The Democratic County Convention held in the Little Theater at the Peninsula College was attended by 160 delegates and alternates from Clallam County. Dick Fisch Democratic Central Committee Chairman introduced all the dignitaries and the platform committee members. Senator Gordon Sandison addressed the delegates, bringing out the policies of the party, which through the years has been to improve the living conditions of the working class. We live with more hope now, said Senator Sandison, and with a strong united front we will answer their needs.

In the race for the presidency Senator Henry Jackson came out as the favorite with 74 votes, followed by Senator George McGovern with 32 votes. Senator Hubert Humphrey received 6 votes; Senator Edmund Muskie, 2; Congresswoman Shirley Chisholm, 1; and 1 was uncommitted. As was expected Senator Martin Durkan was the number one in the governor straw vote with 57 votes, but Jim McDermott was way ahead with 37 votes to former Governor Rosellini's 18. Julia Butler Hansen received one vote and one was uncommitted.

Most of the time at the convention was spent voting on the 1972 proposed platform and several planks drew strong controversy.

The strongest debated plank was the one favoring amnesty for the draft evader which was substituted for the following: "We oppose the granting of amnesty to any young man, who has gone abroad to avoid serving in Indo-China, until all troops have been withdrawn and then only on the basis of alternative government service."

Delegates to the State Convention are Robert Allman, Robert Hall, John Doherty, Terry Diimmell and Ed Claplanhoo. Alternates from the Forks area are Lawrence Soderlund, Mildred Wasankari and Ingrid Lingvall.

Permanent elected chairman for the County Convention was Jim Lunt, treasurer of the Democratic Central Committee.

KVAC SCHOLARSHIP AUCTION

The fifth annual KVAC Scholarship Auction held April 27-28 raised an unofficial total of $1,628.75 for the Quillayute Valley scholarship fund.

Auctioneer Gordon Otos kicked things off at 8 o'clock Thursday morning, and the auction trail led thru a variety of homemade goods, items and services before ending at midnight Friday.

A New Zealand bacon and egg pie was perhaps the most unusual home-baked item this year, although uniqueness doesn't necessarily bring the highest price. A pan of cinnamon rolls sparked competition between a 2-man "combine" and other bidders and finally sold for $40.00.

Last year an overly excited bidder called in to ask what he bought; this year an equally excited young fellow submitted a $2.00 bid before anything was up for auction. Inevitably, some are disappointed. One small voice, realizing he was a few seconds late and four bits short, expressed his feelings with, "I was going to bid $6.50 but somebody 'highered' me!"

KVAC would like to thank all the individuals and businesses who contributed to the auction as well as those who purchased the various items and services. Thanks, too, to those who helped behind the scenes.

Amounts raised for the scholarship fund during previous years are as follows: 1968 - $2,171.75; 1969 - $1,222.00; 1970 - $2,041.70; 1971 - $2,097.50.

Those who haven't picked up their items or certificates at KVAC are urged to do so as soon as possible.

LOU MARSH RETIRES

A no-host dinner in honor of Mrs. Gordon Marsh was given Friday evening by the Forks Memorial Library Board. Mrs. Marsh has retired after serving six and one half years in the library.

Mr. Boyd Rupp, president of the Board, welcomed the guests and lauded Mrs. Marsh for her dedicated service, and expressed best wishes for her future. Invocation was given by L. E. Malmsten, treasurer of the Board. The program, which was in charge of Mrs. L. E. Malmsten, included short talks by Miss Primrose Bredl, county librarian, Miss Hope Hodges, retired county librarian, Mrs. John Miller, retired local librarian and Mrs. C. E. Gockereil who is replacing Mrs. Marsh, and Mrs. Arthur Stanley, Secretary of the Board.

Mr. Gockereil read a limerick of his own composition which depicted several episodes in Mrs. Marsh's life.

A dramatization by Mrs. Gockereil and Mrs. Malmsten, entitled "Lu Wears Many Hats", revealed numerous avenues of service through which Mrs. Marsh has served patrons of the library and the whole community. To illustrate, glamorous hats, garden hats, business hats, colorful hats, utilitarian hats and others were worn.

A gift of classical stereo records was given the guest of honor who responded with a gracious thank you for the "surprise party".

Guests from Port Angeles were Miss Hope Hodges, Miss Primrose Bredl and Mrs. Jean Scott, a long-time friend of Mrs. Marsh's. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Huling of Forks, Mrs. Oral Motteler and Mrs. John Hitchcock, Board members, were unable to attend.

4TH OF JULY REPORT

The 4th of July committee has met twice to plan for the celebration. Anyone interested in lending a helping hand should contact the following chairmen: Ron Riedel, parade chairman; Tiny Aanderud, demolition derby and fireworks; Jan Bagby, queen contest; Wes Chilson or Veri Poole, log truck driving contest. Secretary for the committee is Gwen Kousbaugh.

The theme for the children's parade for this year is Paul Bunyan, so with the help of the many different "happenings" in Paul Bunyan's life and a touch of imagination, the children's parade should be great.

Hospital Auxiliary breakfast

The Forks Hospital Auxiliary will hold its annual breakfast Sunday, May 7, from 8:00 a. m. to 1:00 p. m. at King's Recreational Hall.

Donations may be made by silver offering.

There will be hourly drawings for door prizes, and winners need not be present to win.

FORKS DISTRICT NO. 4

SCHOOL BOARD MEETING

The regular meeting of the Board of Directors of Quillayute Valley School District No. 402 was held April 20, 1972 in the library of the high school. All directors were present.

Pastor Stockman on behalf of the Advisory Committee asked what the district policy was in handling a teacher who, after hiring, proves to be ineffective during the teaching year. Does the district have to keep them on the job the whole year?

Mr. Klahn replied it was difficult to prove if anyone is an ineffectual teacher. About the only clear cut reason for dismissal during a school year is outright immorality or anything illegal. He also explained the legal processes involved in terminating a contract.

Mr. Stockman asked if there was a reason for the office not phoning the parent the same day a student is suspended.

Mr. Coate said it was his policy to try to phone each parent, but they cannot always be reached; therefore, a letter was sent out also.

Mr. Stockman asked what the status of the Home Building class was for next year.

Mr. Hitchcock has been working with people in Olympia to see if it would be possible for this class to construct a bus shed for the district but has no answer as yet.

Mr. Lohnes said that so far there is no home to build and the class could probably not be offered.

George Olsen was appointed P. E. instructor for 1972-73.

Mr. Newbry presented to the Board copies of letters and quotations from four companies for purchase of new playground equipment for the Primary Building. Mr. Newbry stated that all useable playground equipment had been removed from the Beaver school.

The Board accepted the recommendation of Mr. Newbry to purchase playground equipment from Vanco in the amount of $2,244.69 including tax and shipping. It was noted this company offered a good discount plus assistance in installing.

In regard to the student driving policy, Mr. Hitchcock had noted the concern here is with the age of the students involved. Under the law we have children of "tender" years who have to be accorded special protection. We also have older children who are able to contribute to their own delinquency. It is reasonable to expect that students using cars should park their cars in the school parking lot and be expected to leave them there unless they have secured special permission from the principal by parental request. This is the interpretation given by the legal people in the office of superintendent of Public Instruction at Olympia.

Call to your attention there should be something in any policy drawn up that will protect the children of "tender" years, though no one has as yet set up a quotient of what those years are. What I think they are trying to get at is that we have to particularly protect the younger children in the school which could well be Junior High age or perhaps younger that would be driving with the older students. Exceptions perhaps could be made in the case of the driver's own family.

Mr. Coate felt that drivers are licensed by the state and we teach them to drive. They should be good drivers. If they infringe on the law by unsafe practices it is up to law enforcement to take care of them, not the school.

The district has set up the policy because they feel they are responsible for students from the time they leave for school until they return home from school.

Mrs. Lingvall stated that she had called Mr. L. Griffith at Olympia and he stated the school would not be responsible if there was a vehicle accident. The driver of the car would be responsible.

The school may be sued, but doubt if any collections could be made.

No action was taken by the Board at this time. They will wait until they hear from the Prosecuting Attorney in this regard.

Resignations were accepted from Eugene C. Coate, Cheryl E. Floe, Claudia L. Justis, Forrest J. Kallenbach and James A. Traver.

Teaching contracts will be offered to all staff members remaining after resignations. Mrs. Shirley I. Ringsmuth was authorized to serve as recording secretary for Board meetings, auditing and payroll officer, and official entitled to sign P. L. 874 applications and documents.

Check for $23,087.49 has been received through the Forks State Bank closing the sale of the Beaver school property. Bid accepted was $24,750.00. Costs were title insurance policy $152.51, State revenue stamps for deed $25.00 and 6% realtors commission $1,485.00.

Dr. Low has been in touch with the superintendent and plans on being in the community the first week of May, hopefully with a couple additional people, in keeping with the study and agreement with the Human Rights Commission.

A seven page report from Office of Superintendent of Public Instruction regarding proposed changes in management of Federal Forests was noted. The feeling of the Board was the Peninsula area has too much acreage in the park now. Mr. Hurn felt the district should be represented at the hearings as personal representation has more weight than a letter. Not sure if more meetings will be held.

The Board instructed the superintendent to write a letter on behalf of the board expressing opposition to any more land being added to the National Park or in a wilderness area.

The Board will offer teaching contracts to Max E. Lewis, Roberta R. Hatch, and Rosetta Mahon for 1972-73.

Meeting adjourned at 11:05 p. m.

Clifford E. Aden, director, announced that a total of 96 persons died in Washington highway crashes during the first two months of 1972, compared with 131 dead through February, 1971. Last month 45 persons lost their lives in highway crashes; 22 fewer than in February a year ago.

The 1972 count not only is running below the 1971 figure, but also is well below the three year average of 107. The biggest decline was registered in urban deaths which are running 23 below the 1971 total. Rural highway deaths are down slightly this year--76 compared with 88.

Aden attributed part of the decline to the adverse weather. However, he felt the major reason for the improvement is due to increased awareness to safe driving practices by motorists themselves.

IMPROVING

Washington motorists have shown considerable improvement in their driving, if the number of fatalities can be used to measure highway performance, a spokesman for the Washington Traffic Safety Commission said today.

Clifford E. Aden, director, announced that a total of 96 persons died in Washington highway crashes during the first two months of 1972, compared with 131 dead through February, 1971. Last month 45 persons lost their lives in highway crashes; 22 fewer than in February a year ago.

The 1972 count not only is running below the 1971 figure, but also is well below the three year average of 107. The biggest decline was registered in urban deaths which are running 23 below the 1971 total. Rural highway deaths are down slightly this year--76 compared with 88.

Another tournament trip behind us and I'm pooped! Imagine I've got lots of company. There were quite a few at Yakima week before last and at the women's State Tournament in Everett last weekend. Duke and Jean went with Mother and I in the Pontiac, and as usual, old Pops got misplaced a couple of times. Not much of a city driver.

Chuck Hamby hit a 232 in the Sunday Nite Mixed, Darrell had a 222-591 and Bruce Bumgarner, with a 135 average, had a 206-528. Lorus Huling banged out a 211-528 for the gals.

In the house eliminations of the BPAA Summer Singles Chuck Hamby threw a big 254 and a 611-651 with handicap, then teamed up with sis Leta for a 1256 in the Mixed Doubles. Esther Parris and Darrell were right behind them with a 1217. Esther hit a 627 with handicap.

The Summer Mixed League starts Thursday night following a short meeting at 7:30.

Junior-Seniors started Wednesday nite at 7:30. We need a few more guys for our Scratch League.

Dick "Gimpy" Suchuolski tried splitting a shake bolt the other day and succeeded in hitting his foot. Lucky the axe was dull—only bruised himself. Better teach him how to use it, Darrell.

CANINE AND EQUINE

By Sharon Clarke

We took a very interesting trip to Yamhill, Oregon, last weekend. This small town is located about 30 miles S. W. of Portland in a lush, green valley surrounded by rolling green hills, most of which are cleared pasture land. The reason for the trip was to visit our paint mare, Nina Manchada (Babe to us). You see, she's being a mite difficult about the process of getting in the "family way". At $2.00 a day, she's getting somewhat ridiculous about the whole thing! "Babe" is "visiting" APHA National Champion Stallion, Cherokee War Chief, who is a mighty handsome fellow. She's never had life so good. I found her in a well lighted, airy, large box stall -- knee deep in fresh clean straw -- looking better than she has in a long time. The only negative note was the lack of a maternal gleam in her blue eyes.

Let me back up now to the approach we made. Picture a narrow blacktop road cutting a gentle winding path towards the break between two lush green rolling hills. On our right and sloping up was a large white out-building with an even larger barn above it on the same hill. Two neat white houses were nestled between these buildings on their own little knolls. On our left in the flat land we found a huge white building which houses a large indoor riding arena and a row of box stalls along one side where the stallion population was housed. Set back from this was a long white barn with a row of outside stalls and an indoor aisle with stalls on both sides.

There also were several shop buildings for the owner's logging machinery.

All in all, it's a horse lover's paradise. Cherokee, or "John", as he is affectionately called, is always a delight to visit. We also met "Terrible Scotch", a beautiful chestnut quarter horse who rated AAA+ on the race track when running. He's a real character and a lovely sight to behold.

I certainly wouldn't leave out mentioning the canine occupants of this locale either. They had an Australian Shepherd who had a litter of puppies by an Australian Dingo. Very interesting combination. And, of course, I would have to run into a most unusual Welsh Corgi. His name was Toby. He was white with red markings much like a Tobiano Paint horse, thus his pre-mentioned name. As always, this little fellow lived up to the Corgi reputation of constantly being happy-go-lucky and sporting an insatiable appetite.

It was a lovely weekend meeting interesting people and animals, with marvelous weather to boot. We're now keeping fingers crossed "Babe" will come home in that special "condition" so we can begin that long, long eleven months wait for a new paint baby.

Prince Of Peace Church News

The following women attended a Conference Convention at Shelton, Washington: Betty Oros, Mary Addleman, Ingrid Lingvall, Virginia Duncan and Lorraine Stockman.

On Friday evening our youth are planning on going to the Presbyterian Church in Sequim to attend a musicale, "Natural High", which will be presented by a group of Christian youth from Tacoma.

The title for Pastor Stockman's Sermon for Sunday is "The Giving Father" taken from Luke 11:5-13.

New look paint stripes

Motorists driving on Washington state highways will be seeing much more yellow paint this year and liking it more. The Washington State Highways Department is converting to a new system of pavement markings and the primary purpose -- particularly on two lane highways -- is safety. The markings are meant to help motorists see the proper travel lanes, and to stay in them. The pattern of roadway marking will be nationwide, and is a part of sweeping changes made by the recent revision of the "Manual on Uniform Traffic Control Devices."

The old familiar white centerline stripes will change to yellow on Washington state's two lane highways. Most of the new striping will begin in April, and will be completed late this fall, depending on the weather.

In all there are 15,824 miles of paint stripe on two lane highways throughout the state. These stripes will include a yellow centerline and two white edge lines. This represents 5,600 miles of two lane highways which are painted each year at an average cost of $88 per mile.

Highways Department paint striping crews call it "skip line" striping, as they spray a broken line of new yellow paint along the centerline of each highway.

MEN WANTED CATTLE AND LIVESTOCK BUYERS

This will be the first change motorists will notice -- the dashed yellow lines separating traffic (the centerlines) on two-way, two lane highways instead of white dashed lines. The "skip line" yellow line means it is safe for motorists to pass -- providing, of course other vehicles in the opposing lane are within a safe sight distance away.

Under the new paint striping system, some pavement markings will keep their familiar meanings. It will still be unlawful to pass when a solid yellow line is in the motorist's lane. A double yellow line will mean no passing in either direction.

Yellow -- under the new system -- is the standard color for a general warning. Yellow lines separate lanes of traffic moving in opposite directions. Dashed white lines will divide lanes of traffic in the same direction, as on multi-lane highways and freeways.

Other uses of yellow will include occasional left edge lines on divided roadways where traffic cannot pull entirely off the roadway, and for marking of obstructions, channelization curbs, islands and lines which must be passed on the right.

In contrast, white is specified for use on island, crosswalks, median, lane and edge-line markings associated with one-way roadways as well as for standard edgeline markings on two-way roads.

Regulations have been revised to permit motorists to make left turns across centerlines and no-passing stripes into an alley, driveway, or private road. The left turn movement is prohibited, however, across an 18 inch yellow, solid or crosshatched painted island.

Highways Department paint striping foremen and maintenance engineers throughout Washington state report generally bad paint wear this past season because of the need to do more sanding to prevent vehicle accidents on snow and ice-covered highways. One paint foreman put it simply -- the paint wear was caused by severe winter, sanding, salts and studded tires.

In some Highways Department districts the sanding was normal and the paint wear wasn't any worse than in previous years, but in western Washington counties it was one of the worst paint wear years in the history of the Department of Highways.

Other factors causing paint wear included: flood damaged highways, heavy vehicle traffic running on dirt and sand, quality of paint, and (in hot summer months) road oil bleeding through, darkening the paint.

This year paint striping crews are faced with two major problems: Modification of old equipment to meet new paint specifications, and, warning motorists throughout the summer to watch out for paint crews working along Washington state's highways. Motorists are urged to slow down when warning signs and long lines of red or orange cones signal that painting equipment is being operated ahead of the highway. It is unlawful to cross wet paint lines on the highway. The paint takes about a half hour to dry after being sprayed on the pavement.

PTA TALENT SHOW

By Ingrid Lingvall

600 have been collected so keep saving them.

Mrs. Betty Soderlind of Forks Literacy Society requested that the program be put in the budget. It was turned over to the budget committee to be acted on at a later date.

The question as to why the area south of the Primary Building was not made into a playground was raised by Mrs. Lonnie Archibald, who volunteered to look into the matter further.

The teachers were asked to "clue" the children on Paul Bunyan, as this will be the theme for the children's parade in the Fourth of July celebration.

A suggestion was made to let the 3rd graders take a look at the fourth grade classes, so they would know where they would go in the fall. Mrs. Sandy Poteet volunteered to talk to Mr. Newby and Mr. Maxfield and report back at the next meeting.

The outgoing president, Mrs. Howard Stockman, installed the president for the coming year, Sandy Poteet. Vice president is Mrs. Lonnie Archibald; secretary, Miss Diane Stillman; and treasurer, Mrs. Howard Stockman.

The Multi-Purpose room was filled to capacity last Friday night when the P. T. A. sponsored talent show got under way. Children from the first grade team teaching class opened the program with a flag ceremony. Sandy Poteet, master of ceremony, introduced the acts in his relaxed, gallant way, even though he once in a while got interrupted by Al and Sharon Clark, Lorraine Stockman and Mary Addleman, who "dropped" in with a one-liner. Stan Sells, accompanied by Karen Liles, took most of the audience by surprise, when he showed his versatility by turning vocalist after his first trumpet solo. The pantomimed skit by Terri Addleman and Leslie Pooler promises the city of Forks two future comedians. Jimmy Leppell played the drums quite well. The group PAX, accompanied by three guitars, sang the American ballad, "House of the Rising Sun", with serenity. The harmonious singing of the Rainbeats, accompanied by Kate Silves, would certainly bring out more har money here on earth "If They Ruled the World". I have never seen a nightingale, but seeing and listening to little Julie Mansfield sing makes me think of one. You wouldn't realize how much talent there is among the men. The dance routine performed by Larry Goodman, Lewis Brush and Jerry Lane to the background singing of the Rainbeats was very amusing, but when the same three fellows appeared in the slap stick skit The Diner, the whole audience roared with laughter. Kate Silves played Malaguena and It Makes No Difference. The Lahto family and the Cousins sang sweetly. Cindy Wentworth's act was like Hildegard at her best. Doctor Baker with his pantomime was very amusing and daughter Julie kidnapped the spellbound audience with her singing I'm Leaving On A Jet Plane. The Sundry-Undy-Toastoppper's tapdance was great and when she washed her face and took all the bows out of her hair I know many were surprised to see the face of Emily Barker. It was a very enjoyable evening.

Sandison speaks

at PTA

Forks P. T. A. held its monthly meeting in the Primary building April 19. John Leppell reported on the coming talent show, which was held April 28.

Out of the 1,000 MJB lids needed to buy a coffee pot,

Program chairman, Henry Bechtold introduced the speaker for the evening, State Senator Gordon Sandison, who spoke on the allocation of taxes to the school: 56.6% comes from the state, 37.7% from the county and 5.7% from Federal. The school board makes up a yearly budget, which the superintendent sends to the Legislature for approval. They limit the amount spent on each child from: $365.00 to $369.00. The Senator mentioned that, on a state wide basis, 18% of the schools would need to have the buildings replaced.

West End Demos to meet

The West End Democratic Club will meet tonight at the VFW Hall at 8:00 p.m. The 1972 proposed democratic platform will be reviewed. Some of the resolutions to be discussed will be of interest to labor, such as:

We propose both a national and state minimum wage of $2.50 per hour, including agricultural workers.

We strongly recommend a State Labor Relations Law to apply whenever the National Labor Relations Law does not.

We need to equalize pensions for disabled workers, widows and children for those injured prior to 1971, raising their pensions to the levels authorized under the State Workmens Compensation Act of 1971.

We also support the removal of dollar ceilings for disabilities of both permanent and temporary nature, and recommend a full 75% maximum of the employee's regular wage.

We support an increase of unemployment compensation from 50% to at least 66.75% of the state average weekly wage.

We condemn the Administration's policy on Phase Two of the wage, price freeze in not applying the freeze to interest, profits and prices.

MRS. I. E. MERRITT

While Mr. and Mrs. John Merritt were visiting their granddaughter, Sharon Clark and her husband, John and family in Spokane a few days ago, they enjoyed visiting Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hansen, who were attending the party given for Mrs. Clark's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herb Welch. Mr. Hansen worked for ITT Rayonier at Sappho for a few years after leaving the U.S. Army at the close of WWII, then operated the Woodland Cafe for a while. When Fort Worden Diagnostic Center at Port Townsend was opened he was given an important position in the dietary division, a position he held until the Center was discontinued recently.

While Howard was in the service Marguerite taught typing at the Forks High School. In the fall and winter of 1945-46 she held a 12 week, night course in typing at the highschool, Mrs. Merritt being one of her pupils. At present the Hansens are living in Spokane, where they have purchased a huge mansion, like home in the south part of town. When they move into it they will take with them, Mrs. Hansen's father, F. P. Fisher, who, at present, is ill in a Spokane nursing home. Howard is employed by the Washington State Department of Health with headquarters in Spokane. He will tour the state inspecting hotel, motel and restaurant kitchens. His many friends, in this area, wish him the best of luck in his new position.

SOCIAL SCENE

Miss Heidi Lohnes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lohnes, celebrated her seventh birthday with a party at her home, Thursday, April 27th.

Attending were: Terry Armour, Traci Ulin, Aleta Anderson, Heidi Adrian, Darren Sackett, Brad Klahn, Danny Hoke, Brad Kilmer, Butch Goakey, Dana Smiley, Shell Warren, Bobby and Matt Swanson, Leesa Brown and Heidi's sister, Heather. SPRING STYLE SHOW

As usual Alice's style show was well attended by ladies eager to take a peek at the spring and summer fashions of 1972. Alice was wearing a charming black pant suit outfit, with a white and black polka dot blouse and introduced the models in her enchanting, humorous way.

The styles varied from glamorous lounge-at-home type dresses to pant suits, culottes (both long and short), nighties, play clothes, street dresses and swim suits. Among the "eye-catchers" was a long dress in a bright colored print, sleeveless with a tight belt. Simple, but very attractive. A white tennis style dress, trimmed in navy and red and a red, white and blue pant suit made you think of the 4th of July. The navy pant outfit with striped top was both attractive and practical, especially if this kind of weather continues.

Door prizes went to Dee Hilt, Loreen Boury and Rita Birdwell. Modeling in the show were Hilda Ulin, Ella Paul, Ruth Flitts, Sharon Clark, Roberta Hunley, Joyce Warren, Sue Dachs and Adria Fuhrman. Assisting Mrs. Simonton was Patti Holz.

No reservations in state parks

Reservations for state park campsites cannot be accepted at this time, State Parks Director Charles H. Odegaard reminded the public today. However, he said, a toll-free telephone information service will be available to campers and others planning visits to state parks.

Odegaard said the program approved by the Washington

State Parks and Recreation Commission last November, to provide for a reservation system and a new fee schedule will not be in effect this year. Funds to implement the program were not appropriated.

The 1972 Legislature did appropriate $75,000 for a study of State Parks fees and charges, including a camping reservation system, Odegaard said. The study will be conducted by a private firm and will be presented to the next session of the Legislature for their consideration.

Although State Parks visitors may not reserve camping space in advance, Odegaard said, they may, effective May 1, use a toll-free telephone service operated by State Parks to obtain information on State Parks and other recreation facilities throughout the state. The Recreation Data Center operators will be on duty at State Parks headquarters in Olympia from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m., seven days a week. The number to call, toll-free from anywhere in Washington, is 800-562-8200.

SALVATION ARMY WEEK

A. E. Fletcher, Chairman of the local Salvation Army Service Extension Committee, announced today, that National Salvation Army week is May 8th through the 14th, this year. This is a week that the Salvation Army is being honored throughout the United States in response to its humanitarian work. An open house policy is being emphasized during this week.

The Army's Annual Membership Appeal Drive is now under way, and the local committee encourages everyone to respond with a gift, to help in serving those less fortunate. Regardless of race, creed or color, the local committee is available to assist with food, shelter, clothing, and/or other emergency needs. One of the Salvation Army's priority services, is the sending of underprivileged children to camp for one week. Using sound welfare practices, red tape or lengthy delays are eliminated as we serve those in need. Cases where the need is greater than the local committee unit can handle are referred to The Salvation Army's Regional Office. Such cases might be, aid to unwed mothers, to parolees, missing persons inquiries, and many other humanitarian services for men, women and children. Your gift can be sent to the local Salvation Army treasurer, Jon Erickson, Peninsula Telephone Co., Box 90, Forks, Washington 98331.

Survey on no-fault insurance

Insurance Commissioner Karl Herrmann visited the Forks area last Thursday as part of a personal spot-check of a statewide survey on no-fault auto insurance now being conducted by his department.

"We are using a combination of mail questionnaires and personal interviews in a random statistical sample of the state's population," he said. "This sample will approximate a valid cross section of all persons and occupational categories within the state."

After the results of the survey are in, he said, his staff would prepare a no-fault bill for submission to the 1973 Legislature.

"Heretofore," said Herrmann, "insurance regulators have been too prone to listen only to spokesmen from the industry. As a result, a closed circuit has developed between the regulator and the regulated, leaving the consumer on the outside."

"But what the insurance industry proposes may or may not be in the public interest. I want to supplement our extensive public interviews with my own personal spot-checks so that we can arrive at a practical and effective no-fault system."

Herrmann warned against automatically accepting the "no-fault" label as a panacea for all the nation's auto insurance ills.

"We have to look beyond the magic of the words to the substance of the law," he said. "I think that we can give better benefits through a more efficient auto accident reparations system, but they won't come through a hastily concocted plan that could very easily be a ruse to hoodwink the consumer."

As an example, he pointed to a so-called 15 percent reduction of rates in Massachusetts with the passage of no-fault.

"In reducing the premium 15 percent," he said, "they reduced the benefits 75 percent. A $50 premium in Massachusetts prior to no-fault would have given you $1,000 in protection. Under the new law, $42.50 gives you $222 in benefits."

In looking over the entire picture, there is a real reason for revamping the state's present tort liability system, he said. A two-year, $2 million study by the U. S. Department of Transportation has stated that the nation's present auto reparations system has failed.

The reason for this failure, according to the study, is that less than half the people who are victimized by auto accidents and damages running into the billions of dollars are being covered by the present system, said Herrmann.

"And those who are covered are receiving less than half of the premium dollar in benefits,"

TAX PREPARER ARRESTED

Alfred C. Boileau, 51, a tax return preparer, was arrested in Aberdeen this morning by special agents of the Internal Revenue Service Intelligence Division.

Boileau, of 149 Alder Drive, Cosmopolis, had been charged April 7 in U.S. District Court, Tacoma, with five counts of falsifying Federal income tax returns. He was arraigned today before U.S. Magistrate Robert E. Cooper in Tacoma, and released on a personal recognizance bond.

He pointed out that several

LOU MARSH HONORED

Many friends gathered at the Forks Memorial Library April 28 for a tea held in honor of Mrs. Lou Marsh who retired as an assistant librarian. Mrs. Marsh has had that position for the past six and a half years. The table was decorated with a white lace trimmed table cloth and a center piece of daffodils.

Mrs. E. C. Gockere! and Mrs. E. Malnsten were in charge of the tea.

Mrs. Marsh was presented with gifts and an orchid corsage.

Laura Fletcher, Sharon Fletcher, Gwen Genson, Marlea Coats and Colleen Brooks of the Early Tire Bowling team went to Everett over the weekend for the State Bowling Tournament. Others who went were the Coast to Coast team: Dorothy Vedder, Jerrie Beebe, Ruth Fitts, Jean Street and Elzeda Jarvis, and the Forks State Bank team: Clara Maher, Peggy Medsker, Vivian Morris, Brenda Middleton, and Maureen Anderson from Port Angeles.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hanson over the weekend of April 28 were friends from Estacada, Oregon, Mr. and Mrs. Tim Bagley and their 4 children.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Trussell last week were her sisters, Mrs. Marsha Minor and 2 boys from Portland, Oregon; Mrs. Jackie Simmons and daughter; and her mother, Mrs. Martha Myers from Auburn. They spent 4 days here and had a very nice time.

Bob Earley and Randi Dolence had a joint birthday celebration at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Earley, April 24. Several friends dropped in to wish them a happy birthday and to take a peek and a bite of the unusual sheet-cake decorated in blue and white, with two funny little clowns riding on two queen size beer cans.

Helping them celebrate were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Penny-packer and daughter Leta, Miss Mary Ann Jackson and Heidi, Nick Hunziker who is a newcomer to this area from Snohomish, Lotus Huling, Gene Newman, Bill and Cynthia Byrd, Cindy Spade, Bill and Elaine Palmer, Arnie and Aita Meyer, Rita and mares and fillies, Appaloosa, Half-Arabians, Quarterhorse, Paint-Pinto, Ponies, Junior Fitting and Showing, Senior Fitting and Showing, and a selection of Reserve Champion and Grand Champion Halter Horse. Performance classes will include: Bareback Equitation, Pony Walk-Jog, Junior Western Pleasure, Senior Western Pleasure, Reining, Costume Class, and Trail Horse Contest. There will be ribbons to the first five places in each class and 1st place trophies in all performance classes. There will also be a high point trophy awarded after the end of the performance classes. Last year's show was a successful first, and from the mail I've received, this year's show will be even bigger. So come, all of you with horses, get behind the Rein Riders and let all the outside entries know that Forks has both fine halter horses and riders.

One horse I hope to see in the quarterhorse halter class is the newly purchased "Hud-speh Lad 25". The sorrel gelding, with the impressive name, belongs to Wrangler president, Art Chamberlain. He is a honey and ought to make pretty good competition for anything he is put up against.

FISHERIES & DNR

"The impact of logging and related supporting activities on the fisheries resources within the Clearwater River drainage system is being studied under a cooperative research program," Bert L. Cole, Commissioner of Public Lands, announced today. The program involves the Department of Natural Resources, the Fisheries Research Institute and the College of Forest Resources of the University of Washington.

The initial research will concentrate on Stequhalcho Creek, a tributary of the Clearwater River. Like many of the Clearwater's tributaries, it is a spawning ground for salmon and trout.

According to Cole, the main emphasis of the study will be to identify and evaluate the streambed characteristics and fisheries resources in relation to man's land-use activities. Adjacent tributaries and areas along the main Clearwater River will be studied for comparison purposes.

The data will be collected by Jeff Cederholm, fishery biologist, and analyzed by Dr. Ernest O. Sale, College of Fisheries, and Dr. David D. Woodriffs, College of Forest Resources, University of Washington. The Department of Natural Resources will furnish detailed descriptions of the study areas, supporting personnel and materials needed for the research project. The results of the study will help guide forest management and road building practices in the area.

"Although much of the siltation occurs as a result of natural causes, evidence shows that some of man's activities have accelerated these processes," Cole said. "This deeply concerns me; therefore, particular attention will be given to conditions related to logging and road building activities."

MARCH TIMBER SALES

The Department of Natural Resources offered 19 parcels of timber for sale in March. "All of the parcels sold," Bert L. Cole, Commissioner of Public Lands, announced today. "Active bidding raised the bids to 92 percent over appraisal value." The total value of the sales was $4,478,723.40.

Pacific Lumber and Shipping of Longview was the most active buyer, placing bids totaling $2,562,886.90 on six parcels.

The parcels were located in Clallam, Cowlitz, Grays Harbor, Jefferson, Lewis, Pend Oreille, Pierce, Skamania and Snohomish counties.

The Stequaleho Ridge Flyer sale in Jefferson County calls for the use of flyer yarding techniques. By using cables to carry the logs long distances through the air from the woods to the landing, the amount of roads needed to log a given area is diminished and small streams are protected. In addition, the soil disturbance is largely eliminated.

Sales requiring specialized logging equipment are expected to increase on state lands managed by the Department of Natural Resources. The use of helicopters and balloons is a distinct possibility when removal needs require it.

Timber Sales in Clallam and Jefferson Counties were as follows:

CLALLAM COUNTY
Wasankari Thinning #2 - M & R Timber, Port Angeles, $51,305.00 for 2.82 million board feet;

Sutherland Roadside - M & R Timber, Port Angeles, $13,205.00 for 340,000 board feet.

JEFFERSON COUNTY
Snahapish Y - Pacific & Shipping, Seattle, $514,235.00 for 7.52 million board feet.

Kalaloch Headwaters - M & R Timber, Port Angeles $376,320.00 for 6.96 million board feet;

Octopus Bench - Timber Traders, Mercer Island, $351,779.00 for 5.18 million board feet;

Stequaleho Ridge Flyer - Pacific Lumber & Shipping, Seattle, $675,785.00 for 10.77 million board feet;

Outstanding
opener

With outstanding cooperation from the weatherman and the fish, most anglers statewide were treated to one of the better opening days for lowland lake fishing in recent history. Generally, the Columbia Basin provided more fishermen with fish for the Sunday opener than other portions of eastern Washington, although the Spokane area, north-central Washington, Blue Mountains and Yakima all experienced outstanding to better than average openers.

In western Washington the south sound area of Thurston and Pierce counties, along with southwest Washington, provided outstanding fishing in a number of waters. The Olympic Peninsula lakes were better than average, but cold winds early Sunday morning hampered many fishermen in the Seattle area during the early part of the day. Further north in the upper sound country of Skagit and Whatcom counties, fishing pressure and catch was very good in spite of the blustery weather.

Nearly all fishermen who rose with the robins and trolled did better than late arriving anglers and those who still fished.

Water temperatures in most lakes throughout the state still remain at around the 50 degree mark. As warmer air temperatures arrive and the lakes rise above the 50 degree mark, fishing success should pick up considerably.

Many lakes throughout the state have kokanee (silver trout) in addition to rainbow, cutthroat and spiny rays. The silver trout waters have a bonus limit and fishing on them ted many exhibitors and many visitors.

The theme was "Books Make the World Go Round". There were books by writers of many lands and exhibits by people in the county who had lived in many lands.

Prominent among the displays was one from Mr. Rod Ketchum of Forks. Mr. Ketchum's exhibit was a colorful one with bright feathers, bows and arrows brought from British Guiana. Among the other exhibits were ones from India and Nepal, an extensive one including some furniture from Zambia, another from Greece and a delightful display from Japan with Japanese ladies present in costume.

As Mr. Rupp said afterwards, it was surprising to see how many people now living in the county had once lived in other countries, not just visited them.

Mr. Rupp himself was kept busy taking pictures of the colorful and interesting displays. He was afraid some people might have missed the exhibit from Switzerland or the slide show on Iran which were apart from the main hall. Beside Mrs. Rupp, two other county library trustees were present, Mr. Louis Schinabel and Mrs. Ray Noble.

Mrs. Boyd Rupp of Forks and former county librarian, Hope Hodges, officiated at the table which was covered with a cloth from India and spread with food of many lands.

Among the people representing Forks were Mrs. Bessie Adams and Mrs. Henry Halverson. It is perfectly obvious that Forks people did their bit towards making the evening a pleasant and successful one.

Erosion control of Ediz Hook

The Office, Chief of Engineers, today announced that the draft Environmental Statement on Ediz Hook Erosion Control, Port Angeles, Washington, was forwarded to the Council on Environmental Quality.

The proposed work consists of new rock revetment and beach nourishment of about 10,000 feet of the seaward shore of Ediz Hook. Material for the revetment would come from existing quarries in the Puget Sound area, and beach nourishment material would come from a source near Port Angeles.
