A LOUD CALL FOR SHEETS,

And the Filing of His Long-delayed Report of the Survey of Lake Crescent Township.

A MATTER OF GRAVE CONCERN

To a Great Many Settlers, Who Patiently Waited for a Long Time for a Survey of That Township to be Made; Who Have Been Patiently Waiting for a Report of the Survey to be Filed, and Who are Now Growing Restive Under an Annoying Delay, for Which They Can See Neither Reason nor Excuse—An Appeal to Surveyor Sheets to File His Report at Once—Cheerful Information for Settlers in the Two Solduck Townships—Their Lands Will be Surveyed this Spring.

WHAT is the matter with Deputy Surveyor J. T. Sheets? Why don't he make his report to Surveyor General Cavanaugh, covering his survey of Township 30 N., Range 9 West—Lake Crescent township? He completed this survey about the middle of October, and when he left here for his home at Friday Harbor, he assured the settlers interested that he would lose no time in working up his field notes, and that he would place his report in the hands of the Surveyor General by the 1st of December—or by the middle of December, at the very latest.

But the first of December came and Mr. Sheets had not made his report. Neither had he made it when the month was fifteen days old. The settlers—as all settlers on the public domain are, and have a perfect right to be—were eager to have matters shaped up as promptly as possible, that they might have an opportunity to file on their lands; and they grew restive under the Surveyor's failure to submit his report to General Cavanaugh.

About the 20th of December, the LEADER wrote to Surveyor Sheets, at Friday Harbor, asking him when he would submit his report to the Surveyor General. To this inquiry came the appended letter from Mr. Sheets:

FRIDAY HARBOR, WASH., December 27, 1891.
Mr. M. J. Carrigan, Port Crescent, Wash.:
DEAR SIR:—I have not yet reported to the Surveyor General. Will do so some time this month. Will write you when I start for Olympia.
Yours Truly,
J. T. SHEETS.

It will be observed, by the above letter, that Mr. Sheets expected to make his report by the last of December. Inasmuch as he wrote the LEADER on December 27th, he must have had his report practically completed at that time, and evidently contemplated starting for Olympia, to file it with General Cavanaugh, a few days thereafter.

But he didn't start for Olympia, as expected, and up to February 15th—over six weeks after having written the LEADER, as above—he had not made his report to the Surveyor General, either in person or by letter, as the appended communication from General Cavanaugh will show:

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR,
OFFICE OF U. S. SURVEYOR GENERAL,
OLYMPIA, WASH., FEBRUARY 16th, 1892.
Mr. M. J. Carrigan, Port Crescent, Wash.:
DEAR SIR:—In reply to your letter of the 10th instant, I have to state that no returns of survey of Tp. 30 N., R. 9 W. have as yet been received from Mr. Sheets, the contracting deputy.
I notice that you have already published the "Proposals for Surveys," of townships in your county. Bids for survey of Tps. 29 N., Ranges 9 and 10 West, will be called for in a few weeks.
Very respectfully,
THOS. H. CAVANAUGH,
U. S. Surveyor General, Washington.

Now what is the matter with Sheets? Why don't he make his report, covering the survey of the Lake township? These are questions that every settler in that township would like to have satisfactorily answered.

So far as can be discovered at this distance, or so far as information can be obtained from Mr. Sheets himself, there is no good reason for the delay that is being experienced—a delay that is a rank injustice to the settlers in the township in question. Had Mr. Sheets prosecuted his work with due diligence, and promptly forwarded his report to the Surveyor General as soon as he could have completed it—say by December 1st—the settlers would, in all likelihood, have had an opportunity to file on their lands in May. As it is now, even though Mr. Sheets should file his report at once, it isn't reasonable to hope that the township will be thrown open before September.

Absolutely nothing can be done, toward securing an "opening" of the township, until Surveyor Sheets makes his report—and why he doesn't make it, is more than any one here can understand. If it is due to neglect or indifference, will he not, for the sake of the people in the township—for whom he can entertain naught but the kindliest good-will—pull himself together and get his report into the hands of General Cavanaugh? It is neither right nor fair that their interests should be hung up by the gills, in this way, when Mr. Sheets can so easily start the report of the survey on the way it must go, before a single man or woman in that township can inaugurate the work of securing title to his or her claim.

The settlers in the Lake township have not been disposed to kick or complain, up to this time, although they have felt, for months past, that they were being subjected to needless delay, in the matter of this survey.

The contract for the survey of Township 30 N., Range 9 W., was awarded to Mr. Sheets about the middle of April of last year, and it was expected that he would take the field to do the work about the middle of May.. This was a vain expectation, however, for the date of his appearance here was postponed from time to time, and he did not show up until the 20th of August. Once in the field, he pushed work with all possible vigor, however, and completed the survey by the middle of October, and assured the LEADER, in common with others, that he would have his report in the hands of the Surveyor General by December 1st—or to provide for unlooked-for delays, by December 15th, at latest. He had a good portion of his field notes worked up before he left this neighborhood for his home at Friday Harbor; and so the delay that has ensued in the making of his report, is all the more inexplicable.

The settlers in the Lake township, with one voice, now respectfully request Mr. Sheets to file his report without further delay. Without intending to, no doubt, he is doing an injustice and working a hardship to many a man, whom he would not deliberately injure, on any account; and when this fact is brought squarely to his attention, it is believed that he will not willingly prolong the delay that is causing so much dissatisfaction among people at whose hands he has known naught but kindness.

In Surveyor General Cavanaugh's letter, printed above, settlers in the two Solduck townships will find cause for rejoicing. Both of those townships—Tps. 29 N., Ranges 9 and 10 West—are to be surveyed this spring, and a call for bids for doing this work, will be issued in a few weeks. This is satisfactory information, indeed.

A contract for the survey of Township 30 N., R. 10 W.—the township just back of Twin Rivers—was awarded on the 17th of this month, and the surveyor is expected to take the field as soon as settled weather is here, for sure.

Jim Hill Appreciates Our Timber Wealth

During the course of a lengthy speech before the City Council of Seattle, a few days ago, President Hill of the Great Northern said, among other true things: "The country behind those cities, (St. Paul and Minneapolis) supplies great quantities of grain. You have great masses of mineral, but in lumber alone you have more tonnage standing on the ground than Minnesota would produce in fifty years, if every acre of her soil was cultivated and each acre gave an average yield. [Cheers.]

"Your lumber will pay as good a rate as the grain going east. There has been some doubt expressed as to our ability to carry lumber at 40 cents. I assure you that is not a very low rate, but is as low as we want to begin on. We think at that rate you can do a heavy business. Your prosperity has grown from your natural resources. If it were not for that, many of you would long ago have sought other fields, and at times the place might have been wiped off the face of the earth. But for these resources you could not have kept your head above water, when you had to stand alone while your neighbors were being helped."

MR. SILAS GOODWIN, the owner of one of the finest ranches on the Elwha, and one of the best known residents of the county, was here, Wednesday. He went through to Gettysburg, to deliver to Hall & Bishop a yoke of cattle, that he had sold to the gentlemen named for $200. Mr. Frank Robinson has also sold a yoke of oxen to Hall & Bishop, for $175.

MR. AL MILLER, the Central Committeeman from this precinct—and a most efficient one he is, too—was in attendance at the meeting of the Republican County Central Committee, at Port Angeles, Tuesday.

JUDGE MCCLINTON has confirmed the sale of the forty-acre tract of land recently made by Mr. Harry E. Lutz, executor of the estate of Andrew Backers, deceased, to Mr. James C. Haswell.

MR. WM. NEWTON, hale and happy, and looking not a day over forty, came over from Victoria, Wednesday, to exchange greetings with his Port Crescent friends.

MR. AND MRS. Samuel W. Ramsey and family, took their departure for their old home, near Harrisonville, Mo., Friday last.

An Independent Citizen.

Wil-les-sa, a Quillayute Indian whose broad, good-natured face looms up conspicuously under a peaked-crowned cap with navy-blue chinchilla ear-tabs, came up to Port Crescent from Neah Bay, Tuesday morning, armed with a letter from Indian Agent McGlynn, notifying the world that he, Wil-les-sa, had severed all tribal relations with his people, renounced all claim or expectancy of aid or support from the Government, and proposed to stand on his own footing as a citizen of the United States.

Wil-les-sa is a friend of Stanley Gray, a Quillayute who recently filed on a claim near Quillayute, on the ownership of which he had set his heart; and Wil-les-sa concluded to follow the example set him by Gray. So he formally shook his people, and came here to file on a claim adjoining his friend's. He made his filing before Commissioner Harry E. Lutz, yesterday, and will henceforth claim as his homestead, 160 acres of good land in Township 28 N., R. 14 W.

The LEADER enjoyed a call from Wil-les-sa, while here. He came in, not to file a kick against the Commissioners or the county road, or to subscribe for the paper or to sell a halibut or a cedar mat, but to see if he couldn't, by the employment of much seductive wa-wa, arrange for a bed on the floor of the press-room, until he slept off the fatigue engendered by an all-night boat ride.

Among other interesting bits of information let fall by Wil-les-sa, was the story that on Tuesday of this week, Indian Peter and his two sons captured forty fur seals, near Neah Bay. Peter owns a schooner, and is making a fine catch, this season. Wil-les-sa says that seals are very plentiful about Cape Flattery, now, and he gave a very dramatic recital of the manner in which the fur-bearers are speared by the Indians.

Jim Wardner's Bread Mine.

"'Jim' Wardner, the Fairhaven capitalist and prince of liars, recently paid a visit to the Okanogan country to inspect his recent purchases—the Red Jacket, Black Bear and War Eagle mines—and while there is said to have made a most startling and useful discovery," says the Press-Times.

"Mr. Wardner and companions were camped one night on the shores of Osooyoos lake, and having caught some nice fish, were cooking them by the well-known process of coating them with clay and baking them in the fire. The clay used was of a peculiar quality, and one of the men, picking up a piece of clay that had been baked but not burned, found that it was pliable and resembled chewing gum. He tasted it and was delighted to find that it contained the appetizing qualities of pastry, with all the qualities of the more substantial substance, bread. The company was at first incredulous, but they remained there several days and subsisted entirely on cakes made from the "bread farm," as they term it. The cake made from the clay is without grit, and has a meaty flavor that is said to be very nourishing. Upon their return, steps were immediately taken to secure the title to this valuable clay bank, and Mr. Wardner will make a proposition to the state to establish a grand infirmary, at which can be kept all the paupers of the state at a very low rate. It is a well-known fact that a curious class of white people discovered a clay in the South, which, for many years they used as a substitute for corn meal, according to the productiveness of the different localities. Mr. Wardner's discovery should have been a bank of the best roller process flour, but it is simply a clay which can be made into very appetizing cakes and bread. As the supply is said to be almost inexhaustible, Seattle people may prepare themselves to see within six weeks on the bill of fare at the leading restaurants: "Jim Wardner's clay cakes; one cent apiece."

Getting in Shape for an Active Season.

Gettysburg will be one of the most active points along the Strait, this spring and summer. Three logging camps will pe in full blast, down there, just as soon as the season is old enough to permit of the inauguration of work—and this is to be an early season.

These three camps will give regular employment to at least eighty men, all at good wages, for several months, and millions of feet of lumber, in the log, will be shipped from Gettysburg, this year.

Hall & Bishop will run a double camp, and will give employment to from forty to forty-five men; and Mr. Peter Mohrdick and Meyers & Van Allen will each employ about twenty men. These three camps will pay out thousands of dollars per month to their employes, and will prove factors of the greatest importance in the general prosperity of the section they directly benefit.

MR. R. N. GETTY'S handsome new hotel and store-room at Gettysburg is nearing completion.

MESSRS. Harry E. Lutz and J. C. Haswell were visitors to Port Angeles, Tuesday.

Working in the Interest of the Canada Western.

"Inquiry about town yesterday, in regard to L. H. Northey, whom a dispatch to the Ledger located in Victoria," says the Tacoma Ledger of Saturdoy, "developed the fact that he is there working in the interests of the Canada Western, which it is proposed to connect with the Aberdeen, Washington & Victoria railroad, by a ferry crossing the Straits of San Juan de Fuca. The Aberdeen, Washington & Victoria is being pushed by local capitalists at Aberdeen, who are ready to put their money into the project. Mr. Northey has of late been in consultation with them, and left Tacoma the first of the present week in the interests of the project."

Victoria Daily Times: "Mr. L. H. Northey, of Tacoma, representing a syndicate of capitalists in that city, is in Victoria on railway business.

"Mr. Northey stated to a Times reporter this morning that he had come here principally with regard to the Canada Western railway scheme. They had heard in Tacoma that this scheme, which was dropped some time ago, was about to be resuscitated and a bill brought before the Legislature dealing with the matter.

"'It will cost $30,000 or $40,000 to make the survey, but the Tacoma capitalists consider it a good thing and are willing to put that amount in," said Mr. Northey. "There can be no doubt about their ability to float the enterprise safely. But I can't say anything definitely until we hear from the interested parties in Victoria. We don't want to antagonize them at all; we might fuse interests; but it will be two weeks before a definite understanding can be arrived at. I expect others interested in the scheme to arrive here from Tacoma this week. We took up this matter, hoping to make eastern connections if we did anything. That would be the main object, of course. The persons interested in it are among Tacoma's strongest capitalists.'

"'What about the Aberdeen, Washington & Victoria Railway? Is anything being done in that matter?'

"'Yes, the surveyors will start work on the road next week and the line will be brought here in some shape. It wil come out at some point opposite here on the Straits. I shall remain in Victoria probably two weeks to await developments.'"

The North American Review for March.

The official life of a nation has probably never been so fully represented in a single issue of a periodical as in the March number of the North American Review. It will contain articles on Spending Public Money, by Ex-Speaker T. B. Reed, and the Hon. W. S. Holman, Chairman of the Committee on Appropriations; on the World's Fair, by Director-General Davis of the Columbian Exposition; on the Issues of the Presidential Campaign, by United States Senators McMillan, Hiscock and Hale, and Representatives McMillin, Bland and Breckinridge; on the Need of an International Monetary Conference, by the Hon. Wm. M. Springer, Chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means, and on Our Commercial Relations with Chili, by Wm. Eleroy Curtis, Chief of the Bureau of American Republics. The same number will contain the second of Mr. Gladstone's articles on the Olympian Religion, and other contributions by Dr. Cyrus Edson, under the head of Do We Live Too Fast?; by the Belgian Minister at Washington, on the Anti-Slavery Conference; on the Degeneration of Tammany, by the Hon. Dorman B. Eaton; on Free Ships, by Captain John Codman, and on the Highlands of Jamaica, by Lady Blake, wife of the Governor of that island.

The Pansy.

The March Pansy opens with "A Happy Little Girl," which, upon examining the entire contents, we find suggestive of many other happy girls and boys who will read this admirable number. The stories by Pansy and Margaret Sidney move along in that masterly fashion which marks the writings of these authors, and its shorter stories, articles, sketches and verse, well sustain the opinion always expressed whenever the Pansy magazine is spoken of. Price $1.00 a year; 10 cents a number. D. Lothrop Company, publishers, Boston.

THE HERMOSA came into port, Monday—Washington's birthday — beautifully decorated from bow to stern and top of masts. She was flying the flag of every maritime nation on earth, and presented a brave and handsome appearance, indeed.

MR. R. S. DUVALL of Huachuca, Arizona, a Government timber inspector, was here the latter part of last week. He came to take a look at the country south and west of here.

MRS. JENNIE H. WOOD, who has been visiting friends at Chehalis, for some weeks past, returned to her home near Gettysburg, Monday.

WASTING BIG FORTUNES,

In the Way We Work Up Our Magnificent Trees for the Market.

SO SAY THE EASTERN LUMBERMEN,

Who Visited the Sound Country to Gather Definite Information as to Our Timber Resources and Our Methods of Doing Business—A Prediction as to the Profits of the Man Who Gets the Second Cut of Our Forests—Suggestions Worth Heeding—A Brutal Aristocratic Mother—Robbing Edison of the Fruits of His Inventions.

THE DELEGATION of Eastern lumbermen, who recently visited the Sound conntry, to acquaint themselves with our timber resources, were amazed at the magnitude of our forest wealth, and were fully impressed with the fact that vast fortunes are to be made out of our timber.

They were astonished at the wasteful way in which our great trees are worked up into marketable shape, as is clearly shown by the comments below, gathered by a representative of the Post-Intelligencer, who accompanied the party on some of its excursions:

"I would like to have the waste of any of your mills. It amounts to 30,000 feet a day at the St. Paul and Tacoma mill alone. I saw slabs in the boiler room which they wete using for fuel, and which was as clear as any lumber I ever saw."

"We would make laths of it," remarked another gentleman.

"I would rather have the refuse from that mill than any mill on the Mississippi river; it would make me a millionaire in five years if I had it back there."

"This shows the difference between the way you cut timber here and the way we cut it back east," said another gentleman, showing a little bit of wood about three-quarters of an inch wide and a small fraction of an inch thick. "That," showing the width of it, "is the waste they make out here, and this," showing the thickness of it, "will not go into the gauge of the thickness of a band saw many ot our people are using in the east. Every bit of that waste costs $6 a thousand feet."

"Why, here they make not less than 60 per cent of uppers—grades better than common. We do well if we get 20 per cent."

"We saw a creek up at Wilkeson which was bridged for two miles with splendid logs. The water was flowing beneath and they were hauling logs above, the logs being laid across the stream. A man would be locked up in our country for using those logs for such a purpose."

"And beautiful trees," remarked another member of the group, with a smile beaming with delight at the thought of the pillars he had seen rising toward the sky in bewildering clusters.

"Yes, 150 to 200 feet before you strike a knot," said another.

"I saw one tree 224 feet long to the point where it struck a cross log in falling and broke off."

"I asked the foreman how high a tree was, and he said 250 feet. It did not look so high, because all the trees around it were as high. It was not like a church spire, that stands alone, with no tall buildings around it, and looks high. Still you have to take three looks at one of these trees to see the top."

"Twenty-five years from now the man who gets the second cut on his land will make $2 for every $1 they make on the first cut."

"They don't cut anything under two feet in diameter. We would be climbing over one another to get what they leave."

"I'd just want a thousand acres of such stumpage back in Minnesota."

"But what horrifies us is the way they waste one or two trees in felling another. They never fell one without breaking one besides, though the trees are so straight they can fell them in any direction."

The Fiendish Cruelty of an Aristocratic Mother.

Further details in regard to the death of little Mary Helen Montague, the 3-year-old daughter of Mrs. A. Montague, wife of Lord Robert Montague, the present Duke of Manchester, show the case against the mother to be blacker and blacker, says a late cablegram from Belfast, Ireland, to the daily press.

Mrs. Montague was committed for trial Friday at Londonderry, on the charge of causing the death of her daughter by locking her up in a dark room, after fastening the child's hands behind her back and securing the cord used in tying the child to a ring in the wall.

It was added that the child was stripped naked before being strung up in the manner indicated. It is said that the poor little girl, on the day she was subjected to this treatment, had been kept without food since breakfast, and that she was locked up in the dark room at 1 p. m. by the governess.

At 2 o'clock, it is added, the child was visited by its mother, who fastened the child's arms behind her back and then tied the cord to a ring in the wall, in spite of the little girl's heartrending cries for mercy.

Nobody appears to have given a thought to the child until 5 o'clock the same evening, when, according to the mother's testimony, she unlocked the door of her daughter's prison and found her insensible. Without alarming the house, the mother says, she carried the little girl to her room and tried to revive her, but little Mary was dead, and the grave suspicion rested on the mother.

The room in which the poor child was imprisoned was only 7 feet square and had no windows in it. When the door was closed this room was absolutely dark and entirely devoid of ventilation.

When questioned on the subject by the coroner and by the magistrate, Mrs. Montague admitted that she had on previous occasions submitted her daughter to similar treatment.

When examined by the coroner the body was covered with old and fresh bruises, blood was issuing from its mouth and the child's whole appearance justified the suspicion that she had been treated with systematic cruelty for a long time past.

The utmost indignation is expressed against the cruel mother, who is likely to feel the full weight of the law, in spite of her aristocratic connections and influential friends.

Capitalists Squeezing the Great Inventor.

It is rumored in Wall street that Thomas A. Edison is dissatisfied with the projected consolidation of the Edison General Electric company and the Thomson-Houston company, and that he will retire, if indeed, he is not practically frozen out. It is said that he owns only one-tenth of the stock of the Edison company, which controls nearly all his patents, and with such a small portion of the whole stock he is practically powerless. The fact that he has only such a comparatively small amount of the stock is interesting in itself, as showing that Edison is sharing the fate of inventors generally. Other men have the majority and are drawing the dividends. It is believed that through ignorance of the ways of Wall street, he was outwitted and someone else obtained control of his stock. No one has been able to find out definitely what Edison thinks of the consolidation scheme, as he refuses to discuss the matter. By the terms of the consolidation the capital stock of the Edison company can be exchanged for $100,000,000 worth of stock in the new company, and the Thomson-Houston company gets $18,400,000 worth of stock in the new company.

Playing a Man's Part for Twenty-five Years.

This romantic story comes from Chattanooga, Tenn.: "One of the oldest settlers of Juno, Tenn., Henry Armstrong, 60 years old, who paid poll tax and voted for the Democratic ticket, died a few days ago after 25 years' residence in the village, and after death he was found to be a woman.

"This strange metamorphosis has been learned from an old diary found among Armstrong's few possessions. Her name was Myra Lawrence, and just before the war she was deserted by her lover, who entered the confederate army.

"Disguising herself she enlisted in the same regiment, sharing the fortunes of the man whom she still loved, until he died in her arms from a bullet wound. Retaining her masculine attire, she began a new life and kept her secret until the end."

Our Little Men and Women

For March is an unusually readable number. "Boots and Boneset," is a capital story; "Playing School" tells more about "The Doings of the Studio Dolls," and "Like a Fairy Princess" is a true incident, told as a charming story, about the Princess of Wales. "A Seal's Sayings," "A Boy and a Girl," "Joker and His Relations," are all worthy of special mention, while "Mamma Trusted Us," "Five Little Servants" and "A Star Story," each embellished with fitting and beautiful pictures, show a knowledge and appreciation of child-life which enables the publishers of Our Little Men and Women to send out an exceedingly helpful as well as beautiful little magazine. For youngest readers. Price $1.00 a year; 10 cents a number. D. Lothrop Company, publishers, Boston.

MR. CLAUS SKAVDAL of near Beaver, was here, Monday, on his return from a pleasant visit to Victoria.

MRS. A. E. TOWER is a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Austin, south of Gettysburg.

REPUBLICAN State Convention.

A CONVENTION of the Republican party of the state of Washington is hereby called to meet at the city of Seattle, in King county, on at 10 o'clock, a. m., for the purpose of electing eight (8) delegates and eight (8) alternates to the National Republican Convention to be held in the city of Minneapolis, in the state of Minnesota, on the seventh (7th) day of June, 1892, for the purpose of nominating candidates for president and vice-president and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before it.

The basis of representation to the state convention hereby called shall be as follows, to-wit:

One delegate at large from each county; one delegate from each county for every two hundred (200) votes, and one delegate from each county for each fraction of thirty-three (33) votes or more over two hundred (200); the same to be calculated from the number of votes cast in each county for the Republican candidate for governor in 1889.

Upon the foregoing basis the several counties in the state are entitled to representation as follows:

COUNTY.	DELEGATE.	VOTE
Adams	3	261
Asotin	1	171
Chehalis	6	897
Clallam	2	222

It is hereby further recommended that the Republican County Central Committees call the primaries in their respective counties to be held on Saturday, the 12th day of March, and that Republican County Conventions be held on Saturday, the 19th day of March, 1892, for the election of delegates as hereby apportioned.

It is further recommended that at said primaries and county conventions, the precinct and county committees be chosen in accordance with the "rules" of the party.

Done at headquarters by order of the Republican State Committee, this 1st day of February, 1892.

EUGENE T. WILSON, Chairman.
RALPH K. NICHOLS, Secretary.

Hon. John Leary has been nominated as the Republican candidate for Mayor of Seattle.

The solid vote of New York's delegation to the Democratic National Convention will be cast for David B. Hill. This fact was settled at the convention held at Albany on Monday; and at the same time, the fact was settled that Cleveland's nomination is now practically a political impossibility.

Mr. Will B. Shay has disposed of his excellent paper, the Snohomish Republican, to Mr. J. W. Frame, by whom it will be converted into a straight-out Democratic paper. This is a sad fate for a paper that started out as promisingly as the Republican. It is comforting to know, though, that Mr. Frame means to make the Democrat a good newspaper, irrespective of politics.

Congressman John L. Wilson emphatically denies ever having said that he was in favor of a division of the state, and adds that "the statement that I have, does me great injustice." It was scarcely necessary for Mr. Wilson to make this denial. The people of Washington have too good an opinion of his common sense to believe him capable of advocating such a suicidal scheme as that.

Republicans, keep this fact in mind: The primaries to select delegates to the County Convention, will be held in the various precincts throughout the county, on Saturday, March 12th. It is important that all Republicans who are against Ring-rule and corruption in politics, attend these primaries, and see to it that the delegates sent to the County Convention are, in every instance, good men and true, who are unchangeably for the interests of the people and against the gang who are now running the county toward bankruptcy and the party to perdition.

The Apportionment of Delegates to the County Convention.

At the meeting of the County Central Committee, held at Port Angeles on Tuesday, the following apportionment of delegates to the County Convention, to be held at Angeles on the 19th of next month, was agreed upon—the apportionment being made on the basis of one delegate for every 20 votes cast for Hon. John L. Wilson in 1890, with one delegate for each new precinct that has been or will be formed before the date of the convention:

PRECINCTS.	DELEGATES.
Angeles Precinct, No. 1	3
" " No. 2	4
" Geraghty Precinct	2
" Carver Precinct	2
Dungeness	2
Sequim	2
Port Crescent	2
Gettysburg	1
Edgewood	2
Blynn	1
Beaver	2
Pysht	1
Clallam Bay	1
Neah Bay	1
Forks	1
Quillayute	1
Shuwah	1
Eden	1
Total	30

Both Eden and Shuwah are new precincts—the first-named being created for the accommodation of the voters in the vicinity of Freshwater Bay. It is very probable that a precinct will be created, within the next two weeks, at Fairholme, Lake Crescent, and if so, Fairholme will also send a delegate to the convention.

The Committee elected Mr. T. H. Bradshaw as State Central Committeeman from this county—a judicious and most satisfactory selection, indeed.

County Organizer N. R. Smith will be at Fairholme, Tuesday of next week, to organize a Republican Club on the League basis. Interest in the approaching meeting is well worked up about the Lake and throughout the Solduck, and Tuesday's gathering is sure to be an interesting one, and productive of good results.

The Pleasures of Ranching in the Quinault Country.

The pleasures and dangers of ranching and hunting in the Quinault disirict, in Chehalis county, are vividly set forth in a letter from Fitz Leather, formerly telegraph editor of the Press-Times. He left Seattle a few months ago for his ranch on the Quinault lake, walking along the shore of Quinault river, and then went up the river to the lake in a canoe. He says:

"It took my partner and myself twenty-one days of hard canoeing up the Quinault river to reach the lake, a distance of about fifty miles. Flood after flood came down, holding the two of us, together with 1,100 pounds of provisions, etc., for nearly a month, far out of the ken of civilization. Since then I have made another trip and was held for twenty days on the river. Again my friend and myself took a trip in my canoe twenty-four miles above, in search of elk. I killed a good-sized elk, but in transporting it down we upset and lost guns, meat, hides, bedding, tent, and in fact, everything. Eight days after the upset, which occurred in seven or eight feet of white water, I recovered my bedding, and after damming up up the river we got our guns. The river is a boiling torrent, and the water coming over the stern swamped us. The canoeing is different here than it is on Lake Washington, but the excitement of the trip is worth the danger. I have struck a rich beaver-dam, and yesterday caught a fine beaver, four feet by three and one-half feet, stretched. The skin of a fine bald-headed eagle also graces and embellishes the walls of my shack. Hunting is good here, but it will tax a person's strength to reach the lake, and after he does, he will have to make his own accommodations, as very few people live here."

WORK on the road to connect Lakes Crescent and Sutherland is now well under way, and is being successfully prosecuted.

A Valuable Publication.

The publishers of the Century Magazine have issued a pamphlet entitled "Cheap Money," containing the articles on Cheap-Money Experiment, which have been appearing in "Topics of the Time" of the Century during the past year or more. Single copies cost 10 cents each, postpaid. The pamphlet will be supplied in packages, by the hundred, at 5 cents each, for distribution.

She Was Going to Squak, Just the Same.

Seattle Press-Times: "She was about to board the morning train on the Seattle, Lake Shore & Eastern, when a runaway horse came tearing down the street.

"'Are you going to Squak, ma'am?' asked the attentive brakeman.

"'Sir!' exclaimed she, with fire and brimstone blazing in her eye, 'do you mean to insult me? I going to squawk, indeed! You might as well ask me if I was an old hen, and be done with it! It's none of your business what I was going to do!'

"And she swung herself on board the train and dropped into the nearest seat, all unmindful of the fact that she was on the train for Squak lake."

Annexation Will Come After the Death of the Queen.

J. L. Anderson, the newspaper correspondent, who has just returned to San Francisco from a trip to Honolulu, is quoted as saying: "Before I visited the islands, I had heard many contradictory reports regarding the desire of the Hawaiians for annexation with the United States. During my sojourn at Honolulu I conversed with many white residents, and found the general concensus of opinion upon the subject. The almost universal reply to my interrogation was: 'Yes, we are in favor of annexation when the reign of the present queen is at an end, but we don't desire to change while she lives.' The popular impression is that Queen Liliuokalani will be the last sovereign of the islands, and that when she dies a political union will be effected with this country, or else the United States will be asked to extend her protectorate over the Hawaiian group. Those who held these view were more frequently Englishmen, Portuguese and Germans, rather than Americans.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all throat and Lung Affections; also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper. W. A. NOYES, 820 Powers' Block, Rochester, N. Y.

Scribner's Magazine.

An Exceptional Year.

THE YEAR 1891 has been marked by a greater advance than any similar period since the Magazine was established. Not only has the literary and artistic excellence been maintained and increased, but a corresponding gain has been made in the sale and influence of the Magazine. At the end of 1891 the circulation has risen to more than 140,000. It may justly be promised that the further improvements for the coming year will be proportionate to these largely increased opportunities.

For Next Year.

It is not possible to give, in a brief space, an account of all the features in preparation, but the material is deficient in neither importance nor range of subject. Among the subjects treated:

The Poor in the World's Great Cities.

It is proposed to publish a series of articles, upon a scale not before attempted, giving the results of special study and work among the poor of the great cities. The plan will include an account of the conditions of life in those cities (in many lands) where the results of research will be helpful for purposes of comparison as well as for their own intrinsic interest. While, from a scientific point of view, the articles will be a contribution of great importance, the treatment will be thoroughly popular, and the elaborate illustrations will serve to make the presentation of the subject vivid as well as picturesque.

Washington Allston.

UNPUBLISHED REMINISCENCES AND LETTERS of this foremost among early American painters. A number of illustrations will lend additional interest to the articles.

Important Moments.

The aim of this series of very short articles is to describe the signal occasions when som decisive event took place, or when some great experiment was first shown to be successful—such moments as that of the first use of the Atlantic cable, the first use of the telegraph and telephone, the first successful experiment with ether, the night of the Chicago fire, the scene at the moment of the vote on the impeachment of Andrew Johnson, etc., etc.

Out of Door Papers.

In the early spring will be begun a number of seasonable articles, among them being:
SMALL COUNTRY PLACES, how to lay out and beautify them, by SAMUEL PARSONS, JR.
FISHING LORE FROM AN ANGLER'S NOTE-BOOK, by DR. LEROY M. YALE.
MOUNTAIN STATION LIFE IN NEW ZEALAND, by SIDNEY DICKINSON.
RACING IN AUSTRALIA, by SIDNEY DICKINSON, with illustrations by BIRGE HARRISON.
The illustrations are made from original material.

— OF THE —

Finest Timber Land,

LOCATED on the East Side of the Sound, close to a river navigable for steamers, and within convenient distance of a railroad. The land is covered with a magnificent growth of first-grade fir, that is estimated to run from 5,000,000 to 6,000,000 feet per quarter section, and which can be most advantageously logged. Big tracts of timber, such as this is, are getting scarce in Washington, and the opportunity to secure this splendid body of well-located fir should not long remain unimproved. THE BEST OF CHILDREN'S MAGAZINES.

THE publishers of St. Nicholas, that famous young-folks magazine, are offering to send a sample copy, free of charge, to any father or mother who would like to consider the question of taking a children's magazine during the year to come.

Certainly if that question is up for discussion in any household St. Nicholas will be the magazine selected. From its first number, in 1873, the pens of the greatest writers of the English world, and the pencils of the most famous illustrators, have been at its service. Tennyson, Longfellow, Bryant, Thomas Hughes, Whittier, Bret Harte, Bayard Taylor, Mrs. Burnett, Miss Alcott, Donald G. Mitchell, George Macdonald, Mrs. Oliphant, Professor Proctor are a few of the many great names which have been upon its list of contributors. Mrs. Mary Mapes Dodge is the editor. Everything in it is illustrated.

there are to be serial stories by Brander Matthews, Lieutenant Robert H. Fletcher (the author of that charming book, "Marjorie and Her Papa,"), Laura E. Richards, William O. Stoddard, Charles E. Carryl (author of Davy and the Goblin"), and Frances Courtenay Baylor. There will be short stories by Thomas Nelson Page, Mary E. Wilkins, Mary Hallock Foote, Richard Malcolm Johnston, Octave Thanet, General O. O. Howard and many others, with papers of travel and adventure by J. T. Trowbridge and Lieutenant Schwatka, and useful articles on "How Columbus Reckoned," 'William the Conquerer,' "Volcanoes and Earthquakes," Straight Lines and Circles," etc. In "Strange Corners of Our Country," the Great American Dessert, the Cliff-Dwellings of Arizona, and other interesting places, will be described, and in "Honors to the Flag" and "Boys and the National Guard" the patriotism of the young readers will be aroused and stimulated. Julian Ralph is to describe "The Making of a Great Newspaper," and the arc and incandescent electric lights are to be clearly explained.

APPLIED CHRISTIANITY

is what St. Nicholas teaches;—unselfishness, faithfulness, courage, truthfulness—these things are taught is a hundred ways by stories, poems and pictures. Do you need such an assistant in your work with your boys and girls? If so, and if you are not already familiar with St. Nicholas, send a postal card to The Century Co., Union Square, New York, N. Y., and ask to see a sample copy. A year's subscription to St. Nicholas makes a splendid Christmas present, for it brings Christmas twelve times a year.

BABYLAND.

Baby's delight and mother's relief.

Gay jingles, sweet little stories, dainty pictures will make BABYLAND for 1892 a charming magazine for the little ones. Among the many good things will be NURSE KAREN'S NORWAY TALES—stories told by a Norwegion nurse to little Americans—by EMILIE POULSSON, whose "Finger Plays" and "Toy Closet Stories" have made her our fairy godmother.

THE SWEETHEART STORIES by BELLA D. CLARK, a new friend, but one who knows all about baby folks.

THE TIPTOE TWINS, and their doings, will be described by MARGARET JOHNSON, whose "Toddlekins" and "Boofer Kitten" have never been forgotten.

Only 50 cents a year.

D. LOTHROP CO., BOSTON.

A GREAT MAGAZINE.

The Century's Programme in 1892—A New "Life of Columbus" — Articles for Farmers, etc.

THAT great American periodical, THE CENTURY, is going to outdo its own unrivaled record in its programme for 1892, and as many of its new features begin with the November number, new readers should commence with that issue.

In this number are the opening chapters of a novel by Rudyard Kipling, the famous author of "Plain Tales from the Hills," written in collaboration with an American writer, Wolcott Balestier. It is the story of a young man and a young woman from a "booming" Colorado town, who go to India, he in search of a wonderful jeweled necklace, called "the Naulahka" (from which the story takes its name), and she as a physician to women. The novel describes their remarkable adventures at the court of an Indian maharajah. Besides this, the Century will print three other novels during the year, and a great number of short stories by the best American story-writers.

The well-known humorist, Edgar W. Nye ("Bill Nye"), is to write a series of amusing sketches which he calls his "autobiographies," the first one of which, "The Autobiography of a Justice of the Peace," is in November. This number also contains a valuable and suggestive article on "The Food Supply of the Future," which every farmer should read, to be followed by a number of others treating especially of the relations of the Government to the farmer, what it is doing and what it should do. This series will include contributions from officers of the Department of Agriculture, and other well-known men will discuss "The Farmer's Discontent," "Co-operation," etc., etc.

A celebrated Spanish writer is to furnish a "Life of Columbus," which will be brilliantly illustrated, and the publishers of the Century have arranged with the managers of the World's Fair to print articles on the buildings, etc.

One of the novels to appear in 1892 is by the author of "The Anglomaniacs," and the magazine will contain a great deal about the metropolis during the year—among other things a series of illustrated articles on "The Jews in New York." In November is an illustrated description of "The Players' Club," founded by Edwin Booth, and one of the features of the splendidly illustrated Christmas (December) number is an article on "The Bowery."

To get the Century send the yearly subscription price ($4.00) to The Century Co., Union Square, New York, N. Y.

LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE.

Twenty-Fifth Annual Prospectus.

A QUARTER OF A CENTURY has elapsed since LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE was first presented to the reading public. By adding new and original features it has kept in advance of the times and now occupies a unique position among magazines. It was the first to abandon serial stories, and by publishing a complete novel in each number, the magazine has wonderfully increased its popularity. This popular feature will be continued, and leading American and English authors have been engaged to contribute novels for the ensuing year. The January number will contain a remarkable novel dealing with newspaper life, entitled, "The Passing of Major Kilgore," by YOUNG E. ALLISON, late Managing Editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal. This number will fitly inaugurate The Journalist's Series, which will consist of a number of contributions from prominent newspaper men who will tell their personal experiences, and give glimpses of the editorial sanctums and inner workings of various leading newspapers throughout the country. An insight into the lives of newspaper men at work and at play will be given, and the methods of getting out the great dailies will be illustrated. A series of articles on Athletics will also be commenced in the January number, the initial article being one on "Boxing," by DANIEL L. DAWSON. The articles will be prepared by experts in such sports and exercises as rowing, fencing, base-ball, cricket, walking, swimming, archery, tennis, foot-ball, riding, sailing, golf, la crosse, polo, etc., as well as articles on Physical Training and In-Door Exercises. New Talent will be heartily encouraged as heretofore, and writers from every section of the country will be represented in the pages of Lippincott's during 1892. A series of articles dealing with reminiscences of men famous in our political history, and giving hitherto-unpublished correspondence, will form a feature. Among such articles may be mentioned "Personal Recollections of Abraham Lincoln, Andrew Johnson, John C. Calhoun," etc., the Clay-Randolph Correspondence and Duel, Social Life in Philadelphia during the Administration of John Adams, etc.

MRS. M. E. W. SHERWOOD will contribute a series of papers entitled Collections and Recollections. These will include reminiscences of many famous people in "society," also recollections of the Brook Farm Community, and other interesting data. Leading Actors have been engaged to contribute articles on the modern stage, and an initial paper by E. S. WILLARD, the English actor, will be published in and early forthcoming number. It would be impossible to mention in detail the wealth of material that has been secured for 1892, in the shape of Short Stories, Essays, Sketches, Poems, etc., by well-known writers.

A POPULAR FAMILY.

JENNIE: "How is it, Kate, that you always seem to 'catch on' to the last new thing? Do what I may, you always seem to get ahead of me."

KATE: "I don't know: I certainly do not make any exertion in that direction."

JENNIE: "Well, during the last few months, for example, you have taken up painting, without any teacher; you came to the rescue when Miss Lafarge deserted her Delsarte class so suddenly, and certainly we are all improving in grace under your instruction; I heard you telling Tommy Eames last evening how his club made mistakes in playing baseball; you seem to be up on all the latest 'fads,' and know just what to do under all circumstances; you entertain beautifully; and in the last month you have improved so in health, owing, you tell me, to your physical culture exercises. Where do you get all of your information from in this little out-of-the way place?—for you never go to the city."

KATE: "Why, Jennie, you will make me vain. I have only one source of information, but it is surprising how it meets all wants. I very seldom hear of anything new but what the next few days bring me full information on the subject. Magic? No! Magazine! And a great treasure it is to us all, for it really furnishes the reading for the whole household: father has given up his magazine that he has taken for years, as he says this one gives more and better information on the subjects of the day; and mother says that it is that that makes her such a famous housekeeper. In fact, we all agree that it is the only really FAMILY magazine published, as we have sent for samples of all of them, and find that one is all for men, another all for women, and another for children only, while this one suits every one of us; so we only need to take one instead of several, and that is where the economy comes in, for it is only $2.00 a year. Perhaps you think I am too lavish in my praise; but I will let you see ours, or, better still, send 10 cents to the publisher, W. Jennings Demorest, 15 East 14th Street, New York, for a sample copy, and I shall always consider that I have done you a great favor; and may be you will be cutting us out, as you say we have the reputation of being the best informed family in town. If that be so, it is Demorest's Family Magazine that does it."

Subscribe for the Olympia Tribune (weekly), the only newspaper in the state that prints regularly all the decisions of the State Supreme Court and all the state news. $2.00 per year.

THE ARENA for 1892 will eclipse its previous brilliant record in the strength and ability of its contributions. As in the past, it will continue to be the most aggressive, fearless, and outspoken review of the age. All great living issues will be fully, freely and impartially discussed by the foremost thinkers of our day. Great wrongs and growing evils will be unmasked without fear or favor, while the root problems underlying civilization will be more fully discussed than in the pages of any other review.

Some Special Features for 1892.

I. "A Spoil of Office," by Hamlin Garland, which opens in the January ARENA. This is, without question, one of the greatest novels ever written by an American author. It deals with the social, economic and political condition of the modern West, and is characterized by beauty and strength. A golden thread of love runs through the woof and web of this great story, which opens in Iowa, shifts its scenes to Kansas, and closes in the National Capitol. "A SPOIL OF OFFICE" will be the most talked-of story of 1892 and YOU should read it.

II. Popular Social and Economic Problems. It will be an encyclopædia of social, economic and political information, giving its readers a masterly exposition of the true conditions and needs of the present, depicting the evils of the hour, and suggesting remedies calculated to secure a wider meed of justice and liberty for the great toiling millions of our land. From its inception THE ARENA has been THE STEADFAST CHAMPION OF THE PEOPLE, absolutely fearless in its denunciation of plutocracy, monopoly and all means and measures which wrong the multitude or infringe upon the liberty of the humblest citizen.

III. Psychical Science. During 1892, THE ARENA will have the ablest, most authoritative, and brilliant series of papers ever published on psychical science, by leading thinkers of the new world and the old.

IV. The Condition of Woman Throughout the World. Recognizing the fact that the present is the cycle of woman, THE ARENA for 1892 will contain a brilliant and powerful series of papers on the condition of woman throughout the world. The opening paper appears in the January number, by Professor A. N. Jannaris, Ph. D., of the National University of Greece. It is on "Women in Mohammedan Lands."

V. Scientific Papers. Popular papers on scientific subjects by the most profound thinkers of the age will also be a feature of THE ARENA for 1892. The first paper of this series appears in the December ARENA, by the eminent French astronomer, Camille Flammarion, on "Recent Discoveries in the Heavens." The second is by the great English scientist, Alfred Russel Wallace, on "Human Progress, Past and Future."

VI. Religious and Educational Problems and Social Conditions will be fully and freely presented by the master spirits in each department of thought.

VII. Short Stories and Biographies. Each issue will contain, in addition to Mr. Garland's great novel, a brilliant short story or a biography of some eminent person; thus every member of the family will hail the arrival of THE ARENA with delight.

VIII. Full-page Portraits and Illustrations. Each issue will contain superb full-page portraits of distinguished personages, with autographs, printed on heavy plate paper.

PORT CRESCENT.

THE POINT at which the American Continent most nearly approaches Vancouver Island, the distance being LESS THAN TEN MILES. The most favorable point for DIRECT - INTERNATIONAL - COMMUNICATION.

Between the two countries.

The Harbor is already, to a large degree, protected by natural headlands, but

Breakwaters which will Encircle it and Double its Capacity are Being Provided,

At a cost of $350,000. The more important one is in full progress and partly completed.

PORT CRESCENT is the extreme western port of Puget Sound, and THE FIRST DEEP-WATER HARBOR north of San Francisco, without a bar, a shoal or a sandbank. It will accommodate 120 ships at cable length, besides 100 more alongside wharves. A short and clear waterway of 43 miles to the ocean, enables ships to dispense with the heavy charges necessarily incurred for tugs and pilots on the Columbia river and the upper ports of Puget Sound.

Its unique geographical position secured for it the attention of the officials of the Northern Pacific R. R. Co.,

And in view of its capacities, it has been selected as an Ocean Terminus, in preference to any other point.

THE PRESIDENT of that corporation, Mr. Thomas F. Oakes, of New York, and other influential officers of the Northern Pacific, are Trustees of the Victoria, Port Crescent & Chehalis Railroad Company, with a Capital of $4,000,000.

This Line Will Run from Port Crescent

WESTWARD of the Olympic Mountains and connect with the existing Northern Pacific system on Gray's Harbor. It will traverse a series of river valleys of the richest agricultural character, INTO WHICH SETTLERS ARE FLOCKING IN GREAT NUMBERS; lands especially fitted for Hops and Fruit Culture, with a climate, induced by the genial warmth of the Japan current, equal to that of California, without its aridity. The timber is unexcelled, inexhaustible and very accessible. The clearing of the first section of the Right-of-way from Port Crescent is completed; the preliminary surveys of the whole line made, and its early completion is now assured.

An essential feature of the project now being developed at Port Crescent is the

Ferrying of Solid Northern Pacific Trains

Over to Port Beecher, on Vancouver Island, and thence

Into the City of Victoria, B. C.,

Conveying freight without breaking bulk and passengers without change of vehicle.

Immediately adjoining Port Crescent, and connected with it by a good road, is

LAKE CRESCENT,

TEN MILES in length, from two to three miles in width, and of surpassing beauty. This Lake, with its wonderful coloring and magnificent surrounding scenery, was visited by hundreds of delighted pleasure seekers, the past summer, and is destined to become one of the most famous resorts in the Pacific Northwest. It is without a rival in Western Washington. Its waters abound in trout, and it is an ideal rendezvous for fishermen and sportsmen.

A Mail Route has been recently established between Port Crescent and the west end of Lake Crescent, for the accommodation of residents of the rich valley of the Solduck—which valley, now conveniently reached by way of Port Crescent, is being rapidly filled up with a fine class of settlers. In addition to thousands of acres of choice Agricultural and Timber Lands, the valley possesses

HOT - MINERAL - SPRINGS - OF - GREAT - VALUE.

A LUMBER MILL has been established at Port Crescent, and stores, hotels, warehouses and residences built, and all indications go to show that a city of the very first rank must arise here—and one backed by one of the largest and richest agricultural regions in Washington. No point in the State offers Sounder Opportunities for Safe Investment on the part of the most conservative, and further particulars, with plans, prices of City Lots and Desirable Acreage, will gladly be afforded on application.
