DOTS THAT COME OUT

Do you remember that pretty waist you had made of Dotted Swiss? And half of the dots came out in the wash tub? That is likely to happen with the nicest looking material, unless you know that you are buying the kind that has FAST dots.

OUR DOTTED SWISS

is the kind that is "fast." There may be others but when you buy our Dotted Swiss you can be sure—and only then. By a special patented process the dots are inserted in such a manner that you have to use a pair of shears to get them out. The dots come in several sizes and differently spaced, so when you get a piece of our Dotted Swiss made into a dress, you won't have to count the dots before and after washing to make sure that you have them all.

MOST SUCCESSFUL INSTITUTE YET HELD

OVER TWO HUNDRED WERE IN ATTENDANCE THURSDAY

Only Words of Praise Heard for Character of Work and Excellence of Program Arranged for by Superintendent Risley.

The eighteenth annual session of the Clallam County Teachers' Institute opened on Monday, April 29th, at the opera house, in Port Angeles, by singing America. Rev. Edgar M. Rogers gave the invocation. Enrollment of teachers followed—the total for the first day being fifty-two. Another song was sung, after which Dr. F. H. Swift of the University of Washington was introduced, and took up his subject, "Present Tendencies in Methods of Teaching." He showed that in modern school work the tendency is to do away with unimportant details and dwell more on the great general ideas back of mere word knowledge. The student's work is brought into closer contact with life and he learns to give expression to his ideas in various ways. Another tendency is to emphasize the logical style of recitation, making it more than repetition of text book learning. Present methods are constantly broadening out, to the great improvement of results obtained.

Adjourned for noon intermission.

The afternoon session began with singing. Owing to unavoidable causes some of the morning's work had been postponed, and was taken up at this period. The address of welcome was given by Miss Annette Trumbull. Because of the absence of Mr. E. A. Lamoreux, the response was given by Mrs. Hazel B. O'Brien.

Miss Helen K. Vaupell read a paper on Arithmetic, which science she pointed out to be the most conservative, to have unalterable truths, and to be a preliminary step, as for its use, there is no need of other knowledge.

Mrs. C. J. Farmer and Miss Bernice Allen rendered a very pretty vocal duet, with piano accompaniment by Charles S. Bown.

Mrs. O'Brien gave a talk on "Some Obstacles Confronting the Teacher in the Rural District."

After a short intermission Mrs. John Trumbull made an announcement for the Civic Club reception. Another song was selected, then Prof. Daggy was announced and welcomed as he took up his subject, "Defenders of the Constitution." In his talk he brought out the importance of studying the lives of the great men who have stood for the fundamental principles in the Constitution and who have upheld and defended it from their points of view as being the best way of getting at the important and essential facts in history.

Adjourned to meet again Tuesday morning.

Tuesday morning session opened with singing, followed by invocation by Rev. C. E. Fulmer. Roll was called by the secretary. Dr. Swift took up his subject, "Incentives to Study." He emphasized the use and value of those means which bring out each pupil's individuality, and cause greater efforts to be made thru the interest taken by the child. The teacher herself is a great incentive. Cheerfulness, good stories, and the element of play should enter largely into school work, as a means of bringing about best results.

An intermission was given during which time Mr. Fulmer took the customary Institute photographs.

The next period was occupied by Prof. Daggy, his subject being "The Voice and the Body in Reading." Correct habits of thinking and a live imagination are essential elements in all reading, in order for the reader to see the ideas as the writer saw them. In vocal reading, the voice and the body are the agents of expression, and only when there is a physical and mental equilibrium between these agents, can there be easy and good reading. Correct breathing is the basis of pure tones. Pronunciation must be given special attention. As the voice is a delicate register of life and character, the reader should lose self-consciousness thru a natural bodily poise which enables him to bring out thru the voice, the ideas of the writer.

Tuesday afternoon session opened with a song. Miss Trumbull gave an interesting period of practical work in which a class of small children took up the first steps of making potato starch.

Miss Vaupell read a paper on the development of the decimal system, showing its origin and the steps it has taken up to its present form.

Miss Eva E. Nelson read a short sketch on the value of singing as a necessity, not a luxury.

After an intermission Miss Trumbull conducted a dramatized language lesson which was well given by a class of little folks.

The closing period was given to Dr. Swift, who very ably handled his subject, "Dramatization as a Method in Teaching." He emphasized the fact that there is a powerful dramatic instinct in the human race, and because of that fact, this method has great danger, if used very extensively, but also has great value if the right motive is kept uppermost. It appeals to the child because of his love for action. The method includes three teachers—necessity, curiosity, and the spirit of play. As an example of dramatization, Dr. Swift read two scenes from the story of Joseph, as made into a play, drawing the scenes and arrangement from work done by sixth grade pupils. This work was used in connection with history, composition, literature and geography. The write-up of the play is Dr. Swift's own work, and is a most remarkable presentation of the story of Joseph.

Adjourned until Wednesday morning.

The third day's work opened with invocation by Rev. G. H. Simons, and singing by the audience.

Dr. Swift presented his subject, "Books Worth Knowing," in a practical way, giving a list of such books to the teachers. Such a recommended list has required much care in selection and will be of great value to the teachers.

During an intermission, the teachers enjoyed singing a great many favorite songs, with Dr. Swift at the piano.

The topic of Current Events was taken up by Prof. Daggy. He emphasized study of daily newspapers, and the lives and work of the leading men of today as means of educational training.

After the noon intermission roll was called, and session opened with singing.

Mrs. John Trumbull gave a very interesting paper and talk on Parents, Libraries and the Schools.

A class of little folks, under charge of Mrs. Maude Risley, interested the audience with several primary calisthenic songs.

A short recess followed, after which Prof. Daggy took up his subject, "The Lyric in Literature," and gave several readings in his pleasing and effective manner.

Adjournment was taken for the day.

CLALLAM COUNTY'S STRAIGHT GOODS.

TIMBER OF COUNTY WILL BE CRUISED

WORK TO BE COMMENCED AS SOON AS POSSIBLE

Board of Commissioners Will Start Crews, in Charge of Experts, into the Heavy Timber of Western Clallam.

The Board of Commissioners, true to their promises made to the people of the county thru the press during the last campaign, and true to their personal convictions on the subject as well, have decided to at once commence the almost Herculean task of making a cruise of the entire timber lands of the county.

For the past three months they have been endeavoring to obtain of the timber owners the figures and facts in their possession, but the latter, doubtless believing the county could not make the cruise, have refused to furnish the information. They will now have to pay, in the way of taxes, for a second cruise of their lands.

Arrangements have so far been made with two experienced cruisers, Warren Dodge and Alex. Clark, who will start work as soon as assistants can be secured. Other cruisers will be engaged and the work rushed as rapidly as possible. The present demand for cruisers by the Milwaukee and other heavy timber buyers has forced wages up, in many cases, to $10 per day, a difficulty that the Board will have to contend with in getting good men.

But the length of time required in cruising the timber of this county, the greatest of any in the state, and the total expense, are of small moment. The fact that it is to be started at once and that the burning shame of a heavy county debt, a debt incurred by building roads and bridges in the timbered sections for which the timber men are evading their proper share of taxation, is to be wiped out, are the main considations.

Nels Nelson of Clallam was awarded the contract for the Clallam road, at $4,500. C. Wise bid the same amount, but preference was given to the western man.

The offices of fruit inspector, game warden and health officer were declared vacant, and the former appointees appointed to fill the vacancies.

Ordered that plans be prepared and bids called for construction of a new bridge at McDonald, on the Elwha, the present bridge being unsafe.

AT JAMESTOWN FAIR

PRESIDENT MAKES SPEECH AND TOUCHES GOLD BUTTON.

Naval Pageant Such as Has Rarely Been Witnessed Anywhere—All the Powers of Europe Represented by Goodly Fleets—Some Comparisons.

Norfolk, Va., April 27.—With roar of cannon and all the pomp of the greatest naval pageant that ever floated on Western shores; with flags of all nations and representaties from every nation that has a flag; with greeting from the new world to the old, and with the president of the United States as guest of honor, the Jamestown Itercentennial exposition was opened yesterday.

Incident to the openmg the president reviewed from the deck of the Mayflower the war vessels anchored in Hampton roads. He reached Discovery landing, having been transferred in a naval launch from his yacht shortly before noon, and amid applause from the thousands gathered to voice their welcome he was received by the exposition management.

Then followed the program for opening to the country the enterprise commemorating the 300th anniversary of the first English settlement on American soil, which program included an address by Harry St. George Tucker, president of the exposition and one by President Roosevelt; singing by the exposition horus of 700 trained voices, the pressing of the gold button by President Roosevelt, which marked the formal opening and a review by the president of the assembled military forces.

NAVAL PAGEANT WAS IMPOSING SPECTACLE

Washington, April 27.—President Roosevelt yesterday reviewed at Hampton Roads the most formidable array of ships ever gathered in United States waters. The occasion possessed some international significance, because practically all the members of the diplomatic corps were present and were furnished with a striking object lesson of the power and extent of the United States navy.

While there were representatives of the European powers in the great naval rendezvous, the United States fleet naturally overshadowed everything else. It far eclipses in fighting strength the vessels assembled in Oyster Bay last year, and is probably the strongest force that will be gathered under the Stars and Stripes for years to come.

The fleet embraces sixteen first class battleships, three huge armored cruisers, four protected cruisers and a swarm of torpedo boats, torpedo boat destroyers, submarines, colliers and supply ships.

The fleet includes the latest completed vessels of this class, the Connecticut and Louisiana, forerunners of the Dreadnaughts that are to be built, down to the all but abandoned Texas, the oldest of the United States battleships and sister of the Maine, which was wrecked in Havana harbor.

Texas Shows Progress

With her eight guns and paltry 6,315 tons of weight, the Texas, when ranged alongside the mammoth Connecticut, which mounts 24 guns and displaces 17,000 tons of water, offers a striking example of the progress of the United States navy since the days of 1866, when the Texas and first Maine were authorized by congress.

The armored cruisers Tennessee and Washington, each of 14,500 tons and mounting 20 guns each, are the heaviest of the cruisers. They can hurl a weight of metal almost equal to the first class battleships, while at the same time they possess the fleetness of the ocean greyhound, the massive throbing engines in their holds being capable of the development of 20,000 horsepower.

In the cruiser class the most interesting vessel is perhaps the Brooklyn, the flagship of Rear Admiral Schley in the battle with Cevrera's squadron of Santiago, Cuba. The Brooklyn, bearing on her after-turret the memorable plate simply and eloquently inscribed "July 3, 1898," will remain with the Texas as a permanent exhibit during the seven months of the life of the exposition

B. C. LEGISLATURE ENDS

Lieutenant Governor Assents to All Acts But Immigration.

Victoria, April 27.—The British Columbia legislature has adjourned. There has not been much important legislation at this session. The fisheries act was passed to assert British Columbia's right to the provincial fisheries to wbhich the federal government claims control. The land act was reorganized and the pharmacy act amended so that department stores are prohibited from selling drugs. A bill was passed reserving 2,000,000 acres of government land, to be selected within three years, for the establishment and maintenance of a provincial university

When the Harriman lines are completed in Tacoma the city will contain one of the most extensive and best equipped railroad properties in America. There will be room for 6,000 cars in the ample yards and, according to officials of the road

ATTITUDE OF POWERS ON DISARMAMENTS

Rome, April 29.—The discussion concerning the Italian proposition on the limitation of armaments at The Hague has served in a measure to elucidate the attitudes of the various powers on this subject. Great Britain, which is the only country to send a minister of foreign affairs to the conference, is in favor of the discussion and it s supported by Spain.

Russia, while insisting on the discussion of her own program of April 21, 1906, agrees with Germany and Austria on the question of armament to the point of referring to it in the official documents as an entente," but Russia is favorable to any step that is likely to result in a reasonable solution.

Germany and Austria do not favor the limitation of armament; they will, however, permit the presentation of the proposal, although they are not willing to participate in the discussion.

France does not believe in the practical possibility of the plan, although the first peace conference voted an order presented by M. Bourgeois, one of the French delegates, providing that the lightening of the burdens incurred through the maintenance of of armaments be considered. France, there is reason to believe, is of the opinion that there are internal as well as external reasons against the limitation. She has not yet decided whether to participate in the discussion.

The situation in Italy is delicate and difficult. The general opinion is in favor of limitation, but Germany has been called thereupon to fill the duties of an attorney. There is no desire to have a repetition of the Algericas incident, when Germany accused Italy of having deserted her. Consequently Italy is interested in bringing about an understanding on this subject prior to the conference.

KAISER FEARS FOR PEACE OF WORLD

Berlin, April 27.—A great deal of gossip has been caused here by the discovery that the kaiser has been opposing the projected international exposition which it has been proposed to hold here in 1913. The reason advanced to account for the kaiser's stand is that he is convinced Germany will be embroiled with another big European war before that time.

The statement that Kaiser Wilhelm opposes the proposed exposition on such grounds has caused a great sensation. It is argued that the government fears that the peace of the world is in constant jeopardy and great uneasiness has been caused among the people who feel they do not know all the complications of the nation.

What particular power the kaiser fears is not disclosed, but it is broadly hinted that the last has not yet been heard of the Orient Bank affair and that both Russia and Great Britain are determined they will not relinquish their carefully mapped out plans in Persia, which have been gravely imperilled by the financial interposition of Germany.

Quinaults to Get Pay

Washington, April 27.—A delegation of Quinault Indians from the state of Washington, isited Indian Commissioner Leupp during the week and made protest against the inclusion of a portion of their reservation in the Quinault forest reserve. They were assured that if their land was appropriated they would be paid for it.

IN THOMPSON CASE

STATE SUPREME COURT RENDERS DECISION.

Disposal of Insane Criminals Rests With Trial Judge—May Be Imprisoned in Penitentiary, County Jail or Asylum for the Insane.

Olympia, April 29—Chester Thompson, who killed G. Meade Emory, may be legally sent to prison, is the decision of the state supreme court, rendered Saturday afternoon in the application made for a writ of mandate to compel Trial Judge Snell, of the Pierce county superior court, to empanel a jury to determine Thompsons present sanity, and for a writ to prohibit that judge from ordering Thompson committed to prison. In its decision, which denies both these writs, the supreme court says the case is goverened by the old territorial law of 1854, evoked in the case of Thomas Brown, of Chehalis, who was acquitted of fratricide on the ground of insanity and promptly ordered confined in prison. The decision in part says:

Ruling of the Court.

"When we remember that there are different types of insanity and when we reflect that the purpose of caring for the insane involves both a regard for them and for the safety of the public, we cannot say that this statute conflicts with any subsequent statute or any principle of sound public policy. Good reasons readily occur in justification of its enactment.

"There are occasionally defendants acquitted of murder on the ground of insanity who should and can be committed to the penitentiary under this statute. A defendant so committed or otherwise restrained of his liberty would have the right, upon asserting a recovery of his sanity, to have the question of such recovery determined by the court.

Authority for Sentence.

"The statute in question authorizes the committing of a defendant to prison if the discharge or going at large of such insane person shall be by the court considered manifestly dangerous to the peace and safety of the community. The question is suggested as to what evidence establishes the manifestly dangerous condition. The fact of his having killed a human being is conclusive that he was dangerous and the verdict of the jury is that he was insane at the time of the homicide; and unless there is clear, ample and conclusive evidence that his mental condition has undergone a radical change toward a normal condition since that time, the trial judge should not hesitate to find him manifestly dangerous within the meaning of the statute—unless, of corse, his physical condition by reason of sickness, disease or otherwise should have rendered him absolutely incapable of doing violence.

"We think the word 'prison' used in this statute comprehends the penitentiary, any county jail and any state hospital for the insane, and that the trial judge may commit to any of these in accordance with the nature of the alleged insanity and the other facts of any given case."

TO REGISTER TITLES UNDER TORRENS LAW

Seattle, April 26.—The provisions of the Torrens system of land titles, embodied in the law passed at the recent session of the state legislature, were invoked Tuesday for the first time, when County Auditor Agnew received an application from the Superior Land Company, of Seattle, asking that their property be reigstered under the Torrens law, and that necessary papers be forwarded to them. The auditor is not yet ready to begin the registration, but expects to have all the necessary arrangements made by the time the law goes into effect, on June 19 next.

From thirty to forty index books are in course of preparation for the purpose of making it possible to trace title by name. There are also many papers to prepare, but Chief Deputy Brier announces that all will be in readiness by June 19.

The system will stimulate superior court business, as the status of all titles must be decreed by a judge of the superior court.

TO AID DIRECT LEGISLATION

State Granges and State Federation of Labor to Co-operate.

Seattle, April 30.—State granges, co-operating with the Washington State Federation of Labor and the organizations affiliated with it, are planning a campaign to educate the public into a favorable attitude toward the initiative and referendum, or direct legislation.

A call has been issued for a convention in the Bellingham theater, Bellingham, May 8, at which steps will be taken toward the organization of a state league with direct legislation as he central feature. Temporary officers will be elected and a movement set on foot at once for the holding of a larger state delegate convention at some point to be determined later.

State College Has Completed Arrangements for Lecturers.

Pullman, Wash., April 27.—Prof. E. E. Elliott, head of the state college department of agriculture and superintendent of farmers' institutes, has just completed his outline of a plan under which a series of farmers' institutes will be carried on in Western Washington, beginning May 20. The work will be carried on by the state college faculty and such outside assistance as they may deem advisable to secure.

The subject matter taken up at the various institutes will vary with conditions of the various localities. Small fruit growing and diversified farming will be considered on the west side, where the heaviest circuits are. In the wheat producing and stock raising sections the lectures will be given to instruct in these industries. The principal lecturers will be Prof. E. E. Elliott, of the state college department of argiculture; Prof. I. P. Whitney, experiment station dairyman; Prof. R. K. Beattie, botanist, and Prof. R. W. Thatcher, station chemist. Wherever possible local workers will be asked to deliver lectures or read papers on topics of general interest in their localities.

TAFT WOULD ACCEPT IF HE IS NOMINATED

Columbus, Ohio, April 30.—That W. H. Taft, secretary of war, is in the race for the Republican nomination for president to stay is, in effect, the announcement made by A. I. Vorys, state commissioner of insurance, who is managing the Taft canvass in Ohio. Mr. Vorys has just had a conference with Secretary Taft at Cincinnati. When he returned to Columbus he gave out the following statement:

"I have talked with Secretary Taft and submitted to him convincing evidence that the Republicans of Ohio favor him as the Republican candidate for president. He was gratified at the information. He said that some months ago he had announced that, while his ambition was not political, he would accept the nomination if it came to him, and added that, in view of the fact that his name had been used and support for him invoked by his friends, good faith required that he should not alter his position until the question of nomination is settled."

HARRIMAN OFFERS RELIEF

Willing to Aid Washingtou Lumbermen, But Hill Refuses.

Tacoma, April 30.—At a meeting of the Pacific Coast Lumber Manufacturers' Association here a letter was read from Interstate Commerce Commissioner Lane in substance as follows:

Harriman wants to help the lumber manufacturers of Washington to market their product. He is willing to join with the Northern Pacific in the establishment of a joint rate through the Portland gateway, but the Northern Pacific refuses to co-operate with Harriman. The Hill intersts refused even to discuss the matter.

Commissioner Lane says the complaint of the Manufacturers' association will be called for hearing during May. At the meeting here the state railroad commission agreed to accept the proposition of the Northern Pacific to keep the car records open in Spokane, Seattle and Tacoma.

Officials of the Northern Pacific sent written statements denying that any discrimination was being shown in the distribution of cars.

The scaricty of men for logging and mill work is attributed to high wages paid by railroad contractors.

CHILEAN CITY BURIED BY VOLCANIC ERUPTION

Santiago de Chie, April 27.—Another volcano is in eruption in the Valdii district, which threatens to complete the havvoc begun by the volcano Villarica. It is pouring forth vast clouds of ashes, which are fast burying all the towns in the district. Valdivia is completely overwhelmed. All the residents have fled. The city is buried under many feet of ashes, lava and dust. Lava and mud streams are now completing the work of destruction.

Thousands have been driven from their homes in the devastated district, and are now living in the open fields, subsisting on roots and wild fruits.

HERMANN JURY SAYS HE IS NOT GUILTY

Washington, April 29.—Binger Hermann, former congressman from Oregon and former commissioner of the general land office, was acquitted of the charge of destroying public records by a verdict of the jury Saturday.

The trial had progressed for twelve weeks and the jury deliberated 21 hours. After the verdict there was immediately a general scene of congratulation in the court room. Mr. Hermann expressed thanks to each juryman, as did his counsel.

United States Attorney Baker and many others in the court room congratulated the defendant.

REFORMATORY SITE

COMMISSION SELECTS LAND NEAR TOWN OF MONROE.

New Institution is For Persons Between Ages of 21 and 30 Years Convicted of Crimes Less Than Murder—Inmates to Erect Buildings.

Seattle, May 7.—The commission appointed by Gov. Mead to select a site for the Washington state reformatory returned from Snohomish county last night, where it negotiated on behalf of the state, the purchase of a site, consisting of 320 acres of suitable land near Monroe. The consideration involved in the deal is $23,200, which leaves a balance of about $7,000 available for the building. An appropriation of $30,000 was made by the legislature for site and building and $20,000 for maintenance.

Representative Frank C. Jackson, of the Forty-seventh legislative district, author of the bill creating the new state intsitution, discussing the site selected, said:

"The commission feels that no better choice could have been made for such an institution's location than the site at Monroe. More than a dozen sites in all have been carefully inspected, and it was not without careful consideration of the merits of each that we reached a decision.

One Mile From Monroe.

"The site is distant about a mile from the town of Monroe. More than 130 acres of the ground is cleared, improvements valued at about $2,500 are included in the purchase price, and the land could not be better for cultivation. The next move to be made is the drawing of plans for the buildings to be erected on the site. I think the balance out of the $30,000 appropriated will be ample for temporary structures. There is a large deposit of excellent clay on the ground, from which can be manufactured the brick for the future state reformatory, if necessary.'

The government of the Washington state reformatory will be vested in a board of managers, consisting of five members to be appointed by the governor. A superintendent will be appointed by the board, who will have full charge of the institution. In addition to the superintendent there will be a physician and surgeon in chief, a druggist and necessary medical assistants.

Inmates to Erect Buildings

A chaplain will also be appointed. The bill specially provides that the labor necessary for the construction of buildings and shops and the manufacture of materials, therefor, the enclosure of the grounds and such other improvements as may be necessary shall be performed by the inmates as far as practicable.

Male criminals between the ages of 16 and 30 will be confined in the reformatory. Any court in its discretion may sentence to the reformatory any male person between the ages of 21 and 30 whom said court may deem amenable to reformatory methods, provided that no person convicted of murder in the first or second degree shall be sentenced or transferred to the institution. The bill also provides that it shall be the duty of the warden of the state penitentiary at Walla Walla and the board of control, to select from the inmates of the penitentiary such convicts as shall as nearly as may be come within the requirements of the act as to age and crime.

The primary obect of the new institution is set forth in section 20 of the act, which says:

"It shall be the duty of the board of managers to maintain such control over all prisoners committed to their custody as shall prevent them from committing crime, best secure their self support and accomplish their reformation."

Diplomatic Relations Severed

Washington, May 7.—The state department has been advised that Mexico has severed all diplomatic relations with Guatemala as the result of Guatemala's refusal to surrender to the Mexican authorities Generals Jose Lima and Calberear, his close personal friend, who are accused of instigating the murder recently in Mexico City of Barillas, former president of Guatemala. The American legation at Guatemala will look after Mexican affairs in Guatemala.

Convicts to Build Roads

Olympia, May 4—The state board of control and the state highway board at a meeting here arranged for thirty convicts from the state penitentiary to be sent to Okanogan county to work on a state road. This is under a new law which authorizes the emsployment of convict labor on state roads. The use of convict labor is expected to considerably reduce the cost of constructing the highway.

Bellingham, May 4.—The Chamber of Commerce has voted to raise $1,000 for the fair which is to be held in this city next October. The granges of the county will have charge of the exhibition and Whatcom, San Juan and Skagit counties will participate.

GEN. KUROKI ARRIVES

Famous Japanese Soldier Spends Day in Seattle on Way East.

Seattle, May 4—After an enthusiastic reception and enjoyable entertainment during his stay here of a day and a half, Gen. Baron Kuroki, the Japanese government's representative to the Jamestown exposition, left Seattle with his staff for the East at an early hour this morning, under the escort of Gen. MacArthur and staff.

The party will go in a special car to Washington and later to the exposition, where the general will remain about three weeks returning to Japan by way of this city early in June.

TROLLEY LINE FROM SEATTLE TO BELLINGHAM

Seattle, May 6.—That the interurban electric railway for which surveys are now being made in Whatcom and Skagit counties, with Bellingham as a center, is to be the nucleus of a system connecting Bellingham and Seattle, is the announcement made by Jacob Furth, head of the Stone & Webster interests in this state.

Mr. Furth was not ready to make an official announcement, and he simply confirmed a rumor which was gaining currency. His confirmation, however, was unqualified, although he stated that it was yet too early to make any definite announcement of the details as to route, cost of operation, date of completion and other matters connected with the construction and operation.

"It will be an interurban line like that between Seattle and Tacoma," said Mr. Furth, "except that it will have no third rail, but will be operated by a trolley. We have not yet decided definitely on the route the line will follow, although it is quite likely to run pretty well inland, and an effort will be made to avoid parallelling any other line, so far as that is posisble.

"It will probably take two years to construct the line, and the cost is likely to be not less than $2,000,000"

The distance between Seattle and Bellingham is about 100 miles, much of which is fertile country, rich alike in timber and agricultural development.

MORE RAILROADS ARE INDICTED FOR REBATING

New York, May 8.—The federal grand jury has handed down indictments against the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific, the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, The Ontario & Western and the WesternTransit Company, the Lake Line of the New York Central, for granting rebates to the American Sugar Refining Company and the Arbuckle Coffee Company Already the New York Central has paid fines aggregating $100,000. The American Sugar Refining Company has paid fines almost equally as large, and in addition to their corporateen titieı, officers of various corporations have been found guilty. The evidence in these cases was furnished the government by the New York American and it was so conclusive that, although John E. Parsons, John H. Milburn, Joseph H. Choate and other eminent lawyers appeared in court representing the defendants, it was impossble to defend the cases, and the New York Central, as well as the Amercan Sugar Refinng Company, put a plea of guilty, and the fine imposed was paid and the slate cleared.

INTERSATE COMMISSION CUTS AN EXPRESS RATE

Washngton, May 8.—The interstate commerce commsson has rendered its first decison in a case involving the reasonableness of an express rate. The case was brought by the Society of American Florists, who claimed that the rate charged by the United States Express company on cut flowers from New Jersey points to New York city was unreasonable, excessive and unjust. This rate was 50 cents per hundred pounds until July 1, 1906, when it was raised to $1.

Commissioner Lane, who delivers the opinion, holds that the rate should be reduced to 60 cents. The express company defended its increase in its rate by claiming that the delivery service given cut flowers in New York was more expensive than that given other articles and that it could lawfully increase its rate to meet this increased epxense.

The order requires the express company to reduce its rates by June 15 and supplies a schedule for the company's guidance.

Express Companies Bar Liquor

Kansas, City, May 2.—On and after June 1, 1907, agents must decline to receive shipments of intoxicating liquors when destined to offices in the state of Kansas, according to an order sent out from the office of the Wells Fargo Express Company in Kansas City. It means that after June 1, about 350 express offices in Kansas will receive no more "C. O. D." liquor. The agents of the other express companies doing business in Kansas said they were expecting similar orders at any time.

Capacity to Be Doubled

Tacoma, May 4—It is announced that the capacity of the Northern Pacific car shops at South Tacoma will be doubled within the ensuing year. For a year or more the shops have not been able to keep up with the demands made upon them.

IRISH HOME RULE

COUNCIL BILL PASSES FIRST READING IN COMMONS.

Bill Grants Government by Council Under Lord Lieutenant. Irishmen are Disappointed But Will Give Measure Fair Trial. Stormy Scene Preceded Vote.

London, May 8.—After the stormiest scenes witnessed in the house of commons since the days of Gladstone, the Irish council bill was put to a vote last night under closure, and passed the first reading by a vote of 416 to 121.

The Liberal government admits that the bill is only an experiment, but it promises, if the new law works well, that it shall ultimately lead to home rule for the Irish people The Irish members of parliament are disappointed in the measure and frankly say so. Yet they say they will give it a fair trial.

The Conservatives and Unionists, led by Arthur Balfour, denounce the bill as a makeshift, which is sure to break down.

Briefly the bill proposes to make the following changes in the adimnistration of Ireland.

1. The head of the administration will be the lord lieutenant, as now, but all religious disability will be removed.

2. The administration will be in the hands of a council of 106 members, 82 elected and 24 nominated by the crown. In the election women and peers will have the right to vote.

3. The council will have control of the finances, public works, education and local government works, and agriculture.

4. The imperial government retains full power over the supreme court, constabulary, land commission and prisons.

5. The lord lieutenant has the veto power over measures passed by the council.

6. Twenty-seven million dollars annually will be paid into the Irish treasury from the imperial treasury, to be expended under the direction of the council.

7. The Irish treasury is to be created by the council with an Irish treasurer at its head. The council has no power to levy taxes.

RAPID RISE IN VALUE OF WASHINGTON FARMS

Chicago, May 8.—Two and a half billion dollars is the astounding increase in the value of farm lands that has taken place within five years in states on or tributary to the Union Pacific railroad. Seventeen states so grouped showed farm values, including buildings, of $5,092,230,872 in 1900. Five years later, according to statistics gathered by the United States census, values of farm properties had increased to $8,241,782,864, an advance of nearly 45 per cent. The individual per centages of increase vary from 119 per cent, for Wyoming, to 24 per cent for California, the other higher records being held by Washington, 68 per cent, Nebraska, 57 per cent, Idaho 58 per cent, Texas 61 per cent and New Mexico 65 per cent.

In a bulletin just issued by the Union Pacific railroad, in which these statistics are presented, it is shown that hay and grain farms have increased in value in the five year period $785,500,000. Live stock farms show an increase of over a billion dollars, fruit farms $51,000,000, vegetable farms, $32 000,000, general farming lands $165,000,000.

Month to Get Jury

Boise, Idaho, May 6—Men connected with the case say that it will take at least a month to get the jury to try the Moyer-Haywood-Pettibone cases and that when the jury is secured it will have to spend from two to twelve months from home. It is adimtted that the trial will be a matter of months. At the least estimate the cost of collecting the evidence has been a quarter of a million dollars.

President Sends Representative

Chicago, May 8.—It is reported here that Wilkie, chief of the government secret service, is en route to Boise with a corps of sleuths to watch the Haywood trial as a personal representative of the president. They are expected to report to Washington the exact conditions, to watch every move and to investigate all the evidence.

Hughes Approves Bill

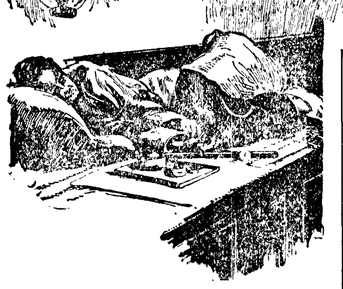
Albany, N. Y., May 8.—Gov. Hughes has approved the Page bill, designed by the child labor comimttee and the Consumers' league. It provides that no minor under 16 years of age shall be employed or permitted to work in any factory in this state before 8 a. m. or after 5 p. m, or more than eight hours in any one day. The act will take eeffct January 1, 1908.

Chicago Detectives Suspended

Chicago, May 7.—Sergeant Prendergast and Detectives McNully and McGrath have been suspended pending the investiagtion of graft charges made by the grand jury against the police officers and ex-officials.

CHINA ROUSES TO CRUSH OPIUM TRAFFIC

By Imperial Decree the Use of the Drug Must Stop Within 20 Years.



The "awakening of China" is to be, first of all, an awakening from the opium induced stupor which the country has been trying to throw off at intervals for more than a century. It was in 1805 that the Emperor Kia King ordered that the severest penalties should be inflicted on all who smoked, ate, cultivated or dealt in opium. A short time ago definite news came from Pekin that the Chinese government had decided not only to abolish the opium traffic and habit, absolutely, within the next twenty years, but had made public the means by which the much-needed reform is to be brought about, regardless of the financial burdens the reformation may entail.

What was not possible 100 years ago, or even sixty years ago, on account of the national and international morals of the periods, probably every government in the world would gladly see realized to-day.

The most promising feature of the campaign against the opium habit is the attitude of the press of China, and of the better elements generally. There does not seem to be a single protest against the philanthropic scheme of the government. A healthful tone is noticed in most influential quarters. For some time persons in China have been speaking with contempt of the government officials addicted to the use of the drug. The best object lesson shown to China for years is the foreign-drilled army, from which the opium habit has been eradicated.

It is with the government officials themselves that the Chinese government will start. All worshipful officials, princes, dukes, viceroys and Tartar generals have been ordered to pledge their word to the imperial government that they are willing to abandon the use of the drug, directly or indirectly, within a stipulated time.

Opium users aged more than 60 years to be treated leniently, as it is recognized by the government that the habit is a prop for many of them, that it would be equivalent to ruining their lives if the prop were snatched away. Old officials will be allowed to try the "tapering off" system of reform.

If the younger men are so prone to the habit that they will be unable to do their work during the renaissance era, they will be allowed to substitute others for their duties temporarily.

Shops dealing in opium and opium dens must close their doors finally within six months. Confirmed opium fiends must be given their medicinal prescriptions gratuitously, so that there will be no financial returns for dealers. All persons, government officers or not, under three-score, must decrease their consumption of opium 20 per cent every year, beginning immediately. No poppy is to be cultivated after ten years.

The acreage now under cultivation is to be decreased 10 per cent every year, and, of course, no new land is to be cultivated in the poppy plant. Violation of the rules as to acreage will be taken by the government as cause for confiscation of the fields. The amount raised and consumed is to be registered; only registered persons are to be allowed to obtain the drug, and no person must begin the habit.

Altogether there are eleven regulations of the most stringent kind. It has been said that, in a way, they are the most important ever issued for the control of the internal life of the empire. The edict is already in force. The country is stirring in its sleep.

Figures show with only too much plainness the magnitude of the task which China has undertaken. Kowshing, for instance, a Chinese city with a population about as large as that of Cambridge, consumes every day about $1,000 worth of opium. The average wages of a laborer are from 5 to 10 cents a day. Every man, woman and child in the old walled town spends a cent a day on opium. It is all equivalent to a laborer earning $2 a day spending more than fifty cents a day.

The wealthy families in many districts spend more proportionately than the poor. It is related that a boy in a rich family is allowed a dollar a day for the drug. The millionaires have their splendid opium parlors, and the women and children acquire the habit. The product of the poppy plant is the great leveler of China.

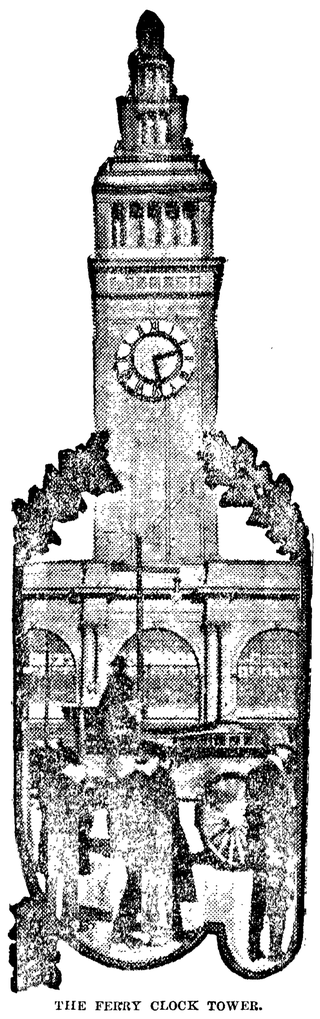
Legend of the Poppy Plant.

The poppl plant has been known to man from time immemorial. It did not make its appearance in the flora of China until about the eighth century of the Christian era. But the beginning of the fifteenth century, opium began to be introduced in considerable quantities, and the Chinese government encouraged home production. By the middle of the seventeenth century the use of the drug was widespread.

The origin of opium has been told in a picturesque manner by the Bengalis. Their legend says that in the far-off times there lived on the banks of the Ganges a sage who had a mouse for a companion. The sage taught the mouse to talk. Frightened one day by a cat, the mouse asked to be changed into a cat. The sage complied. A dog worried the cat, so the sage made the cat a dog. The dog became successively an ape, a bear, an elephant, and finally a beautiful maiden, named "Postomani," or "Poppyseed lady." A king fell in love with the girl. When she told him, after an ardent wooing, that she was a princess, he married her. One day she fell into a well and was drowned. The king was disconsolate until he was informed by the sage that the girl had deceived him, and was not a princess, but merely a risen mouse.

"Let her body remain in the well," he advised. "Fill up the well with earth. Out of her flesh will grow a tree, which shall be called for her, 'Poso,' the poppy tree. From that tree will come a drug, opium, which shall be smoked and eaten till the end of time. The opium swallower or smoker will have one quality of each of the animals to which Postomani was transformed. He will be mischievous, like a mouse; fond of milk, like a cat; or quarrelsome, like a dog; filthy, like an ape; savage, like a bear; and high tempered, like a queen." All the attributes have been possessed by some opium users, and some of them by all.

FRISCO'S FERRY CLOCK AGAIN TELLS THE TIME.



THE FERRY CLOCK TOWER.

San Francisco's great ferry clock tower, which was so badly shaken by the earthquake that it had to be rebuilt, has now been restored and the clock again tells the time. This clock tower is the one typical landmark in San Francisco. By day it can be seen by the thousands of pedestrians in Market street, and by night it tells the time to the sailors on the bay.

DO WOLVES EAT MEN?

Most of the Yarns to That Effect Declared to Be Fakes.

A skeptical person, calling himself St. Croix, has been trying to find out whether wolves and bears are maligned by the popular stories of their man-eating ways.

First he tried running down the stories told in newspaper dispatches. Foiled in this effort, he turned to the Indians. They knew the gray wolf, having wintered and summered with him. Had they ever known of an Indian being killed by one? N-no; but Mingan was very crafty and very much to be dreaded.

Quite so, but once for all, had he ever to their knowledge killed a man? No, but they had heard——. So it went; always the same intangible, unconfirmed rumor and the same absence of proof.

"Now for a few facts as to the wolf," writes St. Croix in Recreation. "He can go eight days without food and can then eat forty pounds of meat at a sitting, so the Indians say. This is pretty fair for an animal weighing but eighty pounds. Yet we do not know the length of the sitting.

"The wolf will not venture on glare ice, he never crosses a lake until there is enough snow to hide the ice. To wetting his feet he is as averse as the domestic cat. He will not kill his game in the shelter of the forest, always driving it into some open place for the kill.

"When chasing a deer he goes at a leisurely lope, sitting down at intervals to give the most dolorous and blood curdling howls. This drives the poor victim into a wild gallop and soon exhausts it and as the wolf never tires he is sure sooner or later to catch up with the quarry.

"In winter the deer often makes for some wild rapid into which it plunges, knowing that the wolf will not follow. Too often the deer drowns, but better such a death than one by the fangs.

"In summer a couple of wolves will secure all the deer they need by very simple tactics. Having put up the quarry, one wolf drives it by easy stages to some little lake—I speak now of the Laurentian country—and on reaching the shore the deer plunges unhesitatingly in, for its instinct tells it the enemy will not dare to follow.

"So on it swims, while the pursuer sits on his haunches and howls dismally, no doubt because he sees his dinner escaping. At length the tired deer drags itself wearily from the water, and shakes the drops from its coat on the sun warmed strand. Then the companion wolf, which has waylaid its coming, springs at its throat and when the first wolf joins they have a gorge that makes them independent of fate for a whole week."

Andrew Jackson's Education.

During each winter for two or three years after he had reached the age of 7 Andrew Jackson was sent to the old field school of a Mr. Branch. After this the attended the select school which a Presbyterian preacher, the Rev. Dr. David Humphreys, taught in the Waxhaw settlement. He appears to have been going to this higher school in the spring of 1780, when the inroad of Tarleton created a panic in that portion of the Carolinas. At some later period of his youth he is said to have attended the old Queen College or seminary at Charlotte a couple of terms, but the time is not definitely known.

As to education, therefore, it may be safely stated that Andrew Jackson enjoyed much more than the ordinary advantage of a backwoods boys of his time. At the age of 10 he had become so good a reader that he was often chosen to read the newspaper to the assembled neighbors, and he remembered with pride in after years that he had thus had the honor of "reading out loud" the Declaration of Independence upon its arrival in the Waxhaws. For a lad of 10 this was, indeed, something to remember with honest pride.—Thomas E. Watson, in Watson's Jeffersonian Magazine.

Arithmetical History.

A teacher was instructing a class of young pupils in history, says a writer in the Philadelphia Bulletin. She asked one of them how many wars England fought with Spain.

"Six," the little girl answered.

"Six," repeated the teacher. "Enumerate them, please."

"One, two, three, four, five, six," said the little girl, cheerfully and confidently.

Breadmakers

Do you make good Bread?

Does your Flour suit you?

It is not all in the Flour, there is something in the making; try Merrill's recipe for good bread.

Bread

1 pint Liquid Yeast,
1½ pints Potato Water (or warm water),
2 quarts Holly Flour,
1 tablespoon Lard (melted),
2 tablespoons Sugar,
2 tablespoons Salt.

DIRECTIONS

Take the yeast, potato water, and mix into it 1 quart of flour, beat it until thoroly mixed and let it rise in a warm place for two hours, or until it looks light and foamy; then add the lard, sugar and salt and stir into one quart of flour and kneed into a stiff loaf and let it rise two hours, or until loaf is twice its size; take out on board and kneed into loaves, using just enough Holly Flour to keep dough from sticking to the board; put into pans, let rise one hour, and bake in a moderate oven for one hour. This recipe makes 4 loaves.

Liquid Yeast

3 Potatoes (medium size),
2 quarts Water (luke warm),
½ cup Sugar,
1 Yeast Cake.

DIRECTIONS

Cook potatoes with skins on; when cooked, mash and add sugar and water. Soak yeast in half a cup of water and when mixture has cooled put in yeast and allow it to stand until it becomes foamy and bubbles, when it is ready for use. Strain before using.

The card of A. D. Wolverton, architect and builder, is printed elsewhere in this issue. Mr. Wolverton is one of the oldest resident architects in the city, and his work speaks for itself. Some of the best homes in the city are monuments of his skill. He is a conscientious workman, always carrying out to the letter his part of the contract. This we can say from experience, he having just completed a home for the senior of this journal of progress. Mr. Wolverton not only did his work satisfactorily, but did many little odd pieces of work about the house not contemplated in the contract, and we are more than pleased with his work. He is not only a first class carpenter and joiner, but also a first class painter and paper-hanger, and we cheerfully recommend him.

Deep sorrow has again invaded the home of Mr. Richard Eacrett, Dry Creek. Chester, his little baby boy, died yesterday, May 9th, at the age of sixteen months. But two short months ago, Mr. Eacrett was called upon to mourn the death of his loved wife, and now this little flower is taken. Truly, the ways of the All Wise are past finding out.

Just received, a nice line of screen doors and windows, rubber and cotton hose, lawn mowers, croquet sets and ice cream freezers—all will be sold reasonable. Come in when in town and see the good assortment of granite and tinware on our ten cent counter. H. Gutenberg & Co.'s Hdw. and Fur. Store.

ANGELES IMPROVEMENTS

A. D. Willson has torn down the old Teachman house on the corner of Albert and Second streets, and, with five men at work, is constructing a good sized house of eight rooms for his own residence.

J. C. Cochran is improving his place on Lincoln Heights by putting a picket fence around it.

Messrs. Crable and Buckie have also lately fenced their property on the Heights.

G. M. Rouse has had the land graded and prepared for lawn and garden at his place on the corner of Washington and Sixth streets. A hedge of California privet has been set out on two sides of it.

The "Cleaner Tacoma" committee has introduced an ordinance imposing a fine of $100 for throwing, depositing, or permitting to remain on any street or alley, any paper, boxes, or other rubbish, and another $100 if not removed within three days after notification.

The H. M. Fisher home on Second street has been greatly improved with a large addition and a bright coat of paint. It is one of the prettiest homes in the city.

D. A. Christopher has completed a fine cement walk in front and around the neat cottage he has built on Seventh street.

Ground is being broken for the Geo. Lotzgessel house, corner Oak and Eighth. From the great piles of lumber on the ground, we judge this is to be a large, modern home.

If all our citizens had the same civic spirit as that displayed by Dr. and Mrs. Mead, in cleaning up the street in front of their home on Fifth street, the streets of Angeles would soon be logless and stumpless. Mrs. Mead worked an entire day recently picking up rubbish to burn on the log pile.

The W. T. Belford house on Cherry street is fast assuming shape; when completed, this will be a fine home.

George Sweeny, after extensive alterations in his house, corner of Albert and Georgiana, has begun to put the paint on and sees the end of work long delayed. With its new tower and flag pole this house will be a land mark for that part of town when viewed from the water.

Has anyone noticed the attractive rubbish pile on Laurel St. at the foot of the zigzag? There is a particularly good view of it as you come into town from the boat. As "cleaning up day" comes but once a year it is a pity it wasn't seen before that time.

Speaking of cleaning up one is moved to remark that the school children who worked so well for the Civic Club on that day might help to keep the town tidy by saving waste paper for the fires at home, and that house-keepers can help a good deal by not throwing tin cans into conspicuous places. A word to the wise is sufficient. ESPERANTO.

Judge Still has rendered a decision in the case entitled "Seguin Bay Canning Co. vs. H. J. Bugge," brought for damages and an injunction to restrain the latter from removing clams from lands leased by the company, holding that the public has a common right to the clams on unenclosed grounds, until such time as special legislation shall otherwise provide.

It's a Pretty Picture

But no picture can show the elegant appearance of the woman who is properly fitted with THE HENDERSON CORSET. No illustration can convey the idea of comfort and rightly-dressed-ness that a woman feels when her gowns are fitted over the Henderson. There's but one sure way to know that the Henderson is right—try a pair. We have other styles if that shown above is not what you want.

Barrington Hall The Steel Cut Coffee

is pure coffee, a blend of choicest coffees prepared by the Steel-Cut process which doubles its value and makes it more economical. This process cuts the berry into small, even granules which yield their strength quickly and uniformly, thereby doing away with the unhealthful oversteeping necessary with coffee ground unevenly in a mill. The Steel-Cut process also removes chaff, dust, etc. which is ground up with ordinary coffee. For these reasons one pound of Barrington Hall will make 15 to 20 cups more of pure, delicious coffee than would the same coffee ground in a mill.

Packed by machinery in sealed tins.

SURPRISING RESULT OF PRIMARIES AT PORTLAND

Portland, Or., May 6—The victory of Mayor Harry K. Lane in Saturday's primary election was one of the greatest surprises of the day, and old politicians believe it is a record breaker. Mayor Lane was not a candidate, expecting, if he entered the race at all to be an independent candidate. Although his name had to be written on the ballots he received twice as many votes as his opponent. The result is a crushing blow to the anti-Lane forces that were responsible for forcing him to reject the noimnation from his party. Mayor Lane himself did not take any part in the campaign. He left his fate entirely in the hands of his friends with the result that in spite of having to write his name on the ballots, he defeated the man who had in an open letter declared him not to be available as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for mayor.

ATTACK ELKINS LAW

STANDARD OIL HOPES TO KNOCK OUT STATUTE.

Attorney Declares that as Applied to Interstate Shipments the Act Is Unconstitutional. If Sustained It Would Save Some Millions in Fines.

Chicago, May 4—In the hope of nullifying the conviction of their client the attoney for heStandad Oil company have atacked the constitutionality of the Elkins law. This was brought out yesteday before Federal Judge K. M. Landis during arguments on motions in arrest of judgment and for a new trial.

The gist of this argument made by Attorney John S. Miller, leading counsel for the defendant company, is that the constitution of the United States provides that "No person shall be dperived of life, liberty or property without due process of law," that railroad rates are made by carriers and that the question of the reasonableness of these is delegated to the interstate commerce commission, from whose decision no apeal to the courts is provided.

Should the motion for a new trial be denied the contention thus raised will afford the opponrtunity for carrying the case to the United States supreme court. If the plea is sustained in either court it will prevent the punishment of the Standad Oil company in this one case, involving a fine of over $29,000,000, and will affect all similar cases against this and other corporations charged with giving or accepting rebates.

Call It One Offense

The other point raised by the defense was that in accepting a rate of 6 cents from the Alton railroad for the shipment of oil or its products from Whiting, Ind., to East St. Louis, when the published rate was 18 cents, the Standard company committed but one offense and not 1,440, as charged by the government. Should this be sustained, the greatest penalty that could be imposed would be $20,000. As the amount derived by the Standard during the three years it enjoyed the secret rate was $223,000 such a penalty would be of little value in preventing rebating. The government in drawing up the indictment chose to consider the shipment of each car a separate offense, and a fine upon this basis would make the practice unprofitable.

Government attorneys are today replying to the arguments of the standard attorneys

Offense Continuous

"We contend that this law is in violation of a provision in the fifth amendment of the constitution, in that it deprives the shipper of a right to contract for the shipment of freight at just and equitable rates," said Attorney Miller at one point in his address "I have never been able to see how a just and equitable rate could be one that is not enjoyed by all shippers alike," said the court.

"That is also my belief," responded the attonrney, "but I do not think this law protects the shipper. It creates a monopoly for the raiload, permitting the road to fix the rate and compelling the shipper to accept the same until after he appealed to the interstate commerce commission and that body had passed on it. From this there was no appeal. The interstate commerce commission is not a court, and yet conrgess has given it the power of one in dealing with these cases. The right of private contract, involving personal rights and property rights, has been sustained in many cases. That is a right existing under the old common law, the principles of which are recognized in recent decisions of the supreme court. The reasonableness of a rate is a judicial question, in the last resort, and the courts cannot be deprived of their jurisdiction over it.

The hill system, it is announced, has no present intention of abandoning the Oriental trade.

NO REDEMING TRAIT

Sunday Supplements Bad Both Morally and Artistically.

New York, May 4—Accusing the comic supplements of Sunday newspapers of "bad morals and bad art," the International Kindergarten Union, which closed a week's session Friday, has declared war against them. These are the principal counts in the indictment:

Count No. 1 —They inculcate bad morals, inciting children to rebellion against their parents by idealizing boys and girls who invariably get the best of their elders.

Count No. 2—They represent a low type of art most of them being as bad artistically as they are in their influence on the impressionable minds of their readers.

Count No. 3—There is no necessity for their existence in their present form; something far more artistic and more entertaining could be furnished which would prove as popular.

It was decided to provide for the sending of circulars to women's clubs and to parents, calling upon them to bar comic supplements from their homes. A sub committee is to be selected to provide a substitute and present its plan to the next convention, which will be held in New Orleans. The organiaztion has 11,000 members throughout the United States and Canada.

LAND FRAUD PROBE AT WORK IN WASHINGTON

Seattle, May 3.—The Morning Times publishes a long article stating that land fraud inquiry has been actively in progress in this state for several months and that Prosecutor Heney will come here after finishing his work in San Francisco, to take charge of the prosecutions. The article says in part:

"Investigation of the land frauds said to have been committed in this state is now underway, and six operatives of the United States secret service division, acting under a special commission from President Roosevelt, are scouring Washington collecting evidence.

"Francis J. Heney, the prosecutor who sent a United States senator to prison and convicted a score of others in Oregon, and who is now probing the graft scandal in San Francisco, will take charge of the investigation as so on as he is through in California.

"This means that the dragnet of government investigation, which was started in this state more than a year ago is about to close and that in its meshes will be found men whose names are at present high in the political and business circles of the state. Seattle in particular will supply material for the special federal grand jury, which it is expected will be called to take cognizance of the evidence gathered by the secret service operatives, to work upon.

"That there has been fraud in the disposal of government lands in Washington has been suspected for many months and for more than a year minor officials of the government have been quietly at work gathering data of a statistical nature to show that such is the case. Secret Service Operative Burns was in Seattle several months ago and spent several days here looking over some of the evidence then at hand, and now that all the preliminaries have been taken care of the government has sent out six of the best men in the detective department to force the issue and place those toward whom suspicion points behind the bars.

"Within thirty days it is predicted that one of the worst scandals will develop in Seattle that has ever occurred in the West—a scandal that will make the Oregon land fraud scandal appear tame in comparison."

It is stated that some of the best known men in Seattle will have to face the grand jury and probably the court in these cases.

Cannot Build Car Line

Lansing, Mich., May 2.—Municipal ownership has received a knockout blow in the supreme court, five justices against three deciding that under the constitution and the law of the state municipalities cannot engage in any work of internal improvement. Contending that the city of Detroit had power to construct street railway lines, the common council made an appropriation for the construction of a short piece of track. An injunction was obtained, and this injunction is sustained by the decision of the supreme court yesterday.

Pictures for Historical Gallery

Olympia, May 4—Gov. Mead has bought thirteen pictures of Washington legislatures and the constitutional convention, all for $300. These were a relatively complete set of photographs of all of the members of the constitutional convention, of territorial councils and houses from 1883 to the end of territorial days, and from the beginning of statehood down to date, including photos of members of the last legislature. The pictures are to be added to the state historical gallery in the executive offices.

Guatemala Apologizes

New York, May 4—A Herald special from Mexico City says: "Guatemala has apoogized most profusely for the imputation that the perpetrators of the attempt on the life of President Estrada were given an asylum in the legation. No reply has been received to the demand for the extradition of Gen. Lima. There is no expectation that anything so serious as war will result from the trouble, but Mexico is prepared for any outcome.

PRESIDENT WRITES

PROMISED LETTER TO LABOR READ AT NEW YORK.

Promises to Remedy, as Far as Lies in Federal Power Any Miscarriage of Justice in Moyer-Haywood Case, that May Be Pointed Out to Him.

New York, May 6.—In a letter read before the Cental Federated Union, President Roosevelt states that if evidence is submitted to him showing that there has been a miscarriage of justice for or against Moyer and Haywood, awaiting trial at Boise, Idaho, charged with the murder of former Gov. Steunenberg, he will bring such evidence to the attention of the attorney general for such action, if any, as it may be in the power of the federal authorities to take.

The communication was the formal reply of the president to the union committee which recently called on the president and requested him to set forth in general his attitude toward the accused men and such references as he had made to Moyer and Haywood as "undesirable citizens."

The President's Letter.

The president's letter, dated May 2, follows:

My Dear Mr. Henry: When you, in company with Messrs. Coakley and Brown, called upon me this morning, I read you the letter I had written to the attorney general on March 25, 1906. At your request I gladly send you the following extract from that letter:

" 'Our duty is (if it should ever happen that we had the power in the matter) to see that exact justice is done these men. There must be no condonement of lawlessness on our part, even if the lawlessness takes the form of an effort to avenge the wrongs committed by the lawlessness of others. The sole question as regards Haywod and Moyer must be the question whether or not they can be shown to be guilty of this partcular act, and their legal rights must be as carefully safeguarded as those of any other men. It is alleged that they were extradited from Colorado in a manner that amounted to a betrayal of their legal rights. I should like to have the district attorney of Colorado, and, if necessary, the distict attorney of Idaho, give me such information as they can on this point.

Intemperate Utterances Denounced.

" 'On the other hand, I would like to know whether there is any symptom of a miscarriage of justice in their favor. The intemperate violence with which the socialistic or labor papers like that of Debs, and, I am sorry to say, some other labor organs, have insisted, without any knowledge of the facts, upon treating these men as martyrs to the cause of labor, has unquestionably resulted in tremendous pressure being brought to bear upon the authorities of Idaho to discharge or acquit them whether guilty or innocent.

" 'So far as the unions are anxious only to see that exact justice is done these men; that they are given their full legal rights, and not condemned unless proved guilty of this specific act, they are entitled to the cordial co-operation of all just and fair minded citizens. So far as by any action or by murderous and treasonable language such as that quoted above from Debs (and others) they tend to bring pressure to bear upon the state authorities and the courts to obstruct the course of justice and to render it difficult to convict the men if guilty, they are equally without stint to be condemned; and anything that the federal authorities can do in either event, to further the cause of justice should be done.'

Can Submit Any Evidence.

"In response to your question, it is, I trust, needless for me to say that any time you or anyone else can submit to me any evidence showing that there has been a miscariage of justice for or against Messrs. Moyer or Hayweood, which you believe it is in my power to remedy, I will at once bring such evidence to the attention of the attorney general to have him give it the fullest consideration, and there upon to take such action, if any, as it may be in the power of the federal authorities to take.

"Sincerely yours,

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

"Mr. John D. Henry, New York."

The union voted, after several delegates had been heard, to forward a copy of the president's letter to the attorneys for the indicted Colorado labor leaders and to ask the lawyers to submit to the preisdent all evidence in their possession that there had been a miscarriage of justice in the extradition of Moyer, Haywood and Pettibone from Colorado to Idaho.

Fuel Famine Still in Evidence

Winnipeg, Man., May 4—The fuel famine here is assuming serious proportions. Hardly a town in Western Canada has enough to last a week. At Calary many people are down to their last pound of coal and many industries have closed. Some 7,000 cars are tied up on the Canadian Northern, between Winnipeg and Fort Francess, the company being unable to bring them in owing to a shortage of engines.

SENTENDED FOR FRAUD

Oregon State Senator to Pay $10,000 and Serve Four Months in Jail.

Portland, Or., May 4—Former State Senator Franklin P. Mays and W. N. Jones, were sentenced yesterday by Federal Judge W. H. Hunt in connection with land fraud cases in Eastern Oregon. Mays' punishment is a $10,000 fine and four months in the Multnomah county jail and that of Jones is $2,000 and eight months in the county jail. Mays' sentence was stayed until November 1, in order to clear the record to permit the case going before the United States court of appeals.

The sentence of Hamilton H. Heidricks, Charles A. Watson and George D. Barnard, implicated in the same case, went over until September, because of the objections by the government to the manner in which the defendants' bill of exceptions was prepared. The defendants in this case were convicted of attempting to defraud the government in the Blue Mountain reserve.

EASTERDAY SAYS TAX LAW IS STILL VALID

Seattle, May 2.—Joseph H. Easterday, member of the state tax commission, who was in Seattle yesterday on his way to Wenatchee, when asked for an expression of his views on the report from Olympia to the effect that, owing to a defective title, the law recently enacted by the legislature exempting from taxation moneys and mortgages is invalid, said:

"I am inclined to think that my associate, Mr. Frost, has been misquoted in saying that money and mortgages must now be assessed owing to a defective tilte in the exemption act.

"It is true that the Roman numerals designating the chapter amended in some manner became transposed or inverted. This reference to the chapter, however, is not material to the title of the act, and with this eliminated there is still enough left to fully advise the ordinary reader as to the substance of the act. This is the purpose of a title, and all the law requires.

"The deliberate will of the lawmaking bodies and the executive is not to be defeated by trivial matters.

"It is not our policy, nor the province of a state officer to assume that laws are void. On the contrary it is the duty of officers to try to carry into effect the legislature's will. It works a serious hardship on the state to have the validity of this law questioned.

"To a large extent the most desirable new business which is obtained in our state is attracted here by this beneficial exemption. As an advertising medium Washington's progressive revenue law is the talk of the entire country, and the admiration of all political economists.

"I presume that a test could be made by some person aggrieved by not having his money taxed. If the records of the past are an index to the present, however, there are very few indeed, and in some countries none at all, who ever suffered from this form of brainstorm.

"Seriously, however, with but few exceptions, those who in the past have made an honest return of this class of property have been the poor and helpless.

"It was for the protection of these that I have persistently for years asked, and now have obtained, this exemption."

HAYWOOD ASKS FOR BILL OF PARTICULARS

Boise, Idaho, May 7.—"You charge this man with a crime that it is impossible he committed. You have refused to indicate how he could have done it. The indictment charges the murder of Gov. Steunenberg at Caldwell, Idaho, on December 30, 1905, when Haywod was in Colordao. Then the crime is a conspiracy, while the indictment charges murder. I appeal to the court to compel the prosecution to show what overt act is alleged before the trial day is fixed."

Thus forcibly E. F. Richardson, of Denver, chief counsel for the defense, fired the opening gun in the Moyre-Haywood-Pettibon ecase.

The proceedings were purely technical. The selection of the jury will begin Thursday. Yesterday's plea for a bill of particulars was taken under advisement by Judge ood.

Liquid Glues.

Take three parts (by weight) of gum shellac and one part of india rubber. Dissolve in separate vessels in ether (free from alcohol), applying a gentle heat. When both are entirely dissolved mix them and put them in a tightly corked bottle. This variety of glue is known as marine glue. It resists the action of hot and cold water and the majority of hot alkalis and acids.

G. Lowes Dickinson, author of "From King to King," who, in an age when fiction is paramount, shares with A. C. Benson the distinction of attracting public attention by essay writing, is one of the few authors who refuse to be photographed for public prints. So marked is his antipathy to the camera that even his publishers have no idea what he looks like.

McClure, Phillips & Co. are allowing "Pigs Is Pigs," the sale of which has already reached 100,000 copies, to be printed in raised point type in the Matilda Ziegler Magazine for the Blind, the publication recently founded by the widow of the late William Ziegler. An interesting coincidence is that William Ziegler came from the same place as Mr. Butler, Muscatine County, Iowa, where before perfecting his cream of tartar baking powder, famous as the Royal, he was a clerk in a drug store.

Mr. Burdett-Coutts is engaged in writing a life of the Baroness Burdett-Coutts, in which he will pay little attention to the public aspect of her life, already well known by notice in the public press, but to that which is not generally familiar. He says that the house in Stratton street is like a record office stocked with papers and correspondence going back more than a hundred years. He also laments that there is no one remaining, no Dickens or Disraeli, who, combining literary skill with intimate personal knowledge, can give an adequate character study of the Baroness.

"Before Adam," Jack London's story of prehistoric man, is being much discussed, and the differences of opinion on it give one some insight into the possibilities of literary criticism. Thus the Pittsburg Gazette-Times says that "Mr. London's book is a psychological masterpiece;" the Washington Herald declares that "It is not very convincing, nor particularly interesting." Says the New York Times: "The vitality and realism of the story beget a fascination which ultimately reaches conviction;" while the New York Tribune decides that "A few grimly dramatic episodes in the tale scarcely atone for the improbability and unpleasantness of the book as a whole." "Only a combination of tremendous knowledge and wonderful imagination could have produced it," says the Denver Post; "A labored product of his inventiveness, rather than a felicitous work of the imagination," says the Independent.

AIR IN HIGHER ALTITUDES

Same as in Other Places Except It Contains No Microbes.

It is an error to think that the chemical composition of the air differs essentially wherever the sample may be taken. The relation of oxygen to nitrogen and other constituents is the same whether it be on the heights of the Alps or at the surface of the sea. The favorable effects, therefore, of a change of air are not to be explained by any difference in the proportions of its gaseous constituents. The important difference is the bacteriological one. The air of high altitudes contains no microbes, and is, in fact, sterile, while near the ground and some hundred feet above it microbes are abundant. In the air of towns and crowded places not only does the microbe impurity increase, but other impurities, such as the products of combustion of coal, accrue also.

Several investigators have found traces of hydrogen and certain hydrocarbons in the air, especially in pine, oak and birch forests. It is to these bodies, doubtless consisting of traces of essential oils, that the curative effects of certain health resorts are traced. Thus the locality of a fir forest is said to give relief in diseases of the respiratory tracts. But these traces of essential oils and aromatic product must be counted, strictly speaking, as impurities, since they are apparently not necessary constituents of the air.

Recent analysis has shown that these bodies tend to disappear in the air as a higher altitude is reached until they disappear altogether. It would seem, therefore, that microbes, hydrocarbons and entities other than oxygen and nitrogen, and perhaps also argon, are only incidental to the neighborhood of human industry, animal life and damp vegetation.

Hot Potatoes as Hand Warmers.

Dr. Herbert Claiborne, of New York, suffers from cold hands in winter. And nothing will warm his fingers except hot water, a hot fire or a hot potato. He can be seen almost any frosty morning marching along at five miles an hour with a hot potato in each overcoat pocket and his hands grasping the two big potatoes, piping hot, wrapped in silk handkerchiefs, for this purpose. "They will keep your hands warm for hours unless you happen to sit on 'em," he says. "They are great for a football match or when you go sleighriding.—Philadelphia Record.

Nearly every old man has "broken up" during his business experience.

Let the good work of reforming the very rich go on. It is wise and fine to expose the shortcomings of the high placed and the powerful and to put an end to those shortcomings if possible. At the same time it is worth while in a period of hot indignation at the great and the far away to keep a level head and to see things in due proportion. The very rich and the great corporations probably stand in no greater need of reform than you and your next door neighbor. How lawless are you? In a republic every individual holds one office—the office of elector. If you neglect the duty of that office in order to make money how much better are you than a thieving public treasurer? Don't forget yourself. Your information about your own crimes is much more accurate than your information about the crimes of Rockefeller. And you can get at yourself better and quicker. Don't forget yourself. How mendacious, lawless and dishonest are you?

His Private Apartments.

"Mister," whined the tattered tramp as he halted at the gate, "can't you give me a lift in the world? You broke up my home."

The old farmer dropped his ax in astonishment.

"Broke up your home?" he gasped. "I never saw you before in my life. How did I break up your home?"

"Why, I had been sleeping in that old barrel back of the barn for two weeks and you just broke it up for firewood."

CONTAGIOUS BLOOD POISON

NO LIMIT TO ITS POWERS FOR EVIL

Contagious Blood Poison has brought more suffering, misery and humiliation into the world than all other diseases combined; there is hardly any limit to its powers for evil. It is the blackest and vilest of all disorders, wrecking the lives of those unfortunate enough to contract it and often being transmitted to innocent offspring, a blighting legacy of suffering and shame. So highly contagious is the trouble that innocent persons may contract it by using the same table ware, toilet articles or clothing of one in whose blood the treacherous virus has taken root. Not only is it a powerful poison but a very deceptive one. Only those who have learned by bitter experience know by the little sore or ulcer, which usually makes its appearance first, of the suffering which is to follow. It comes in the form of ulcerated mouth and throat, unsightly copper colored spots, swollen glands in the groin, falling hair, offensive sores and ulcers on the body, and in severe cases the finger nails drop off, the bones become diseased, the nervous system is shattered and the sufferer becomes an object of pity to his fellow man. Especially is the treacherous nature of Contagious Blood Poison, shown when the infected person endeavors to combat the poison with mercury and potash. These minerals will drive away all outward symptoms of the troubles for a while, and the victim is deceived into the belief that he is cured. When, however, the treatment is left off he finds that the poison has only been driven deeper into the blood and the disease reappears, and usually in worse form because these strong minerals have not only failed to remove the virus from the blood but have weakened the entire system because of their destructive action. S. S. S. is she only real and certain cure for Contagious Blood Poison. It is made of a combination of healing blood-purifying roots, herbs and barks, the best in Nature's great laboratory of forest and field. We offer a reward of $1.000 for proof that S. S. S. contains a particle of mineral in any form. S. S. S. goes down to the very bottom of the trouble and by cleansing the blood of every particle of the virus and adding rich, healthful qualities to this vital fluid, forever cures this powerful disorder. So thoroughly does S. S. S. cleanse the circulation that no signs of the disease are ever seen again, and offspring is protected.

One of the Important Duties of Physicians and the Well-Informed of the World is to learn as to the relative standing and reliability of the leading manufacturers of medicinal agents, as the most eminent physicians are the most careful as to the uniform quality and perfect purity of remedies prescribed by them, and it is well known to physicians and the Well-Informed generally that the California Fig Syrup Co., by reason of its correct methods and perfect equipment and the ethical character of its product has attained to the high standing in scientific and commercial circles which is accorded to successful and reliable houses only, and, therefore, that the name of the Company has become a guarantee of the excellence of its remedy.

TRUTH AND QUALITY

appeal to the Well-Informed in every walk of life and are essential to permanent success and creditable standing, therefore we wish to call the attention of all who would enjoy good health, with its blessings, to the fact that it involves the question of right living with all the term implies. With proper knowledge of what is best each hour of recreation, of enjoyment, of contemplation and of effort may be made to contribute to that end and the use of medicines dispensed with generally to great advantage, but as in many instances a simple, wholesome remedy may be invaluable if taken at the proper time, the California Fig Syrup Co. feels that it is alike important to present truthfully the subject and to supply the one perfect laxative remedy which has won the approval of physicians and the world-wide acceptance of the Well-Informed because of the excellence of the combination, known to all, and the original method of manufacture, which is known to the California Fig Syrup Co. only.

This valuable remedy has been long and favorably known under the name of—Syrup of Figs—and has attained to world-wide acceptance as the most excellent of family laxatives, and as its pure laxative principles, obtained from Senna, are well known to physicians and the Well-Informed of the world to be the best of natural laxatives, we have adopted the more elaborate name of—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—as more fully descriptive of the remedy, but doubtlessly it will always be called for by the shorter name of Syrup of Figs—and to get its beneficial effects always note, when purchasing, the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—plainly printed on the front of every package, whether you simply call for—Syrup of Figs—or by the full name—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—as—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—is the one laxative remedy manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. and the same heretofore known by the name—Syrup of Figs—which has given satisfaction to millions. The genuine is for sale by all leading druggists throughout the United States in original packages of one size only, the regular price of which is fifty cents per bottle.

Every bottle is sold under the general guarantee of the Company, filed with the Secretary of Agriculture, at Washington, D. C., that the remedy is not adulterated or misbranded within the meaning of the Food and Drugs Act, June 30th, 1906.

THE CULTIVATION OF LITERARY TASTE

Perhaps one of the most interesting and instructive features of the Teachers' Institute, held here last week, was the talk given on Friday morning, by Dr. F. H. Swift of the State University, on "The Story as a Factor in Moral Education," in which was demonstrated the value of the "Story" in teaching children manners and morals.

He showed that children are not only very imaginative and sympathetic, but also possess in a marked degree the dramatic instinct which impels them to imitate that which excites their admiration or appeals to their sympathy or imagination. In consequence of this he showed how essential it was that the character of the story given to children be such as to stimulate the good and not the evil.

He pointed out the important place the story occupies today both out of school and in school, and insisted that the story for children should be essentially moral—not that a moral should be tacked on to it, as in the old time fables—but that the truth to be emphasized should be plain. For instance, he told of a teacher near whose school a bird's nest had been robbed. The teacher did not ask who did it, but told the children the story of the parent birds' struggles to build the little nest, their pride and joy as each little egg appeared in it, and the mother bird's care and attention. Then of the grief and sorrow when she should come home and find an empty nest with no little eggs in it. The children all immediately condemned the boy or girl who had committed the robbery, and the boy who did it burst into tears.

He quoted one of the greatest educators of the day as saying that among children there was no evil, no vice that the story could not reach.

He pointed out the responsibility of the teacher in teaching a child to read, saying that no teacher should dare to teach a child to read without also assuming the responsibility of training the child's taste. They should not give the child this apple from the garden of God, without giving them the knowledge to avoid the evil and sift it from the good. For the story was all powerful, and by furnishing ideas and ideals, determined in a large degree the company a child kept in its inmost privacy.

And he added that a teacher whose literary taste had not been sufficiently cultivated to enable that teacher to guide a child in this matter, owed it to the profession, to himself, and to the children under his care to qualify himself as soon as possible.

The Doctor closed his talk with an original story, illustrative of the story which should emphasize a truth.

ROOSEVELT'S APPEAL FOR THE ELK

The text of President Roosevelt's letter appealing for preservation of the elk, was made public last Saturday. In it he deplores the traffic in elk teeth which has caused the illegal killing of elk to become a regular trade. He says that while he has a very full appreciation of the immense amount of good done by this great and benevolent order, the Elks, he is the more regretful that the noblest remaining of our wild creatures should be threatened with destruction primarily because of the custom of wearing tusks as an emblem, and asks if it be not possible that the order, which has done so much toward the uplifting of our American citizenship, may now come to the front again with the additional service of abolishing this destructive custom.

While the President's appeal is made to the Elks of the Nation as a whole, and relates only to the use of Elks' tusks as emblems, it seems to us that the members of Naval Lodge might take up the matter in the same spirit, tho in a different manner.

The future existence of the herds of magnificent Roosevelt elks in the Olympic peninsula lies entirely with the people of Clallam county. One of the largest herds is at present but a few miles above the McDonald bridge. It is guarded as effectually as may be by one man, and yet even now some sneaking hunter is successfully evading detection and killing elk for their teeth, leaving, as the President says, one of the most beautiful and stately creatures of the wilderness to be turned to mere carrion.

Game Warden Cox has counted close to 150 elk in this herd, and has frequently been within a few feet of the unsuspicious animals. Billy Anderson says one of the finest sights he ever witnessed was this herd of a hundred or more on a ridge just above his place one day last week. He looks after the herd from time to time, when Mr. Cox is called to other parts of the county.

The elk recently shot was left to rot; only the tusks were taken. The hunter's foot prints where he followed the animal from its drinking hole on the ridge, are plainly in evidence.

It would seem that Naval Lodge could not do a more worthy act than devise means to assist the game warden in this matter. Mr. Cox knows all the men who have been up river with guns, which could be carried at this time of year but for one purpose, and cites several very suspicious actions on the part of some of these men. A special assistant might be employed to keep watch of suspects, and the members of the Elks lodge, as well as the people generally, could, by their condemnation of those who continue to carry guns, make Angeles a very unpleasant place of residence for them.

Against Law of Common Decency.

Undoubtedly the men in charge of the Seattle land office were acting entirely within their right in giving themselves—if they may have so desired—their friends, and the people of Seattle, the first, and as results show, the only opportunity to purchase the ten acre tracts, while those who had gone ahead in good faith with the work of building roads and clearing up the land were shut out. It may have been within their right, but it was clearly against the law — the law of common decency — the law of the President's "Square Deal"— the only law by which man is judged by his fellow men.
