THE OLYMPIC, ESTABLISHED 1904.

THE OFFICIAL PAPER FOR THE COUNTY OF CLALLAM.

VOL. 19. NO. 24. PORT ANGELES, WASHINGTON. FRIDAY. SEPTEMBER 7, 1906 PRICE 5 CTS

THE DIRECT PRIMARY BILL

Best Features of Laws of Other States Incorporated in the Proposed Law.

The direct primary bill, as roughly drafted for submission to the legislature, contains the best features of all of the existing laws of other states upon this subject.

The provisions applying the direct primary system to nominations for United States senator and to all state, county and municipal offices, are taken from the Wisconsin law alone.

The provisions for filing of a simple declaration of candidacy, without indorsers and the provision for the payment of a small fee, are taken from the Minnesota law.

The provision for separate ballots for each political party is taken from both the Wisconsin law and that of Minnesota, while the provision which enables the voter to keep secret the party ticket which he uses is from the law of the latter state.

The provision by which voters are to be enabled to indicate both their first and their second choice, in cases where there are more than two candidates for any office, is not found in any existing law, altho it is a provision which Gov. LaFollette, of Wisconsin, urged the legislature of that state to adopt.

The provisions for limiting the expenditures of candidates and requiring a filing of a report by them of all expenditures made during the preliminary campaign, are taken from the "corrupt practices" act of Minnesota.

In short, the proposed measure is a selection from the provisions of similar laws in other states which have met with the largest approval of the voters of this state who have been invited to express their views upon the subject and who have taken advantage of the invitation.

The direct primary bill which will be presented to the state legislature, when it meets, will not be the work of any individual, or of any clique; or framed for any purpose other than to restore to the people, by the most practicable and best-tested methods, the right to select for themselves public servants. The opposition to the direct primary principle has no other motive behind it than a desire to perpetuate a system of nominations by bargain and sale, or thru intrigue and combinations, into which the public welfare is a consideration which never enters.

BUYING HALIBUT

Agents International Fish Co. at Angeles and Neah Bay

B. E. McKibben, buyer for the International Fish Co. of Tacoma arrived Wednesday and will make his headquarters at the Merchants. He has delayed coming down until the Seattle companies got weary of paying four cents per pound for halibut, the figure they jumped fish to upon learning the International Co. proposed to do the entire Cape Flattery halibut business at Angeles. Mr. McKibben says such a price could not be paid, except at a loss, and at anything like a fair price all the fish will be put thru cold storage here.

ADVERTISES HOT SPRINGS

P.-I. Reporter Tells of Clallam County's Health Resort in Olympic Mountains

Soleduck, Aug. 30.—In a picturesque little spot on the Soleduck river about fifteen miles by trail from the west end of Lake Crescent, are situated the Soleduck hot springs. These are both hot and cold springs, having medicinal properties, extending along an ancient fissure in an east and west direction for nearly a mile. The hotter springs, however, are to be found in the vicinity of the bath houses and summer resort now in charge of Cris Storm.

The site of these springs was homesteaded October 28, 1899, by Harry Moritz, who bought the original right from an Indian. His brother. Theodore, and four other heirs now own the springs.

The springs are situated in the valley of the river, appearing on both sides of it as the fissure crosses the river at the bath house. To the north at this point a wooded ridge rises 2,000 feet above the level of the water.

Two and one-half miles higher up are the falls. To the south of the river some three miles is the "park," a large grassy open space, surrounded on the south by a semi-circular ridge which rises 2,000 feet above it. In this park are lakes Blackwood and Jordon and Jordon falls.

Above the park on the northern slope of the semi-circular ridge, are a number of "frozen lakes" and quite extended grassy areas.

On the summit of the ridge the scenery is sublime. To the north one looks across lofty ridges, across the Strait of Juan de Fuca to Vancouver island and the Selkirk mountains; to the northwest looms up Mt. Baker, while near at hand on the south are the glaciers of Mt. Olympus extending their feet down into the Hoh valley. To the west thru the Hoh gap and across Ozette lake, the broad Pacific spreads out and reflects back the blazing rays of the setting sun.

In the week just closed fourteen elk were seen in the park, while two bear were killed. The river swarms with trout, while salmon run as far as the falls.

Along the river, ferns, salmon berry brush and vine maple are the principal undergrowth, while giant hemlock and Douglas fir tower heavenward. But away from the river the Douglas fir disappears and the huckleberry species becomes the predominating underbrush. At 4,000 feet the timber line begins; from that altitude upward the points are either barren or covered with grass and moss.

The rock of the region has been broken and tilted to a dip of 90 degrees. In the vicinity of the springs it is a massive sandstone. But the ridge north of the river is hard slate containing a little coal. No glacial deposits are found in the valley of the Soleduck or its tributaries. This accounts for the deep chasms and canyonlike valleys of the region.

The springs contain sulphur and their medicinal properties are demonstrated day by day. People come here with rheumatism and kindred diseases, stay a few weeks and go home sound and well. The springs now developed will furnish baths for 200 people; and by expending a small sum of money, twice as many. The water is here, as is also water power enough in the falls (10,000 horse power) to run an electric line from Port Angeles to the springs. What is needed is the electric line and a sanitarium. The springs will do the rest.

Knights of King Arthur.

Furnishings and gymnastic apparatus, games, magazines and books adapted to the use of boys, are needed for fitting up a club room for boys in the hall under the Olympic-Leader office. Pieces of carpet or rugs, draperies, chairs and tables are especially desired at once. Please communicate with Rev. G. N. Edwards or W. T. Stewart.

Cures Winter Cough.

J. E. Gover, 101 N. Main Str. Ottawa, Kans., writes, "Every fall it has been my wife's trouble to catch a severe cold, and therefore to cough all winter long. Last fall I got her a bottle of Horehound Syrup. She used it and has been able to sleep soundly all night long. Whenever the cough troubles her, two or three doses stops the cough, and she is able to be up and well." 25c, 50c and $1.00.

Seattle and Tacoma Market Reports.

The City Council

Councilman Brumfield brought up the matter of water supply at Ennis creek, calling attention to the fact that at this time of year, with the long absolute drouth and almost entire absence of snow from Mt. Angeles, the supply would be as low as could ever be possible. City engineer Gherke was instructed to investigate the present flow at proposed intake of Dunn, Coale & Dunn, and also supply in Lake creek.

City clerk ordered to advertise for wood for city light plant; Mr. O'Brien's contract expires in November.

City attorney Smith, and Councilmen Hallahan and Brumfield appointed committee to direct attention of county commissioners to fact that east half of suburban lot ten, included in lands advertised for taxes, takes in portions of First and Eunice streets, crossing it.

$7,000 Worth Frozen Salmon

The Fish Products Co.'s gasoline schooner Duxbury came down from Tacoma yesterday with $7,000 worth of salmon, cod and bait herring for the fertilizer. The salmon and cod had been frozen, nicely wrapped in tissue and in heavy paper and packed in boxes for shipment east; but the freezing process had not been thoro enough and the fish had spoiled.

Caught a Whale

Theodore Brewster made the record halibut catch for Angeles bay yesterday morning, landing a 200 lb. fish with ordinary hook and line into an ordinary skiff. Enough sport to suit the most enthusiastic enthusiast and a good day's work as well, for the fish brought 3c per pound at Silverwood's market. It was about four feet wide by twelve long, or at least so it appeared in the narrow alleyway at the market.

MILWAUKEE'S ROUTE

OFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENT FOR PART OF LINE.

Extension Will Be From Evarts, S. D., Instead of From Chamberlain---Trains to Run to Butte Within a Year From the First of Next January.

Chicago, Sept. 3.—The plans of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway for the construction of its projected extension to the Pacific coast have been officially announced.

It has been assumed that the Pacific line would be a continuation of the Milwaukee's southern branch, which is being extended from Chamberlain to Rapid City, S. D., but it develops that it is the northern or Aberdeen branch, now terminating at Evarts, S. D., which is to be carried on to the Coast.

Starting from Glenham, a few miles east of Evarts, the line will run for eighty miles through the Standing Rock Indian reservation. It will pass through Miles City, Mont., follow the valley of the Musselshell river and enter Butte through Pipestone pass in the Belt mountains at an altitude of 6,350 feet, a few miles south of where the range is crossed by the Northern Pacific.

The exact route to be followed from Butte to Puget sound will not be made public for about thirty days, but it is said that practically the entire right of way has been secured.

Will Cost $60,000,000

From Glenham to Butte the road will have a mileage of 731 and from Butte to Puget sound its mileage will be a little greater, making the entire extension substantially 1,500 miles. It will cost about $40,000 a mile, or a total of about $60,000,000.

The actual work of construction has been begun already on the Pacific coast extension, and it is expected to be built and under operation as far west as Butte by January 1, 1908, and to Puget sound within a year later.

The new line will run from forty to sixty miles south of the Northern Pacific from Glenham to Terry, Mont., where the two roads will cross. From Terry to Forsyth they will run parallel within a distance of two or three miles of each other. At Forsyth they will separate and again run forty to sixty miles apart until they approach Butte, when they again will cross. The two lines hardly can fail to continue close together the rest of the way to Puget sound.

OFFICIAL MAP IS ISSUED

Shows Route of Milwaukee From Glenham West to Butte.

Seattle, Sept. 3.—From the office of H. R. Williams, president of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway Company in Washington, official maps were issued Saturday showing the exact route to be followed by the road from Glenham to Butte. From Butte west and from Puget Souad east the construction is to be pushed just as rapidly as money and men can do it. The scarcity of labor has been somewhat of a hindrance, but surprising progress is being made.

Continuing west from Butte, it is credibly stated, the line will practically parallel the Northern Pacific to a point west of Missoula and thence through the Bitter Root mountains to the headwaters of the St. Joseph river. The route follows down the St. Joseph river from the Idaho line to a point below Ferrell or St. Joe, Idaho; then goes on to Tekoa, Wash., passing along to Rosalia and along the south side of Rock Lake, then reaching Lind, on the Northern Pacific. From Lind the survey practically follows the old Northern Pacific cutoff to Ellensburg.

The contract for practically all the line west has been awarded and construction work is well under way in many localities. The only portion of the construction work in the west for which no contract has been signed is between the Columbia river and Ellensburg, and that is just the same as signed, as it will also be let to H. C. Henry, who is doing the greater part of the constrcution work for the Pacific coast extension.

Washintgon, Sept. 5.—Government dispatches confirm the report that the transport Sheridan is a total loss. All movable property has been removed from the vessel.

CONSIDERING ELECTRICITY

Southern Pacific May Use It On Mountain Grades.

San Francisco, Sept. 1.—The Southern Pacific is seriously considering the use of electric power to take the heavy freight and passenger trains over the steep grades of the Sierra Nevada mountanis. Electric power can be easily installed, according to the preliminary reports, to do the work, with an increase over the present speed of the trains of about 100 per cent. The best speed the powerful locomotives now hauling the freight cars can attain over the steep grades is eight miles an hour, and sometimes three locomotives have to be attached to attain this. It is understood that the new electric power will take the cars over the grades at a minimum rate of fifteen miles an hour.

It is proposed by the Southern Pacific to do away with some of the hardest grades by the use of tunnels which will be bored in the vicinity of Truckee.

If the proposed improvements are made it is estimated that the cost of hauling the trains will be cut in half and the freight carrying capacity of the road over the summit of the Sierras will be almost doubled.

MANY NEW SKYSCRAPERS

Fifteen Mammoth Buildings Being Erected In Gotham.

New York, Sept. 3.—Lower New York is being constructed again on a loftier scale than ever, and soon a new generation of skyscrapers will dwarf the older ones. In the limited area south of Fulton street, and principally in the financial district, no less than fifteen new skyscrapers are being erected at a total cost of $40,000,000. The aggregate amount of rentable office space which they will provide is 2,500,000,000 square feet. The buildings are from twenty to thirty stories in height, the average being twenty-three stories. They will add to New York's downtown business population from 75,000 to 80,000 persons. Among the new skyscrapers a variation of the accepted type makes its appearance. This is the building with a tower. The Singer building, with its forty-story tower 594 feet high, will be an example of this, and the Metropolitan Life building will soon start its new addition on the site of Dr. Parkhurst's old church, with a tower almost as high. Most peculiar of the new skyscrapers is that which will contain the Hudson company's underground tunnel terminal, which will be two blocks long. Over this terminal will be built twin office buildings to cost $10,000,000. The tunnel railway, which will run under the Hudson to New Jersey, will have a capacity of 19,200 passengers an hour each way, and the offices over the terminal will contain a day population equal to that of a good sized town.

City in Each Building

Each modern skyscraper is indeed now a city in itself. It contains a barber, bootblack, haberdasery store, manicure, restaurant, bathing establishment, gymnasium, flower, fruit and candy shops, apothecary, doctor and dentist. In fact there is everything a city ought to have except sleeping quarters. At night and on Sundays and holidays the proprietors of these establishments vanish. On ordinary days they do a rushing business. Recently the Park Row building, one of the largest office structures, kept tab on the number of persons using its elevators on an ordinary business day. The number was found to be more than 60.000.

IRRIGATION WORK

NATIONAL CONGRESS IN SESSION AT BOISE, IDAHO.

Speech of Vice President Fairbanks and Letter From President Roosevelt the Features of the Opening Day---Magnificent Exhibition of Products.

Boise, Idaho, Sept. 4.—Vice President Charles W. Fairbanks yesterday was the guest of the city of Boise and the National Irrigation congress, which convened here for its fourteenth annual session. The convention received a letter of greeting from President Roosevelt, which provoked hearty applause and later by resolution of the congress and expression of thanks was telegraphed to the president at Washington.

A feature of the congress is a magnificent exhibition of fruits, honey and products of the garden and field, all grown under irrigation. Idaho has the finest exhibit, but Utah also makes a splendid showing.

Speech of Fairbanks

The address of Vice President Fairbanks was fraught with encouragement for the irrigationists, and that the good wishes which he expressed were fully appreciated was evidenced by he hearty applause which greeted his speech. He said in part:

"It is impossible to exaggerate the importance of the work in which you are engaged. It is fraught with far-reaching interest, not only to the present but to the future.

"The growth of irrigation thus far is largely due to individual and corporate enterprise. It has been carried on by our people for many years in a more or less satisfactory way, but it has not been until recently the subject of national consideration.

"No one can appreciate the magnitude and the possibilities of the reclamation service in which the national government is engaged and which you are met to encourage, who has not looked upon what irrigation has already accomplished.

Praises Existing Law

"The existing irrigation law was put upon the statute books in 1902. The law is founded upon an entirely rational and defensible theory. It is entirely just and equitable. None better has been enacted by the congress of the United States in recent years.

"It provides substantially that the money arising from the sale of public lands shall be set apart in a special fund, to be used exclusively for irrigation purposes."

Vice President Fairbanks then reviewed the various projects that have been undertaken by the government, stating that the projects already contemplated and authorized would bring under cultivation a total area of at least 3,200,000 acrves, and this would undoubtedly be largely augmented by other projects.

President Roosevelt in his letter dwelt particulary on the questions yet to be solved. He said in part, after reviewing work already accomplished and under way:

"We may well congratulate ourselves upon the rapid progress already made and rejoice that the infancy of the work has been safely past. But we must not forget that there are dangers and difficulties still ahead, and that only unbroken vigilance efficiency, integrity and good sense will suffice to prevent disaster.

"There is now no question as to where the work shall be done, how it shall be done, or the precise way in which the expenditures shall be made.

All that is settled. There remains, however the critical question of how best to utilize the reclaimed lands by putting them into the hands of actual cultivators and home-makers, who will return the original outlay in annual installments, paid back into the reclamation fund; the question of seeing that the lands are used for homes, and not for purposes of speculation or for the building up of large fortunes.

No Simple Question

"This question is by no means simple. It is easy to make plans and spend money. During the time when the government is making a great investment like this the men in charge are praised and the rapid progress is commended. But when the time comes for the government to demand the refund of the investment under the terms of the law, then the law itself will be put to the test and the quality of its administration will appear

"The pressing danger just now springs from the desire of nearly every man to get and hold as much land as he can, whether he can handle it profitably or not, and whether or not it will be for the interest of the community that he should have it.

"With an adequate supply of water, a farm of five acres in some parts of the arid West, or of forty acres elsewhere, is as large as may be successfully tilled by one family. When, therefore, a man attempts to hold 160 acres of land, completely irrigated by government work, he is preventing others from acquiring a home and is actually keeping down the population of a state.

"Speculation in lands reclaimed by the government must be checked at whatever cost. The object of the reclamation act is not to make money, but to make homes."

'FRISCO STRIKE ENDED

Street Car Men Vote to go to Work Pending Arbitation.

San Francisco, Sept. 5.—The carmen's union voted last night to go back to work and submit the question of wages and hours to arbitration. This action was taken at a mass meeting of the union. Before becoming effective, however, it must be ratified by the seven affiliated unions. This, it is thought, will be easily obtained and as a result the strike will be declared off.

The action of the car men was practically forced by their national organiaztion, and is a complete backdown from the position taken at a mass meeting several days ago. It was persistently rumored during the day that President W. D. Mabon, of the Amalgamated Association of Street Railroad Employes of America, with which the local union is affiliated, had ordered the men back to work under threats of revoking their charter. This was denied by the leaders, who, however, admitted that they had received a telegram from Mahon, the contents of which they refused to give.

SPOKANE APPEALS TO INTERSTATE COMMISSION

Washington, Sept. 3.—That the interstate commerce commission is to be a busy body for the next few months is evidenced by the number of complaints filed against various railroad companies. Shippers held back many of these until the new rate law went into effect, so as to take advantage of the terms of that measure.

Following are abstracts of two typical cases filed last week.: The City of Spokane, the Spokane Chamber of Commerce and the Spokane Jobbers' Association against the Northern Pacific Railway Company, Great Northern Railway Company, Union Pacific Railroad Company, Oregon Railroad & Navigation Company and Spokane Falls & Northern Railway Company.

Complainants aver that Spokane is from 339 to 563 miles closer to points of origin or destination in the Eastern states than Tacoma, Seattle and Portland, but that on almost all interstate traffic carried on by complainants from states east of Washington to Spokane the rates charged are equal to those charged to Seattle, Tacoma and Portland, plus the local rate charged from those cities back to Spokane.

Declare Charges Excessive

It is declared that the Spokane freight rates largely exceed those charged shippers of any other city similarly situated, and that goods can be shipped to cities competing with Spokanee, such as Butte, Helena, Great Falls, Mont., for less than they can be delivered at Spokane.

The difference against Spokane is 25 cents to $1 per 100 pounds, and then the jobbers there have to purchase carload lots to get carload rates, which are given to other cities on smaller lots. The contention that the favorable rates to Seattle, Tacoma and Portland are made because of water competition is characterized as mere subterfuge.

The petitioners ask that the rates to and from Spokane be equalized, and that the shippers may recover excess payments exacted from them.

The Sioux City and Rock Springs Coal Mining Company complains against the Union Pacific Railroad Company, charging refusal of the railroad company to extend its tracks and switches to the complainant's mine at Rock Springs, Wyo., although the latter is willing to meet the initial cost. The complainant says that the defendant has afforded other coal companies such facilities, and adds that it believes the defendant is financially interested in other companies competing with the complainant.

Strike Breakers for 'Frisco

San Francisco, Aug. 31.—The principal developments in the street railway strike yesterday were the receipt of a report that Thomas M. Farley, professsional strike breaker, had left New York with 700 nonunion men; the statement of Thornwall Mullally, assistant to President Calhoun, declaring that the United Railroads was finding no difficulty in engaging men to fill the places of the strikers, and the meeting of ten unions connected with the electric and cable roads, including ironworkers and teamsters, who decided to fully support one another in the present controversy.

Icelanders Plan Direct Importation

Copenhagen, Aug. 31.—A telegram from Raykjavik, Iceland, intimates that the Icelanders are planning to bring about the direct importation of American goods instead of by way of British ports, as heretofore. The imports from America, especially petroleum, wheat, sugar and tobacco, have largely increased during recent years.

The legislature of Iceland has decided to invite forty members of the Danish parliament to accompany the king of Denmark on his projected visit to Iceland in the summer of 1907.

No, we were not sleeping last week, merely so busy building up our own little town that we forgot to tell the rest of the county how well we are doing here.

It has been raining for the past week but, nevertheless, the air is filled with the sound of the hammer and saw. Over five thousand dollars worth of buildings being erected at the present time, with many more planned for the immediate future.

The republican primary was a very quiet affair here; the delegation will go to the convention unpledged.

The butcher shop is assuming proportions, being twenty-four by forty, and two story.

The Cassalary machine is stranded in Happy Valley, having broken down.

Have you visited Deanvill lately? If not you should do so. It is making rapid strides cityward.

Severn & Lidstone are erecting a fine new shingle and lumber mill which will employ fifty men.

Mr. Dean is selling his fine farm off in town lots, and there are already a score of nice cottages erected.

Where did you get that cold? Why at Dr. McGregor's birthday party, where everyone else got theirs, and I am glad I went for I had the time of the year. The Doctor was thoroughly surprised but collected his faculties and gave his guests a royal welcome, and altho he has a very large house, he was compelled to hold overflow meetings. The cake contained fifty-six tiny candles, and, after each one was counted and lit by the doctor, it made a very pretty picture. Mrs. C. Miller proceeded to cut it and each guest was provided with a piece, but not until they had been given all they could eat and drink of the other good things. May you live to enjoy many more such occasions, Doctor.
