Watch Meetings, Social Gatherings and Private Parties—Song Service at the Congregational Church, Sunday Evening—Services at the Churches.

Eighteen hundred and ninety three.

The old year has passed only to be recorded in the pages of history.

It has, indeed, been an eventful year. History will record as one of the most important events occuring during 1892, the triumphal and sweeping Democratic victory.

While the past few years have been a period of recuperation, of liquidation from the ill effects of intemperate and unwise speculation in real estate, it has not, by any means, been marked with inactivity in the development of the material resources of the state.

In fact the development of mineral and timber resources of the state during the past few years has been more marked, and greater than during its entire previous existence either as a territory or state.

The people of the state have little reason to contemplate the future state with apprehension or fear. The outlook is indeed, most reassuring and bright. Rich in natural resources, the development of which will bring a large population and vast wealth to the state its future is assured. And with this advancement Port Angeles and Clallam share alike in the beneficial results with other portions of the state. Favored with matchless harbor facilities, superior timber belts, and rich agricultural lands. it is capable of supporting a large and what will in years to come be a producing population.

Eighteen hundred ninety-three will be an eventful year for Port Angeles. It will certainly mark the beginning of enterprises that will advance it in years to come from a struggling town to a city of considerable commercial importance.

Without producing institutions a town will never become permanently prosperous. This much is certain, Port Angeles must have a pay roll. The sooner citizens realize this the better it will be for them.

With the new year come duties that must be performed. And a patriotic citizen will not shirk his duty. So unite and labor unceasingly for the material advancemrnt of Pore Angeles.

CHAMBERS' PARTY.

An Enjoyable Gathering on the Eve of New Year.

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Chambers, presented a most enlivening scene last Saturday evening, the occasion of a New Year's party in honor of Miss Sarah Chambers.

The evening was most delightfully spent with games, singing and other interesting amusements.

At 11:30 an excellent supper was served, a feature of the evenmg's pleasures not easily to be forgotten.

The following were the guests invited and present:

New Year's Dance.

The dance given under the auspices of the O. D. H. S. No. 3, a German organization, at Squatters' hall, was largely attended by the German citizens of the city and their friends, who with a hearty good will danced the old year out and ushered the new year in. There were at least three hundred persons in attendance, and a jollier crowd it would be quite impossible to get together. Anything that would contribute pleasure to the guests was not overlooked by the management of the affair.

Monday Evening Dance.

A pleasant social dance was given at the opera house, under the auspices of the Angeles Club, Monday evening. During the evening the club was re-organized with a large membership. The club will give dances twice each month, during the winter and early spring months.

The Williams' Party.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Williams entertained a number of friends Saturday evening at their residence on Front street. The evening was delightfuly spent with whist and conversation. At 12 o'clock a royal feast was served that was keenly relished by those present.

The following were the guests: Judge and Mrs. G. V. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Jarvis, Judge and Mrs. Burnside, Mr. and Mrs. A. Pringle, Messrs. D. S. Harvey, E. E. Seevers, L. P. Crawford.

A CLALLAM COUNTY BOY.

Senator Hutchinson of Lincoln County Renewing Acquaintances.

Port Angeles was honored last week by a visit from Hon. R. A. Hutchinson, who will represent Lincoln and Okanogan counties in the next state senate. Senator Hutchinson was an old time resident of Clallam county, and always enjoys a talk about old times with the boys down this way.

Senator Hutchinson is prominently mentioned in connection with the United States' marshalship, for which position he is recommended by the Spokane Democracy and, in fact, by eastern Washington generally. He also has many of the most prominent Democrats of the Puget Sound country.

Clallam county boys would all be pleased to see him receive the appointments as they still claim him as a Clallam county boy, and besides, the senator is one of the best men in the state. He was the most active advocate of the Fellows bill in the last legislature, and was recognized as the most active exponent of the people against the corporations in the state legislature.

AN INTERESTING TALK

About Railroads and Survey of Tide Lands.

THE HON. ALLEN WEIR

Entertains the Members of the Board of Trade With an Excellent Address Upon these Subjects—President Coolican Critizcises Delinquent Members.

The board of trade met in regular session with President Coolican in the chair. Louis R. Flowers was selected to act as secretary.

President Coolican stated that the opportunity was most auspicious to wish all members and citizens a happy New Year. The new year he believed was most promising of good results.

The board of trade had much important work before it. During its existence, extending over a period of only a few months, much, he believed, had been accomplished of material value to the city, but its work was only begun, and it was the duty of every citizen to ever be vigilant and watchful of the town's affairs. Mr. Coolican then resumed the labor of the commission sent to Washington to urge immediate action on the part of governmental officials in having favorable legislation enacted providing protection to settlers whs had established a home on the reservation since March, 1890. He deplored the apathy and indifference on the part of the members of the board of trade They were not performing their duty. He appealed to their patriotism of home. Every member had his share of the burdens to bear. Shirking that duty was not manly. There was a delinquency in membership fees that was not at all creditable to the members. The time had arrived in the history of the board of trade when it was absolutely necessary that every member should arouse himself to the demands of the hour and endeavor to meet and satify those demands. He said that he had, he believed, done his duty, from a financial standpoint. For months past his pocket book had been severely taxed to meet the obligations of the board, because delinquent members had failed to assist in such liquidation. In a strong, manly appeal he implored members to consider and ponder the subjects referred to and make an effort to discharge the devolving duties of earnest, patriotic citizens.

A motion to dispense with the regular routine business of the board prevailed.

President Coolican then stated that the board was honored with the presence of a distinguished visitor, an old pioneer citizen of Clallam, Hon. Allen Weir, secretary of state, who would speak upon the future of this favored portion of the evergreen state.

Mr. Weir was received with enthusiastic applause. He stated that he had ever felt kindly disposed toward Clallam county. The beginning years of his majority were passed in this county. Mr. Weir said that he would not discuss the material opportunities of this region from the standpoint of a speculator, a real estate boomer, but from a disinterested, dispassionate, practical point of view. This city, the speaker stated, occupies an enviable situation.

It was indeed a strategical situation as regards commerce. It would with succeding years command the commerce of these waters. With the evolution of development, there would certainly result a large, prosperous population, a population consisting largely of producers. Here you have the material resources. Utilization is the key to the situation. Railroads would certainly come to Port Angeles, because railroads always seek points affording business. But don't run away with the idea that they have got to come to Port Angeles, because they have not got to do anything of the kind. Railroads were conducted by human beings, who had right that must be respected, or they would not be apt to show any consideration to a community that attempted to override every right naturally belonging to them. You must offer material encouragement if you hope to get connection with some transcontinental system of railway. The location that offers the best inducements, the location that offers the biggest bonus, the town that promises the superior natural advantages, is the one that is going to get the railroad. What Port Angeles needs is some of Seattle energy, Seattle brains, Seattle push. Nature has done her part. It remains with citizens in your city to do the rest.

Mr. Weir then spoke upon the question of tide lands. The subject, he said, he had made a specialty of in the state constitutional convention. The tide lands of the city of Port Angeles would certainly bear an important part in the future development of this city. The people certainly had rights in the laying out and establishing of streets, alleys and public highways. The local board of tide land commissioners, whose duty it was to survey and appraise these valuable lands, should vigilantly guard and protect the interests of the people. They should lay a broad, solid foundation evidencing a clear conception of the demands of the future.

At the close of Mr. Weir's address, Mr Louis Williams offered a vote of thanks to Mr. Wr. Weir for his able and forceful address, that was unanimously acquisced in. Mr. Williams then moved that Mr. Weir be made an honorary member. The motion prevailed.

Mr. Weir arose and feelingly thanked the members for the honor conferred upon him, and stated that he would strive to merit the consideration.

In a few spirited remarks Mr. Geo. V. Smith appealed to citizens to unite and labor untiringly for the material advancement of the city. Local strife and petty bickering should be overcome, as nothing of a beneficial nature would be accomplished while opposing each other.

Capt. Ayers said that Mr. Weir had always been a tried, loyal friend of Port Augeles, and as a feeble recognition of such patriotic devotion he would deed him an acre of land.

Mr. Weir suggested that it would doubtless be a wise move on the part of the board to appoint a committee to confer with the tide land commissioners, as to the most effective method of protecting the city's interest.

Mr. Williams moved that a special committee, consisting of five members be appointed to act in the capacity outlined in the foregoing. The motion was carried.

Mayor Smith spoke of the steadfast friendship that had ever been evidenced toward Port Angeles by Mr. Weir and expressed in eulogistical terms of that gentleman's unswerving devotion to the Gate city and Clallam.

COUNTY OFFICERS' TERMS.

Question as to Commencement Date was Decided by Supreme Court.

OLYMPIA, Jan. 2.—The appeal from the decision of the Pierce county superior court in the case involving the question as to the date of commencement of county officers' terms, was filed in the supreme court on Saturday, and submitted today on briefs without argument. The following question in the case is certified to the supreme court for decision:

Does the provision of the constitution, found in section 14, of article 27 thereof, with the other sections of the constitution relating to the county officers, so far repeal an act entitled "An act to prescribe the tenure of office in the territory of Washington," approved February 4, 1886, or is such act changed or modified by the constitution or any laws of the state, so as to change the time of commencement of county officers from the first Monday in March, as provided in said act, to the second Monday in January, or is said act still in force as to the commencement of said officers' terms?

The case relates to the term of justices of the peace, but it is a test case and effects nearly all county officers. It is claimed by some authorities that the point at issue does not cover the county clerkship. The office of county clerk was created by constitution and therefore no territorial legislation fitted its term. The constitution provided that the first county clerks chosen should hold until the Second Monday in January, 1891, and until their successors were elected and qualified, but it is argued that there is no provision of the law as to the determination of the present term of county clerks, as the legislature failed to comply with the constitutional requirement to fix the term of county officers and, there being no statute limiting the terms of county clerks to two years, the same rule cannot be applied as in the cases of other officers, whose terms were fixed by the territorial statutes at two years.

The argument in the case pending in the supreme court in favor of the proposition that the new term begins in January, is that by territorial law the terms were fixed at two years, and that therefore the present officers go out two years from the date they took office. But this proposition, it is suggested, does not apply to the clerkship, as its term has never been fixed at two years. Whether there is much force in the argument or not, it is an interesting one, as it effects all counties where the old county clerk was not re-elected. The Tacoma case has been decided by the supreme court in which the opinion is heid that the term of officers terminates on January the 9th.

The regular report of the condition of the First National bank of Port Angeles, published last week, shows that the bank's affairs are in a gratifying condition and indicate a prosperous future. Under the management of President Gray and Cashier Brown the bank has steadily advanced in popularity and has won an enviable reputation for business courtesy and financial solidity.—Port Crescent Leader.

THE CONDITION AS IT IS.

A new milestone in times' progress has been passed. The age, in its march, has entered upon a new year. It is a propitious time, at this new beginning, to pause a moment in our advance toward a cherished goal, to inquire as to our condition.

THE DEMOCRAT is not of those who would have it that civilization is going from bad to worse, and that our institutions are purposely framed for the express purpose of binding the poor, hand and foot We do not believe, all things considered, that the actual conditions surrounding the people are worse now than in the past, in fact the people are without much questioning surrounded by better conditions than at any other age of time. We do not mean to imply, by this that the people themselves are in a better condition today than the people of other times, as they have outgrown the old conditions, and are in a relatively worse condition than their forefathers of the last century.

The progress and development of a nation or a people, is the result of the progress and development of the individual. Educated and enlightened individuals make an intelligent nation. Therefore, as a nation advances, we find the individuals demanding more and more from the state. When we find the people demanding more schools, we understand that they are becoming better educated, when they ask, for more liberty, either political or commercial, it is because they better understand the rights of an equal birth.

It is not presumption to assume that the general demand of the American laboring classes for relief from the burdens imposed upon them by surrounding conditions is a signification of increasing intelligence and a better understanding of their natural rights. It is the sequence of logic, and, rather than taking alarm, the philosopher should hail with delight, the cry, as a harbinger of better times.

Emerson, than whom none probably ever wrote truer philosophy, has said "As fast as the public mind is opened to more intelligence, the code is seen to be brute and stammering." The people demand what, they, as rulers of their own destiny, have a right to—institutions suited to today and today's intelligence, to take the place of those based intelligently on the conditions of the past.

It is true that opinions as to the manner of the improvement are at variance. However, true philosophy points to but one way, the removal of restrictions on the individual, and the paternity of government, which is, and always will be, abused by the classes at the expense of the masses.

The closing of Eighteen Hundred and Ninety-Two shows that the people are imbued with this true philosophy, for have they not just chosen for their president, that man admired by the philosopher, who has said, "paternalism has no place in the creed of Democracy?"

Through Mr .Cleveland, who has done more than any other man of the present decade to make his party truly Democratic, the people expect much and with well founded hope.

The American people enter 1893 with prospects bright.

LEWIS AND VOORHEES.

Much comment has been excited as to whom the Democratic legislators should cast their complimentary vote for United States senator. The ascendancy of the Democratic party in the nation makes this honor of more than passing importance, therefore the Democratic members of the legislature should give the matter the careful attention it deserves.

Two names have been mentioned in connection with the honor, both of whom are certainly deserving of any honor within the gift of the Washington Democracy. It was J. A. Strong, Whatcom county's brilliant and handsome member of the state central committee who recently to a Seattle reporter expressed himself in favor of either James Hamilton Lewis or Charles S. Voorhees. How naturally a good, true Washington Democrat turns to these men! James Hamilton Lewis, Charles Stewart Voorhees—how naturally that the pride of our young Democracy should exult and that pulse beat should quicken at the mention of these names! How tender and patriotic the regard for them! Naturally we say, because they possess, in a remarkable degree, those qualities that make up the typical, the ideal young American. They are both true Democrats, in the broadest and most patriotic meaning of that term, of sterling worth and magnificent ability; both young, energetic and brilliant, orators, scholars and friends of the masses; both Democrats who have a jealous regard for the liberties of the people; both have served the public, and with them a public office was a public trust.

It seems a pity that a Democratic legislature is not permitted to send both of them to the United States senate, in place of our present senators. With these stalwart, brainy, brilliant men in the senate, Washington would be represented second to no state in the Union in that body. No question of national importance would then come up but the great evergreen state's voice would be heard—and heard well.

It is more than probable that some day Washington's senators will be James Hamilton Lewis and and Charles Stewart Voorhees.

GREAT preparations are being made for the inauguration ceremonies of John H. McGraw, as governor of Washington, which will occur on January 11th.

After that date Washington will, indeed, have a minority governor. This will be so to a greater extent than is usual with an officer, having a plurality, only, as a large majority of the voters of Washington were anti-McGraw. Had it not been for the other, either Snively or Young would have defeated McGraw by a large majority. The vote of Washington cannot be regarded as an endorsement of the politics and practices of John H. McGraw.

SOUNDINGS, of Seattle, does honor where honor is due, by giving Franklin K. Lane, the fascinating and brilliant editor of the Tacoma News, a neat little sketch containing only too few of the nice things that could be truthfully said of that prince of men. The accompanying potrait is good, though it, like the sketch, hardly does the journalist justice.

Franklin K. Lane is an American journalist of the best type; a bundle of nervous energy, with a cool, logical mind, and a true sense of justice and right. He is a credit to an honorable profession.

EIGHTEEN HUNDRED AND NINETY THREE should witness the beginning of construction work on the Port Angeles and Quillayute railway. It matters not what company builds it—as that is of little consequence. But the project is a practicable business proposition, offering profitable returns for the capital invested. And greater than all other considerations, Port Angeles needs the railroad, and it needs it badly, too, and the railroad it must have before it ever can hope to attain any degree of permanent prosperity.

A special committee was recently appointed by the city council of Tacoma, for the purpose of examining the electric lighting and the water plant, of that city, with the object in view of purchasing at $1,850,000, should the committee make a favorable report. After a thorough investigation the committee have made a report, favoring the purchase of the plant at that consideration which has been adopted by the city council. Think of it! And there are a few persons who imagine Port Angeles will be paying an an unreasonably high figure if it purchases the plant now in use for $25,000.

THE DEMOCRAT is informed by the president of the board of trade that that institution and its officers are not opposed to the issuance of the electric light bonds or the purchase of the Washington electric light plant at the stipulated price.

The DEMOCRAT is glad to chronicle this fact as it shows, what this paper had always hoped, that the officers of the board of trade have the welfare of Port Angeles in view.

THE West Coast Trade has added to its already well deserved reputation for "getting there," by its handsome and complete New Year's number The West Coast Trade, of Tacoma, fills well, one of the best fields in the state. It is a good journal.

AT THE COUNCIL.

The council met in regular session Wednesday evening, with all the members present and Mayor Smith in the chair.

One of the importaot measures coming before the council was the passage of an ordinance declaring it unlawful for people to congregate in the public streets and places of the city.

It appears that the salvation army had congregated in front of places of business and interfered with such places properly receiving customers and transacting business, resulting in great injury to them. As a means of protection these business men petitioned the council to pass an ordinance making it a misdemeanor for any gathering of persons in front of places of business or in the public streets McInnes had city attorney draw an ordinance as stated in the foregoing. McInnes moved that rules be suspended and ordinance read.

Quinn moved that council pass ordinance as read. Thompson objected maintaining that the council should take a week for consideration. Lewis said he had no objection to the salvation army if they would consider the comforts and rights of others, but when they interfered with private rights it was about time to call a halt.

McInnes belived in the greatest limit of liberty as long as private rights were not infringed. The ordinance was passed.

Lewis said that he had at the last meeting given notice that he would offer a resolution at this meeting to extend streets to water frontage and have railroad avenue established, but since then harbor line commissioners had had a surveyor appointed and were having the harbor surveyed, and the commissioners seemed willing to protect the city's interests so would not act in the matter.

McInnes said that he believed that the commissioners were willing to protect the interests of the city and would offer a resolution to have a conference comprising citizens, the commissioners and members of the council, in the council room, on Monday evening, the 9th inst.

Quinn said that he had a modest request to make of the council. That was to ask that 1000 feet of lumber be allowed for the completion of sidewalk on Oak street to city limits. Citizens on that street were willing to comply with their part of the agreement. Thompson said he had no objection to city furnishing lumber if citizens complied with their part of the agreement. The request was granted.

Council adjourned to meet Saturday evening.

CLALLAM PUBLIC LANDS.

Will Soon all be Under Contract for Survey Thereof.

The are at the present time eleven townships in this county under contract for survey. The work is being prosecuted by Messrs. Warriner Smith, Fitch and Semon. For the most part work on these surveys will have to be discontinued until late next spring, or until such time as the weather will permit. The townships under survey are as follows:

Township 29 north, range 5 west.
Township 29 north, range 4 west.
Township 29 north, range 5 west.
Township 29 north, range 7 west.
Township 29 north, range 8 west.
Township 29 north, range 10 west.
Township 28 north, range 12 west.
Township 27 north, range 12 west.
Township 31 north, range 14 west.
Township 31 north, range 15 west.
Township 32 north, range 15 west.

These gentlemen also have the survey of the Makah (Neah Bay) Indian reservation and completed the survey of the Quinault reservation last summer.

The government has advertised for bids to survey the remaining unsurveyed portion of the public lands of this (Clallam) county which consist of ten townships, much of which is prodigiously rich in timber, mineral deposits and agriculture. The contract will doubtless soon be awarded, after the completion of which, there will no longer remain any unsurveyed public land in the county. Some of this land is already occupied, but there is yet open to settlement homes for hundreds of families. Townships, the contract for the survey of which will soon be awarded, are as follows:

Township 29 north, range 6 west.
Township 29 north, range 9 west.
Township 29 north, range 10 west.
Township 29 north, range 11 west.
Township 29 north, range 12 west.
Township 29 north, range 14 west.
Township 30 north, range 14 west.
Township 31 north, range 12 west.

It is to be hoped that the contract will be awarded to some Port Angeles citizen, in fact, it would meet with general approval if the successful bidders were Messrs. Smith, Fitch and Semon.

ATTENTION.—Any person desiring a carriage to any part of the city, will find the undersigned on Lincoln street wharf, nearly opposite the Y. M. C. A. rooms. Passengers taken to and from all boats; also baggage promptly delivered. Terms reasonable. Orders left at the Y. M. C. A. or at Maggart's second hane store on Front corner Oak streets. Prompt attention given to all orders. Patronage respectfully solicited.

Notice of Special Election

Public notice is hereby given to the qualified voters of the city of Port Angeles,

That pursuant to Ordinance No 118 of the city council of the city of Port Angeles, a special election will be held on Tuesday the 31st day of January, 1893.

That the qualified voters of said city may vote on the questions by said ordinance adopted and hereby submitted, to-wit:—

ORDINANCE NO. 118.

An ordinance specifying and adopting a plan or system of Electric Lighting Works for the city of Port Angeles, Washington, and declaring the estimated cost of purchase and construction thereof, and also proposing to incur an indebtedness and issue the negotiable bonds of said city to pay therefor:—

The city council of the city of Port Angeles do ordain as follows:

SECTION 1.

It is hereby deemed advisable by the city council of the city of Port Angeles to adopt a system or plan of electric lighting works for the city of Port Angeles, and to submit the said plan or system to the qualified electors of said city for their ratification or rejection; and also the proposition to create an indebtedness by issuing the negotiable bonds of said city in the sum of not more than ($55,000) fifty-five thousand dollars, to pay therefor in the manner provided by an act of the legislature of the state of Washington entitled "an act authorizing cities and towns to construct internal improvements and to issue bonds to pay therefor and declaring an emergency," approved March 26, 1890, and amended by an act of the legislature approved March 9, 1891.

SECTION 2.

That the said system or plan of electric lighting works hereinafter described may be purchased, added to, maintained, owned and controled by the city for the purpose of lighting streets and public places, and supplying lights to the inhabitants of said city, with full authority to regulate and control the same.

SECTION 3.

The system or plan hereby adopted is thd entire electric light plant now owned by "The Washington Electric Light and Motor Company, of Port Angles," and now being operated by the city of Port Angeles under lease, but more particularly described as follows:

Lot five (5) in block fifty-one (51) original townsite of Port Angeles, together with the frame power house, thirty-six (36) by sixty (60) feet, situated thereon; One Edison fifty arc dynamo; fifty arc lamps of two thousand candle power; Two incandescent Edison dynamos of six hundred 16 candle capacity; Two incandescent indicators; One Russell seventy horse power engine; Two 40 horse power boilers, with brick foundation, set up complete; One Ammeter ten amperes; One Ammeter 160 amperes; One Ammeter 120 amperes; Two Stoddard 2 lamp indicators; 125 volts; Two resistance boxes; One volt meter double scale 600 volts; One break down switch; One testing magnet; Nineteen arc lamp hoods; Two set of brushes for each dynamo; together with all the poles and wires and all tools now owned by said Washington Electric Light and Motor Company, and controlled by said city of Port Angeles under lease; which electric light plant as herein before specified and described may be purchased from the said Washington Electric Light and Motor Company, by the said city of Port Angeles, for the sum of not more than twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000.)

SECTION 4.

That the said electric light plant may when purchased, be rebuilt, added to, and reconstructed in the manner proposed in, and adopted by, the following section, and made a part of the system and plan of electric lighting works for the city of Port Angeles, hereby adopted and proposed by this ordinance.

SECTION 5.

The motive power of said Electric Lighting Works shall be furnished by water-power, by tapping Morses' creek at a dam to be constructed at a point one and one half miles (approximately) south of the crossing of said creek by the Dungeness road; and, to be conveyed by flume, which shall follow the local sinuosities of the west bank of Morse creek, from the dam at its southerly extremity to a tank or reservoir at its northern terminus.

The dimensions of said flume are as follows, towit: Four (4) feet in width by Three (3) feet in depth net mersurement; having a capacity of 155,700 cubic feet of water per hour; to be constructed of one and one half (1½) inch plank, incased within bents five (5) feet apart from centres.

Bents to be of lumber the dimensions of which are four (4) inches by six 6 inches.

The said tank, or reservoir, is to be located in close proximity to the crossing of the west bank; in top of bank of Morse creek by the county road.

Said tank or reservoir is to be constructed of one and one half 1½ inch boards, incased within bents four 4 feet apart within centres To be of lumber six 6 inches by eight 8 inches; said tank to be in two compartments of ten 10 by twelve 12 feet each, by twelve 12 feet in heighth.

The water to be conveyed from tank to the wheel in power house by means of a steel pipe.

Or if the city council shall ascertain and determine that the necessary water for said power can be conducted from said dam to the water wheel at the power house through steel pipe, or other durable material, at a similar cost, the said council are hereby empowered so to do.

The capacity of the motive power thus obtained to be not less than five hundred (500) horse power.

Said power house to be a one story frame building 38 feet by 70 feet.

All of which plans and specifications have been prepared and drawn by T. A. Pope, C. E., and are now on file in the office of the city clerk of said city for inspection, and are hereby specially referred to, and are made a part of this ordinance.

SECTION 6.

That the estimated cost of said system or plan of electric lighting works for the city of Port Angeles, as herein before specified, including the purchase of the electric light plant of the Washington Electric Light and Motor Company, described and specified in Section 3 of this ordinance, together with the extension, rebuilding, adding to, and reconstruction of said plant, as specified and proposed in Sections 4 and 5 of this ordinance, is hereby declared to be substantially $55,000, and the same is hereby specified and adopted as the system or plan of electric lighting works for city of Port Angeles.

SECTION 7.

That for the purpose of purchasing, adding to, constructing and maintaining said system of electric lighting works, an indebtedness shall be created by issuing coupon bonds of said city to the amount of fifty-five thousand dollars ($55,000) to pay therefor; said bonds shall be fifty-five (55) in number of the denomination of $1000 each; Shall bear date of their issue; Shall be payable twenty years from date, and shall bear interest at the rate of six per cent per annum, payable semi-annually, with interest coupons attached, and the principal and interest shall be made payable in "gold coin" of the United States of America of the present standard weight and fineness at such banking house in the city of New York as shall be designated in said bonds, and their interest coupons; The bonds, and each coupon shall be signed by the Mayor, and attested by the clerk, under the seal of said city.

SECTION 8.

There shall be levied each year a tax upon the taxable property of said city, sufficient to pay the interest on said bonds as the same accrues, and before seven years prior to the maturity thereof, an annual sinking fund tax, sufficient for the payment of said bonds at maturity, which taxes shall become due and collectible as other taxes.

SECTION 9.

That said plan or system of electric lighting works, shall be submitted to the qualified voters of the city of Port Angeles, at a special election, to be held in said city on the 31st day of January, 1893, for their ratification or rejection, in the manner hereinafter provided.

SECTION 10.

That at the special election provided for in the preceding section, the further proposition of creating an indebtedness by issuing the negotiable coupon bonds of the city, as herein before provided for, shall be submitted to the qualified voters of said city for their ratification or rejection, in the manner hereinafter provided.

SECTION 11.

That the City Clerk shall, and is hereby authorized and directed to give thirty days previous notice, of such special election, and the purpose for which the same is to be held in the newspaper doing the city printing, by publication in each issue of said paper during said time, and this ordinance as a whole, shall form a part of the said election notice; and said special election shall be conducted in accordance with the general election laws of the state of Washington, so far as the same may be applicable, and that the polling places shall be, the established polling places in the different wards of said city, and that the officers of said election shall be as follows:

FIRST WARD.

Inspector—CHAS. WOOD.
Judges—JOHN COOLIDGE, L. P. CRAWFORD
Clerks—J. B. SPEARS, J. W. STEWART.

SECOND WARD.

Inspector—D. P. QUINN.

Clerks—D. G. MUNRO, THOMAS HILL.

SIXTH WARD.

Inspector—J. W. SOUTHER,
Judges—W. D. STIVERS, D. W. CAMPBELL.
Clerks—GEO. H. ELWELL, FRANK FISHER.

SECTION 12.

That at the said election there shall be two ballot boxes at each polling place one for voting upon the ratification or rejection of the proposed plan or system of electric lighting works, in which said ballots shall be deposited; and the other for voting upon the question of incurring an indebtedness by issuing bonds of the city to pay for said system or plan of electric lighting works, in which said ballots shall be deposited.

SECTION 13.

That the ballots to to be used at said special election for the purpose of voting upon the question of ratification or rejection of said system or plan of electric lighting works, shall be in the following form:

> PROPOSITION No. 1.
> Shall the system or plan of Electric Lighting works for the City of Port Angeles as specified and adopted in ordinance No, 118 be ratified?
> For ratification and adoption, "Yes."
> For ratification and adoption, "No."

and each voter shall so prepare said ballot by striking therefrom the words, for ratification and adoption "Yes" or, for ratification and adoption "No," so that the remaining portion of said ballot shall express his vote on said question.

SECTION 14.

That the ballots to be used at said special election, for the purpose of voting upon the question of incurring an indebtedness by issuing bonds, to pay for the said system or plan of Electric Lighting Works, shall be in the following form:

> PROPOSITION No. 2.
> Shall bonds of the City of Port Angeles be issued to the amount of $55000. to pay for the system or plan of Electric Lighting works, specified and adopted in ordinance No. 118?
> Bonds, "Yes."
> Bonds, "No."

and each voter shall so prepare said ballot by striking therefrom the words Bonds "Yes," or Bonds "No," so that the remaining portion of said ballot shall express his vote on said question.

SECTION 15.

That if at said Special Election, a majority of the legal ballots cast on the question of the ratification or rejection of said system or plan of Electric Lighting Works, be, "for ratification and adoption Yes," the said system and plan shall be, by the city council, declared adopted and ratified; and, if at said special election, Three-fifths [3-5] of the Legal Ballots cast on the question of incurring indebtedness by issuing Bonds to pay for said system or plan of Electric Lighting Works be in favor of "Bonds Yes," the said city shall be deemed to be authorized to purchase, add to, construct and maintain said system or plan of Electric Lighting Works for the city of Port Angeles; and to issue the negotiable coupon bonds of the city to pay therefor, in the manner provided in Section 7 of this ordinance, and to sell the same in the manner provided by the aforesaid act of the legislature and the Mayor and City Clerk are hereby authorized and directed to issue said bonds and their coupons in accordance with the provisions of said act.

SECTION 16.

This ordinance shall be in force from and after its passage, approval and publication.

ELECTRICITY CURES NEURALGIA.

The Vibratory Principle Applied to the Head by an Electrical Helmet.

Among all the methods more or less odd in appearance applied to the treatment of nervous diseases, there are few more orignal than the one that has been employed for some time at the Salpetriere by Professor Charcot. It is the treatment by mechanical vibrations.

There is a serious disease of the nervous system, characterized by an incessant trembling of the hands, a stooping attitude and an odd gait, that makes it seem as if the invalid was going to precipitate himself head foremost. It is the trembling palsy, also called Parkinson's disease, a sort of painful nervous disorder that deprives the unfortunate who is afflicted with it of rest and sleep. Mr. Charcot a long time ago learned from some invalids who were troubled with this infirmity that they derived decided relief from long rides on a railroad or in a carriage. The more the vibrations caused in the compartments by the train running at full speed, and the more the carriage was jolted over an uneven pavement, the more the relief experienced. At the end of a day's journey they felt better and experienced an inexpressible comfort. One of them conceived the idea of having himself wheeled about for hours in one of those heavy carts used for carrying paving stones. Contrary to the experience of all travelers, those afflicted with trembling palsy felt fresher and more active on alighting from the cars. The longer the trip lasted, and the worse the line, the more durable was their improvement.

Such testimony, coming from various sources, was not lost. It was for Mr. Charcot the starting point of a most curious therapeutical application. Mr. Charcot had an armchair constructed, to which a to and fro motion was given by means of an electrical windlass. Long before the invention of the vibrating armchair Dr. Vigouroux conceived the idea of submitting hysterical patients to the vibration of a huge tuning fork. In this way he cured anæsthesias and muscular stiff joints. Other physicians—Boudet, of Paris, and Mortimer, of Granville, applied vibrating rods to the treatment of neuralgias (facial neuralgia in particular) and headaches. Granville devised a small electric hammer, analogous to the hammer of electric bells, and that was applied to the painful point. Under the influence of the shock, repeated hundreds of times within a short period, the pain ceased.

The method was some time ago singularly improved by Dr. Gillis de la Tourette, a pupil of Mr. Charcot. He had an apparatus constructed for the treatment of megrims and nervous headaches; it was the vibrating helmet. Imagine a helmet of the model of that of old times, and very analogous, as to structure, to the conformator of hatters. It is in fact formed of steel plates that permit of its fitting the head perfectly. Upon this helmet, in lieu of crest, there is a small alternating current motor of peculiar construction that makes about 600 revolutions per minute. At every revolution a uniform vibration is propagated to the metallic plates, and is transmitted to the cranium that they embrace. The cranial walls thus vibrate in their ensemble, and the vibrations are naturally transmitted to the entire cerebral apparatus. The sensation is not disagreeable. The number and intensity of the vibrations, moreover, may be varied according to the tolerance of the subject. In a few minutes a sort of general lassitude is experienced, with a tendency to sleep.

The vibrating helmet has already been applied to a large number of neurasthenic invalids, the majority of whom have experienced good results from it. The process succeeds also against hemicrania, and as this is quite a common affection, for which no surely efficacious remedy is known, the helmet will in a short time be seen to come into vogue.—Nature.

An Opening for Inventors.

An engineer has written to one of the dailies to advocate the disoxygenation of glass. He argues that since steel is made by disoxygenating molten cast iron by blowing air through it, by a process reversely analogous glass can be softened into toughness and flexibility. He maintains that glass, which is not only much cheaper than iron, but much denser and tougher, can be put to any of the uses of iron excepting electrical conduction, while for drain pipes and water pipes it would be unequaled.

The champion of disoxygenated glass maintains that it could be used instead of tin and copper, and would replace iron for rigging and fencing, etc., as it possesses almost three times the tensile strength of the best wrought iron; furthermore, he regards it as not improbable that vessels built of glass beams and plates will eventually replace our present steel ships, as they would be stronger, cheaper and one-half lighter.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

American Inventions in Spain.

An American traveler in Spain says that Yankee notions and the ingenious little inventions sold by our street peddlers are appreciated there. While walking in Malaga he saw women shying across the street to get away from something. Making haste to ascertain the cause, he saw a man with a string tied to a tiny mouse, which sought in vain to get away from its tormentor as it glided over the walk. He repeatedly jerked it back, however, and the tourist was shocked until he heard the man calling out. "Raton mechanico Americano" (American mechanical mouse).—New York Sun.

The Vegetation of Mars.

The red glow of the planet Mars has puzzled everybody but a French astronomer, who gives it as his opinion that the vegetation of that far away world is crimson instead of green. He also says that he hasn't the least doubt but that there are single flowers on the war god's surface which are as large as the incorporated limits of Paris.—St. Louis Republic.

The Time to Counterfeit.

The best time to successfully counterfeit a coin is just after it is first issued. The new halves and quarter dollars are being successfully counterfeited just at present. The people have seen so few of the gennine new coins, owing to the fact that they have not worked their way westward, that they scarcely know what to expect. About half of the new half dollars in circulation in Kansas City are composed for a great part of lead, but well made. They won't ring at all when dropped on a hard surface.—Kansas City Times.

REVEILLE.

Fly, poppied drowse, away!
Across the marshes sweep,
Chasing the fallen moon, the shadows gray;
Make me not haggard, Sleep!

Against the morning move,
Fronting the reddening miles;
Touch the white eyelids of the girl I love
And fill her dreams with smiles.

—John Hay in Cosmopolitan.

The Latent Form of a Disease.

Active tuberculization in a developed state is rarely troublesome to the milk dealers, and very few get milk from such animals. But nearly every dairy contains animals that have the disease in a latent state, and nearly all who drink milk in cities have some that comes from cows with latent tuberculosis. The important question is, When has the disease progressed far enough to be dangerous, and how can it be guarded against? No one can tell at what stage in the disease the milk is safe, or when it becomes dangerous. It is also true that some are so much more susceptible to the disease that they will contract it from milk that others would be entirely free from. With children the danger is greater than with older people, and a child that is born with a feeble constitution cannot stand much milk that has these germs in it.

Boiling the milk or sterilizing it has a tendency to eliminate the germs, but not in all instances. This method reduces the nutritive valne of the food, which is already low owing to its diseased condition, and not a great deal is gained by feeding such food to children. Nevertheless this is the only preventive measure for those using milk in cities during hot weather, and it should be rigidly enforced. In the future, breeds of cows may be bred which will not be subject to this disease, and it is only along this line of improvement that tuberculosis can be stamped out.—Yankee Blade.

Making Sand Pies in School.

Dr. Edward Everett Hale has written upon many subjects. In The Atlantic Monthly he touches a new theme—the making of sand pies. He went to school, he says, when he was about two years old—a private school, and "a very much 'go-as-you-please' sort of place."

The floor was sanded with clean sand every Thursday and Saturday afternoon. This was a matter of practical importance to us, because with the sand, using our feet as tools, we made sand pies.

You gather the sand with the inside edge of either shoe from a greater or less distance, as the size of the pie requires. As you gain skill, the heap which you make is more and more round. When it is well rounded you flatten it by a careful pressure of one foot from above.

Here it will be seen that full success depends on your keeping the sole of the shoe exactly parallel with the plane of the floor. If you find you have succeeded when you withdraw the shoe, you prick the pie with a pin or a broom splint provided for the purpose, pricking it in whatever pattern you like. The skill of a good piemaker is measured largely by the patterns.

It will readily be seen that the pie is better if the sand is a little moist. But beggars cannot be choosers, and while we preferred the sand on Mondays and Fridays, when it was fresh, we took it as it came.

The Great Pine of Japan.

The great pine of Japan, called Dai Matsli, stands on the coast of the inland sea of Biroa, about three miles from Otsu. The priests who have charge of the tree declare that it was mentioned in the records of their cloister 800 years ago, and that it was planted A. D. 675. It is counted among the eight wonders of Japan, and its singular aspect, as it stretches its long branches far out on every side over a scaffolding formed by more than 300 poles, has been pictured in many books of travel. Although it is fully exposed to the wind, and although its trunks and branches bear more than one lightning scar, it is still vigorous, and only a gradual thinning out of its foliage bears witness to its great antiquity.

At two feet above the ground the diameter of its trunk is 15 feet 9 inches, its height is 84 feet, and the diameter of its widely stretched crown is 242 feet. Four houses formerly stood among its branches, but two of them were ruined in a great storm a few years ago. The other two are still largely resorted to by supper parties on summer evenings, and the Japanese take special delight in listening to the dripping of rain into the water from the boughs, as they overhang the sea.—Garden and Forest.

Self Help in Case of Fire.

As a house is never attacked by fire at the top and bottom at once, if there is a safe and ready exit at both top and bottom very little danger to life is to be feared. It is important that all exits should be so known as to be easily found, by day or night, by every inmate of the house. If the clothes you have on catch fire, a blanket, rug, or some such woolen article should be quickly and tightly wrapped around you. Air is thus excluded and the fire goes out.

A small fire in a room can often be put out in the same way, in preference to pouring water on it. In case of fire, keep all doors shut as far as posssble. If a room is full of smoke keep low or crawl, because smoke and hot air both rise, leaving the floor comparatively clear.—London Tit-Bits.

Pictures That Sell.

"A man," says Behren, "is, first of all, human."

A visitor to a recent large exhibition of pictures in New York remarked that many of those which had for their subjects homely domestic subjects, such as children, old men or the fireside, were marked sold, while others of much finer execution were not bought.

"It is always the case," said the custodian. "People go to galleries to look at great pictures, but they most frequently buy one to hang on their walls which recalls their own childhood or their home."—Youth's Companion.

Few Men Have Legs of Equal Length.

We hear on the authority of a recruiting sergeant that few men have legs of equal length, and that in every thousand men in the British army only eighteen are over six feet in height, which our national vanity prompts us to remark seems a small number.—Chambers' Journal.

A large cave was recently discovered in Montana which contained the bones of hundreds of animals that had fallen into it and were unable to escape.

ROYALTY ON HALF PAY.

Exiled Monarchs Who Are Forced to Dead Lines of Economy.

Royalty without a civil list or a large private fortune is about the most trying situation to which a human creature can be subjected. I have come across in my day not a few illustrious personages to whom this test was applied by fate, and do not remember one, unless the late king of Hanover, who went through it like a first rate man or woman, though some of them bore reverses better than most persons of far lesser rank known to me, who had fallen in the world and prided themselves on having seen "better days."

Don Juan of Spain, father of Carlos, and husband of the beautiful and splendidly dowered Archduchess Beatrice of Este-Modena, was a lazy old loafer. When "at home" he lived in the Regent's park with a lady who was not at all archducal and seven or eight children, who unfortunately for themselves were every inch Spanish Bourbons. When on the continent Juan was sometimes "Mr. Johns," sometimes "Mr. King," or "M. le Roy," and again, "Mr. Bliss" (a translation of his wife's name), lived generally en garni and dined at cheap tables d'hote. His breath used to smell of mutton ragout, a dish that sticks to the breath like garlic.

The king of Naples also loafs through life, but in a harmless, gentlemanly fashion. He has hopelessly lost his bearings since the Italian confectioner at the corner of the Place de la Bourse was, through having given credit too freely to the king's followers, obliged to shut up shop. The poor confectioners supplied dinners for an age to one of the king's brothers, and will have to wait for payment until the Neapolitan Bourbons are restored. Going to lunch at that confectioner's, which he always did on foot, enabled Francis II to get through several hours every day, and afforded him an easy walk to and from the hotel in the Rue Bossy d'Anglais, in which he has lived ever since he came to abide in Paris. He shares so little the tastes of his wife, who goes in for race horses, as in point of fact to live alone, though en menage with her. The august pair rather camp than reside here.

The Duke of Aquila, having run through his own and his wife's fortune, was ages ago obliged to quit the beautiful villa in which he lived for some years in the Avenue du Bois de Boulogne, and he is now a pensioner of King Humbert to the amount of $400 a year (10,000 lire), and also lives en garni. He, however, makes up well when he goes to dinner parties, and has a touch of naval frankness that is pleasant. He drew a good pension so long as the Brazilian empire lasted as its lord high admiral and filled a corresponding situation in the kingdom of Naples before 1860. I do not suppose that he is much of a seaman, but he was formerly always entertaining or being entertained by naval officers, and his manners took a color from theirs. He manages to keep up jovial spirits under depressing circumstances, which I think creditable to him.

Comte de Barl, his nephew, has found consolation for personal and family losses and crosses in marriage with a lady of the corps de ballet, and has adopted a son who is nearly his own age, to the great disgust of the ex-king. In Italian law the adoptee is a member of the Bourbon family, whatever he may be in blood, and is supposed by it to be a grandson of the illustrious Archduke Charles and of Ferdinand II of Naples.—Paris Cor. THE DEMOCRAT.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 6, 1893.

LOCAL PARAGRAPHS.

The commissioners were in session Thursday.

The new council will take their seats next Tuesday evening.

The public schools of this city will reopen Monday, the 23d inst.

The recently elected county officers will take charge of their respective offices next Monday, January 9th.

The Angeles Club, a social organization, has been reorganized. Social dances will be given every two weeks.

The steamer Michigan arrived Wednesday evening from San Francisco with sixty tons of general merchandise for local merchants.

Should the proposition to bond the city to purchase and improve the electric light plant prevail, it would provide work for a large number of citizens.

A reward of $50 has been offered to any person who will give information of the whereabouts of M. G. Barstow, who has been missing since Sunday last.

"Never This Way Before" will be the subject of the discourse at the Congregational church Sunday morning. Evening subject; "A Changed World,"

The Townsend amateur minstrel troup will soon give a performance in this city. It is understood that it will be given as a benefit to the Episcopal church.

The Ladies society of the Congregational church will hold a social at the house of the pastor of the church Thursday evening of next week. All are cordially invited.

The Dungeness Beacon has suspended publication. The plant has been removed to this city, where the publication of a new journal will be begun, the political leanings of which will be toward the Populists.

After the G. A. R. and W. R. C. installation and camp fire on Monday evening next at the opera house, there will be a dance, in which the young folks can participate to their heart's content. The dancers will be expected to pay for the music.

A new abstract company has been organized with Messrs. R. C. Wilson, Wm. K. Clark and John D. Hickok, as owners and managers. These gentlemen are experienced, and of high character and acknowledged business ability. The new company begin under most favorable auspices and will, without doubt, make a very gratifying success of the business.

The German Evangelical Lutheran church, of Port Angeles, will be dedicated on Sunday, January 15th. Services will be held as follows in their languages: German, and the Lord's supper will be celebrated, 11 a. m.; 3 p. m. English and Norwegian. The church is on Ninth between Oak and Laurel streets All are cordially invited.

The Capacity of the Electric Plant.

In order to lay before its readers a correct statement of the capacity of the electric light plant a representative of THE DEMOCRAT recently called at the works where he found the efficient and obliging engineer, Mr. Harry Coventon, busy dressing down the brushes of the arc light dynamos. That gentleman readily consented to give all information desired in relation to the capacity of the plant, which is substantially as follows:

The engine theoretically has a capacity of 65 horse power, but is capable of working without injury up to 71 horse power. The average maximum horse power used during the month of November has been 49 which leaves a balance of 22 horse power which can still be drawn upon.

The arc light dynamo is carrying 38 arc lights at present, but after making due allowance for friction and "drops" of the line, will carry 10 more lights or 48 in all, requiring for that purpose 42 horse power.

There are in use two incandescent dynamos of a registered capacity of 125 amperes or 250 16 candle power lamps each.

The two dynamos are together carrying at present a load equal to 254 16 candle power lamps, or but 4 lamps more than half their capacity and for this load require 21 horse power.

It requires 1 horse power to run 12 16 candle power incandescent lamps. Therefore the works have a capacity for carrying in excess of the present load 10 arc lights and 100 16 candle power incandescent lamps.

The foregoing facts, which I certify to be correct, were furnished by me.

HARRY COVENTON,
Engineer.

STATE AND NATION.

James Hamilton Lewis is in San Francisco, representing the appellant in the case of Miss Ballinger vs. R. H. Croswell appealed from a $10,000 judgment in the United States District Court at Seattle.

The Democrats have captured the organization of the legislatures of California, Wyoming and Montana, and with the Populists, have organized the legislature of Nebraska. This means the loss of the senate to the Republicans, as senators are to be chosen in each of the states this winter. The seats are now all occupied by Republicans.

Dr. C. A. Briggs, accused of heresy has been acquitted by the Presbytery of the Presbyterian church.

DEATH OF ANTON GERKE.

The Remarkable Career of a Peculiar Individual.

Last Sunday evening all that was mortal of Anton Gerke passed from all earthly moorings.

The life of deceased was somewhat eventful and fraught with exciting incidents.

In 1848 he was one of the leading spirits of the German revolution, during which he received a painful wound in his foot that caused him more or less trouble during the succeeding years of his life. He was a pronounced advocate of communism, believing that society as organized is incapable of producing the best results of government obtainable. For years in Hamberg he was the leader of a society of communists.

Coming to this country years ago he resided in several states of the union, before coming to Washington. When he first came to Port Angeles he associated himself with the Puget Sound colony, and was an ardent, earnest believer in the doctrines and political beliefs of the People's party, and was so devoted a partisan that he desired to go to the polls and vote at the last municipal election — when his health was in a most precarious condition. At the time of his death he was about 70 years of age.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mrs. B. F. Schwartz left Thursday for San Francisco.

Mr. Charles E. Mallette was up-Sound during the week on a business trip.

Mr. Orville Dean, of the cannery, spent the holidays with his parents at Blyn.

Hon. Allen Weir, of Olympia, was a visitor to Angeles Sunday and Monday.

Mr. Horace White and Mr. A. A. Smith went to Olympia Thursday afternoon.

Misses Grace and Alice Ware are spending a few weeks with their parents at Sequim.

Mr. R. A. Grimes left Thursday for Portland, Or. He may be absent several weeks.

Mr. George H. Jones, a prominent attorney of Port Townsend, was in town Wednesday.

Mr. J. D. Riley, of the Puget Sound & Trust Company, of Seattle, was in town this week.

Miss Ruth Taylor is on a visit to Sequim at the residences of Mr. Thomas Knoph and Mr. A. Ware.

At Beaver it is reported that the Pysht people propose to plank their road as far as the junction of the Pysht and Clallam roads.—Dungeness Beacon.

Mr. W. A. Daniels, of Forest, was in the city Thursday. He states that the settlers of his neighborhood are determined to have a wagon road connecting with the Texas Valley road leading to Port Angeles, so they will begin the construction of the same next Monday, with a force of six men. This certainly shows a progressive spirit that will not only triumph over difficulties, but transform what is now an unproductive region into a veritable garden spot.

The Passing of Schwartz.

One of the mysteries of the nineteenth century, is the whereabouts of Benjamin F. Schwartz. His sudden and somewhat unceremonious departure, has caused no little amount of uneasiness to those interested in his future welfare. His escape was quite as bold as the skill is supreme with which he has baffled the detective genius of the town. One thing is certain he is gone—and his whereabouts is at present one of the densest of mysteries. There are, however, many theories advanced, some of which bear a reasonable degree of liklihood.

Bound for some foreign shore on a lumber laden vessel; sojourning in the immediate neighborhood of this enchanting spot, awaiting a more auspicious time for effectual escape; ferried over the straits to British soil, are some of the expresssons of opinion as to the means of his escape and probable whereabouts. All, however, are agreed that he has disappeared—vanished like a rainbow from their gaze.

Notwithstanding his indescretion, his mistakes, Schwartz had many excellent traits. He was too ambitious. And unrestrained ambition is the ruination of hundreds of men, who, like Schwartz, sacrificed friends and everything to attain their end. Had Schwartz been willing to ascend the ladder to fortune's heights step by step, adhering strictly to principles of honesty and economy, he would have been in business in Port Angeles today honored and respected by all alike. But he yielded to temptation, and, "the way of the transgressor is hard."

The undersigned is arranging to go to San Francisco about Jan. 15, next. Parties having acreage or well located city property for sale will find it to their interest to place their property with reliable agents in that city. For further particulars call upon or address—

$50.00 REWARD.

The above reward will be paid to any person who will discover the whereabouts of one, M. G. Barstow, who disappeared from his cabin at the corner of 11th and Albert streets on Sunday last. He was 26 years, of age five feet, eleven inches in heighth and had a brown mustache. He wore a rubber coat and rubber boots. He is subject to a rush of blood to his head, which so confuses him as to make him wander at large.

Notes From Sequim.

Dances are all the "go" in the neighborhood.

Last Monday Katie Grennin's dress caught fire while standing before the fire. Before her parents could reach her she was so badly burned that death resulted Friday.

Christmas and New Year's celebrations passed off quietly but with much joy and pleasantness.

Willie Smith returned from Olympia where he was attending college, for the holidays.

Amongst those who have visited this place for the holidays may be mentioned Misses Grace and Alice Ware, Ruth Taylor and Messrs. W. J. Ware and J. M. Ballinger of Port Angeles and Fred Wilkins, of Port Townsend.

A young folks literary society and debating club has been organized at at this place. Wm. Horner is president.

New Year Masquerade at Sequim.

Last Monday evening a very pleasant masquerade ball was given at the Sequim hall by the Farmer's Association. About thirty couples were masked and a large number of spectators were present. Supper was served at the residence of Mr. Jno. Bell and dancing indulged in until morning.

Several Port Angeles citizens were present among whom were Misses. Grace and Alice Ware, Ruth Taylor, and Joe M. Ballinger.

G. A. R. Entertainment.

Pacific post No. 48, G. A. R. and Pacific corps No. 21, W. R. C. will give a public installment and camp-fire at the opera house Monday evening Jan. 9th., at 7 o'clock p. m. There will also be a very interesting and amusing game in which all will be delighted to take part. The proceeds will go toward erecting a G. A. R. and W. R. C. hall. Everybody invited. SUMMONS.

IN the Superior Court of the state of Washington, for the County of Clallam.

STATE OF WASHINGTON, } ss. Cause, No. 261.
CLALLAM COUNTY.
Anna D. Drannan, Plaintiff,
vs.
William F. M. Drannan, Defendant

The State of Washington to the above named Defendant.

You are hereby notified that Anna D. Drannan, plaintiff, has filed a complaint against you in the Superior court of the State of Washington for the county of Clallam, holding terms at Port Angeles, which will come on to be heard sixty days after the first publication of this summons, to wit: sixty days after the 8th day of November, A. D. 1892, and unless you appear and answer the same on or before the 19th day of January, A. D., 1893, the same will be taken as confessed and the plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief demanded in the complaint herein.

The said action is brought to obtain a decree of this court dissolving the bonds of matrimony now existing between the plaintiff and defendant upon the ground of desertion and abandonment by the defendant of the plaintiff without cause more than one year last past before the commencement of this action; and upon the further ground of willful neglect for more than one year last past before the commencement of this action, whereby you have failed to provide this plaintiff with the common necessities of life, you having the ability so to do; and for more than one year last past, before the commencement of this action you have willfully neglected to provide plaintiff the common necessaries of life and you have failed to do so by reason of your idleness, habitual laziness and improvidence, all of which is specified in the complaint filed herein, to which reference is expressly made.

Plaintiff prays for judgment and decree forever dissolving the bonds of matrimony now existing between plaintiff and defendant together with general relief.

Witness my hand and the seal of said Superior court, affixed this 15th day of November, A. D. 1892.

COLUMBUS DISCOVERED

America in 1492. Everybody knows that; but who Discovered Columbus?

We will not try to answer this question, but judging from the number of BOOTS and SHOES we are selling we know that the people of Port Angeles and Clallam County,

HAVE DISCOVERED

That the NEW YORK BOOT AND SHOE HOUSE is the best and cheapest place in town to buy their footwear.

WHY?

BECAUSE—Bright folks take heed of other people's experience. Few things cost more in this world than experience. Now our experience in the shoe trade has been quite extensive. All our customers get the benefit of our experience, for by it we are able to sell the best goods for the least money.

IN the Superior Court of the state of Washington, for the county of Clallam.

STATE OF WASHINGTON } ss. No. of Case, 600.
COUNTY OF CLALLAM,
J. W. Everett, Plaintiff.
VS.
M. L. Nathanson and Henry Landes, Defendants

The State of Washington to the Above Named Defendant, M. L. Nathanson:

You are hereby notified that J. W. Everett, the above named plaintiff has filed a complaint and commenced an action against you and Henry Landes as defendants, in the superior court of the state of Washington, for the county of Clallam, holding terms at Port Angeles in said county, and you are hereby required to appear and answer the said complaint within sixty days from the day of the first publication of this summons, to wit: Sixty days after the 23d day of December, 1892, and unless you appear and answer the same on or before the 21st day of February, 1893, the same will be taken as confessed, and the plaintiff will apply to the said court for the relief demanded in said complaint.

The said action is founded upon a certain contract in writing executed by said plaintiff and you on the 4th day of December, 1889, whereby said plaintiff agreed to sell and convey to you the following described lands situate in said Clallam county, Washington, to-wit: Lots number four, five and six in section six of township thirty north of range seven west of Willamette meridian; and lot number one in section one of township thirty north of range eight west of Willamette Meridian, for the sum of four thousand dollars, and said action is further founded upon three certain promissory notes executed and delivered by you to said J. W. Everett on said day for the sum of one thousand dollars each, payable in one, two and three years respectively from their dates and drawing interest from their dates at the rate of ten per cent. per annum, said notes being executed as aforesaid as part of the ballance of the purchase price of said land; and the object of said action is to recover judgment against you upon said notes for the sum of two thousand four hundred dollars with interest thereon at the rate of ten per cent. per annum from the fouth day of December 1890, and the further some of three hundred dollars as attorneys fees as provided in said notes and that such judgment be decreed a lien upon all the right title and interest of said defendants in said lands, that said defendants be barred and foreclosed of all their right title and interest in said lands, and that the same be sold by the sheriff to satisfy said judgment and costs of such sale and such suit, and for such other and fither relief as may be just and equitable all of which more fully appears by said complaint to which reference is now here made.

Witness my hand and the Seal of said Superior court affixed this 23d day of December, A. D. 1892.

{SEAL} WILLIAM K. CLARK,
Clerk.

Date of first publication hereof, December 23d, 1892.
