leta Klahn, Sewing Club chairman, said the club would meet on the fourth Tuesday of each month beginning with August. The first meeting will be at the home of Leta Klahn. Projects for the hospitals and bazaar to be held this fall were discussed.

It was announced that the National president, Frances Harmon, will make her official visit to the Department of Washington on September 24th and 25th in Yakima.

Reports of the Post-Auxiliary picnic held at Lake Pleasant on August 15th resulted in the following comments: "The best ever!!!!" "The friendliest crowd we've ever had; approximately 135 people attended." "Food was the greatest, the salmon baked by Chef Vernie Black was delicious." "Games and prizes were tops; the horse shoe tournament added to the enjoyment of the grownups." "Can't wait until next year." "To top it off, the weather was very co-operative." On Sunday, August 1st, District #14 commander and president, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fox, attended the picnic of the Imfitoto Post and Auxiliary. On August 8th, the picnic of Clyde-Rhodefer Post and Auxiliary was the order of the day. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Sharpes and family and Leta and Daisy Klahn were also there from Forks. They reported a delightful picnic. The commander and president and Mr. and Mrs. Sharpes visited the Henry Echterkamp Post and Auxiliary on Tuesday, August 10th. Mrs. Fox presented a Voice of Democracy award to the Auxiliary for their participation in that program.

Had a gathering of the clan Sunday at Quinalut. Thirty-two of us under one roof! From the outside, it sounded like a hive of bees. You should have heard the racket from the inside!

The Women's Powder Puffs will meet tonight (August 26 at the V. F. W. Hall at 7:00 p. m.) Then at 8:00, some place, the Women's City Association will have their conflag, followed at 9:00 by the gal's Thursday Nite League. Be a busy little place, won't it? Be there!

Big nite at Saturday Nite Monte Carlo. Vera Rondeau won the colored T. V. set. Its been setting down there so long, the color has probably faded a lot. Congratulations, Vera. Now when Leta doesn't bowl good, she'll blame it on the late movies, I suppose.

Mother had the big Jackpot shot, but dag nab it, missed. Our son Doug then picked off half of it by picking up that 6-7-10 split. Just like the old man taught him to. John Nagel had a try at part of what was left. Sorry, about that, John.

Don't leave, folks, there's still better than a hundred bucks left to shoot at!

Most leagues start right after Labor Day, so better start getting ready.

OUTDOOR LORE

By Lonnie Archibald

THIS, THE SATURDAY MORNING DRIFT

Ron Shearer and I made the trip down the big Quillayute Saturday morning in search of the mighty coho and chinook which, according to various rumors, were stacked in bank-to-bank. Anticipating a fine catch and properly dressed for the damp weather, we launched our tub and in that warm section of water lying between the Soleduck and Bogachiel rivers. After several casts and half as many hang-ups in the first hole, we boldly moved on down river in hopes of harvesting the crop.

With rain dripping off his cowboy hat, Ron attempted to light up a cancer-stick. Several matches and a few words later, operation light-up had fallen victim to that of the unfavorable weather.

Rounding the next bend, we were fortunate enough to come upon one of those outdoor comedies often heard about but seldom seen. And there it was in full color; a real classic as guide Jim Edwards demonstrated to sportsman John McFall the act of hooking, playing and landing a 4-inch bullhead while afloat on the rising waters of the Quillayute.

We rowed our tub over to the Edwards' boat, exchanged a few words of wisdom, Ron borrowed a light then he and Jim commenced to smoke up the entire valley. A few cigarettes and short stories later, John and I had all the smoke we could take and it was unanimous that we get back to that which we had set out to accomplish. There was no doubt in my mind that we had all given our wives the same old excuse for getting out of the house; salmon stakes for the supper table.

Well, Ron and I tried every secret lure we had aboard ship, only (of course) after the Edwards boat had departed, and came up with a score of zero.

The next stretch of river which generally produces fish, yielded nothing as we tried desperately to score on at least one specimen which would serve as proof of our Saturday morning expedition.

The Rishwine hole produced one jack as an appetizer, but this Dept. of Fisheries specimen was to be the first and last salmon of the day for Pen. Tel. & Tel.'s two top fishing experts.

No trip is a wasted trip, however, as just the drift alone is well worth the time, not to mention the scenery. Beaver, otter, deer, elk, bear, ducks and pigeons, all add to the beauty and excitement of this, the Saturday morning drift. HERE AND THERE

Ralph Hilt has caught his share of salmon, cutthroat and steelhead this summer. Now its back to school for Ralph and more fish for others. According to reports, salmon are now beginning their journey up the Soleduck salmon cascades. This, of course, varies with the weather during August, as the season is in its early stages. Russ Thomas reports some fine cutthroat fishing in the Soleduck but then fishing is generally excellent wherever Russ drops his line.

Campers Cautioned About Bears

State Game Department officials cautioned campers that large numbers of bear this year are frequenting campgrounds in the Naches Ranger District of the Snoqualmie National Forest this summer.

Areas most frequently visited by bear are Lodgepole, Hells Crossing, Pleasant Valley, Kaner Flat, Crow Creek and Bumping Lake campgrounds.

Game officials attribute several factors possibly contributing to this situation. Late frosts and a short growing season have reduced the berry crop, which provides abundant natural bear feed in normal years.

Further, prior to this summer, local bear have relied on garbage dumps for feeding. With a county ban on burning, local dumps have been closed and buried, thus eliminating them from use by bear.

Being omnivorous, bears will take the easiest means to obtain food. With normal feeding grounds not providing adequately, bear have moved into Naches-area campgrounds in search of a meal.

In many instances the campers themselves are responsible for creating this dangerous situation. U.S. Forest Service personnel have reported many campers feeding bear. Feeding, either intentionally or by leaving food scraps in an abandoned campsite, causes serious problems for future campers. What starts out as a novelty for one camper, soon turns into serious business for the bear. The first camper goes home, but the bear returns, this time demanding a handout from the next camper. This situation has resulted in several bear being shot illegally.

Campers are advised not to feed wildlife of any kind in campground areas. Wild animals--especially bear--are not pets. Stay away from them!

COUNCIL NEWS

The Town Council met on Monday, August 23, at 7:30 p. m. at the Town Hall. A number of citizens were in attendance with business for the Council. First on the agenda was a complaint by the tenants of the Forks Mobile Home Park of noise produced by a taper machine on Sunday mornings. The owner of said machine explained he was not aware of the disturbance, but would see to it such noise would be curtailed in the future. The area in question is outside the zoned area. A taper machine operation is not a mill operation.

The following building permits were approved by the Council: Kenneth Garbrick, $1,000.00; Kampe Construction, new home, Block 3, Lot 1, Mansfield 2nd Addition, $36,000.00; Charles E. Anderson, new home, $14,000; Mair Bros. builders; Charles E. Anderson, remodeling existing home, $5,000; Mair Bros., builders; A. B. Walker Construction, new home, Lot 8, Block 2, Campbell's Addition, $20,000.00.

Forks dog pound? A good beginning anyway. The Council will order two 4 x 8 foot holding pens for openers. The Council also discussed, at great length, a proposed leash law which would include a hike in license fees, compulsory inoculations, plus penalties for failure to heed to the dog leash law. The ordinance will be published in the Forks Forum as soon as it is completed in detail and passed by the Town Council.

Regarding the Thomas Addition's interim sewer system, the Council passed by unanimous vote an agreement between American Pacific Corporation and the Town of Forks, that the town of Forks, accept ownership of said interim sewer system at such time when the proposed Forks sewer system comes into being. The parking lot used by movie-goers is in line for re-alignment; the purpose being easier parking and less congested exits and entries.

Mention was made of trucks double parking on main street, causing traffic hazards and obstructing vision. Marshal Huson was asked to look into the matter. A note to bike riders: there is an ordinance prohibiting riding bicycles on the sidewalks of Forks. Offenders will be cited. Marshal Huson said he would like very much to conduct a class on bicycle safety. This will be announced. The sign of our times should read 1679, but the state doesn't seem to think we have that many folks in the confines of our limits. Attention tourists: We're almost 1700 strong. Next scheduled Council meeting is Monday, September 6, at 7:30 p. m. Plan to attend. Find out what's happening. Remember, the only permanent thing in life is change, so keep informed about your town.

SCHOOL BOARD

The regular meeting of the Board of Directors of Quillayute Valley School District No. 402 was held August 19, 1971, in the library of the high school. Directors Fred Fletcher, Darrel Gaydeski, Myron Simmons and Cecil Wallerstedt were present.

Mr. Newbry reported he would like to postpone decision on Parent-Teacher Conferences until September to enable him to confer with his staff after school starts. He emphasized he feels the District should go this way to upgrade our relations with teachers, parents and students. The preliminary work indicates it would take three afternoons for the Primary Building allowing twenty minute conferences from one to four-fifteen p. m. It would involve bussing the students home or having them in one large classroom with teacher aides for movies during the conference time. He would like to have it the first and third reporting periods. For this year would have it only in kindergarten through third grade. No Board action at this time. It will be considered again in September.

A letter was read from James Traver requesting reassignment from Principal of the High School to Administrative Assistant and Federal Programs Officer working in Mr. Hitchcock's office for the school year of 1971-72.

A letter was read from Jack C. Blaine requesting reassignment from Intermediate Principal to 7th and 8th grade math and would accept a reduction in pay commensurate with the position of teacher.

A letter was read from Jesse S. Maxfield accepting any position the Board felt he could help the District in accepting.

Requests for reassignment were accepted from Mr. Traver and Mr. Blaine and Mr.

Maxfield was appointed Intermediate Principal for the year 1971-72.

Ray Johnston was appointed Vocational Education Department Head.

Mr. Hitchcock clarified the freeholder question brought up at the last meeting. A candidate for the school board does not have to own land, he has to be a registered voter in the district he files for. The time for filing for school board candidacy this year is from September 3 through September 17th. Forms for this are in the office of the Superintendent of Forks Schools. They require notarization of filing after the 3rd of September and in time to reach the County Auditor on or before the 17th of September.

The drug is supplied without charge under the Rheumatic Fever Control Program sponsored jointly by the Heart Association and State and local Departments of Social and Health Services.

During the fiscal year ending July 1, there were 2,650 rheumatic fever patients receiving penicillin, compared with 2,787 the previous year.

Twenty-eight residents of Clallam County receive penicillin under this program.

A Heart Association survey made earlier this year also revealed that since the Rheumatic Fever Control Program was begun, the number of children confined to bed with this disease has been drastically reduced. Rheumatic fever, an aftermath of streptococcal infection, has long been the chief cause of heart damage in children and young adults.

STATE TIMBER CHURCH TO BE SOLD NEWS

"Nearly 34 million board feet of timber will be offered for sale September 27 and 28," Charles Schwab, Supervisor of Timber Sales, Department of Natural Resources, announced today. The thirteen parcels of timber contain 33,635,000 board feet and are valued at $1,192,680.

The most valuable sale is located 23 miles south of Forks. It has been appraised by Department foresters at $453,510. Most of it is cedar, hemlock and white fir.

The largest offering is the Maple Creek Flyer Sale, 28 miles southeast of Forks. It contains 11.1 million board feet of mostly hemlock and white fir. This timber sale varies from ordinary sales in that it requires the logging to be done with a "Flyer" logging system. This method of cable logging is capable of lifting logs completely off the ground and transporting them over long distances, thereby reducing soil disturbance.

The basic advantage of this system is the reduction in the amount of road building that is necessary to log a given area. The roads for this sale are located along ridgetops, so that the timber can be removed from the area without harming nearby streams. This will greatly reduce the possibility of soil erosion and stream sedimentation.

The Department plans to use the "Flyer" system on as many sales as possible, although special logging systems such as this cannot be used on all areas because each system requires special topographic features in order to function effectively.

Timber sales will be offered in the following counties: Clallam, Clark, Cowlitz, Garfield, Jefferson, Pacific, Skamania and Wahkiakum. Clallam County: Seibert Creek Thinning & Clearcut-405,000 board feet, appraised at $9,847.50, located approximately 9 miles by road east of Port Angeles, to be sold September 27, at the Port Angeles District Office.

Jefferson County: Maple Creek Flyer--11.1 million board feet, appraised at $298,665.00, located approximately 28 miles southeast of Forks, to be sold Sept. 28, at the Forks District Office.

Clearwater Leave Strip #1--2.6 million board feet, appraised at $56,305.00, located approximately 31 miles by road south of Forks, to be sold September 28, at the Forks District Office.

Nolan 1000--8.8 million board feet, appraised at $453,510.00, located approximately 23 miles by road south of Forks, to be sold September 28, at the Forks District Office.

More than 60 children took part in a busy week of activities at the church this past week while attending Bible school. On Friday night they presented their program and displays. Some 125 parents and children were in attendance. The staff included the following: director, Mrs. Larry Goodman, chairman of the Board of Christian education; song leader, Mrs. John Henson; organist, Mrs. Ivan Burr; teachers, 3-year-olds, Lisa Baker and Colleen Fuhs; 4 & 5 year-olds, Mrs. John Halverson and Mrs. Lee Roark; grades 3 & 4, Mrs. Russell Holt and Karol Bechtold; grades 5 & 6, Mrs. John Henson and Mrs. Ivan Burr; recreation, Mrs. George Fraker; refreshments, Mrs. Ted Ringsmuth; assistant, Mrs. Clarence Fuhs. A special offering was collected for the Heifer Project to send baby chicks to needy families overseas. The church has also received a military citation for its efforts in helping the needy children in South Vietnam.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Forks Chamber of Commerce met August 18 at the Vagabond for their monthly noon meeting. Mrs. Nedra Reed presided over the meeting and introduced as guest, Andy Kruswyk, County Extension Agent for Clallam County.

A report on a survey, as to why chamber members were not turning out the way they should for meetings was given. Most members felt they would like to be informed about the meeting by mail or telephone. Mrs. Ella Paul also expressed a desire to be informed ahead of time as to what the program would be. A mailing list is being compiled.

Bernie Nash, member of the Prairie Dogs 4-H club, presented the program for the day by giving a demonstration on "The Importance of Knowing Your Egg". He explained the differences in the quality of eggs, the size, how to pack them so they won't break. The cartons in which the eggs are packed are also to be properly marked, according to the state law, and dated with the day the eggs were laid. A brief question and answer period followed.

Vice president Nedra Reed announced the Chamber of Commerce in Port Angeles would like to meet with Forks Chamber of Commerce to discuss similar problems and possible solutions. As soon as all the bills from the Fourth of July celebration have been turned in, a complete report will be presented to the Chamber.

Next meeting will be held September 15.

QUILEUTE INDIAN DAYS HELD

Queen Bonita Cleveland places the headband on warrior Harvey Eastman. First runner-up was Winifred Ward, other contestants were Rosita Ward, Earlene Penn and Terry Penn. Running for Warriors were Lonnie Foster, Joe Williams, Jr., Mark Williams and George Williams.

It looked as if the Indian dancers had been practicing their "rain dance" a little bit too much, for when master of ceremonies, Phil Ward, opened the weekend celebration by welcoming all the visitors, rain was pouring down. But as the day went on, more and more people arrived and in the afternoon everyone could enjoy the sunshine.

Dedication prayer was said by Mrs. Lillian Pullen, followed by an introduction of the queen candidates by Miss DeAnna Penn. Miss Connie Jones, last year's queen, placed the crown on the queen for 1972, Miss Bonita Cleveland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cleveland. For her warrior, Miss Cleveland chose Harvey Eastman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Butch Eastman.

Miss Suzy Pitman of Seattle dedicated her speech in memory of Jon Richards and expressed a wish that the people in LaPush showed their flexibility and changed the softball tournament to a basketball tournament which lasted the whole day, except for a break for the canoe races. During the day, the visitors were able to enjoy a delicious salmon bake with Butch Eastman and Chuck Cleveland as chief cooks.

The celebration on Saturday ended with a modern dance held at the Community Center. The dance was a big success, and playing for the dance was an all-Indian group from Port Gamble, "The Buffaloes".

The Sunday festivities started off with the Single Game Elimination Tournaments with teams from different parts of the state. Hot dogs, potato salad, baked beans, watermelon and pop could be purchased throughout the day. The Sunday events ended at dusk with the presentation of all-star trophies and awards.

Quileute Days tournament

The results of the softball single game elimination tournament held in LaPush August 22 are as follows:

The "Elwah Bravettes" placed first with the "Parker-Chinook" girls from Yakima Valley in second place. Third place went to the girls on the LaPush 2 team, and the "Lummi Gallant Maidens" placed fourth.

All-star trophies went to "Parker-Chinook" pitcher, Grace Wasiele, and right-fielder, Charlene Fiander. Others receiving all-star trophies were: Carmen Pullen of LaPush 2, catcher; Sharon Taylor of Tulalip, pitcher; Viola Fisher of Queets, pitcher and LaPush also placed first in the 4-man canoe race. Umpire for the softball tournament was Tom Slee, official umpire for the Little League and Babe Ruth League in the Tacoma area. Tournament board chairman was Chris Penn, and other board members were: Butch Eastman, Casey Jones, Duane Jones and Phil Ward.

Due to the rain, the teams played basketball instead of softball on Saturday. The scores were: Parker-Chinook-Elwah Bravettes, 35 to 5; LaPush 2-Tulalip, 34 to 19; Lummi Gallant Maidens-LaPush 1, 12 to 8; Yakima Nation-Wapato Hawks, 22 to 12.

In the 11-man canoe race, the Makah Won placed first with the Makah Warrior in second place. In the 3 and 4-woman canoe race, LaPush took first place and Parker-Chinook second. This was the first time the girls from Parker-Chinook were in a canoe race.

BIRTHS

S/Sgt. and Mrs. Steven R. (Randy) Fraker had a baby girl August 16. Celia Elaine weighed 6 pounds, 7 ounces and her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Joe Blomgren and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Fraker, all of Forks. The Frakers are living in Grand Forks, North Dakota.

Scientists find 86% of a tree is used

During the last several months there has been considerable question regarding the efficiency of the forest industry in using the timber it harvests. Two Forest Service scientists, Donald R. Gedney and John W. Henly of the Pacific Northwest Forest and Range Experiment Station in Portland, Oregon, present figures in a current report titled "Utilization Estimates for Western Softwoods--Trees, Logs, and Residues," on the effectiveness of wood fiber recovery in terms of current logging practices, manufacturing, and use of mill residues.

The information presented is of importance now when the effort is toward increasing the Nation's wood supply. If considerable wood remains unused, then the potential exists for increasing production by more effective recovery methods. If not, then increased production will have to come from the additional harvesting of timber. The results of the study indicate that between 85 and 95 percent of the cubic-foot volume of a tree is manufactured into logs, about half of the volume of a log is converted to products such as lumber and plywood, and about 80 percent of the residues generated in this process are recovered and used for other products, mainly pulp. For the entire utilization process--from tree to products--as much as 86 percent of the tree is used.

The publication can be obtained by writing to the Director, Pacific Northwest Forest and Range Experiment Station, Box 3141, Portland, Oregon 97208, and asking for Research Note PNW-158.
