text which encourages students, individually, to experiment with the personal art of writing. Experiments in Effective Writing, not only contains examples of rhetoric, concept, continuity, and structure but also shows how to use these to advantage in presenting ideas and information. In addition, Gould has illustrated his fundamental points with carefully analyzed samples from the work of professional writers. In all cases, students analyze their own writings, using the same criteria that the text applies to its examples.

Gould is presently teaching English at Auburn High School in Auburn, Washington.

Jehovah's Witness

Charles Meizer of Forks announced today that all meetings at the local Kingdom Hall of Jehovah's Witnesses will be cancelled for the week end. This will permit the congregation to attend the circuit assembly in Bremerton at the Coontz Junior High School.

Opening sessions will convene at 6:45 p.m. on Friday with singing and experiences, and at 7:00 p.m. the district supervisor, Melcorie Van Ike, will deliver the welcome address which sets the theme for the convention. He will speak on the subject, "Keep On Doing It More Fully." The program will run to about 9:00 p.m. with a variety of short talks and demonstrations. McMeizer pointed out that operating such a convention, including the finding of rooming accommodation, providing meals and all the other services, takes about 300 voluntary workers. Some 20 department s have been organized to handle all this activity, and they will be under the direction of Edwin Thorgerson, the circuit supervisor.

The highlight of the assembly will be the main address on Sunday entitled, "Can You Live Forever?--Will You?" Melcorie Van Ike, a special representative from the Watchtower Society in New York, will deliver the Bible-based discourse at 3:00 p.m. Visitors are welcome, and attendance is expected to reach 1500 or more, Meizer stated.

For her going away costume, Mrs. Hall chose a blue and white knit dress with accessories in autumn rust and white. She wore a corsage of two white orchids. After the wedding trip to Vancouver, the newlyweds are now at home at the "Swiss House" in Kirkland.

Jerrle Lynn Meyer and Thomas Allen Hall were married at the Assembly of God Church December 11 in the presence of 125 guests.

The Reverend Arthur Morlin performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Meyer of Forks. Mr. and Mrs. James S. Hall of Everett are the bridegroom's parents.

Baskets of blue chrysanthemums with gold gladioli decorated the sanctuary, and the pews were marked with white bows.

Mrs. Arthur Morlin accompanied Merle Watson who sang "MORE" and "THE LORD'S PRAYER."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of wedding satin accented at the empire-waist with a satin bow and gathered in the back. Chantilly lace, seed pearls and rosettes of tiny pearl-beading adorned the full length gown. The Spanish Mantilla veil was edged with Chantilly lace.

Mrs. William Byrd, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a gown of gold crepe. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Charles Meyer, Mrs. James Kuempel and Miss Linda Watson. They wore identical gowns of blue-frost crepe. Their flowers were long-stemmed gold roses.

Jerry A. Hall of Auburn was his brother's best man. Ushers were James Kuempel of Snohomish, Steven Groves of Seattle and Charles Meyer, brother of the bride, also of Seattle.

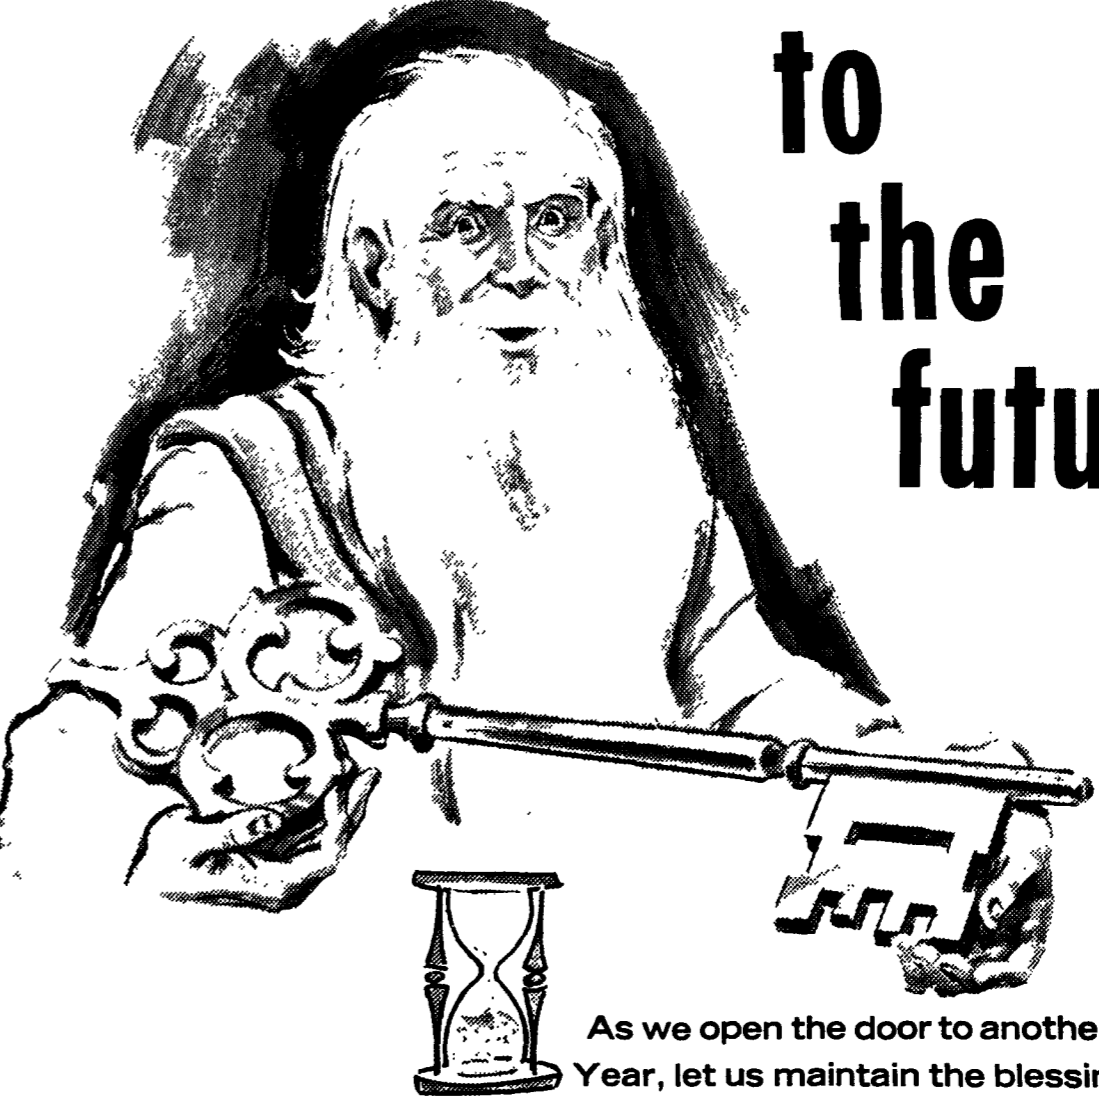

Mrs. Meyer wore an emerald green sheath dress of panne velvet with gold accessories for her daughter's wedding.

Mrs. Hall wore a burgandy double-knit sheath dress with gold accessories. Both mothers had double orchid corsages.

A reception followed in the church reception hall and at the Alder Grove Recreation hall, decorated in the Christmas theme.

Mrs. Paul Lingvall, 374-6802

I can't think of anything more delightful than watching children, (big and small), open their presents at Christmas. Their eyes even out-shine the lights on the Christmas tree. Even our animals got a present this year; the monkey got a coconut.

Visiting the Earl and Harold Kennedys over the Christmas weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Trig Rued of Arlington. While here, they also attended a gathering at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norm Bagby together with the Kennedys, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Joutsen, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dimmel, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Perry and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Swelin. The Rueds also stopped in for a visit with the Paul Lingvalls.

OUTDOOR LORE
By Lonnie Archibald

FOR THE RECORDS Let me take this opportunity to pass on a few facts concerning the siltation of the Clearwater River. Last spring, 1971, a slide into the Stequaleho occurred which was triggered by road building. By the same token, it is not widely known that a natural slide even more devastating occurred downstream a short distance from the other during the same time period. This natural slide contributed heavily to siltation of the Stequaleho and the Clearwater.

The road-triggered slide has flushed out, and honor camp crews constructed five check dams on this small stream to trap any more silt from reaching the Stequaleho. This was done at the Fisheries Dept. request. Until vegetation helps to stabilize the natural slide, it will probably contribute sediment for several years to come. The Solleks, Upper Clearwater, and Stequaleho have been plagued with natural slides for centuries. For example, a large slide occurring in 1962 or 1963 on the lower Stequaleho was completely natural as there was no road building or logging activity in the area at that time.

The Department of Natural Resources avoids slide areas in road construction. They also are refraining from building roads on mud slopes sticking to ridge tops and valley bottoms. Also, for the last several years they have been restructuring road construction in tough, steep areas to summer months. For the last ten years, buffer strips have been left along major streams. These state lands were given to Washington State at statehood for the support of the common schools. The state is harvesting now and will again 50 years from now. Their permanent road system, which causes most of their problems, will be completed in a few years.

RIVER MAPS AVAILABLE Three new maps have been added to the list of the state's top steelhead streams. The latest in the series of such maps are the Grande Ronde, Satsop, and Wynoche. These colorful maps show public access sites, stream bank fishing, boat launch sites, parking areas, roads, etc. These maps may be obtained free for the asking from any Game Department regional office as listed on pages 38-39 of the 1971 official fishing regulations. Several Forks area streams will soon be added to the list.

ROADRUNNERS WIN

By Mike Westman Four against five is unfair, you say. Well, the Seat Le Roadrunners seem to like those odds. They played one player short for almost six minutes and yet battled back to win the second annual Quillette All-Indian Xmas Holiday Basketball Tournament, edging the Alaska Nuggets, 113-112.

The Way The Ball Bounces

By Mike Westman

Pay attention: There might be a quiz later. As a counter-stroke against the traditional patriotic half-time show, the University of Michigan student body leans to the anti-war half-time show. It offered such a presentation during its homecoming game last October, and now it is seeking to do four minutes in the Rose Bowl before a live audience of 103,000 and maybe 60 million on television.

The Rose Bowl committee has demurred. No one is going to slip one over an anti-war show on Pasadena, which remembers the Maine, the Lusitania and the Monitor, not to mention Pearl Harbor, San Juan Hill and Yorktown. Here and there in Pasadena, the still is broken by cries of "Fifty-Four-Forty, or Fight!"

A stranger inquires, "are they trying to raise the price of tickets again?" He is informed, "In Pasadena, we vote American." So it isn't likely that anyone is going to be granted four minutes of anti-war in the Rose Bowl, unless, of course, the other side is given equal time.

The Michigan kids will send up black balloons denoting our involvement in Southeast Asia, after which the Hawks will take over, winding up with "Battle Hymn of the Republic." Unless given four minutes for peace, the president of Ann Arbor coalition to end the war has threatened to beseech both the Stanford and Michigan players to stay out of the bowl, meaning the Alabama-Nebaska game could be moved up three hours. It is being delayed until 8 o'clock, Miami time, whereas just as easily it could go at 5.

Stirring up sentiment against the war isn't hard at Stanford, whose band won't wear uniforms. Even in the Rose Bowl last season, the boys came dressed in their customary attire of sports jackets, slacks, and a jaunty hat.

This attitude shakes up the Rose Bowl committee. A member winks knowingly and says to his colleagues, "Let me handle this." And he calls together the Stanford band. "Fellas," he begins, "do you realize the great music that comes out of war? I mean, 'Dixie'... 'White Cliffs of Dover'... 'Don't Stand Under the Apple Tree', and where would any of use be in every kid had listened to peace songs."

Used be if that football players were kids you could reason with... (of course they didn't know any better). but you start trading with those in political science and the humanities, and you better be prepared to give up four minutes of your half-time show for a word about peace.

Those who watch sports on person and on television take a pretty consistent view on the matter of political messages at athletic contests. Uniformly, they oppose such messages, unless the messages happen to concur with those who watch.

Their position is similar in their reading of sports columns. A writer maybe hints about a pullout, and he gets letters exhorting him to stick to sports. "We read the sports section to forget our troubles," they write angrily. "You stick to football and leave the war to the political experts..."

But you take the other side and the same people will comment you, "Give them hell," they will write. "It's time someone took a stand against those commies."

If the Ann Harbor coalition to end the war isn't able to effect a pull-out in Vietnam, it is hoping, at least, to encourage one in the Rose Bowl.

The folks are running in bad luck in Pasadena. With no arguments over half-time, they drew, in a stadium seating 103,000, the grand total of 15,244 for their other post-season special, the Pasadena Bowl, formerly known as the Junior Rose Bowl.

That one, for a certainty, needs a demonstration of some kind. The sports department would like to wish you and yours the best of the New Year.

right at the start of the second half. Seattle then went all most seven minutes without field goal, and Alaska ran off consecutive point strings of nine and seven points, including the last four for the quarter, to tie the game 32-31 at the end of three.

The Nugget charge was led by Willie Albert, Dewey Skan, Darrel La Vendure, and Ted Dundas.

The teams then battled even until midway through the final period, when on a battle for a rebound, Ted Noel, who led the Roadrunners in scoring the previous night, drew his sixth personal foul, and departed to the sidelines with 5:51 left.

The Runners, who had played the entire tournament with only five players, now had to play a man short.

Alaska seized the opportunity to take the lead for the first time since the opening minutes, finally building a five-point spread with 2:17 left, at 106-101.

But Ron Johnson and the Runners refused to die, rallying for six straight points. Johnson hit one from the side, followed with a 25-footer from the top of the key, then stole the up-court pass and fed brother Keith for a driving lay-up, and a 107-106 lead.

The lead see-sawed back and forth, and with 1:21 left, the Runners trailed 110-109.

Enter Gerry Lucas. He sank a free throw to tie the game, then following a missed field attempt, scored the go-ahead bucket off a fast break to give the Runners the lead they never relinquished, 112-110.

The Nuggets, after a time-out, in an attempt to get the tying field goal, got the ball to Willie Albert, who was clear from about 13 feet. The ball rolled around and came back out, and on the ensuing bucket for the rebound, La Vendure drew his sixth foul, and Lucas made one of two free throws to ice the victory.

Keith Johnson, the tourney's most valuable player led Seattle with 39 points, while brothers Ron and Glenn chipped in 31 and 19 respectively.

Tex Dundas paced the Alaska attack, who had four players with 20 points or more. Tex finished with 29, while Albert had 28, La Vendure 22, and Skan 20.

La Vendure, Skan, Albert, and Glenn and Keith Johnson were named to the tourney first all-star team.

La Push, which had lost earlier to the Nuggets, grabbed third place with a win over Taholah, and Pete Kalama sank the winning field goal with four seconds remaining to give Quillets-Clearwater a 76-74 win over Neah Fay in the battle for 4th place.

A sixteen-team All-Indian Tourney, with partic pants from three states will be held in mid-March.

PUBLIC NOTICE
OPEN-BURNING PERMITS
CONCERNING AIR POLLU-TION CONTROL

A permit is necessary the year around anytime an open-fire is planned and/or conducted per local and state air pollution control laws.

Fire permits, also termed Open-Burning Permits, issued by the Department of Natural Resources, U.S. Forest Service, and local fire control authorities will be recognized as valid Olympic Air Pollution Control Authority Open-Burning Permits. This refers to those written permits issued for short-term open fire situations, even though the permit may be given for as long as six months.

The foregoing policy shall become null and void if a condition develops where the atmospheric contamination level is potentially hazardous to the general public or if adverse conditions for smoke management exist.

Persons responsible for Major Construction Projects, Right-of-Way Clearing and Permanent-Type open fires are hereby notified to continue to apply for an Open-Burning Permit from the Olympic Authority, in addition to usual permits required by recognized fire control agencies.

As a reminder, a Permit does not relieve anyone of the responsibility for controlling air contamination and hazards related thereto. There are published regulations prohibiting burning of certain products in an open fire. It is still the responsibility of each person to dispose of prohibited materials by some other means.

No verbal or written permit is required by Olympic Authority for Open Burning by the householder if the fire is four feet in diameter or less. The six-county Olympic Authority has patrol and inspection teams occasionally operating within the jurisdiction, and instances of open burning are liable to contact by a representative who is empowered to enforce rules and regulations for such cases.

Persons having any questions concerning regulations or complaints are invited to write to the following address: Control Officer, Olympic Authority, 120 East State Avenue, Olympia, Washington 98501. (Clallam, Grays Harbor, Jefferson, Mason, Pacific and Thurston Counties.)

Neah Bay Firemen

NEW SPORTSCASTER IN TOWN

Michael Westman, heir apparent to Howard Cosell, has joined the staffs of the Forum and KVAC, as the sports staff.

Mike, a native of the wilds of Canada, should feel right at home.

After a short four years at the University of Washington and Simon Fraser University in Vancouver, Mike decided to break into broadcasting.

He joined the staff of the Canadian Television Broadcasting System in 1968 as a play-by-play commentator for Canadian pro football, pro hockey, and pro baseball.

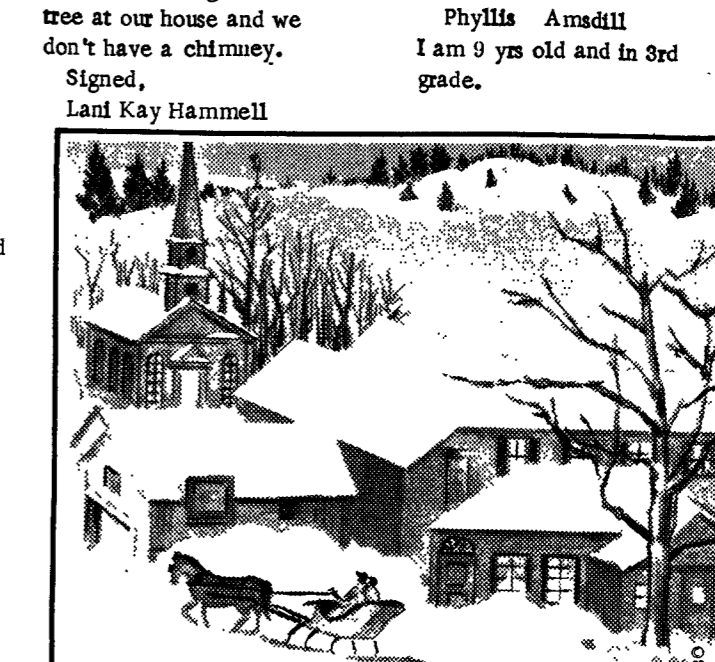

He also spent two years with the Vancouver Canucks and Seattle Totems, as a writer and broadcaster for the former, and writer only for the latter.

Being single, Mike is shy, quiet and reserved, (huh?).

Anyway, let's welcome Westman to the city.

NOTES ON SPARTAN SUCCESS

The Forks High School Spartans, whose spirit of Christmas charity has been only too evident during their six-game losing string, hopefully will be the beneficiaries Friday, January 7th and Saturday, January 8th, when they return to the friendly confines of their home gym.

It's Vashon versus the Spartans Friday night, with Neah Bay the visitors the following night, in what promises to be the end of the Spartans' skid and the start of a victory string. While the Spartans are currently 0-2 in league play, because of the weakness of the league, could put them right back in the conference scramble. Neah Bay will be a non-conference affair, but they will provide stout opposition none-the-less.

Ken Olson continues to lead the Spartan scoring parade, averaging 15.5 points per game, including 19 in the 60-53 loss to North Mason in Forks' last outing.

However, a lack of consistent shooting from the field, and rebounding seem to keep the Spartans on the short end of the string, according to Coach Jerry Cash.

Well, perhaps it's all going to reverse on January 7-8. Come out and see for yourself.

clean electric energy
will power progress in 1972

...and for years to come!

CLALLAM COUNTY
Public Utility
District No. 1

Commissioners:
Russell Bayton, President; James Lotzgesell, Vice President; Alvin E. Fletcher, Secretary.

Electric utilities have been one of America's fastest-growing industries, normally doubling capacity every 10 years. The rapid growth of this industry has made possible the tremendous industrial capacity of our Nation. It has lightened the burdens of homemakers. It has made our offices and commercial establishments more comfortable and more attractive.

There is every indication that your electric energy requirements will continue to grow. And, it is the responsibility of your electric utility and others throughout the country to meet the needs of their consumers. In the future years, tremendous quantities of electrical energy will be required to reduce pollution and protect our natural resources. Electric automobiles and electrified rapid transit systems may remove much of the pollution now created by internal combustion engines. Electric energy will be increasingly used to dispose of waste, re-cycle waste, remove salt from sea water, and treat sewage. Electric heat and climate control devices may be the means to stimulate the abundant, year-round crop growth needed to feed a growing world population. To meet your long-range future needs for electric energy without detriment to the environment will be a difficult, expensive and time-consuming job. But we believe that with careful planning, intensified research and determined efforts, clean electric energy will be a positive force in protecting and enhancing our environment today and for generations to come.
