VOL. 2. NO. 45. PORT CRESCENT, CLALLAM COUNTY, WASHINGTON, THURSDAY, MARCH 31, 1892. PRICE FIVE CENTS.

STAND BY THE HERMOSA,

And So, While Being Just and Fair, Protect Our Own Interests.

A THREATENED STEAMBOAT WAR,

That Would be Nuts and Raisins for the Public, for Awhile, But That Could But Have a Disastrous Ending, and be Productive of Results That We Would All Regret, If the People Along This Route Should Fail to Give the Hermosa the Loyal Support She Deserves—A Big Steamboat Combine That Will Tie Up Many Boats, and Throw Some 200 Men Out of Employment.

THERE is a re-arrangement of plans and "runs," and a re-distribution of territory and business now in progress between the steamboat companies doing business on the Sound, the results of which may prove absorbingly interesting to the people along this entire coast, from Port Townsend, westward.

A combination has been effected between the Puget Sound & Alaska Steamship Company and the Union Pacific Company, under the terms of which all of the boats of the latter company are to withdraw from business on the Sound after to-morrow, April 1st, and the field abandoned to the boats of the P. S. & A. S. S. Co.—which company thus hopes to practically control the business.

This "tie up" of the Union Pacific's boats will leave the Hermosa, owned by the Hastings Steamboat Company, and now on this run, a competitor for a good portion of the business between Seattle and Port Townsend, and it is the desire of the combine to have the Hermosa give up her tri-weekly trips to Seattle, and confine her run to the route including Port Townsend, Dungeness, Port Angeles, Port Crescent, Gettysburg, Clallam Bay and Neah Bay. As consideration for this, and other things which the Hastings Company are wanted to do, the George E. Starr is to be taken off the Port Townsend-Port Angeles run, thus clearing the way for added business for the Hermosa. Negotiations looking to the withdrawal of the Hermosa from that portion of her present run—from Port Townsend to Seattle—are now under way, but inasmuch as the proposed arrangement, on the part of the P. S. & A. S. S. Co., includes a limitation of the runs of all the other boats owned by the Hastings Co., it is impossible to tell just what the outcome will be.

For the past ten days a rumor has been current that, beginning with to-morrow, the Union Pacific's steamer North Pacific is to be placed on this run, in opposition to the Hermosa, and practically all of the papers on the Sound have printed the following special, emanating from Port Townsend:

PORT TOWNSEND, March 23.—[Special.]—It is reported here that the steamer North Pacific will be withdrawn from the Victoria and Puget Sound route on April 1st, and placed on the Seattle-Port Townsend-Neah Bay route, in opposition to the steamer Hermosa.

It is to be hoped that the information contained in the above dispatch is wholly incorrect. While it would unquestionably be a pleasant thing, under favoring circumstances, to have two good boats on this run, resulting in a daily service, the plain truth is, there is not enough business along the route to make such an undertaking profitable, and it could only result in serious financial loss to the companies owning the boats. Indeed, there is at the present time scarcely enough business to enable the Hermosa to be operated to profit. It is the LEADER's candid opinion that she is being operated at a direct loss to her owners, and has been for some months past. Traffic will doubtless improve as the season advances, but the improvement can be very marked before the business of this run will be large enough to divide between two boats like the Hermosa and North Pacific.

One of the first results of the advent of the North Pacific on this route would be a disastrous rate war, from which the public would reap some benefit while it lasted. But it would not last long, for the Hastings people would probably not care to long fool with a losing proposition, when they could pull their boat off this route and swing her over on the Tacoma-Seattle-Townsend-Victoria run—from which the Union Pacific's boats will have been withdrawn—and enter a more attractive fight for business. They could easily do this by putting the Garland back on this route, to carry the mail; and so we would be left with but one passenger boat, that could fix its rates at practically any figure it chose. It is not at all improbable that, after the merry war was over, we would be in a great deal worse condition than we are now, both as to accommodations and rates.

The LEADER hopes that the North Pacific will not be placed on this run; but should it be, every business man and every resident along this coast, should remain loyal to the Hermosa. Her owners were the first to come to our rescue, and at an expense of some $70,000 or $80,000, they have placed at our disposal one of the very finest boats on the Sound—a boat beautiful in every detail, safe, swift and splendidly finished and furnished. It should be, and doubtless is, a matter of pride to every one living along the Strait, that we have so fine a boat on this run; and it should be a matter of pride, as well as of self-interest, for every one living along the route to assist to his utmost in protecting the large investment made by the Hastings Company, from which we have all derived so much pleasure, comfort and accommodation.

If, through a division of business with a rival boat, the owners of the Hermosa should find it advisable to take her off this run, we will all be losers by the change; for it will be many a day before we can reasonably hope to have another boat, the equal of the Hermosa, as her successor.

The just thing, and the sensible thing, to do, will be to stand by the Hermosa, in any fight that may ensue, and by our loyalty, encourage the Hastings Company to continue their splendid boat in our service.

A telegram from Portland to the daily press, dated March 29th, gives this information relative to the combine:

The Union Pacific will announce to-morrow its total withdrawal from Puget Sound, to take effect April 1st. Arrangements were made with the Puget Sound & Alaska company to carry out its Victoria mail contract. It is understood that the company's fleet, consisting of the steamers Victorian, North Pacific, Hassalo, Sehome, Idaho and George E. Starr, will be brought to the Columbia river to replace the fleet here, which is rapidly passing into decay. The steamer Olympian has been here some days. All its wharves will be given up late this week, but the company will maintain its ticket offices in Seattle, Tacoma, Port Townsend and Victoria for through business.

One result of the combine, it is said, will be to throw some 200 men out of employment.

A Good Suggestion by Deputy State Auditor M. E. Reed.

"I think that one of the first questions that will be taken up by the legislators when they convene is the matter of building a new capitol," said Mr. M. E. Reed, Deputy State Auditor, from Olympia, in conversation with the Press-Times, a few days ago.

"The repairs which have been made on the old building are insignificant and a new one is badly needed. No, there is no prospect of the location of the state capital being changed; it will always be at Olympia.

"Olympia wants the Republican Convention this year and she will make a strong pull for it. The reason we should have it is because we have no candidate to send to Minneapolis. This, in itself, is one good reason why Olympia should have the convention."

"Would Lanham's bill, providing that the federal government should cede all lands in certain western states to the state, materially increase the revenue of the state?"

"It undoubtedly would. The passage of that bill would be of more benefit to this state than to any other state in the Union. I think the citizens of this state, irrespective of party, should urge the passage of this bill."

His Appetite for Hardware Killed Him.

There died, a few evenings ago, at the city hospital, at St. Louis, Mo., John W. Gorman, known in the museums as James Kennedy. On the 21st inst. he was admitted to the hospital, suffering from gastritis. Emetics caused the ejection of nearly half a pint of nails, screws, etc. This failing to relieve him, laparotomy was performed and resulted in the removal of as much more hardware, but to no avail, for the poor fellow died in a short time. At the post mortem examination, the stomach walls and lining were found normal, but literally filled with nails, screws, tacks and broken glass which the man had swallowed. None were encysted, and there was not one instance of perforation of any part of the stomach or throat, but, beginning from the base of the tongue back to the æsophagus, and from there entirely down into the stomach, nails, tacks, glass, etc., were found. In the stomach itself were found almost a handful of these nails, tacks, screws and pieces of glass, over an once weight of them being removed. Continuous laceration marked their presence, extending from the æsophagus into the stomach. The total quantity taken from the body would fill a pint measure.

MRS. AL MILLER and children are now the guests of Mrs. Miller's brother, Mr. Peter Mohrdick of Gettysburg.

The Lake Will be Thronged With Visitors.

It is evident, now, that the approaching season is to be a merry one at Lake Crescent. Great numbers of visitors from Port Townsend, Seattle, Tacoma, Olympia and intermediate points will throng to its beautiful shores, to enjoy a summer outing of the most perfect character—an outing in which trout fishing, hunting, sailing and bathing will conspicuously figure.

The wagon road to the Lake is again open and in condition for travel, and Mr. Richard McDonnell is now busily engaged in getting everything in attractive shape at his Lake View Hotel, for the accommodation of the pleasure seekers who will soon begin to arrive at the Lake.

These preparations are being carried forward on a pretty comprehensive scale, and every visitor to Lake Crescent, this year, can be absolutely sure of obtaining satisfactory hotel accommodations.

The Lady of the Lake makes regular daily trips covering the entire length of the Lake; and as there is no lack of row-boats, visitors will find ample facilities for getting about the Lake, in the manner most agreeable to them.

An Interesting Timber Land Decision.

A timber land decision of considerable interest was handed down by Judge Hanford, a few days ago, in the suit of the United States vs. Marion J. Meeker, on a suit in equity to cancel a patent to a tract purchased as timber land. The suit was brought on the ground that it is not, in fact, timber land. Judge Hanford found from the evidence that honest persons, capable of estimating the value of land, might differ in their judgment whether the land was chiefly valuable for timber or agriculture. He found that some parts of the tract were valuable for agriculture and some for timber; it was, however, valuable as a whole, for its timber, having upon it at least 5,000,000 feet of timber. If the proof submitted in evidence were taken for the purpose of determining the proper classification of the land, it would be a difficult question. But a United States patent is the highest evidence of a good title in this country, and confidence in it should not be impaired for trivial reasons, or when the evidence is not sufficient to establish clearly the invalidity thereof. In this case the evidence leaves the issue in doubt, therefore, it is the duty of the court to uphold rather than annul the action of the land department in selling the land to the defendant and conveying the title to him by a patent. A decree was entered dismissing the suit.

A Marvelous Miniature City.

"Mr. W. Y. Turner of this city is a mechanical genius," says the Seattle Telegraph. "For the past fifteen years his mind has been filled with plans of an automatic city. It is a town on a small scale with moving, life-like people, with street cars, railroads, steamboats, and all the various things that go to make up a first class metropolitan city. Two years ago he located here and took Seattle as his model. Since then he has worked night and day upon the building of this lilliputian place.

"Last week his work was completed and he now points to the result with pride.

"This automatic city is operated by an engine.

"On a platform about ten feet long by four feet wide are the streets, buildings, railroads, and street railways.

"In a lake on the right the steamer City of Seattle goes around in a circle.

"Street cars go rapidly by; railway engines, puffing and snorting, haul long trains of cars. An opera house with a minstrel show holding the boards, is in plain view. Laborers are engaged in paving the streets. Women come to the doors of their houses, open them and disappear. Pedestrians, both male and female, promenade at regular intervals with life-like movement and action. Every figure is life-like. The perfection of its workings, the delicate mechanism of its figures, and the natural movements are a source of wonder to the spectator. Mr. Turner will soon put it on exhibition in the city and all will be given an opportunity to see it."

JUDGE L. M. LANE, accompanied by his handsome wife and two most attractive children, was a passenger on the Hermosa, Monday, going to Clallam Bay, where he was to address a Democratic gathering that evening.

MRS. SOPHIA E. COLEMAN has been appointed guardian of Master Willie Wetzel, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Wetzel, died here a little over a year ago.

MR. J. A. MCCLELLAN, the traveling representative of that admirable newspaper, the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, was here, Tuesday, in the interest of his journal.

MR. F. C. SMITH, representing a Seattle nursery that has sold a great number of fruit trees to the ranchers of this vicinity, was here yesterday.

They Had a Rousing Time.

The Democrats of Clallam Bay, reenforced by a good-sized and good-looking delegation from Port Angeles, had a big meeting Monday night, which was addressed by Judge L. M. Lane and Hon. D. W. Bryan, of Angeles, and others. Among those who went down on the Hermosa from Angeles, Monday, to participate in that night's gathering of the unterrified besides Judge Lane and Mr. Bryan, the LEADER noted Mr. John W. Troy of the Democrat; County Clerk Wm. K. Clark, and ex-Mayor Brumfield.

A Measure That Deserves the Heartiest Support.

At a late meeting of the Trustees of the Chamber of Commerce of Seattle, Mr. Thomas W. Prosch called attention to the adverse report of the legislative committee on a proposal to support a bill granting government arid lands to the several states. Mr. Prosch said that the thirteen original states, as well as Texas, had received the benefit from the sale of all public lands within their boundaries. The other states of the Union should be entitled to the same privileges. For several years the general government had received from the sale of public lands in this state an amount averaging $10,000,000 annually, or more than any other state in the Union. The funds from this source were used in harbor improvements in Texas and in the erection of government buildings in New York, and the other states from which the general government had derived no revenue from the lands. A bill introduced into Congress by Representative Lanahan of Texas, had been favorably reported by the committee on arid lands. This measure proposes to cede to the several states and territories all public lands in Nebraska, Nevada, South Dakota, Montana, Washington, Oregon, Wyoming, Idaho, Colorado, Kansas and California, and in the territories of New Mexico, Arizona, Oklahoma and Utah. Mr. Prosch favored the support of this bill, and accordingly introduced the following resolution, which was adopted:

WHEREAS, The Chamber of Commerce of the city of Seattle believes that justice to the newer states of the American Union demands that the public lands within their borders should belong to them, and to them alone, and

WHEREAS, The benefits resulting from the disposition of these lands, whether kept or not, should be the common heritage of all our people for all time, therefore

Be it Resolved, That Congress be asked to give to the states the lands of the public domain yet remaining therein unsold, to be kept for parks or sold as the several states may deem best, and all moneys resulting therefrom, however, to go into irreducible funds for the schools and other public institutions.

Free Coinage Would Increase the Crop of Millionaires.

A first effect of the news of the discovery of new and wealthy silver mines in Colorado should be to remind the intelligent business reader once more how completely the silver product is a commodity, whether in the bullion market or at the Colorado mines, says the Philadelphia Ledger. Here is a mass of silver ore. After it has been got out of the mine and reduced, and in market, it yields 10,000 ounces of fine coinable silver, and is worth, at the market price, about 90 cents an ounce, or $9,000, for the contents of the ton of ore. That is its fair, honest value, estimated upon the price it is worth in the markets devoted to the buying and selling of such products.

But it continues to be proposed, by the simple process of passing an act of Congress at Washington, to compel the Government of the United States to buy up the whole of the silver product of the country, as it is doing now—and more, too—under an existing act of Congress, and, further, to compel the Government to pay to the silver operators and miners $1.29 an ounce for what is worth in the market only 90 cents—a free gift to the silver operators, by act of Congress, of 39 cents an ounce.

Now that is just the bald, naked fact. Ten thousand ounces of silver brought out of any mine, and worth $9,000 in the open market would be lifted by act of Congress to $12,900, with the pay sure and a market compelled to take it by law! What a grand thing that would be for the silver operators; their product advanced more than 40 per cent. in absolute price by a stroke of the congressional pen.

Multiply the 54,000,000 ounces of silver which the Government is now compelled to buy every year from the silver operators, by the 39 cents an ounce additional profit the Government would be compelled to pay after the passage of a "free and unlimited" silver coinage bill, and you will have the imperial sum of $21,060,000 a year to go from the pockets of the whole people of the United States into the pockets of those interested in silver bullion and silver mines.

Is it surprising that the silver operators work with never-sleeping energy for "free and unlimited silver coinage," by act of Congress? The real object for wonder is that any considerable number of the people of the country consider with patience so audacious a proposition.

MR. FRANK MACKINTOSH of near Gettysburg, returned from a visit to up-Sound points, yesterday.

DEATH WAS IN THE AIR,

But Andrew Jackson's Sound Skull Saved Him From a Sudden Taking Off.

STRUCK BY A HEAVY FALLING LIMB,

And Knocked Senseless From a Tall Stump, He Escaped With a Bruised Head, a Broken Arm and Strained Back—Pretty Badly Mutilated, But Still Glad That He Escaped Alive—Captain Charles A. Barnes Throws an Interesting Side-light on the Sealing Question.

MR. ANDREW JACKSON is today a pretty badly mutilated citizen; but bruised and maimed as he is, he may well congratulate himself that he's alive.

Mr. Jackson is the owner of a ranch a few miles south-east of Port Crescent, and during this pleasant weather, has been busy at work enlarging his clearing.

Tuesday, he undertook to cut down three cedars, that were standing very close together. He got two of them down all right, cutting them at a height of about fifteen feet from the ground. Mounting one of the stumps, so left, he started in on the middle cedar, cutting it higher up. Presently there was a crashing far above him, and before he was scarcely aware of the threatening danger, a limb that had been caught in the tree on which he was working came tumbling down, striking him on the head and knocking him senseless to the ground, fifteen feet below.

In falling, he struck upon his right arm, breaking it above the wrist, and also seriously injured his spine.

The falling limb dealt him a terrible blow, but fortunately did not fracture the skull. Mr. Jackson was picked up, in a badly dazed condition, by friends who chanced to be near, and carried to his home, and Mr. Manuel Wasankari hurried off for a physician. The injured man's hurts were properly attended to, as soon as possible, and his recovery is now believed to be but a matter of time and good care.

The Seal as a Wealth-Destroyer.

"Captain Charles A. Barnes of this city, formerly of the United States navy, referring to the lively controversy now going on between the United States and Great Britain about Bering sea, said there is a great deal of buncombe about the whole matter," says the Seattle Telegraph.

" 'The sealing industry,' said Captain Barnes, "is of course valuable, and deserves reasonable protection. But this talk of going to war and all that, about the seals, gives the average reader a false impression of the real merits of the situation. It should be remembered that sealskins, when they become part of the wardrobe of women and men, are peculiarly the perquisites, so to speak, of the rich, and the substantial profits of the business are not distributed in anything approaching the general way industries involving an equal amount of money are.

" 'Those well acquainted with the real sources of wealth of Alaska and its coast are not slow about asserting that it would be a good thing if every seal in Alaskan waters was killed. They reason this way: The fishing banks along the Alaskan coast are the finest in the world, and the greatest enemy of the food fish is the seal. Every day a seal eats from 40 to 60 fish; that is to say, it seizes them much the same way a terrier does a rat, by the back, and often taking one bite, the seal abandons his prey. Of course the fish is killed, and no seal will eat a dead fish.

" 'When one thinks of the number of seals there are, some idea of the enormous number of fish that are destroyed is learned.

" 'It is not an unreasonable assumption to says that a fleet of sealing schooners ten times as large as now go to Alaskan waters would not have sufficient capacity to carry the food fish killed by the seals every year. In other words, the fish murdered by the seals are worth more money then the total catch of seals, and are of greater general value to the people. Alaskan fisheries will be and might be now, the greatest industry of the kind in the world.' "

Inspecting the Sealing Schooners.

A Port Townsend special says: "The revenue cutter Thomas Corwin is at Neah Bay and will probably arrive here in a few days and report to the department at Washington City for orders. There are several British sealing schooners down in the Straits and Captain Hooper of the Corwin is paying each one a visit relative to the Bering sea controversy."

MR. H. J. BOWMAN went down to Gettysburg, Monday, where he will be engaged during the season in Mohrdick's logging camp.

The Cosmopolitan for April.

With the April number, the Cosmopolitan completes its twelfth volume in a manner worthy the wide and growing popularity of this magazine. The Cosmopolitan is the most superbly illustrated of the monthlies and the pictorical embellishment of the April number is rather above the average. The leading article is on "Genoa—the Home of Columbus," written by Murat Halstead, who recently visited the city, and illustrated from photographs of all the principal relics of the great navigator which remain in Genoa. "A Romance of Old Shoes" by Miss Elsie Anderson de Wolfe exhibits the best of the remarkable historical collection at Cluny. "Torpedoes in Coast Defense" is the title of a timely paper by Lieut. A. M. D'Armit of the U. S. Army, with photographs and drawings by J. O. Davidson. Wallace Wood treats of "Homes of the Renaissance" in an illustrated paper, and William H. Rideing is the author of a delightfully written and profusely illustrated article on "The Crew of a Transatlantic Liner." "The Marriage of American Women to German Noblemen," is discussed by Elizabeth Von Wedee, an American who is now the wife of a titled subject of the Kaiser. Other papers are "The Theatre of To-day," by Cora Maynard; "Two English Men of Letters," by Brander Matthews; "All Sorts and Conditions of Men," by Edward Everett Hale; "A Living Opal," by Ernest Ingersoll, and 'Count Leon Tolstoi," a description of the family life of the great Russian novelist and reformer, by a friend of his family. Beside all these attractions, the April Cosmopolitan is rich in fiction and poetry. "The Rancho of Heavenly Rest" is a vigorous sketch of the southwest, full of action and local color. Its writer is Forbes Heermans, the author of "Thirteen" and more stories. The illustrations are by Irving R. Wiles. "Princess Ratazanoff" by Casimir M. Podgorski, is a characteristic tale of Russian court life in the days of the Czar Paul I. Frederic Remington has illustrated delightfully "The Rustic Dance," a poem by Irving Bacheller, and other verses have been written for this number by George MacDonald, Katherine Lee Bates, Charlotte L. Seaver ahd Sarah M. B. Piatt.

Are You Going?

20,000,000 visitors, at least, are expected at the Columbian Exposition; and whether you expect to be one of them or not, as an American, naturally you are interested in the preparations for the grand event. A splendid paper in Demorest's Family Magazine for April, "The Evolution of a Great Exposition," is the best thing of the kind that has yet been published. From it you may learn all the interesting points about the coming World's Fair, and the illustrations are simply superb, including a comprehensive view and the plan of the grounds, pictures of all the magnificent buildings, and portraits of some of the leading officers having it in charge. "A Talk About Trees and Arbor Day" is a timely and deeply interesting paper, profusely illustrated with pictures of the favorite trees planted in different sections of the United States, so accurately delineated that each may be easily recognized when met with; "German Without a Master" furnishes invaluable suggestions for the study of that useful language; "The International Order of the King's Daughters and Sons," a paper by the General Secretary of the Central Council, Mrs. Mary Lowe Dickinson, gives facts and incidents most charmingly interwoven; "A Snap Shot at Washington Etiquette" furnishes an insight of the rules that govern society at our National capital; "Easter Legends and Customs" is specially interesting, and "Easter Novelties" furnishes suggestions for all the Easter gifts one may want to make. Besides, there are splendid stories, every department is full of good things, and there are over 200 handsome illustrations; and every month's magazine is just as good, and the subscription price is only $2 a year. Published by W. Jennings Demorest, 15 E. 14th St., New York City.

Our Little Men and Women for April.

From its pretty frontispiece, "The First Bluebird," to its picture story on the closing page, "Polly and Prince," is a number to delight and instruct. "Boys and Girls in Samoa" describes a type of child-life little known to the American boy and girl, and "Bossy's Moolings" teaches a Natural History lesson it would take long to learn by simple study. "A Delsarte Alphabet" suggests many things helpful to know, and "Wolfgang Mozart" is a bit of biography told in dainty story. Then there are "A Boy and a Girl," one of the brightest stories ever written, "How a Tooth was Pulled," which is very apt, "Louis's Lesson," an excellent story, "Joker and his Relations," the clever monkey who does such clever things, "The Doings of the Studio Dolls," when Shing-a-le Chang, the Jap doll, has his portrait painted by another Studio Doll, and Annie's Soda Biscuit"—a pretty story as well as a helpful one. There are merry rhymes and happy jingles and pictures large and small, enough to gladden the heart of every little man or woman within its reach. Price $1.00 a year; 10 cents a number. D. Lothrop Company, publishers, Boston.

REPUBLICAN State Convention.

A CONVENTION of the Republican party of the state of Washington is hereby called to meet at the city of Seattle, in King county, on at 10 o'clock, a. m., for the purpose of electing eight (8) delegates and eight (8) alternates to the National Republican Convention to be held in the city of Minneapolis, in the state of Minnesota, on the seventh (7th) day of June, 1892, for the purpose of nominating candidates for president and vice-president and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before it.

The basis of representation to the state convention hereby called shall be as follows, to-wit:

One delegate at large from each county; one delegate from each county for every two hundred (200) votes, and one delegate from each county for each fraction of thirty-three (33) votes or more over two hundred (200); the same to be calculated from the number of votes cast in each county, for the Republican candidate for governor in 1889.

Upon the foregoing basis the several counties in the state are entitled to representation as follows:

EUGENE T. WILSON, Chairman.
RALPH K. NICHOLS, Secretary.

It is rumored that the Port Angeles Tribune is to be removed to Mukilteo.

It now seems evident that Bland's free silver bill will not be passed by the present Congress. There has been a radical change of front, on the part of the big Democratic majority in the House, on this vital questions, during the past week, and Bland has despaired of the success of the measure for which he has worked so long.

County Treasurer Warren R. Dodge collected, up to March 1st, taxes amounting to $41,023.94, which amount has been credited to the various funds, as follows:

State fund, $6,578.88; Military fund, $646.27; Interest fund, $322.12; County fund, $6,578.88; School fund, $8,670.80; Road and Bridge fund, $4,347.34; Road fund, $4,347.34; Bond Interest fund, $4,347.34; Special School District No 1, $905.53; District No. 2, $472.75; District No. 7, $3,606.89; District No. 15, $95.72; District No. 17, $18.64; Poll Tax, $89.59.

The total amount of taxes levied amounted to $72,995.52. The amount collected up to March 1st was $41,023.94; the total amount of rebates given amounted to $332.32; and the amount remaining delinquent, on March 1st, was $31,639.26.

There is to be no serious difficulty over the Bering sea business, after all. Lord Salisbury has come down from his high perch, and has consented to a settlement of the matters in dispute, on a basis satisfactory to President Harrison and the State Department. The whole difficulty is to be settled by arbitration; and meanwhile, Salisbury has given notice to the Canadian sealers that they will poach in Bering sea at their own risk, this season—that if they are seized, or interrupted in their operations by the United States, the English government will not be liable to them for damages so incurred. Salisbury's dilatory conduct in reaching this decision, has inflicted a great hardship upon the Victoria sealers, most of whom fitted out for an active season and put away to Bering sea, under the impression that they would be protected in the prosecution of a business that Salisbury encouraged them to undertake.

Speaking of the proposed free coinage of silver, the Jackson (Minn.) Republic says: "It might prove a temporary relief to that large class always head over heels in debt; but it would terribly handicap the enterprise and capital, as well as the brawn and sinew of the country; for, with only a threat of such a financial catastrophe, the market value of silver in a standard dollar has declined to less than seventy cents in gold, and with the threat consummated the price would go down on the run until a year after it would not be worth 50 cents, thus practically confiscating at one fell swoop one half the property of the creditor class, and, temporarily at least, one half the means of support of all that other large class whose capital is their daily labor, either of hand or brain."

In the course of his speech at the banquet given by the citizens of San Francisco to Andrew Carnegie and his party, Charles S. Smith, president of the New York Chamber of Commerce, said, regarding the Nicaragua canal scheme:

It seems to me that you do not quite appreciate the importance of that canal to your interests. I solemnly believe that within one year after that canal is finished, you will double the price of every cultivated acre of land in California. Why? In all the large cities of the United States the radius of their business is beginning to be circumscribed. In New York city we have already lost the jobbing business west of the lakes. The business of Chicago is being circumscribed in the same way. She has to divide with Kansas City, Omaha, and then again with Denver. Each one of these large and important places is becoming the center of a traffic and a radius which is all their own.

It seems to me that you here in California, with your enormous capacity for production, lack facilities for getting to a market. You cannot ship wheat 3,000 miles by railroad and compete with the Northwest; that is dead sure. Of course you can ship it around the Horn in sailing vessels pretty cheap, but at the same time, when you want a quick market, and when it is going to make 5 or 10 cents a bushel difference in Liverpool whether you get it there in six weeks or four months, it makes a very important difference in the value of your land here. I am willing to admit that we are not entirely unselfish about it. In New York, we are, perhaps it is not too much to say, the financial center of the United States. No large financial transactions are enjoyed unless some of us in New York get our modest commission of an eighth or a quarter. You cannot have prosperity in any part of the country, that we do not feel it in New York. I do not know but that some of the railroads might oppose it here. It would be a very great mistake if they did. The railroads would share in the general prosperity which would come from the Nicaragua canal.

We sometimes indulge in a very pleasing vision in New York, that it will some day take the place of London, and regulate the exchange of the world. That will never come to pass until the Nicaragua canal or some other connection is made connecting the Atlantic and Pacific, and giving us a short way by water to the great Orient.

It is historically true that the nation which for the time has controlled the commerce with the Orient has always taken the first place among the commercial nations of the world. It was true of Venice and all the Italian republics. It is true of England to-day.

Is the Young Emperor Rattled?

The foreign ministers at Berlin, not including the French minister, have informed their respective governments that for some time Emperor William has been showing distinct symptoms of monomania, which have alarmed his friends and have given rise to discussions in regard to a regency.

All who know the real truth of the situation are comparing the emperor with the unfortunate Louis III of Bavaria. The tendency to squander their fortunes is similar. The private funds the emperor are in great confusion, owing to the reckless manner in which he spent money during his journey through Europe.

An Immense Cargo of Lumber for Australia.

The five-masted schooner Governor Ames cleared from Port Townsend for Port Pirie, Australia, a few days ago, with 1,825,565 feet of rough lumber, valued at $16,430.09. This is the largest cargo of lumber ever shipped from Puget Sound on a schooner. The vessel loaded at Port Gamble. The largest cargo of lumber ever taken from the Sound was by the British steamer Suffolk, in October, 1890, which amounted to over 1,932,976 feet.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all throat and Lung Affections; also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper. W. A. NOYES, 820 Powers' Block, Rochester, N. Y.

Scribner's Magazine.

An Exceptional Year.

THE YEAR 1891 has been marked by a greater advance than any similar period since the Magazine was established. Not only has the literary and artistic excellence been maintained and increased, but a corresponding gain has been made in the sale and influence of the Magazine. At the end of 1891 the circulation has risen to more than 140,000. It may justly be promised that the further improvements for the coming year will be proportionate to these largely increased opportunities.

For Next Year.

It is not possible to give, in a brief space, an account of all the features in preparation, but the material is deficient in neither importance nor range of subject. Among the subjects treated:

The Poor in the World's Great Cities.

It is proposed to publish a series of articles, upon a scale not before attempted, giving the results of special study and work among the poor of the great cities. The plan will include an account of the conditions of life in those cities (in many lands) where the results of research will be helpful for purposes of comparison as well as for their own intrinsic interest. While, from a scientific point of view, the articles will be a contribution of great importance, the treatment will be thoroughly popular, and the elaborate illustrations will serve to make the presentation of the subject vivid as well as picturesque.

Washington Allston.

UNPUBLISHED REMINISCENCES AND LETTERS of this foremost among early American painters. A number of illustrations will lend additional interest to the articles.

Important Moments.

The aim of this series of very short articles is to describe the signal occasions when some decisive event took place, or when some great experiment was first shown to be successful—such moments as that of the first use of the Atlantic cable, the first use of the telegraph and telephone, the first successful experiment with ether, the night of the Chicago fire, the scene at the moment of the vote on the impeachment of Andrew Johnson, etc., etc.

Out of Door Papers.

In the early spring will be begun a number of seasonable articles, among them being:

SMALL COUNTRY PLACES, how to lay out and beautify them, by SAMUEL PARSONS, JR.
FISHING LORE FROM AN ANGLER'S NOTE-BOOK, by DR. LEROY M. YALE.
MOUNTAIN STATION LIFE IN NEW ZEALAND, by SIDNEY DICKINSON.
RACING IN AUSTRALIA, by SIDNEY DICKINSON, with illustrations by BIRGE HARRISON.

The illustrations are made from original material.

THE BEST OF

CHILDREN'S MAGAZINES.

THE publishers of St. Nicholas, that famous young-folks magazine, are offering to send a sample copy, free of charge, to any father or mother who would like to consider the question of taking a children's magazine during the year to come.

Certainly if that question is up for discussion in any household St. Nicholas will be the magazine selected. From its first number, in 1873, the pens of the greatest writers of the English world, and the pencils of the most famous illustrators, have been at its service. Tennyson, Longfellow, Bryant, Thomas Hughes, Whittier, Bret Harte, Bayard Taylor, Mrs. Burnett, Miss Alcott, Donald G. Mitchell, George Macdonald, Mrs. Oliphant, Professor Proctor are a few of the many great names which have been upon its list of contributors. Mrs. Mary Mapes Dodge is the editor. Everything in it is illustrated.

there are to be serial stories by Brander Matthews, Lieutenant Robert H. Fletcher (the author of that charming book, "Marjorie and Her Papa,"), Laura E. Richards, William O. Stoddard, Charles E. Carryl (author of Davy and the Goblin"), and Frances Courtenay Baylor. There will be short stories by Thomas Nelson Page, Mary E. Wilkins, Mary Hallock Foote, Richard Malcolm Johnston, Octave Thanet, General O. O. Howard and many others, with papers of travel and adventure by J. T. Trowbridge and Lieutenant Schwatka, and useful articles on "How Columbus Reckoned," 'William the Conqueror,' "Volcanoes and Earthquakes," Straight Lines and Circles," etc. In "Strange Corners of Our Country," the Great American Dessert, the Cliff-Dwellings of Arizona, and other interesting places, will be described, and in "Honors to the Flag" and "Boys and the National Guard" the patriotism of the young readers will be aroused and stimulated. Julian Ralph is to describe "The Making of a Great Newspaper," and the arc and incandescent electric lights are to be clearly explained.

APPLIED CHRISTIANITY

is what St. Nicholas teaches;—unselfishness, faithfulness, courage, truthfulness—these things are taught is a hundred ways by stories, poems and pictures. Do you need such an assistant in your work with your boys and girls? If so, and if you are not already familiar with St. Nicholas, send a postal card to The Century Co., Union Square, New York, N. Y., and ask to see a sample copy. A year's subscription to St. Nicholas makes a splendid Christmas present, for it brings Christmas twelve times a year.

BABYLAND.

Baby's delight and mother's relief.

Gay jingles, sweet little stories, dainty pictures will make BABYLAND for 1892 a charming magazine for the little ones. Among the many good things will be NURSE KAREN'S NORWAY TALES—stories told by a Norwegion nurse to little Americans—by EMILIE POULSSON, whose "Finger Plays" and "Toy Closet Stories" have made her our fairy godmother.

THE SWEETHEART STORIES by BELLA D. CLARK, a new friend, but one who knows all about baby folks.

THE TIPTOE TWINS, and their doings, will be described by MARGARET JOHNSON, whose "Toddlekins" and "Boofer Kitten" have never been forgotten.

Only 50 cents a year.

D. LOTHROP CO., BOSTON.

A GREAT MAGAZINE.

The Century's Programme in 1892—A New "Life of Columbus" — Articles for Farmers, etc.

THAT great American periodical, THE CENTURY, is going to outdo its own unrivaled record in its programme for 1892, and as many of its new features begin with the November number, new readers should commence with that issue.

In this number are the opening chapters of a novel by Rudyard Kipling, the famous author of "Plain Tales from the Hills," written in collaboration with an American writer, Wolcott Balestier. It is the story of a young man and a young woman from a "booming" Colorado town, who go to India, he in search of a wonderful jeweled necklace, called "the Naulahka" (from which the story takes its name), and she as a physician to women. The novel describes their remarkable adventures at the court of an Indian maharajah. Besides this, the Century will print three other novels during the year, and a great number of short stories by the best American story-writers.

The well-known humorist, Edgar W. Nye ("Bill Nye"), is to write a series of amusing sketches which he calls his "autobiographies," the first one of which, "The Autobiography of a Justice of the Peace," is in November. This number also contains a valuable and suggestive article on "The Food Supply of the Future," which every farmer should read, to be followed by a number of others treating especially of the relations of the Government to the farmer, what it is doing and what it should do. This series will include contributions from officers of the Department of Agriculture, and other well-known men will discuss "The Farmer's Discontent," "Co-operation," etc., etc.

A celebrated Spanish writer is to furnish a "Life of Columbus," which will be brilliantly illustrated, and the publishers of the Century have arranged with the managers of the World's Fair to print articles on the buildings, etc.

One of the novels to appear in 1892 is by the author of "The Anglomaniacs," and the magazine will contain a great deal about the metropolis during the year—among other things a series of illustrated articles on "The Jews in New York." In November is an illustrated description of "The Players' Club," founded by Edwin Booth, and one of the features of the splendidly illustrated Christmas (December) number is an article on "The Bowery."

To get the Century send the yearly subscription price ($4.00) to The Century Co., Union Square, New York, N. Y.

LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE.

Twenty-Fifth Annual Prospectus.

A QUARTER OF A CENTURY has elapsed since LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE was first presented to the reading public. By adding new and original features it has kept in advance of the times and now occupies a unique position among magazines. It was the first to abandon serial stories, and by publishing a complete novel in each number, the magazine has wonderfully increased its popularity. This popular feature will be continued, and leading American and English authors have been engaged to contribute novels for the ensuing year. The January number will contain a remarkable novel dealing with newspaper life, entitled, "The Passing of Major Kilgore," by YOUNG E. ALLISON, late Managing Editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal. This number will fitly inaugurate The Journalist's Series, which will consist of a number of contributions from prominent newspaper men who will tell their personal experiences, and give glimpses of the editorial sanctums and inner workings of various leading newspapers throughout the country. An insight into the lives of newspaper men at work and at play will be given, and the methods of getting out the great dailies will be illustrated. A series of articles on Athletics will also be commenced in the January number, the initial article being one on "Boxing," by DANIEL L. DAWSON. The articles will be prepared by experts in such sports and exercises as rowing, fencing, base-ball, cricket, walking, swimming, archery, tennis, foot-ball, riding, sailing, golf, la crosse, polo, etc., as well as articles on Physical Training and In-Door Exercises. New Talent will be heartily encouraged as heretofore, and writers from every section of the country will be represented in the pages of Lippincott's during 1892. A series of articles dealing with reminiscences of men famous in our political history, and giving hitherto-unpublished correspondence, will form a feature. Among such articles may be mentioned "Personal Recollections of Abraham Lincoln, Andrew Johnson, John C. Calhoun," etc., the Clay-Randolph Correspondence and Duel, Social Life in Philadelphia during the Administration of John Adams, etc.

MRS. M. E. W. SHERWOOD will contribute a series of papers entitled Collections and Recollections. These will include reminiscences of many famous people in "society," also recollections of the Brook Farm Community, and other interesting data. Leading Actors have been engaged to contribute articles on the modern stage, and an initial paper by E. S. WILLARD, the English actor, will be published in and early forthcoming number. It would be impossible to mention in detail the wealth of material that has been secured for 1892, in the shape of Short Stories, Essays, Sketches, Poems, etc., by well-known writers.

Notice for Publication.

U. S. LAND OFFICE, SEATTLE, WASH., MARCH 1st, 1892.

NOTICE is hereby given that in compliance with the provisions of the act of Congress of June 3, 1878, entitled, "An act for the sale of timber lands in the states of California, Oregon, Nevada and Washington territory," of Pysht, county of Clallam, state of Washington, has this day filed in this office her sworn statement No. 6170, for the purchase of the sw ¼ sw ¼ of Section No. 13, in Township No. 31 North, Range No. 11 West, and will offer proof to show that the land sought is more valuable for its timber or stone than for agricultural purposes, and to establish her claim to said land before the Register and Receiver of this office, at Seattle, Wash., on Wednesday, the 25th day of May, 1892.

ETTA V. KENDRICK,

She names as witnesses: Henry H. McMillin, Thomas Robinson, John Gordon and William Crawford, all of Pysht, Clallam county, Wash.

Any and all persons claiming adversely the above-described lands, are requested to file their claims in this office on or before said 25th day of May, 1892.

T. M. REED, JR., Register.

Still in the Ring,

—AND READY—

To Fill Your Orders At Living Prices.

I HAVEN'T much to say to my old patrons and the public, this whirl, (meaning to see you later), but I want to say that little plainly:

I am Again in the Grocery Business,

AND I AM IN IT to sell you your Groceries and Provisions, Boots and Shoes, and all the staples that you ordinarily look for at a General Store, AT THE LOWEST PRICES at which goods can be sold to afford me a living profit. A nice line of well-selected new goods will soon be here to supplement my present stock. I want your trade, and will do my level best to sell you the kind of goods you want at prices that you will say are right.

J. F. RANEY,

PROPRIETOR - - - - - FARMERS' STORE.

TO THE PUBLIC.

I TAKE PLEASURE IN ANNOUNCING TO THE PUBLIC. THAT I HAVE OPENED AT

LAKE VIEW, LAKE CRESCENT,

A WELL-STOCKED

General - Store - and - Comfortable - Hotel,

AND HOPE to make both establishments conveniences that residents at the Lake and the Traveling Public will appreciate.

THE STORE

HAS BEEN STOCKED with a full line of General merchandise—Groceries, Provisions, Boots and Shoes, Wearing Apparel, etc., and an excellent line of Fishing Tackle of every description.

THE HOTEL

WILL AFFORD entertainment to travelers, or to pleasure parties at the Lake, of a character that I will strive to make wholly satisfactory. Patrons may always rely upon a good, well-served table, and clean and comfortable beds, and reasonable charges. The steam launch, "THE LADY OF THE LAKE," has its landing directly in front of the hotel, where small boats may also be procured. I will try to merit the patronage of the public.

"THE KING OF NINETEENTH-CENTURY REVIEWS."

THE ARENA FOR 1892.

"The boldest, ablest, and most original magazine in America."—Jewish Times and Observer.

Subscription price . . .	$5.00
Arena Art Portfolio . . .	4.00
	$9.00
We send The Arena and Portfolio, postpaid for	$5.20

THE ARENA for 1892 will eclipse its previous brilliant record in the strength and ability of its contributions. As in the past, it will continue to be the most aggressive, fearless, and outspoken review of the age. All great living issues will be fully, freely and impartially discussed by the foremost thinkers of our day. Great wrongs and growing evils will be unmasked without fear or favor, while the root problems underlying civilization will be more fully discussed than in the pages of any other review.

Some Special Features for 1892.

I. "A Spoil of Office," by Hamlin Garland, which opens in the January ARENA. This is, without question, one of the greatest novels ever written by an American author. It deals with the social, economic and political condition of the modern West, and is characterized by beauty and strength. A golden thread of love runs through the woof and web of this great story, which opens in Iowa, shifts its scenes to Kansas, and closes in the National Capitol. "A SPOIL OF OFFICE" will be the most talked-of story of 1892 and you should read it.

II. Popular Social and Economic Problems. It will be an encyclopædia of social, economic and political information, giving its readers a masterly exposition of the true conditions and needs of the present, depicting the evils of the hour, and suggesting remedies calculated to secure a wider meed of justice and liberty for the great toiling millions of our land. From its inception THE ARENA has been THE STEADFAST CHAMPION OF THE PEOPLE, absolutely fearless in its denunciation of plutocracy, monopoly and all means and measures which wrong the multitude or infringe upon the liberty of the humblest citizen.

III. Psychical Science. During 1892, THE ARENA will have the ablest, most authoritative, and brilliant series of papers ever published on psychical science, by leading thinkers of the new world and the old.

IV. The Condition of Woman Throughout the World. Recognizing the fact that the present is the cycle of woman, THE ARENA for 1892 will contain a brilliant and powerful series of papers on the condition of woman throughout the world. The opening paper appears in the January number, by Professor A. N. Jannaris, Ph. D., of the National University of Greece. It is on "Women in Mohammedan Lands."

V. Scientific Papers. Popular papers on scientific subjects by the most profound thinkers of the age will also be a feature of THE ARENA for 1892. The first paper of this series appears in the December ARENA, by the eminent French astronomer, Camille Flammarion, on "Recent Discoveries in the Heavens." The second is by the great English scientist, Alfred Russel Wallace, on "Human Progress, Past and Future."

VI. Religious and Educational Problems and Social Conditions will be fully and freely presented by the master spirits in each department of thought.

VII. Short Stories and Biographies. Each issue will contain, in addition to Mr. Garland's great novel, a brilliant short story or a biography of some eminent person; thus every member of the family will hail the arrival of THE ARENA with delight.

VIII. Full-page Portraits and Illustrations. Each issue will contain superb full-page portraits of distinguished personages, with autographs, printed on heavy plate paper.

A Few Contributors to the Arena.

In order to indicate the breadth, scope and authoritative character of the contributions to THE ARENA, we mention a few recent contributors: President Chas. W. Eliot, of Harvard, Alfred Russel Wallace, D. C. L., Camille Flammarion, Emilio Castelar, Rev. Lyman Abbott, D.D., Mary A. Livermore, Rev. Minot J. Savage, Count Leo Tolstoi, Prof. N. S. Shaler, of Harvard, Henry George, Edgar Fawcett, Rev. R. Heber Newton, Hamlin Garland, Helen H. Gardener, Prof. J. R. Buchanan, Senator John T. Morgan, of Alabama, Hon. Henry Cabot Lodge, M. C., Hon. PORT CRESCENT.

THE POINT at which the American Continent most nearly approaches Vancouver Island, the distance being LESS THAN TEN MILES. The most favorable point for

DIRECT - INTERNATIONAL - COMMUNICATION

Between the two countries.

The Harbor is already, to a large degree, protected by natural headlands, but

Breakwaters which will Encircle it and Double its Capacity are Being Provided,

At a cost of $350,000. The more important one is in full progress and partly completed.

PORT CRESCENT is the extreme western port of Puget Sound, and THE FIRST DEEP-WATER HARBOR north of San Francisco, without a bar, a shoal or a sandbank. It will accommodate 120 ships at cable length, besides 100 more alongside wharves. A short and clear waterway of 43 miles to the ocean, enables ships to dispense with the heavy charges necessarily incurred for tugs and pilots on the Columbia river and the upper ports of Puget Sound.

Its unique geographical position secured for it the attention of the officials of the Northern Pacific R. R. Co.,

And in view of its capacities, it has been selected as an Ocean Terminus, in preference to any other point.

THE PRESIDENT of that corporation, Mr. Thomas F. Oakes, of New York, and other influential officers of the Northern Pacific, are Trustees of the Victoria, Port Crescent & Chehalis Railroad Company, with a Capital of $4,000,000.

This Line Will Run from Port Crescent

WESTWARD of the Olympic Mountains and connect with the existing Northern Pacific system on Gray's Harbor. It will traverse a series of river valleys of the richest agricultural character, INTO WHICH SETTLERS ARE FLOCKING IN GREAT NUMBERS; lands especially fitted for Hops and Fruit Culture, with a climate, induced by the genial warmth of the Japan current, equal to that of California, without its aridity. The timber is unexcelled, inexhaustible and very accessible. The clearing of the first section of the Right-of-way from Port Crescent is completed; the preliminary surveys of the whole line made, and its early completion is now assured.

An essential feature of the project now being developed at Port Crescent is the

Ferrying of Solid Northern Pacific Trains

Over to Port Beecher, on Vancouver Island, and thence

Into the City of Victoria, B. C.,

Conveying freight without breaking bulk and passengers without change of vehicle.

Immediately adjoining Port Crescent, and connected with it by a good road, is

LAKE CRESCENT,

TEN MILES in length, from two to three miles in width, and of surpassing beauty. This Lake, with its wonderful coloring and magnificent surrounding scenery, was visited by hundreds of delighted pleasure seekers, the past summer, and is destined to become one of the most famous resorts in the Pacific Northwest. It is without a rival in Western Washington. Its waters abound in trout, and it is an ideal rendezvous for fishermen and sportsmen.

A Mail Route has been recently established between Port Crescent and the west end of Lake Crescent, for the accommodation of residents of the rich valley of the Solduck—which valley, now conveniently reached by way of Port Crescent, is being rapidly filled up with a fine class of settlers. In addition to thousands of acres of choice Agricultural and Timber Lands, the valley possesses

HOT - MINERAL - SPRINGS - OF - GREAT - VALUE.

A LUMBER MILL has been established at Port Crescent, and stores, hotels, warehouses and residences built, and all indications go to show that a city of the very first rank must arise here—and one backed by one of the largest and richest agricultural regions in Washington. No point in the State offers Sounder Opportunities for Safe Investment on the part of the most conservative, and further particulars, with plans, prices of City Lots and Desirable Acreage, will gladly be afforded on application.
