DIRECT PRIMARY CONVENTION

Permanent Organization Perfected at Seattle and Law Submitted.

The Direct Primary League effected a permanent organization Saturday, the session being attended by delegates from all over the state. The draft of a proposed law was read, but not adopted, being left open for suggestions for improvement. The executive committee will consider changes which may be advocated and frame a law to conform to the ideas advanced by a majority of the local leagues.

The measure submitted follows the Minnesota law in that each voter in a primary is required to state his political affiliation and is given but the one ballot. In Wisconsin the voter is given ballots of each party and makes his selection in private.

The voter, under the proposed law, would have an opportunity to make first and second choice between candidates for each office. If no candidate has a majority as first choice, the candi- who receives the largest combined vote would be the nominee. Thus a small minority could not control the primary by bringing out a number of candidates to divide the vote.

There may be differences of opinion regarding some details, but the general features will commend themselves to all advocates of the direct primary. The bill will be gotten into shape so that it will be universally satisfactory before the legislature meets.

The direct primary is not a party institution. Democrats east of the mountains have already made use of it to settle differences and now republicans at Bellingham propose to secure a full and free expression of each voter in the city by its use. No candidate can take exception to the decision of the people as a whole. No candidate can coerce an entire party vote, hence the direct primary does away with strife. Here in Angeles it is reported some of the party workers are already trying to control the personnel of ward delegations in the interest of certain candidates. While this is a perfectly proper thing to do under the present system, it has the result of selecting those as delegates to the conventions who are not interested in the workings of the direct primary system. It behooves the voter to be on his guard, that no opponent to the measure receive the nomination as state representative.

BIG DEALS AFOOT

Lewis Levy Also Planning on Stone Building.

While but two or three transfers of business property have been recorded at the court house this week, there are rumors of some big deals on for two of the most important corners on Front street, the price running well into the thousands. It is said, for instance, that C.W. Thompson has been offered $20,000 for the Merchant's Hotel corner, and refused.

Lewis Levy states that he is very seriously considering a stone building for his property, corner Front and Laurel, to be let for business purposes. He has ordered sketches prepared and estimates made. Should Mr. Levy build, however, he will not commence before April, when the weather is favorable.

Col. Wm. A. Lange bought the property known as the Oak saloon on north side of Front st., on Friday last, paying $4,000 therefor. J. P. Hawkes acted as agent for Mr. Eacrett, the owner.

M.J. Carrigan invested $5,000 Saturday in the lot and building opposite the opera house, owned by Mrs. Cooper.

F. P. Fisher bought of Frank Link 25 ft. of lot 2, block 33, being the second lot west of the city hall, consideration reported to be $640.

R. H. Kidd has a deal on for two lots corner Second and Valley at $1,000 per lot.

RAILROAD OUTBID ON TIDE LANDS

Lands Entirely Under Water Bring Fancy Prices, Even $15,000 an Acre.

The state, thru County Auditor Bash, sold 54.48 acres of tide lands in Townsend bay Saturday for $62,710.

A. R. Coleman and Thomas Parrish had asked for sale of the property and made required legal offers, presumably for the railroad interests they represent, but they secured none of the lands.

C. B. Bussell, a Seattle speculator, bought five of the seven tracts for $42,760, and Mr. Sommer, of Seattle, the balance for $19,950.

The first tract offered, .55 of an acre, sold for $7,160. A tract of 24½ acres. rated as the most strategic for railroad purposes, brought $20,050. Mr. Coleman withdrew when $17,500 had been reached. Mr. Coleman says he does not consider the price paid as particularly extravagant, but himself and associates were prevented from buying by limitation as to purchase price made by the principals. "It does not mean, however," said Mr. Coleman, "that our failure to get holdings in any manner effects the coming of the railroad. I am as firmly convinced as ever that our people will build into Port Townsend."

Mr. Bussell bought the property purely for speculation and it is believed there is a thoro understanding between himself and the railroad interests. He was conspicuous in the tide land deals in Seattle last January, finally disposing of some $500,000 worth of tide lands to Harriman. Real estate operators say he is again acting on inside information.

TO CUT THISTLES

Concerted Movement on Monday, July 30th.

The Civic Club requests all citizens to observe next Monday, July 30, as Thistle Day, and take part in a concerted movement to rid the streets and yards of these pests, before the seeds ripen. For several years the thistles have rapidly spread until the plants have become a great nuisance all over the city. The general observance of Thistle Day will go a long way towards their removal.

DOUMA DISSOLVED BY UKASE OF CZAR

Adjournment Taken to Finland, Where Meeting Is Held and Address to People Adopted.

St. Petersburg, July 23.—Russia's first experiment in parliamentary government came to an ignominious end last night with the promulagtion of two imperial ukases, the first dissolving the present parliament and providing for the convocation of its successor March 5, 1907, more than six months hence, and the second proclaiming the capital of Russia and the surrounding province to be in a state of extraordinary security, which is only infinitessimally different from full martial law. This measure of safety is to provide for the outburst which undoubtedly will be provoked by this daring measure. It is now but a step to dictatorship.

With these momentous orders, which were promulgated at 3 o'clock yesterday morning, Emperor Nicholas, by a stroke of his pen, set Russia back to where she stood two years ago, in the full grip of the autocracy and irresponsible government, wiping out, for six months at least, the whole structure of parliament, erected at much cost.

There is little doubt that the order for the convocation of the new assembly will still further postpone the time, unless the new parliament promises to be more amenable than the present. The delay in fixing the time for the new elections seems to indicate a decision to change the present basis of suffrage to perhaps a basis of universal suffrage with which the advisers of the emperor hope to swamp the educated liberals, the socialists and the workmen with the vast mass of peasantry.

The only uncertainty about the coming storm is—when and where it will break.

CAPITOL OF RUSSIA NOW AN ARMED CAMP

St. Petersburg, July 23.—With the imperial ukase dissolving parliament, the curtain rose upon probably the last act in the great drama of the Russian revolution. The people and the government now stand face to face, and upon the army depends the immediate issue. Even should the government, however, succeed in restraining an outbreak of the people, the victory probably will be only temporary and simply confine the steam for the final explosion. No one doubts the severity of the storm which will rise in the country in response to the emperor's dispersal of the men whom he welcomed two months ago in the palace as "the best men in Russia;" but the die is cast, the government has elected to fight and the capital bears eloquent testimony to the preparations made to repress the masses by force.

The city is packed with soldiers and resembles an armed camp. During Saturday night additional troops were brought in and disposed of according to plans proviously adopted. These reinforcements included four infantry regiments of the Chevalier Guard hussars, mounted grenadiers and a battery of machine guns. The troops occupied railroad stations and bridges across the rivers and canals, and the patrol of both police and gendarmes were everywhere doubled.

The work of gathering in every agitator began immediately after the ukase placing St. Petersburg in a "state of extraordinary security" was promulgated, and hundreds of arrests were made before daylight.

OUTLAWED DOUMA ADJOURNS TO FINLAND

St. Petersburg, July 23.—The following dispatch has been received from the representative of the Associated Press who accompanied the parliament members to Viborg, Finland. It is dated Viborg, midnight, and says:

"Two hundred members of Russia's outlawed parilament are gathered here at the Hotel Belvidere, awaiting the arrival of Count Hayden, M. Stakovitch and other prominent members of the right before opening the sessison, at which will be adopted a manifesto summoning the people to stand by the dissolved assembly. The members are of all shades of opinino, Constitutional Democrats, group of toil and Social Democrats.

"Present among the members here are M. Mouromtseff, president of the house, Prince Peter Doulgourkoff, and Prof. Grosskull, vice president, and other officers. The meeting will be called together as a regular session of parliament.

"There is a strong possibility that all parties will come to an agreement on the appeal, as the radicals are not disposed to insist on an over-violent manifesto demanding the immediate summoning of a constituent assemsbly by any means, to which the Constitutional Democrats object. The Constitutional Democrats appear to be down cast over the dissolution of parliament, but the members of the group of toil and Socialists are in an excited and combative mood."

The correspondent telephoned later that the conference had adjourned. No action was decided upon, but it was resolved in private to adopt an address to the people stating that the time for action had come, in view of the procedure of the government, but appealing to them not to resort to measures which would entail bloodshed.

DOUMA'S ADDRESS TO RUSSIAN PEOPLE

Viborg, July 23.—An appeal to the Russian people was adopted by the two hundred members of the dissolved douma, assembled at the Hotel Belvidere today, which declares that Russia must not remain a day without popular representation, and that they have the means of securing it. Furthermore, the manifesto urges that not a kopec shall be given to the government or a soldier to the army until parliament is summoned.

The manifesto had been prepared by several of the deputies during the night, and while it was under discussion the governor of Viborg arrived at the hotel and announced that he had been ordered by the governor general of Finland to immediately close the meeting and to use military force if necessary to disperse the deputies.

He informed M. Mouromtseff that such meetings would not be allowed to be held anywhere in Finland.

At the time of the appearance of the officers the discussion of the address was considerably heated, but the appearance of opposition served to solidify the delegates and the address was adopted without division.

Text of the Manifesto

Following is the text of the parliamentary manifesto adopted:

"To the people from their popular representatives:

"Citizens of all Russia: Parliament has been dissolved by ukase of July 21. You elected us as your representatives and instructed us to fight for our country and freedom.

"In the execution of your instructions and our duty we drew up laws in order to insure freedom to the people.

"We demanded the removal of irresponsible ministers who were infringing the laws with impunity and oppressing freedom.

"First of all, however, we wanted to bring out a law respecting the distribution of land to working peasants and involving the assignment, to this end, of crown appanages, monasteries and lands belonging to the clergy, and compulsory expropriation of private estates. The government held such a law to be inadmisssible, and upon parliament once more urgently putting forward its resolution, parliament was dissolved.

Predict Descretory Acts

"The government promises to convene a new parliament seven months hence. Russia must remain without popular representation for seven whole months at a time when the people are standing on the brink of ruin and industry and commerce are undermined; when the whole country is seething with unrest and when the ministry has definitely shown its incapacity to do justice to popular needs.

"For seven months the government will act arbitrarily and will fight against the popular movement in order to obtain a more pliable parliament. Should it succeed, however, in completely suppressing the popular movement the government will convoke no parliament at all.

"Citizens, stand up for your trampled-on rights for popular representation and for an imperial parliament. Russia must not remain a day with out popular representation. You possess the means of acquiring it.

"The government has, without the assent of the popular representatives, no right to collect taxes from the people nor to summon the people to military service. Therefore you are now the government.

"The dissolved parliament was justified in giving neither money nor soldiers. Should the government, however, contract loans in order to secure funds, such loans will be invalid without the consent of the popular representatives. The Russian people will never acknowledge them and will not be called upon to pay them. Accordingly, until a popular representative parliament is summoned, do not give a kopec to the throne or a soldier to the army. Be steadfast in your refusal. No power can resist the united, inflexible will of the people.

"Citizens, in this obligatory and unavoidable struggle your representatives are with you."

ALCOHOL AS ENGINE FUEL

Department of Agriculture Is Engaged in Experiments.

New York, July 23.—An investigation intto the possibilities of alcohol as a fuel in small gas engines is about to be begun by Prof. C. Lucke of Columbia university, for the United States department of agriculture in the laboratories at Columbia. At the last session of congress the internal revenue tax was removed from denatured alcohol so as to permit of its use for industrial purposes. This law goes into effect January 1, 1907. As a result it is expected that very large quantities of this alcohol will be used for small engines. It is expected that this will increase the products of the farm, nearly all of which can be utilized for alcohol manufacture.

Prof. Lucke will collect the results of the experiments conducted on the use of alcohol in engines which have been carried on both here and abroad and will expand the information by further experiments. All of this data will be issued by the department of agriculture in the form of a bulletin for free distribution this winter.

GOVERNMENT CLOSES DEAL FOR SUNNYSIDE CANAL

Washington, July 23.—Acting Secretary of the Interior Ryan has approved the purchase of the Sunnyside irrigation canal in Eastern Washington and authorized the payment of $250,000 for it to the Washington Irrigation Company.

The approval of this purchase removes the last "obstacle" in the way of the construction by the government of the Tieton and Sunnyside irrigation projects.

Notwithstanding the fact that Secretary Hitchcock approved the Sunnyside and Tieton projects more than six months ago and authorized the purchase of the Sunnyside canal at the above price, the owners of the canal have been unable to collect from the government because the secretary of the interior had not approved the purchase. Objections were found which officials believed should be corrected before the government paid for the canal.

Three weeks ago E. F. Blaine, representing the owners of the canal, came to Washington to have the sale confirmed, if possible. Mr. Blaine called on Acting Secretary Ryan and told him that no legitimate excuse for holding off longer existed, and said that unless the government closed the deal at once his company would withdraw its offer and not sell to the government.

Director Walcott of the reclamation service, called on Mr. Ryan and the acting secretary directed that the government take over the canal and that the treasury department pay over $250,000 to the canal company.

WORLD'S LARGEST DRYDOCK

It Will Be Located at Puget Sound Navy Yard.

Washintgon, July 23.—Plans for the largest and best drydock in the world are being prepared in the bureau of yards and docks at the navy department.

The last appropriation act contained a provision for a dock to cost $1,250,-000, to be constructed at the navy yard on Puget sound. This amount is larger than ever heretofore appropriated for a dock, and the new dock will, when completed, be able to take in the largest battleship either in courseof construction or contemplated.

The location of the dock has already been selected at the yard, and borings are now being made to learn the depth of the foundation. It is to be a concrete dock and the materials will be purchased on the Pacific coast, if practicable.

The dock is to be so constructed that it can be lengthened if vessels of greater length should be built in the future. It will be thirty-seven feet in depth over all, which will provide for the docking of any vessel that can be built, unless some unknown system of building is developed.

The greater depth of the new dock is also designed to meet cases where a vessel has been injured and draws much more than the ordinary depth on account of the injury.

Chautauqua at Three Tree Point

Seattle, July 20.—Washington will have Chautauqua grounds. This was finally decided Wednesday, when an agreement was reached between the owners of Three Tree point and the committee representing the ministerial associations of Seattle and Tacoma, and the first payment on the purchase price of the point was made. Three Tree point will be the permanent location of what the promoters say will be the only strictly interdenominational Chautauqua in the United States and one of the four principal Chautauquas on the Pacific coast.

Baron Kodama Dead.

Tokyo, July 23.—General Baron Kodama is dead. Gen. Kodama was educated at Rutgers college and has been called the genius of the Japanese army. He was Field Marshal Oyama's chief of staff during the late war with Russia, and later was appointed governor of Formosa. After the retirement of Field Marshal Oyama, Gen. Kodama was made chief of the general staff of the army.

PEACE TREATY MADE

DOCUMENT SIGNED ABOARD U. S. CRUISER MARBLEHEAD.

After Strenuous Session Guatemala, Honduras and Salvador Reach Agreement Concerning Differences---Due to Intervention of U. S. and Mexico.

Oyster Bay, July 21.—President Roosevelt was unofficially informed last night of the signing of the treaty of peace between Guatemala, Salvador and Honduras on board the American cruiser Marblehead. The news was very gratifying, but it was said no statement would be given out by the president until word of the successful culmination of the negotiations undertaken by the United States and Mexico reaches Sagamore Hill through official channels. This probably will be sometime today.

San Jose, Guatemala, July 21.—A treaty of peace between Guatemala, Salvador and Honduras, was signed yesterday on board the United States cruiser Marblehead on the high seas.

There was a strenuous discussion and some difficulty in reaching mutually acceptable conditions. The Mexican minister, Senor Gamboa, was active in assisting in bringing about an agreement.

The peace commissioners adopted a resolution thanking the presidents of the United States and Mexico for their intervention.

Called Treaty of Marblehead

Washington, July 21.—Washington officials last night expressed great satisfaction that a peace paet was so promptly agreed upon. The agreement reported yesterday is referred to by officials here as the treaty of the Marblehead, and they expect it to go down in history by that name.

While the Washington officials are not advised of the terms of the treaty or the questions involved, they assert that the action is sufficient to cause peace in Central America.

PRINCESS VICTORIA CUTS TUG IN TWO

Vancouver, B. C., July 22.—Nine persons lost their lies yesterda afternoon by an accident which occurred in Burrard inlet, the harbor of Vancouver. The tug Chehalis was run down and cut in two by the steel steamer Princess Victoria, leaving this port for Victoria and Seattle.

The Chehalis had on board a party of fifteen bound for the oyster beds at Blunden Harbor, on the norther coast of British Columbia. The party included the owners of the beds and representatives of the English syndicate who contemplated purchasing the oyster properties.

Chehalis Cut in Twain

The tug Chehalis had been chartered for a three weeks' trip. When she entered the Narrows at the entrance of Burrard inlet, the strong flowing incoming tide swung the Chehalis across the channel.

The steamer Princess Victoria, following close behind, crashed into the Chehalis and cut the tug in two before the speed of the steamer could be checked. The Princess was traveling at the rate of 19 knots and the Chehalis at 8 knots when the collision occurred.

The Princess Victoria immediately threw out life preservers and lowered five boats, which cruised about for an hour, picking up the six survivors. These were brought back to the dock at Vancouver.

Not one woman in ten thousand takes employment for wages without a reservation in favor of marriage when the right man happens to come her way. Not one woman in ten thousand of the army of wage earners expects to pass her life in that capacity. She has therefore little or no incentive to advance herself to a position of responsible trust and corresponding usefulness, whereas the young man that takes employment does so in the expectation of making himself more and always more useful to the interest he serves till he reaches the height of his possibilities. Right here, indeed, is the heart of the mystery. It is an ancient but brutal epigram that "there is no friendship in business." The same is true of sentiment.

Home-Made Corned Beef.

Rub into the beef a mixture of one part saltpeter to ten parts salt, and when so much has been rubbed in that the salt lies dry on the surface set aside for twenty-four hours in a cold place, before repeating the process. Set aside again for twenty-four hours. At the end of that time put over the fire five gallons of water, one gallon of salt, four ounces of saltpeter and one and a half pounds of brown sugar. Boil for ten minutes, then set aside until stone cold. Wipe the beef carefully, put the beef in the pickle and set it in a cold place. If this pickle shows signs of spoiling remove the beef, wash and wipe and prepare more and stronger brine for it.

Strawberry Jam.

Cap the berries and to each pound of fruit allow three-quarters of a pound of granulated sugar. Put the berries into the preserving kettle, bring very slowly to a boil, so that they will not scorch, and boil for a half-hour, stirring hard and often. Dip out the superfluous juice and set aside for jelly. Add sugar to the berries, and cook for twenty minutes more. Put in glasses.

It is the fashion nowadays to deplore the general want of moral principle and to lament lugubriously the decline of old-fashioned honesty. But, really, how about the old-fashioned honesty? It is always easy to see a saint in a dead relative, just as it is easy to see a statesman in a dead politician. Grandfather's virtues, like grandfather's clocks, may be a badge of respectability, but in our own day they are not always in good running order. Our forefathers were no better than we are—indeed, to judge from the criticism of their contemporaries, they were a good deal worse. The world in which old-fashioned honesty lived was singularly uncomplicated. Smith knew Jones and Jones knew Smith, and if the one did not cheat the other there was every chance that each would die in the odor of respectability. Individualism set the limits to old-fashioned honesty. We need this individualistic honesty to-day, and we have it. But we need to-day a very much bigger sort of honesty—an honesty which sees that our obligations are set not alone by our relations with each other, but also by our relations with municipalities and states, with a nation and a world. Such honesty is not any too common, but it is growing. Men have gone down to their mausoleums labeled honest millionaires who were directors in corporations whose methods would bring blushes to the cheek of a confidence man. According to the standard of old-fashioned honesty there was nothing to be said against these honest millionaires. But from the point of view of the new honesty they were thieves, though they robbed legally. One does not need to be an academic optimist to see the beginning of this new-fashioned honesty. We are doing the best we can to shape up law which shall express a new social conscience. Morality is always a generation or two ahead of legality. The number of offenses against the moral and legal codes is increasing enormously. Moral principle never cut so large a figure in the affairs of this American people as it does now. Our godly ancestors had one moral qualm where we have twenty. It never occurred to them that a lottery was wrong, or that it was wicked to whip a child or a wife, or to enslave the black man and cheat and debauch the red man. Nine out of ten of the little conscientious niceties of life are discoveries of the last fifty years. More societies to do all sorts of good and work all kinds of reforms were created in the last two generations than had been formed or thought of before from the beginning of the world.

Crisp Crust Rolls.

One pint warm water, one cake compressed yeast, one-half tablespoonful salt. Always test the yeast; break yeast in tumbler, add one-half tablespoonful of sugar and fill tumbler with a part of the warm water. If the yeast rises to the top of the water in a short time it is good; if not, it is not fit to use. Have warm sifted flour in pan and make a hole in center of it, pour in warm water, yeast and salt, mix in a soft dough and let it stand until it doubles itself, then roll out and cut into strips with a sharp knife and form into long, slender rolls. Let them stand until they double themselves, then bake. Makes about twenty-four rolls, and if temperature is right it only takes about three hours to bake them.

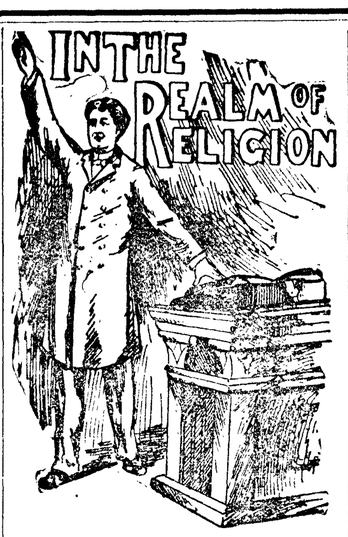
Colonel Watterson tells the young men to "go South," while Uncle Yim Hill bids them go West by North. Torn by conflicting emotions, most of the young men probably will remain where they are.

Of course the man who thinks as highly of himself as you do of yourself is conceited.

Men accept old age with better grace than do women.



The Personal Touch.

In a great meeting a young man was leaning forward on the back of a seat, with his face covered by his hands. There were many like him, and the workers were all too few. "Go speak to that young man," was the loving command of the leader to another young man who happened to be in the forefront of young people's work in that church.

Fear took possession of him—he trembled as a leaf, and said: "Oh, I cannot go; I never did such a thing before; I am not able to do it."

The leader was firm in his loving demand. "You must go," he said.

Going down the aisle, he dropped into the seat of the young man, put his arm over his shoulder, and, in a half-sobbing tone, said: "I have been sent to talk to you, but I do not know what to say. But Jesus loves you, and I know He is ready to save you."

They both dropped on their knees, and it was only a moment or two before a soul was born into the kingdom. The personal touch of the loving heart was the means, under God, of directing and winning a soul.

When We Meet with Injustice.

We are always in danger of allowing ourselves to be embittered by injustice or cruel treatment. When we have sought to do good to others, and our love has been despised, rejected, and cast away; when we have suffered and sacrificed in vain, receiving only ingratitude and unkindness in return for love's most sacred gifts, freely lavished, it is easy to permit our heart to lose its tenderness, and to grow hard and misanthropic. Then it is that life has wrought damage to our spirit, and that we have sinned against our own soul. The problem of Christian living is to pass through any and every possible experience of pain, loss, sorrow, temptation, or wrong, uninjured, and with spirit sweet, peaceful, wholesome, loving and unimpaired.

Making Sure of To-day.

Duty done to-day is better than duty planned for to-morrow. The man who thinks most of to-morrow's accomplishment is not likely to take care of to-morrow when it comes. The man who gives himself unreservedly to the doing of to-day's tasks is the better fitted to do as well for to-morrow's when they are at hand. To-day is the only day in which we are sure of having even the opportunity to work. And if more opportunties come, the year's record, when it is past, is going to be secure if each day in the year has been secured as it came. The newspaper man's creed, "one scoop to-day is worth two prospects for to-morrow," is a good creed for the followers of One who said, "Be not therefore anxious for the morrow."

Out of Self.

If there be some weaker one,
Give me strength to help him on;
If a blinder soul there be,
Let me guide him nearer Thee.
Make my mortal dreams come true
With the work I fain would do;
Clothe with life the weak intent,
Let me be the thing I meant;
Let me find in Thy employ
Peace that dearer is than joy:
Out of self to love be led
And to heaven acclimated,
Until all things sweet and good
Seem my natural habitude.

—J. G. Whittier.

Why Should We Fear?

To-day, to-morrow, every day, the end of the world is close at hand to thousands and tens of thousands. And why should we fear it? We walk here, as it were, in the crypts of life; from the great cathedral above us we can at times hear the organ and the chanting choir, or see the light stream through the open door, when some friend goes out before us; and shall we fear to mount the narrow staircase of the grave that leads us out of this uncertain twilight into eternal life!—Longfellow.

Having and Hoping.

D. L. Moody made a telling point when he, at the same time, convulsed and convicted his congregation, with this anecdote: "I hab hearn folks say, 'Hope I has 'ligion, but I doan know.' I neber hearn a man say, 'I hope I has money, but I doan know.' Dat sorter 'ligion dat yer hopes ye's got, but doan know, ain't gwine to do no mo' good dan der money what yer hopes ye's got, but doan know."

The Everlasting Arms.

"The everlasting arms." I think of that whenever rest is sweet. How the whole earth and the strength of it, that is, His almightiness, is beneath every tired creature, to give it rest, holding us always. No thought of God is closer than that. No human tenderness of patience is greater than that which gathers in its arms a little child and holds it, heedless of weariness.—Mrs. A. D. T. Whitney.

Life a School.

We are at school here, and shall always be at school till we are dismissed from earth's classes, to be promoted into heaven. It is a pity if we do not learn our lessons. It is a pity if we grow no gentler, no kindlier, no more thoughtful, no more unselfish, no sweeter in spirit, no less worldly, if the peace of our heart is not deepened as the years pass over us.—J. R. Miller.

HERMIT FOURSCORE YEARS.

Never Was Thirty Miles Away from Place of His Birth.

That a man could live for eighty-one years almost as a hermit in the midst of civilization and the environment of twentieth century life is illustrated in the case of Samuel Carter of Williamsburg, Ohio, who died in his native town a few weeks ago.

Born in 1825, he spent his whole life in Williamsburg and never even visited the town of Batavia, which is only seven miles distant. Nor did he ever traverse the twenty-eight miles between his birthplace and Cincinnati. More than that, he never set eyes on the muddy waters of the Ohio. He couldn't have described a steamboat for a million dollars in gold—for he never saw one!

When the old stage coaches gave way to the steam engine he stared in wonderment at the coughing iron monsters rushing through the town at forty miles an hour. But that was all—he was content to look. Never in all his long life did he ride on a railroad train!

He was a contented, happy man, pleasant and affable to all who knew him. But he preferred his own company and the companionship of his wife to visiting his neighbors. He never attended parties, picnics, county fairs or political meetings. Occasionally he spent a few moments in conversation at the grocery store and once in a while he attended church when the preacher was a native or former resident of Williamsburg.

As for funerals, only those of his kith and kin interested him. But at woodchopping, house and barn raising, harvesting and thrashing he was an interested participant and worked with a will.

His clothes, butternut or indigo blue in color, were homespun and woven on the hand loom. He raised his own vegetables, sheared his own fleece and wore it.

His keenest delights in life were hunting and fishing. The east fork of the Little Miami was but a short distance from his cottage. It is a crooked little stream that surrounds all of Williamsburg, both the living and the dead—cemetery, mill, church and stores. The little river is like a mammoth horseshoe placed around the town and Samuel Carter's house was at the heel of the shoe half way between the forks. He would start out in the morning and fish all day for miles along the stream and around the town. He was born on a crooked river, but lived a straight man, only going crooked when he fished along the crooked east fork.

And so Samuel Carter lived and died—an exponent of the simple life. With his rod and gun, his wife and his home he passed his allotted time.

Within a few miles of his home the world rushed by and he—he was not even curious to see what it looked like!—Cincinnati Inquirer.

AMERICANS AS SOLDIERS.

They Developed Great Skill in the Clash with Spain.

Several American army officers were discussing the relative merits and demerits of the soldiers of the world the other evening, when the little Japanese fighting man was brought into the limelight of their talk, says the Washington Star.

"He is a wonderful little fighter," said one, "and some of the reasons for his success in battle are plain to me. He is brave to a fault, and being a fatalist does not go into the fighting zone trembling in his boots and as nervous as a fidgety woman, as many soldiers do. He is, too, like the American soldier, an individual fighter and not a machine, and for this reason, if for no other, it was easy for him to score victory after victory over the bulky, clumsy Russians, whose movements in battle, when not in a stampede, were like those of some great cumbersome machine.

"The Russians fought bravely enough," said another, "but under great disadvantage. Their training and their tactics were against them and they could not withstand the fighting of the athletic and tireless little Japs."

A tall, gray veteran who left one of his arms on the bloody field of Antietam, and who had been listening to the younger and more up-to-date officers, finally said:

"Well, gentlemen, you may talk about the Japs and the Boers and other soldiers of the old countries, but our American boys in the little-big war we had with Spain gave the world several salutary object lessons in fighting. Their forthwithness and their rushes were revelations to the old-world soldiers. Their individual fighting was admirable and was afterward copied by both the Boers and the Japs. In former wars we had heard of the command frequently given, 'Fire and fall back.' In the campaign in Cuba and the Philippines it was with the American fighters always 'Fire and forward.' Had the war with Spain continued and other countries been involved in it our fellows in khaki and blue would have fought battles that would have made Mukden look like thirty old-fashioned copper pennies."

How Good Food may Turn to Poison

DECAY is not digestion, you know, even when it takes place in the stomach.

Food decayed in the body after being eaten is as dangerous to health as food decayed before being eaten.

Food nourishes or poisons, just according to how long it remains in the Bowels undigested.

Cascarets are the simplest and surest safeguard against Delayed Digestion yet discovered.

Sold in a thin Enamel Box, half as thick as your watch, which fits into the vest pocket or lady's purse as if it grew there.

In this round-edged Enamel Box are found six small Candy Tablets.

One of these toothsome tablets works wonders for digestion.

Soon as placed in the mouth it starts the Saliva flowing, which at once gets to work dissolving it.

The Saliva becomes blended with the Candy Cascaret tablet, and from the moment they start going down your throat together they start working together.

Now, what do they work at? Bowel-work, of course—Digestion.

Most of the Digestion occurs in the thirty feet of intestines that connect with the Stomach.

They are lined with a set of little mouths, that squeeze Digestive Juices into the Food eaten.

The Digestive Juices thus mix with the food, just as Saliva mixes with Cascaret tablets, dissolving and changing that food into nourishment, as it passes along the channel.

The Intestines are also lined with millions of little suction pumps, that draw the Nutriment from Food, as it passes them in going through.

This Nutriment is then carried into the Blood, and spread over the Body as Brain, Bone and Brawn.

But, when the Bowel-Muscles are weak, the Food moves too slowly to stimulate the little Gastric Mouths and there is no flow, or too little flow of Digestive Juice, to change the food into nourishment.

Then, the food decays in the Bowels, and in the thirty feet of Intestines.

When this Decay begins the little suction pumps draw Poison from the decayed Food, into the blood, instead of the Nutrition it should have drawn.

Now, Cascarets contain the only combination of drugs that Stimulates these Muscles of the Bowels and Intestines just as a Cold Bath, or open-air Exercise, stimulates a Lazy Man.

Cascarets therefore act like Exercise.

They produce the same sort of Natural result that a Six Mile walk in the country would produce, without any injurious Chemical effect.

The Vest Pocket Cascaret Box is sold by all Druggists, at Ten Cents.

Be sure you get the genuine, made only by the Sterling Remedy Company, and never sold in bulk. Every tablet stamped "CCC."

TIMBER IS WORTHLESS

Mr. Reynolds Thinks Its Value Depends Upon the Speculators.

You say my ideas are peculiar. A white woman marries a Chinaman, and one reads of a broken-hearted mother. One sympathizes with the mother, without thinking how the Chinaman's mother feels about it. Its the point of view. The ideas of a timber man may appear peculiar to you, but you should consider your ideas appear equally peculiar to the person allied with the timber interests.

Here we have in this county a vast body of timber, which is worthless, absolutely worthless, as it stands today. Each quarter section of it will continue to be worthless until the time comes when that particular quarter is being marketed. Aside from the element of speculation it is worse than worthless, as not only is it in constant danger from forest fires, but it eats up a great sum annually in taxes.

The speculator gives the timber value. Had there never been a speculator, had there never been a dollar to invest in Clallam county timber, the land would still belong to the government. It would not be paying taxes. If it had been taken up, and proofs made, it would have reverted, or rather, would have been taken by the county, for being unproductive, the original owners could not have paid the taxes. In either event the county would receive no income from these lands.

Take the case of the purchase of $1,200 worth of lands by the Puget Sound Mills & Timber Co. at the last county land sale. The county had taken the land for unpaid taxes. The logging company bought them; they are now back on the tax rolls and will hereafter pay taxes.

If it was not for the timber owners there would be no taxes paid and no money to maintain our excellent system of roads and the country schools could not be had. If the roads were not kept in good repair the immense debt the county has incurred would go for naught. But the beneficent management of the county road system, under direction of, and by and for, the timber interests, is, as Kipling would say, another story.

The companies that have invested in timber, buying from the original owners, paid from $1,000 to $1,500 a quarter. They could afford to pay taxes on that valuation and wait a long time for the advance in price that was sure to come. By creating a market for timber they have put many a poor man on his feet and given him a start in the world. They could not have thus aided the poor and needy had the lands been taxed at a higher rate. And they stand today willing and even anxious to pay even twice as much for the few remaining claims, whenever the scattered settlers grow weary of the solitude, or hopeless of ever getting any improvements made to their roads. It pays to offer more for claims because there is always danger of fires being started by the settler clearing a home, and because where there are no settlers there are no schools.

There are school districts in this county where there is but one family living. The teacher, being a member of the family, boards at home; fuel is gotten up by another member, and the other one "goes to school." The expenses are bourne by the timber owner. Is it any wonder, in the face of such rank injustice he is willing to pay even a triple price for the last claim in the district? But it would be adding injury to injury to tax his holdings on the basis of price paid for this last claim.

The people in the towns of the county, who pay on their lots over a third as much as the entire timber and farming land of the county pays, wouldn't consider it just to have their lots assessed at a higher rate because some real estate man had talked harbor and destiny to an Eastern sucker and soaked him for a fancy price.

Neither should the recent big sales of timber be used as a basis of values, because some Chicago or New Orleans men had been made to see visions of what that timber would be worth as shingles and finishing lumber on an Eastern market.

There are only about a half million acres, outside of town lots, assessed in the county. So there isn't much chance of the speculators making an honest living nohow. If the valuation of their lands is raised, the higher taxation will prevent their selling what little they have to advantage and the real estate business of the county will become stagnant. The brisk activity of the past few years in the timber market has been of benefit to all.

In my next letter I will take up the many advantages accruing to the people of the county thru the work of the logging camps.

Very truly yours,
G. H. Reynolds.

WILL DEVELOP SEGUIN PRAIRIE

Angeles People Start Operations with a Forty Acre Tract.

C. J. Farmer and Capt. Allen, of Angeles, bought 40 acres of Seguin prairie land this week from Mrs. Isabel Brown, paying $40 per acre. It is a very desirable property being but a fourth of a mile from the postoffice. They have sent to Wenatchee for an expert to so plan its irrigation that it can be sold in small tracts to settlers. We hope the gentlemen will find the venture profitable and will continue and extend their field of operations.

Harvest is here and the sound of the binder, mingled with the merry laugh of the prosperous farmer may be heard from all sides.

A number of Seguin residents enjoyed the Sunday excursion to Seattle, July 29.

The Seguin Stars defeated the Lincoln Heights aggregation on the home diamond Sunday last.

Mrs. Wilhelmina Sindars has purchased a lot in Keeler's plat.

H. J. Bugge has bought one of the choice lots which lies opposite the postoffice and will build on it.

Two accidents occurred in this vicinity Monday last. Bertie Wilder fell from his fathers "Conkey" engine and broke an arm. An hour later a son of Frank Robinson also broke an arm, presumably in sympathy with his playmate.

The Friday Harbor base ball team will be here Sunday, Aug. 5, and will bring a large excursion.

There was a very large crowd at the literary dance last Saturday.

Mrs. J. E. McDonald is visiting with Mrs. J. L. Keeler.

Children in Pain

never cry as do children who are suffering from hunger. Such is the cause of all baby's who cry and are treated for sickness, when they really are suffering from hunger. This is caused from their food not being assimilated but devoured by worms. A few doses of White's Cream Vermifuge will cause them to cease crying and begin to thrive at once. Give it a trial.

"Make Hay While the Sun Shines."

There is a lesson in the work of the thrifty farmer. He knows that the bright sunshine may last but a day and he prepares for the showers which are so liable to follow. So it should be with every household. Dysentery, diarrhoea and cholera morbus may attack some member of the home without warning. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which is the best known medicine for these diseases, should always be kept at hand, as immediate treatment is necessary, and delay may prove fatal. For sale by all druggists.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect it.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What To Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention this paper and don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y.

GREAT CATCH EXPLAINED

Why All Expert Anglers Are Qualified for the "First Row Front"

"Yes, 't was great sport catching that string of trout," said Mr. Stakemiller the other day, "but hard work getting along the creek. The bank shelves right down to the water up there; we quit in the middle of the afternoon. You rather exaggerated the number we caught tho—guess you never heard of Pete's big catch in early days?"

"You see, Pete is a good deal like Edison. They say two friends once wagered Edison wouldn't know whether or not he had eaten. He had placed his lunch on his plate but was absorbed in some problem and was dead to the world. After they had finished one of them exchanged plates with him and arose to go. Edison came to, saw the empty plate, took out a cigar, and left the table satisfied, tho he hadn't eaten a mouthful. Same way with Pete; when he is fishing he sees nothing else, forgets to eat or drink and would forget to sleep if it weren't for night coming on."

"Well, P. J. and I were wading down stream one day; had no luck at all; tried every fly in the book but the trout simply wouldn't raise. We were just about to give up in disgust when we saw one leap from a pool ahead and a few seconds later fly up to the bank above. Then in a moment another went thru the same antics; then another, and another, with great regularity. It was amazing. When we got down where we could see, there sat Pete, oblivious to his surroundings, but catching fish. He had evidently had no luck with flies, either, and was using grasshoppers. He would get out a hopper, tie it on with a hair, make the cast, getting a raise every time the instant the line struck water. Then another hopper, pull another hair, and so on."

"We became fascinated. After about an hour he suddenly stopped. We called him to go on, but he heaved a great sigh and pointed to his head."

"What was the matter with his head? He had plucked it bald."

"They say P. J. used to make some great catches too, for a year or so after that."

Weak Hearts
Are due to indigestion. Ninety-nine of every one hundred people who have heart trouble can remember when it was simple indigestion. It is a scientific fact that all cases of heart disease, not organic, are not only traceable to, but are the direct result of indigestion. All food taken into the stomach which fails of perfect digestion ferments and swells the stomach, puffing it up against the heart. This interferes with the action of the heart, and in the course of time that delicate but vital organ becomes diseased.
Mr. D. Kauble, of Nevada, O., says: I had stomach trouble and was in a bad state as I had heart trouble with it. I took Kodol Dyspepsia Cure for about four months and it cured me.
Kodol Digests What You Eat and relieves the stomach of all nervous strain and the heart of all pressure.
Bottles only. $1.00 Size holding 2½ times the trial size, which sells for 50c.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

STATE REPRESENTATIVE.

I hereby announce my candidacy for the nomination of State Representative, subject to the action of the Republican county convention. C. W. THOMPSON.

APPEALS TO ALL ALIKE

The direct primary makes its appeal to members of all parties alike; and to that extent at least it is not a partisan reform, says the Post-Intelligencer. It can, and it does command the support of republicans, democrats and socialists. No man's opinions on national issues affect in the slightest degree his recognition of the fact that the people are likely to be better served if the elective officers of each community owe their selection to the direct vote of the people rather than to the intrigues of professional followers of politics as a means of livelihood.

Thus it is that while democrats of Whitman county have put their entire county ticket in nomination thru the direct primary system, the republicans of Bellingham are to place in nomination the legislative candidates from that city, as well as the justices of the peace and constables, thru the direct primary. Unfortunately, the whole county ticket in Whatcom county will not be nominated in the same manner, for the country precincts preferred to follow the old method until such time as the new one has the endorsement of the law.

There is also some probability of the direect primary system being adopted for the purpose of placing tickets in nomination in some of the other counties, by one or the other of the political parties. It is a wise step and will tend to familiarize the people with the procedure which will hereafter be in use, if the coming legislature does its duty.

THE CITY COUNCIL

The chief item of interest at the council meeting Tuesday evening was a communication from the fire department, in which the members tendered their resignations unless their bill of $43 for the last fire was allowed in full.

The council, acting on the belief that an expense of $40 for each alarm responded to, whether it was a blazing chimney which two or three men could handle or a false alarm where no work was necessary, passed, on May 22nd, a resolution for compensation as follows: "In case of alarms at which no work was necessary or performed, one dollar for each fireman present. In cases of fire at which work was necessary, three dollars for each fireman present and taking part."

Upon discussion, it was stated to be the belief of the committee that the last fire was well under way before the alarm was given; that being a mere shed it was burned to the ground before the wagon with extinguishers or firemen reached the scene; that being isolated and no wind blowing surrounding buildings were in no danger, and hence as it was believed no work was necessary the bill was cut to $14. It was further stated that the committee had, previously to passing the resolution, made a proposition to the firemen to divide their department into companies, one company to respond to alarms in the residence district one month and the other the next, the reserve being called out only upon a second alarm. No action upon this suggestion of reducing the city's expenses had been reported from the fire department, hence the resolution.

The views of the department are fully set out in the communication which follows:

"We, the members of the Fire Department, individually and as a body, in meeting this day assembled, believe that an injustice has been done us, perhaps unwittingly, by your honorable body, in only allowing us the minimum fee of $1 for the last alarm. If this precedent was allowed to stand we cannot imagine an occasion where we would be allowed the maximum $3, as on this occasion we went to the scene of the fire with extinguishers, and done all there was to do except get wet or injured, which we are led to believe by this action is necessary, before getting our $3.

Now, gentlemen, we believe and understand that the intention of the last resolution was to provide for false alarms, or cases where we did not go to the scene of the fire, and believing this, we think we are entitled to the full $3 for the last alarm.

If you do not think so, gentlemen, we are exceedingly sorry, but shall have to consider our services no longer required, without further notice, after 12:00 o'clock from this Tuesday evening, July 31, 1906, should you not be able to interpret the last resolution as stated above"

The bill of $43 was allowed in full.

Consideration of the water works question was referred to the committee of the whole.

TO OUR READERS

We are asked what will be the politics of the Olympic-Leader during the coming campaign.

To this question we reply: Independent.

But what is independence in politics? There are those who think such independence is only attained by the paper that wholly ignores political questions.

Such a course may be comfortable avoidance. It is not independence.

There are others, everywhere thruout the country, who think newspapers can have no politics unless they be the organ of petty office seekers, the instrument of the local demagogue, the official mud-slinger.

This is not independence. It is abject slavery.

As to national questions, we are publishing a country paper, not a partisan journal. The big city dailies and weeklies, magazines both weekly and monthly, and cartoon journals as well, come loaded with elaborate discussions, pertinent editorial comments, and pithy political paragraphs. The best talent on the stump is also focused upon the vital national issues, and reported in their columns. Nothing escapes them, nor gets stale before it is served to the reader. Everything is timely and comprehensible. What one misses another takes up, and the topic is touched from every point of the intellectual compass.

When the juice of the political lemon is about squeezed out, then the country political editor steps in, and proceeds to work over the squeezed-out peel. He reminds us of an ambitious lad following closely after a brass band, and striving to increase the volume of sound with a penny whistle. The country weekly is two slow to join in a grand race with the swift cosmopolitan daily in the transmission of political information. A country publisher who starts in such a chase would hunt lions with a pop-gun, or attempt to bail a sinking ship with a teaspoon.

It is right and proper that all the great questions of the day should be fully discussed. This is an age of wonderful mental activity and the people demand to be informed on all topics of interest, especially those of a political nature when a campaign is pending.

But the county newspaper is hedged about by barriers beyond which it can accomplish little. It must therefore elect to do those things in which it can accomplish most. The local field is the territory in which a country newspaper must work. Questions of local importance are within its scope. A man with any strong belief in or conviction of what seems to him best in the regulation of local affairs, as in other things, cannot be silent when principles of vital importance are being, or should be, considered. He may be independent; he cannot be neutral.

In this county there are several issues of vital importance to its people, and all are independent. The equalization of the burden of taxation, the fair and square divisions of funds for roads and bridges between the various sections of the county, and the constitutional right of every man to have his vote made the equal of that of any other man, are questions in which the people of Clallam county are mostly concerned to-day.

We'll get equal taxation when we have the direct primary system, and not before. We'll get the direct primary system when we assert our independence of the petty political grafter who relieves us of all concern in selecting the men for whom we shall vote, and not before. When we act independently, we will be independent—'till then, we do not deserve independence.

Already, in at least one party in this county, the slate is nearly completed. Already, the candidates for those offices which control the vital affairs of the county are pledged and guaranteed.

The Olympic-Leader is independent. Its publishers reserve the right to select its ticket. Reserve the right to work for those candidates—whatever their political beliefs on national questions may be—who will give the people of the county a square deal. Reserve the right to work against those candidates, should such be nominated by any party, who have secured their nominations by pledges to certain interests and who are guaranteed to be "safe."

We do not expect to make life-long friends among office seekers of this class. Political prejudices are deep and lasting; political hatred bitter. In the campaign for equal taxation and representation we may not be successful, but such candidates, if nominated, will at least know they have been thru a campaign.

Some time since it was suggested to us, that inasmuch as our subscription list included practically all those of democratic persuasion who read a county paper, we would naturally continue to publish a democratic paper. Doubtless the conclusion would be well drawn were the premises true, or rather, were it based upon the entire premises in the case.

Our subscription list to-day contains the names of more republicans than democrats—this we have since ascertained by comparison with a polling list of the county, used by one of the republicans in the last campaign. Hence it would naturally follow, in the same line of thought, that this paper would be republican in politics.

We also note another and perhaps "peculiar" thing. Nearly every independent voter marked "doubtful" on the list, reads the Olympic-Leader, many of them having commenced taking it during the past year.

Summer Diarrhoea in Children.

During the hot weather of the summer months the first unnatural looseness of a child's bowels should have immediate attention, so as to check the disease before it becomes serious. All that is necessary is a few doses of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoe Remedy followed by a dose of castor oil to cleanse the system. Rev. M. O. Stockland, Pastor of the First M. E. Church, Little Falls, Minn., writes: "We have used Chamberlains Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for several years and find it a very valuable remedy, especially for summer disorders in children." Sold by all druggists.

SEGUIN NOTES.

A very sad accident occurred here on Tuesday last, whereby a life was lost. Miss Mabel Duncan attempted to walk a foot-log across the Dungeness river and slipped into the stream, from which her lifeless body was taken two hours later. Miss Duncan was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Duncan who recently moved here from Michigan. She was fourteen years old and a very clever and ambitious child, much loved by all her playmates. Interment took place at the Seguin cemetery at two o'clock Wednesday.

J. L. Keeler bought a fine team of horses this week; they had just been driven from Yakima by J. E. Banks.

Earnest Webster has purchased a team, wagon, etc., and will gather cream for the Washington Harbor creamery.

George Flatt and wife were Seguin visitors first of the week.

About seventy-five friends of Mrs. Tom McRoberts met at the school house on Lincoln Heights to help her celebrate her birthday, on Tuesday evening last. Music was furnished by Prof. Getchell and Miss Hazel Collins and dancing was quite llvely till 12 o'clock when the guests partook of a fine lunch of sandwiches, cake and ice cream and wishing Mrs. McRoberts many happy returns of the day, wended their way home.

The Pacific Monthly for July

The Pacific Monthly for July is, if possible, an improvement over the June number. It is characterized by the same qualities which made the June number such a conspicuous success, and which has done so much to bring the Pacific Monthly into great prominence throughout the entire country. The July number contains four articles on the earthquake in California, written by Brigadier-General Funston, Doctor David Starr Jordan, Benjamin Ide Wheeler, and W. W. Campbell, head of the Lick Observatory. It contains a frontispiece in four colors and eight pages in two colors devoted to beautiful scenery in Oregon, Washington and California. One of the notable articles in this nnmber is that written by Mr. James Metcalfe, editor of Life. It takes up Mr. Metcalfe's courageous fight for honest dramatic criticism, and is beautifully illustrated with views of the recent dramatic season in New York City.

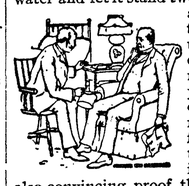
Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect it.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.



What To Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention this paper and don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y.

Morse Creek Campers Cured of Desire for Trout.

Messrs. Stakemiller, McIvor, Clegg, Dilling, Lease and families and their guests, a party of about twenty-five in all, are camping under the grove of big maples at Morse creek this week. Its needless to say they've been having a grand time, enjoying all the pleasures of an outing on an Olympic mountain stream—except trout fishing. Of course the trout are there, millions of them, but therein lay the aggravation. The party needed an expert angler. At last Charley Stakemiller, unable longer to endure the taunts of the trout-hungry party, induced that boss fish-sharp, Ed. Nailor, to come to his rescue. Going up to Ed's private preserves, where the rainbows attain an average length of ten inches, just right for the the pan, and under his instruction in casting the fly, in about three hours the two gentlemen filled baskets, pockets, pails, topboots, and even a dish pan. Ed. Dilling says you couldn't get one of the party to even look at a trout now. They're back on ham and eggs.

Felix Bradshaw

Felix, son of Mr. and Mrs. C.C. Bradshaw, died at the Turkington hospital Friday, July 13th. Felix was born in Texas sixteen years ago and came to this county with his parents while a small child. Besides his parents, he leaves four brothers and two sisters of whom Mrs. O. H. Winters is one. A number of friends were present to offer their sympathy to the bereaved family. Rev. Fulmer spoke with feeling and comfort after which the beloved was laid to rest amid a billow of beautiful flowers, there to await the general roll call. It must be a great comfort to the dear ones left that almost his last words were that he was not afraid to die. Felix was a good boy; may his sleep be of peaceful rest. A FRIEND.

CARD OF THANKS.

Mr. and Mrs. Bradshaw wish to thank their friends for all kindness extended toward them during the sickness and death of their son, and for the beautiful flowers, and to those who so kindly sang at the grave; and also to Mr. and Mrs. Haynes and Mr. and Mrs. Pike.
