TEACHERS' INSTITUTE

Seventeenth Annual Session Opened at Opera House Monday Morning

The Teachers' Institute opened Monday morning at the opera house with a good attendance of teachers and the older students from the county schools. The instructors from abroad this year are Prof. Wilson of the Bellingham Normal, Prof. Daggy of the State University, and Miss Grupe of Ellensburg Normal.

The morning session opened with singing of "America," and invocation by Rev. James Cheal of St. Andrews, who also gave a short talk on the profession of teaching.

Mayor Appleton gave the address of welcome in his usual scholarly and entertaining manner. Mrs. Hazel B. O'Brien responded briefly, thanking the Mayor for his kind welcome, and touching upon the pleasure the teachers find in Angeles.

Mrs. John Trumbull greeted the teachers very cordially in behalf of the Civic Club, and stated that the people in general begin to realize the "strongest army of defense is the great army of school teachers," for they are educating the children of today, who will be the men and women of tomorrow.

Prof. Wilson then gave an opening talk on "The Intellectual Significance of the Pacific Northwest," comparing the Orient and the Occident.

Prof. Daggy presented the subject, "Civics in the Grammar Grades."

The afternoon session opened with piano music by Miss Gladys McGeorge.

Prof. Wilson continued his subject, taken up in the morning, and was followed by Miss Pearl Stakemiller with a piano selection.

A practical lesson in arithmetic was given by Miss J. Annette Trumbull. With a class of five little first grade pupils she worked out clearly the relation of pints and quarts, and that little class will always remember how they measured sawdust at the Institute. The lesson was so instructive that both Professors Wilson and Daggy made some favorable comments upon it.

After intermission, Miss Gertrude Cunningham of Puyallup gave a class of third grade pupils their first lesson in vocal music.

Prof. Daggy spoke on the "Orators of the Revolution."

TUESDAY'S SESSIONS.

Rev. Geo. F. Graham of the First M. E. Church gave a welcoming talk and led in prayer at the morning session.

Prof. Daggy took up the subject of "Rhetoricals," followed by Mrs. O'Brien and Mr. C. S. Bown with their experiences in that line.

Miss Emma C. Nevin read a paper on drawing.

In the afternoon Miss Angeline Ritchie favored the audience with a selection on the piano.

Prof. Daggy gave his second talk on the Orators of the Revolution; Miss Florence Ely conducted a third grade reading class, and Miss Cunningham took up her work in vocal music.

Prof. Wilson handled his subject on "The Influence of Minds Upon Another Mind" in a very able manner.

Miss Maud Hirsch rendered two very pleasing selections on the piano

Miss M. E. Grupe of Ellensburg was introduced and gave a very interesting lecture on "Child Culture," showing that the home life and school life of the child are too far apart.

WEDNESDAY'S SESSIONS.

Rev. C. E. Fulmer gave a short talk on the exalted position of the teacher, and offered prayer.

Miss Leah Myers pleased her hearers with a piano solo.

Prof. Daggy took as his subject "The Merchant of Venice."

Misses Frank Chambers and Florence Elliott rendered a beautiful piano and violin duet, and responded to an encore.

"Practical Work in Geography" was demonstrated by Miss Helen Hopkins and a fourth grade class.

Prof. Wilson continued his subject upon the influence of minds upon one another.

In the afternoon Miss Pearl Stakemiller gave a piano solo, and encore.

"Slavery Agitation" was the third of the series of talks on "Orators of the Revolution." Miss Cunningham and Miss Grupe also continued their subjects.

FIRST STONE BUSINESS BLOCK

Work Proceeding Rapidly on Thos. T. Aldwell's New Building.

After an extended session with members of the council, as a committee of the whole, on Saturday evening, Mr. Aldwell secured the desired re-adjustment of the grade at First and Laurel, thus removing the last obstacle in the way of permanent improvements in the business section of our city, and early Monday morning work commenced in earnest on the first stone building for Angeles.

The new block will be two stories high, with basement; will be built entirely of Angeles sandstone, and being similar in design to the Coleman building, of Seattle, will be as handsome a building as is to be found on the coast.

W. T. Stewart, of North Yakima, is the contractor, having taken the entire building, to be completed by September 1st. The filling in of Laurel street is a separate matter, it being the intention to use the knoll opposite for that purpose.

The walls, including foundation, which goes down 25 feet beneath level of street, will be 60 feet high. There will be a corner entrance, the room being fitted up expressly for the Citizen's National Bank. E. E. Seevers will occupy the storeroom fronting on First, and the Willson Hardware Co. the double storeroom on Laurel. Each of these firms will have half the large basement. The second floor, lighted by windows 38x60, being practically a glass front, will be used as offices; while Mr. Aldwell cannot say as yet who will occupy them, a number of professional men are desirous of securing them.

The settlement of the vexing grade question and the building of the first stone building will certainly lead to other similar improvements in the near future. Wint Thompson, of Dungeness, has ordered plans for a new "Merchants Hotel;" the Elks are very seriously considering a permanent home on their recently acquired lots; and Mr. Aldwell, himself, after carrying this building to a successful completion, will doubtless find ways and means to build on his other property, owning lots adjoining his corner on the north and east.

L. C. Dey, of Seguin, was an Angeles visitor this week, setting his Olympic date ahead another notch. Mr. Dey will be remembered as the Kansas farmer who left the state of burning winds, summer frosts, drouths, thunderstorms, cyclones, and various other attractions, and came where he could raise fruit without limit and almost without effort. He wouldn't exchange his Seguin ranch for half the state of Kansas, and live there.

ROUNDUP HORSES SHIPPED.

Thousand Taken from Ephrata Range Sold in North Dakota.

Ephrata, Wash., May 16.—Two train loads of horses secured on the roundup a week ago have been shipped from Ephrata. One thousand horses were shipped. The horses were contracted for at an average price of $15 apiece. All sizes and weights of horses were comprised in the shipment, ranging from the 900-pound cayuse to the 1,500-pound stallion. A large percentage of the shipment was composed of yearling colts.

McCarthy & Townsend, of Dickinson, North Dakota, were the buyers.

The roundup on the mountains has practically been completed, but it is estimated that another month will be required to fully cover the plains around Moses lake.

REPLY TO THRONE

RUSSIAN DOUMA WORKING HARD ON ITS POLICY.

Clear However, that It Will Inform Czar that He Must Grant Amnesty---Council of Empire Will Also Make a Like Demand.

St. Petersburg, May 15. — After struggling the whole day until late last evening over a draft of the reply to the speech from the throne, the members of the commission of the house postponed the final work of phrasing the ducoment until 11 o'clock this morning.

The prospects are that full accord on several points may not be reached before the opening of the house at 2 o'clock and that, therefore, the reply may be thrown into the house for final discussion.

The struggle has centered mainly on the Agrarian plank, to which the peasant members found that the recommendations of the Constitutional Democratic convention, though calling for a large measure of forced expropriation, were not speeoing enough.

The peasants wished the abandonment of most of the limitations and qualicfiations of the right of expropriation.

Taking as its text Emperor Nicholas' pledge in his speech from the throne to maintain inviolate the institutions which he had granted, the address expresses the hope that this signifies that the country is on the road to a strictly constitutional system.

To Get Rid of Council.

This being true, the parliament wishes to call attention to the fact that the council of the empire is a wall of separation between the emperor and the people; then, advocating a responsible ministry selected from the dominant party in parliament, the address points out as a great advantage of that system, the cessation of attacks on the monarch.

The iron hand behind the respectful writing of the address appears in the paragraph regarding amnesty, which contains these significant words:

"There are some demands which cannot be refused, and this is one."

The workers are remembered by a reference in the address to the need of amelioration in the condition of labor, while for the Poles and other nationalities the address, though avoiding the word autonomy and insisting on the maintenance of the bonds of empire in full strength, speaks for the right of each nationality to its own language, customs and self-administration.

It is reported that the cabinet has practically decided upon an amnesty measure which, though falling short of the universality demanded by the lower house, conforms to the idea of the council of the empire of granting pardon to all political offenders except such as have been convicted of Agrarian murders or attempts to murder.

IMPERIAL COUNCIL APPEARS TO BE LIBERAL

St. Petersburg, May 15. — Former Premier Witte again took a prominent part yesterday in the conference of members of the council of the empire, successfully insisting that the adoption of a reply to the speech from the throne should be postponed until a regular meeting of the council at which representatives of the press shall be present in order that the country may be informed as to arguments advanced on either side.

Nevertheless, the projected reply to the speech from the throne, which probably will be adopted, has already been drafted and has been seen by the Associated Press. Though delicately expressed, the reply virtually contains a demand for the amnesty of political prisoners who are not guilty of murder or robbery.

In other respects the reply seems especially designed to disarm the suspicion that it is to be the role of the upper chamber to block legislation proposed by the lower house. After expressing the deepest loyalty to the emperor, the reply of the council of the empire contains these three principal points.

First—An unequivocal endorsement of a liberal regime.

Second—Declaration of the intention to work in harmony with the lower house for large reforms.

Third—Amnesty, the suggestion being so worded as not to wound the sensibility of the emperor, calling attention to the fact that all remarkable occasions in the history of Russia have been marked by an act of grace, and urging the strong claim to clemency of those who, while striving for liberty, transgressed lawful limits without being guilty of crime.

Ice Goes Out at Nome.

Seattle, May 16.—The United States signal corps has received a message from Nome, dated May 12, saying that the ice in the harbor had broken up and the way was clear for navigation. The message reached Seattle by cable from St. Michael, having been transmitted to that point from Nome by wireless telegraph.

Carl Schurz Passes Away.

New York, May 14.—Carl Schurz, widely known as publicist and former cabinet member, is dead, the cause stated being a complication of diseases

UNION LABOR INSURANCE.

Steps Being Taken Toward Formation of New Company.

Cincinnati, May 14.—That a movement is under way for the organization of a life insurance company for the benefit of union labor developed during the discussion of insurance in the convention of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America. The matter is still under investiagtion and it has been left to the telegraphers to look into the matter thouroughly and later report to President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor.

It was asserted during the discussion that the old companies are fast losing the confidence of the public, the revelations of the recent investigation having turned away many who had been firm supporters of the old companies. It was announced that all the members of the labor unions in America would soon be asked to withdraw from the old companies and to give their money and their support exclusively to amalgamate all the labor insurance moneys into one huge fund and secure protection for all.

The subject has already been presented to a number of other labor organizations and favorably considered by them.

INSURANCE COMPANIES PROMISE TO PAY LOSSES

San Francisco, May 14.—Financial interest centers in the announcement made by the insurance companies that in the immediate future they would pay losses of the fire sufferers. It is believed that most of the money will be put into general circulation, and when it is distributed will relieve the people of San Francisco as no other means could.

This news was welcome not only to the policy holders but also to the banks that have been doing their best for the public with the resources at their immediate command necessarily liimted.

Put People on Their Feet.

"What will be the effect of the payment of this insurance money?" was asked James D. Phelan, chairman of the finance committee.

"Nothing could do more good," he replied. "When the money is paid out to the people it will put them on their feet. It will bring about an early resumption of normal conditions. The people want money to buy what they need, and the payment of this many million dollars will greatly assist the banks in giving them money. What is more, the circulation of the money will be of great value to the banking interests."

With the announcement that losses will soon be paid, the insurance interests have made the concession that salvage operations on property swept by the flames can be proceeded with safety. Policy holders may save anything they can find without fear of risking the loss of their claims for insurance.

To a great extent the work of demolishing walls and clearing away debris has been postponed because of the doubt regarding the attitude the insurance companies would take. The work of contracting any wrecking operations has been deferred awaiting such a definite statement as that made by the insurance companies to the committee.

GOVERNMENT WILL BUY IN CHEAPEST MARKET

Washington, May 16.—The president has transmitted to congress a letter from Secretary Taft, accompanied by numerous appendices, in which the secretary, who has the full approval of the president, lays down the principle that supplies for the Panama canal should be bought in the cheapest market, all things considered, whether American or foreign.

When this policy was inaugurated by the secretary, over a year ago, he sent a letter asking congress if this impartial buying in the best market should be continued, and in the letter sent to both houses yesterday Mr. Taft reminds the president that congress returned no answer to his questions.

Secretary Taft's letter in the present instance relates chiefly to the purchase of two sea-going suction dredges. Bids have been received from American and foreign builders, and it is found after minute calculation, that a Scotch bid is 8 per cent lower than American bids. The secretary states, in conclusion that unless otherwise directed by congress, without delay, he will accept the bid of the Scotch firm.

MILWAUKEE ROAD BUYS THE MONTANA RAILWAY

Butte, Mont., May 14.—The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad Company has acquired control of the Montana Railway by purchasing its stock. R. A. Harlow, the builder and president of the Montana Railway, was succeeded as president by M. S. Gunn at a recent election.

The terminals of the Montana Railway are at Lewiston, Mont., and Lombard, the latter point being at a junction with the Northern Pacific.

Mrs. Botkin Goes to Prison.

San Francisco, May 16.—After two sensational trials and eight years of the bitterest legal battle, Cordelia Botkin, convicted of killing Mrs. J. P. Dunning, went to San Quentin yesterday to begin her sentence of life imprisonment.

LICENSES REVOKED

NO LIQUOR TO BE SOLD IN SAN FRANCISCO.

Saloon Men Who Have Begun Erection of Temporary Buildings Advised that no Licenses Will Be Granted for Some Time to Come.

San Francisco, May 12.—That the authorities here have no intention of loosening the tight grip on the reins which have held the liquor dealers in check since the city suffered its great disaster was made plain yesterday by the emphatic declarations of Mayor Schimtz. When asked as to the likelihood of the saloons being allowed to open in the near future, the mayor not only denied that there was a possibility of such action being taken, but added that he had decided that all drinking places should be closed for an indefinite period.

He attributed the remarkable absence of crime and the unexceptional order which has prevailed in the city since the conflagration to the fact that the edict against the selling of liquor had been rigidly enforced. This stand of the mayor was emphasized yesterday afternoon when the board of police commissioners met and unanimously endorsed a suggestion made by the mayor that all saloon licenses now in existence be revoked.

Advised to Quit Rebuilding.

A number of saloon proprietors have in the course of construction temporary buildings in which they hoped soon to dispense liquors. To these the commissioners issued a warning, advising them that the number of saloon licenses to be issued in the future would be greatly curtailed and that it was premature for them to incur any expense in the way of temporary building operations.

In San Mateo county, just over the border, the supervisors recently allowed the saloon men to open their places of business. Thousands of men and women flocked over the border and indulged in drunken orgies. It produced the nearest approach to riotous conditions that has existed in the city since the great catastrophe.

Chief of Police Dinan appealed to Sheriff Mansfield, of San Mateo county, begging him to see that all grog shops within his jurisdiction be closed. Sheriff Mansfield has made answer that he would close all drinking places, despite the action of the supervisors of the county, even if it was necessary for him to go to the extent of calling upon the militia to aid him in the work.

WASHINGTON MANUFACTURES.

Statistics for 1905 Show Increase of 81.9 Per Cent in Five Years.

Washington, May 14.—Remarkable strides in manufacturing industries have been witnessed in the state of Washington during the last five years. The census bureau has completed its compilation of manufacturing statistics for the state, showing the gain between 1900 and 1905.

The census figures show that Washington in 1905 turned out finished manufactured products to the value of $123,821,667, as against $70,831,345 in 1900, a gain of 81.9 per cent. The amount of capital invested in manufactures in Washington increased 133 per cent.

The greatest manufacturing city, according to the value of finished products, was Seattle, and according to the cost of material used, Tacoma.

TO BUILD ALASKA ROADS.

Major Richardson, Road Commissioner, On His Way West.

Washington, May 12.—Major W. P. Richardson, president of the Alaska road commission, has left Washington for San Francisco. He will remain there two or three days and will then proceed to Seattle on his way to Alaska.

The prospect now is that the proposed additional appropriation of $150,000 for this work will be authorized before the adjournment of congress.

It is Major Richardson's plan to devote as much attention as is practicable to the improvement of trail between Valdez and Fairbanks during the coming summer. He will meet the other members of the commission at Skagway late this month or early in June.

Lightship Bill Passes the Senate.

Washington, May 12.—The Piles bill, appropriating $150,000 for the construction of a steel lightship to be used in the banks opposite Cape Flattery was favorably reported from the senate committee on commerce. Later in the day the bill was called up by Senator Piles and promptly passed. The lightship is to be equipped with all necessary modern life-saving appliances.

To Rush Hill's Canadian Road.

Winnipeg, May 16.—In an interview here J. J. Hill, president of the Great Northern railroad, said he expected to have a through line completed from Winnipeg to the Coast by the time the Grand Trunk Pacific had reached this city, which means by the fall of 1907. He said that he had no intentiion of invading Eastern Canada, but would use the Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk Pacific.

DEFENSE OF BRITAIN.

Conceeded that It Must Be Task of Navy Rather than Army.

London, May 16.—In the house of lords the Earl of Wemyss and March, Conservative, called attention to the question of home defense. He asserted that the country was practically without an army and that there were not sixty up-to-date guns in the country. The question, he said, would be solved if the government had the courage to adopt the system of compulsory service at home and voluntary service abroad.

The Earl of Portsmouth, parliamentary secretary for the war office, replying, said the government had a mobiliaztion scheme under which it was hoped it could mobilize its forces for defense as quickly as any continental power.

Further schemes had been prepared for the defense of British ports which the speaker confidently anticipated would be placed in position to resist any sudden attack. In these schemes the admiralty, the Earl of Portsmouth said, fully concurred. He reaffirmed the principle that the country must look to the navy and not to the army for its defense against invasion.

TO SAVE THE TRADERS.

Effort to Be Made to Pay All Insurance Losses.

Chicago, May 14. —Mrs. Hubbard Carpenter, who before her marriage was Rosalie Sturges, is making a determined effort to save the Traders' Insurance Company, despite the receiver, and to pay all claims, or at least all San Francisco claims in full. She came a day or two ago from her home in Lake Geneva, Wisconsin, to see what could be done.

"The heirs of the Sturges estate certainly do not want the company which our father helped to found to go out of existence, and especially without paying its losses in the San Francisco fire," she said. Her husband came over with her and they are interviewing other stockholders. She holds a very large block of Traders' stock. It is said other stockholders would favor almost any plan that would permit the Traders' to continue business, or at least to cease without any blemish upon its career.

GOVERNMENT LANDS TO BE RESTORED

Washington, May 16.—The public lands included in about 150 townships in Central and Eastern Washington, withdrawn during the last three years, pending investigations to determine the feasibility of the Big Bend, Priest Rapids, Palouse and Chelan reclamation projects, have been restored to settlement by the secretary of the interior. They will not be subject to entry, filing or selection under the public land laws, however, until ninety days after such notice by publication as may be prescribed by the department.

McINNES RETURNING.

Governor of Yukon Will Stop In Seattle to Discuss Exposition.

Dawson, May 14.—Gov. McInnes has wired from Ottawa that he will leave for Dawson today. He will stop at Victoria for a few days to visit his family, after which he will come to Dawson. It is probable that he will stop in Seattle for a day or two to be the guest of the Alaska-Yukon exposition directors and the Alaska Club. He was invited to be their guest when en route to Ottawa, but had to decline in order to rush the Yukon measures, promising that he would be pleased to visit Seattle on his way back.

Governor Is Influential.

In letters received from Gov. McInnes, he states that he is desirous of doing all he can to help the exposition, believing it will be the cause of a great boom for the North. Most important recommendations for Canadian and Yukon representation at the fair will have to come through him. What he proposes is usually adopted in Ottawa.

Gov. McInnes has just secured at Ottawa the most important reforms ever made for Yukon. His new mining code, now before parliament, has the government's support and is sure to be adopted. Something will be done also for a giant water system for the Yukon.

Favors Lease of Coal Lands.

Washington, May 16.—The house committee on insular affairs has made a favorable report on a bill for the leasing of the military reservation on the island of Bataan, one of the Philippine group, for coal mining purposes. The requirement is made that the government shall have all the coal it desires at a price to be 10 per cent greater than the cost of mining.

To Inquire into Accidents.

Washington, May 14.—To secure greater safety to the traveling public and railway employes, Representative Campbell, of Kansas, has presented a resolution in the house directing the secretary of commerce and labor to inquire into the cause of the many fatal railroad accidents in the past four years. The report, with recommendations, is to be made to the president.

Resigns Because of Gifts.

Northampton, Mass, May 16.—Because the college trustees have accepted gifts from John D. Rockefeller and Andrew Carnegie, Mary E. Bird, for nineteen years an instructor in the astronomical department of Smith college, has tendered her resignation.

FRANCHISE FRAUDS

DENVER HAS ANOTHER BIG ELECTION SCANDAL.

Thousands of Bogus Votes Cast in Favor of Franchises---Court Orders Siezure of Ballot Boxes After Examining Books---Investigation Is Proceeding.

Denver, Colo., May 21.—Election frauds which overwhelm by thousands the pitiful 185 votes by which the Tramway Company claims that its franchise was carried, frauds which show a hundredfold worse than were ever charged at the time they were being committed, were unearthed when District Judge Johnson opened the books of the treasurer's office in his court. The court found that between 2,000 and 3,000 tax receipts have been issued in the last three weeks, each on a separate lot owned by the Myrtle Hill Land and Improvement company and other corporations.

Each of these receipts, costing from 15 to 50 cents on each suburban lot, represents a vote cast for the Tramway's free franchise. William Evans, boss of the Tramway forces, is a heavy property owner on Myrtle Hill, the suburb in which most of the property lies on which the bogus receipts were issued.

In the first few moments the court glanced at the books he saw thousands of these receipts. The books had been brought from the treasurer's office on a writ from the court, and Judge Johnson at once announced that the court would retain custody of the books.

Ballot Boxes Seized.

Judge Johnson also immediately issued an order to Sheriff Nisbet to seigz and hold the ballot boxes containine the votes on the franchises, which are now stored at 1420 Market street. It has been reported frequently since election day that the Tramway men had laid a plot to burn the building and the ballots and so destroy much of the evidence of fraud.

The Honest Election League, at whose instance Judge Johnson ordered the books brought into court, will work over the frauds with the court all night and all day tomorrow, and the most astounding revelations are expected.

The methods by which the tax receipts were issued was simple. The corporation owning the suburban lots, on which the tax was only a few cents each, obtained a tax receipt for each lot and gave each receipt to a hireling on which a vote could be cast for the franchises.

RECOMMENDS CROPS FOR ALKALI LANDS

Washington, May 21.—In the interest of a number of farmers in the Yakima valley, Congressman Jones recently took up with the agricultural department the question of crops best adapted to alkali lands, and the best resistant varieties of some of the more important standard crops of the West.

The bureau of plant industry has charge of these particular investigations and the chief of the bureau has informed Mr. Jones that one of the great difficulties is that the alkali content of much of the land, especially irrigated land, varies so greatly that in a number of cases where they have secured a satisfactory stand on land of a certain alkali content the whole crop would be destroyed by a sudden increase of the percentage of alkali.

Among the seed especially recommended as alkali resistant and best adapted to the Yakima valley are brome grass, rape, kale, kohlrabi and the vetches. Asparagus, too, is well recommended as strongly alkali resistant.

AGAINST EXTENSION·

Alaska Central Railroad Bill Defeated by House.

Washington, May 23.—Decided opposition developed in the house of representatives against the passage of the bill to extend the time for the completion of the Alaska central railway

Mr. Williams, of Mississippi, insisted that the bill was obnoxious because it exempted property the from license tax during the period of construction and for five years thereafter.

He believed that every individual as well as every corporation should pay his proportionate share of the tax burden.

The bill was defeated on a yea and nay vote.

Excursions East.

On certain dates of each month during the summer and early fall the Northern Pacific will have in effect low round trip rates to Eastern points: St. Paul and Minneapolis, $60; Kansas City and Omaha, $60; St, Louis, $67.50; Chicago, $715.0. Corresponding lonw rates to other points. Take the North Coast Limited electric lighted train; it's a beauty, and the appointments are superb. There is no extra charge to travel on this palatial train. For particulars call on or write J. O. McMullen, City Passenger Agent, Seattle; A Tinling, General Agent, Seattle, or A. D. Charlton, A. G. P. A., Portland, Ore.

Leonard Funk, labor leader, has been elected president of the Spokane city council.

REBUILD RAILWAYS.

All Lines in Japan to Be Standardized and Owned by Government.

Seattle, May 21.—According to the statement of K. Ishii, president and manager of the First bank of Yokohama, Japan, and T. Iwasaki, an importer of steel, railway construction material and general hardware, of the same place, all of the railways of Japan are to be changed from narrow gauge to standard gauge roads. The Japanese were here for a day en route for New York and other Eastern cities and will go to Europe in July.

"The entire system of railway, extending across Japan from the north to the south, together with the branches, is to be reconstructed and made a broad gauge," said Mr. Ishii, "and it is planned to commence this work during the present year. The Japanese government has devised a plan whereby control of all the roads in Japan will pass to the government within the next ten years. When this plan is carried out seven companies will be acquired and the systems will have been converted into modern railways."

DECLINE TO WITHDRAW SPECIAL PORTLAND RATE

Seattle, May 22.—J. G. Woodworth, traffic manager of the Northern Pacific has replied to the telegram sent him by J. S. Goldsmith, of the committee of local jobbers and manufacturers, declining to withdraw the 7½ cent local rate recently allowed to Portland merchants on shipments to Seattle designed for Alaska trade. The result will be, says Mr. Goldsmith, a fight by the Seattle business men for a similar rate from points in the state a like distance from Seattle, to this city.

Mr. Woodworth's telegram, received by Mr. Goldsmith, follows:

"Referring to message of your committee dated the 17th, we have tried consistently to establish and maintain pleasant relations with Seattle shippers and would greatly deplore anything which might change that policy, but we cannot withdraw proportional rate on Portland-Alaska business and we do not feel that we should be criticised for making it.

"We are directly interested in through business to Alaska, and indirectly in the larger local Alaska business now handled at Tacoma and Seattle; therefore we followed very closely the movement to establish direct Portland-Alaska service, and when convinced that our refusal to restore proportional rate would result in establishment of same, agreed to make the rate, and still believe our action necessary for protection of our own interests and interests of Seattle and Tacoma merchants, direct service from Portland being equally disadvantageous to all of us. I am sure our position is right. Hope you will not discount anything we have said without careful investigation, and that no hasty nor unfair action will be taken by Seattle interests."

A meeting of the new Seattle freight bureau is to be held before the end of the week, at which steps will be taken to place the matter before the railroad commission. The bureau will ask that a rate similar to that granted from Portland to Seattle be granted on shipments here from points in this state at a distance equal to that from Portland.

GOVERNMENT CABLE TO ISTHMUS VIA CUBA

Washington, May 19.—Secretary Taft has urged before the house committee on interstate and foreign commerce the military necessity of a government cable to Guantanamo, Cuba, Porto Rico and the isthmus of Panama.

"We are proceeding on the theory that we are to fortify the Panama canal," he said. "We have already had a report from the artillery and engineering board as to the fortifications to be made there.

"It is said that the canal ought to be neutral, but it will be necessary to protect it against persons who may not observe that neutrality. With the present conditions on the isthmus and in the country communication will be a necessity."

The total cost of a cable to touch at the places named, he said, was estimated at $1,300,000. It could be laid by converting the army transport Sumner into a cableship at nominal cost.

Opposition to the proposition was made on behalf of the company now operating the American line.

Pythians Elect Officers.

Seattle, May 21.—The grand lodge Knights of Pythias, which closed its session here yesterday, elected the following officers: Grand chancellor, H. D. Cooley, Everett; grand vice chancellor, Orno Strong, of Tacoma; grand keeper of records and seals, R. M. Parks, Walla Walla; grand prelate, H. T. Granger, Seattle; grand master at arms, C. T. Dulin, North Yakima; grand inner guard, R. W. Thatcher, Pullman; grand outer guard, Eugene Foster, Sedro-Woollev. The sum of $1,000 was voted for the benefit of distressed knights in San Francisco.

Garfields Report Goes to Congress.

Washington, May 21.—Commissioner Garfield's full report regarding the Standard Oil Company's relations with the railroads has been sent to congress by the president without comment. The document consists of 25,000 words.

RATE BILL PASSED

SENATE ADOPTS HOUSE MEASURE WITH AMENDMENTS.

On Final Vote Senators Morgan, Foraker and Pettus Were the Only Ones Voting in the Negative--Final Amendment Strikes Out "In Its Judgment."

Washington, May 19.—After almost seventy days of continuous deliberation, the senate late yesterday afternoon passed the railroad rate bill by the practically unanimous vote of 71 to 3.

The three negative votes were cast by Senators Foraker, Republican, and Morgan and Pettus, Democrats.

The bill has received more attention from the senate and from the country at large than any bill that has been before congress since the repeal of the purchasing clause of the Sherman act in 1893. It was reported to the senate on February 26, and was made the unfinished business on March 2.

From March 2 to May 4 the bill was under general discussion without limitation on the duration of speeches, fifty-eight of which were delivered. Many of these were prepared with great care and two of them consumed more than a day's time in delivery.

Senator La Follette, the junior senator from Wisconsin, spoke for three days, and Senator Daniel, of Virginia, for two days. Several other senators each spoke for an entire day.

For twelve days the bill has been under consideration under a rule limiting speeches to fifteen minutes each. The senate has at all times been earnest and animated, but for the most part devoid of personality as between senators, the past few days, however, having called out some caustic criticisms of the president and some newspaper correspondents.

When the bill was taken up yesterday the senate resumed consideration of the Teller amendment striking out of the provision giving to the interstate commerce commission the power to prescribe rates the words "In its judgment."

After some animated discussion the amendment was adopted and the bill was then read a third time, after which a vote was taken on the amended measure, with result as above stated.

BURTON CONVICTION IS SUSTAINED BY COURT

Washington, May 22.—The supreme court of the United States yesterday rendered a decision against United States Senator Ralph Burton, of Kansas, affirming the decision of the UnitedS tates circuit court for the Eastern district of Missouri.

Senator Burton's sentence was to serve nine months in jail and to pay a fine of $2,500. He was also deprived of the right to hereafter hold office under the government.

The opinion of the supreme court was by Justice Harlan. All of the points made in Burton's interest were overruled.

Senator Burton was prosecuted on the charge of violating section 1782 of the Revised Statutes, which prohibits senators or representatives from receiving compensation for services rendered before any of the government departments in any matter in which the government mray be interested.

Was Burton's Second Appeal.

This was Senator Burton's second appeal to the supreme court. In the first case the circuit court found him guilty and impposed the same penalty that was imposed in the present case, but the supreme court reversed the decision in the first instance, because it was made to appear that the money was paid in Washington and not in St. Louis, where the case was tried.

It was contended on behalf of Senator Burton that the fee was paid on account of a criminal proceeding against one of the members of the Rialto Company and not because of services rendered in the government prosecution of the company.

The law under which he was prosecuted was also attacked as unconstitutional on the ground that the senate was the sole judge of the qualification of its members, but this doctrine was not upheld by Justice Harlan's opinion.

Justices Brewer, White and Peckham united in a dissenting opinion delivered by Justice Brewer. This opinion was based on the theory that the United States was not legally interested in the case against the Rialto company in which Burton was employed as counsel.

Immediately after the promulgation of its decision the supreme court granted a motion to give sixty days to Senator Burton in which to prepare a petition for rehearing.

Lands Restored to Entry.

Washington, May 21.—During 1904 and 1905 some 1,500,000 acres of public lands in the Klamath region of Oregon and California were reserved pending investigations, to determine the feasibility of reclaiming under the Klamath irrigation project. Half of this area is now restored to entry, the balance being reserved as lands reclaimable for reservoir sites or rights of way.

NOBODY KNOWS.

Only a kiss on the baby's face,
Only a kiss with a mother's grace.
So simple a thing that the sunbeams laughed,
And the bees ha-hahed from where they quaffed.
Only a kiss, but the face was fair,
And nobody knew what love was there—
Nobody knew—but mother.

Only a word to a mother's joy,
Only a word to her parting boy,
And the changing lights on the window shone
As her boy went out in the world alone.
Only a word from a mother brave,
But nobody knew the love it gave—
Nobody knows—but mother.

Only a sigh for a wayward son,
Only a sigh, but a hopeless one,
And the lights burned dimly and shone with a blur—
Could a mother condemn? 'Tis human to err.
Only a sigh as she took his part;
But nobody knew what it cost her heart—
Nobody knew—but mother.

Only a sob as the tomb doors close,
Only a sob, but it upward rose,
And the lights in the window flickered and died,
And with them her hope, her joy, her pride.
Only a sob as she turned away;
But nobody knew as she knelt to pray—
Nobody knew—but mother.

A MYSTERIOUS MODEL.

MANY people all over the world know the statuesque figure of a knight in shining armor which occupies a corner of the third room in the metropolitan museum. Hundreds have approached the circle of railings which surrounds it, have gazed, admired and come away; but only to three persons in the world is the secret known. I make no attempt to explain the mystery—in all human probability it will ever remain unraveled. Various theories have been broached by those who came into relation with it; I leave the reader to form his own.

Following an evening with my friend, the sculptor Foulard, I put in an appearance at the studio the next morning not long after 9 o'clock. The night before Foulard had told me a remarkable dream. He had been commissioned some time before it seemed to carve the figure of a woman listening. The statue was to go in the hall of a great musician. Before attempting anything in marble he decided to work out his idea in some softer material, and consequently had a huge block of chalk brought to the work room. Foulard's vision of which he had told me previous to my matutinal visit was that he had seen vividly in a dream the features of the statue he was about to carve. Not only had he seen the features, but the expression of the face and poise of the body were all deeply stamped upon his mind.

"Getting on," cried Foulard, cheerily, as he saw me.

He must have worked all night. The result of his labor was marvelous, and, if one had not known the nature of the material, absolutely incredible. A trifle over life-size the statue stood, showing a pure white against the dark background of curtained walls. The face was outlined, the sweet contours of arms and hands nearly finished, the sweeping, enchanting curves of shoulders and breast practically done. The chalk was not so keen as marble, of course; it had no sheen, but the softer, gentler effect was, in truth, very pleasing. Foulard had been wonderfully successful in carrying out the idea, so far; already the cold, lifeless chalk expressed his thought in a great degree. He was joyous with the ease of his work and its gradual culmination of delight pleased him greatly.

"Once I finish this to my liking, old boy," he chatted, "the real labor at the marble will be comparatively easy; it will be more a process of copying, eliminating errors, and accumulating good points than anything else. I am just going to complete this right arm and hand, then to retouch the face—as much as I dare."

"Shall I interrupt you?" I queried, feeling that he was in one of his tense moods, strung up to concert pitch like a fine instrument.

"Not a bit—sit down and talk or do what you like. Have a cigar?"

I took the proffered weed, lit it, and ensconced myself cozily in an easy chair with a new magazine. We exchanged a few desultory remarks, then, Foulard went back to his work and I kept silence, feeling that he would be better at ease without my chatter. He was whistling softly to himself. The only other sounds were the dull blows and scrapes of his chisels on the chalk, and the soft crunching as now and then he stepped on the surrounding fragments.

Suddenly there came a startled cry, almost a scream from my friend; he dropped his mallet with a crash on the floor, and stumbled blindly across the room to a low settee, upon which he nearly fell. I sprang from my seat instantly and rushed toward him. He trembling violently; the chisel still held in his left hand fell with a clank; his breath came in quick gasps.

"What's the matter, old man?" I asked swiftly, fearing he was ill. "Can I get you anything?"

He struggled to speak for a moment, then at last, with my hand on his shoulder, stammered out:

"Raven—go—go—and look! God! it's human flesh!" For a moment I thought he was mad; but he still pointed to the statue, and I went across to it.

His last stroke on the right of the figure had exposed about three inches of a pink, delicate, inexpressibly human arm.

I stood aghast, afraid to touch, afraid even to move, the skin of my head creeping, all thought absolutely paralyzed, then I went back to the settee and sat down by the side of Foulard, feeling more than a trifle faint. He touched my arm pathetically.

"Am I—am I mad, old chap?" he whispered.

"No, no," I answered, pulling myself together; "you're all right."

Presently, without a word, Foulard went up to the statue, which we had hardly dared to glance at. I followed him, watching intently. Very gently and with the utmost care he began scraping and cutting away at the chalk until the whole of a perfect, beautifully symmetrical hand and arm was revealed up to the shoulder. His nerves were steadier, but his excitement and exultation were tremendous; as for me, more than once I was compelled to look round the room at the familiar objects—the chairs, the magazines, that morning's Telegraph—to convince myself that I was not plunged into some nerve-destroying fantasy-o'-sleep.

"The face—the face!" Foulard eagerly whispered. Little by little the shoulder was disclosed to our wondering gaze, the white mask removed, until in an hour the face was uncovered, and we stood back, awe-struck and silent, as before some profound, unearthly mystery.

My friend clutched my arm.

"The woman of my dream!" he said.

It was the form of a woman with face infinitely calm and sweet, and sad, bending slightly forward. Her eyes were closed. Coiled high upon her head above the pure, cream-tinted oval nose a shining mass of jet-black hair. But the beseeching, appealing gesture, and the straining of her head, as though to catch the thrill of a passing angel's song!—it made us both listen involuntarily, too, for what music might be wafted through the night. The flesh was firm and cool to the touch, with none of that repulsive chill one associates with death, and it seemed as though at any moment the woman might lift heavy eyelids and speak. If she did, what dead worlds should we behold in the deeps of her eyes? What wild tragedy of past ages would be unfolded to us?

Strangely enough, now the face was visible, we felt no fear, so hushed, so exquisite was the entrancing beauty disclosed; and for long we sat talking in whispers over the marvelous thing which had happened.

When I left the studio, Foulard came with me to my rooms, for the sake of company; it would never have done for him to be alone—he looked ill with the shock and the excitement; and we agreed to lock the room and come again in the morning.

Of course, my friend copied his world famous statue of "The Song of the Siren," which made so great a sensation not long ago, from the woman of his dream so suddenly given to him—by what means it is impossible for us as yet to say.

In the morning when we re-entered the room (I had hardly left his side) he began upon the fine statue in marble, and labored incessantly, almost day and night, hardly would he allow himself time to eat, and on many days I used to force him away from the half-completed figure to partake of a hurried meal with me. The woman—what else can I call her—he has stripped of all her white easement of chalk. She had been partially robed by a fibrous garment thrown across her bosom and drooping to her feet, made apparently of some peculiar cloth that crackled when touched. And, day after day, he worked ardently, passionately, at this labor of love.

At last it was ended, and with many a hope, many a fear, the reverent finishing touches were added. It is needness to describe the statue as it stands in the hall of sweet sounds; everyone knows of it, how that more than one has said that it has a soul; how that the great musician has made it doubly immortal by a composition directly inspired by it. Foulard was famous, and urgent commissions poured in upon him from all sides.

But—the woman? Was she dead, or was she alive in some marvelous secret way unknown to modern scientists as the Indian fakirs are supposed to have the power of suspending animation for months or years together? How long had she been in her cerement of chalk—years? All these and many more questions we discussed, and then, not knowing what else to do—for it was impossible to keep the exquisite form in my friend's studio, or, in fact, it seemed anywhere else—we called in a mutual friend—the curator of the Cranston museum—a man of some skill in medicine and ancient lore. After his first utter of surprise and incredulity, he ventured many hypotheses, both plausible and futile; and then, in order to preserve more fully the secret from prying eyes while attempting a solution, he made a tentative suggestion which we carried out. In his building he had a complete suit of armor of olden times. Carefully we built this round the impassive figure, and conveyed it back to its place in the museum.

And of all the crowd, lord and lady, merchant and peasant, lad and lass, that come to gaze at that magnificent figure of the old-time knight with his vizor down and his hand at hip, not one dreams that inside that bright armor sleeps—a woman. And whether she be alive or dead, no one knows.—Madame.

MOTHER'S SILVER WEDDING.

Celebration Had to Be Given Up at the Last Minute.

"It will be the very thing!" Gertrude cried, a delicate flush of excitement in her pretty face. "Of course a silver wedding isn't anything new, but upon the other hand, it needs something besides money to make it successful. It will be exactly the right thing to establish our position here—something fine and dignified, as well as beautiful."

"And mother will make the loveliest silver wedding bride!" Betty chimed in. "You'll have to wear a lovely gown then, mother—you couldn't refuse us."

"I'm afraid father——" Gertrude hesitated; but Betty brushed the suggestion aside.

"Oh, mother'll coax father round!" she declared.

Mother did "coax father round" and the planning began in earnest. The girls insisted upon buying mother's silvery silk themselves, and father gave the lace for it; they made out the list of guests and planned a scheme of decorations; the air hummed with discussions over dressmakers, caterers, florists. Mother left everything to the girls—she wanted them to be pleased, she said, wistfully.

Then suddenly, two days before the invitations were to be sent out, Betty made a discovery. For a moment she stood thunderstruck—then she whirled up to Gertrude's room.

"Gertrude," she cried, "mother doesn't want any silver wedding! She—she hates it. She's just doing it for us."

Gertrude turned quietly from the window. "I knew it this morning," she said.

Betty sank into the nearest chair. "You knew it! You knew she wanted just to run off to that absurd little East Campton wth father, where they began housekeeping?"

Gertrude nodded. "I knew we'd have to give it up. I was just trying to get reconciled. It——" Gertrude's voice actually was a bit unsteady, for she was young, and it would have been so "exactly the right thing"—"it seemed so hard to lose such an opportunity."

"But we'd have hated ourselves forever if we'd spoiled mother's silver-wedding day!" Betty declared. "Think of it—a silver wedding, and two chits of things like us meddling in it! O Gertrude, suppose we hadn't discovered it until too late!"

"That's what I've been thinking all day," Gertrude replied.

Then across a pile of silver-wedding invitations the loyal eyes of mother's two girls met steadily.—Youth's Companion.

Works Crowd.

The dignified gentleman with the buckskin gloves saw a pin lying on the pavement. He stooped to pick it up without removing his gloves.

The first grab assayed about three grains of dust, but the dignified gentleman persisted. A bootblack, a newsboy, and two loiterers stopped to see the performance and with this nucleus the crowd gathered rapidly and began offering advice.

"Good for you, old boy!"

"Now you've got it!"

"Somebody get him a spade!"

"I say, ain't you afraid of apoplexy?"

"Stick to it," called a voice with a suspicious intonation of insincerity. Then the pin was picked up and the dignified man drew a small box from his waistcoat pocket, opened it, and exclaimed:

"Well, my friend, 'Stick to it' has always been my motto, and you will find it blown to each and every bottle of this justly celebrated mucilage, which I am offering at the small price of 5 cents a bottle. It——"

But the crowd had melted away, with the exception of the man who had spoken the "cut."—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Varying Effects of Poisons.

Certain substances which are deadly in their effects upon men can be taken by animals with impunity. Horses can take large doses of antimony, dogs of mercury, goats of tobacco, mice of hemlock and rabbits of belladonna without injury. On the other hand, dogs and cats are much more susceptible to the influence of chloroform, than man and are much sooner killed by it.

As It May Be.

"Now, tell me," said Mrs. Hiram Offen, "why did you leave your last place?"

"Well," replied the new cook-lady, "me an' the woman couldn't git along. My automobile an' hers was different makes an' we was always discussin' about 'em."—Philadelphia Press.

MADE FROM NATIVE ROOTS.

SAFE AND RELIABLE.

That the roots of many native plants, growing wild in our American forests, possess remarkable properties for the cure of human maladies is well proven. Even the untutored Indian had learned the curative value of some of these and taught the early settlers their uses. The Indian never liked work so he wanted his squaw to get well as soon as possible that she might do the work and let him hunt. Therefore, he dug "papoose root" for her, for that was their great remedy for female weaknesses. Dr. Pierce uses the same root—called Blue Cohosh—in his "Favorite Prescription," skillfully combined with other agents that make it more effective than any other medicine in curing all the various weaknesses and painful derangements peculiar to women.

Many afflicted women have been saved from the operating table and the surgeon's knife by the timely use of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Tenderness over the lower pelvic region, with backache, spells of dizziness, faintness, bearing down pains or distress should not go unheeded. A course of "Favorite Prescription" will work marvelous benefit in all such cases, and generally effect a permanent cure if persisted in for a reasonable length of time. The "Favorite Prescription" is a harmless agent, being wholly prepared from native medicinal roots, without a drop of alcohol in its make up, whereas all other medicines, put up for sale through druggists for woman's peculiar ailments, contain large quantities of spirituous liquors, which are very harmful, especially to delicate women. "Favorite Prescription" contains neither alcohol nor harmful habit-forming drugs. All its ingredients are printed on each bottle wrapper. It is a powerful invigorating tonic, imparting health and strength in particular to the organs distinctly feminine. For weak and sickly women, who are "worn-out," or debilitated, especially for women who work in store, office, or school-room, who sit at the typewriter or sewing machine, or bear heavy household burdens, and for nursing mothers, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will prove a priceless benefit because of its health-restoring and strength-giving power.

For constipation, the true, scientific cure is Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. Mild, harmless, yet sure.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE

Synopsis of Minutes of Closing Days, and Enrollment of Teachers.

THURSDAY MORNING.

The opening exercises consisted of singing by audience, and invocation by Rev. G. N. Edwards. The Misses Fulmer rendered a beautiful piano and alto horn duet, and responded to an encore.

Prof. Wilson continued his subject on mind and its various influences. Miss Florence Ely gave some good practical work in arithmetic with a fourth grade class. The audience was then favored with two piano selections by Miss Gladys McGeorge.

After an intermission, Miss Grupe talked on "Child Culture," taking up development of character.

Afternoon exercises were opened by violin solo by Florence Elliott. She was given an encore. Deputy State Superintendent Dewey gave some valuable points in a talk on Compulsory Education. Miss Cunningham gave her little vocal music class another lesson in their work. Maude Hirsch rendered two very pleasing piano solos.

"When the Ghost Walks" was the subject of Prof. Daggy's talk. In his discourse he brought to light the real condition of the wages of teachers, and many of the reasons.

FRIDAY MORNING.

The closing day's exercises began with singing The Star Spangled Banner, by the audience. The first period was given to Prof. Wilson; after intermission, Miss Lorna Smith sang a very sweet solo. "Power of Habit" was then discussed from all points by Prof. Daggy.

In the afternoon, Miss Grupe gave her closing talk of a series of interesting and instructive discussions, and Prof. Dewey pointed out evidences of lack of discipline, as shown by children untrained in morals and manners. Also he advocated the necessity of creating some new interest in communities to get the people out of the old narrow ruts of every day life.

After intermission, the various committees reported.

Resolution thanking instructors, ministers, those who furnished music, the people of Angeles, the clubs of the city, the hotels and transportation company, etc., and expressing appreciation of action of commissioners in creating fund for circulating library, was adopted.

Special committee drafted resolutions of respect for the late E. E. Goodman and sympathy for Mrs. Goodman.

A unanimous vote of thanks was extended Mrs. Hazel O'Brien for her efficient work in keeping up the records of the Institute.

Prof. Daggy expressed his appreciation of the fact that the musical director, Mr. Chas. S. Bown, was always on hand in the morning to lead in the singing.

The session closed with some readings from works of James Whitcomb Riley, given by Prof. Daggy.

Taken intellectually, socially, and morally, the Institute was far above any previous session, and all may return to their labors feeling better prepared for their week spent at the Institute.

Sciatica Cured After Twenty Years of Torture.

For more than twenty years Mr. J. B. Massey, of 3322 Clinton St., Minneapolis, Minn, was tortured by sciatica. The pain and suffering which he endured during this time is beyond comprehension. Nothing gave him any permanent relief until he used Chamberlain's Pain Balm. One application of that liniment relieved the pain and made sleep and rest possible, and less than one bottle has effected a permanent cure. If troubled with sciatica or rheumatism why not try a 25 cent bottle of Pain Balm and see for yourself how quickly it relieves the pain. Sold by all druggists.

IN PROBATE

Order directing Notice of Application to sell real estate.

In the Superior court of the State of Washington, for Clallam county.

In the matter of the guardianship of George F. Melville and Wm. M. Melville, minors.

The above entitled matter came on regularly for hearing on this day upon the petition of the guardian of said minors for an order directing the sale of the real estate belonging to said estate, situated in Clallam county, Washington, described as follows, to-wit:

An undivided half interest in and to the north half of the south-east quarter of the south-east quarter; the south-west quarter of the south east quarter of the south-east quarter and the south-west quarter of the south-east quarter, of section seven (7); also the west half of the north-east quarter of section eighteen (18), all in township thirty (30) north of range three (3) west of Willamette Meridian, containing in all 150 acres more or less.

And it further appearing to the court that said petition sets forth and contains all the requirements of the law relative thereto; that there is no personal property whatever either at present or in prospect belonging to said minors: that there is no income from the property of said wards, and that the guardian has not received any money or assets whatever belonging to them or either of them: that said minors are of the ages of 19 and 17½ years respectively, and reside with their mother, the guardian herein, at Riverton, Washington; that there is no indebtedness existing against said wards or either of them, except the costs of the said guardianship; that it is necessary to sell said real estate for the purpose of supporting and educating the said minors, and that said minors have each and both given their written consent to the sale of said real estate, and in all things being fully informed;

Now therefore, it is hereby ordered, that Saturday, the 30th day of June, 1906, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the court room of the court house of said Clallam county, Washington, in the city of Port Angeles, be and the same are hereby appointed as the time and place for the hearing of said petition, and that any and all persons then and there appear and show cause why the said petition should not be granted and the said real estate sold in the manner provided by law, and that the clerk of said court give due notice of said hearing four weeks prior to said sale, by publishing a copy of this order as provided by law.

Done in open court this 24th day of May, 1906.

GEO. C. HATCH,
Judge of said court.

[Certificrte of true copy.]

State of Washington,
County of Clallam, ss.;

I, E. A. A Pioneer Bagged on Her Departure.

At the regular meeting of the Woman's Parliamentary Club, last Saturday, at the home of Mrs. Mahaffy, it being the farewell meeting of Mrs. McKay who will soon take her departure to join her daughter in Saratoga, N. Y., to remain permanently, her sister members of the club took the occasion to give her a parting remembrance, in the way of a traveling bag. The felicitous presentation address of Mrs. Wilcox was responded to by Mrs. McKay with very interesting remarks in regard to the humanitarianism of Port Angeles and the remarkable growth of that mutually helpful and co-operative spirit brought here by the Colony, of which she was one of the first members and a pioneer of Port Angeles. It was a joy to realize so much love and thoughtfulness on the part of her sister members of the club, which, with the humanitarianism and co-operative spirit of the people generally of Port Angeles, she will remember brightly to her last day far away, and regrets that her great age and almost total blindness necessitates her departure from this city, but is consoled by the fact that she takes with her such warm impressions of love, and that she will live the balance of her days with a loving daughter whose presence she has been deprived of very many years. She will also carry with her bright remembrances of the pleasure and instruction she has received as a member of the club.

Other interesting proceedings of the club was had and the whole occasion was well rounded off by a dainty luncheon.

The Book Club

Mrs. Herbert Babcock and Mrs. W. F. Delabarre, at the home of the latter, last Friday evening entertained the members of The Ladies' Book Club and their husbands. Whist was enjoyed for two hours, when dainty refreshments were served. Mrs. A. L. Johnson won the lady's prize, a shadow worked apron, and Mr. E. A. FitzHenry the gentleman's prize, a bill-book. After singing some of the good old songs, the guests departed, voting it one of the most pleasant of parties. Guests other than the regular club members were: Mrs. J. Porter, Seattle; Mrs. E. E. MORE INDICTMENTS.

More Prominent California and Oregon Men Charged With Frauds.

Portland, Or., May 21.—Details of an important land fraud indictment returned by the federal grand jury April 9 and involving prominent men of Los Angeles, San Francisco and Southwestern Oregon, has just been made public by United States District Attorney Bristol. The indictment, as usual, charges violation of section 5440 of the Revised Statutes. The property alleged to have been fraudulently secured lies in the southwestern part of Curry county, Oregon, and consists of 6,000 acres, practically all in one tract, of fine timber land.

Receivers May Be Cut Off.

Washington, May 19.—The sundry civil bill, soon to be reported to the house, will cut off the salaries of all land office receivers whose terms of office expire this year. Owing to recent Washington appointments but two officers of that state are affected, L. B. Andrews, of Seattle and A. J. Cook, of Vancouver. It is possible, however, that the senate will restore this appropriation and save these officers. Receiver P. M. Mullen, at Juneau, is also in danger of being legislated out of office.

Proposes New Publicity Bill.

Washington, May 21.—Representative Gaines of Tennnessee has introduced a bill to meet the objections or to broaden the scope of the Belmont and Rucker publicity bills. MANY ARE HOMELESS

FIRE SWEEPS FIVE NORTHERN MICHIGAN COUNTIES.

Railroad and Lumber Companies Worst Sufferers in a Financial Way---Loss Estimated at Over a Million Dollars---Many Persons Made Homeless.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 21.—A dispatch to the Sentinel from Escanaba, Mich., by a staff correspondent says:

Four known dead, a score or more of missing, hundreds of families homeless, several million dollars worth of property burned, four towns wiped out entirely and a dozen more partially, five counties devastated and 100 miles square of territory fire-swept. This is the dreadful picture that the Northern Michigan peninsula presents today after the worst forest fire since the Peshtigo disaster in 1871.

General Superintendent W. E. Wells of the Escanaba & Lake Superior railroad, along whose right of way the great loss occurred, returned last night from a trip of inspection over the fire-stricken area and says that the flames have gone down for the time being and the danger is over unless a new gale arises to again fan the embers into flames.

The Story in Brief.

The following summary briefly tells the story:

The dead: Peter La Fond, a cook, smothered in a lumber camp near Katos; three unknown children, dead at Quinnesec, Mich., separated from their parents while the village was burning and perished.

Scores of homesteaders and woodsmen are missing and have probably perished in the flames

Territory devastated, five counties, Marquette, Menominee, Delta, Alger and Dickinson.

The territory fire-swept is 100 miles square.

Towns totally burned: Talbot, Mich., 500 population, only a few houses left standing; Quinnesec, 800 population, one house only remains; Saunders, Mich., 150 population, all wiped out; Niagara, Wis., 300 population, all wiped out.

Towns partly destroyed: Northland, Cornell, Antoine, Spring Valley, Kingsley, Woodlawn, Foster City, Sala and Metropolitan.

Details of the fire are gradually coming out of the burned country. All day long refugees and trainmen have been coming in, telling their tales of misery and suffering as well as heroism and brave deeds that were enacted while the fire was at its height. The reports all show that the fire was fully as serious as at first reported. The burned over district extends from a point ten miles out of Escanaba to Talbot on the south, to Channing and Quinnesec on the west, to Sands on the north and back to Escanaba. The flames were fiercest along the Escanaba & Lake Superiior line.

LOSS ESTIMATED AT $1,000,000.

Railroad and Lumber Companies Worst Sufferers by Disaster.

Escanaba, Mich., May 21.—Forest fires which have been raging over a distance of 100 miles square in the peninsula for two days are believed to be uonder control after having caused a loss estimated at over $1,000,000.

Superintendent Wells, of the Escanaba & Lake Superior railway reports that the fire in Dickinson and Marineette counties has been stopped.

Assistant Superintendent Cantillon, of the Northwestern railway, says the damage to its property is not as great as was at first reported, and, although several large fires are burning at different points, large forces of firefighters have been organized and it is believed that with the change of the wind its progress can now be stopped.

The damage sustained by the lumber and railroad companies operating in Delta county is estimated at slightly over $100,000. The losses in Dickinson, Menominee, Alger and Marquette counties will reach $400,000.

Adams Denies Allegations.

Seattle, May 18.—George Edward Adams has filed his answer to the amended complaint in the civil suit brought by the government to recover $150,000 alleged to have been embezzled by Adams while occupying the position of cashier in the local assay office. He denies the charge of embezzlement and the loss or damage to the government through any of his actions while in such capacity. For an affirmative defense the defendant calls i

New York, May 21.—Mayor McClellan announced at a meeting of the Rapid Transit commission that, crushed by the weight of sand and water, the roofs of the rapid transit tubes under the East river, connecting the subway system in Manhattan with Brooklyn, have been flattened so seriously at various points that they must bere built so that trains can pass through them.

Castro Resumes Control.

New York, May 21.—The Associated Press learns from a source of information closely allied to the Venezuelan government that President Castro will resume office on May 23 and that on that day he will grant a general amnesty to political prisoners.

KILL CANAL BY DELAY..

Alleged Purpose of Sea-Level Party Toward Panama Enterprise.

Chicago, May 21.—Expressing the sentiments of senators and congressmen on the recent action of the senate committee in voting for a sea-level canal, Edward G. Clark, correspondent at Washington for the Chicago Evening Post, says:

"Suspicion that a systematic effort is being made in the senate to delay indefinitely the digging of the Panama canal has become a conviction. There is anger among the friends of rapid work on the isthmus and a well defined and freely expressed belief that interests are at work to jeopardize the whole project. It is declared freely in Washington that, while it was supposed that the hosts of representatives of certain corporate interests who had been at the capital during the last few months were here for the purpose of watching railroad rate legislation, in reality most of them were here with the intention of using what influence was at their command to defeat the attempt to obtain a favorable report for a lock canal.

"Senator Platt, of New York, voted for a sea-level canal. It is stated that Mr. Platt did not attend one committee meeting at which the matter was discussed. Everybody knows why John T. Morgan, of Alabama, voted in favor of the sea-level plan. He is bluntly honest. He does not want a canal, and he has the grace to say so.

"The movement that began in the senate committee to get a sea-level canal has behind it, however, a tremendous force and it is the intention of powerful senators to endeavor not only to get the seanction of the senate itself, but to bring every posible pressure to bear on the house to induce it to recede from the position it took in favor of a lock type. If the powerful ones succeed, the day of canal digging is far in the distance. The people may be obliged to speak on this matter in no uncertain way."

TRADE OF THE WORLD.

International Industrial Commerce for 1906 Estimated at $25,000,000.

Washington, May 21.—The world's international commerce will aggregate fully $25,000,000,000 in the year 1906, says a bulletin issued by the department of commerce and labor.

By the term "world's international commerce," the bulletin says, is meant the imports plus the exports of all countries of the world from which statistical trade reports are available.

The figures given indicate that the trade between nations in 1906 will be six times as much as in 1850, two and one-half times as much as in 1870, and 25 per cent more than in 1900.

One interesting fact, says the bulletin, which an examination of the figures of average monthly trade of the principal countries of the world, is that the United States now stands at the head of the world's exportation.

The average monthly exportation from the United States in the nine months eoded with March, 1906, is shown by the bureau of statistics figures at $147,208,973; the monthly average from the United Kingdom for the same period is $143,574,912; the average from Germany during the twelve months ended with December, 1905, was $110,777,800, and the average from France for the twelve months period ending with February, $72,370,400.

An examination of the import column shows that the United States stands third among the nations as an importer, the monthly average importations into the United States for the nine months ended March being $101,506,417.

TO GIVE UP BUSINESS.

Salt Lake Paper Says Mormon Church Will Take Radical Step.

SaltL ake, Utah, May 21. — The Mormon church is going out of business, according to a local morning paper. Its principal holding in Salt Lake, the Utah Light and Railway Company, is to be taken over by a $25,000,000 corporation, composed of English and American capitalists.

The new company will also acquire the Ogden street railway and build an electric line from Juab county, Utah, to Oneda county, Idaho. It will be known as the Inter-Mountain Consolidation Railroad Company, and will be incorporated both in Idaho and Utah.

S. A. D. Puter Again Arrested.

San Francisco, May 21.—S. A. D. Puter, accused of complicity in the Oregon land frauds, and who has been hunted for months by the federal authorities since he escaped from detection in Boston, has been arrested at a by secret service men. When he made another desperate to escape, but the secret servwere on guard and he was disarmed. Puter had taken the name of James William Barr, and had traveled under that alias since leaving the East. He informed the detectives that he had engaged passage on a steamer for China and intended to leave for that country in a few days.

Reinsch Appointed Delegate.

Washington, May 21.—Paul Samuel Reinsch, of the University of Wisconsin, has been appointed one of the American delegates to the Rio de Janeiro conference, in place of James S. Harlan, who has been obliged to decline the place on account of an accident. Mr. Reinsch is professor of political science in the Wisconsin university.

FAIRBANKS BURNS

BUSINESS SECTION VISITED BY DISASTROUS FIRE.

From Meager Accounts Received It Appears that Practically All the Business Section Except Northern Commercial Company's Warehouses Burned.

Seattle, May 23.—The entire business section of Fairbanks, Alaska, was burned to the ground yesterday by a fire which started in the Fairbanks building, a three-story structure, situated at Cushman street and First avenue. From the meager accounts received up to this time it appears that the entire section in which all the larger business houses were located, lying between the Chena slough and Third avenue and for fully three blocks in the other direction to Lacey street, is a mass of ruins.

Short Story of the Fire.

Fairbanks, May 23.—Fire started in the Fairbanks building at 4 o'clock and has detsroyed that building and now threatens to wipe out the town. Washington and Alaska bank has just gone down and fire has jumped across Cushman street and is spreading towards the Northern Commercial Company's buildings. It is moving up First avenue with incredible speed, and the firemen cannot stop the flames, which are now crossing Second avenue.

While I am writing the First National bank has got beyond control. Nothing can save Fairbanks. Have just made a trip to the heart of the town. The three-story Fairbanks block, Callahan's saloon, Beula, Tanana, Eagle and Senate saloons are all gone.

Men are now using dynamite on buildings and the court house is on fire. Firemen are using all efforts to keep the fire from reaching the Northern Commercial Company, and thus save the grub. Should the latter plant burn, the entire country will possibly suffer before stocks can be replenished. CASEY MORAN.

Estimated Loss, $1,000,000.

At a late hour last night the following dispatch was received from Chena, telephoned in from Fairbanks:

"Entire business district from Turner to Lacey street and water front to Third avenue in ruins. Loss estimated at $1,000,000. No life lost. Business men already making preparations to rebuild. CASEY MORAN."

In the burned district there were a number of substantial structures and large stocks of goods that are wiped out entirely. Practically every store in the city was located in the burned section and the town is now, so far as can be learned, destitute of supplies, with the possible exception of the supply in the Northern Commercial Company's warehouses, which may have been saved

The town of Fairbanks was established in 1902, when the first rush to this section was made, following the announcement of a rich gold strike by Capt. J. T. Barnett, and the population of the town at present is given at 5,000.

WANT TO DIG LAKE WASHINGTON CANAL

Seattle, May 18.—James A. Moore and John H. McGraw, left Seattle last night for Washington to secure from the federal government permission to allow King county and the city of Seattle to expend $500,000 upon the building of the Lake Washington canal.

They will ask permission to place at the mouth of Salmon bay a lock 600 feet in length, with 72 feet in the clear. Such a lock will accommodate all vessels coming to this port with the exception of the Minnesota and the Dakota, of the Gerat Northern line.

The canal will be dug to a depth of at least 22 feet, and will lower the waters of Lake Washington six or seven feet, adding thousands of acres to the shore line of the lake and forever relieving the low lands at the southern end of the lake of their annual submersion.

Messrs. Moore and McGraw have no doubt that they will be able to secure the necessary permission either directly from the war department or by congressional action. They also expect that only a few days will be necessary to fulfil their mission.

Pacific Coast Bar Association.

Olympia, May 23.—At Seattle in August, at a date to be set by the Seattle members of the bar, the second nannal meeting of the Pacific Coast Bar Association will be held. This decision of a recent meeting of the executive committee of the association has just been announced by Secretary Schafer of this city. The association was organized last summer at Portland. It is designed to bring into its membership the members of the bar in the states west of the Rocky mountains. Several hundred attorneys from these states are expected to be present at the meeting this year.

Japan After Cotton Trade.

Tokyo, May 21—A strong association has been formed at Osaka for the purpose of supplying the markets of Manchuria with cotton goods, which constitute the most important item of trade with that country.

NEW GOSPEL FOUND.

Excavation at Oxyrhycus Reveals Discourse of Saviour on Outward Forms.

New York, May 21.—A cable dispatch to a morning paper from London says:

Doctors Grenfel and Hart, during continued researches in the ruins of Oxyrhyncus, whose ancient monasteries some years ago yielded the famous Logia of Christ, found a fragment of a supposed lost gospel, which is now in Queen's College, Oxford.

It is a small scrap of vellum, perforated by worms and yellowed by sixteen centuries, but the writing is perfectly legible. It is written in Greek characters, which are almost microscopically minute, with scarlet initials. There are about 300 words.

It is certainly a part of an inextant gospel, but its theological value must be left to the theoloigans. It is unusually well written from a literary viewpoint.

It begins in the middle of a speech. Jesus and his disciples had entered the temple and met a Pharisee, who rebukes them for omitting some ceremonial of ablution. Jesus asks the Pharisee what the latter has done to comply with the ceremonial. The Pharisee's reply minutely describes the process of purification, of which no previous authorities have given details.

Then follows a powerful, eloquent denunciation by Jesus of mere outward purification, he saying that he and his disciples had been purified by the waters of life. There is also mention of a hitherto unknowon part in the temple called the Hegneuterion or place of purification.

Theological circles are greatly interested in the discovery, which promises a sensation equal to that caused by the discovery of the Logia of Christ.

THROUGH TRAINS CHICAGO TO SEATTLE

St. Paul, May 19. — Arrangements have been completed at the Great Northern general offices for a through train from Chicago to Seattle. Darius Miller, vice president of the Burlington system, and James J. Hill, president of the Great Northern, had the negotiations in hand.

The train will leave Chicago every day connectiong direct with a Great Northern train at St. Paul, to make the run of 2,200 miles from Chicago to the Coast, with only time to change engines at the Union depot.

The new train will probably be in operation within a few weeks.

On the eve of the announcement of the new train comes the announcement of the dismissal of 155 cooks, waiters and porters, both negroes and whites, on the Great Northern. Japanese will replace the discharged help.

COAST SHIPBUILDERS TO HAVE DIFFERENTIA

Washington, May 19. — After two weeks of debate the house passed the naval appropriation bill, carrying $99,764,000.

The amendment providing that the secretary of the navy could go into the open market and purchase chains, anchors and cordage, should it be demonstrated that they could be had cheaper in free markets than they could be made by the government, was defeated by a vote of 188 to 129.

By the action of the house on the second amendment upon which a separate vote was demanded in conjunction with the naval appropriation bill a 4 per cent differential will be allowed bidders from the Pacific coast on the ships if constructed there to make this allowance in favor of such shipbuilders. The vote on the amendment was very close.

MANCHURIAN DOOR OPEN.

Japan Insists That Trade Is Free to All Nations.

Washington, May 19.—Complaints of American merchants engaged in the Eastern trade, and particularly of members of the American Asiatic Association that the Japanese authorities in Manchuria have not been living up to their promise to observe the principle of the open door, have led to interesting correspondence between Secretary Ford, of the association, and the Japanese embassy.

The embassy communicated the complainnts to the home office, and this has made reply by asserting positively that it has faithfully carried out its intention to open Manchuria to foreign trade.

BANNER FRUIT YEAR FOR CENTRAL WASHINGTON

Pullman, May 18.—F. A. Huntley, state horticultural commissioner, has been here on a tour investigating the work of the county inspectors. He is insisting on vigorous work to destroy orchard pests and has instructed all county inspectors to enforce spraying and other preventive methods.

That the fruit crop in the irrigated belt will break all previous records is the claim of Mr. Huntley, who declares the yield will be 250 per cent greater this year than last. He says no damage was done by frosts and cold weather in the Yakima valley. With the prospects for a big price, owing to the destruction of fruit in many localities. Commissioner Huntley thinks this will be a banner year for fruit growers of Central Washington.

When more than a thousand French miners were killed by an explosion in a mine near the Belgium frontier recently, a Berlin newspaper opened a subscription for the relief of the bereaved families, and the Germans vied with the French in efforts to rescue the survivors. In spite of the national hostility, the French and Germans are brothers, after all.

Occasionally some foreign publications assert that there is such an unworthy thing as an "American language." Our slang phrases and our dialect stories worry them no little. So far as dialect is concerned, we have no advantage over our British brethren. They have novels written in a jargon which no one not initiated into the mysteries can understand. It is not denied that the United States have contributed many "Americanisms" to the language of John Bull. We are a resourceful people, much given to invention, and if we want a word that is not in the dictionary we do not hesitate to coin one. This may be in very bad taste, but we have a great country and are entitled to make occasional innovations.

German Coffee Cake.

One-half cup, each, of butter, lard and sugar, a teaspoonful of salt, two beaten eggs, one and a half cups of milk, one compressed yeast cake and four cups of flour. Stir butter, lard and sugar to a cream, add salt and eggs, lastly the milk and yeast cake, which has been previously dissolved in warm water, then the flour. The batter must be quite stiff. Beat hard and set away to rise overnight. In the morning roll out to an inch in thickness and put into pie tins. Let it rise again, cover with melted butter, sprinkle with sugar and cinnamon and bake for twenty minutes.

A lady in a small Alabama town had occasion to call at the cabin of her washerwoman, Aunt Betsy. While waiting for the article she sought to be found, she observed a woolly head which appeared from under the edge of the bed, and asked:

"Is that one of your children, Aunt Betsy?"

"Deed an' 'tis, honey," was the reply.

"What is its name?"

"Dat chile ain't got no name yet, Miss Rosa," Aunt Betsy said.

"Why, it must be five or six years old; surely it ought to have a name at that age," the lady said.

Quick Rice Pudding.

From a quart of milk put into a bowl four tablespoonfuls; cook a teacupful and a half of raisins in the remainder twenty minutes; beat the yolks of four eggs with the milk in the bowl; add six teacupfuls of boiled rice to the milk and raisins; cook five minutes, stirring constantly; stir in the eggs and milk, two teaspoonfuls of salt, a teacupful and a half of sugar, and a little grated nutmeg or cinnamon. Stir till the pudding reaches the boiling point and let it boil three minutes. Cover the top with a meringue of the whites of eggs and two tablespoonfuls of white sugar and brown in the oven.

New York Ginger Bread.

Cream, one cupful of butter, add one cupful of brown sugar and beat until very light and creamy. Dissolve two teaspoonfuls of soda in a little warm water and add to one cupful of sour cream. Mix the cream with one cupful of molasses. Beat the yolks of four eggs light, the whites to a stiff, dry froth. Then beat the yolks and whites together. Mix one teaspoonful of salt, and the mixed spice with four cupfuls of flour. Add the eggs to the sugar and butter, then the molasses and milk. Mix as quickly as possible with the flour, beating until smooth; turn into a greased tin and bake thirty minutes in a moderate oven. All the spices but the ginger can be omitted if desired. Spice—Mix one teaspoonful of cloves and same of yellow ginger, with one-half teaspoonful of cinnamon.

WANTED:---Moulders apprentices, any strong boy can do the work. Experienced men paid $22. per week. Full information free. Washington Iron Works, Seattle.

The Watch-Dog in your Vest Pocket

YOU can buy Health Insurance now.

Several good "Accident" Companies sell it.

Sixty dollars per year will bring you $25.00 per week, for every week you are Sick.

But, your time alone may be worth far more than that.

And $200 per week might not pay for your suffering.

That's why "Cascaret" Insurance which prevents Sickness, is worth ten times as much money as other "Health" Insurance.

Yet "Cascaret Insurance" will cost you less than Ten Cents a week.

That gives you a "Vest Pocket" Box to carry constantly.

* * *

"Indigestion" means food eaten but only partially digested.

"Constipation" means food retained in the body undigested too long, till it decays.

It then supplies the poisons of decay to the system, in place of the nourishment it might have supplied.

Isn't that a tremendous handicap worth insuring against?

What does it cost to Cure Constipation or Indigestion, with their train of small and great ills, and to Insure against a return of them?

Not so very much.

One 10 cent box of Cascarets per week, at most, perhaps half that.

One candy tablet night and morning, taken regularly for a short time, is warranted to cure the worst case of Constipation or Indigestion that walks the earth.

* * *

One tablet taken whenever you suspect you need it will insure you against 90 per cent of all other ills likely to attack you.

Because 90 per cent of these ills begin in the Bowels, or exist through poor Nutrition.

Cascarets don't purge, don't weaken, don't irritate, nor upset your stomach.

No,—they act like Exercise on the Bowels, instead.

They stimulate the Bowel-Muscles to contract and propel the Food naturally past the little valves that mix Digestive Juices with Food.

They strengthen these Bowel-Muscles by exercising them.

* * *

The time to take a Cascaret is the very minute you suspect you need one.

—When your tongue is coated a little.

—When your breath is not above suspicion.

—When your head feels dull, dizzy, or achy.

—When you have eaten too heartily, or too rapidly.

—When you have drunk more than was good for your digestion.

—When you have a touch of Heartburn, Gas-belching, Acid-rising-in-throat, or a Coming-on-Cold.

Carry the "Vest Pocket" Box where it belongs, just as you would your Watch, Pocket-knife or Lead-pencil.

It costs only 10 cents. At any druggist.

Be sure you get the genuine, made only by the Sterling Remedy Company, and never sold in bulk. Every tablet stamped "CCC."

SSS THE GREATEST OF ALL TONICS

The ingredients that enter into S. S. S. and the method of combining and preparing them so that they build up and strengthen every part of the body, make it the greatest of all tonics. S. S. S. is nature's remedy—PURELY VEGETABLE—and while it is restoring the lost appetite, overcoming that tired, run-down feeling, and other ailments common to Spring, which warn us that it is necessary to take a tonic, it is purifying the blood of all poisons and waste matters so that it can supply to the system the strength and nourishment it needs to keep it in perfect condition during the depressing summer months that are to follow.

Spring is the season when most every one needs a tonic. It is nature's time for renewing and changing; and as everything puts on new life, the sap rises in vegetation, the earth thaws out from its winter freezes, and all respond to Spring's call to purge and purify themselves, there is a great change also takes place in our bodies. The blood endeavors to throw off the poisons and accumulations which have formed in the system, and been absorbed by it, from the inactive winter life, and calls upon every member to assist in the elimination. The system is often unequal to the struggle, the appetite grows fickle, the energies give way, the spirits are depressed, and a general run-down condition is the result.

Then the body must have assistance—it must be strengthened and aided by a tonic, and S. S. S. is the ideal one. Being made entirely from roots, herbs and barks, it does not disagreeably affect the system in any way as do most of the so-called tonics on the market, which contain Potash or some other harmful mineral ingredient to derange the stomach and digestion, unfavorably affect the bowels, or otherwise damage the health. S. S. S. tones up the stomach and digestion and assists in the assimilation of food; it rids the system of that always-tired, worn-out feeling, and imparts vigor and tone to every part of the body. It re-establishes the healthy circulation of the blood, stimulates the sluggish organs, and calms the unstrung nerves which make one feel that he is on the verge of prostration. S. S. S. gives an appetite and relish for food that nothing else does, and by its use we can find ourselves with as hearty, hungry an appetite in Spring as at any other season.

It acts more promptly and gives better and more lasting results than any other remedy, and is absolutely safe because of its vegetable purity. Dyspeptic, irritable, nervous, debilitated people will find S. S. S. is just the medicine that is needed for the purification of the blood, which, from its diseased or impure condition, is causing their trouble, as well as for toning up and helping the entire system. When you take your tonic this Spring do not experiment, but get the best—the tonic with forty years of success behind it, and the one endorsed by the best people all over the country—S. S. S., THE GREATEST OF ALL TONICS. It is necessary at this time, when the system is depleted and weakened at every point, that the right remedy be used—one that is especially adapted to the condition, and S. S. S. has proved itself to be this remedy for many years. If it is taken at the first sign of Spring the system will be so built up and strengthened that the disagreeable affections of the season will not be felt as warmer weather comes on.

AN EFFORT TO PULL THROUGH THE DAY.

I have used S. S. S. quite extensively and unhesitatingly recommend it as the best blood purifier and tonic made. I am a machinist by trade and at one time my system was so run down that by 10 o'clock every day I would be completely exhausted, and it was with the greatest effort that I could pull through the balance of the day. Since taking S. S. S., however, all this has disappeared. I am a strong, vigorous man, abundantly able to do my day's work, my appetite has been whetted up so that I can eat anything, my sleep is sweet and refreshing, and I know further that it has purified my blood and put it in good condition. I cannot speak too highly of your great remedy, S. S. S.

817 W. Broad St., Columbus, O. A. B. MONTGOMERY.

SHE FOUND IT THE BEST SPRING TONIC.

On two occasions I have used S. S. S. in the spring with fine results. I can heartily recommend it as a tonic and blood purifier. I was troubled with headache, indigestion and liver troubles, which all disappeared under the use of S. S. S. My appetite, which was poor, was greatly helped. I can eat anything I want now without fear of indigestion, and my blood has been thoroughly cleansed of all impurities and made rich and strong again. As a tonic and blood purifier it is all you claim for it.

ASSESSMENT OF TIMBER LANDS

The transfer recorded at the auditor's office this week, by which parties in New Orleans and New Haven secure some 7,000 acres of Clallam County timber lands, throws additional light on the market value of such property, and, incidentally, emphasizes the fact that the rate of assessment has not kept pace with the increase in value.

It is stated upon good authority that these lands cost the investors $10 and less per acre. According to the records of the county treasurer's office, they have been assessed at from $2.00 to $6.50 per acre, many of them being rated at $5 and $6. As they come under the inaccessible head, and possibly range from third to first class, they would, in accordance with the rating agreed upon at the convention of county assessors held in January last, naturally be assessed at from $2 to $7.50.

In the deed given by the Allegheny Timber Co., ten tracts in township 28, north of range 13, are enumerated. The total acreage is 1,335. The Allegheny's holdings in this township have been assessed at $6,540, paying a tax of $271.30, or upon an average assessed valuation of $5 per acre.

Were this 1,335 acres to be assessed at "60 per cent of its actual market value, as advised and directed by the State Tax Commission," to quote the language of the assessors in adopting that general rate, it would pay tax on $16,000 instead of $6,540! The county would receive $675, instead of $271.30, a gain of $400!

At this rate, upon the whole amount of land included in these deeds, the county would gain $2,400.00 per year! And this seven thousand acres is but a spot in the fringe of Clallam county's timber!

THE WORK THAT COUNTS

Another evidence that judicious advertising pays comes from Sioux City, Iowa. An enterprising real estate man from the Yakima valley spent the month of April in the western part of Iowa interesting farmers and others in the future of that part of Washington. As a result of his brief canvass he will accompany an expedition of emigrants of over two hundred families, nearly a thousand persons, with their belongings, to this State. Special trains will leave Sioux City about the first of June, bearing these people to the Evergreen State.

The emigration to Washington from the east during the past twelve months was almost double that of any previous year, and bids fair to be largely increased this year. Is Clallam county getting her share of these emigrants?

RAILROAD GOSSIP

Annual Bridge Work on P.T. S. Starts Speculation as to Object.

For three years past the Northern Pacific has been improving the grade and building new bridges on the Townsend Southern. During years of neglect the track had become as warped as Frisco street car tracks, or the billowy ocean. A ride on the daily passenger coach used to be as trying as a trip to Victoria on the Garland; the bridges were becoming positively dangerous. Reconstruction was absolutely necessary. As Supt. Loasby said, they must rebuild or quit. Northern Pacific bridge crews were assigned to the work and it has been done in a permanent manner. The best being cheapest in the end, the work is far better than necessary for present traffic. That the N. P. proposes to complete the line there can be no doubt. Just when is the question. It is believed, however, they will not do so until compelled in order to protect the territory; consequently very little interest is taken in Townsend in the surmises of the Seattle press upon the subject. We reprint from the Seattle Star:

"That the Northern Pacific railway contemplates immediately extending the Port Townsend and Southern railway tracks to Quilcene to Tenino is shown by the number of shipments made to Port Townsend of large timbers and steel frames for bridge work. Orders have also been placed for ties and these are now being cut in the camps back from the shore of Hoods canal.

The Northern Pacific has also lately made several heavy purchases of land along the proposed extension which in itself has caused much speculation among Port Townsend people.

Six weeks ago the Star first printed an article that the Northern Pacific intended to extend the P.T.&S.R.R. line out from Quilcene. At that time blue prints were in the city showing the plans for the extension.

E. A. Batwell of the industrial department of the Alaska Central railway, went to Port Townsend last week to look over the field, himself a heavy property owner of Port Townsend realty.

"Large shipments of bridge material are now being sent to Port Townsend," said Mr. Bartwell. "The construction work now under headway is of a more substantial nature than would be required for logging tracks. The bridge work especially shows that something besides logging trains will be hauled over them.

"I also learned from the best of authority that the Harriman system had engineers in the field, and to my mind the peninsula will see much railroad work there this summer."

SCORE, FOUR!

The bill making an appropriation for the establishment of a fog horn and other improvements at Ediz Hook has passed both houses of Congress. This measure has been brought about directly through the efforts of Mr. J. Lloyd Aldwell, secretary of the Boosters Club, who was appointed a committee for the purpose. Despite the knocking by those who said it had been tried before and never could be done, the Club took the matter up at one of its first meetings, and thru Mr. Aldwell secured the necessary data, recommendations from steamship companies and pilots and enlisted the assistance of congressmen and senators in its behalf. The result is a complete success.

For Celebration of July 4th

At a special meeting of Commercial and Booster's Clubs, held yesterday, a general committee was appointed to arrange for a celebration of the 4th of July. The committee consists of Mayor Appleton, E. E. Day, T. S. Brophy, W. F. Delabarre, J. L. Aldwell, W. E. Burnside, C. S. Stakemiller, P. Grubb, E. E. Fisher and W. L. Caldwell.

It cost Mr. Harvey just four bits to make known to Mr. Rustad, who takes only the Olympic, the advantages of his property for a home—cheaper, more expeditious and far more sightly than a board on the fence.

THE LUMBER CUT

The forest service bureau of the Dept. of Agriculture reports that in 1905 Washington mills cut 10.8 per cent of the lumber produced in the United States. Louisiana came next with 7.3 per cent; Oregon eighth with 4.5 per cent. Washington's cut was three thousand million feet. 29.8 per cent of the lumber cut was yellow pine; 13 per cent Douglas fir, and 11.6 per cent Northern pine. In shingles Washington led with 8,438 millions, being 60.8 per cent of the total; California cut 4.1 and Oregon 1.0 per cent.

Two Bits for Halibut

Henry Gutenberg tells of a Neah Bay Indian who came in this week to have a tooth pulled and buy fishing supplies and took occasion to complain of the prices paid them by Seattle firms for their catch. They go out eight to ten miles, being in constant danger from storms, and receive from 15c to two bits for the largest halibut. The commencement of operations by the Craig Fish Products Co. will furnish competition and be a Godsend to poor Lo.
