Special French cabinet meeting this evening; De Gaulle to address nation as crisis mounts

BULLETIN

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle said tonight he has given the French army a direct command to restore order in Algeria.

By ANDREW BOROWIEC

ALGIERS (AP)—French insurgents virtually took over Algiers today in their battle to keep Algeria French.

The Moslem rebel leadership, fighting for independence, mustered its forces for a showdown.

In between the two contending forces, President Charles de Gaulle strove to make his prestige felt and regain control of a situation that threatens his government and its tenuous hold on this strategic North African area.

The rebel government-in-exile called via Radio Tunis for Moslems in the 500,000-man French army to desert to the nationalist guerrilla forces. It urged the nine million Moslem civilians, wooed by both De Gaulle and his rightist French foes, to sit tight for the present.

PROTECT PEOPLE

At the same time the nationalist command, pursuing its five-year war for independence from France, ordered all rebel army units to remain vigilant "in case there is need to protect the civil population of Algiers, or in case there is an attack by the insurgents."

But the insurgents were uncontested masters in Algiers, the capital, with the departure of De Gaulle's two key men in Algeria for a countryside command post to get away from the immediate pressure of the uprising.

LEFT CITY

The representatives are Delegate General Paul Delouvrier, the civil administrator, and Gen. Maurice Challe, the military commander in chief. They were first reported to be at Blida, 25 miles southwest of the city. Today word circulated that they had set up headquarters at a French air base near Raghaia, five miles closer to Algiers.

An official of the City Council announced over Radio Algiers that "the people' had occupied City Hall.

Thursday night Delouvrier, ostensibly with De Gaulle's backing, called on the Moslems to rise and demonstrate their faith in De Gaulle and their support of his policy to let all Algerians eventually decide their own future.

WILL FIGHT

The insurgents, who insist that Algeria remain forever French, declared through a spokesman: "We will fight until victory."

Paratroops remained in the capital — still under a state of siege— but they made no attempt to prevent the insurgents from strengthening their barricades.

The French-language Press of Algiers, freed from censorship, openly supported the insurgents' demands for the immediate proclamation of Algeria as a French province without giving the Moslems a chance to vote.

PATRIOTISM

Delouvrier, in an emotional broadcast Thursday, appealed to the insurgents not to take any action that might bring the secession of Algeria from France or the fall of De Gaulle's Fifth Republic.

Armed territorials—citizens enrolled as militia who have joined the insurgents — roamed the city and seemed to have taken over City Hall.

Algiers newspapers published appeals to the half-million residents of the capital and suburbs to give money and gifts to help the uprising.

Blue-uniformed riot police held the white, modernistic government building towering over the city from Forum Hill—the scene of the riot last Sunday when the uprising started with the killing of 26 persons. The insurgents so far have made no attempt to take over the building.

SUPPORT DE GAULLE

The two major leaders of the revolt—Joseph Ortiz, a cafe owner and Pierre Lagaillarde, a reserve paratrooper and parliamentary deputy—rejected Delouvrier's impassioned appeal to cease resistance and spare France a major tragedy.

They criticized Delouvrier's call to Moslems to demonstrate in support of De Gaulle as an appeal to riot against Europeans.

De Gaulle seemed setting the stage for announcement of a major move in the crisis when he addresses the nation tonight.

The austere 69-year-old general kept his own counsel but has already declared he has no intention of bowing to the demands for a modification of his policy to ultimately give Algerians the right to decide their own political future.

Water closes Highway 9A at Pysht; many slides in area

High water in the Pysht Valley is over Highway 9A and that area is closed to traffic by the State Highway Department.

The steady rainfall the past 24 hours, recorded as 1.79 inches in Port Angeles, and back up of a high tide near the Pysht River mouth, has forced the water over the highway, the maintenance department of the State Highway Department announces.

Signs on the highway, east and west of the closed area, were posted this morning.

The Port Angeles Fire Department reported the local rainfall as two inches from 5 p.m. Thursday to 11 a. m. today.

A log jam at the 9A highway bridge over the Clallam River is being removed by highway department workers assisted by men from the Clallam Honor Camp. The highway there is not closed.

A ROCK AND mud slide on 9A, near the Falls Creek bridge at Sekiu caused posting of the highway there for one way traffic.

Several other minor slides are reported on Highway 101 and 9A. One slide is at the eastern end of Lake Sutherland and on the western end of the Morse Creek Hill. Both are on Highway 101 and are being removed by maintenance crews.

Culverts and ditches are running full all along the line, east and west of Port Angeles, the maintainance department reports.

Rain has fallen steadily more than 12 hours. The rainfall here, according to the fire department observatory, was 1.79 inches between 5 p.m. Thursday and 9 a. m. today.

NO SLIDES ARE reported on Clallam County highways but at places there is considerable water on highway surfaces, but none of them are closed to traffic, the county highway department reports.

Because of excessive rainfall and muddy road surfaces, contractors stopped work Thursday afternoon on the contract on the west end of the 101 State highway revision at Lake Sutherland.

MEN AT THE fire station here had to change the chart they use to measure rainfall because the little red pencil mark ran off the paper this morning. The paper disc, which usually lasts 24 hours, had to be renewed six and one half hours early today, Fire Chief Clay Wolverton said.

"Since early this morning firemen have been busy rushing to aid homeowners with flooded basements. We didn't get to one place soon enough and the furnace motor was under water before we started to pump out the basement."

The chief said two pumps were kept busy all morning. Most of the flooding occurred in areas where the sewers are still hooked up to the regular drainage system.

"IN AREAS where the new storm sewers are operating they drain off the surplus water and residents report no trouble," Wolverton said.

City Manager M. W. Slankard said all the street crews are out working making sure drains aren't plugged with dead leaves. In some cases they are channeling water running down hillsides so puddles don't develop in low places.

"With rain like this, Port Angeles can expect the water to be a little murky for a few days," Slankard said.

Prospects dim for skiing in ridge area

Prospects for skiing on Hurricane Ridge Saturday appeared as dark as the fog shrouding the area early this morning.

During Thursday night, three inches of heavy, wet snow fell in the ski area and it was raining there this morning. A heavy fog covered the ridge.

According to the Olympic National Park headquarters, the temperature stood at 36 early today with a 40 to 50 mph wind blowing. Thursday a 70 mph wind blasted across the area at times.

The last two miles of the road has icy spots and chains are required.

The Heart o' the Hills gate opens at 9 a. m. and closes at 5 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday. The ski tow closes operations at 4 p.m.

Synagogue hit by bomber

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — A bomb smashed 51 windows Thursday night in a new synagogue which earlier this month was marred by a painted swastika.

No one was injured by the explosion at Kehilath Israel Temple. The synagogue caretakers, Mr. and Mrs. Kapers Butler, were in their quarters in the building but the bomb didn't damage their apartment.

The explosion was heard over a two-mile radius of southeast Kansas City. It did not damage any other buildings.

Police Lt. Col. William M. Canaday said officers questioned a dozen teen-aged boys Thursday about the painting of a swastika on the temple Jan. 18.

The boys were picked up after a student at Southeast High School, near the synagogue, was found to have a nazi uniform, complete with swastika armbands and a dagger with the initials "SS" on it. Canaday said all of the boys found to have a Nazi uniform, complete with swastika armbands and a dagger with the initials "SS" on it. Canaday said all of the boys had similar armbands and claimed membership in the Nordic Reich Youth Party.

"We lectured them and let them go," said Canaday. "Now we're going to pick them up again."

FIREMEN LOSE

PITTSBURG Kan. (AP) — Vandals burned down an abandoned house Thursday night that the Pittsburg Fire Department had been saving for just that purpose.

The firemen planned to burn it as part of a demonstration for the annual meeting of the Kansas Firemen's Assn. in April.

Two missing off Westport as fish boat sinks

WESTPORT, Wash. (AP)—Tradition was tempered with tragedy for a fishing boat and two of its three crewmen on the storm-tossed Pacific Ocean off the southwest Washington coast Thursday night.

The fishermen stayed in dangerous, turbulent waters to aid four Coast Guardsmen in a disabled patrol boat. The fishing boat sank. Two of its crewmen vanished into the churning sea.

The drama began when the fishing vessel Barbara Lee called for help to get through huge swells at the narrow entrance to Grays Harbor. All day, winds up to 55 miles an hour had raked the coast.

The Coast Guard sent the 52-foot patrol boat Invincible to guide the fishing boat across the bar. It was a familiar procedure; the Grays Harbor Bar is treacherous for small craft at all times.

Suddenly, a monstrous wave knocked the Invincible bottomside up. The boat slowly righted, but its negines were dead.

The 30-foot Barbara Lee stood by in the rain and wind. It threw a line aboard the Invincible. The line broke. It tried to attach another.

Then a mountaon of water engulfed the Barbara Lee. First the fishing boat's smokestack and antenna were swept away; then it sank. The Invincible got one fisherman, Harold Pernula of Cordova, Alaska, aboard. The others, Skipper Robert Bolam and crewman Ted Sigardson, both of Westport, were nowhere to be seen.

Two other Coast Guard boats prowled the stormy waters in the hope that the men might be found bobbing about in life jackets. The Coast Guard sent an airplane, but foul weather forced it back. The sheriff's office ordered the beach patrolled in case the men were washed ashore.

US-Japan security pact under fire from Russia and allies

By KENNETH ISHII

TOKYO (AP)—The Soviet Union is trying harder than ever to smash Japan's new security treaty with the United States. Red China, East Germany, North Viet Nam and North Korea joined the campaign today.

Only 24 hours after a hot exchange between Moscow and Tokyo over the pact, a 17-member Japanese delegation left for Moscow today to negotiate a new salmon fishing agreement with the Soviets. The negotiations present a new opportunity for Soviet pressure on the Japanese.

Japan wants an 80,000-ton quota for her fishermen in Soviet-controlled North Pacific waters for the season of 1960. The Soviets probably will knock that figure down. In five years they have reduced the quota from 163,278 tons to 85,000 tons in 1959.

FEARS MILITARISM

Red China's Foreign Minister Chen Yi, in an article written for the Feb. 1 issue for Peiping's magazine "Red Flag,' said the new U.S.-Japan treaty "marks the revival of Japanese militarism."

East German Deputy Premier Heinrich Rau now visiting North Viet Nam, in a joint communique with his hosts denounced "American imperialistic attempts to turn Japan into a military base for aggression."

North Korea's Pyongyang radio repeated "mass meetings condemning the recently concluded Japan - U.S. military alliance treaty" are being held in factories and other establishments.

MUTUAL AID

The U. S. - Japanese treaty signed Jan. 19 provides for mutual assistance in an attack on Japan. It is still to be ratified by the Japanese Parliament and is a fierce political issue here. But the Soviet campaign to stir up anti-American sentiment may backfire.

A Soviet note published Thursday charged that ratification of the treaty would mean that Japan loses its independence and would "perpetuate actual occupation.' The Soviet Union said she would not return the Habomais and Shikotan islands unless American military bases in Japan are dismantled.

DEFEND POSITION

The Japanese Foreign Office issued a statement calling the Soviet threat "unjustified intervention' in Japan's internal affairs. It accused the Soviet Union of reducing to a "scrap of paper' the 1956 agreement to return the islands upon conclusion of a peace teaty.

No observer here seriously thinks the Soviet threat will prevent ratification of the U.S.-Japan treaty. Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi's party has a sufficient parliamentary majority to vote the treaty through.

Civil Defense alerted to face possible floods

OLYMPIA (AP) — Civil Defense organizations in Snohomish and King counties were ordered on the alert Friday in the face of possible flood danger.

State Civil Defense Director Charles Ralls said rivers in both counties were rising as the result of 4½ inches of rain in the past week and a 6,000 foot freezing level.

Heavy rains and winds were forecast for Friday and Saturday, he added.

The two counties were the hardest hit last November and December when flood waters poured down from the Cascades.

Tourists spend $205 million in state in 1959

ABERDEEN (AP) — Four and a half million out-of-state tourists spent 205 million dollars in Washington last year, Gov. Rosellini announced Friday.

He said convention and vacation travel by Washington residents would boost the figure to almost 400 million dollars.

In a speech prepared for the Aberdeen Chamber of Commerce, Rosellini said the state anticipates a 10 per cent increase in the number of conventions this year and an increase in the tourist business of between 7 and 10 per cent.

FATHER'S FOOTSTEPS

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP) — James Watts, 18, was scheduled to undergo surgery for a ruptured spinal disc.

A few days before the operation, his father, Lory Watts, 41, felt acute pain in his back. A doctor told him he had the same affliction as his son.

As they wheeled the younger Watts out of the operating room Thursday his father waved at him —on the way in.

Both are recovering.

Say assassination plot against Trujillo smashed by dictator

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Rafael L. Trujillo was believed here today to have successfully smashed a widespread plot to assassinate him.

Reports that were fragmentary, but from well qualified sources, said the Dominican strongman's police arrested perhaps a thousand or more Dominicans about a week ago.

A conflicting version came Thursday night from the Dominican Republic, where Trujillo holds a control on news dispatches.

Col. John Abbes Garcia of the Dominican Military Intelligence Service denounced reports of mass arrests as "maliciously twisted." He said 15 to 20 persons were being held in connection with an alleged effort by a Cuban to help them make bombs and organize Communist type cells.

SERIOUS

The version reaching Washington without Trujillo censorship told of a conspiracy apparently regarded by the Dominican government as one of the most serious in the 30 years of Trujillo's rule.

Those arrested were said to have included many from prominent families in the small Caribbean country. Many were reported jailed in a special detention camp built outside Ciudad Trujillo, the capital city. The police were said to have arrested persons in other cities besides the capital and to have found hidden arms.

There was no evidence reported here of involvement of Americans, Cubans or other outsiders. Dominican police activity was said to have been stepped up in weeks immediately preceding the mass arrests.

The State Department declined comment.

Garcia identified the Cuban in his account as Antonio Cesar Fabre de la Guardia, who he said entered the Society of Jesus (Jesuits) but had never been ordained.

STUDENTS

He said the Cuban shuttled between Ciudad Trujillo, Havana and Miami to teach theological students to make bombs which were to be used in blowing up buildings in Ciudad Trujillo, and perhaps in Miami too. He said 200 bombs were seized.

Garcia said the Cuban was allowed to leave the country by agreement with high church authorities. He said one of two Spanish priests involved returned to Spain, while two Dominican priests also involved were returned to their regular duties after reprimands from church officials.

Asian flu has spread, but deaths decline

WASHINGTON (AP) — Localized influenza outbreaks are continuing, but there was no great change in cases during the past week, the Public Health Service reported today.

Asian flu has now been confirmed in 14 states and the District of Columbia. One isolation of Type B influenza virus in Louisiana was reported last week by Dr. W. J. Mogabgab of Tulane University, New Orleans.

The 14 states in which Asian flu has been confirmed are California, Ohio, Illinois, Pennsylvania, Mississippi, Missouri, Michigan, Iowa, Texas, Hawaii, Washington, Kansas, Minnesota and Colorado.

Deaths from influenza and pneumonia in 108 large cities during the week of Jan. 23 exceeded by about 10 per cent such deaths in the preceding week. Pittsburgh, Detroit, Los Angeles and San Diego showed substantial increases.

New artificial kidney will run without constant watching

By RENNIE TAYLOR
Associated Press Science Writer

CARMEL, Calif. (AP) — A life saving artificial kidney which can operate continuously without human monitoring was introduced today to the medical profession.

In the three months since its development the instrument has helped to save the lives of six out of eight persons who were in serious condition because of kidney failure, its originators said.

MAN SAVED

In one instance it has been credited with saving a hunter whose abdomen was torn open by an accidental gun shot wound. It ran uninterruptedly for 14 days to bring the man through a crisis.

The man was very close to death from loss of blood, mangled kidneys and peritonitis, but he is now over the initial crisis although still in a hospital and his bill to date is about $15,000 said Dr. B. H. Scriber, of the University of Washington Medical School at Seattle.

Dr. Scribner described the new instrument to the Western Society for Clinical Research. The instrument was developed by Dr. Scriber and a colleague, Dr. J. E. Z. Caner.

Most artificial kidneys operate only for a few hours, then have to be re-serviced. They also require blood transfusions and the attendance of doctors and technicians as well as nurses. The new instrument can keep going with only an occasional checkup by a nurse, Dr. Scriber said

To operate the new instrument an artery in the arm is tapped and a tube inserted in it. This tube leads through the freezing compartment of a household type refrigerator. Blood flowing through this tube is cooled to the point where clotting and bacterial inflection are prevented. The cooling also prevents destruction of platelets, the disc - shaped blood particles which promote natural clotting to heal wounds.

BLOOD PURIFIED

The blood is cleared of its poison elements by passing through a cellophane envelope submerged in a bath containing water and an assortment of chemicals. Then purified blood is piped back into the system through a vein in the arm.

More experimenting is needed before instruments like this can be built for general use, but thus far no drawback has developed to prevent eventually their wide utilization, Dr. Scriber said.

If hubby doesn't understand, don't fret — he can't

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Lady, don't be depressed because your husband doesn't understand you.

He can't, according to Dr. Wendell Johnson, prominent semanticist at the University of Iowa.

And you can't understand him.

"The war between the sexes is intensified, moreover, by the complaints of men who feel that women should understand them better than they do, and vice versa," Johnson declared Thursday night.

EVEN PEACE

Speaking before Temple University's 17th annual Reading Institue banquet, Johnson said "Peace —and even love—comes when it does with the realization by both of them that neither is going to be understood by the other except on different levels of abstracting, and so only in a limited sense."

"To put it in simple terms," Johnson explained later in an interview, "a man can't understand his wife completely because he can't have her feelings."

JUST DIFFERENT

Further, Johnson added, a limitation of understanding due to built-in errors in our language causes prejudices.

Johnson, author of the book, "People in Quandaries," said, "If you tell me a teenager is delinquent and then a lawyer asks me what the boy does I wouldn't know. That is because you only told me how you classify him and not what it was you classified. The point is instead of talking about him you talked about yourself. This happens all the time.

NEW ANGLE

"Rather than tell the how, what, when and where of the incident, people talk more about themselves and their judgment.

"Most people have an accustomed level of vagueness and find it hard and even painful to be descriptive."

Johnson said we should train ourselves to be aware of what we say. He added this can be accomplished by asking ourselves three questions—what do you mean, how do you know (evidence) and the eventual effects of what we say.

Connecticut prisoners had radio network

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP) —State Prison officials here have uncovered a secret radio network, run by and for prisoners, that was used to keep check on guards' movements.

The network's tiny transmitters sent voice signals to every inmate's radio, but the weak beams did not penetrate the thick prison walls.

None of the authorities here knew about the network until prisoners staged a riot Jan. 6. In the ensuing shakedown, the transmitters were discovered.

Warden Mark S. Richmond says that the transmitters were found inside radios belonging to certain prisoners. He said other prisoners who owned radios could pick up the broadcasts. "And almost every inmate had his own radio through which he could listen,' the warden said.

The prison has 750 inmates.

Richmond said the network was used chiefly for keeping tabs on guards. If a prisoner were doing something wrong, and a guard headed his way, the prisoner would be informed via the network.

The Jan. 6 uprising lasted a few hours. Although no one was seriously injured, the building was damaged.

Sweatshirt strike brings soup to students

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP)—The sweat-shirt rebellion against Drury College's dress-for-dinner edict gained momentum Wednesday night. Outside agitators, armed with french bread and soup, joyously joined the revolt.

Undergraduates from Southwest Missouri State College, across town from Drury, set up a "come as you are" soup line on the Drury campus.

'FOREIGN AID'

Attracted by signs reading "have soup, will feed Drury in need"; and "SMS foreign aid," more than 200 Drury rebels spurned the steak and potatoes served in the college dining hall to partake of the soup line's spare fare.

Uniform of the day was sweat shirts, sweaters and bobby sox.

The dining hall served only 12 diners and most of them were faculty members of the little privately endowed school. Tuesday night, the dining hall had served 62. Its normal quota is 250.

The student strike began Monday. At issue is the refusal of Dr. James Findlay, president of Drury, to relax the requirement that students who eat in the dining hall must dress for dinner. Men must wear coats and ties. Women must wear heels and hose.

'PART OF EDUCATION'

In past years, the rule has been relaxed during the week of final examinations. This year, Dr. Findlay ordered it enforced. He explained that dressing for dinner is part of Drury's "educational plan to teach something about the social amenities."

Most of Drury's 700 students live off campus and are not involved in the revolt.

Four men exposed to radiation, now are back at work

LOS ALAMOS, N. M. (AP)—Four men exposed to nuclear radiation Jan. 15 at this atomic laboratory town are back at work, and an official spokesman says they were unharmed.

A large jug holding 38 grams of plutonium in nitric acid broke. At the time, the spokesman said the plutonium was "enough to contaminate the room." The four, whose names were withheld, were in the room but "a good distance away, which was fortunate," he said.

Three of the men were scientists, the other a technician.

January thaw extending to money market

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The traditional January thaw in the money market is easing some of the fears today that tight money will mean still higher interest rates and maybe a slowdown in the business boom.

More worrisome perhaps is the statement by the head of the largest steel company that steel stocks are being rebuilt again. Some think that this restocking, when completed, will mark the boundaries of the boom as we now know it.

When the inventory splurge is over, the auto companies will be expected to carry the ball. Sales are reported picking up. If an old-fashioned spurt of car buying comes this spring, everyone will feel better.

EXPECT RISE

Some bankers say that a growing demand for loans will force the interest rates up again. They think now it will come after the Federal Reserve Board holds off for a few weeks to let the U.S. Treasury refund some securities coming due.

But the chairman of New York City's largest bank, John J. McCloy of Chase Manhattan, now sees a chance that the economy in general and financial conditions in particular will prove stable enough to let the bank rates stay where they are.

Traditionally the money market eases in January because of the return of money withdrawn for the Christmas trade.

SMALL BACKLOG

High operating schedules of most steel mills have taken care of many customers' current needs. Roger M. Boough, chairman of U.S. Steel, thinks that the first three months of the year will see as much as 20 per cent of steel shipments going into depleted steel inventories.

Once they are rebuilt to safe proportions, steel ordering will return to scales determined by the sale of customers' products.

Inventory rebuilding has been the chief artificial factor in the current boom, which otherwise has been founded mainly on consumer demand.

Speculation as to when the big boom will taper off has been given as one reason for weakness in the stock market since the first of the year.

Auto makers continue to push production—and order steel to do the job—as they strive to build up dealers' inventories.

What they are watching now is sales. They picked up in the middle of January, perhaps because dealers had better selections to offer customers. But dealers' inventories continue to climb.

No kick to kissing after you're 50 says Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Kissing has become a lost art in America.

It began to decline the year we turned 40 and has plunged downhill rapidly ever since.

Every man's kissing history is roughly the same. It begins as an ordeal, gradually becomes a pleasure and a joy, and winds up as a form of feminine insult.

The ordeal time is when you are an infant. Then you are at the mercy of every loving, moist-mouthed aunt.

Kissing isn't much better when you first start school. Big girls in kindergarten develop a mania for chasing smaller boys, throwing them on the ground and kissing them. The whole business seems pretty silly to the boy.

TIME GOES BY

But by the time a fellow gets into high school he develops a sudden interest in the matter. He discovers kissing is not only bearable, it can become a form of mutual fun.

Through college and up to his 40th birthday a fellow enjoys kissing as a manly art — particularly when strange girls at cocktail parties come up and buss him unexpectedly — because this makes his wife so jealous.

But by the time he is 45 the situation has changed dramatically.

LOSES KICK

He overhears his wife whispering to some sweet young thing at a party: "Why don't you go up and surprise my husband with a kiss? The poor thing. He doesn't have much fun anymore.'

Even worse are the wives of friends who in the old days used to like to lure you into the pantry at neighborhood parties for a bit of innocent necking. After 45 they become lips that pass in the night.

As you step up to kiss them, fondly remembering the days of yore, they turn at the last moment and give you a quick absent-minded peck on the cheek.

AN INSULT

That is the worst insult of all to a middle-aged man —to be kissed on the cheek by another man's middle-aged wife.

Here you are certainly entitled to revenge.

If she is smaller than you, stand on tiptoe so that she kisses you on your Adam's apple instead of your cheek.

But no matter what you do, you might as well face up to it: Kissing has become a lost art in America —at least as far as you can determine.

Ah, well, why mourn? After all, as every man over 45 knows only too well, the world is being taken over by the amateurs, in every field.

MISSOURI DEMOS

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — Missouri Democrats, with something extra at stake, are making their annual rally here today and Saturday the biggest in years.

The extra incentive is the chance that Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) will win the Democratic presidential nomination.

Missouri party workers are trying to build as big a boom as possible behind the senator.

One person they will try to impress is Gov. David L. Lawrence of Pennsylvania, who will lead an 81-vote delegation to the National Democratic Convention.

Gov. Lawrence will be the speaker for Saturday night's Jackson Day dinner, which is expected to draw 2,000 persons.

UGN annual meeting speaker 'looks forward;' new officers elected

(From Evening News Jan. 27)

A retired labor leader took a "look forward" and "looked on the other side of the Clallam County United Good Neighbor financial report" in his address here Tuesday night at the annual UGN meeting.

In "looking on the other side," John Sherman, a former international vice president of the Pulp, Sulphite and Papermill Workers Union, reviewed the history of social security in the nation and advocated the establishment of a community center for retired workers, "those in their twilight years."

He said hundreds of men retired at 65 then died in a few months simply because they did not have anything to do.

HE INDICATED the problem is a growing one since the nation now has 15 million persons on social security retirement with another five million due to go on the rolls within two years.

Turning to the other end of the age scale, Sherman said "a lot of people say the youth of today is worse than when we were boys. Certainly we have a lot of bad boys and girls too, but we have thousands and thousands who are good."

He noted he traveled three-quarters of a million miles in his 23 years as a union official and talked to persons in all walks of life.

FROM THESE travels and conversations he concludes: "We need to give youth direction and talk to them as men."

He indicated a better home life would aid in solving some of the youth problems of today. Home life should be one of the backgrounds of UGN, he declared.

Turning to familiar ground, Sherman said he was "a little disappointed" to see only two or three labor men in the audience. "There should be labor men here," he said, "not labor leaders but workers from the mills."

ENLARGING ON THAT theme, he said the UGN is not for businessmen alone. "Every man should have a part in the UGN drive."

Sherman emphasized the business-labor partnership even more. He recalled the tough depression years when "I did not have the money to buy my two daughters a toy for Christmas." That is not true today, he continued, and labor should take a greater part in the community.

"Every man in business and industry should work together," he said in concluding his address.

UGN PRESIDENT NORMAN T. Olson was master of ceremonies for the dinner meeting. He estimated more than 100 persons were in attendance.

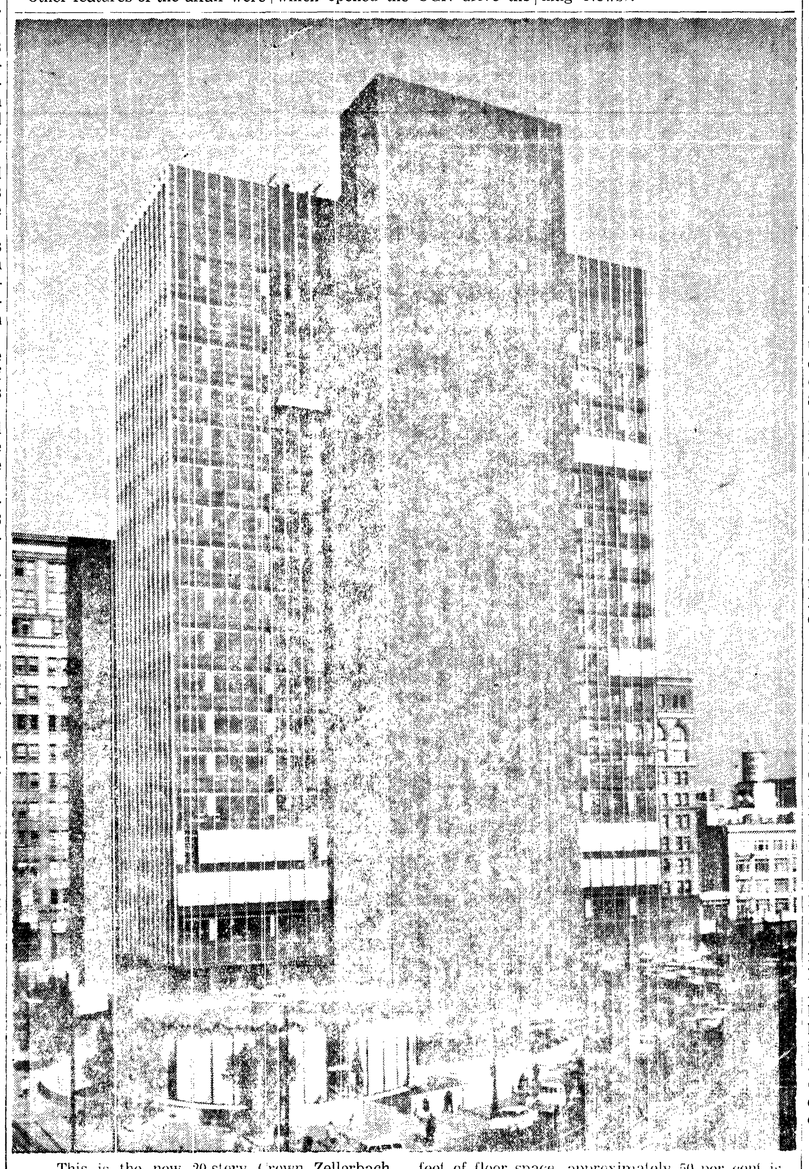
Following the invocation by Major Gust Rydell of the Salvation Army, Olson introduced the officers and guests attending. He also recognized the delegations representing the UGN agencies who were present at the meeting.

Other features of the affair were the current financial report presented by Douglas Baker, presentation of citations by Drive Chairman Bern Crowell, the annual evaluation by F. W. Flynn and the nominations committee report by Chairman John B. Gray.

SHOWING OF THE movies of the Port Angeles-Victoria Skiathon which opened the UGN drive the latter part of September concluded the meeting. Johnnie Sweatt handled the commentary on the movie.

The directors met briefly and elected the slate of new officers following the dinner meeting.

(More details on the meeting will appear in Thursday's Evening News).



This is the new 20-story Crown Zellerbach Corporation Building at 1 Bush St., San Francisco, dedicated Jan. 5. Of the 225,000 square feet of floor space, approximately 50 per cent is occupied by offices for the 720 Crown Zellerbach headquarters employes.

Crown Z dedicates new building in San Francisco

(From Evening News Jan. 16)

The new Crown Zellerbach Corp. 20-story headquarters building at One Bush St., San Francisco was dedicated Jan. 5.

Among corporation officers participating in the ceremony was J. D. Zellerbach, chairman of the board and U. S. Ambassador to Italy. He was on leave for the event.

During postwar days the corporation's Sansome St., headquarters personnel grew to 720 and many departments had to be located in other buildings in the vicinity.

Clearing of the 1 1-3 acre wedge-shaped site started in July, 1956. Excavation was completed in October, 1957. The 720 Crown Zellerbach employes moved in Nov. 30, 1959.

The building itself covers only about one third of the site with the balance landscaped.

The American Trust Company office is 70 feet in diameter at the corner of Sansome and Market Sts. There are 23 trees on the site, most of them fully grown. Along Sansome St., there is a bronze statue and an abstract mural 44 feet long and nine feet high. Statues are in the entrance corridor and art work is located about the building.

A concrete bridge with brown ceramic tile flooring leads from Bush St., to the teak-railed outer lobby of the building.

Exterior of the building is of glass, aluminum and mosaic tile. The main office tower contains 2 2-3 acres of glass.

The two-story garages beneath the buildinf acommodates more than 150 cars.

Construction is steel-frame, completely fireproof and air conditioned.

The service core has been placed outside the rectangular glass office tower in a "T" plan. It removes the elevators and all earthbound facilities from the office tower proper but provides them conveniently adjacent to it.

The building has approximately 255,000 square feet of office space or 15,000 square feet per floor. Approximately 50 per cent of the floor space is used by Crown Zellerbach headquarters employes. The balance is rental space.

MINING DEVICE

Charleston, W. Va. — Continuous mining machines cut and load coal in a single operation. Single types have been developed that are capable of producing two to five tons of coal a minute.

Maintenance requires half of park funds

(From Evening News Jan. 26)

Maintenance of roads, trails, buildings and utilities will require nearly half of the $803,588 programmed for Olympic National Park during fiscal 1961, Senators Warren G. Magnuson and Henry M. Jackson, both D., Wash., reported today.

Largest new construction outlay is planned for Kalaloch Campground where more than $50,000 will be spent to extend the water and sewage system, provide comfort stations and expand campground development, Senators said after conferring with National Parks Director Conrad Wirth.

Magnuson and Jackson reported that Olympic National Park, which drew 1,077,420 visitors in 1959 is programmed to receive $289,621 for management and protection, $328,667 for maintenance and rehabilitation of physical facilities during the coming fiscal year which begins July 1, 1960.

In addition to the expanded Kalaloch Campground development, the National Park Service plans these steps in the Quinault area, Senators said

Replace Howe Creek Bridge, $12,500.

Bank Protection on the North Fork Quinault Road $8,0000.

Park-wide, signs and markers costing $8,000 will go into place; trails costing $8,000 will be built on Hurricane Ridge and construction of the Crystal Creek Section of the Olympic Hot Springs Road will be undertaken at an estimated cost of $77,500.

Washington State geoducks 'planted' in Rhode Island

(From Evening News Jan. 27)

Twenty-three geoducks from the State of Washington recently were planted on two beaches on the Rhode Island coast.

News of the planting was received by D. V. Gayton of Sequim from relatives in Providence, R.I.

Enclosed with a letter was a clipping from a Providence newspaper that carried an illustrated story about the experiment.

Rhode Island beaches have clams and quahaugs that are much smaller than the geoducks.

THE BIG WESTERN geoducks (panope generosa) were secured through communications between the office of Senator Warren G. Magnuson and Rhode Island fisheries officials.

The planting was on two Rhode Island beaches where shellfish digging is prohibited. A Rhode Island official said the purpose of the planting is to attempt to establish the west coast variety in Rhode Island water.

In describing the geoduck the newspaper says it is a huge soft shell clam weighing three or four pounds or more. The meat from a geoduck is about equal in quantity to the meat of a panful of clams at a Rhode Island clambake.

"A CHECK WILL be made in the spring to see if the transplanted shellfish are still alive. An examination will be made of the clams' condition, the bottom in which they have been placed and whether they have spawned. In the fall another check will be made to see if a successful clam set has been accumulated in the transplant area," the newspaper article concludes.

Local National Guard unit returns 'home'

(From Evening News Jan. 26)

The Port Angeles National Guard unit has returned "home."

It is now housed in the same building, the 248th Coast Artillery used as an armory before going into federal service prior to World War II. The building, more recently used by the Janish Motor Co., is located in the 200 block of W. 1st St.

The present guard unit used a former dance hall at Golf Club Road and Highway 101 East as a headquarters until the unit outgrew the building.

THE INFANTRY UNIT now has 70 men with a few openings remaining.

The armory is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays and 7 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.

Return of a number of men from six months of active duty training bolstered the unit in December. The returnees are Pfc's Robert G. Aardal, Larry G. Boyd, Ronald L. Hanson, Paul J. Hopkins, Robert W. McClure, Dennis M. Phillips, Roger E. Reidel, Larry K. Suslick, Timothy T. Swegle and Charles N. Vail.

They left last June for active training at Fort Ord, Calif. There they took nine weeks of basic training, returned home for a two week leave then went back for additional training in specialist schools.

THE SCHOOLS they attended included cooks and bakers, advanced infantry combat, radio and communications and clerk and administration. Following the school training, they were sent to regular Army units to work in the positions for which they were trained.

As a part of their military obligation, they will continue to take an active part in the National Guard here.

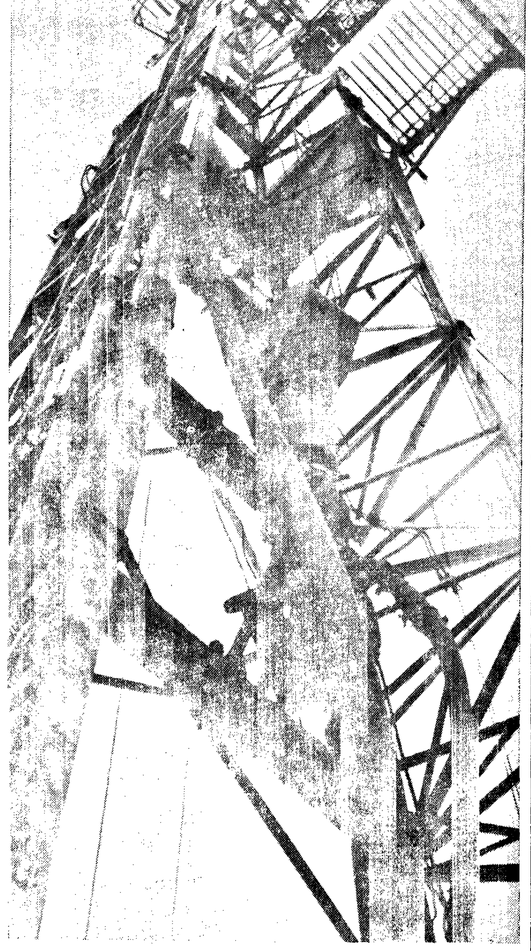
'Boss' men on the test well

At the Russell Cobb Jr., Inc. test well, known as Merrill-Ring Well No. 1, are Russell Cobb Sr. of Tulsa, Okla., left; S. N. Good, driller on the day shift, center; and Floyd Cross of Denver, Colo., superintendent for the Colorado-Wyoming Drilling Co., in charge of the rig. Cobb, operator and owner of the well in the name of the Cobb Company, went to Russia with Herbert Hoover's relief administration following World War I. He was married there and his son, Russell Cobb Jr., now head of the company, was born there. (Evening News Photo).



The derrick on the test well Russell Cobb Jr. Inc. is drilling in the Pysht area towers 176 feet into the air. The entire rig weighs 500,000 lbs. 'Work of hoodlums,' Klepper says of swastika

(From Evening News Jan. 25)

Though the people of West Germany have a deep fear that the recent outbreak of swastika-painting may be Communist inspired, there is no real evidence of this, and the painting of the hooked crosses is most likely the work of hoodlums.

This was the opinion of Hans Klepper of Rosenheim, Bavaria, when interviewed Sunday on a flying visit to Port Angeles.

"This is most likely the work of confused young people, "Klepper said, tapping his head.

HE EMPHATICALLY denied that the swastikas are the work of neo-Nazis.

"Maybe it is like the boys who painted "60" on the school auditorium here," Klepper said. "They didn't realize the troubles that arise."

He said someone has smeared a swastika on his boat building factory, with the French word "passe."

"It is obvious the painter didn't know the meaning of the word," Klepper said.

He has been in New York on a business trip, and flew west to visit Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Hoare of Lake Crescent over the weekend.

"I COULD NOT be in America without visiting Port Angeles, which always arouses the friendliest thoughts," Klepper said.

He took two hours of his short visit to discuss the student exchange program with the Friends of Rosenheim.

In his talk he again stressed the need for a working knowledge of the German language for the student going from Port Angeles to Rosenheim.

He said one point of friction of the U.S. student in Germany is the independent attitude of America's high school youths, which the Germans are not used to.

"IN GERMANY the teen-ager is still a part of the family," he said. "And is expected to share in whatever the family does. The idea of a student who chooses to go to school on a certain day or not to go to school, or do what the family does or not do it is somewhat surprising."

Klepper said it was his feeling that American youth had lost contact with adults.

AT THE SAME time he said he was grateful for the training, particularly in public speaking which his son, Fritjof, received in Port Angeles.

"This is strictly American education," he said, "but it is of the utmost importance in my son's career."

Klepper said the important thing in the exchange program was not the education, however, but the enduring friendships which will help the western community of nations live together.

Rev. William C. Wartes

'Flying Missionary' addresses Rotarians; shows color slides

(From Evening News Jan. 23)

The Rev. William C. Wartes, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Sequim, was known as the "Flying Missionary" during 1951 to 1958 when he was a Presbyterian missionary in the Arctic.

The Rev. Mr. Wartes was missionary to the Eskimos in the vast area within the Arctic Circle in Alaska and Canada. He traveled by air to the far away settlements from his base at Point Barrow. His talk was illustrated by color slides of pictures he took. He piloted planes owned by the church missionary society. The Rev. Mr. Wartes was guest speaker at the Wednesday meeting of the Rotary Club.

At one settlement, Eskimos built a church out of logs brought by log teams from timbered areas far from the community. The Eskimos did all the work with Wartes cooperating by flying in tools and other equipment.

The missionary visited both the coastal and interior natives. At one village he said every resident is a member of the Presbyterian Church.

DURING HIS TALK the Rev. Mr. Wartes wore a fur trimmed Eskimo parka, the universal garment of the people of the Arctic region.

When Eskimos are cold and tired, they skin and eat a raw fish. The fish oil warms them up and helps also to fight fatigue.

Many of the Eskimos have tape recorders. Not being able to write they make tape records that they send to friends and relatives instead of letters. They have sent recordings to the Rev. Mr. Wartes since he came to Sequim.

Eskimos are generous, fun loving people. All game killed, including whales, are shared by all the people of the village. Their homes are heated now by either oil or coal as there is very little timber for fuel.

IN THE EARLY days, all the dwellings at Point Barrow were underground. This is now changed and most of the natives live in insulated wooden dwellings.

The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Wartes have six children, one of whom was born at Point Barrow with a native midwife in attendance.

The Eskimos have a legend the missionary explained, that says that "One day a man will come with a book bringing a great treasure." They interpret the legend to mean the coming of the Bible and missionaries are welcomed.

Coldest weather he experienced at Point Barrow was 54 degrees below zero.

Program Chairman Arlen McDonald introduced the guest speaker.

PRESIDING at Wednesday's meeting, in the absence of Pres. J. E. Phillips, was Vice President Loring F. Hyde.

Honored by Hyde was A. Lex Morgan, veteran Rotarian, who is editor of the weekly Rotary bulletin.

Welcomed by Hyde was Rotarian Merton Mathewson, who has returned from Sitka, Alaska.

Rotarian Edwin A. Halberg, who has been on a trip to the East, including Chicago, brought back a Chicago Rotary Club banner as a gift to the Port Angeles club.

Oil test well hits 7,560-foot mark; special formation sought

(From Evening News Jan. 28)

The Merrill-Ring test oil well on the Pysht Tree Farm reached a depth of 7,560 feet this forenoon.

Previously the owners of the test well announced drilling would go to at least a depth of 7,500 feet where they expected to find what is known as the Blakely oil formation.

Russell Cobb, Sr., founder of the Russell Cobb Jr., company owners of the drilling site, said drilling is continuing to explore below the present depth.

Drilling of the test well started Dec. 28. Drilling contractor is the Colorado-Wyoming Drilling Co. of Denver.

Cobb, whose home is in Tulsa, Okla., has had personal supervision of the drilling operations.

Drilling site is about 50 miles west of Port Angeles, near highway 9-A northwest of Merrill-Ring headquarters on the lower Pysht River. It is southwest of Pillar Point which is west of the Pysht River mouth.

Drilling crews and company officials live in Port Angeles and commute between the city and the job each day. (More pictures of the drilling activity are on Page 5).

DO-IT-YOURSELF DESK

FRANKLIN, N. J. (AP) — If you can't buy it, build it, says the Township Committee.

The committee recently decided it needed a new, larger desk. The cost: $2,000. Too much, decided the committee.

Result: Councilman J. Willard Vliet built one, big enough and strong enough to withstand the council's most heated arguments.

The cost to the council was $200 worth of wood.

Vliet said the table would not have a glass top. "We're supposed to be nonpartisan but anything can happen."

County's UGN drive shows gain despite falling short of goal

(From Evening News Jan. 28)

Clallam County gained in last fall's United Good Neighbor fund drive although the campaign fell short of the $59,790 goal, UGN Vice President F. W. Flynn reported at the annual UGN meeting here Tuesday night.

Evaluating the UGN year, Flynn noted the fall drive attained 87.2 percent of the goal compared to 86 percent in the 1959 campaign. Although the fund drive is conducted in the fall, the funds are collected for use during the next calendar year. Thus, last fall's campaign was called the 1960 drive.

THE INCREASE amounted to $2,000 more in contributions in the 1960 effort than came in during the 1959 campaign.

Flynn also noted on a national basis, contributions in the county were above average. The national average for per capital gift in united campaigns in cities and areas of 25,000 population or less was $2.32. On a person basis Clallam County with its population of a little more than 25,000 gave $2.64 per person in the fall UGN drive.

Over the nation, cities and areas of 2,000 and less attained 91.9 percent of their goals on an average. This is above the figure reached in this county.

FLYNN CALLED for more individual effort to correct the situation. He urged UGN workers to continually talk to their friends and neighbors in an effort to convince them "UGN is the way.'

On a warning note, he said he had heard some talk of going back to the old system of individual drives. He thought this would be a "fatal step.'

He concluded with a plea for workers to continue their efforts to push UGN.

ON THE FINANCIAL SIDE, Douglas Baker reported the UGN had cash on hand totaling $15,862 as of Jan. 26. The quarterly allocation total was $11,779. Pledges receivable for 1959 are $1,721. Pledges receivable for 1960 stands at $53,216 and unpaid pledges at $24,170. The unpaid allocations figure is $35,339.

Driller

S. N. Good, driller on the day shift at the Pysht test well, hasn't missed any states since he started in the Osage oil fields near Newcastle, Wyo., when he was 15 — except Texas. "I've never worked in Texas," he said, with what sounded suspiciously like pride in his voice. Some of the states include Colorado, Oklahoma, Utah, Nevada, Nebraska, California, North Dakota, Montana and now Washington. In the picture he is holding the control rope the drillers rigged up to operate the drill from the warmth of the "doghouse." (Evening News Photo).

Wildlife Week

Under the direction of Assistant Conservation Director Stewart M. Brandborg, the National Wildlife Federation has begun distributing kits to state and local chairmen in all states for the 1960 observance of National Wildlife Week scheduled for the period March 20-26.

National Wildlife Week, sponsored annually by the Federation and its affiliates in 49 states and the District of Columbia, this year features the theme of water problems. Slogan for the 1960 observance is: "Water — Key to Your Survival."

Again serving as national honorary chairman of the observance is Walt Disney, widely-known producer of "True Life Adventure" nature films and other movies.

FEATURED IN THE WILDLIFE WEEK kits this year are the publications: "Our Growing Water Problems", by Russ Lynch, Milwaukee, Wisc., newspaperman, and "Water", a leaflet written for young folk by Bernard Frank. U. S. Senate Chaplain Frederick Brown Harris has prepared a special sermon on water conservation, a copy of which is included in the informational kit. Other materials in the kit are sample newspaper stories and editorials, radio and television spot announcements, speeches, proclamations for governmental officials, posters and a guide handbook.

"While problems of water conservation are to be highlighted during National Wildlife Week, information developed will be of continuing value," Brandborg said. "Demands from an increasing population will make water conservation of mounting importance in years to come."

Caribou captured

Canoes, shepherd's crooks and adventuresome spirit enabled a cruising crew of Canadians to capture and ear-tag caribou in the remote Northwest Territories last fall, according to the Wildlife Management Institute.

The experimental project tested the ease with which migrating caribou could be captured at water crossings in order that they could be ear-tagged to assist in a comprehensive study of the habits, movements and needs of the far-north deer. The biologists sought a technique which would enable them to mark large numbers of caribou at a relatively low cost. And the canoeists proved their worth.

Armed with shepherd's crooks, two canoe teams from the game branch, Manitoba Department of Mines and Natural Resources, and the Canadian Wildlife Service put in at known caribou water crossings and waited for action. It was slow work at first because of erratic migration, but in later days as many as eight caribou were tagged in 10 minutes. Short lengths of bright plastic ribbon were hooked on each ear tag so the marked animals could be spotted at considerable distance with the aid of field glasses. This will assist observers in their subsequent studies.

The wet action that accompanied the tagging of 112 caribou was recorded on film by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. All Canada was given an opportunity to view the film early this month when CBC featured the operation on a half-hour documentary program.

Don Fullmer defeats Akins

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Take it from middleweight champ Gene Fullmer, his kid brother Don looked good beating Virgil Akins and "he's liable to force me into early retirement.'

Don Fullmer at 20 is eight years younger than the titleholder. Don"s unanimous 10-round decision over 31-year-old but still dangerous Virgil Akins Thursday night was the first big victory of his career.

Observers said Akins fought possibly his best fight since losing the welterweight crown more than a year ago.

Fullmer weighed 155½, Akins 153.

Don warded off the danger of Akins' powerful long right by beating him to the punch with lefts. Twice he bulled Akins to the ropes to pile up points.

But Akins came on strong in the last five rounds and could have won the fight by taking the last round. But Fullmer reopened a cut over Virgil's right eye and took the last round.

Judge Fred Connell gave Fullmer a 45-44 edge, Judge Howard Hess had Don on top 48-47 and Referee Jim Parker had it 50-44, Fullmer.

The victory was Don's 17th in 20 pro fights. He lost three split decisions.

Said big brother Gene:

"I had planned to stay champ five or six years. Now it looks as if Don will be ready for the title in three years.'

Young skaters title winners

SEATTLE (AP) — A seldom-smiling little blonde from New York, a nonchalant lad from Tacoma and the Hickox kids from San Francisco picked up all the titles that were available Thursday night in the National Figure Skating Championships.

The blonde is 12-year-old Carol Stephanie Noir, champion in the novice ladies division.

The Tacoman is Bob Madden, 14, whose brilliant performance in the school figures had put him far in front, but Thursday night he barely survived the free-skating challenge of little Bobby Mecay of St. Paul to win the novice men's title.

Laurie and William Hickox, brother and sister, won the junior pairs championship.

It was a close thing for Bill, 16, and Laurie, 14. They nosed out another sister-brother pair, Vivian and Ronald Joseph of Chicago.

Night games to be increased

BOSTON (AP) — The American League, which starts play six days later than the National, will emphasize night baseball in 1960.

The AL schedule announced today by President Joe Cronin shows 293 night games, 29 more than in 1959. There will be 53 double-headers compared with 49 last season.

Baltimore will play 59 night games, Kansas City 55, Washington 45, Cleveland 35, Chicago 34, Detroit 24, New York 22 and Boston 19.

The week after the National loop starts April 12, the American campaign gets its traditional send-off at Washington Monday, April 18, where the Senators play host to Boston.

The following day, the White Sox will be at home against Kansas City, Detroit at Cleveland, Washington at Baltimore and New York at Boston.

The two All-Star games will be at Kansas City and New York, July 11 and 13 respectively.

Robertson will again try to break college scoring record

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson comes back tonight to try again to break the three-year scoring record for major college basketball players set by Furman's Frank Selvy in 1954.

This time, All - America Oscar needs but to match his season average of 36.3 to be sure of cracking the mark, left at 2,538 points when Selvy wound up his 78-game varsity career. With 2,506 points in 73 games. Oscar needs 33 to set a new three-year mark.

The Citadel, with a 10-4 record and a six-game winning streak, furnishes the Cincinnati opposition tonight, but the Bearcats and Big O will have the advantage of the home court.

Already the first collegian ever to lead the nation's major scorers both as a sophomore and junior, Robertson will also be moving in on the all-time major college scoring mark of 2,587 points established in four seasons by Dickie Hemric of Wake Forest in a career ending in 1955. He's 82 points short of breaking Hemric's mark right now.

With at least 11 games left for the Bearcats, Robertson's a cinch to break both marks if he stays healthy.

While the accountants were busy figuring all that out, 13th-ranked Toledo, St. Johns (NY) and Memphis State were scoring important victories Thursday night.

Toledo, leading the Mid-American Conference, ran its record to 12-2 with a comeback 48-46 overtime victory over touring Virginia Tech.

St. Johns' young team, starting to jell after a shaky start, ran its record to 9-5 with a 69-63 victory over Marquette at Milwaukee as Tony Jackson scored 24 points and Willie Hall 17. Memphis State, now 12-2, hit 46 per cent and outrebounded the Crimson 43-15 in a 63-37 rout of Alabama.

In other games, 28 points by Bob Goodall led Tulsa to a 78-65 victory over Arkansas, Georgetown (DC) whipped Fairfield 91-74 well-thumped Michigan (3-10) got a 65-59 victory over Washington (Mo.), and Boston College upset Massachusetts, 74-51.

Paret sure he will win again over Scott

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

Kid Paret is confident he will make it two straight over high-ranking Charley Scott tonight.

They meet in a return television (NBC 10 p.m., EST) 10-round fight at Madison Square Garden.

As a 3-1 underdog last Dec. 18, Paret, of Cuba, gave Scott a solid drubbing. Despite that victory, which included a 10th-round knockdown of the favorite, the muscular Cuban is an underdog again, this time at 7-5 odds.

"I beat him before and I will beat him again," said the Paret, 22. "I've got the style to handle him. The odds mean nothing."

The busy, ever-punching Paret refused to give the 23-year-old Philadelphian any punching room the last time. And Scott needs space to get the leverage for his flashing left hooks and sweeping rights.

It was a costly defeat for Scott. The lithe, hard-hitting welterweight contender was the No. 1 contender, winner of six straight and headed for title shot with champion Don Jordan. Now he is ranked fourth by the NBA and second by Ring. Paret, unranked before the fight, earned a No. 6 rating from the NBA and a No. 9 berth by Ring.

Scott's record is 24-10-0 including 13 knockouts. Paret's record is 29-6-2, including eight kayos.

Scoring will be by rounds.

Rudolph is golf winner

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) —The heavy but delightful burden of a record - breaking 9-under-par 63 golf score rested today on the sturdy shoulders of a newcomer to prominence — Mason Rudolph from Tennessee.

Much the same pressure was borne by another neophyte on the tough tournament tour, Allen Geiberger of California.

The pair stood out as the $20,000 San Diego Open swung into the second round at the Mission Valley Country Club.

Rudolph fractured par 36-36—72 with a 31-32—63 Thursday Geiberger came in later with a 33-31—64.

Nearest threat as play resumed was still another young pro, Dave Marr from Cedarhurst, N. Y., by way of Houston, with a 32-34—66.

Farther back were such established pros as Mike Souchak with a 67, and Art Wall Jr., Tommy Bolt and Dutch Harrison, all 68.

Brothers killed in police battle

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — A routine police chase of a speeder wound up in a blaze of gunfire here late Wednesday night in which two brothers were killed.

They were two of four occupants of the speeding automobile—Charles Brady, 23, and his brother Virgil, 18—both Negroes.

Patrolman Donald Freese was injured seriously when he was attacked and kicked by the men and his partner, Patrolman Harold Williams, suffered body cuts and bruises.

The officers said that when they forced the speeding car to the curb the driver leaped out, knocked Freese down and began kicking him.

Williams radioed for help and then fired twice at one of the men when he came at him with a knife. Patrolman William Kelly arrived on the scene and he said, fired four times and killed the other brother when he saw him attacking Williams from behind.

Young mother flustered at reply from Ike

By GORDON G. GAUSS

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — A 21-year-old mother of two children, Shirley Jean Havens, was flustered — but pleased — when President Eisenhower gave a public answer Wednesday night to a letter she wrote him.

The President addressed his speech—on a closed circuit telecast to "dinner with Ike" celebrations in 60 cities — directly to Mrs. Havens. He explained why he thinks she should register as a Republican.

'I DON'T KNOW'

Asked if she plans to follow the advice, Mrs. Havens gasped, bewildered, "I don't know."

Mrs. Havens and her husband, Williams M. Havens also 21, were sitting only a few feet from Mamie Eisenhower when they heard the President's message.

Mrs. Eisenhower arrived in Denver less than eight hours earlier to visit her ailing mother, Mrs. John S. Doud. She accompanied the President from Washington as far as Denver on his trip to Los Angeles, where he delivered his talk.

Mrs. Eisenhower arrived at the dinner 15 minutes before the closed circuit telecast. She was given a standing ovation.

Mrs. Havens and her husband were guests at the dinner of Aksel Nielsen, Denver businessman and friend of the President. Several days ago, she said, Nielsen called upon her to find out if she had been sincere when she wrote the President last November asking what political party she should join.

TRAILER HOME

Nielsen returned last Thursday, Shirley Jean explained, with a letter from the President which said he would give her a more complete answer later.

Mrs. Havens and her husband live in a trailer home in suburban Arvada. Their two children are William M., Jr., 4 years old, and Cinthia, 2½. Havens is employed by a plumbing firm.

Havens described himself to reporters as a Republican, but said neither he nor his wife have yet registered o vote.

Air-Marine News

The Port Angeles Coast Guard Air Station sent an airplane to the scene of the boat sinking at the Grays Harbor bar Thursday. Weather was stormy and the aircraft could not operate over the bar. Two aircraft are being kept in readiness at the station here to take off to assist in the search for bodies if the weather clears.

WALKOUT DELAYED

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The Writers Guild of America will extend for one week the terms of a contract with three major television networks. The agreement was to expire Saturday.

The guild had threatened to strike. About 100 writers are affected in the negotiations with National Broadcasting Co., Columbia Broadcasting System and American Broadcasting Co.

SEVERE PUNISHMENT — Michael Kramer, 8 (left), shows the criss-crossed scars which resulted from the brutal beatings his father (right) gave him for telling a lie. He has been placed in solitary confinement in the Eureka, Calif., jail on charges of inhuman punishment of a child.

Jobless funds would be critically short in another recession

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Officials fear that if another recession develops in the next few years the jobless aid funds of more than a dozen states will rapidly go bankrupt and be unable to pay idle benefits.

The reason: Reserves in all the states were nicked hard in the 1958 recession and many aren't being replenished very fast.

States regarded as being in the worst fix for reserves include Michigan, Illinois, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Maryland, West Virginia, Alaska, Delaware, Oregon, Tennessee, Connecticut, New Jersey, Minnesota and Maine.

If they ran out of money, the federal government undoubtedly would have to step in.

SHORTAGE THREATENS

The Interstate Conference of Employment Security Agencies cautioned last fall that a recession within two years "is likely to cause critical fund shotages in one fifth to one fourth of the states with presently low reserves."

The conference added that many states with low reserves have "an established practice of levying taxes at low average rates relative to their benefit costs."

President Eisenhower called attention to the problem in his Economic Message to Congress recently. He said the unemployment compensation funds of a number of states "would be in a precarious financial condition if another recession should occur in the next few years, unless their finances are improved.'

TWO STEPS

The administration has been urging (1) the states to rebuild their reserves, and (2) Congress to increase a federal emergency loan fund. This fund of about 200 million dollars has been nearly wiped out by loans to two states, Michigan and Pennsylvania.

In addition, Eisenhower again proposed that the states increase benefit amounts. "In general," he said, "benefits have lagged behind the rise in wages, and it is again recommended that the states increase their benefits to make the great majority of covered workers eligible for payments equal to at least half their regular earnings."

AVERAGE $30

Benefits, varying widely between states, averaged about $30 weekly for idle workers in 1959. Under the Eisenhower formula the benefit average would increase about a third, or to about $40 weekly.

The Labor Department says only one state, Hawaii, meets the Eisenhower benefit standard. A number of states also lag behind his recommended 26-week duration of benefits for workers unemployed that long.

UNDER MAXIMUM

The program is financed by a federal payroll tax on employers. This is nominally 3 per cent, but can be reduced according to the judgment of the individual states based on their benefit cost experience. As a result the national average payroll tax in 1959 was about 1.7 per cent of payrolls.

The average cost of benefits for all the states in the five-year period 1954-1958 was 1.9 per cent of payrolls. This compared with an average tax rate of 1.3 per cent of payrolls.

Mercer Island teenagers turn samaritan and help a friend

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — "You can't tell me there's anything wrong with these kids."

It was Vivian Gilbert, "Sandy" to the teenagers who flock to the drivein restaurant where she works on Mercer Island, speaking.

Dealing with teenagers as much as she did, Sandy had faith aplenty in the teen set, and events of the past week have justified her faith.

Last Friday Sandy's doctor said he had found a tumor. Worse, there was an ugly hint that cancer was present. A major operation was ordered.

KEPT SILENT

Miss Gilbert tried to keep the news from her teenage customers. But the secret became common knowledge as the 31-year-old Sandy's fellow employes quietly passed the word that Sandy faced major surgery, perhaps death from cancer.

"One afternoon this week I noticed the kids were coming in—groups of them—and they weren't just having a coke or a shake and then going home," Sandy said Thursday night. "They stayed on until there was quite a gathering."

MADE COLLECTION

Then Sandy's teenage customers formed a circle around her and thrust an envelope into her hand.

"It was a card with 69 signatures—and $220 in cash. I was flabbergasted."

Thursday, after the operation, Sandy got good news.

"There was no malignancy, no cancer."

How did Sandy's friends raise the money to help her?

HOT ROD BRIGADE

"We just hopped into our car and started making the rounds," said one of seven teenagers who visited Sandy at the hospital .

"We rang doorbells. We tapped merchants on Mercer Island. Some of us skipped a couple of lunches. Some gave piggy banks a hard shake. The pot just kept growing as the crowd heard about the help Sandy campaign."

Why?

"Why, we just like Sandy," said a big teenager.

And what does Sandy think?

"I think teenagers are wonderful. I stand up for them when people want to be strict with them and run them down.

"You can't tell me there's anything wrong with these kids. I think this is the most fabulous thing that has ever happened to me."

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market had another sinking spell late this afternoon. Trading was moderate.

Volume for the day was estimated at 2,800,000 shares compared with 2,630,000 Thursday.

Key stocks fell from fractions to 2 or 3 points. Wider losses occurred among more speculative issues.

General Time fell more than 4. Down about 2 were such stocks as Eastman Kodak, DuPont, Ampex, Brunswick-Balke, Zenith, Western Union and American Machine & Foundry.

American Motors, Union Carbide, Motorola and Collins Radio fell about 3 apiece.

A few stocks bucked the downtrend, either holding steady or making fractional gains. Among these was Republic Steel, Goodyear, Goodrich, United Aircraft, Raytheon, Consolidated Edison, Phelps Dodge, Homestake, Air Reduction, Southern Pacific and American Tobacco. Merck was up about a point.

U.S. government bonds declined.

Motorcade visit planned to Sappho fish farm project

In a move to promote the development of more small private salmon hatcheries in the area, the Port Angeles Yacht Club is sponsoring a motorcade to the West End Tuesday to look over such a hatchery.

The motorcade is going to the David McStotts fish farm at Sappho. A cafe operator, McStotts operates his small fish farm on Beaver Creek as a hobby.

E. B. Miller of the yacht club invites anyone interested in the project to make the trip. The motorcade will leave Swain's General Store on 1st St. at 1 p.m.

Miller says the yacht club has agreements with two area landowners to develop private hatcheries. They are R. A. Iverson in the Dungeness Valley and Thomas A. Thompson in the Salt Creek area.

Russian group starts U.S. tour

By JOHN SCALI

WASHINGTON (AP)—A delegation of 25 Russians, including the premiers of four Soviet republics, arrive today in New York for a swift-moving goodwill visit to 10 states.

The Soviet group, the biggest since Premier Nikita Khrushchev's tour last year, is scheduled to land at Idlewild Airport aboard a Soviet TU114 jet airliner this afternoon.

Heading the officials is Dmitri Polyansky, premier of the Russian Republic, a man who is also a fast rising newcomer in Communist party ranks.

TOUR COUNTRY

After a two-day stay in New York, the group is to take off in a chartered American commercial airliner for a three-week tour of factories, farms, museums and universities.

In eight states, they will be honor guests of the governors who toured the Soviet Union last June.

In New York, the visitors are to meet with Gov. Nelson Rockefeller whom Radio Moscow has repeatedly denounced as a warmonger.

MEET PRESIDENT

President Eisenhower probably will meet with them when they come to Washington Feb. 17 but State Department officials said this was not yet certain since the entire tour is being handled by the International Institute of Education, a nongovernmental organization.

The eight states they are to visit as official guests are New Jersey, West Virginia, Florida, Illinois, Colorado, Utah, Idaho and North Dakota. They also plan visits to Philadelphia and Chicago.
