STORK VISITS BAILEYS

Larry and Diane Bailey, former residents of Forks, had a very friendly visit from the stork last week. On Wednesday morning, at 9:56 a. m. to be exact, their new daughter was born at Tacoma General Hospital.
 While sitting in the waiting room, the expectant father kept muttering, "At least I didn't have to drive around Lake Crescent!"
 The Baileys, now residing in Sumner, Wa., named their new arrival Mancella Diane Bailey, a name chosen by Diane about 15 years ago. Mancella will be mostly known as "Mandy".
 The proud father and brother of "Mandy" hit the town after the new arrival, with old dad shaking hands and "Jake" passing out the "It's a Girl" cigar.
 For those of you guys who look at the vital statistics only, Mancella Diane at birth: weight, 8 lbs., 13 oz.; length, 19-1/2 inches; mom's and baby's health, good; father and brother: ask them in another month after they've come down from the stork.

Conner named member ex-officio

State Representative Paul H. Conner has been named a member, ex-officio, of the newly created Washington State Gambling Commission. As such he will not have a vote but may partake in discussions conducted by the 5 member commission.

Clallam Co. awarded Jobs Now funds

Clallam County has been awarded a $25,000 interest-free loan under the Jobs Now Program, Governor Dan Evans has announced.
 The Governor said the money will assist the County in preparing plans for design and construction of a waste water collection and treatment system to service the Clallam Bay, Sekiu and Snob Hill areas. Construction of the system will eliminate an existing health hazard posed by failing septic tank systems.
 Construction of the $1.3 million dollar project scheduled to begin later this year will create temporary jobs and will ensure continued operation of businesses employing approximately 200 people. These businesses now face closure because of sewage related problems.
 Installation of the system will create opportunities for expansion of resort, vacation, sports, fishing and tourist-related industries in the area, the Governor said.

MARINE ATLAS PUBLISHED

"Information about Washington's marine environment is colorfully displayed on a variety of maps in the Washington Marine Atlas, just published by the Department of Natural Resources Division of Surveys and Marine Land Management," Bert L. Cole, Commissioner of Public Lands announced today.
 The maps contain such information as the location of intertidal clam areas, sport and commercial fishing areas, marine recreation areas, oyster growing areas, water quality information, and much more. Information of this nature will be useful not only to local planners, developers and others concerned with utilization of our finite marine resources but also recreationists looking for fishing spots and shoreline parks.
 Volume one covers the North Inland Waters area; Volume two, the South Inland Waters; Volume three, the North Coast; and Volume four portrays the South Coast. Volume five and six, covering the lower Columbia River, are not yet available.

 Each volume contains 16 to 19 four-color plates that measure 18 inches by 24 inches. Interpretive comment on the data displayed accompanies each map.
 The maps can be obtained from the Division of Surveys and Marine Land Management in Olympia for 30 cents per map. Prepayment is required with each order. For purchase order blanks, write to: Division of Surveys and Marine Land Management, Department of Natural Resources, Olympia, Wa. 98504.

ENVIRONMENTAL ASSESSMENT HEARING

About 50 persons attended last week's Environmental Assessment Hearing on the proposed Forks sewer plant. Federal regulations required that a public meeting be held in order for a community to obtain federal monies for such a project. Fred Keams, representative of the engineering firm of Lee Johnson and associates opened the hearing with slides and description of a sample secondary sewer plant similar to the one planned for the Bogachiel. The typical sewage processing system begins with large brushes or rotors that beat oxygen into the sewage thus allowing biological action to occur. The oxidized waste then moves on to a clarifier where certain elements attack themselves to solids, others remain soluble in water. The effluent from this process flow through as apparatus where it is disinfected with a chlorine derivative. Later in the meeting, the biological consultant for the project recommended a de-chlorination tank be added to the end of the system. It was noted by Jack Harris of the Department of Fish and Game that chlorination even one part in one million of water, is the leading cause of fish kill in Washington.

Tony Barrett of Olympic Health Department said that at the opening of Olympus Terrace, a sewage plant like in design to the proposed plant, a group of persons held a "tea party" next to the clarifier. This, he said, illustrated to him that there was absolutely no offensive odor emitted from such an operation. Barrett went on to say that Forks water supply is in danger of contamination within the next few years. It seems that the water fluctuation during certain years poses a real danger due to the town's septic tanks and dry wells. Federal regulation now states that "no discharge of effluvia into ground water" is permissible. This in effect, means that there seems no alternative but to dump treated waste into the river. Later in the meeting, several citizens asked about other possibilities for the discharge. It was noted by some community's with-out nearby bodies of water have employed evaporation lagoons but such a plan would not be feasible near Forks due to the heavy rainfall. The idea of field spraying, related to the compost ideas of the East would also be unrealistic due to the alleged high expense of such a plan. Mr. Barrett told of several cases of typhoid found in Yakima and severe gastro-intestinal upsets in the Bremerton area due to the chemical cyclamate. RDX. These frightening cases have been attributed to the improper disposal of wastes into water supplies. To be certain, the tragedies of typhoid and similar diseases do not invade Forks' water, he urged those persons attending to look closely at the disposal rate in the vicinity and compare it in ratio to the growth of Forks. The expansion of the town recently has rendered the present disposal plan virtually obsolete.

Jim Sulliman, biological consultant to engineers of the project read the Environmental Impact Statement. He reminded the audience that his intentions was "not to defend the project but to objectively state the effects of the project." Mr. Sulliman, a graduate of Cornell University and a Peace Corps veteran, reported that the Bogachiel was defined as a Class A river which would be suitable for a dumping place of effluent due to its fast, clean, turbulent nature. The turbulence of the river was emphasized as an essential factor in the suitability of the water as a high oxygen content is needed for effective waste disposal as well as to sustain fish life. To date, no accurate flow readings have been taken of the Bogachiel and Quillayute Rivers. The Game Department urged the citizens of Forks to look into the possibilities of alternate sewage plans such as a deep well system or the tertiary system reputed to be a requirement by 1983.

Letters from the Olympic Outdoor Sportsman's Association and the Olympic Peninsula Flyfishers read much like the letter from the Department of Fish and Game. Like the latter, members of these orin engineering calculations. Rearing pond superintendent, Steve Miller, challenged these figures and stated that a more realistic temperature during the summer months would be nearer to 60-65 F. or higher. Mr. Sulliman concluded his presentation by certifying that the bacterial level of the river will increase from 49 to 58, (240 is the maximum level presently acceptable for a Class A river). As to dissolved oxygen the rate will fall from 9.7 milligrams per liter to 8.9. Currently 6.7 is the minimum acceptable level of oxygen to sustain the life of healthy fish. The biologist told the audience that in his opinion sheepskins are a danger to still water only when in a lake or lagoon. He feels that the chemical upset in the river would be minimal and would not alter the nutrient level of the Bogachiel.

Steve Miller read a letter from the Department of Fish and Game that listed five objections to the location of a treatment plant on the Bogachiel. First of all, they feel saltation could occur during construction and due to a loss of water flow contamination of nearby springs could occur. The fish rearing pond is fed from spring water. Secondly, the Game Department feels the aesthetic value of the river and the area may be degraded. Any sight, smell or noise that offends the senses could destroy the pristine nature of the Bogachiel. The letter went on to protect the engineer's estimates of water flow and water temperature. Finally, it is feared that treated effluent no matter how diluted could cause toxicity to aquatic food organisms downstream and oxygen depletion in the Bogachiel and Quillayute Rivers. The Game Department urged the citizens of Forks to look into the possibilities of alternate sewage plans such as a deep well system or the tertiary system reputed to be a requirement by 1983.

Letters from the Olympic Outdoor Sportsman's Association and the Olympic Peninsula Flyfishers read much like the letter from the Department of Fish and Game. Like the latter, members of these or-

Other questions brought up at the hearing are:

Q--How much time was spent by the biologist in the area and what are the amounts of variables in the calculations?

A--The biologist had never visited the site of the proposed building site until the afternoon of the hearing due to time and transportation limitations. In every case the worst possible variables in flows and temperature were used in calculations.

Q--How will discharge of treated waste into the Bogachiel affect the Sol Duc which is a Class AA river and is potable?

A--A calculation would have to be run on the Sol Duc but it is guessed that dilution of wastes would be so great that the Sol Duc would retain its AA classification.

Q--Where will pipeline and outfall actually go?

A--"None of the sites have had detailed final designs," said Mr. Keams.

Q--Does secondary treatment remove virus from the water? (in regard to swimming downstream?

A--Bogachiel water is not potable at this time nor would it be after treatment. "No insurance of complete biological kill" can be assured said Mr. Price.

"There's always a chance of contamination. We're not selling a fool proof box, we're selling a well-designed, well-planned sewer plant."

Jack Harris of the Department of Fish and Game, advisor on Seattle Water System, attacked the Impact Statement and the engineering plans by referring calculations as "speculations based on assumptions." He called for more flow readings to be made before any concrete plans are made. He also said that the community can expect more algae growth in the river. Sulliman replied that he agreed with Mr. Harris and in his qualified opinion, "they certainly could be made more accurate if the calculations."

One of the most outspoken speakers of the evening was Jim Ruth, he said they were "totally opposed" to the project and would use every legal channel available to keep the treated waste from flowing by La Push and harming the fishing industry as well as degrading the town of La Push. Tony Barrett answered Mr. Ruth by saying "any fish that makes it past the boat harbor could live in treated water." Apparently raw waste is often discharged in water and on land in the La Push area at this time. Mr.

CHURCH PLANS CONVENTIONS

The Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York has revealed completion of plans for a series of international conventions of Jehovah's Witnesses in 1978.

Spokesman David R. Gillum, presiding minister of the Forks congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, said 45 local members attended the convention held in Vancouver, B.C. recently.

Meetings in the United States are planned for Tiger Stadium in Detroit, White Sox Park in Chicago, Dodger Stadium in Los Angeles, Oakland-Alameda Stadium in Oakland, California, Astrodome in Houston, Three Rivers Stadium in Pittsburgh, Royals Stadium in Kansas City, Veterans Stadium in Philadelphia, Atlanta Stadium, and Gulfstream Race Track near Miami.

Gillum said six Spanish-language conventions are also scheduled for the U.S.

Internationally, five conventions have been arranged for in Canada, twelve in Europe, five in Asia, seventeen in South and Central America, three in the South Pacific and seven in Africa during 1978.

The theme of the conventions world wide is "Divine Victory" and stress the Witnesses' belief in the certainty of Divine Intervention in human affairs in order for man's problems to reach an ultimate and permanent solution.

"This can only be accomplished through God's kingdom by Jesus Christ," said Gillum.

"Tens of thousands of delegates will attend these conventions all over the world," Gillum continued, "and regardless of national origin, race and cultural background they will meet unitedly to build their faith and appreciation in God and his Word, the Bible."

5 DAY CLUB

The Forks Bible Church is sponsoring its second annual inter-denominational 5-Day Club. The program is designed for boys and girls from kindergarten age through the sixth grade. The children gather together at various locations in the area for one hour each day July 23-July 27.

During each morning, sing, hear exciting Bible and missionary stories and memorize religious principles. On the 28th of July at 1 p. m. a gathering will be held at the Forks Bible Church in the 2nd Mansfield Addition at which time the young people will share their weeks experiences and teachings with family and friends. Refreshments will be served. Persons interested in enrolling their children in the program should call 374-5062 or 374-5887.

Groups will be classified by neighborhood and the places and times for each area are as follows:

- 2nd Mansfield Addition-Bill Rich home, 10:45.
- Northeast-John Spoelstra home, 317 'A' Street, 10:45 a. m.
- Valley View-Fred Anderson home, 10:45 a. m.

Visiting with Mrs. Anna Morting over the weekend was her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Sig Ramberg and family of Renton.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fox and Mr. and Mrs. Julius Baker returned home Sunday evening after a fourteen day trip through British Columbia and Alberta. They drove through Jasper National Park, Lake Louise and back through Southern British Columbia. While in British Columbia, they also saw some familiar faces from this area, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Gibbs and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Wittenborn and Mr. and Mrs. Carter Warren. Erzoute home the Bakers and the Foxes spent the weekend at the Foxes property at Brimmon. On the 29th of June they all had attended the VFW District banquet in Sequim. Others attending from this area were: Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Lindeman, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Sharpes, and Mr. and Mrs. Bob West.

We were all sorry to hear of the death of Mr.

son, Chairman of the Department of Interior, feel citizens should study more closely the Environmental Impact Statement on the pipeline. A close vote is expected on the bill this week but it is expected in Washington that the project will be delayed at least two more years.

Mr. Campbell urged national chamber members to support the new congressional budgetary process that would put a ceiling on future federal spending. He also suggests that support be given to the proposal that would ban food strikes from strikers. A close ballot is expected on this bill due to tough debate between sympathetic rural congressmen and liberal urban members.

Warren Paul reported that the Chamber has a balance of $593.30 in the treasury. $50.00 was appropriated by members for repair of the backstop in Tillicum Park. Used by the West End Little League, the backstop badly needs reworking. It was noted that the Visitors Information Center in the Sacketts building is doing very well. Free polished rocks are now available to persons visiting the center.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The Forks Chamber of Commerce met Tuesday during the lunch hour in the Vagabond dining room. Argyle Campbell reported from Washington on bills expected to come before Congress this week. Foremost on the agenda is the Trans-Alaska pipeline issue. The Senate must decide whether to allow the 780 mile pipeline to be built or to bow before the protests of zealous environmentalists who contend that such a pipeline would be damaging to the ecology of the surrounding areas. Senators Gravell and Stevens lead a resistance that would bar further court litigation on the matter while Senator Jack-

Buddy and Marge Howard have recently returned from their trip to Seattle. While there they visited Ed Howard, Buddy's nephew. Family members journeyed from as far away as Little Rock, Arkansas and Montana to join the gathering. The Howards met some relatives for the first time and greatly enjoyed their visit.

The Kenneth Middletons joined Mr. and Mrs. Carl Simmons on a 2-week Honda excursion along the coastline of Washington, Oregon and Northern California. The couples cut across California and traveled to Reno, Nevada and Lake Tahoe where they enjoyed the Jerry Lewis Show, The Teresa Brewer Show and Rowan and Martin. Other points of interest visited were the Ponderosa Ranch near Tahoe, Crater Lake and the beautiful giant redwoods of California. The Middletons and Simmons visited Mr. and Mrs. Forest Simmonds of Myrtle Creek, Oregon, on their return to Forks. All tolled, the avid Honda riders covered 2,600 miles and enjoyed their trip immensely.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Lausche have returned from an exciting two week trip to Minnesota where they visited relatives. On the return trip the Lausches traveled into Canada where they encountered a turbulent windstorm that left trailers and cars tipped and paralyzed. They, however, made it safely through Canada and enjoyed their vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Saunders and family are visiting their daughter, Virginia Saunders who works at the Vagabond, and their son and his wife, Tom and Nancy Saunders of Sappho. Traveling from Manchester, Missouri, the Saunders have visited Hurricane Ridge and the Hoh Rain Forest. A highlight of their visit was a salmon fishing trip aboard the Linda Ray with Chuck McLean of Olympic Charters. The Saunders are spending about a week in the area.

constitutes basis for a citation. Mr. Bryson again emphasized the importance of citizens immediately reporting any actions they feel are infractions of the law.

It was noted, also, that Honda riding is NOT permissible in Tillicum Park. Residents of the area have complained of the noise and dust caused by the young cyclists in the area. More important than the disturbance, the park is public property and serious reverberations could result if an injury occurred there.

Joe Winney said he had heard that some persons were disturbed by seeding radar set up as early as 8 a. m. In some people's opinion, Forks law enforcement is out to get the "working man" at this hour. The Marshal replied that speed limits are in effect at all hours of the day and no infringement is being purposely made on the working man's right to rush to work--as long as his speed does not exceed the limits of safety.

Tacoma Mission Director to speak

Rev. Raymond L. Martin, Executive Director of the Tacoma Rescue Mission, Inc., will speak in Forks on July 23 at 7:30 p. m. in the grade school multi-purpose room. He will show slides of the work at the Tacoma Mission, all work made possible through free will offerings and donations.

The Mission provides homes for both men and women and is now building a home for teenagers.

TRAIL RIDERS NEWS

By Barbara King

Gene and Mary Owens, of the Upper Hoh, were delighted with the tiny black and white overo filly that their paint mare, Babe, finally came through with after a year and seven days. Proud papa of the new filly is our own quarterhorse Toney. Congratulations! For those of you that may have been thrown by the word "overo", in my description of the filly, I will give a brief explanation. There are two definite different types of color patterns in the paints and pintos, Overos and Toblano. The tobiano markings have a solid color with maybe a blaze or star, on their heads, white on their backs and legs and large patterns of color on their sides. Overos are a complete reversal, dark color on the legs, no white crossing the back at all, and they frequently have bald faces.

We have had a couple of good rides these past few weeks. One we took with Mike, Linda, Michal and Christine Peabody and Mandy Graves, up the Bogachiel. The other was on some old grades off the Mary Clarke Road, with Doreen Planes and Pam Ford. (I was glad to hear Doreen bought Bill back. I didn't think she could really do without him for very long.)

There is an Open Show this weekend in Port Angeles, that we are getting ready for. Horses to go in for the show from our area: Hob River Hobbeast, owned by Norman and Marilyn Snodgrass; Remen Bar How, owned by Diane Duncan; Jo-Jo, owned by Kurt Newbury, and my own new one, Fawn Tezka. I know of at least two or three others that would like to enter, but lack transportation. If anyone has a trailer that could be made available, I would appreciate a call at 374-5605. The Rein Riders also are lacking in transportation for the Fair this year. Ten kids and horses hope to go in and our trailer just can't carry that many. Won't someone please come through for these kids?

18 YEAR OLDS MUST REGISTER

"I should like to remind all 18 year old young men that they still must register for the draft, even though we are no longer drafting anyone," Dick Marquardt, State Director of Selective Service said today. "I am concerned that many of our young men here in our State may fail to register when they reach 18 years of age because they are unaware of their responsibilities to the Selective Service," Mr. Marquardt said.

"An extremely important point that may have been missed in most reporting on the cessation of inductions is the fact that the Military Selective Service Act remains in force," Mr. Marquardt said. "The Act states that all young men have a continuing legal obligation to register with Selective Service at age 18. They have 60 days to do this, beginning 30 days before their 18th birthday. I would urge the parents and friends of all young men who reach 18 to remind them of their legal responsibility to register with Selective Service," Mr. Marquardt said. "They can register at the nearest local board office or with a Registrar of the Selective Service System who resides in the young man's community. Addresses of the Selective Service boards can usually be found in the local telephone book. However, if someone wishes additional information, our telephone is always open to these young men. The Washington State Headquarters is located in the Shaw Building, Room 300, 19415 Pacific Highway South, Seattle, Washington 98188, telephone (206) 442-4144."

Another encouraging finding is that less than 5% of the station operators expressed any fear that the situation would deteriorate in the next two weeks, requiring more stringent measures. Many operators report that they have more than adequate supplies of gas and there is no area in Washington where motorists can't expect to fill their tanks during the day, every day of the week with the sole exception of Sunday.

Businesses serving the vacation-goer are "on their toes" this summer, according to the AAA spokesman, due to the uncertainty about fuel supplies and the consequent heightened competition to attract the tourist. The outlook for the remainder of July is described as favorable--and especially favoring the motorist who plans ahead and arranges fuel purchases so that late-night last-minute "scavenger hunts" aren't necessary in the pursuit of vacation excitement.

In Western Washington, only 17.3% of the stations polled are "rationing" and most of these impose reasonably generous limits of 10-12 gallons per purchase. Almost two-thirds (64.2%) of the stations surveyed have reduced hours of operation in the area west of the Columbia, with 79% closing earlier than in the past in Eastern Washington and 87% in Oregon. The number of stations now closed on Sundays (54.3%) changed less than one percentage point during the last week in the Auto Club of Washington survey area, varying only slightly in Oregon (57%) and Eastern Washington (47%).

The price of gasoline has fallen one to two cents per gallon in both Oregon and Washington in the past 10 days, indicating that price competition has not disappeared entirely, despite the concern at all levels about present and potential shortages of fuel.

BOARD APPROVES TIMBER SALES

"At its regular monthly meeting, the Board of Natural Resources approved the sale of 19 parcels of state owned timber," Bert L. Cole, Commissioner of Public Lands, announced today. The 19 parcels contain a cruise volume of 41,445,000 board feet with an appraised value of $4,207,702.50. These tracts of timber are located in 14 of the 37 counties of the state.

The largest tract of timber is the Section 35 Leave Sale on the Olympic Peninsula located in Jefferson County south of Forks. In the Salmon River drainage and contains a cruise volume of 6,236,000 board feet appraised at $225,405.00. The Cone Crop Aerial #2 Sale located within the Hoh River drainage on the Olympia Peninsula is the only sale approved at this meeting that was appraised for aerial removal of the logs either with balloon, helicopter or multiple skyline. The North Hueland Aerial Sale which was sold in August of 1972 located approximately 4 miles west of the Cone Crop Aerial #2 Sale is now being logged with a balloon.

This is the first sale on State lands to be logged with a balloon system and the first timber to be yarded by balloon in the State of Washington. The balloon will become a common sight on many logging shows of the State where topography, site, and environmental conditions necessitate the flying of logs from the woods to the landing. The protection of the soil and water are of paramount importance in the management of forest lands today and we have and will continue to see great changes in logging methods in the future. These are great strides when compared to operations dependent on axes, springboards and steam donkeys. The faller today does not always plumb the tree to determine where he must fall it to prevent breakage. Instead a climber often puts a line on the tree and it is pulled uphill by a tractor drumline after the undercut and backcut are completed. The bucket, instead of a 10 foot bucking saw, oil bottle, and pocket full of wedges, carries a power saw, axe, shovel and a list providing weights for various diameters and lengths of large logs, so that he can buck the tree into lengths to meet the weight restrictions for balloon or helicopter, as well as buck for the best grade.

The sales approved by the board will be sold on August 27 and 28 at the Area Headquarters covering the following counties: Clallam, Gray Harbor, and Jefferson Counties at the Olympic Area Headquarters in Forks on August 28; Clark, Cowlitz and Skamania Counties at the Northwest Area Headquarters in Castle Rock; Kitsap County at the South Puget Sound Area Headquarters in Enumclaw; Kilkistat County at the old Department of Natural Resources Headquarters in Glenwood; Okanogan, Pend Oreille and Stevens Counties at the Northeast Area Headquarters in Colville; Pacific and Thurston Counties at the Central Area Headquarters south of Chehalis; and Snohomish County at the Northwest Area Headquarters in Sedro Woolley.

Clallam County: Pysht Alder - 1.1 million board feet, appraised at $24,412.50 located approximately 39 miles by road west of Port Angeles, at the Olympic Area Headquarters at Forks.

Jefferson County: Section 35 Leave - 8.6 million board feet, appraised at $1,056,050.00 located approximately 55 miles by road south of Forks, to be sold August 28, at the Olympic Area Headquarters at Forks.

Williamauad #2 - 5.9 million board feet, appraised at $205,405.00, located approximately 32 miles by road south of Forks, to be sold August 28, at the Olympic Area Headquarters at Forks.

Cone Crop Aerial #2 - 6.2 million board feet, appraised at $225,405.00, located approximately 32 miles by road south of Forks, to be sold August 28, at the Olympic Area Headquarters at Forks.

U.S.-Soviets to discuss fisheries operations

American representatives will meet with the Commander of the Soviet Far-Distant Pacific Fishing Fleet at Port Angeles,

Wash., July 20 to discuss fisheries operations off the Pacific Northwest Coast.

Mr. Donald Johnson, Regional Director of the National Marine Fisheries Service (NMFS) will head the American delegation which will include other NMFS personnel, Coast Guard officers, state fisheries officials and American fishing industry representatives. The meeting will be held at the Coast Guard Air Station in Port Angeles.

Among the agenda items to be discussed with the Soviet fishing fleet representatives will be: conservation of rockfish and salmon off the Northwest coast; placing U.S. observers aboard Soviet fishing vessels, gear conflicts, and communications with Soviet vessels.

The protection of the soil and water are of paramount importance in the management of forest lands today and we have and will continue to see great changes in logging methods in the future. These are great strides when compared to operations dependent on axes, springboards and steam donkeys. The faller today does not always plumb the tree to determine where he must fall it to prevent breakage. Instead a climber often puts a line on the tree and it is pulled uphill by a tractor drumline after the undercut and backcut are completed. The bucket, instead of a 10 foot bucking saw, oil bottle, and pocket full of wedges, carries a power saw, axe, shovel

Clallam County: Pysht Alder - 1.1 million board feet, appraised at $24,412.50 located approximately 39 miles by road west of Port Angeles, at the Olympic Area Headquarters at Forks.

Jefferson County: Section 35 Leave - 8.6 million board feet, appraised at $1,056,050.00 located approximately 55 miles by road south of Forks, to be sold August 28, at the Olympic Area Headquarters at Forks.

Wash., July 20 to discuss fisheries operations off the Pacific Northwest Coast.

Mr. Donald Johnson, Regional Director of the National Marine Fisheries Service (NMFS) will head the American delegation which will include other NMFS personnel, Coast Guard officers, state fisheries officials and American fishing industry representatives. The meeting will be held at the Coast Guard Air Station in Port Angeles.

Among the agenda items to be discussed with the Soviet fishing fleet representatives will be: conservation of rockfish and salmon off the Northwest coast; placing U.S. observers aboard Soviet fishing vessels, gear conflicts, and communications with Soviet vessels.

Fort Worden grand opening announced

A festival of music, dancing, recreation activities, salmon barbecue, lumberjack breakfast, and colorful antique and artistic displays will herald the official opening of Fort Worden State Park Conference Center on the weekend of August 18 and 19.

State Parks Director Charles H. Odegaard said today the community of Port Townsend is finalizing plans for a full two-day program of activities celebrating the occasion.

"We originally planned a brief traditional dedication ceremony for 3 p.m., Sunday, August 19," he said. "Port Townsend's enthusiasm for the project has snowballed, however, to the point where we now have our Sunday dedication ceremony pre-faced by a jam-packed program of activities beginning at noon on Saturday, all designed to indicate the broad scope of group use the Conference Center is able to accommodate."

Participating groups will include the Port Townsend Chamber of Commerce, the State Arts Commission, Makah Indians, the Seattle Youth Symphony Orchestra, the Fort Worden Summer Dance Lab, and the National Guard. Displays and demonstrations will be staged by antique car clubs, scuba divers, artists and artisans and a variety of musical performers including organ soloists, a string quartet, a barber shop quartet, a dance band, and marching bands.

Odegaard said the project coordinator for the event is State Parks Consultant Larry Otos, who is working with Ann Ross and Marilyn Watson, co-chairmen of the dedication committee. and other representatives of the Port Townsend community on development of the activity-filled two-day schedule.

Pointing out that the entire program is open to the public, Otos said many activities will be conducted simultaneously in various areas of the 338-acre state park. Visitors may select events of special interest or enjoy the entire program by moving from one area to another throughout the schedule from noon to midnight on Saturday and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Sunday.

Commenting on the Conference Center's importance, Odegaard noted that the new facility is unique, combining a full range of state park recreational facilities with additional accommodations for seminars, workshops and other types of group use.

Originally built in the late 1890's, the harbor defense installation was designed as a separate community complete with school, chapel and theatre. The handsome Victorian houses and dormitory halls are being renovated for public use with funds provided by the 1975 Legislature. Construction of a 50-unit campground is nearing completion in the beach area.

While most of the grand opening activities are free of charge, there will be nominal fees for certain events. Tickets purchased in advance will be needed for the two meals to be served at the Conference Center during the weekend.

Stressing the "first-come, first-served" policy on ticket sales, Otos urged early purchase by mail. Prices are $4 for adults, $2.40 for children, for an authentic Indian salmon bake prepared and served by the Makahs, 2 p.m. to 6 p.m., Saturday; $2 for adults, $1.20 for children, for a lumberjack breakfast Sunday morning. Tickets for both meals may be obtained by sending a check to the Fort Worden Dedication Committee, Fort Worden State Park, Fort Townsend, Washington 98568.

OSGOOD ASSISTANT CASHIER

The Forks State Bank has had an addition to its staff. Gary Osgood has filled the position of cashier-personnel supervisor. Mr. Osgood was born in Bremerton and lived in Port Orchard most of his life. He attended the University of Puget Sound and graduated in 1968 with a B. A. in economics. He moved to Portland and received intensive training with the First National Bank. After six months Mr. Osgood became installment loan officer and a member of the official staff for the bank.

He remained in this position for two years but in his words became disillusioned in working for a large bank. Besides living in a large city he disliked the "politicizing" that underlines most big bank operations.

Mr. Osgood left banking for a while and tried his hand at self-operations in the insurance business. This pursuit he found taxing and unrewarding and he soon decided to return to banking.

Always preferring small town life, he discovered the opening in the Forks State Bank and immediately accepted the job he calls an "unique position due to the size of the bank."

At present he has caught all duties of consumer type loans, relationships with dealers and personnel affairs. He feels "large organizations have their drawbacks" and he, his wife Dede and their son Wayne expect to enjoy their future in Forks and the new association with Forks State Bank.

DNR closes fire hazard areas
"Dry weather and a serious fire threat have forced the Department of Natural Resources to close certain hazardous areas unless continuing fire weather in the fall would require extending them or moderating weather conditions would permit earlier suspension of the closures.

Posters advising of the closures will be posted on the roads entering the areas. All persons are excluded from these areas except those present on bona fide industrial operations, public works and residents of the area. No one legally entering a closed area shall be permitted to use it for recreational purposes. It will be the responsibility of everyone going into the forest to keep informed of the closures by contacting a DNR representative for the area. This may be done by dialing the telephone operator and asking for ZENITH 7000. It is a toll-free call. All forest users are reminded that private landowners have rights to post their properties. When so marked no entry should be made without first receiving permission from the landowner. BUY ALL YOUR OFFICE SUPPLIES AT THE FORKS FORUM, IN THE KVAC BUILDING.
