PEACEFUL AS THE PACIFIC - Peaceful is the Pacific on this overcast autumn morning. One hears a slight murmur in the distance as small breakers pelt the off-shore rocks. The scene is rather still. A few seagulls can be seen far out over the water but they, too, are silent. Yesterday saw children, pop and hotdogs. Tomorrow will bring high winds, glass floats and beach combers. As for now, the scene is peaceful, peaceful as the Pacific.

CHRISTMAS STAMPS READY

Two special U.S. postage stamps keyed to Christmas 1971 are now on sale at local post offices.

The new 8¢ stamps were unveiled at a news conference held to appeal to the public to buy stamps and complete Christmas mailings early.

The importance of including Zip Codes on all cards, letters and packages was also emphasized.

The new 8¢ Christmas stamps feature a nativity scene and a partridge in a pear tree. Both are multi-colored, in keeping with the spirit of the Holiday Season.

Key dates for local mailers to use as guidelines are as follows: December 1, distant packages; December 10, local packages and distant cards; and prior to December 15, all local cards.

C.G. TO REPORT TRASH DUMPERS

The Coast Guard will be taking a harder look at boatmen to make certain they are not violating Federal law by dumping trash into waters of the Pacific Northwest.

In instructions to local Coast Guard units, Rear Admiral Joseph J. McClelland, Commander of the 13th Coast Guard District, noted, "From the amount of debris observed on many beaches, it can be concluded that many boaters are throwing their garbage over the side instead of taking it back to the marina."

Such action is prohibited by the Rivers and Harbors Act of 1899, often called the Refuse Act. That law makes it illegal to "throw, discharge or deposit... from... any ship... refuse matter of any kind... into any navigable water of the United States."

Coast Guard personnel who observe any trash being thrown into the water will report the incident. These reports will be forwarded to the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers for action as provided by the 1899 law. Owners of vessels which violate this law may be liable for fines of $500 to $2,500.

PTA MEETING

Forks PTA will meet Wednesday, November 17, at 7:30 p. m. in the primary building.

The program will include Indian art and basket weaving, bus drivers awards and a report on special education classes by Mrs. Hyatt. Everyone is welcome.

FORKS BROADCASTING CO. BUYS PAPER

Gordon Gros, president of Forks Broadcasting Company, announced today that Forks Broadcasting Co. has acquired the Peninsula Herald newspaper which has been printed in Port Angeles.

The Herald is a weekly paper like the Forks Forum and will carry the same format except it will represent the Joyce, Clallam Bay, Sekiu and Neah Bay areas and be based at Clallam Bay. Gros added that it is in keeping with Forks Broadcasting Company's policy of keeping the West End informed of happenings in the West End of Clallam County.

Cape Flattery School Board meeting

The Cape Flattery School Board met November 8, 1971, at 7:30 p. m. in the Neah Bay Home Ec. room.

Present were: Edward Nichols, acting chairman; Glen O. Willison; Jack Sands; Ken Sadlek; David C. Parker; and Ruth Hinkle. Guests included Dr. Leibold and Michael Sullivan, new board members. Newly elected board members include: David Parker, District #2; Jack Sands, District #3; Edwin F. Leibold, District #4; and Michael Sullivan, District #5.

Next regular meeting will be held December 13 at 7:30 p. m. in the Clallam Bay Home Ec. room.

FOREST LAND DESIGNATIONS

Forms for use by forest land owners in applying for designation of property as forest land under provisions of the Forest Tax Act of 1971 have been distributed to county assessors. The law applies only to tracts 20 acres and larger in size.

Tom Flemer, supervisor of the forest tax section of the Department of Revenue, advises owners to contact their assessors to determine whether their land has been or will be classified as forest land for 1972.

If not, the owner must apply before January 1, 1972, in order to have the property designated as forest land for 1972 assessments.

Flemer said that owners of forest land which currently is being valued on a basis of highest and best use must apply if they wish to have it valued and assessed as forest land. Under the Forest Tax Act, designated forest land will continue to be assessed as property while timber will be taxed only at the time of harvest.

While the county assessors will classify forest lands primarily used for growing and harvesting timber in setting up their January 1, 1972, assessment rolls, they normally would not include forest lands which may be considered to have a higher and better use. For that reason owners of such lands are urged to inquire at the assessor's office as soon as possible.

The application form asks owners to list property descriptions, and to describe their timber management plan and harvesting activities, lease arrangements and other ownership history, including current usage.

WILDLIFE MAP AVAILABLE

A new, full-color brochure showing all the State Game Department Wildlife recreation areas is now available for public distribution, announced the Game Department.

The new publication features a color map on one side showing location of all wildlife recreation areas, with each area number-keyed to descriptive information on the reverse side.

Color illustrations highlight a narrative of each area and include what wildlife is native to the location and how to get to each of the 35 areas, totaling more than 640,000 acres of public land.

Interested persons may obtain a copy by writing for "Wildlife Recreation Areas" and addressing their requests to the State Game Department, 600 North Capitol Way, Olympia 98504.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

NOTE: Letters to the editor, in order to appear in print, MUST be signed by the writer. If not signed, they will not be accepted.

What price your elk tag? Speaking of discrimination, what was our elk season this year except discrimination against the working man? With a Monday opening of elk season, we find that the Game Department is extremely happy, the retired hunters are overjoyed, the barbers that hunt have it made. Some dissension may be heard from the working people, but they will probably buy their licenses anyway in hope of being lucky on the two weekends that they will have a chance to hunt. Last year they had 3 weekends. In order to get all this confusion in one year's hunting law, the Game Department had to chop deer season one week. To compensate for this, they opened a doe season which this country did not need.

What price then your hunting license? First the working man or woman finds that it is possible to go elk hunting after the season is a week old. This is good? Any elk hunter that enjoys tracking elk can tell you of the frustration of tracking elk to come up with a nice bunch of cows, and then to talk to a road hunter who tells them that they got the last bull out of that herd two days ago (probably crossing the main road).

Maybe next year we can have a special elk season open one weekend before the regular opening, this special season to be open just to local residents. This makes about as much sense as what we had this year. This would also alleviate the heavy pressure on opening day.

Until this elk hunting is put on a drawing or lottery system, we should at least see that there is no favoritism and that all hunters are given an equal chance.

Respectfully,
Carter Warren
Forks, Washington
Editor,

In reference to Mr. Gail Garbrick's open letter to the Washington State Department of Game, I wouldn't attempt to answer his justifiable questions. No doubt the game department will have the answers. I would like to make a suggestion through.

By comparison, this West End area in both Clallam and Jefferson counties attracts to the coffers of the game department a sizeable amount of money in the form of licenses to hunt and fish. Regardless of this, the area has no representation, and to my knowledge never has had, on the game commission which consists of five members from different locations within the state appointed by the Governor. This is difficult to comprehend. It is impossible to comprehend in the light of the fact that we have many local sportsmen who have grown up with the great variety of fish and wild animal life found here and, while doing so, made a study of it. This section of the state should benefit from this accumulated knowledge for it is true that we have conditions affecting wildlife found nowhere else.

One of the men in this area who would be well qualified and willing to serve on the game commission is Mr. Russell Thomas and I am sure would be quite an influence on the other members.

To get the ball rolling it would be necessary for the Chamber of Commerce or some group to get together with other groups throughout the two counties to petition all of the representatives to Olympia from Clallam and Jefferson counties for the purpose of lobbying for this appointment. Surely they would have good and logical reasons to do so.

The Chamber of Commerce meets the third Wednesday of each month at 11:30 a.m. at the Vagabond Cafe. The number one objective of the sportsmen in this community should be to get representation on the game commission for this part of the state because of the very good reason they are entitled to it even to the point of having to increase the number of commissioners.

NEW LAW FOR TRAFFIC OFFENDERS

Forty-four persons comprise the first group of motorists to be identified as habitual traffic law offenders under the provisions of a state law which became effective August 9, Jack G. Nelson, Director of the Department of Motor Vehicles, announced.

The new law defines an habitual offender as an individual who in the last five years has committed 20 or more moving traffic violations, or 3 or more violations requiring mandatory license suspension. Nelson said that in implementing the law his department screens driving records to identify the habitual offender, sends an abstract of driving record to the prosecuting attorney in the violator's county of residence, and upon notice from the superior court, issues an order revoking the person's driving privilege for five years.

The initial group of offenders includes one driver residing in Idaho and another living in California. The remainder of the group are distributed among 17 Washington counties, Yakima County leading with ten.

"This group represents only the beginning," Nelson commented. "These people happen to be the first ones meeting the habitual offender criteria who have committed a traffic offense since the effective date of the law." He estimated that the regular record screening process will soon be producing a weekly list of about 75 habitual offenders.

OUTDOOR LORE

STEELHEADERS:

Now that the major hunting season is over, sportsmen will put away their rifles and mend the steelhead and salmon gear. Salmon are now running the Quillayute River system along with a few steelhead. As the salmon runs begin tapering off around the first part of December, the steelhead will begin to increase in number.

Last season ended on the bright side with many large steelhead being taken during the latter months. Six record-size trophies were recorded during January, February and March with many other large ironheads falling victim to the steelheader. And so it is, steelheaders will be out in full force to take over where they left off last spring.

BOW SEASON:

The month of December has something special to offer the sportsman. Those who hunt with the idea of sport first and meat second will set out to stalk deer or elk with the modern bow. Deer, elk, goats, etc., are taken by the archer. With knowledge of this ever popular sport, the bowmen will set out with the latest in archery equipment. Unlike the rifleman, the bowmen must stalk his game at close range but then like the rifle, the bow at this 30 or 40 yard range is deadly. In the hands of a true archer, today's archery equipment is more than suitable for a clean kill of the game which he stalks.

Two local areas will open for the archer the 4th of December. One lies in the Hoh area and the other in the Bear Creek-Fyseth area. Check your game pamphlet for dates, regulations, area descriptions, etc. Good luck, bowmen.

SCHOOL BOARD

The special meeting of the Board of Directors of Quillayute Valley School District No. 402 was held in the High School Library at 7:30 p. m. for the purpose of considering and adopting the school district's counter conciliation agreement proposal to the Washington State Human Rights Commission. All directors were present.

Visitors were welcomed and informed of the purpose of the meeting. It was explained that on October 29, 1971, two representatives from the School Board, Mr. Darrel Gaydeski and Mr. Cecil Wallerstedt; Mr. John Hitchcock, Mr. James Traver; Mr. Brooke Taylor, legal advisor; Mr. Mike Botvin, a representative from the Washington State School Directors' Association; Mr. Warren Burton, a representative from the State Superintendent's office; three members from the Washington State Human Rights Commission, Mr. J. Nelson Judy, Mr. Glen Mansfield, and Mr. Fred Haley; and Mr. Ron Kuenstler, legal advisor, met in Port Angeles to discuss the WSHRC's proposed conciliation agreement. The WSHRC was informed that the Quillayute Valley Board of Directors could not sign the proposed conciliation agreement as presented; therefore, as a result of discussing each item in great depth, an agreement was reached on a counter conciliation agreement proposal which would be presented to the school board members and to the public for consideration and acceptance. If the counter proposal was accepted by the School Board, it would then be submitted to the WSHRC for their signature, which was assured at the meeting in Port Angeles. If, however, the School Board did not accept the counter proposal, negotiations would have to resume.

Mr. Hitchcock further explained that Items 1, 2 and 3 under recitals on the final order drawn up by the Prosecuting Attorney eliminated all items in the original complaint, findings and facts, and conciliation agreement.

General discussion of the counter proposal followed. Mr. Hitchcock will check into the financing and funding which may departments in order to implement items called for in the agreement. Although this agreement will be in the hands of a new school board due to elections, it was felt the new Board should be encouraged to implement the conciliation agreement as soon as possible. It was decided to submit the counter proposal to the WSHRC as written and wait for their reply as to its acceptance.

Mr. Hitchcock then explained that the stipulation agreement, which is a legal document that accompanies the order, waives any admission by the WSHRC and the Quillayute Valley School District that unfair practices have or have not been committed and is signed by both parties. Darrel Gaydeski signed the stipulation agreement on behalf of the School District.

LITTLE LEAGUE BANQUET

Approximately 160 people attended the little league football banquet held Nov. 12 in the grade school multi-purpose room. Giants and Packers were presented trophies, achievement awards and official Pop Warner membership cards by their coaches, and the coaches in turn were presented gifts by their teams.

Coaching the Giants were Claude Clark, Bill Tubbs, John Leppell and Joe Polk. Coaches for the Packers were Norman Bagby, Larry Thomas and Fred Hoke.

Inspirational awards were won by Steve Durge of the Giants and Rick Hurn of the Packers, and the following 5-year men were given footballs: Delton Beebe and Steve Burge, Giants, and Billy Russell and Jeff Hilt, Packers.

Also receiving gifts and awards were Giant cheerleaders Dian Duncan, Leslie Kennedy and Pam Self, and Packer cheerleaders Kathleen Fuhs, Tammy Bagby, Donna Olson and Cheryl Bishop. The rotating team award was presented to Packer coach, Norman Bagby.

THE PRIMARY CORNER

Collin King, Danny Chamberlin, Sally Poteet, and Christ Hillcar reading the barometer and thermometer.

Third graders in Mrs. Baldwin's room have been studying weather, which is made of air and water set in motion by heat and cold and the movement of the earth.

We have been introduced to the water cycle of evaporation, which creates water vapor; con-weather balloon and radiosonde. The directions north, south, east and west are being learned on a map and also in our room! Then when we listen to the Quillayute Station Weather Report each noon hour we can tell from which direction the wind is blowing. We also notice how fast it's blowing and compare our barometer and thermometer readings with theirs.

We are keeping a daily chart of our cloud observations and the rest of the information we gather. Then we make our weather predictions for the next day. We are discovering that a scientist must do a lot of record keeping, be accurate and then think about what his observations and information tell him so he can make better predictions.

Hospital Aux

Ten members of the Forks Hospital Auxiliary met at the home of Mrs. Charles Douglas on November 4th. The hostess served a delicious angel food cake dessert.

The members voted to purchase material and make pajamas for children patients size 6 to 10. They will also make terry cloth slippers. The by-laws have been changed by a committee. These were read and will be voted on at the next meeting.

Kate Jaspers gave a very interesting report of the hospital convention that she attended in Spokane. She brought back many ideas for the auxiliary in line of service and ways to make money for necessary things at the hospital. With the same idea in mind, the members voted to subscribe to a magazine that she recommended which is intended to be a help to the auxiliaries.

A candy-stripe program will be started in the future with Kate Jaspers and Johnetta Cline in charge.

The George Campbell's are donating a guestbook for the opening day of the hospital and the auxiliary plans to serve refreshments that day.

The auxiliary has a special fund for the hospital library, and out of this they plan to purchase a book on cardiac nursing to be used by the staff or any interested person.

The December meeting will be at the home of Ruth Ryberg with Johnetta Cline as co-hostess. There will be a gift exchange for the members with a price range of $1 to $2.

WHAT'S COOKING IN MILLIE THOMPSON'S KITCHEN

Recipe for Virtue:

- 1 pound hamburger
- 1 small grated onion
- For noodle dough:
- 4 egg yolks
- 4 1/2 shells of 1/2 and 1/2 (use half an egg shell for measurer)

1 tsp. salt

Brown hamburger lightly, add grated onion and simmer, stirring constantly.

Add seasoning.

Dough: Make this as you would for noodle dough, kneading in as much flour as needed for stiff dough. Take a chunk of dough about the size of an egg (med.), roll out about 4" in diameter. Wet around the edges. Put simmered hamburger mix in center. Crimp wet edges, fold under. Boil in salted water (beef broth can also be used). Cook about 20 minutes. Serve with spaghetti sauce or just butter.

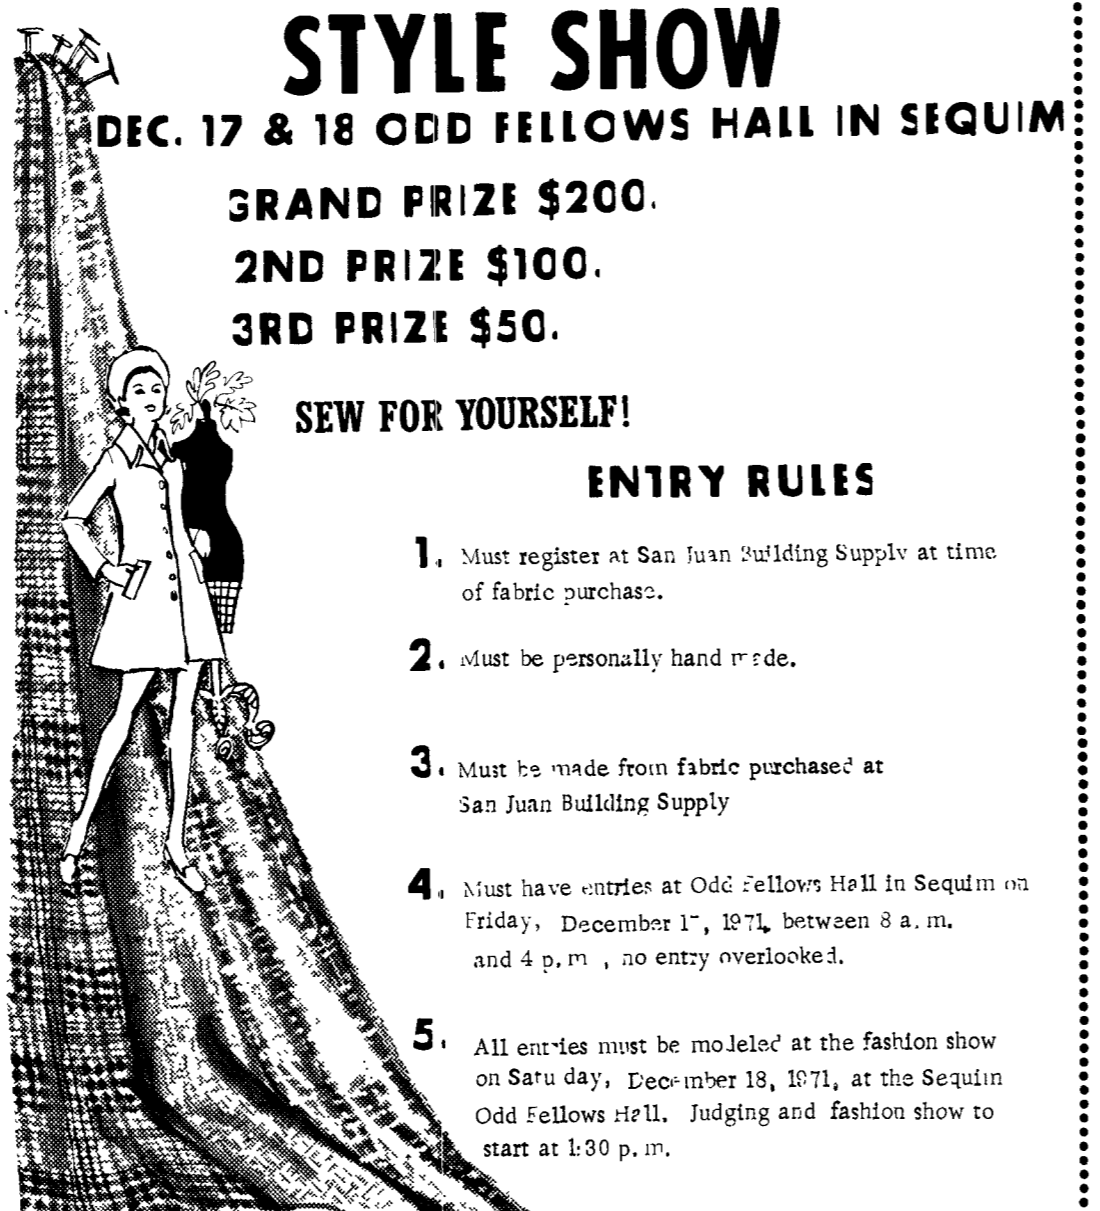

Millie Thompson was born in Aberdeen and came to Forks in 1946 with her husband, George. She has a sparkling personality and a variety of interests, such as cooking, baking, candy making and sewing. Her busy life includes church work, the Democratic club, school activities and community affairs. She has been a Girl Scout leader, worked on the blood bank for several years, was one of the "founders" of three scholarships; the Rebekahs, PTA and Quillayute Valley Scholarship funds. She also helped get the PTA calendar and the disaster committee going.

A statement frequently made is "If you want something done, ask a busy person". Millie Thompson is proof of this statement. "At present, I spend most of my time working at the school as a custodian," says Millie, "but I still have time for fishing, hunting, flower decorating, clam digging, mushroom and berry picking, and last but not least, PEOPLE."

She has one son, Tom Rasmusen, and one grandson, Christopher, who live in California.
