SUNSHINE AT LAST.

The Reservation Question is Finally Settled.

THE APPRAISEMENT OF

The Lots will Soon Begin—The Squatters Have Good Reason to Rejoice Over the Speedy Work of the Officials at Washington.

Citizen living on the reservation have cause to congratulate themselves over the fact that the appraisement of the lots on the reservation will soon begin. Instructions to the appraisers has been made out in triplicate in the general land office in Washington and will soon be forwarded to them. Without something unforseen occurs to cause further delay it is safe to presume that the appraisers will begin their labors by the first of February.

The work of appraisement will take at least thirty and possibly sixty days. The report will then be forwarded to the general land office at Washington. It will then be examined, filed and approved. This will take at least thirty days. The final settlement of the reservation lots will doubtless be authorized with a notice of publication, extending over a period of not less than thirty days, at the expiration of which settlers may proceed with final settlement of their lots, by publication of notice in a newspaper for a period of six weeks.

This will doubtless be the method of proceeding, so it easily can be seen that at least three and posibly six months will elapse before the consummation of the title to the govenment lots will have been reached.

There is one thing certain the matter could not possibly be in better shape for speedy settlement, and nothing short of gross negligence, willful procrastination, can much longer delay final settlem ent.

The squatters certainly deserve great credit for the pluck, perseverance and undaunted courage they have shown under the most trying circumstances. They have the assurance, however, that they have not labored in vain. They have laid well the foundation of what will advance into a large, substantial and prosperous city. And as Port Angeles advances and gathers institutions of a productive character, the homes of these people will increase in value, be made more attractive, assuming metropolitan features, comforts and advantages.

When title to the lots on the reservation will have been perfected, a new epoch in the history of Port Angeles will be marked. The fact of that strip of land, situated as it is, right in the very heart of the residence portion of the city, having these years been withheld from settlement, has been a serious hinderance to its material growth. Now that title will soon be vested with the people, investors from abroad will certainly see an excellent opportunity to make safe and profitable investments in eligible residence property, and doubtless will avail themselves of the chance.

Capital invariably seeks fields that promise the greatest returns. Port Angeles and the surrounding country are marvelously rich in natural resources. that are practically undeveloped, offering matchless inducements to both capital and labor.

When these facts are carefully weighed the citizens of Port Angeles have reason to feel encouraged and to await future developments confidently and hopefully and in the meantime to labor for whatever will result in material good to the community in general.

The trials and hardships the undaunted squatter endures today will melt with the glorious sunshine of tomorrow, that will bring to those who wait and labor, a just reward.

The following telegram will explain itself:

WASHINGTON CITY, Jan. 7.—The amended survey of the Port Angeles, Wash., townsite has at last arrived in Washington City. The officials of the general land land office notified Representative Wilson of this fact, and this morning he called at the department and was informed that the case would be taken up next Monday and be finally disposed of.

Representative Wilson says that he learned that the instructions for each member of the board of appraisers had been made out and would be forwarded immediately. This action on the part of the department indicates that the controversy over this matter will soon be definitely decided.

Port Crescent Leader.

The county commissioners last Thursday January 5th, made an appropriation of five hundred dollars for the county road between Port Crescent and Lake Crescent. As the settlers, the business men and the Port Crescent Improvement Company, together have spent about three thousand dollars in labor in the construction and maintenance of this road and it has never had the benefit of one dollar of public funds, the commissioners have done a just and popular act in recognizing the enterprise and public spirit of the people and giving them some assistance in building some parts of the road they have been unable to complete. The present board of county commissioners have earned the gratitude of a great many pioneers who are building homes in the woods by affording public aid in making their homes accessible from the outside world.

Bright Transportation Prospects.

The year 1893 will, without doubt, see a remarkable increase in the railway facilities of the sound. There is now little doubt that the Chicago Burlington and Quincy has fixed its eyes upon this city as the terminus for the transcontinental line; the Union Pacific and Great Norththern are ready to commence operations, giving another through line from both north and south; while the Tacoma and Eastern railway will extend its lines into new territory during the season. This all means the destribution of money in unlimited quantities and consequent prosperity.

Transportation being the basis of all commerce, the question of transportation facilities is a subject of great moment to any city or community. The promises of improving transportation facilities for Tacoma by both rail and water, were never so bright as at present. The establishment of the Northern Pacific steamship line, last summer, has given an impetus to our shipping trade that is very gratifying, and the natural results of Tacoma's superb location for catching the profits of the long-wrter and short rail haul, will be more fully realized as time advances. The Puget Sound and Hawiian line may be said to be practically assured and will have a paying business in the transportation of commodities between this city any and the Hawaiian Islands, and other lines are in prospect.—West Coast Trade.

THE NEW OFFICIALS

Take Charge of the Affairs of the County.

THE DEPUTIES SELECT'D.

The People of the County Look Forward Hopefully to an Efficient Administration of the County Affairs for the Next Two Years.

Monday at high noon the newly elected county officers and their deputies took charge of their respective offices for the ensuing term.

The retiring officials have not experienced much increase in the volume of business in the county since they took charge of their respective offices. Particularly is this this true with the office of the auditors and that of the clerk. The county has increased however, in population from less than 3,000 to over 7,000. With this wonderful growth naturally should follow an increase in the volume of county business. The past two years has been notable for the unusual amount of public road improvements. And road building in a mountaineous country is necesarily attended with many difficulties and obstacles that make such improvements extremely costly, not only to construct but to maintain and keep in repair.

While there is just ground and good foundation for the severe accusations against the retiring board for flagrant extravagance and of public funds, and that they have shown undue sectional favoritism in making appropriations for the improvement of public roads, the retiring board is entitled to credit for having extended the county road system.

They have laid the foundation for a road system and it is hoped that the incoming board will evidence activity, intelligence and strict economy in continuing the improvement of the public thorofares, as good roads are absolute to the advancement of the county and the prosperity of its people. The

AUDITOR'S OFFICE

Will be under the supervision of Mr. Jno. W. Troy, who will be ably assisted by Mr. W. Brumfield, who is chief deputy. Mrs. Troy will also assist in the work of the office. In the

CLERK'S OFFICE

You will always find Mr. A. A. Richardson, who will, with his experience and ability, discharge the duties of that office in a thoroughly capable manner. He has appointed Mr. F. S. Macintosh, for a short time deputy sheriff, under the former admiinistration, as his chief deputy, which is, without doubt, an excellent appointment. The office

OF SHERIFF

Will be under the direction of Mr. S. Morse, who is not a novice at the business having formerly served several terms in that capacity. As deputy he has appointed Len Raymond. In the

TREASURER'S OFFICE

You will find as the dominating spirit Mr. M. J. Clump, whose acknowledged clerical ability eminently equips him for the duties of the office. As

COUNTY SURVEYOR

Mr. E. H. Fitzhenry will, with ability and thoroughness, perform the duties devolving upon him. The

COUNTY ATTORNEYSHIP

Succeeds to excellent hands. The attorney-elect, Mr. D. W. Bryan, is a man of excellent parts, and unquestioned legal ability. He will doubtless make an enviable reputation during his term of office The new board of

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS

Is comprised of Messrs. Knapman, from the first, Mr. O'Brien, from the second and Mr. Lamb, from the third district. They are all men of mature age, of business experience, good ability, and will doubtless demonstrate that they clearly understand and will do their duty by the taxpayers of the county.

The outgoing county officials and their deputies leave a good record for efficiency and industry, as the work of their respective offices evidence.

The new officials will demonstrate as time elapses their fitness for the office to which the people have elected them to fill.

Mr. Charles Kent, who has been for some months past manager of the electric light plant, left Tuesday for Olympia. Mr. Kent is an accomplished accountant and has the well-wishes of a host of friends wherever he may locate.

WE BEAT THE WORLD'S RECORD.

Some of the Wonders Washington will Exhibit.

TACOMA, Wash., Jan. 10.—The state of Washington will be a world beater at the World's Columbian Exposition in more ways than one. In the first place, there is already standing in front of the Washington State building at Chicago, the tallest flag-staff in the world. It is a single Puget Sound fir tree, 238 feet high, and on Washington day, May 21st, 1893, the largest American flag ever made will fly from this great flag-staff. In the next place we now have a proposition from the Tenino Stone Company to get out free of cost, the greatest monolith of the world, 130 feet long. The one from Wisconsin which has been attracting world wide notice is only 119 feet long. The only obstacle in the way of Washington excelling the world in this line is the difficulty of transporting such a stone around the curves in the mountain divisions of the transcontinental railroads. The matter of overcoming this obstacle is now being investigated very carefully. This State will also excel the world in an exhibit of 101 bushels of Northcutt Giant wheat produced on a single acre in the famous Palouse wheat wheat belt. We will also beat the world's record with an exhibit of 157 bushels of oats as a yield per acre from the great LaConner oat fields. No other state in the Union has so many world breaking exhibits already in sight, and Washington will not by any means be contented with the record shown above, but will endeavor to go on and excel in every way possible.

NEW EXECUTIVE COMMISSIONER.

Dr. G. V. Calhoun, of Skagit County, has been elected to succeed Dr. N. G. Blalock, who has resigned as Executive Commissioner on account of press of private business. The work progresses without any hindrance and Washington is assured of a grand success at the great exposition.

UNIQUE INDIAN RELIC.

Mr. E. G. Ward, formerly of Blaine, Whatcom County, has loaned the Washington World's Fair Commission a most unique Indian curiosity. It is evidently an idol carved from granite and bearing evidence of once having been highly polished. It was dug from Sumas Prairie about 30 years ago, and is odd and valuable on account of its composition, as most all of which idols heretofore found have been carved from wood. This idol weighs about 600 pounds. Mr. Ward will probably sell the idol to some eastern university or archæological institution at the close of the World's

REPORT TO THE GOVERNOR.

The Washington World's Fair Commission has prepared a full and detailed report of its work during the past two years, and soon copies of this report will be on hand ready for distribution among any of the citizens of the state who may ask for them. The report shows thi important work to be in a most satisfactory condition.

CONVENTION OF AUDITORS.

Call for Them to Meet at Olympia on January 17.

County Auditor Troy has received the following invitation from Myron H. Ellis auditor of Yakima county, to attend a convention of county auditors to to be held at Olympia on January 17:

DEAR SIR: Under date of December 7, 1892, I addressed a circular letter to the county auditors of the state in regard to the matter of calling a convention of the county auditors of the state, for the purpose of discussing and recommending to the legislature much needed changes in the laws governing the offices. I have received communications from nearly every auditor in the state, endorsing the plan, and it seems to be the idea of most of the officers that the convention should be held at Olympia during the early part of the session of the legislature. All auditors with whom I have personally conversed have insisted that I issue a call for a convention, to be held at Olympia on the 17th day of January 1893. Therefore, you are hereby notified that there will be a convention of the auditors of the state of Washington, on Tuesday, the 17th day of January 1893. You are requested to attend, as it is desired to have all the counties represented.

Very Respectfully Yours,
MYRON H. ELLIS,
Auditor Yakima County.

Within three weeks the Great Northern will be hauling through freight and within a month that great system will carry passengers from the Pacific to the Atlantic.

Mr. Thomas Malony leaves Sunday for an extended visit to San Francisco. He will earnestly labor for a number of propositions the consummation of which will be of vast benefit to Port Angeles.

If the state legislators desire to earn the everlasting gratitude of the people of the state they will repeal the obnoxious tax collection law. This vicious and oppressive law should be removed from the statute books.

The state legislature convened Monday. The members of the house elected their speaker after a bitter and fierce contest, by W. R. Hoole, of Clallam, withdrawing in favor of J. W. Arrasmith, of Colfax, Whitman county. This threw a sufficient number of votes to Arrasmith to secure his election. Of Arrasmith it is said that he is a pronounced supporter of John B. Allen for United States' senator.

SOME MORE EXTRAVAGANCE.

One of the the last acts of the Board of County Commissioners was to issue a warrant to W. R. Hoole for $384, ostensibly for 128 days' attendance on the Board of County Commissioners. Simple enough to those who do not fully understand the exact situation, but when considered with the fact that Mr. Hoole received at the same time, besides the special allowance, a salary of one hundred dollars per month to do just such service as was rendered as clerk of the Board of County Commissioners.

In other words, the County Commissioners made Mr. Hoole a present of $384 of the people's money—money which they have no more right to give away without authority of law or without getting something for it, than an absconding cashier has to the money of a bank's depositors.

Rather a plain way to put it, but facts are stubborn things.

The people will live to find out that the facts given to the public before the election are not less facts after the election.

The last administration of Clallam county's affairs was wasteful and extravagant.

HOOLE WON THE LAURELS.

Hon. W. R. Hoole made a great fight for the speakership of the house this week. According to the code of politics he fairly won the position. The laurels of victory are his, he having won the party caucus nomination. But the minority faction, of his party followed that disorganizing method so prevalent with "rule or ruin" politicians, of refusing to abide by the will of the majority and refused to support the caucus nominee. The Democrats gave this method a deserved rebuke by acting with the minority. Of course, the Democrats didn't want a partisan for speaker, so they used the advantage they held by giving the cherished position to Arrasmith whose record is not offensive to the Democratic party, and who is interested in legislation asked for by the farming and laboring classes.

However, things considered, Mr. Hoole has made a good fight—one deserving of success.

THE administration of Clallam county has changed, and, it is not putting it too strongly to say that the tax-payers breath easier. The new administration is untried, it is true, but it cannot easily do worse than the one just out of office. The record of the last administration has been shown up by THE DEMOCRAT (exclusively) so often and so completely, that it needs not be repeated at this time. It is all fresh in the people's minds.

The administration that is now in charge of county affairs has much to do. The situation confronting them is not at all pleasant. A depleated treasury, a heavy debt and a tax levy so oppressive as to be an almost unbearable burden on the people. This is especially the case on account of dull times. THE DEMOCRAT has confidence in new officers. It is confident that they are equal to the occasion.

A. J. STREETER, of Illinois, who aspires to the national leadership of the People's party has gone to Topeka, to intercede with the Kansans to present the election of Jerry Simpson to the senate. His reasons are that Sockless Jerry is a Democrat, and not a Populist. What a crime! The chances are that a fusion of Democrats and Populists will send Simpson to the senate, as he is about the only Populists the Democrats would consent to support.

Jerry is all right. Send him to the senate.

THE Democrats made a gain by the transfer of officers in the court house. The offices of auditor, treasurer, county attorney and surveyor were turned over to the Democrats. The clerk's office is still Democratic. The sheriff's office, which was Democratic, is now the only Republican office in the court house—except of course the Superior Judge.

CALIFORNIA Democrats have distinguished themselves as Democrats in selecting Hon. Stephen M White as their candidate for United States senator. As the California legislature is Democratic. this is equivalent to an election. He will make the ablest Senator ever sent to Washington from the Pacific coast.

THE auditor's office under the administration just ushered in will be run by four persons, including the auditor, whose SALARIES WILL BE THEIR SOLE COMPENSATION. Clallam County will save about $200 per month on this schedule in that one office.

IF New York wants to elect a really able man to the senate, and a Tammanyite at the same time, let them elect Burke Cochran. He is a partisan, loyal to Tammany and, as has been said, reformer enough for Cleveland.

THE Democrats in the House of Representatives seem to have the situation well in hand. They settled the little Republican dispute by naming J. R Arrasmith, speaker.

THE Democratic legislators could not stand Hoole or Mentzer, so made Arrasmith, whose record on all things not political is good enough for a Democrat. the speaker.

THE Press Times, Post Intelligencer and other papers give great credit to the Democrats in the state legislature.

NEWS FOR THE PRESS-TIMES.

The Port Townsend Chamber of Commerce is struggling for a good wagon road between that place and Port Angeles. Such work should be undertaken jointly by the two counties of Jefferson and Clallam. —Press-Times.

Clallam county has completed her part of this undertaking completing the last division at a cost of $20,000, eighteen months ago. There is a road from Port Angeles to the Clallam-Jefferson line that the taxpayers of Clallam county in the neighborhood of $50,000, too much, by a third, but the road is there, nevertheless.

Angeles' Water Power.

Mr. T. A. Noble, mechanical engineer, of Seattle, arrived in the city Wednesday. Mr. Noble represents the Pelton Water Wheel Co., and examined Morse's Creek with a view of ascertaining the amount of power that could be developed from that source.

He expresses himself as agreeably surprised over the magnificent water power this city possesses. There is sufficient power here to turn the wheels of the manufactures of a large city. In its water power Port Angeles has unlimited possibilities of great wealth. No other source of power is as cheap as water and of this power Angeles has sufficient to almost turn the wheels of the factories of the state.

The city should by all means, own and control this great source of never failing wealth, as, in years to come. it can provide water and light to consumers at a nominal rate.

No question of more vital importance confronts the city government.

THE OLD AND THE NEW.

The Old Council Retires and The New is Inaugurated.

Tuesday afternoon the council met for the purpose of finishing the business of the old board and turning the affairs of the city over to the new board.

Mayor Smith was in the chair and Councilmen McInnes, Thompson, Bell, Quinn and Metcalfe were present.

The resignation of C. M. Kent. manager of the electric light system was accepted.

A number of bill were ordered paid.

The report of the city treasurer showed $3,855.75 in cash on hand.

The city's liabilities according to the report of the clerk were including all funds and the $50,000 in bonds $155,647.38 and the assets $68,431.76, leaving a deficiency of $87,215.72.

A vote of thanks were extended clerk Humphries for the able and efficient manner in which he had discharged his duties as clerk, and for the uniform courtesy with which he had ever treated the members.

McInnes offered a vote of thanks to the police judge, city marshal, chief of the fire department and city treasurer for the able administration of their respective offices. It was unanimously carried.

McInnes stated that he wished to express his appreciation of the consideration and deference they had ever shown him. While they had differed upon some questions, had had warm discussions, each, he believed, as he, had been convinced that he was right. The end of their municipal career had come. So only the good in each other should be remembered. And the mayor he thanked for the fair treatment he had received "Men," he said, "of positive views were bound to disagree; yet that was no reason why they should not entertain a high regard for the opinion of each other if they could not accept the same."

Mayor Smith replied in a short address. He said briefly that we are all apt to err. But if we err in what we honestly believe to be right, we would at least have a clear conscience. As long as you fight as honorable, conscientious. upright men, you will ever have the respect and confidence of your fellow men. The mistakes of the retiring council, if any there were, were errors of judgment, not of the heart. As they saw their duty, as they understood it, they had so discharge it. They had carried out their plans definitely. The results only can be determined by the future.

The old council then dissolved.

The new filed in and took their seats. There were present Councilmen Krueger, Rose, Carver, Ristine, Moore, Metcalfe and Beam.

The clerk read the oath of office of the the new members which was approved and filed.

Krueger offered a resolution that the council proceed with the classification of councilmen as provided by an act of the statute, regulating and fixing the long and short term members. It was adopted.

Beam offered a resolution that the clerk prepare six ballots, three of which should read "one year," the others "two years," and have the councilmen draw one each, the one drawn signifying the length of his term. The members drawing the long term were: Krueger, Moore and Carver.

The council then adjouened until Wednesday evening.

An Exciting Time.

Quite an exciting dispute arose yesterday afternoon over an attempt to erect a store building next Morse's store, at foot of Laurel street. It appears some time ago Mrs. Froseigh, who conducts the fruit and cigar stand on the corner of Front and Laurel streets, received permission from the city council to erect a building on the ground as before stated. The ground the building was to occupy is a portion of the driveway to Morse's wharf. The owners of the wharf, Messrs. Thompson and Morse, protested against the building being erected, claiming that they had received a franchise authorizing the construction and maintaining of a wharf with a driveway leading to said wharf, and that the erecting of said building would be an obstruction and a direct injury to such property. The city was bound to protect unmolested the rights that had been granted them, therefore they forbade the building being constructed there. Messrs. Morse and Thompson then proceeded to remove all of the lumber from the ground in dispute. There seems to be little doubt but that the city will be compelled to protect the owners of this wharf in an unobstructed, open driveway.

Against Gambling.

Antivice crusaders have resorted to many startling expedients to arouse and hold public attention, but the unique, if not the most practical, movement toward the suppression of vice (this time that of gambling) made its appearance in this city on Friday.

Then a car bearing on its side the legend, "John Philip Quinn's Antigambling Crusade," drew into the West Philadelphia yards of the Pennsylvania railroad and was shifted close to the freight station at Thirtieth and Market streets, where it stands in full view of passersby.

John Philip Quinn, as will be remembered by many, is a gambler who was converted in prison about five years ago, and has since been devoting his life as a lecturer to the suppression of the vice of which he was for over twenty-five years a victim.

Mr. Quinn carries around with him in the car a complete outfit of gamblers' implements—over sixty in all. One of these he will explain every hour during the day in the reception room of the car, and once, in the morning probably, he will speak of the evils of gambling from the platform of the car. His evenings will be given to lectuning in the city churches.—Philadelphia Record.

Where a Man Was Needed.

A teacher in a Canadian school, a young lady, committed suicide because she could not control some of the refractory boys under her charge. She attempted to thrash one young rascal, and some other boys of his own kidney flew to his rescue and gave the teacher a black eye. She closed the school, went home and swallowed a dose of morphine. How such a story makes a man's hand itch to get among those boys with a stout switch! It is undeniable that a group of rebellious boys of fourteen or fifteen years of age are little better than a band of savages. In most schools in cities, there are men about the building, but in some country places, where there is only a woman to conduct a school, she has a hard time of it.

This poor girl in Canada told her pitiful story in the few words she had scrawled before swallowing the poison: "I am tired trying to teach bad boys." What a pity she had not some brother or lover to go to her assistance and thrash the young blackguards within an inch of their lives. The life of a brave girl, who had evidently tried hard to do her duty, was too valuable to be sacrificed in such a cause.—Pittsburg Bulletin.

About These "Equinoctial Storms."

There is a popular delusion that a three day storm is inevitable at about this time of the year, and also when the "sun crosses the line" about the 21st of March. The unsettled state of the weather at about this time, as well as at the time of the vernal equinox, is always spoken of as "the equinoctial storm."

Now the facts are the equinox has little or nothing to do with these storms; and, excepting that the weather is in a general unsettled condition, caused by the changes that are taking place in the atmosphere, there is no more sense in expecting a series of storms at the time the sun "crosses the line" than at any other season of the year. Meteorologists and weather experts in general, who have worked for years to uproot this popular fallacy, deserve the greatest credit; in fact, there is hardly a standard by which we can measure our indebtedness to these men who work untiringly to discover and root out popular errors and establish scientific truths in their places.—St. Louis Republic.

A Handy Summer Girl.

Judge C. G. Butt enjoys the nice distinction of which few men can boast—viz., that of being rescued from what was at least a remotely possible watery grave. While out bathing on Ormond beach with two Orlando young ladies Wednesday afternoon he was seized with an adventurous fit, disengaged himself from their hold upon him and went out into the surf beyond his depth. After vainly endeavoring to regain the shallows he yelled for assistance and Miss Maggie Fitts, who is more than his equal in height as well as in many other respects, boldly waded out and towed the judge to the shore. Beyond being externally and internally saturated with salt water he suffered no inconvenience. Miss Fitts should be attached to the life saving service.—Orlando (Fla.) Reporter.

Some Bright Old Men.

It is remarkable how many great men are still alive and active, though over eighty years of age. Kossuth, who has just celebrated his ninetieth year, is busy with his memoirs, besides being employed in preparing a collected edition of his works. Lesseps is hale and hearty at eighty-seven. MacMahon is a year older than Mr. Gladstone, and has also written his memoirs. Pope Leo XIII is eighty-three, and though rumors of his ill health are constantly being circulated, he is still able to be one of the busiest statesmen in Europe. Belgium has a G. O. M. in the person of M. Frere Orban, a veteran parliamentarian, who has just entered his eighty-first year.

Deserved Punishment.

A man in Kirkintilloch, Scotland, was fined ten shillings the other day for playing the bagpipes on Sunday. Whether because it was Sunday or because it was bagpipes is not stated, but neighbors of the man who spends his Sabbaths now in practicing campaign march atrocities on a bugle will readily see the wholesomeness of the Covenanter blue laws.—New York Sun.

The French actor Got has amassed a fortune of 6,000,000 francs during his long professional life at the Theatre Francaise. When he retires from the stage in 1894, he will have been connected with that theater for fifty years.

The county commissioners of Carbon county, Pa., recently sold 10,000 acres of unredeemed mountain land. Some of it was sold for less than three cents an acre.

The Time to Counterfeit.

The best time to successfully counterfeit a coin is just after it is first issued. The new halves and quarter dollars are being successfully counterfeited just at present. The people have seen so few of the genuine new coins, owing to the fact that they have not worked their way westward, that they scarcely know what to expect. About half of the new half dollars in circulation in Kansas City are composed for a great part of lead, but well made. They won't ring at all when dropped on a hard surface.—Kansas City Times.

OH, SHOUTIN'S MIGHTY SWEET.

Oh, shoutin's mighty sweet
When yer shout when yer meet,
An sick han's roun an say:
"Bless Gord fur de meetin!
Bless Gord fur de greetin!"
Shoutin comes mighty easy dat a-way.

But ter shout when yer part,
An ter shout from yo' heart,
When yer gwine far away, far away,
Wid a lettin go han's
An a-facin strange han's,
Shoutin comes mighty hard such a day.

"Glory" sticks in yo' th'oat
At de whistle o' de boat,
Dat cuts lak a knife thro yo' heart;
An "Hallelujah" breaks
At de raisin o' de stakes
Dat loosens up de ropes ter let 'er start.

But ef yer fix yo' eye
On de writin in de sky,
Whar de "goodbys" is all strucken out,
An read de promius clair

You kin say far'well, my brothers, with a shout.

Den shout, brothers, shout!
Oh, tell yo' vict'ry out,
How neither death nur partin kin undo yer:
Look fust at yo' loss,
But last at de cross,
Singin glory, glory, glory hallelujah!
—Ruth M. Stuart in Harper's Bazar.

Hard to Satisfy.

Some persons are hard to satisfy. The thing in hand is of little worth, but the object beyond reach seems all desirable.

A clergyman in Maine, who lives near the seacoast, narrates an occurrence which gave him a moment of disappointment, but which has also supplied him with a very good story to tell.

He had planned a beautiful drive for the benefit of a lady from the west who was visiting his family—a lady who had never seen the ocean. The route was chosen in such a way that not a glimpse of the sea would be had until, at a certain bend in the road, the party would come out upon a high open space, commanding a magnificent view of the broad Atlantic.

As the carriage came out upon the plateau the clergyman turned a beaming face on the lady, expecting from her an exclamation of delight; but instead of happiness on her countenance, he saw a look of longing.

"Oh," she said, with a sigh, "how I wish I could see the Pacific!"—Youth's Companion.

Seen in the Metropolis.

A refuse cart was close to the curb on Thirty-seventh street, between Madison and Fifth avenues, recently, while the driver, a healthy young Irishman, talked to a woman who had on each side a little chap dressed in sailor costume. Most passersby must have taken her for a nurse out with her charges from one of the fashionable houses near by. After two minutes' talk the woman lifted the lads one by one to the side of the rough driver, who had carefully spread a piece of stout paper over his cargo to protect the clothing of the children.

One lad, tucked close under the driver's arm, was permitted to hold the reins, while the other poked the staid horse with a short stick. The three drove off eastward, smiling, while the woman followed on the sidewalk. The children were the driver's own, and they were as well dressed as half the children native to the locality in which the scene occurred.—New York Sun.

Books with Uncut Leaves.

A book, the leaves of which are uncut, possesses no value of an intrinsic character beyond one that is cut, but really less. For that matter, if it is to remain uncut, it is as valueless as it is useless. There is a class of book collectors, however, who place a premium upon books with uncut leaves, and so commend them in their advertisements and circulars. There are persons who load certain shelves in their libraries with uncut books. Of course they are not for use and are not used, and are valueless except for keeping.—Brooklyn Eagle.

How Fishes Multiply.

Piscatory authorities of the highest standard tell us that were it not for nature's grand "evening up" provisions, the fishes of the seas would multiply so rapidly that within three short years they would fill the waters to such an extent that there would be no room for them to swim. This will hardly be disputed when it is known that a single female cod will lay 45,000,000 eggs in a single season.—St. Louis Republic.

Honeymoon Cookery.

"And so my little wife cooked this all herself? What does she call it?"

"Well, I started it for bread, but after it came out of the oven I concluded I'd better put sauce on it and call it pudding."—Exchange.

There are but 190 colored voters in North Dakota. There are 15,000 in the city of Baltimore. Baltimore has an area of thirty-swo square miles; North Dakota has an area of 70,000 square miles.

Whittier, the poet, it is reported, said to the doctors in attendance a day or two before his death, "You have done the best possible, and I thank you; but it is of no use—I am worn out."

Strange stories are frequently told of the doings of electricity, and there is no doubt that of all the forces of nature this is the most capable of eccentric manifestation.

The pyrometer measures heat in degrees and fractions, and will give accurate figures even though the heat run up to the unthinkable intensity of 7,000 degs.

We learn from a doctor that stammering is almost unknown among savages. Is this infirmity, then, one of the penalties we pay for civilization?

The Formation of Heat.

M. Lagrange has communicated to the Belgian academy a paper on the formation of bodies in the universe. In this paper he expresses the opinion that, before any expenditure of work, the quantity of heat of the universe was nil, that the temperature was gradually raised above absolute zero at the expense of work done by attraction, and hence the formation of solid bodies must have preceded that of liquids and gases; that, through the gradual condensation of matter and consequent enormous development of heat, the earth would attain, at least in the parts near the surface, the state of fluidity necessary to its form and geological characters; then, as the temperature gradually rose with gradual agglomeration of matter, a very dense atmosphere would form, with pressure diminishing outward, and in a more advanced phase, the temperature of this, after reaching a maximum, would gradually diminish, causing liquefaction or solidification of certain matters at first vaporous, while other solid bodies might remain suspended in the atmosphere.

Briefly, M. Lagrange, in elucidation of the basis of his original and remarkable theory, as thus set forth, declares that space is occupied by two substances, namely: One, attractive, which is matter properly so called, or material atoms: the other, repulsive, which occupies the interatomic space, and from which results between any two atoms a variable repulsion exercised at the surface of the latter.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Yawning Witnesses.

A few evenings ago half a dozen men were sitting out in front of the Capital hotel discussing various topics, when Judge Yost, of the supreme court, in telling an anecdote of a trial, remarked that the witness yawned and he knew he was lying.

"How did you know?" was asked.

"Well, sir, I have seen witnesses lie and not yawn, but I never knew one to yawn that he was not telling a lie."

Judge Sims, the member of the legislature from Trigg, remarked, "Yes, I always know a witness is lying when he yawns."

Senator Dave Smith said, "It is almost invariably the case."

Judge Wall, the senator from Mason, came up and corroborated the statements of the others, and just then Judge Brent, of the superior court, joined the group. "When a witness yawns he is telling a lie, and he knows it."

Several other lawyers were appealed to, and all bore out the statements made. None, however, could explain the phenomenon. Judge Yost was the only one who had a theory, and that was that when a fellow was swearing to a lie he could not face the music, and his embarrassment found expression in yawns.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Quinine by Proxy.

Not long since, said the drummer, I was down in one of the ague districts of Indiana, and in front of my customer's store I saw a native sitting on the horse block. He seemed to be suffering and I went to him.

"What's the matter?" I inquired.

"Nothin much, mister," he replied with a wan smile. "I'm jest a settin here in the sun shakin."

"Got the chills?"

"That's what, mister."

"Why don't you take something for them?"

"I do, mister. That is, Sary does. She takes all the quinine for the family. Sary's my wife."

That was a new form of woman's devotion, and I was somewhat surprised at its discovery.

"Thunderation, man," I exclaimed. "that won't help you any."

"I guess you're mistaken, mister," he said, with stolid confidence. "I've had the chills for twenty-five years an they ain't killed me yit."—Detroit Free Press.

IMPORTANT DECISION.

Grade Assessment of Front Street Declared Void.

Last Saturday Judge McClinton rendered an important decision in the demurrer to the complaint in the case of the city of Port Angeles vs. S. P. Raymond, et al, for the collection of delinquent grade assessment on Front street. One of the essential points made in the demurrer was the fact that the ordinance passed by the council of the city of Port Angeles, authorizing the grading and improvement of the streets of the city was signed by the acting mayor. The statutes specifically provides that the mayor shall sign all ordinances, and nowhere provides that the acting mayor shall sign an ordinance.

Believing that the grade assessment was illegally made, property owners refused to pay the assessment. The city then brought suit against delinquents for the collection of such taxes. The demurrer was argued before the court a short time since, and after mature deliberation a decision was made sustaining the same.

It is not likely that the city will appeal the case, as the city attorney appears to recognize the efficiency, justice and statutory foundation of the points made by the defense and sustained by the court.

The attorneys for the defense was Judge Lane and Louis Williams, who managed the case with great skill and ability.

The following is a brief synopsis of the decision of the court:

"The determination of the question depends upon the validity of ordinance No. 26. Section 674 requires that every ordinance shall be signed by the mayor.

"Section 670 requires that the mayor shall preside at all meetings, and in his absence the council may appoint a president pro tem—for what? Evidently to preside at that meeting.

Section 684 provides for the appointment of a mayor pro tem. and defines his powers, but in nowhere says, nor does any section of the whole act say that either he or the president pro tem may sign an ordinance.

Ordinance No. 26 is signed by James Meagher under the familiar rule that the enumerated statutory power granted to an inferior board of officers, exclude the exercise of powers not so granted. I am impelled to the conclusion that said ordinance is invalid. The demurrer is sustained."

G. A. R. Entertainment.

Pacific post No. 48, G. A. R. and Pacific corps No. 21, W. R. C. gave a public installment and camp-fire at the opera house Monday evening. The entertainment was followed with a dance, both being largely attended. It was a most enjoyable evening's pastime.

THE NEW COMMISSIONERS.

They Meet, Organize, but Adjourn Without Doing More.

The board of county commissioners met Tuesday afternoon at the court house. John B. Knappman, Geo. Lamb and Anthony O'Brien, all being present.

Auditor John W. Troy was present as clerk and Sheriff Morse, County Attorney Bryan and Deputy County Clerk Macintosh were all present.

Anthony O'Brien was chosen chairman on Knappman's motion. This was done on account of O'Brien being a resident of the county seat, which made matters more convenient for county officers, especially for the board itself.

County Attorney Bryan gave it as his opinion that the county commissioners could not do any business without giving due notice, until the regular February meeting, other than to organize.

The terms of the commissioners are as follows:

Mr. Knapman four years and Messrs. O'Brien and Lamb for two years. In two years from now Mr. O'Brien's successor will be elected for four years.

The board then adjourned. Matters of general importance were talked over for an hour or two. The county officers all showed an earnest desire to discharge their official duties and to serve the people well.

Angeles Water Frontage.

It doubtless is not generally known, but nevertheless is a fact that Port Angeles has a greater water frontage of tide lands than any other harbor on the Sound. There is at least seventeen miles of water frontage contained within the city limits. Beginning at a point two miles beyond the eastern limits of the city and proceeding west following the meander line of the harbor round the spit to two miles beyond the western limits of city and returning with the outer limit of the tide land to the point of beginning is fully seventeen miles. The work of surveying and platting the tide lands will take at least two and possibly three months.

Squatters' Association Officers.

The following officers were elected by the Squatter's Association for the ensuing year, last Monday evening: G. V. Smith, president; M. E. Lashley, secretary; Frank Baker, treasurer. The following trustees were also elected: L. Sparth, A. Habergarten, M. A. Foster, Wm. Starret and Henry Genck.

To manufacturers like the Royal Baking Powder Company, the public is under a large debt of gratitude for the large increased purity of articles of food sold at the present day. The reports of the official Government investigating the baking powders show the Royal to be stronger and purer than any other. It is quite evident that neither ingenuity, science nor expense can in any way improve upon the Royal Baking Powder as now before the public.

COLUMBUS DISCOVERED

America in 1492. Everybody knows that; but who Discovered Columbus?

We will not try to answer this question, but judging from the number of BOOTS and SHOES we are selling we know that the people of Port Angeles and Clallam County,

HAVE DISCOVERED

That the NEW YORK BOOT AND SHOE HOUSE is the best and cheapest place in town to buy their footwear.

WHY?

BECAUSE—Bright folks take heed of other people's experience. Few things cost more in this world than experience. Now our experience in the shoe trade has been quite extensive. All our customers get the benefit of our experience, for by it we are able to sell the best goods for the least money.
