LEADERS PLEASED WITH PROGRESS OF TROOP 470 BUT NEED MORE HELP

A meeting of the committee and auxiliary of Scout Troop 470 met in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wall November 12, and progress reports were given.

Reporting on transportation, Mr. Wall said with the assistance of Mrs. Oliver Charles and Mr. Ray Barbieri, scouts were being driven to and from meetings. He asked anyone interested in helping with transportation to call 457-0068.

Committee chairman, Robert James told about the growth of the troop and his desire to interest other men in this rewarding work. If anyone would like to assist part or full tme they may contact him at 457-0148.

Scout Master Ray Barbieri expressed pleasure with the progress being made and said they now have four patrols. They are working on patrol flags and have started their tenderfoot program.

Secretary Mrs. Wall said she has opened her home to afterschool scouting activities. The patrol leaders are now meeting there she said, and Mr. Wall has provided space in his workshop for their projects. Patrol leaders Gary Wall, Reid and Cliff Barbieri are now learning the Morse Code.

Retirement of Philip A. Adams Seaman Apprentice Jay R. and Melvin A. Burdick from ITT Rayonier is announced by Resident Manager John B. Gray.

Burdick's retirement follows more than thirty-seven years of continuous employment at the plant. A native of Port Angeles, he worked in the Charles Nelson mill prior to joining Rayonier on April 14, 1930. He started at Rayonier as an edgerman in the old lumber plant and was a hydraulic barker operator at the time of | retirement.

Burdick intends to do considerable commercial fishing. He and Mrs. Burdick will continue to make their home at 1122 South Cedar.

Adams, an employee of eighteen years service, was born in Tacoma, Washington. He worked for a major oil company in Oregon before moving to Port Angeles. His employment at Rayonier began on September 12, 1960 in the woodmill. He was a watchman at the time of his reirement.

Adams makes his home at 806 West 5th Street.
