Doubting Thomases to the Contrary Notwithstanding

WORK TO COMMENCE SOON

The Port Angeles Southern Railroad Will Be Commenced March 1st—What It Means—Work for 250 Men—An Interview.

Let all doubts regarding the building to completion of the Port Angeles Southern railroad be put aside, for the enterprise is assuredly a taniable proposition.

A DEMOCRAT reporter, in an interview with one of the road officials, who is informed upon the subject, learned some facts which will prove of general interest.

Said the official: "I am aware of the amount of opposition we have received from a class of doubting people, who have never tired of throwing cold water on the enterprise by expressing their doubts upon this subject, and of course, while the opinions of such people would have but little weight with men of affairs, still they could do something to dampen the ardor with which the large majority of the people were regarding the project, and that which I will say is for their benefit that their doubts may be removed.

"It is a well known fact that there is now on deposit in Portland to the company's credit, a sufficient amount of money to guarantee the completion of the road. The survey has been made, and the road located to run over the best possible route between Port Angeles, its terminal, and the point of connection with the Union Pacific at Junction City.

"The Oregon Improvement Company, who built the Port Townsend Southern railroad, are under bonds to complete that road into Olympia by December 1st, 1892. The Port Angeles Southern will be completed about the same time, and an eastern railroad connection for Port Angeles will be obtained. Contracts have been let for the construction of every foot of the new road and now we are only waiting for fair weather to begin the work. The commencement will be made not later than March, and sooner if the weather permits.

There are now one hundred teams awaiting to be put to work upon the road, which will be the force to start the work. When the teams begin at least 250 men will be required, who, according to the company's understanding with the contractors, must be drawn from Port Angeles first and then from Clallam county, in case the city cannot supply a sufficient number.

"The Union Pacific is just about commencing a road from Port Townsend to connect with the Port Angeles Southern at the head of Discovery bay, this road will use our track from that point into Port Angeles. We will virtually have two roads when the first is completed."

To Can Fish.

Articles of incorporation of The Port Angeles Packing Company were filed in the auditor's office this week, which brings to Port Angeles another industry with a pay roll.

The amount of capital stock of the company is $50,000 divided into 500 shares and the term of its corporate existance is ten years, with rights of renewal of its corporate existance at the expiration of the term.

The incorporators are Delbert F. Clark, of Gunnison county, Colorado, Adolph Nicolai and Mary Easter, of this city.

The business of the company is that of salting, canning and packing fish, and certainly a more desirable location could not have been selected, for from this point the first hauls may be made upon the immense schools of salmon on their way up-Sound. The Port Angeles bay is also a good fishing ground all the year round.

The building is even now completed and is in readiness to receive the machinery which is expected in a short time. This plant is located near the head of the bay.

Connected by Ferry.

Mr. Lewis Levy has submitted a proposition to a number of citizens of Port Angeles which, if accepted, will establish a business connection with Victoria and prove of great benefit to both places.

Mr. Levy's proposition is, that for a bonus of one hundred dollars per month he will put on the straits a steam ferry boat comfortable and fast, to make two trips each day between Port Angeles and Victoria. The vessel will carry about thirty-five passengers.

Love for Humanity.

No one sincerely loves and honors the central figure of christianity, who does not come in line with his spirit and love humanity also. Humanity, yes, that is a comprehensive term, but in this case one less so, will not answer, and the Hebrew code of ethics, which brought the strangers, the poor, the needy, within the common brotherhood is the true code for all time. Our savior's love for us, and ours for Him, result in one inspiration, the inspiration of love for humanity. John says we love Christ because he first loved us, but that is only part of the truth, for we are able to love at all in the truest sense, only as he puts the spirit of love within us. Now this is certainly true in every vital christian experience. He truely loves not God, whom he has not seen, who loves not his brother whom he hath seen, but whoever accepts Christ, not only with the mind's assent, but with the heart's embrace, accepts also his love for humanity and will try to give that love daily expression.—From a sermon by Rev. C. E. Chase.

Changed His Bait.

Deacon Rag—My dear boy I am sorry to see you looking so depressed, you really have the appearance of a man whose last friend had just refused to negotiate a loan of two bits. Tell me what is the cause of all this melancholy, that makes even the stars stop in wonder, wounded sympathy? Has your best girl gone back on you, or have you been unfortunate in assisting to sweeten a jackpot?" Thus spake the benevolent deacon of the once flowing beard, to a sorrow laden youth, who made answer and replied:

Youth—"You've called the turn the first bet, its the girl."

Deacon—"Well my boy, when your young and tender affections have been monkeyed with to the extent to which mine have been, that particular part of your anatomy called a heart will have become calloused, and you will care not whether love's tide ebbs or flows, and remember that 'there are as good fish in the sea as has ever been taken out."

Youth—"I know that, what grieves me most is, that the fish don't bite fast enough."

MOUNTAINS AND BAY.

Exposed to the View of the Francis Street Residents.

A WILL AND A WAY

The City Council Does Good Work in Raising a Few Salaries—Democrats and Republicans to Meet in the Council Rooms.

Through the combined efforts of the settlers on the reserve in slashing the timber, that part of the city has been completely changed within a few weeks and now, in viewing the result of their labor, all must experience the highest degree of satisfaction.

Ten acres at the head of Francis street has been so well slashed that a beautiful view of the bay can be had from any lot upon it, and this absence of the tall timber opens for those living on its north side equally as fine a view of the snow covered mountains on the south. Nothing so well illustrates the remarkable results which awaits unity of action, as the success which has attended the work of the settlers upon the reserve, who have cut their own streets out of a solid and dense mass of vegetation, intelligently following the lines of the recent survey, so that the work once performed will always remain a monument to their industry. Walks have been planked leading out to the farthest confines of the tract, so that now, a Front street dude would not dim the elegant lustre of his shoes in visiting a lovely scene opened to his gaze by energy and well directed effort.

The resolutions adopted, which caused this good work to be commenced and so well finished, were not bound with a single inch of official tape of any color or kind, no board of officials made appropriations to defray expenses, but twenty-seven men said one to another, "go to, we will do it ourselves," and in a single day ten acres of the forest primeval was laid upon the ground.

Every tree that falls by the ax, adds a little to the value of all the property adjacent. It goes for improvements, with a corresponding increase in the property's market price, so that this work has not only benefited those actually engaged in it, but every resident of the city, and a vote of thanks is certainly in order.

Council Proceedings.

The city council has been giving the city good service during the week just ended. They met Friday afternoon, to which time they had adjourned, and by agreement took up the matter of the deputy marshal's appointment, confirming the appointment of C. W. Cook. The council then took up the salary ordinance. On motion the street commissioner's salary was placed at $2 50 per day. On motion of Quinn the vote by which the city clerk's salary was fixed at $50 per month was reconsidered. Moved by Peterson and seconded by McInnes that the salary of the clerk be fixed at $60 per month. Quinn moved to amend, making the salary $75 per month. This was seconded by Thompson and adopted, McInnes and Peterson voting no. On motion of Thompson the vote fixing the compensation of policemen at $50 per month was reconsidered. On motion of Thompson, seconded by Lewis, the salary was made $60 per month, McInnes and Peterson voting no. The ordinance was then put on its final passage and carried.

Peterson created considerable amusement by requesting the council to give the use of the council chamber to the Republican party for a club convention on the evening of February 2d. He asked that a Democrat make such a motion, promising to reciprocate, provided the Democrats ever required such a large hall, which was doubtful. McInnes moved that the request be granted and Thompson seconded the motion. Quinn said he believed in charity and out of such he would vote for the motion however, he thought it a one-sided game as there was no possibility of the Democrats ever getting even, as the chamber was a dozen or two times too small to be of any use to the Democratic party. The motion was unanimously carried. McInnes then asked for the hall for the Democrats on the evening of January 30th. Peterson moved that it be granted and looked around for a second. There being no other republican on the board Bell had to come to his assistance and second the motion, which was carried.

R. C. Wilson's resignation as city attorney was then taken up and on motion accepted. On motion of McInnes, seconded by Thompson, a rising vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Wilson, for the careful, faithful and able manner in which he had filled the office.

Nominations were then declared in order for city attorney. Nominations resulted as follows: George C. Hatch, by Lewis; R. C. Wilson, by McInnes, H. B. Wilson, by Quinn. The ballots were, for G. C. Hatch, Peterson, Lewis—2; for R. C. Wilson, McInnes, Thompson—2; for H. B. Wilson, Bell, Metcalfe, Quinn—3. On the third ballot Hatch received the unanimous vote of the council. Lewis as a committee of one waited on Mr. Hatch and notified him of his election.

Charles Tillman was elected street commissioner and Gallup janitor. Clerk Humphries' bond was approved. Lewis Levy made a proposition on behalf of a Tacoma firm to float the city bonds for $6,000 commission, the said firm to furnish the lithographing, printing and expenses of examination as to legality.

On Saturday the council met at 2:30, all being present.

The fire, light and water committee recommended that that the city lease the building on Laurel street north of the post office for the fire department and appoint a fire warden, recommending Chief J. F. Merrit for the latter position. The matter was referred to the Ways and Means committee.

The bond and oath of G. C. Hatch, as city attorney, was filed and approved.

A communication from B. F. Schwartz was read, asking an option for forty days on the city bonds, offering to sell the bonds at 90 per cent. or more, for 2 per cent commission and pay all expenses himself, or to give the city $40,000 for the issue.

On motion of Quinn the proposition of Levy, submited Friday, was accepted.

An order from the superior court, asking that the city pay to G. W. Meagher, receiver, $4,290.20, or to appear in court January 29 to show cause why the city should not do so, was read and on motion the city attorney was authorized to appear for the city in the matter.

The ordinance committee was instructed to prepare an ordinance reducing the saloon license to $300 per year and providing for the closing of saloons at 11 o'clock.

The clerk was instructed, on motion of Lewis, to return all the bids for the planking of the Front street grade to the bidders.

Street committee was authorized to employ two competent engineers for the purpose of examining the calculations as to the number of logs and their measurement, in feet, as made by ex-City Engineer Williams, which were placed in Front and First street cribs by the Burlingame Co. The engineers to certify to the actual figures so found by them, explain the errors, if any, how they were made, and also examine into the plans and specifications, for said cribs, and certify to the same. Official bond and oath of office of J. B. Spears, Assessor, approved.

Notice to Democrats.

The Central Democratic club of Clallam county will meet at the Council room on Saturday evening Jan. 30th at 7:30 p. m., for the purpose of transacting such business as may come before it. All persons wishing to join said club are invited to attend.

W. BRUMFIELD, Secretary. D. MCINNES, President.

DON'T BE DECEIVED

The Republican press of the country seem greatly exercised over the Democratic policy of attacking the McKinley tariff in detail. They are attempting to make people think that the Democrats are trying to deceive them as to their real policy.

Do not deceive yourselves brethren. The Democratic party does not wish to deceive anybody. Their position on McKinleyism is well and clearly defined. They are as much in earnest in their opposition to it as the people who drove its authors from Congress are. The attack in detail has been adopted because it offers itself as the only way of accomplishing anything. Give the Democrats control of all the branches of the government and a general revision bill will be passed in three months.

As it is, there is not the shadow of a possibility of either a repeal of the McKinley bill or the passage of any kind of a general tariff bill that would relieve the people. The Democratic party is one of works. Their representatives were sent to Congress to do something They realize the position and are in earnest. Under the plan by them adopted. it seems possible to remove some of the most burdensome provisions of the most burdensome tariff our country ever had. The Democrats in Congress would not be worthy of the Democracy if they did not make the most of this opportunity.

The Democratic party does not mean to be misunderstood. It intends to be counted as standing out clearly and definitely for a radical reduction of our robber tariff. They intend to pass a general tariff revision bill, materially reducing the present worse than war tariff—and they will do it as soon as there is a possibility of its passing the Senate, and it will be signed by a Democratic president, too.

STAND FIRM.

The Chilian problem has assumed aggravating proportions during the present week, as will be seen by our news columns.

For the time being every official in Washington has ceased to be a partisan. Democrats and Republicans are acting, not as politicians, but as patriotic American citizens. This is a fact that should make every loyal heart pulsate with laudable pride.

The time for bickering has ceased. Not a backward step should be taken. Our position as a nation has been assumed—let it be maintained even at the cost of war. Time was, in the controversy, when our government made mistakes. Mr. Egan should have been recalled at Balmaceda's fall. Even later, opportunity was given to recall him without sacrificing national honor. But now, that the administration, admitedly with good excuse, has elected to stand by him, let us all put aside party prejudices and give the administration our undivided support.

We have ideas materially differing on financial and interstate questions, but we are all, Democrats, Republicans, Alliance or Prohibitionists, Americans, and are glad of it. When America's honor is assailed we are all assailed. Although war should be the last resort, we must not hesitate at even it, when it appears to be the only alternative to a sacrifice of national pride. Let old Kentucky's motto be our national watchword: "United we stand. divided we fall."

A MISCONCEPTION.

The Times has been requested to take a stand against the constitutional provision prohibiting the alien ownership of reality in this state, but, while it tacitly admits that it does not agree with the soundness or propriety of the policy, it feels itself. "like every other loyal American," bound by an unwritten oath not only to support the constitution, but "to respect and defend" it.

This is a new light in which to to place ideal citizenship.

While THE DEMOCRAT believes firmly in a constitutional government and believes that the provisions of the constitution should be strictly adhered to, and that it is the duty of every citizen to support the officers of the law in carrying them out, it believes it no less the bounden duty of everyone to raise his voice against an unwise constitutional provision and in favor of its repeal or an amendment. To do otherwise would be to obstruct progress. Our constitutional delegates were human. They were falible. Again, the people are the supreme law makers and they should be the first to demand a change when a change is desirable. This has been the policy of all true Americans. The fifteen amendments to our national constitution stand as fifteen monuments of progression in this line. Who is there who does not love our constitution more on account of its amendments than on account of its original declarations?

These amendments would never have been, had every "loyal American" acted pursuant to the law laid down by the Times.

THE DEMOCRAT deems it its duty to point out, as the occasion arises, unjust or unwise provisos of not only the state constitution, but the national as well, and to suggest and advocate amendments to them.

CONGRESS.

Republicans who complain at what they are pleased to call the "parsimony" of the Democratic House of Representatives should not forget that the present Congress is following in the wake of Reed's billion dollar circus. The conditions and circumstances are much different from what they were two years ago. When Tom Reed marshaled his greedy hosts then, they found a cash surplus, handed down by a Democratic administration, of more than $100,000,000 in the national treasury. But it had been said a "suplus was easier handled than a deficiency." How pertinent this remark appeals to the present Congress!

Mr. Reed's horde of treasury looters handled the surplus. After they had been driven from the public crib by an outraged people, the present Congress takes up the work mid changed conditions. The $100,000,000 has been spent with the nations two years income. Sinking and other funds, that had been held in reserve to protect the nation's credit, have been placed in the general fund and spent. Everything that Secretary Foster could estimate that would not be used for a few years to come, was likewise treated, and all spent. Moreover, $30,000,000 of last year's appropriations are yet unpaid. Is it not time to call a halt? Would not a good business man, under like circumstances, say it is time to go easy? Is it a wonder that the people grew weary of Mr, Reed's vultures?

Then again, this depleted treasury is not all. The last Congress passed a bill which, while increasing taxation, reduced the government's revenue. Probably realizing that they would be asked to abdicate, this unholy Congress fastened upon us a McKinley bill that raises the tax the people have to pay, by increasing the cost of articles of necessity, but, at the same time, decreases the public revenue; the increased tax going to their "protected" political henchmen.

In the face of these facts, Mr. Holman and his colleagues are doing only what is expected of them. They are faithfully carrying out the policy for which they were elected.

LAST Sunday Rev. C. E. Chase suggested that those who attend the Congregational church next Sunday evening bring books for the free reading room. This will be a practical way of giving a worthy enterprise assistance. and that just at the right time. Almost every one can spare a book or two, which would be much appreciated by those who visit the reading room and we hope the plan proposed will result in the collection of a fair start toward a good library.

THE DEMOCRAT gives a true account of the present status of the Port Angeles Southern Railroad in this issue. This is the principal project Port Angeles now has on the tapis, and it is gratifying to note how handsomely it is developing into something tangible. Work will be commenced on this road early in March and with it will begin an era of prosperity for Clallam county and Port Angeles.

DURING these times that try man's mettle, the "Southern brigadiers" are showing that they are all that phrophet's have said of them. They are all patriots. Breckenridge, Blount, McCreary—all in line giving the administration the willing support of loyal hearts.

THE representative from Maryland with his absolutely prohibitory Chinese bill may be said to have put a Stump in the way of the Mongolian which he can't beat around.

DEMOCRATS have shown themselves to be patriots rather than partisans. The Democratic Senate of Iowa has passed resolutions commending and endorsing the president's Chilian message.

SENATOR PALMER announces himself "for Cleveland first, last and all the time." The grand old Senator is a man of principle and not of men. His position is endorsed by nine out of every ten Western Democrats.

EVERY Democrat should make it a point to be present at the Club meeting in the Council Chambers to-morrow evening.

THERE is no doubt but that the Hotel Angeles will be in operation in this city before fall if the bonus is raised. Raise it.

THE city council acted wisely in fixing fair salaries for the city officers. Nothing is made by half paying employes.

Go to the war with Dennis.

NEWS AND COMMENT.

Chili, oh, Chili.

In his ultimatum regarding the Chilian affair the President says he feels compelled to stand by the terms of Assistant Secretary Wharton's instructions to Minister Egan, given October 23, and insists upon an apology and reparation.

The second subject is the Matta circular note of December 13. The Chilian government is informed that this note is offensive to the President and other United States officers, and unless it is promptly withdrawn and the language disavowed by the Chilian government in an equally public form, Minister Egan will ask for passports, and diplomatic relations between the countries will cease.

The third subject is the recall of Mr. Egan, which the President says can not now be considered.

The message was sent to Congress last Tuesday.

[When the general ignorance and intense pride of the Chilians is considered, it is not likely that they will either withdraw the Matta circular or disavow the language or sentiment embodied by it, in which case, Mr. Egan will demand his passports, and Chilian Minister Montt will receive his from the government, and war is virtually declared.

The gravity of the situation has not yet dawned upon the Chilian public, as only vague rumors have gained circulation in Valparaise and Santiago and the real danger is not known.]

Judge Advocate General William B. Remy, who was at the head of the inquiry at San Francisco, to investigate into the attack upon the sailors of the Baltimore, says: "The testimony shows conclusively that the attack upon the men of the Baltimore was a premeditated affair, with outbreakes in different parts of the city, at one and the same time, and in accordance with the warning received during the day by the men. The men were not drunk, being afraid to drink, knowing that they must keep their wits about them in the face of the threatened attack. Many of the men, being cautioned against danger, donned citizens' clothes and passed unharmed through the mob. It was only those in the clothes of American man-of-war's men who were mobbed, showing that the attack was made because of their nationality,"

[The result of this inquiry is the foundation upon which this government has, through its president, issued its ultimatum, and demands such redress as shall be consistent with our national honor. There is probably not a man in the United States who does not take this insult home to himself, and feels that he is personally wronged; that his own manhood has received a thrust which can only be atoned by war. So general is this felling, that if the government finally declares war, the first call will be responded to by millions.

General Maybry urged Graza's father-in-law to us his influence to have the revolutionist surrender to the United States troops.

Now, if the General had besought Graza's mother-in-law to use her influence with the rebelious leader, he certainly would have surrendered at the utterance of the first persuasive word, but maybe, the United States General does not know how persuadingly a mother-in-law persuades.]

It is claimed by prominent Americans of Sonora, Texas, that a war with Mexico is inevitable,

In which case, let us be thankful, that Texas can and will protect the national dignity.

Chili is willing to purchase peace by paying an indemnity, but apologize—hardly.

An apology would so humiliate the little country that a convulsive throb would shake every foot of soil from end one to the other of its string like shape.

The National Womans Christian Temperance Union, with a membership of 200,000 believes in peace on earth, and petitioned the president to use his influence to bring about a settlement with Chili without war, suggesting arbitration.

Well, well, has it indeed, come to this? Let us all, who used to be men, don petticoats, and telegraph Chili that her "sandy wins" or her "bluff is good" and that hereafter our fighting will be done with hair pins, plucked from the tresses of the W. C. T. U., who in the meantime are requested to study that characteristic of the Roman mother, which made the name Roman synonymous with master. Great Scotland! What are we going to do when the seal question reaches a climax?

It was learned from an undisputed source by a correspondent of the Telegraph, that orders had been issued by the war department to transport immediately to the Pacific coast, for land defense, twelve 8-inch, four 10-inch and two 4-inch guns, of which two will probably come to Puget Sound.

Great guns! What makes 'em send us so many?

A Small Concession.

Chili acknowledged that the Matta circular note was offensive, and orders it withdrawn but says nothing about apology, reparation, or indemnity of any kind, and while the general aspect of affairs is a trifle more peaceful, still, the most active preparations for war are being carried out by the United States. The steamship Ohio, instead of having been pressed into service as a transport, has been taken to Boston, where she will be converted into a floating machine repair shop. The steamship Earnwell left Baltimore with a cargo of coal, ostensibly for the West Indies, but it has since been learned that her destination is Montevideo, where her coal will be received by the white squadron. The steamship Reedsburg of the same line left January 15th on the same errand.

The Presidente Pinto at Havre, and the Captain Pratt, at Toulon are nearly ready for sea, and it is thought that were these vessels actually in service, Chili would not have conceded even as much as she has.

To Control Influenza.

A prominent medical journal declares that influenza is infictious, even in its earliest stages, and enjoins the isolation of the sufferers and the disinfection of the room and furniture.

Great distress is laid upon the need of warm woolen clothing, wholesome and easily assimilated food avoiding exposure, abstinence from alcoholic drinks and general care for the tone of the system. Never attempt to fight the disease, but to give up and go to nursing.

THE PHYSICIAN'S BILL.

EDITOR DEMOCRAT.—As much argument and abusive comment has lately been indulged in by certain parties, residents of Port Angeles, concerning "The infernal haste of our city physicians in presenting their bills"—after professional services have been rendered—I feel called upon to say a few words in connection with just how we feel about it, and herewith beg leave to submit the

PLATFORM UPON WHICH I STAND,

As a rule, the physician who values his time and advice is the man who is appreciated!

He who sells himself for nothing generally gets all he is worth.

He who gives his professional services for half-prices, when patients are able to pay a reasonable fee, receives therefor much more than his services would bring him in the market.

A community never values a man at a a higher figure than he values himself.

He who works for love (?) may gain the reputation of a "good Samaritan," but "good Samaritans" are not all good physicians.

No greater mistake was eyer made than to impress the community that doctors are poor business men. Straightforwardness, promptness and firmness are elements by which a man's qualifications are determined.

Put off the presentation of your bill for a year, and the patient will conclude that your services were worth but little, AND THAT YOU KNEW IT.

Never attempt to build up a practice in a community by charges below the "usual fee." If you do, you will regret it in time.

A physician's bill is a debt of honor. Bankruptcy cannot affect the obligation. The grocer, dry goods merchant may be "put off"—but the physician is more than tea and sugar; coffee and calico. He attends in all seasons and all hours; he adds his sympathies and interests; he bears a part of the anxieties in the trying moments, and judiciously advises, at all times, in pain and in peril.

The true business man charges for his services and collects his bills. To such, a patient will say; "Here, doctor, is the amount of your claim. I thank you for your kindness and attention"

The poor and impecunious, we have always with us. It is often cruel to exact or accept pay from them.

PHYSICIAN.

PROTECTION.

EDITOR DEMOCRAT:

Sir—There is a question I would like some Republican statesman to answer, while they are blowing for protection. Now, as inventions are being made every day, and as we are likely to have aerial navigation in the future, where then will they have the custom houses?

Give us free trade. It is folly to talk of protection to the American laborer. We need no protection. Justice is what we want.

Protection is unnatural. It is not liberty. Let every man make, buy and sell where he pleases. Anything to the contrary is unnatural, unjust, wrong, and should be abolished.

Why keep up a paid lot of drones for this big humbug, protection?

I think most laboring men are beginning to realize that it is a fraud.

It protects a class of men to get good salary for doing nothing in the way of value for the government.

IN THE COURTS.

Grindings of the Superior Court During the Week—New Cases—Probate Notes.

CIVIL DEPARTMENT.

The Superior court has got down to business, consequently the "Greenleaf" has been the attraction of the hour.

Saturday morning case No. 174, George W. Travers vs. Robert W. Travers, was called for trial. This is a suit for wages by one brother against another.

The plaintiff alleges that he was employed to look out for his brother's farm and stock and to do other work on the place; claiming in the neighborhood of $400.00. The defendant claims his brother was a visitor and had actually boarded with him for twenty months and that he did not engage him to do work. Judge Lane represented the plaintiff and Benton Embree the defendant. A great number of witnesses were sworn and a deal of conflicting testimony adduced. The arguements were made Monday afternoon. Both attorneys made an able address. Judge McClinton gave a comprehensive charge to the jury, which took the case at six o'clock. After being out all night, the jury, Tuesday morning came in and asked to be discharged, claiming that they could not agree. The court did as requested. The case will probably be compromised. A comotion was created in court Tuesday morning before the jury was discharged, by the court notifying the jury that an affidavit, charging H. C. Miller with contempt, by stating to juryman W. A. Daniels, who was not on the case, that the plaintiff had no case. Mr. Miller was directed to answer to the affidavit, Thursday at 2 o'clock. The case was heard at that time and Miller found to be in contempt and fined the amount of his fees, $21.20, and costs.

Thursday morning the case of S. G. Morse vs. W. B. Gould, sheriff, was taken up. This is a case where the sheriff took charge of the Abbey saloon property on an attachment served out by Keilschamer Brothers, of Seattle against George T. Miller. Miller had previously sold to S. G. Morse, who commenced a replevin action. The jury found a verdict for Sheriff Gould.

Today the case of Nellie McLaughlin vs. Walter J. Dyke for damages for breach of promise will be tried. It is expected that the case will be racy.

The motion of the plaintiff in the case of the Bancroft Whitney Co. vs. Lillie B. Gay and Will R. Gay, on promissory note, to strike out the defendant's answer was granted.

A NEW CASE.

The following case has been commenced in the Superior court:

225. Charles F. Merritt vs. Anna J. Merritt. Action for divorce. Plaintiff alleges that they were intermarried in Wyoming, 1884, and that defendant deserted plaintiff without cause.

PROBATE MATTERS.

Carl Larsen made affidavit, charging J. J. Leadbetter with insanity Wednesday. The court issued a writ for the arrest and set the trial for Thursday at 3 o'clock. The deputy sheriff did not have Leadbetter in court Thursday when it adjourned, so the case went over. It will come up as soon as he arrives. W. K. Clark has been appointed administrator of the estate of Thomas Hume, deceased.

Nettie Carroll has been appointed administratix of the estate of John Carroll deceased.

The property of George C. Jenkins, consisting of lots in St. Paul and equity in two lots on the Angeles reservation, has been set apart for the use of his family.

IN THE SWIM.

What Society in Port Angeles Finds to Do—Dances and Parties.

The third hop of the Angeles Club occured at the Opera House last Friday, the regular evening for these occasions, and lacked none of the enjoyment which characterized the first and second.

The attendance was larger than at either of the other two, but still the hall was not crowded. The floor was in good condition, having received an application of French chalk. No sound came from the light steps of the waltzers as they glided over the polished surface, reveling in the poetry of motion, the sighs which escaped their lips as the last note died away, told how they would fain have had just a measure more.

An Evening Party.

The residence of Judge S. P. Carusi last Friday evening presented a scene of festivity, which proved to be one of the most pleasant affairs ever given in the city.

The guests arrived at 8:30, when the challenge was proclaimed for a tilt at cards, after varied success, in which a preponderance of good fortune could not be claimed by either of the partners, Mr. Al Meagher delighted the company by a recitation in Siwash of "The Crab's Lamentation to a Clam." Mr. Meagher said his audience put in "selahs" at the most mourniful places.

An elegant colation was served and joy reigned in the hearts of all. At 1 o'clock the guests took their departure of the host and hostess. Those assembled were: Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Carusi, Mr. and Mrs. Foster, Dr. Lewis, His Honor Norman R. Smith and Messrs. W. Smith, L. R. Cole, D. W. Bryan, E. Metcalfe, J. Bell, P. A. Meagher, John Dyke, Morris Fisher, S. Carusi and T. Aldwell.

The Angeles Whist Club.

Tuesday a party of Port Angeles whist players met in Dr. Herrick's office for the purpose of organizing a whist club. An organization was effected by electing B. F. Schwartz, president; J. W. Troy, vice-president; J. Ferres Smith, secretary, and R. A. Grimes, treasurer.

The secretary was directed to prepare a set of rules for the government of the club. The members of the club, besides the officers are: Dr. Herrick, Dr. Lewis, J. D. Hickok, Ben Smith, W. K. Clark, C. K. Humphries and Horace White. The name adopted is the Angeles Whist Club, and it promises to be a feature of the social side of Port Angeles in the near future, All lovers of the game are invited to join.

Reception at the Old Crow.

Wednesday, Jan. 27 will be remembered for a long time by the citizens of Port Angeles as having marked an event in the life of Mr. George E. Fisher, who, upon that day experienced an anniversary of his entrance upon the stage of life, and from the hospitable treatment he extended to his friends upon this occasion, all wished that many years yet might come and go ere he makes his exit, and the curtain is rung down upon the last act.

A luncheon was served from 9 until 12 o'clock upon a long table in the Old Crow, and upon the table was a splen specimen of a stuffed swan. Cold turkey, salads, cold meats, olives, sausage and any drink which the thirsty might demand were served in elegant style.

Burns' Birthday.

Robie Burns' birthday was celebrated at the residence of D. G. Munro Monday night. There was a goodly assembly of our prominent people there, The features of the evening were Scotch ballads, dances and a Scottish dinner. Toasts were drank and responded to. The occasion was one long to be remembered.

Among those present were: D. G. Monro, N. R. Smith, J. C. Dahlin, John Dahlin, Mr. Campbell and son, Mr. McLennan and David Oglivy, of Portland

A Card Party.

Miss Leona Grant entertained a few of her friends Tuesday evening. The time was spent at whist and eucre untill 11 o'clock, at which hour an apetizing luncheon was served, when the guests departed in a happy mood over an evening of pleasing enjoyment.

CLALLAM BAY Jan, 27—[Special.] The steamer Michigan left Port Townsend Jan, 21st. on her regular run to Portland, after passing out of the straits into the Pacific a terrific gale struck her which drove her into Neah Bay Jan. 25th., she left Neah Bay after the subsidance of the storm, and continued on to Portland.

The Hotel.

Mr. David Oglivy, of Portland, has been in this place during the present week looking out for the hotel project. He is pleased with the outlook. Everything is moving along handsomely.

What the fine hotel, to be built of brick from our own yards, and stone from our own vicinity, means for this place is too self-evident to mention.

It is much desired that the bonus be raised at once, as it will take a deal of time to get commenced at this building. Two kilns of brick will be necessary to start. So, everyone who will help along, should at once call at the Bank of Port Angeles, where the agreements can be found and say what he will do.

Guns the for Navy.

The navy department is gradually letting more steam into its great machine for the purpose of getting more speed in its war preparations. The main center of interest and activity is the gun foundry at the Washington City navy yard, which is depended upon to produce the fighting tools, the guns and the shells. There are enough vessels in existence that can be utilized in an emergency, but the great trouble will arise from the lack of guns. Hence every effort is being made to increase the output of the foundry. The yard is now being worked on a 12-hour system, whereas the regular service is but eight hours.

Preparations have been made to the end that it necessary the entire plant can be run for twenty-four hours without stopping by means of three shifts of men, each working eight hours. The officials at the department say that no orders have yet been given to that effect, but all is in readiness for the the establishment of the 24-hour system.

Onions vs. Diptheria.

The editor of the Scientific American suggests the following remedy for diptheria and expresses the wish that it might have sufficient trial to prove its usefulness. It is simply that raw onion be placed in a bandage and beaten to a pulp; the cloths containing the onion, juice and all, should be placed about the throat and well up under the ears. Renewal may be made as often as the mass becomes dry. In most cases noticed, the results were almost magical, deadly pain yielding in a short time to sleepy comfort.

A MEXICAN EXECUTION.

Three Men Tortured to Death for Stage Robbery.

A Mexican execution suggests savage torture more than any practice in common use by a people who claim to be civilized.

I had the misfortune of witnessing one in '89 at Torreon in the state of Durango. Being in the employ of Wells, Fargo Express Company I was sitting in the express car when I saw a procession cross the track in front of the engine. I asked the messenger what it meant, and from him learned that it was an execution.

Three men, with hands tied behind them were at the head of the party, and about two paces behind them walked twelve soldiers under the command of an officer. The soldiers while walking abreast, were separated into three squads, which at once showed that four men were to fire at each of the prisons. On the left was the officer with drawn sword, and behind them came the rabbel, some afoot, some riding a patient burro and others better mounted upon horses.

The prisoners were barefooted and bareheaded and wore only their trousers and shirts, and a look of helpless dispair that haunted me for days. More miserable men I never saw, or who seemed to be in such abject terror of the fate which awaited them..

They were so overcome with fear that in staggering on to the fatal ground of execution they leaned upon each other for support, trembling in every muscle. They well knew no swift messenger of death would be dispatched to deprive them of life, but that their bodies would be mangled, and death would come slowly.

Overcome with fear their steps faltered and they tottered on to a most cruel and lingering death. They were found guilty of robbing the Durango stage and were sentanced to be shot.

The verdict was carried out in a way to strike terror into the heart of all evil-doer as the court had directed it should.

I stood in the car door and while still pitying the poor fellows, I saw the officer step to one side, raise his sword; the file of soldiers stopped, raised their muskets to their shoulders. The prisoners walked, or rather totered on unconscious that their time had come. The sword fell and instantly twelve shots were fired, and three victims fell and writhed upon the ground with their backs broken, each having been struck by four bullets. The command was then given to turn upon the mob, who were driven in front of the soldiers back to Torreon.

The wounded offenders probably lingered many hours before death ended their sufferings, and who can tell even a part of their torture? Three days their dead bodies were allowed to lie where they fell before they were given burial.

From the same messenger I afterward learned that one of the men had managed to drag himself to a small creek about a hundred yards from the spot where he fell and had put an end to his misery by drowning himself, holding his face under water.

JUAN DE BURRO.

WHIST.

King of Games—Some Suggestions to the Beginners.

The American Whist League was formed in Milwaukee, where a Whist Convention was held from April 14 to 17, 1891, but, as it was the first Congress it was decided not to take any action at that time in regard to rules of play. So, as there is no recognized Whist League in existance composed of all the best known Whist Clubs in the United States, we are at present without an authority. "Cavendish" (Henry Jones,) is the English authority, and is extensively quotedin America, so are Pole, Pettes Triot and Ames.

The writer, after carefully perusing "Cavendish," Pole, and Pettrs, would suggest a few of their rules, and a number of "leads," which he has found to be very effective, and favored by a number of scientific players, both English and American.

1. Each player has the privilege of shuffling the cards once, the dealer reserving the final shuffle.

2. In cutting, if the dealer exposes any card, a fresh shuffle can be demanded and must be granted.

3. Cards must rest on the table till the trump is turned.

4. If any player plays out of his turn, that card is an "exposed" card, and his partner cannot play a card of that suit, unless it be at the option of their opponents, who have the privilege of calling for any suit to be led.

5. Where a player refuses suit, having the same in his hand, if his opponents claim such misplay, the moment his hand develops the fact, they are entitled to either a fresh deal, or to add three tricks to what they have at the end of the hand. But if such player discovers his mistake, before the trick is gathered in and turned, he can rectify it by paying only the penalty prescribed in No. 4.

6. Where a trick is partially played it is not allowable to look at the previous one, till all have played.

First, or commonly called the original lead, should be from the player's strong suit. A strong suit is one that contains a large number of trumps, (4 or more) or several high cards, of one suit. The object is to exhaust that suit in the other hands, when accomplished, the cards which remain in the leader's hand (called long cards,) are often of greater value than really belong to them, for when lead they compell opponents to trump or take a trick. And where trumps are out, the player who has the lead, takes as many tricks as he has long cards. A player should not lead a card of a suit, of which he has but the one, for there is a great risk of his sacrificing his partner's strength and of leaving the long cards without opponents.

With Ace and four others, lead Ace, it might be trumped second lead.

Ace, king, queen,—Lead king, queen.

Ace, king, and small card,—Lead king, ace.

Ace, queen, knave, — Lead ace, queen.

King, queen, knave, and more than one small card,—Lead, King.

King, queen, knave, and one small card,—Lead knave.

King, queen, small card—Lead king.

King, knave, ten and nine,—Lead, nine.

King, knave, ten and small,—Lead ten.

Queen, knave, ten,—Lead queen.

Knave, ten. nine,—Lead knave.

Whist played ten points is called long whist; seven points is short whist. A "rubber" is the best two games out of three.

Rather Fishy.

Henrik Dahl, of Aalesund, was a reader and follower of Darwin. Wishing to apply his theory of the limit of adaptability of a special of the enviroment, he procured a herring from a neighboring fjord and carried it home in a tub of sea water. He renewed the water daily for some time and gradually reduced the quantity, with so little inconveniance to the herring, that he concluded that the fish might in time, learn to breath air undilated with water, like the cat and man. It turned out as he expected, and the water was finally turned out of the tub, never to be replaced. Henrik next removed the fish from the tub and placed it upon the ground, where it flopped about very awkerdly at first, but soon learned to move freely and rapidly. In a little while the herring was able to follow its master without difficulty, and then it became his constant companion about the streets of the city. On a certain unfortunate day Henrik had occasion to cross a dilapitated bridge which spaned an arm of the harbor; the herring, coming gracefully along, heedless of danger now and again springing at the ephemera, for which it had acquired an especial fondness, missed its footing, sliped through a crack into the water beneath—and was drowned!

Ploughing With Dynamite.

Subsoil ploughing with dynamite is one of the new methods in the South, and it is said to be equal to the process of trenching used by the market gardeners to loosen the earth to a depth of two or three feet and allow the absorbation of a good deal of water for sustaining vegetation during a drought. The invent drills holes two or three feet deep and five feet apart, making 1,600 to the acre. In each he puts an explosive, and after tamping it, discharges the whole number being connected with a wire leading to a battery. In a recent experiment the explosive used was one-fourth of a small-sized dynamite cartridge, with about one ounce of Judson powder. The surface of the ground appeared to be lifted 2 or 3 feet, a few small clods being thrown to the height of a house. It was broken to the depth of 30 inches at the points of the explosion and sideways for a part of the distance between the holes.

"Are you aware of any mitigating circumstance in your case?" asked Justice Lyon the other day of a colored citizen charged with stealing a coat.

"Yes, sah; lots ob 'em. If I had time, Jedge, I would talk fer a week with you on that subject."

"If you know of any mitigating circumstances, please state it."

"Yes, sah; I'll tell you ob one right now, sah. How easy it would have been for me to bring my family inter disgrace and misery, sah, by stealing dat coat. But I didn't do it, sah. I jess remain single. I nebber married, sah. Anudder mitigatin' circumstance am—"

"SECTION 5. The several county sealers shall try and prove all weights and measures, scales and beams, when requested so to do, and when the same are found or made to conform to the legal standards, they shall seal and mark such weights and measures with a seal to be kept by them for that purpose."

"Sec. 6 The state and county sealers of weights and measures in this state shall charge for testing or sealing any beam or scale the sum of fifty cents: PROVIDED, That no charge shall be made for testing or sealing weights for counter, gold or apothecary scales, and for each and every weight or measure ten cents; for sealing and marking liquid and dry measures, if the same be a gallon or more, ten cents; if less than a gallon, five cents. They shall also be entitled to a reasonable compensation for making such weights and measures conform to the standards established by this act."

"Sec, 8. That any person in this state who shall, after thirty days subsequent to published notice from the county sealer of weights and measures, as provided in section four of the act, be found to be using any false or fraudulent beam, scale, weight or measure, and who shall fail or neglect, on written notice of the same from any person aggreived, or in any way cognizant thereof, to have said imperfect beam, scale, weight or measure duly inspected, and by proper authority adjusted and sealed, or who shall use the same scale, weight or measure subsequent to said notice without correction or adjustment, as provided in this act, any person so offending shall be liable to a action in law and penalty of twenty-five dollars for each and every offense, to be paid into the county fund."

"Sec. 10. In the sale of fruits, vegetables and all other articles, sold by heaped measure, one thousand two hundred and eighty-two (1,282) cubic inches shall constitute a half bushel."

Sec. 11. The hundred-weight shall consist of one hundred pounds, and twenty such hundred-weights shall constitute a ton."

"Sec. 12. Whenever any of the following articles shall be contracted for or sold or delivered, and no special contract or agreement shall be made to the contrary, the weight per bushel shall be as follows to-wit; Wheat, sixty-six pounds; oats, thirty-six pounds; barley, forty-eight pounds; buckwheat, forty-two pounds; dried apples or peaches, twenty-eight pounds; potatoes, sixty pounds; green apples or pears, forty-five pounds; flax, fifty-six pounds."

"Sec. 13. Whoever, in buying any of the articles mentioned in the preceding section shall take any greater number of pounds thereof to the bushel, or in selling any of said articles shall give any less number of pounds thereof to the bushel than is allowed by said section, with intent to gain advantage thereby, except when expressly authorized so to do by special contract or agreement to that effect, shall be liable to the party injured in double the amount of the property so wrongfully taken or not given, and ten dollars in addition thereto, to be recovered in any court or competent jurisdiction."

Now, therefore, I, B. John Baker, auditor of Clallam county, State of Washington, do hereby, in pursuance with the above act, give due notice that I am prepared to inspect and seal all weights and measures according to law, and would respectfully call the attention of all persons using weights and measures of the penalty [see section 8] for their non-compliance thereto.
