WILL MAKE PAYMENTS

Of $150.00 Per Month on The Electric Light Machinery

City Council met Wednesday night with all present.

City Clerk Smith read a letter from Whittler-Corbin Co. to the effect that if action were not taken at once in regard to paying for the light plant machinery, the company would take the machinery according to the sale contract. The matter was debated upon and it was decided to accept the company's proposition that the city pay $150 per month. A resolution was then adopted to take the balance in two special funds, Dist. No. 1 and Front St. Extension Fund, and, placing these in the Electric Light Fund, forward to the Wittler-Corbin Co. $300. The city will, after this, be able to pay $150 per month.

Mr. Hallahan informed the council that there was a bill to come up before the State Legislature to oblige cities to pay to the state 25 per cent of their license revenue. He made a motion that Dyke be asked to work against this bill. Carried.

Rev. Cheal asked that the light rate for the Episcopal church be reduced, since lights are used there only on Sunday nights. Referred to electric light committee.

A communication from C. S. Dale was read; Mr. Dale requested that he be allowed for his cigar store one 32-candle power light free of charge. The request was granted.

Mr. Hallahan and Mr. Bown brought up the matter of street lights at Peabody street bridge, Cor. Front and Chase, and on Tumwater Hill. These places should undoubtedly be lighted. Referred to the light committee.

The city clerk's Statement of Revenues and Disbursements for the year was read and referred to the finance committee.

HONOR THEIR DEAD

Rev. W. H. Whelan Will Give Lecture on "Gettysburg" at Entertainment.

The local G. A. R. Post and Women's Relief Corps will conduct an entertainment on Friday night, February 10th, next, in the opera house for the purpose of raising funds for building a stone monument in the cemetery plat to the known and unknown dead comrades.

The chief item of the entertainment will be a lecture on "Gettysburg" by Rev. W. H. Whelan, who participated in that engagement. Mr. Whelan volunteers his services, and the comrades and lady friends are doing all in their power to make the affair a grand success.

Supper will be served on tables ranged on the stage and a common charge of 50 cents to all will admit the holder of a ticket to a seat at the table as well as to a seat in the house. Music, singing and recitations will begin the evening.

The decorations will be lavish and the supper fully up to the high reputation of the post and corps. There will be no reserved seats.

Those who have heard Mr. Whelan in the pulpit know how effective he must be in a lecture.

Fancy Dress Ball Feb. 14th

The "Fancy Dress Ball" to be given by the Civic Club on the evening of St. Valentine's Day bids fair to be the event of the season. Candy booths and a Valentine Post Office will be presided over by the most popular young ladies of the city. An oyster supper will be served during the evening on the stage, by the ladies of the club. A prize will be awarded the person wearing the best "Flower" costume. Music by the best home talent.

ST. PETERSBURG RIOTS

Troops Fire on Workingmen; City Under Martial Law

Last Saturday the strike indications in Russia, especially in St. Petersburg, became very critical. The trouble began with the textile workers, but spread until every important industry was closed. Soon nearly 100,000 men struck and were parading the streets. Father Gopon, being at the head of the strikers, endeavored to have the czar listen to the delegation of strikers while a petition was read asking for eight hours' work, more pay, and greater freedom. This was refused and extra troops were stationed to stop any delegation which might attempt to go to the winter palace.

Sunday, a procession of some 8,000 strikers, headed by Father Gopon, marched to the palace and upon reaching the square were ordered to disperse by the troops. They kept on, however, and were met by a volley of blank cartridges. As they still advanced, the troops fired with ball, many of the strikers being killed; Gopon escaped. There were many conflicts in different parts of the city, barricades being thrown up by the strikers, behind which they endeavored to check the troops. The number of those killed cannot be ascertained.

All was quiet Monday, but the city was under strict military guard and very little business was done. Thursday the situation remained about the same in St. Petersburg, but in Moscow and several other cities men began to strike.

The Czar issued an ultimatum on Wednesday which was posted at all public places, requiring the laborers to return to duty in twenty-four hours or be deported to villages.

PILES WON OUT

Elected on Thirteenth Ballot by Sweeny's Withdrawal

The Hon. Samuel H. Piles, of Seattle, was elected United States Senator, to succeed Hon. A. G. Foster, of Tacoma, today, on the 13th ballot. His election was made possible by the withdrawal of Sweeny, of Spokane, in his favor. Upon the announcement of Sweeny's withdrawal, a stampede for the bandwagon was inaugurated, with the result that Piles went in with 125 votes.

Senator-elect Piles is a prominent railroad lawyer of Seattle and will undoubtedly make a record for himself in the senate.

The Times Mart are issuing checks with cash purchases; on a $30 compartment trunk.

Eastern oysters served by Civic Club at opera house on the evening of February 14th.

THE CITY'S PROBLEM

The Future of the City Lighting Plant May Be Thus Aptly Termed.

The new City Administration has without doubt fallen heir to many perplexing problems for which they will be called upon to furnish a solution, and in all probabilities the chief among these is the future of the City Lighting Plant.

We want to say that we are heartily in favor of the City owning and operating its own lighting plant, but at the same time we are not in favor of the City owning or operating a lighting plant, or any other kind of a plant, when it cannot be done without incurring a steady and continuous deficit; and when it becomes manifest that the income of the lighting plant will not pay the operating expenses and the cost of maintaining the plant, then we believe that the application of plain business principles requires that the City go out of the lighting business and confine itself strictly to the governing business. However, we do not believe that the time is anywhere near at hand when the City will be obliged to close down its plant, but in order to put the plant upon a self-supporting basis, to say nothing of a debt reducing basis, the present council will have to take some active measures to that end and will have to have to apply to the management and affairs of the City plant the same methods and principles of business which would be applied if the plant were owned and operated by and for the benefit of private interests.

In arriving at this end it would seem to us that the first question which our City fathers would be called upon to consider would be, is the plant being operated as economically as possible? If it is not then the gentlemen of the council are not applying the same principles of business to the affairs of the City which they would apply to their own affairs, and to that extent are derelict in their duty. Of course we do not advocate sacrifice of efficiency in order to reduce operating expenses, but if there are any loose ends which can be cut off, if there is any extravagance in any department, the official axe should get in its work and do some trimming. A saving of $300 a year in operating expenses would pay the interest for a year on $5,000.00 of the bonded indebtedness against the plant.

Wouldn't it be a good thing for the council to investigate?

QUARRY STARTS TUESDAY

Mr. Barnett says he will be ready to put a crew on at the quarry by next Tuesday. The heavy power machines, engine, boiler, and dynamo for the electric drill work, are now in place and the belting is being adjusted. About twenty-five men will be employed. With the present equipment some 300 tons of rock can be handled daily.

See the large assortment of Shirts in the window at the Times Clothing Mart. These are regular $1.00 goods and excellent values at that price; now going at 35c each.

Capt. Henry Hansen Dead

Captain Henry Hansen, of Dungeness, died at his home Wednesday morning. Capt. Hansen was in Angeles a week ago and contracted a cold which rapidly developed into an acute case of pneumonia which resulted in death about four o'clock Wednesday morning. The funeral was held at Dungeness today under the auspices of the Elks, of which order deceased was a both a prominent and valued member.

COMPANY CAN GET BUSY

Alleged Assignment Declared Null and Void

A decision was handed down Saturday, the 21st inst., in the cause of Angeles Wood & Logging Co. vs. Day, which was taken under advisement by Judge Hatch, on the 9th inst. The Court finds that the alleged assignment of the property of the company to Day was null and void and of no effect and orders the same vacated and set aside and cancelled and of record and ordered Day to return to the officers of the company all the property he acquired possession of by virtue of the attempted assignment.

The Court also finds that Bennett and Mason, who claimed to be Vice-President and Secretary of the corporation, respectively and members of the board of trustees, were not such officers and had no power or authority to act for the company.

Mr. K. C. Farrar is the president of the corporation and states that as soon as its affairs can be adjusted and a reorganization effected, they expect to be doing business.

It would seem that a wood business, employing machinery to do the culting, should be a success and effect a considerable saving in the price of wood to consumers, as well as provide a profitable business for the company.

DEATH BROUGHT RELIEF.

Mr. Van Tassell, assistant engineer of the Olympia, died at the hospital Tuesday night. It was thought, at first, that the injured man who was frightfully scalded by the bursting of the crown sheet of the steamer's boiler, had a chance for recovery; his burns, however, were of such a serious nature that he succumbed to them. His brother was here on Monday but was called to Seattle. The remains were shipped to Seattle. As to how the accident happened, accounts are conflicting; but the most probable is that Van Tassell was examining the firebox when the accident occurred sending steam and hot water in his face. He was 26 years of age and unmarried.

Mr. Shyder, chief engineer, was also scalded, is at the hospital and although badly injured he will recover. He is a brother of E. A. Snyder of this city.

Nothing is so conducive to the peace of mind of the good housewife as a few cans of Reliance vegetables from which to select the basis of a good dinner. E. E. Seevers sells them because they are guaranteed the best.

The best representation of a flower wins the prize at the opera house on the evening of St. Valentine's Day.

SOCIAL, CLUB, AND LODGE NOTES

Maccabees Entertain Invited Guests With Installation and Program.

The Maccabees' Installation

A large number of invited guests met with the Maccabees on Tuesday evening to witness the impressive ceremony of installing their newly elected officers. State Commander Mrs. Stewart, who is also known as mother of the Maccabee lodge of Port Angeles, was present to preside over the ceremonies, which she did in her usual dignified and pleasing manner. The following officers were installed according to the rules and regulations of the lodge:

Past Lady Commander, . . Mrs. John Cain
Lieut.-Commander, . . Mrs. E. E. Hopkins
Record Keeper, ... Mrs. L. E. Mahaffy
Finance Keeper, ... Mrs. G. Clementson
Chaplain, ... Mrs. Susan Phelps
Mistress at Arms, ... Mrs. Turkington
Sergeant, ... Mrs. J. E. Thomas
Sentinel, ... Mrs. C. E. Nailor
Picket, ... Mrs. Christopherson

Mrs. Oscar Morse was elected commander before her departure for the East; Mrs. Hopkins will fill her office until she returns.

Odd Fellows' hall, where their meetings are held, was gaily decorated in red, white and blue, and presented a pleasing appearance.

After the installation, Mrs. Stewart and Mrs. Hansen were asked to come forward, when Mrs. Phelps, in behalf of the lodge, presented Mrs. Stewart with a beautiful set of sterling silver spoons, as a token of the love and esteem in which she is held by the members.

Mrs. Hickok then presented Mrs. Hansen with a set of fruit knives, saying they were given to show how much the lodge valued and appreciated her services as commander, which office she had filled so faithfully in the absence of their commander, Mrs. C. P. Brown.

Mrs. Stewart, in thanking the ladies, gave a very interesting talk, also, on her work in the lodge since its days of infancy, and Mrs. Hansen accepted her gift with a few well chosen remarks.

Mrs. Elmer Fisher then announced that the ladies had prepared a program for the entertainment of their guests, which was opened with a very pretty little song by Cecil Smith, received with hearty applause.

Maud Hirsch followed with a piano solo, which was greatly enjoyed.

Nine little misses attired as tho just from the land of parasols, fans and kimonas, then sang a song entitled "A Chinese Maid" which was given in so charming a manner they had to respond to an encore. Those taking part were: Margaret Ritchie, Maud Hirsch, Helen Trumbull, Evelyn Mahaffy, Floy Mahaffy, Laura Hopkins, Athelene Fisher, Clio Appleton, and Angeline Ritchie.

The excellent performance of the little maids was largely due to the painstaking training of Mrs. Geo. Wiggins, who also presided at the piano thruout the ceremony and program.

Mrs. John Trumbull was next on the program for a recitation—"A Legend of a Storm," which bro't fourth a round of applause from all her listeners.

The "Sweet Family" then made their appearance upon the stage and were greeted with roars of laughter. Their costumes were indeed fearfully and wonderfully made. Widow Sweet was impersonated by Miss Annette Trumbull, and her seven talented daughters by Mesdames Hickok, Hansen, Hopkins, Nailor, Thomas, Smith, and Miss Tyrrell. They all acted their parts well, creating no end of fun for their audience. Their program consisted of instrumental music on a choice variety of instruments, and pathetic songs and recitations given in a most mirth-provoking manner, but which brot forth tears and groans from the performers themselves.

The tables were then tastefully spread and all sorts of good things to eat were produced and a very pleasant social hour was spent. The Maccabees surely deserve their reputation as royal entertainers and having once been their guest one will always be glad to again accept of their hospitality.

The Manhattan Whist Club

The Manhattan Whist Club was entertained by Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Delabarre, on Monday evening. The usual two hours play at progressive whist was indulged in, after which a delightful lunch was served.

There was only one regrettable feature of the entire evening; one of the members of the club, a prominent merchant who has heretofore borne an enviable reputation for integrity, was discovered trying to short change his successful opponent; his explanations and avowals of mistake in this regard might have been accepted had not the additional charge of introducing spurious counters into the circulation been made; if the party making this charge had been sure of his facts, an investigation would have been ordered, but under the circumstances the matter had to be dropped.

The club adjourned its session at midnight and will meet next week with Mr. and Mrs. Farmer.

Port Angeles Whist Club

The Port Angeles Whist Club met at the residence of John Trumbull Monday evening. Three tables were in play, Messrs. Christensen, Chenery, Gierin and S. M. Cooke acting as substitutes for Messrs. Lewis, Shute, Cross and Craig, respectively. The score was: Brophy and Ovington vs. Cooke and Chenery, 112 to 107; Aldwell and Gierin vs. Christensen and Mathewson, 108 to 106; Cooke and Trumbull vs. Appleton and Sawyer, 103 to 101.

A Commendable Undertaking

A goodly number of kindly disposed people on Lincoln Heights met with Mrs. LaFlower Wednesday afternoon of this week and decided to give a series of ten cent teas for the purpose of raising funds to buy material with which to make clothes for some of the very needy children in their part of the city. The first tea will be given at the home of Mrs. I. Filion on next Wednesday afternoon from 2 till 5. This is a most commendable undertaking and we wish the ladies success.

For Soldiers' Monument Fund

Rev. W. H. Whelan will lecture on "Gettysburg" on Friday evening, 10th, at the opera house, the proceeds to be applied on the soldiers' monument fund. There will be other features to the program, and the ladies of the Relief Corps will serve an excellent supper on the stage.

The Ladies' Guild

The Ladies' Guild of the Episcopal Church will give a ten cent tea at the home of Mrs. McGillivray on next Tuesday afternoon between three and five. All are invited.

On Monday night of this week a little benefit ball was given by some interested friends on Lincoln Heights to raise some "pin money" for Mrs. Patterson, who was unfortunate enough to fall and break her wrist.

On Valentine's Day the Civic Club will give a fancy dress ball at the opera house, the ladies being dressed to represent flowers.

The Saturday Club

The Saturday Club met last week with Mrs. Lloyd Aldwell and were highly entertained by Rev. Cheal, who gave a splendid address on Westminister Abbey. As the club has been studying Poland to some extent, Mrs. Aldwell favored the members with two selections of Polish music: "Poland's Dirge" and "The Maiden's Wish," both by Chopin. After dainty refreshments the meeting adjourned to meet this week with Mrs. Herbert Babcock.

Woman's Parliamentary Club

The Parliamentary Club met with Mrs. John Trumbull on the 21st. It was Literature Day and, besides the customary study of parliamentary law, a sketch of Empress Josephine's life was given by Mrs. J. E. Thomas and a talk on The Renaissance by G. V. Smith.

Baptist Ladies' Aid Tea

The Ladies' Aid of the Baptist Church met with Mrs. Whelan Wednesday afternoon. After the sewing and business was disposed of, the usual tea was served to all who called.

Friday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. S. G. Morse the juvenile society of the Kings Herald met. Sixty or seventy of the young people attended. A musical program was enjoyed and refreshments served. This is the first meeting of this society gotten up by the ladies of the M. E. church.

Mr. and Mrs. Ovington entertained a number of her friends a dinner party last Saturday in honor of Mrs. Quimby, who is visiting her sister, Mrs. F. A. Cooke.

Don't forget to call for your Valentine at the opera house, St. Valentine's night.

FUNERAL OF MRS. RISTINE

The funeral of Mrs. Alzina Ristine was held from the family residence on Lincoln Heights, this city, Thursday, January 26th, at 1:30 o'clock p. m., the services being conducted by the Rev. J. A. Baldridge.

Mrs. Ristine, whose former name was Wilbur, was a native of Pennsylvania or New Jersey, the facts of her birth-place and early life not being ascertainable. She was united in marriage to Mr. J. H. Ristine Nov. 21, 1886, at Aspen, Pitkin Co., Colo., they having lived happily together more than seventeen years. She quietly passed away, after a brief illness, Tuesday, Jan. 24th, about 9 o'clock a. m., and was 67 years of age.

By her former marriage to a Mr. Wilbur, Mrs. Ristine was the mother of five children, four sons and one daughter; two sons only are now living, neither of whom was able to be present on this occasion.

A large and sympathetic concourse of people was present at the services, Mrs. Ristine being a person of more than usual character, influence, and service to others. Beautiful flowers, by the hands of loving and tender hearts, were in profusion, and the choir rendered most suitable music from the mystic song-book of Spiritualism. It was an occasion not soon to be forgotten. After reading of the Scripture lesson and a brief and tender prayer, Mr. Baldridge, in part, said:

"I am not here today, my friends, so much as a preacher as a friend. I myself am one of the mourners. This home has been one of hospitality, sympathy, and fellowship to us. Other homes afford hospitality, for we have a kind people, but this home excelled. Mrs. Ristine had a motherly spirit, a kindly sympathy, which gives to one a feeling of welcome and genuine fellowship. She lived for others, gave her life to the service of others, and was in sympathy with every struggling one. Only about two weeks ago we were here and spent the day, and returned to our home feeling the joy of fellowship and the touch of sympathetic hearts.

In regard to Mrs. Ristine's religious faith, I may say that her faith went out in two directions, first, she affiliated with what is known as modern Spiritualism. But this term is rather indefinite, Spiritualism having so many phases and so many degrees, I may perhaps best state her real ideal as the unity of life, here and there, and the communion of spirit with spirit. She accepted certain psychic phenomena as pertaining to spiritualistic research, but I may say that, as I understood her thought, the emphasis in her mind was placed upon the oneness of the world, of mankind, and the intercourse of spirit with spirit. To her, it was not so much a matter of psychic phenomena as that of a religious faith and hope and service. Some lines from a poem of Tennyson's may serve to illustrate her ideal:

"Speak to Him, thou for He hears,
And spirit may with spirit meet;
Closer is He than breathing,
Nearer than hands or feet."

Then, second, Mrs. Ristine was devoted to what is known as Modern Socialism. Believing in the unity of the world and of mankind, she also held the same ideal in regard to the civic and economic life of the people. She believed that each should work for all and all for each — that brotherhood carried out through co-operation in the economic life of the people is the only hope of permanent relief for toilers of earth. To this end, she devoted her life and service, and one of her last duties outside of her home was in this cause of struggling humanity. And it was her earnest desire, after her departure, that this should be understood as her testimony and the fervent desire of her life's work.

The moral philosophy of the great German Divine, Rothe, may sum up the ideal of our departed friend:

"Whoever starts from moral unbelief, not only cannot lead in human affairs, but must follow with reluctant steps; for we are already within the Kingdom of the redemption, and no longer in the kingdoms of this world."

Now, in closing, permit me to say that over and above all our opinions, theories, and philosophies of life and its eternal duties, we are, each of us, a soul—individual and distinct—a soul allied to the infinite, the eternal, and with capacities of infinite possibilities, growth, progress. Every soul has a life distinctly its own—a sphere of service and responsibility that none other can fill. Let us fill it as true men and women.

I will now close by reading an original poem entitled, "Hopes Growing Vision."

HOPE'S GROWING VISION.

Silent in the soul gleams the human hope
Of a mystery of life too great to know,—
But within which we are forever bound,
And with it, 'tis decreed, we're ever to grow.

At times, so vast is the tho't in itself,
That the soul is awed with a rev'rence deep;
But a voice from within confirms the truth
And the soul is assured our God will keep.

The fitful life of this imperfect state
Is but the shadows of what is to come;
Of a sphere fruitful with the joy of life,
And where the soul shall be at rest—at home.

Visions clear of an Eden yet to be,
In its lucid moments engage the soul;
Of an Eden in which there is no death,
While the cycles of the ages shall roll.

As we onward press in the soul's fond search,
The immortal heights come plainer to view;
And the Unseen becomes the Real in life,
As we bid these passing scenes adieu.

'Tis Eternal Hope that uplifts the soul,
And inspire it with a purpose divine;
Transforms earth's cross into pinnacles of view;
From whose heights off earthly senses refine.

Then ev'ry soul its own pathway pursues,
And ever beholds its own vision fond;
Whatever vantage it may thus have gained,
The immortal regions rise still beyond.

This Mystic Hope is the hope of mankind,
The symbol and promise of what's to be;
The Christ has revealed and crowned the way,
And left us footprints of IMMORTALITY.

CARD OF THANKS.

I desire to extend our deep sense of gratitude to all the kind friends and neighbors who, in so great thoughtfulness and real sympathy, ministered to us in our recent bereavement. It is love and sympathy, in times like this, that bind us into the bond of a common fellowship. J. H. RISTINE.

Peter Dippold died Saturday. Mr. Dippold has been ill for some time, suffering from consumption. He leaves a wife and six children, three boys and three girls. All of the girls and one of the boys are married. The funeral was held Monday from his late residence.

At the hospital, on Friday, William Carey passed on. He had suffered from stomach troubles for some time; but the immediate cause of his death was a shock. He was buried Sunday from the Catholic church. He leaves two sons, one here and one in St. Paul.

Miss Grace McIvor returned from Seattle Monday.

Mrs. C. L. Lamp, Chris. Dippold and Miss Dippold came here Monday to attend their father's funeral.

One of the scholars taking the examination in bookkeeping in our high school, stated that one's resources were his regular customers, and his liabilities those who traded with him once in awhile; or words to that effect.

RECIPES FROM ANGELES' FAMOUS COOKS

Edited by Mrs. Webster.

MRS. F. W. ALDWELL'S SPICED ROUND OF BEEF.

Place round of beef on a platter. Mix well four dessert spoons each of pepper and allspice, two of cloves, two of saltpetre, twelve of salt and four tablespoons molasses; rub this into both sides of the round every day for three weeks. When ready to cook, wipe dry and rub in some butter; put over the round a crust made of flour and water; cook a ten or twelve pound round three hours.

MRS. MCCLINTON'S SCRAPPEL.

Take the lower jaw, the heart, and the legs (from the knees down) of a hog and boil until the meat will leave the bone. Remove the gristle and bones and chop fine. Set the liquor in which the meat was boiled away to cool. Take the fat from top of liquor and return liquor to fire; when it boils again put in chopped meat; now add salt and pepper. Let it boil again and thicken with corn meal as you would in making ordinary corn meal mush, by letting the meal slide through the fingers to prevent lumps. Cook slowly one hour, mostly on the back of stove. When done put in molds, not too deep. Slice and fry for breakfast. A delicious breakfast dish, and will keep a long time if kept in a cool place. For those who like sage, it can be added.

MRS. A. A. RICHARDSON'S STEWED WILD DUCK.

Cut up duck and soak in cold salt water over night. Chop salt pork size of dice (about one-half pound for two ducks) and fry out in bottom of kettle. Drop duck into hot pork and fry for twenty minutes. Add a little hot water and two onions chopped finely and stew for one hour tightly covered. Make gravy and serve with olives.

MRS. JOHN TRUMBULL'S VEAL LOAF

Three pounds of leg or loin of veal, and three-fourths pound salt pork, chopped finely together; roll one dozen crackers, put half of them in the veal with two eggs well beaten; season with pepper and a little salt if needed; mix all together and make into a solid form; then take the crackers that are left and spread smoothly over the outside. Bake one hour, basting occasionally, and serve cold in slices.

MISS BASHFUL'S STUFFED BEEF STEAK.

Select a nice round steak, pound well and season with salt, pepper and a little sage. Spread over it a dressing made of bread crumbs moistened with milk and butter, roll up and tie, place in a pan with a little water and a little flour and bake slowly, basting often. Cook one hour.

Remember the fancy dress ball on Valentine's Day.
