New Railway Corporation Asks Council for Seven Franchises.

The new railway corporation presented seven franchises for consideration at Tuesday evening's session of council. The main franchise would grant the right to lay one or more standard gauge tracks along Victoria and First streets and on to head of bay, and also to the use of Third or Fourth and M streets in reaching the southern limits of city. The other franchises would grant the use of Liberty, Francis, Lincoln, Cherry, Pine and Cedar streets for wharfage purposes.

Mr. Turner was unable to be present and had asked M. J. Carrigan to represent him. After reading of articles of incorporation of the "Port Angeles and Peninsular R. R. Co.," the seven franchises were read and referred to a committee of the whole council with city attorney for consideratin.

The grade as outlined would commence at eastern extremity of Victoria street and continue along said street to its intersection with Front and Chase; along Front to Lincoln; along Lincoln in a southerly direction to First, First to Tumwater, Tumwater, to Third, Third to E; along what is known as Railroad Avenue in front of the Sampson tract and to the end of said avenue. Also, beginning at Third and E, running westerly to eastern boundary of Sampson tract, along Third or Fourth to M and along M to southern boundary of city. Right would be given to diverge the route at any points if found necessary, upon final survey, to obtain a practicable grade.

Conditions of franchise would rebuire that or or before December 31, 1905, twenty-five miles of line should have been surveyed and located in a westerly or south-westerly direction; that on or before December 31, 1906, at least twenty-five miles shall be completed and in operation, and on or before December 31, 1907, the line shall have been completed and in operation to a point on or in the near vicinity of the Quillayute river, a distance of about seventy-five miles, where connection will be effected, as soon as practicable, with the line of the Northern Pacific Railway, now building north from Grays Harbor.

That a bond in the sum of $50,000 shall be delivered to the city, on or before December 31, 1905, guaranteeing the main line to be completed and in operation to the Quillayute on or before December 31, 1907; ordinances to be forfeited if bond be not delivered. Ordinances also to be forfeited if company fails to operate at least one train each way each secular day over the 25 miles as soon as completed. And to fail or neglect for ninety days at any time to comply with provisions of ordinance shall cause forfeiture.

Other sections relate to minor matters concerning regulation of traffic, etc.

The wharf franchises are for ten year periods and provide for the customary regulations; they are subject to the same conditions regarding forfeiture as the main franchise.

A meeting of the committee of the whole will be held Monday evening, when it is expected Mr. Turner will be present, and the ordinances will be gone over in detail; a number of changes and some additions will be made. The question of bond guaranty will, perhaps, be the principal point for consideration. It is thought there is no provision in law for either a bond or a cash forfeiture and some other way will probably be devised of securing the city.

MEMORIAL SERVICES

Will Be Held at Opera House Sunday at 2:30.

Memorial Services for the dead in the Bennington disaster will be held in the opera house on Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, when the officers and men of the fleet with the ladies of the officers' families will unite with our people in doing honor to the memory of the men who died in the performance of duty.

The Rev. W. H. Whelan will preach the sermon; Miss McKee and Miss Elliott will have charge of the music and the volunteer choir of the churches will be augmented by ten or more voices from the fleet. Marines will act as ushers, and a detail of men will assist Mr. Bork and Mrs. Alice Watkins, President of the Relief Corps, in decorating the hall.

Capt. Niles, senior officer present, enters heartily into the undertaking, and has placed at the disposal of the committee all aid in his power. The ladies of the city are requested to bring fresh cut flowers and bouquets on Sunday, at 2 p. m., and to see, without further notice, that the ladies of the naval families are remembered with presents of these bouquets.

The officers of the fleet with ladies of the families will be on the stage with representatives of the City, the Government and the Press.

All the ladies are requested to remove their hats during service.

Arctic Regions.

For the purpose of paying off a small debt which burdens the Baptist church people, the Rev. Whelan will give his lecture on "A Trip to Arctic Regions," in the church on the evening of Friday, August 11th next. Those who have never been north of the arctic circle will be interested in this lecture. Admission 25cts.; no reserved seats.

"Port of the Angels."

This watchword of ours,
For the city of flowers,
The winds and the waves shall deliver.
She's the Queen of the "West"
In her garlands dressed
Her beauty endureth forever.

MRS. JNO. TRUMBULL.

Rev. H. Williston, J. P. Marlatt, D. D., of Tacoma; Rev. Drahn, Miss Palmer, Miss Franklin Baxter, Miss Irene McDonald, Will Barnett, Mr. Webber and Mr. Glass made up an Angeles mountain party this week. They report a fine time, going to the top of the second peak.

TO BOOST FOR PORT ANGELES

Lincoln's "Port of the Angels" the Watchword Selected by Civic Club.

Hostess Mrs. T. J. Appleton, accompanied by Mesdames C.H. Hirsch, W. L. Church, and Ed. Gierin, as assistants, left Thursday morning for Portland, where they represent Clallam county during "Angeles week" at the Washington building. Mrs. R. D. Willson, who also went as assistant hostess, left this morning, having waited for the completion of the advertising matter provided by the Civic Club.

The photographs, 3,000 of which are to be given to visitors as souvenirs, are of large size and fine workmanship. They represent the various industries and the resources of the county and include a number of views of the scenery for which the Olympic peninsula is so justly famous. Each photo is enclosed in an envelope, 8 by 11 in size, on the face of which, printed in Washington's perennial green, is given a brief summary of the main facts regarding our county's resources, business interests, climate, etc.

In the center of the envelopes the watchword selected by the Civic Club is printed in red. Ten thousand envelope slips of a dull-finish dark red cover have also been printed with the watchword, "Come to Lincoln's 'Port of the Angels,' Port Angeles, Washington, on Puget Sound," for distribution at the Exposition and to be used by our merchants.

"THE BOSTONIAN"

Magazine Published by Crew of U. S. S. Boston.

We are indebted to A. S. Freedman, Chief Yeoman, for a copy of the June issue (Vol. I., No. 2), of the Bostonian, published by the crew of the U.S.S.Boston. It is a 24-page magazine of goodly size, a model of printing, and contains a number of very interesting articles. No. 1 was published in April while in Honolulu; this issue while at the Mare Island navy yard.

We note that Commander K. Niles has, in addition to fifteen assistant officers, a crew of 237 and a marine guard of 35. The expenses of the ship for fiscal year ending June 30, 1904, was $240,601.71, nearly half of which was paid to officers and men; sixty thousand was expended for steam engineering stores and fourteen thousand for ordinance stores.

The vessels of the Pacific squadron, of which Rear-Admiral Casper F. Goodrich is Commander-in-Chief, are given as:

Chicago, protected cruiser, 5,000 tons, Capt. E. K. Moore, commanding.

Boston, protected cruiser, 3,000 tons, Commander K. Niles, commanding.

Marblehead, unprotected cruiser, 2,089 tons, Commander F. H. Holmes, commanding.

Bennington, gunboat, 1,710 tons, Commander L. Young, commanding.

Princeton, gunboat 1,000 tons, Lieut.-Commander F. H. Sherman, commanding.

Wyoming, monitor, 3,215 tons, Commander J. E. Roller, commanding.

Paul Jones, torpedo boat destroyer, 420 tons, Lieut. G. C. Davidson, commanding.

Perry, torpedo boat destroyer, 420 tons, Lieut. F. H. Schofield, commanding.

Saturn, collier, 6,220 tons, J. Newell, master.

Marblehead Leaves Tonight

Several vessels of the Pacific Squadron arrived here last Tuesday for the August maneuvers and target practice. The vessels arriving were the cruisers Boston, Marblehead, torpedo-boat destroyers Perry and Paul Jones, and collier Saturn. The Flagship Chicago with Admiral Goodrich on board, proceeded to to San Diego, where Admiral Goodrich will preside over a court of inquiry in lne Bennington disaster. The latest reports give the number of dead as a result of the Bennington disaster as sixty-five.

The Marblehead, it is reported, will leave this evening at 9 o'clock for San Diego to tow the Wyoming to Mare Island for repairs, the Wyoming having lost a blade of her propeller and is unable to travel.

Its Not Exaggerated, Either

L. E. Doyle brought in two exhibits for the Clallam county display at Portland, this week, which are markers for any locality. Two bunches of oats, or rather two single plants, that made a good load for one man to carry; the stems were as large as lead pencils and when stood upon the floor the tops reached above the door. They were grown on his mother's place, on Tumwater Hill. The other sample was a bunch of rhubarb, second crop, three feet long and large as fence posts. One stalk would make a family baking of pies.

Services in English.

Services at the Ev. Lutheran church. Sermon and Sunday school at the usual hours. In the evening there will be services and preaching in the English language at 8 o'clock. All are cordially invited. This is the first English meeting in our church; let us therefore have a large attendance. There will be English services in the church every alternate Sunday, as in the morning. All who have Gospel Hymn books are requested to bring them to the evening service Sunday.

Have a Fair Start.

Up to Saturday evening last the Manhattan Packing Co. had 20,000 cans of salmon ready for the labels; this weight has caused the wharf to settle 3 inches. Since then they have been receiving from 8 to 10,000 fish per day, and the prospects are good for a pack that will be fully up to expectations.

James Kelly, eight years old, while playing on a fence at his father's home, near Blyn, fell off and broke his arm. His sister immediately started for Angeles with the boy in a buggy arriving early this morning and the little fellow is resting easy with good care at the Turkington Hospital.

CRIMINAL NEGLIGENCE.

Reports as given in the papers would seem to indicate that the disaster to the Bennington was the logical result of negligence on the part of officials at the navy department. It is said that there are on file reports made last fall by Commander Kossuth Niles, then on the Bennington, to the effect that the boilers needed repairs, and that an inspector recommended repairs of an extensive nature last April. The disaster, second in our navy only to that of the Maine, will be thoroughly investigated by a board of inquiry appointed by Admiral Goodrich, and we may expect that the results of the investigation will be such that it will be a long time before an accident will occur again.

IRONING FRONT STREET

The railroad franchise as submitted to the council for consideration contemplates the laying of track across Front at Lincoln and along First. This would require a tunnel or deep cut thru the bluff, to avoid which the use of Front street has been suggested. It has been pretty well ascertained that a majority of our business men would prefer the track to be laid on Front, believing there would be less danger of accidents than if laid on First, as in the latter case all children would be compelled to cross it in order to reach the business street. In this connection, with our past attempts at railroad building before us as examples, we would suggest the advisibility of the council's prohibiting the laying of track east of Oak, at least, until the first twenty-five miles of road be completed and in operation. The new company will, no doubt, have to go through the old familiar routine of surveying and perhaps of initial construction before financing the road, and, should unforseen difficulties arise, it would be best not to have our streets encumbered for years with useless iron.

THE TRUE BOOSTERS.

There may be some question as to the advisibility of providing entertainment for Angeles week at the Washington Building when Clallam county is almost the only one not represented by an exhibit, and there may be some doubt as to the honor conferred by the appointment as hostess representing a people so apparently unprogressive as we would seem to be, but the work of those Boosters, the ladies of the Civic Club, will go a long way toward making up the deficiency. All honor to the women who have planned and worked so hard to make a creditable showing for our county and to provide visitors to the Exposition with an attractive souvenir of our county.

LARGER FLEET NEEDED.

It would seem that the interests of the Pacific Coast and of Alaska and our island possessions are such that we should have more ships in this squadron. During the past year the Petrel, the Boston, the Bennington, and even the revenue cutter Bear, have been stationed at Honolulu, one succeeding the other, so that a warship, as well as the Iroquois, which is stationed there, has been continuously at that port. If it should develop that the explosion on the Bennington was due to defective boilers, and that she should have been kept at the navy yard instead of being sent to Honolulu, it would demonstrate the need of more men-of-war on this coast.

The Seattle Sunday Times, in a write-up of the salmon industry of the Sound, publishes two fine views of the Manhattan Packing Co.'s plant of this city; one an interior view showing the thousands of cans ready for labelling.

A "RACY" STORY OF MT. ANGELES

Took Too Many Boys and Not Enough Rope; Lived on Raisins and Scenery

At last the opportunity came to join a party to the summit of Mt. Angeles. We jumped at it. Friends offered much valuable advice. One said, "Dont try it; you can never do it." Another said, "You'll get there all right; it's easy." One said, "Take a bottle of water along and even then you'll die of thirst." Another said, "Eat raisins going up and you'll not get hungry, tired or thirsty." One said, "You are apt to get lost; there are a dozen trails (all leading to the top.)" Another said, "Take some boys along, they are good in ANY emergency."

We took all the advices except the first and started with seven girls, one mule, a wagon loaded with blankets, provisions, etc.; a bottle of water, a box of raisins and some boys. I would advise adding plenty of rope to this outfit. Rope up the boys at night and gag them, otherwise they may hold carnival down stairs so you can't sleep, until you go down and "jaw" them a little. Picket the mule with more rope, otherwise he may be "gone before" to the Port of Angels in the morning.

Owing to the kindness of Mrs. Stakemiller, we rode as far as Clallam Co's palatial poor house. From there the first part of the way the mule took turns in hauling us, and the latter part we took turns in hauling the mule. We arrived at Williams' cabin to find two of the party already there and coffee for two cooking. The cabin is the dirtiest place we ever saw, but we were too tired to clean house. After a somewhat restless night we started up the trail and made the ascent in about two and a half hours.

Such a sight as awaited us! The weather had everything prepared for our utmost enjoyment of the scene. The mist that had been hanging around the mountain for days, lifted, rolled back, and heaped itself together in a way that added much to the beauty. Gigantic mountain outlines appeared above the clouds. Everywhere you looked was a picture wonderfully beautiful. Recent rains had cleared the air of smoke, and there lay the State of Washington, 6,000 feet below.

I do not wonder that the devil when he tempted our Lord with this world "took Him up into a mountain." We gazed and gazed and wondered how anyone could live in Port Angeles fifteen years and never visit it. It is worth coming across a continent to see. It is worth all the trouble and effort, the groanings that were not uttered and June's three hundred "Oh's!"

The boys picked out an easier route coming down. Some of the party coasted down the steep places. It looked like jolly fun, but those who tried it walked in the rear the rest of the way.

We passed ye editor and his party on the mountainside but quite a distance away. After a pleasant but somewhat loud visit across canyons, brush, etc., they went on up. How they did climb! They made the top and got down almost as soon as we did.

That night all was quiet down stairs and along the Potomac, but we drank coffee for supper and couldn't sleep. We sat by the window, looking at the moonlight on the mountains, and listening to the snoring. Verily, everyone of that party snores (except the writer). All at once one snore stopped short. A gym. girl sprang to her feet with one bound and yelled, "Git out o' this, kid! there are 40,000,000 ants in this bed!!" The "Kid," another gym., sprang up at the call and such a frantic brushing and scraping of ants from bloomers, stockings and blankets as ensued amid exclamations and some bad language. It was several minutes before the original gym. remembered that the idea of floating in a sea of 40,000,000 ants "was all a dream." With a sigh of relief, both gyms. settled down again and the snoring continued. We still "spit out laughter" over the one act comedy that we were privileged to witness so unexpectedly.

Next morning it was discovered that one camper had decamped. The mule, whom we trusted implicitly and had left free to range over the whole universe, had betrayed our confidence and betaken himself to town. The boys and some of the girls walked home; the rest of us waited at the cabin for the mule to come back and apologize and make things right generally. About noon he appeared with Robert Polhamns, looking awfully ashamed of himself. After Robert had fixed the harness a bit, we got started.

The ride home was quite racy. The brake broke and the mule raced down the hills at break neck speed. We finally got matters adjusted to a nicety. We manipulated the broke brake; Lucetta, with her feet braced against the end board, hauled on the lines, and Robert served as stop short and general hold back at the mule's head. We reached home safe and sound, delighted with the trip, thankful to the boys and girls who made it possible for us to go and determined to go again at the very next opportunity.

"ONE-OF-UM."

G. D. Richardson wishes to thank his friends for their prompt assistance, Mrs. Richardson having been handed $15 towards the purchase of a new cow, which was raised in there hours. From the sale of the calf, and other sources, Mr. Richardson raised sufficient additional to buy a fine two year old new milch Jersey.

SEGUIN NOTES.

The Blyn Mill Case.

On Monday and Tuesday of this week the Superior Court was engaged in the trial of the case of Scherer vs. Blyn Shingle Mill & Lumber Co., Dr. Fillkins as intervenor. The parties were represented by the Seattle attorneys Peery & Hansen for plaintiff, Willit & Willet for the receiver, Judge Steele for the intervenor. Trumbull & Trumbull represented some of the creditors of the corporation. The case involved the validity of a mortgage alleged to have been executed before the articles of incorporation had been filed. Many very interesting questions were raised in the course of the trial. The court however held after an exhaustive argument on the part of the attorneys, that the corporation and its members and the receiver were estopped to deny the validity of the mortgage and announced his decision in favor of the intervenor mortagee.

SOCIAL, CLUB, AND LODGE NOTES

Informal Dancing Party

A most delightful and informal dancing party was given Monday evening in Haning Hall by Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Cushing in honor of Dr. and Mrs. Craig, of Boston. The hall was very tastefully decorated in nasturtiums; bright bouquets of them were scattered artistically about the room. Daintily spread tables held large punch bowls of ice cold lemonade, and punch, with which the guests refreshed themselves all during the evening. A delightful musical treat given by Mrs. Cushing and Dr. Cooke added much to the other pleasures of the evening and met with the heartiest appreciation. It was a very jolly company and it was with great reluctance that the last of the guests tore themselves away from the sweet strains of music and bade farewell to the charming host and hostess.
