How to bring a new doctor to a rural community

Here's a tip for the rural community that doesn't have a physician and wants one: "Look for an MD who grew up in a small community, perhaps even in the same part of the country," suggests the current AMA UPDATE (July/August).
 Some 132 rural counties in 26 states are presently without a non-federal physician. "Paradoxically, most MD's who live and practice in rural areas enjoy their work," says Dr. Bond L. Bible, secretary of AMA's Council on Rural Health. "Once he has established his practice there, a doctor isn't likely to leave."
 Nearly half the physicians polled in a Council survey who were practicing in towns smaller than 2500 said they were brought up in a small town, Dr. Bible says.
 AMA is helping small communities solve their medical care problems in several ways. The Association's Physicians' Placement Service helps communities find a doctor, and vice versa.

State parks attendance hits new high

State Parks attendance passed the 15 million mark for the year in July, midway through the park peak season.
 A total of 5.4 million visitors enjoyed the parks during the month of July--over 700,000 more than were logged for the same month last year, an increase of 15.5 percent.
 "And we would have had a lot more, if we'd had room for them," was the consensus among parks rangers in the 70 state parks which provide overnight camping. "After all spaces were filled, we had to turn away hundreds more every night," rangers reported.
 As it was, nearly half a million people did camp out in state parks in July more than half of these (251,866) in trailers. Fifty thousand camped offshore in their own boats and the balance were tent campers.
 In 1960, when the state's population totaled 2.8 million, state parks attendance totaled 6.9 million. In 1970, when the population count had reached 3.4 million, the parks attendance had zoomed to 23 million. So population growth alone does not fully explain the increase in parks usage. Public awareness of ecological problems and the need to preserve the natural environment may be a factor in the increased enthusiasm for outdoor recreation.
 State Parks officials are wondering if 1971 attendance will climb as high as 30 million for the year. If it does, that will bring the twenty-year total to just under a quarter of a billion--beginning with a count of 164,000 for the year 1950 and soaring every year since to present jam-packed levels.

POOL OF SEA LIFE---The purple star encounters with a sea anemone in one of many tide pools along Washington's coast. Smaller anemone cling to the rock wall of this small, crystal-clear pool. For now, the trapped sea water is calm. The scene will soon change, however, as the tide once again rises and waves spill over our pool of sea life. ---Lonnite Archibald

CAR-TRUCK ACCIDENT

An accident involving a car and log truck occurred at 1:40 p. m., August 25, 1971, 4 miles north of Highway at Gaydeski Road and Highway 101. Mrs. Helen Gaydeski, 69, of Forks pulled onto Highway 101 from Gaydeski Road, attempted to make a U-turn on the highway, and was struck by an empty log truck driven by Wayne Eaze of Rainier, Washington.
 Mrs. Gaydeski suffered a bruise on her forehead.
 There was $1,000 damage to the Gaydeski car; $250 damage to the front end of the log truck.

NEW SCHOOL SIGNS

Motorists are reminded each year about the opening of school and the caution that must be taken to prevent accidents. The Washington State Highway Commission recently approved two new school regulatory signs, both of which share equal importance.
 In years past motorists were warned of school crossings and school zones by written sign messages. However, the new signs show significantly with the use of symbols and color that children may be in the immediate area. A new and distinctive shape is provided for the school advance sign and the school crossing sign. These two signs, pentagon shaped with the point up and a black legend on a yellow background evolved from many requests that there be a distinctive sign for school zones.

Fall is always a dangerous season for children in cities and towns throughout the State, and a very hazardous time of year for many motorists. With the advent of the new symbol signs, the high risk level should decline considerably. However, motorists are advised to drive carefully and defensively and to observe the signs posted, especially those illustrating two children walking across a yellow field.

NEW LOCATION FOR DEPT. OF MOTOR VEHICLES

The Dept. of Motor Vehicles has moved from its temporary location in the New York Life office to its new location in the back corner office of the Almar Building in Forks.

The Dept. will be open each week Tuesday through Saturday from 9 to 6 p. m.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Editor, I would like to take this opportunity to thank all of the people who helped with this year's Girl Scout Day Camp. Because of their efforts, the girls enjoyed a week of fun and learning. People helping with the day camp were: Mrs. Sandy Simmons, Brownie leader; Mrs. Janette Keen, junior leader; Mrs. Jan Bishop, junior leader; Mrs. Diana Grush, nursery leader; Mrs. Mary Howard, nursery leader; Mrs. Cheryl Badgley, aide; Miss Elda Robertson, aide; Miss Patricia Bentley, senior aide; Mrs. Carrie Richardson, Mrs. Melinda Robinson and Mrs. Ingrid Lingvall, transportation; Mrs. Adria Fuhrman, arts and crafts; Mrs. Pam Norton, registrar; Mrs. Sue Holt, business manager; Doug Rush-ton, Don Lupsun, Ken Lindsey and Roy Black.

Thank you for the cooperation. The girls were great kids. Mrs. Jeanne Thomas Box 1052 Forks, Wash.

Aug. 23, 1971

Editor,

Was wondering if you could put a "thank you" notice in your paper?

We were in your town last Wednesday and looked all around for a place to stay overnight, but none to be found. We parked by the Fire Department and talked to a couple of firemen, Jim Edwards and John Henson. They took the time to call LaPush for us; no luck.

So what did they do but offer us their cabin. Then after they got off work, took the time to drive us several miles to show us where it was located, then refused to take any money for the use of their cabin.

We want the people in Forks to know that we think they have two great fellows to protect their town.

Sincerely, Mrs. R. Peason & Family 2605 Rockefeller Everett, Washington

Editor,

The Class of 1961 held their class reunion and with the proceeds left, the group voted to give this generous amount to the Irwin Edwards' Memorial Scholarship Fund. The scholarship committee wished to thank them very kindly.

records could fall over Labor Day

With the long Labor Day weekend approaching, Washington motorists should take a good look at their driving habits especially on interstate highways which have taken a major toll of the 548 fatalities in the state to date.

Last year, on Washington highways, there were 97,486 accidents causing the deaths of 875 persons. Nine hundred and thirty-nine of those accidents and eleven of those deaths occurred over the last three-day weekend of the summer.

Highway safety has recently been neglected for other more glamorous ecological problems, but the toll in lives lost and persons maimed indicates

The Buddhist population of the world is 150 million. There are 300 million Hindus, 12 million Jews, and 400 million Moslems. More than one fourth of the world's population -- some 800 million people -- are Christians!

Two of Jupiter's twelve moons are bigger than the planet Mercury -- Callisto, whose diameter is 3,220 miles, and Ganymede, at 3,200! Saturn's satellite Titan is even bigger, at 3,500 miles. Mercury measures 3,000.

According to a survey of retail business partnerships during a recent year by Dun & Bradstreet, the business information agency, building-supply stores made a profit of 7.31% of cash receipts, liquor stores 7.88%, general merchandise stores 7.16%, and tire and automotive accessory stores 7.33!

COBB SEAMOUNT: WHAT IT'S ALL ABOUT

By Shelia M. Schott

Cobb Seamount; how the heck do you get there without a rocket?

I would have applied to the National Aeronautics Space Administration and offered a share of one million dollars and a jeep to boot, but Spence Campbell, noted underwater expert, tells me otherwise. Cobb Seamount, heaven help me, is not on the moon as my television wave lengths have inferred to me. It's right here on earth a few miles away, and not in dead space but in a very much alive sea.

This exploration could be just as deadly as a space mission because of its calculated risks.

Just as difficult as the desire for space to pull you from your capsule is the difficulty to resist the force of the sea to break in and engulf you from the life you enjoy.

A team of specialized divers have just completed a three day training session for their next expedition to Cobb Seamount, an underwater sea mountain 270 miles due west of Grays Harbor, Washington.

On Friday, August 20th, the team spent the day drilling in Lake Crescent on the Olympic Peninsula. They worked in the water off Sledge Hammer Point, a somewhat rocky area.

On Saturday morning, the divers packed up all of their gear and went to the Coast Guard Station in Port Angeles Tug U.S.S. Toka out of Bangor, Washington. With the help of Captain Dave Freeman and his crew, all of the diving equipment was stowed away and the divers were off for a trip out in the Straits of Juan de Fuca.

After the Toka reached its destination, the divers began diving out for the water. This means putting on wet suits, weight belts, fins, face mask, snorkels, depth gauges, knives, air tanks and regulators. Then the work began.

Team Director Spence Campbell said, "The objective of this trip and series of drills is to simulate diving conditions the team would have at Cobb Seamount." Also he added, "to practice and put into use the safety factors used in his kind of underwater exploration."

The first drill was entry into the water from the vessel, with each diver's team mate jumping within five seconds after his partner. The types of re-entry practiced were: climbing up a cargo net, climbing a Jacob's ladder, and boarding by means of a collapsible chain stage. This may sound easy to the average swimmer, but try it with full diving gear on. Just the weight of the thirty-five pound twin air tanks is enough to throw them off balance. That and the wave action can make getting back on board ship a tough go.

The second drill for Saturday was a simulated emergency pick-up of a diver in trouble.

A small rubber life raft called the Zodiac went out to the approximate distance it would operate from the ship at Cobb, with four divers aboard. Two of the men operate the small craft, one of the divers goes over board and is the victim. The fourth diver represents the safety diver.

When the diver indicates he is in trouble, the safety diver swims out to him, lifts his face mask and assists him until the rescue boat can come along side. The stricken diver is then pulled into the boat, and all of his diving gear is removed as the rescue boat pulls up to the ship. The diver is then transferred to a basket stretcher and pulled aboard the ship. This is a timed operation and these men and women do all of this in three minutes and four seconds.

On Sunday, the main drill was working out in the shark cage with an umbilical air supply called hooka.

The shark cage, a large cage big enough to hold three divers, is lowered into the water. The divers enter the cage either from the top or side doors. They are connected to the umbilical air supply and carry only one small air tank with them for emergency escape in case the air compressor on board ship should fail or their lines get fouled. At this stage, the divers are wearing face masks and helmets with a built-in communications system that keeps them in constant contact with the ship.

At Cobb, this shark cage will be used to study the feeding frenzy of fish and the action of sharks in the water. The divers will put out food and blood to bait the fish in for close observation.

Under the supervision of Spence Campbell, assistant supervisor Vince Rainier and team physician Dr. William Postel, sixteen divers participated in this training session. Three of them are women; Sharon Dodge, JoAnn Duffy, and Carol Rush. Unfortunately, these women will not be able to go on the actual mission because of Coast Guard regulations not permitting women aboard ship.

This session, sponsored and supported by Bellevue Community College and the United States Navy, is only one small part of the many hours of training the team must spend in preparation for this type of study and exploration.

Cobb Seamount, an undersea mountain, rises 10,000 feet from the ocean floor to within 110 feet of the surface. Spence Campbell tells me,

In and Around Town

Mrs. Paul Lingvall, 374-6302

It is relaxing to come back to Forks after spending two hectic days in the big city of Seattle shopping for THAT SPECIAL coat our teenaged daughter wanted. At the Bon Marche, we ran into Connie Johnston and her daughter. Be sure to take a look at our daughter's haircut (a shag), done by Miss Vir-jeanne James, who is attending Mr. Lee's Beauty School in Seattle. And would you believe it, our monkey went along, but was confined to his carrying-cage during the whole trip.

Saturday I went along on a helicopter ride over the areas where the Department of Natural Resources was doing some slash burning last week. Didn't think I would like it, but I'm ready to go up again.

Driving through town, I noticed that Willard Perry has moved into his new office south on Highway 101, across from the Town Motel.

The Forks Motel sure looks nice with its new paint job, an antique gold color, and the trim will be a darker antique gold.

ren and Mrs. Marie Colburn and her son Joe spent 8 days in Priest River, Idaho. While there, they went turtle hunting and also visited Marie's daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bambino and their daughter Angle. Joe stayed for 2 weeks in Idaho, attending a summer camp.

Doug and Steve Maxfield have returned to their home in Bowie, Maryland, after spending almost 3 months in Forks visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Art Maxfield.

The following girls took part in the 4-H county dress revue August 13: Bess Ketchum, Susan Anderson, Kay Stockman and Kim Borde. They received red ribbons. Linda Shearer and LeAnn Halverson received blue ribbons. Accompanying the girls were Mrs. Fred Anderson, Mrs. Howard Stockman and Mrs. Henry Halverson.

Visiting the Henry Halversons are their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James Blodgett and boys from Carmichael, California. Also spending the weekend with them was Jim's sister, Miss Jean Blodgett, from Vancouver, B.C.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Kettel, daughter Lori and her friend spent a week in California visiting Disneyland and Knott's Berry Farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Jones and Kyle returned recently after spending a couple months in Missoula, Montana, with Ross' dad, Kyle Jones. The Jones' also visited other places such as Great Falls, Choteau, Pendrey and Harlowton.

A farewell party was held at the home of Danny and Nancy Lindeman August 21 for John and Stephanie Johnston. They were presented with a wishing well as a going away present. The Johnstons have moved to Buena Park, California, where John will attend Cypress Junior College. Attending the party were: Larry and Janie Lindeman, Cliff and Betty Echols, Jack and Pat Orr, Ace and Laurie Johnston, Chuck and Ann Klepps, Gail and Elsie Berry, Bob and Cindy Wentworth, Bob and Cheryl Miller, Ken and Patti Holz, Larry and Jody Keeney, Gary and Gloria Pitt.

OUTDOOR LORE

By Lonnie Archibald

A TIME FOR DECISIONS
Well, it's about that time again. . . . A time for big decisions as the sportsman finds the months of September, October, and November packed with so many options he must eliminate some sports for those which rate first on his list of outdoor recreations. September brings out the best of the pigeon hunters as well as those who search for grouse. But then, mid-September once again has much to offer the clam digger.

Come October, we still find both native and blue grouse along the high logged areas and lowland swamps. Pigeons are re-grouping for a second showing, and sea-run cutthroat run the rusty waters of Goodman Creek. Mid-October brings color as maple leaves turn rich reds and yellows. While Mother Nature paints the hillsides, sportsmen clean their rifles in preparation for the big game season. Blacktail deer await the hunter, but then so do the salmon await the fishermen as they run the streams of the Quillayute system. No, don't put away that 12 gauge as mallards await the wing shooter. Oh yes, the grouse are still there, or maybe you prefer razor clams. How about some fresh apple cider?

November is greeted by the bird hunters and fishermen. A portion of November will once again offer some fine deer hunting to local sportsmen, but the big event is that of elk season which gets underway the first of the month.

And so it is. The sportsman finds himself making the big decisions as he has a choice of birds, big game and fishing which all come to a climax during these great fall months. A time for the great outdoors. A time for decisions.

SPARTAN HIGHLIGHTS

The Forks senior high Spartans finished their first week of football practice last Saturday. The turnouts consisted of ten, twenty and forty yard wind sprints followed by various types of rolls and dives.

Cocher Roy Mohondro said that the team would keep its reputation as a tough defensive team if everyone got together and worked at it.

The practices included other types of exercises such as pass defense, offensive sets, point after touchdown attempts by Dave Silcox, down-field blocking, form tackling, punt returns, and timed blocking with the sled. The Spartans kick off the season on September 10 when they play Chimacum at Port Townsend. On Saturday, September 11, the Junior Varsity will play Neah Bay at Forks.

Practice schedule for the Spartans is as follows:
Thursday, September 2, 5 p. m.; Friday, September 3, 4 p. m.; Saturday, September 4, 10 a. m. and 6 p. m. (Intra-squad game p. m.); Monday, September 6, 5 p. m.; Tuesday, September 7, 5 p. m.; Wednesday, September 8, school, practice 4 to 6; Thursday, September 9, practice 4 to 5:30, uniform check-out, 5:30 - 6:30; Friday, September 10, Forks at Chimacum; Saturday, September 11, Neah Bay at Forks.

Sunset Highlites

By Fred Jarvis

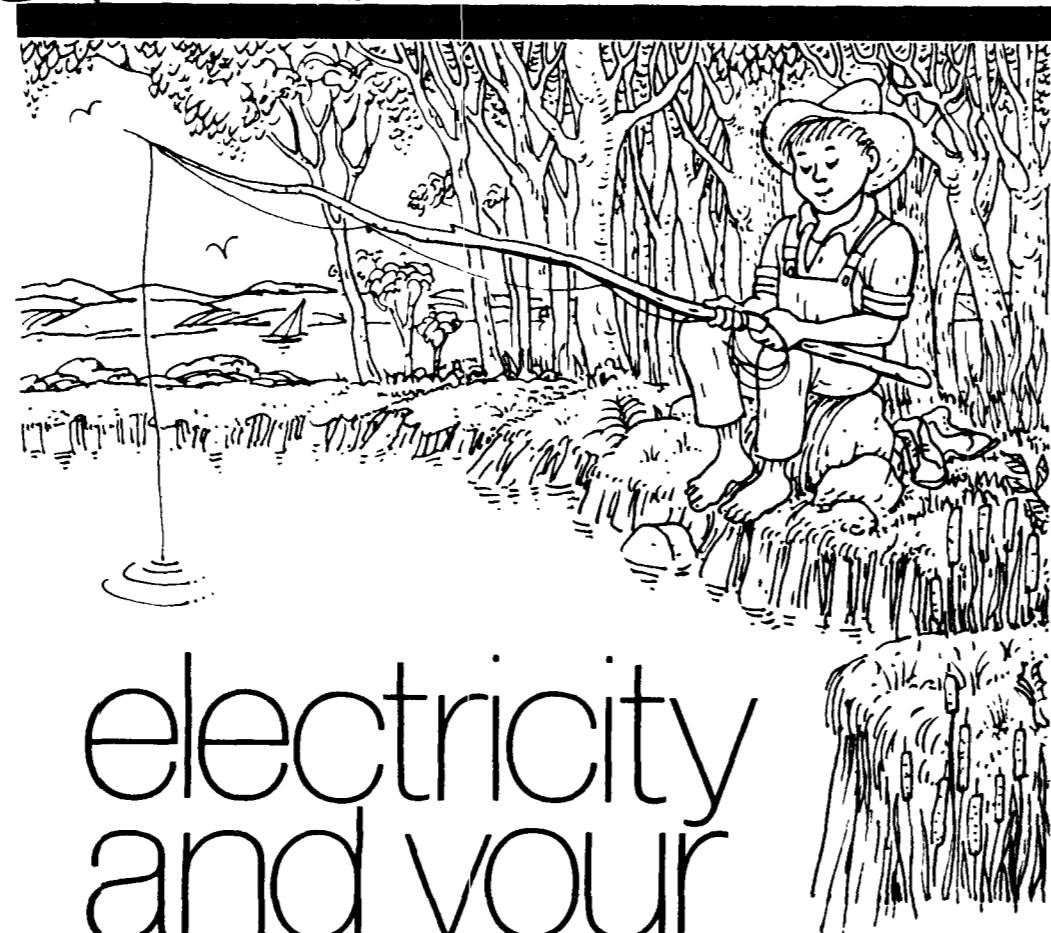

Writing this article at 5:30 in the morning isn't too good an idea. Sitting here behind my coffee cup, bleary-eyed and grumpy, all I can think of is getting back in the sack again. Sure hated to see all our company leave, as we had a wonderful time while they were here.

In the summer single at Port Angeles Bowl, Dick Suchodolski took fourth, Gordor McCoy fifth, Betty Jacobson and Leta Rondeau tied for third, and Dick paired up with Cheryl McCoy for a third in the mixed doubles.

Had the big money shot at Monte Carlo, but choked up. Guess I forgot everything I taught my son. Arden Prissel, Vern Rondeau and Ken Sorrell had their chance but goofed also. See you all next week at the beginning of our new bowling season.

Look in the CLASSIFIED First!

electricity and your environment

Electricity performs many tasks to provide cleanliness and comfort. Electric heating, air conditioning, humidifiers and de-humidifiers enable you to live in a cleaner, more comfortable indoor environment. A variety of air cleaning devices, such as filters in heating and air cleaning systems and electronic air cleaners, remove smoke, dirt, pollen and other impurities from the air you breathe.

In many ways, electricity has improved the quality of our lives. Electricity and electric appliances have relieved many people of drudgery. Electricity has given us more time to think, to engage in cultural pursuits, and generally to live longer, more productive, more satisfying lives.

In the future, electric automobiles and electrified rapid transit systems may remove much of the pollution now created by internal combustion engines. Electric energy will be increasingly used to dispose of waste, re-cycle waste, remove salt from sea water and treat sewage.

Clean electricity is—and will continue to be—an aid to a better environment.

Commissioners:
Russel Bayton, President; James Lotzgesell, Vice President; Alvin E. Fletcher, Secretary.

WOMEN'S BOWLING TO BEGIN

The Women's City Bowling Association held its meeting Thursday evening with a good turnout at the VFW hall. The meeting was presided over by president Alice Simonton at which time committees were appointed and plans for the bowling year were made.

It is hoped all women who wish to bowl will sign up at the alley or with one of the secretaries. Substitutes are always needed.

Bowling will start after Labor Day in most leagues.

Crowd attends hospital ceremonies

Last Saturday's corner stone laying at the Forks Community Hospital was a solemn, dignified and, at the same time, joyful occasion. The bright sunny weather drew a crowd of close to 200 people. The ceremony was performed by the grand officers of the most worshipful grand lodge of free and accepted Masons of Washington State.

Earlier during the day, the Women's Fellowship of the Congregational Church catered a luncheon for 138 Masons who arrived from many distant places to take part in the ceremony.

Doran Jackson, Worshipful Master of Mt. Olympus Lodge No. 298, welcomed each and everyone and, after the presentation of colors by the Forks Hospital Guild and Boy Scout Troop #467, introduced the speakers, Robert Cunningham, Charles Barlow, Paul Conner and Dr. Edwin Leibold.

The ceremony of the corner stone laying was conducted by the grand master of most worshipful grand lodge of F and AM of Washington, M. W., Milton V. Poe, according to the customs of the fraternity.

The lovely singing of four Forks girls from Forks Rainbow Assembly #140 added to the mood of the occasion. The arrangement of "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" by Miss Julie Baker was beautifully simple.

Mrs. Philip Jaspers of the Forks Hospital Guild was presented with a flag to be flown above the hospital when completed.

Benediction was given by the grand chaplain V. W., James O. Wood.

"If you could stand on the ocean floor at a 10,000 foot depth and look at Cobb from 20 miles away, it would somewhat resemble Mount Rainier." It is in the Cascadian Range of undersea mountains.

In 1960, the University of Washington started making the first dives to Cobb. The first dives were made in 1965 by Roland White and Spence Campbell, (who each have made thirty dives to the mountain). Since that time, there have been three hundred team dives made for exploration.

In this time, the teams have mapped the greatest portion of the mountain, installed permanent anchor stations and rock bolts, laid a chainlink highway across the mountain for eighteen hundred feet, and made studies of the lava formations.

Purpose and long range goals at Cobb Seamount are to study the mechanical and oceanographic problems of developing a fixed station at the mountain for various studies and operations, making it a possibility for Cobb to become the first International Undersea Station.

Project Sea Use is a regional effort of state agencies, educational institutions and industry. Contributors to this regional effort have been such organizations as the Sea Use Council which consists of representatives from the University of Washington, Oregon State University, University of Alaska, University of Hawaii and representatives of the Canadian government. Some from industry have been Honeywell Corporation and the Northwest Diving Institute.

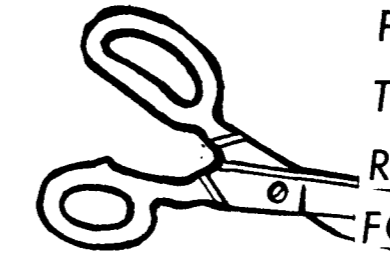

Full co-operation has been given Sea Use by the United States Navy and the United States Coast Guard by providing vessels for training sessions and operations at Cobb Seamount.

Well, fair time is over again for another year... and am I glad! I don't know if I could have taken another day up there or not. The ReIn Riders had to be checked in on Thursday night before the fair. So for many of us, the fair began then. No one could believe the difficulties we encountered just getting those four gals up there and situated. Would you believe two flat tires on one horse trailer? And no spare? Messages that were called into the fairgrounds weren't delivered... but we did finally get there... and when we did, they all knew it. All of Forks can be proud of the ReIn Riders and their horses. They did an outstanding job of showing and displaying, and I was congratulated by countless numbers of other leaders as to their neatness, courtesy that they displayed to everyone in the barns, and for their ability.

In the arena and racking up the ribbons in fitting and showing were: Molly Madden, blue; Robin Roberts, blue; Darla Gaydeski, blue; Carrie Stanley, blue; and Terri Addleman, red. In Western Equitation; Darla, blue; Carrie, red; and Robin, red. In Bareback Equitation; Darla, red; Carrie, red; and Molly, white. In the costume class; Molly and Robin both received blues.

For herdsman's duty in the barns, they will also receive ribbons. Helping out in the barn were Terri Addleman and Anne Planes. I know how much this helped the four who were entered in the other classes. Grand total for the ReIn Riders ribbons count was 31 blues, 20 reds, and 8 whites.

Before I go onto anything else, I want to thank all of the parents who gave the kids the chance to go and represent us and Forks. They were constantly helping out with everything and Linda and I couldn't have survived without them. They all deserve big Grand Champion rosettes.

Local people at the open show on Sunday didn't do as well as I expected. The show itself seemed to be a little disorganized. Those from Forks placing were: Pam and Ron Ford's Appy mare, Elwah Skookum, a 2nd; Betty Munson's, Arabian colt, Shameer, a 2nd; Doreen Planes' 3/4 Arab gelding, U-Rill, a 2nd; and my own 3/4 Arab mare, Jumana Du, her usual 3rd. Linda Stanley did the showing of Skookum, Rill and I, D., did a good job of it.

Two of the up and coming stallions in the Forks area were shown in the Parade of Stallions at the fair Saturday evening; Harold and Betty Tuttle's Farrhan, and Al and Sharon Clarke's, Dollars Dancypob. Both of these youngsters received a big hand.

I hope I didn't leave out anyone from our area who was showing a horse. I didn't get to see any of the classes in the open show as I was tending to our injured mare and missed just about everything. Oh well, see you at the fair next year!

FAMILY REUNION

Relatives from near and far gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Campbell August 11 and 22 for a family reunion. Games and swimming were enjoyed by everyone, and the little ones took part in a penny hunt on Jim Campbell's lawn. The dinners were held in the garage where long tables had been set up for the occasion. White table clothes covered the tables which were centered by a beautiful flower arrangement made by Mrs. George Thompson. She also made a corsage for all the ladies. In honor of Jim and Mary Wallace's 7th anniversary and George Campbell's and Mrs. Ella Davis' birthdays, a special cake was made by Mrs. John Kilmer, decorated in white and pink with the words "Happy Birthday George and Ella--Happy Anniversary Jim and Mary".

Families attending were: Mr. and Mrs. James Jones, Eugene Oregon; Mr. and Mrs. James Wallace, Langley; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Jacobs, Bremerton; Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Babylon, Auburn; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Campbell and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lewis of Forks.

Others were: Mrs. Barbara Jacobs, Bremerton; Mrs. Vincent Buckham and family, Seattle; Mrs. Ella Davis and daughter, Ruth, Pinehurst, Idaho; Mrs. Bob Southwood and boys, Fairbanks, Alaska; Mr. Gordon Blanchard, Skagway, Alaska; and Mrs. Buzz Klahn and girls, Forks.

Forks Hospital Guild News

The Forks Hospital Guild will meet on September 2 at 1 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Phil Jaspers.

CORRECTION

Due to an error in last week's Forum (August 26), the third paragraph in the article about Quilteute Days should read as follows: "Miss Suzy Pittman of Seattle dedicated her speech in memory of Jon Richards and expressed a wish that the people in LaPush would carry on from where Jon left off.

The people in LaPush showed their flexibility and changed the softball tournament to a basketball tournament which lasted the whole day, except for a break for the canoe races. During the day, the visitors were able to enjoy a delicious salmon bake with Butch Eastman and Chuck Cleveland as chief cooks."

124 CHILDREN READ 1,424 BOOKS

The Library Reading Club ended August 25. About 75 children attended the party and had fun playing games and taking part in a candy treasure hunt. After refreshments were served, Miss Primrose Bredl, Clallam County children's librarian, presented awards to the 82 children who qualified.

One hundred and twenty-four children were actively involved in the program; which is 22 more than last year. Forty-five children read 10 books and 37, 20 books or more. The total number of books read was 1,424 compared to last year's 989.

The average attendance for the story hour was 16, mostly pre-schoolers. Thirty-four mothers and 9 older students worked on the program. Co-chairmen were Mrs. Ginger Haberman and Mrs. Lorraine Stockman. Party chairman was Mrs. Don Carte. The record books were done by Mrs. Mary Howard, and other preparations for the program were done by Ron Thompson, Mrs. Lori Ramsaur, Mrs. Zinnia Lato and Mrs. Ruth Kuchan. Telephone chairmen were Kay and Ann Stockman. Two other students who donated a lot of time were Linda Huson and Dawn Simmons. A special thanks goes to Mrs. Inez Miller and Mrs. Lou Marsh for their help.

Children who were unable to attend the party may pick up their awards and recording books at the library.

OEP ANNOUNCES OPENING OF IRS FREEZE-ASSISTANCE

The Internal Revenue Service is now operating local service and compliance centers under the President's wage-price freeze in sixteen cities in Washington, Oregon, Idaho, and Alaska, according to Creath Tooley, Regional Director of the Office of Emergency Preparedness in Seattle.

Coordinated by the OEP, the Internal Revenue Service offices will answer public inquiries, accept complaints, and investigate alleged violations of the freeze. The offices now are adding telephones, mobilizing employees, and have already started accepting calls.
