TIMBER COMPANY FINDS FORTUNE

ASSESSOR'S FIGURES OPEN THEIR EYES TO REAL VALUE

Incident Serves to Show Enormous Loss to Clallam County in Ridiculous Timber Valuations — 8c per 1000 Feet.

For the officers of a wealthy corporation like the Weyerhauser Timber Company to awaken suddenly and find it owned timber land on a single section worth a small fortune seems an extraordinary thing, but such is the fate of the big concern. Several years ago the company bo't some 900,000 acres of lands from the Northern Pacific railroad company.

Some clerk who made up the record of the cruises made an error in the description of section 25, township 14-4 west. The cruise which the company received from the railroad people showed that it contained only a trifle more than 3,000,000 feet of timber.

It was not until the recent timber cruise was made in Lewis county that the remarkable development was made that 25 contained timber worth a small fortune. The county cruiser reported it had 65,000,000 feet of timber. When Mr. Long, representing the company, heard of this he sent two trusted men to the tall timber for a report. They only finished a part of it, but George Joy, one of them, reports that he would concede that it had at least 50,000,000 feet on it.

On the 65,000,000 feet basis the county board of equalization has put a value of about $17,000 on the section, on a stumpage basis of 25 cents per 1000.

Note the contrast !

Down in Lewis county, assessed on a basis of 25c per thousand, one of the best claims stands on the assessment rolls at over $26 per acre !

Here in Clallam county some of the best timber, strictly gilt-edged, running from 50,000,000 to 75,000,000 the section, is assessed at $8 and $10 an acre.

For example, one particular piece in the lower Soleduck country, about as good a piece as any in the county, —so good that Lewis said he "must have it,"—a piece of 240 acres, the ne¼ and s½ nw¼ 12-28-14, is assessed at $2400 ! $10 per acre ! We have it on excellent authority that it could be sold within 24 hours for not less than $35,000 — over $145 per acre !

But it is said the county has no cruise, such as that made in Lewis county, and no means of judging values. The county board of equalization is composed of men who know timber when they see it, men who have bought and sold timber. Let us take a tract they have presumably seen, a tract thru which runs the Quillayute road, commencing about one mile northeast of the Culprit Prairie bridge. In this section, No. 1, which adjoins the above mentioned section 12 on the north, lots 8, 9, 11 and 13, s½ ne¼, w½ se¼, 270.50 acres in all, is assessed at $2050 — $7.50 per acre ! Timber is worth to day $3 per thousand; it can't be bought from the big holders at that price. Logs are selling in the boom at $18.50. This tract will run fully 15,000,000 feet to the quarter. It's assessed at $7.50 per acre, less than one-fourth its selling price. There is absolutely no excuse for such rating on land so situated.

Another tract of 80 acres, the s½ se¼, same section, crossed by the county road nearer the bridge, is assessed at $640—$8 per acre ! Clean timber, never touched by fire, no undergrowth, land level as a floor ! No better timber on the face of the earth !

160 acres in section 21 is assessed at $400; section 24 at $400 per quarter; three quarters in 25 at $400 each; all of section 26 at $780. Sections 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34 and 35 in 28-14 are, with some few exceptions, assessed at $400 the quarter.

And our county board of equalization, pledged, in part, to raise the assessed valuations of timber, and under, in a way, instructions from the state board to the same effect, say they didn't consider it best to do so this year ! May we ask by what intricate process of mental reasoning they arrived at that conclusion ?

Meanwhile, keep your ear close to the ground and you'll hear rumblings of a chart giving timber assessments as compared with other personal property assessments — a chart furnished the county free ! by the timber men. It is said members of the board actually have the effrontery to produce this chart as evidence that their work was fair and just to all alike.

UNION PACIFIC SURVEY IS ON

FROM PORT ANGELES TO LAKE CRESCENT

Believed That Company Will Apply for Franchises as Soon as Route Out of City is Determined Upon.

As announced in the Olympic-Leader last week, the Union Pacific crew under Engineer McPherson reached this city from Lake Crescent today. They have received instructions to continue the survey from this point, and it is confidently expected will soon be ready to frame up a proposition to the city for franchises, and to enter the market for terminals and industrial sites.

With the proposed new system of water works and power, which, it is thought, will be in shape for consideration in a few days, a brighter era is already in sight for our people.

BENEFIT ENTERTAINMENT

Will Be Given at Opera House Wednesday, 18th, to Assist Elwha Jimmie.

A benefit entertainment will be given at the Opera House on Wednesday evening, Sept. 18th, the proceeds to be used in building Elwha Jimmie a house to replace that destroyed, with all its contents, by fire, some two weeks ago.

There will be a miscellaneous program rendered by some of the best local talent. Miss Alice Ball, the musical instructor who has recently come to Angeles to make her home, will assist; also Mrs. Dr. Thorne of Omaha, a talented musician who is here, the guest of Mrs. J. W. Troy.

Elwha Jimmie is well known to all our people as a deserving case for the manifestation of the "Angeles Spirit," the spirit of helpfulness which has come to the aid of many deserving ones in the past. He has raised about $50 by private subscription. The ladies hope to make up the necessary amount. Your contributions of the admission price, 25 cts., will be well placed even should you not attend the entertainment and thus get full value received.

The Ramona made its last excursion trip for the season from Seattle to Angeles last Sunday. These excursions have been very popular and well patronized, and the Pacific States Realty Company, while turning an honest dollar into its coffers, has advertised Port Angeles, "the prettiest townsite and the best harbor on the Pacific Coast," in a way that will result in lasting benefit to our community.

PROPOSE BETTER STEAMER SERVICE

WOULD ENTER FIELD WITH THE MONTICELLO

Blakely Mill Company Asks for Freight Contracts on Basis of Present Rates. Advantage Lies in Better Service.

Manager Skinner and Mr. Blakely, representing the Blakely Mill Company, owners of the steamer Monticello, met with a number of the business men of this city, in the opera house this morning, for the purpose of ascertaining what measure of support could be secured for the new steamer, if placed on this run. A committee of six, Messrs. Seevers, Willson, Brophy, Delabarre, Kirschberg and Davis, was selected to take the matter in hand on behalf of the merchants and citizens generally.

The Monticello is a new boat, 140 feet in length, or about the size of the Rosalie; she was built a year ago for use between Seattle and Port Blakely and is said to be the best boat of her class on the Sound. Since the Blakely fire, she has been run at at a loss. Tho not provided with staterooms, she makes 18 miles and can make the run, stopping at Townsend and Dungeness, in five and a half hours; leaving Seattle at 7:00 a. m., she could make that port on the return trip in the late evening, and still afford her passengers a several hours stay in this city. She could carry 225 passengers and 100 tons freight.

Mr. Skinner said it was not the intention of his company to reduce either freight or passenger rates; that they didn't wish to build up a business by competition in rates, but by better service. He did not care to enter the field without a guarantee in the shape of contracts that would

NOT TO BE MADE AN INTERNATIONAL AFFAIR

Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 11.—That Japan does not intend to make an international affair of the Japanese riots which have occurred in Vancouver became known when in an interview K. Ishii, chief of the bureau of foreign commerce, stated:

"I have received cable dispatches from the Japanese government at Tokyo to the effect that Japan will not make an international incident of the riots of the past few days.

"The relations between Japan and Great Britain are too close and too friendly to be destroyed by this incident.

"Of course the resident Japanese of Vancouver will demand payment for damages, but as far as the government of Japan is concerned, there will be no official representation."

Ishii leaves tomorrow for Ottawa, and is of the belief that further rioting in Vancouver will not occur.

The situation is being handled diplomatically.

The Chinese and Japanese strike which went into effect this morning was called off this afternoon, and the Chinese and Japanese will go back to work tomorrow morning. In contrast with this, the white labor unions are debating whether to call a general strike in all places where both white labor and Orientals are at work. Vancouver and all other cities of British Columbia are facing what may become the greatest strike in the history of Western Canada.

BREWERS GIVE UP THEIR LONG FIGHT IN KANSAS

Topeka, Kan., Sept. 7.—Seven brewing companies have given up the fight in Kansas, agreeing to pay all the costs of the case against them in the supreme court and move out of the state. It is understood that the seven companies must pay costs amounting to $4,000, to be divided equally among the three receivers of the court.

When Attorney General Jackson started his fight there were sixteen big companies doing business in Kansas. All have now given up but four.

A proposition has been made to the Georgetown council to lay down sandstone paving without the use of a concrete base. The plan was proposed by J. E. Riley, who said a cushion of six inches of sand was sufficient. He says he can lay the pavement for $1 less a yard by eliminating the concrete base.

VETERANS ARRIVING FOR ANNUAL ENCAMPMENT

Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 9.—Veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic have been arriving for the past 48 hours for the forty-first national encampment which will be held here this week. Fifty thousand veterans are expected.

This may be the last encampment held anywhere but in Washington. At the business session of the organization, a resolution will be introduced fixing that place as the permanent meeting place of the organization hereafter.

It is also probable that within a few years the annual encampment will become only a business meeting of delegates, for the veterans, it was stated by Grand Army officials last night, are becoming too feeble to attend the meetings in a body and to take part in the annual parade. The encampment program begins tomorrow.

ISHII SEES RIOTING

SERIES OF ANTI-JAPANESE OUTBURSTS AT VANCOUVER.

Visiting Oriental Immediately Sends Account of Affair to Representative of His Government at London---Indemnity Demanded.

Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 9.—Following a riot early in the evening in Vancouver, in which Chinatown and the Japanese quarter were raided and damage done approximating $15,900, a further demonstration occurred in the early morning hours. Kikujiro Ishii, chief of the bureau of foreign commerce and head of the Japanese consular service, and Consul Saburo Hisamidzu, of Seattle, were central figures, and in the riot, which was witnessed by the Japanese dignitaries, numberless people were bruised and injured by broken bottles and flying brickbats in the hands of the frenzied mob.

Baron Ishii and Consul Hisamidzu finally made their escape in a carriage through the mob, and the affair was immediately cabled to Tokyo by Ishii. Coincident with the riot was the arrival of a steamship having on board at least 500 Japanese.

With a common impulse the mob surged to the water front, and as the Japanese came down the gang plank they were met by the rioters. Seven or eight of the Japanese were unceremoniously picked up and thrown into Burrard inlet, and with difficulty were rescued.

Still further rioting occurred Sunday evening about ten o'clock, when a crowd of about 3,000 laborers again started on the warpath, but were finally quelled by the police after about twenty successful arrests had been made.

Oriental Quarter Roped Off

Chinatown is now roped off and the quarters of the Orientals are being guarded by the police. Baron Ishii last night gave out an interview, in which he stated that he had cabled to Ambassador Kaneko at London, apprising him of the stiring events of the last two days. Indemnity from the city to the amount of $25,000 will be claimed. Mayor Bethune declares the indemnity will not be paid, and the affair will be taken up with the Dominion government. Sunday night's rioting was the worst in the history of Western Canada

A conference was called at midnight between Consul Morikawa, Mayor Bethune and the chief of police, and it was determined to suppress further labor meetings. A meeting has been called for next Thursday of the labor element, but will not be permitted to assemble.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE SAID TO BE LONG ONE

Washington, Sept. 7.—The Hearst News Service sends out the following:

When President Rosevelt returns to Washington September 25 he practically will have completed the writing of his message to the first session of the Sixtieth congress.

Every portion of it will be in shape to submit, as is usual, to the members of his cabinet and to those senators and representatives and high officers of the government upon whose judgment he largely relies for suggestions.

The message is to be the longest that he has ever sent to congress. It will be longer than that which he sent to congress winter before last, which established a new record in the presidential message line That was the output in which railroad rate legislation was made the overshadowing feature.

Roosevelt's message to congress in December also will be notable for the manner in which it will deal with questions now before the public or in which he hopes to make the public take an interest. The matters will be treated in an unusual way with a vigor that will make the message unique as a state paper.

It will virtually be a statement of issues upon which the Republican party will make its fight in 1908.

LUMBER ADVANCE TO BE EFFECTIVE NOVEMBER 1

Serattle, Sept. 7.—Lumber and shingle rates will be advanced November 1, or a few days earlier than that date, unless unforseen circumstances prevent. The announcement is authorized by the Northern lines, the only qualification being that some thing no one could foretell might intervene to preven the positive declaration of the proposed advance in lumber rates. This means the beginning of big fight between the timber interests and the railroads, and it promises to be a long and bitter one

Olympia, Sept. 7.—The state railroad commission has made an order directing the railroads concerned to make track connections at Rosalia, Palouse, Oakesdale, Garfield, Connell, Waverly, Thornton, Farmington and Pullman.

ROOTS MEXICAN TRIP

Secretary of State Will Make Speeches In Southern Republic.

New York, Sept. 9.—Secretary Root expects to leave Washington for Mexico September 25. He will cross the Mexican line at Laredo, where he will be met by President Diaz and become his guest. Secretary Root will deliver speeches at several points in Mexico, it is expected, but as yet he has not been advised as to the details of his stay and entertainment in the Southern republic.

Following the plan of his South American trip, Secretary Root will not prepare any set speeches in advance, but will depend entirely upon extemporaneous efforts, suiting his remarks to the various occasions as they arise.

The United States and Mexico have been working in accord for several years past in an effort to straighten out the many Central American tangles which have called the armies of several states constantly into conflict.

The promise of permanent peace now seems brighter than ever, and this condition will undoubtedly be a cause of mutual congratulation between the Mexican president and the American secretary of state.

WARDEN KINCAID HANDS BOARD HIS RESIGNATION

Olympia, Sept. 11.—The resignation of M. F. Kincaid as superintendent of the state penitentiary at Walla Walla was received at the office of the state board of control yesterday. It came as a complete surprise to H. T. Jones, the only member of the board in town, the others being absent visiting state institutions.

Mr. Kincaid asks that he be relieved as speedily as possible, as he desires to enter private employment which, he says in his brief letter of resignation, offers better financial returns. The salary of the superintendent is $1,800 a year. In addition, the officer receives the use of a large furnished house, with maintenance of himself and family.

The legislature of 1907 increased the salaries of the superintendents of the hospitals for the insane materially, but made no increase in the compensation of the superintendents of the penitentiary. Kincaid is known to feel that the position, with the large responsibility that goes with it, should offer more in the way of salary. He has not indicated to the board in any manner the character of the employment which he proposes to enter.

J. B. Smith, of Columbia county, the present assistant superintendent of the institution, probably will be placed in temporary charge of the penitentiary as soon as the board of control can be got together to take action on the resignation. Choice of a superintendent, it is expected, will be deferred until the return of Governor Mead from California, probably next week.

Mr. Kincaid's home is Seattle. He was appointed to the position in September, 1906, at the instance of Governor Mead, immediately after the resignation of A. F. Kees had been called for and accepted. At that time Mr. Kincaid was chairman of the board of control, to which position he was appointed by Governor Mead when the latter took office in January, 1905. Prior to appointment on the board of control Mr. Kincaid had been employed as a locomotive engineer at Seattle. He is the son of Dr. Kincaid, of Olympia, and brother of Prof. Trevor Kincaid, of the faculty of the University of Washington.

STATE SCHOOL CENSUS SHOWS LARGE INCREASE

Olympia, Sept. 7—There are 23,502 school children in Washington, according to the census of June, 197, as compared with 219,911 the previous year An interesting table has been prepared comparing the 1096 and the 1907 census for the use of the state board of equaliaztion, by Secretary Frank Morse. This shows that eight counties in the state found a less number of school children this year than in 1906. These counties were Asotin, Adams, Douglas, Garfield, Lincoln, Mason, San Juan and Walla Walla. The los in school populiation ranged from .06 of 1 per cent in Adams to 9.32 per cent in Garfield. The other counties show increases from 52 per cent in Yakima county to 15 per cent in Franklin county Among the larger counties King showed 9.65 per cent increase, Pierce 10.8 and Spokane 10.21.

Spokane, which last year was in third, has this year wrested second position from Pierce county. The smallest schol population is 5.26 in Skamania county, and the greatest is naturally King county, with 45.135. The interest and other revenues this year will probably be much greater than they were a year ago, sufficient in all likelihood to care for the increased population, so that no greater levy than last year will be necessary for state school purposes.

Leaving the Government Service

Within the past year there has been a decided exodus from the government service. The old-time situation, when bright minds turned towards "a government job," is now a thing of the past, and in some instances the government is forced to advertise to have positions filled which in former years were eagerly sought. It is true that there is always a good list of eligibles on hand, who have passed examinations but many of these decline appointments because of openings in busiiness life that assure them of better pay and more opportunity of advancement.—Joe Mitchell Chapple in National Magazine for September.

WASHINGTON APPLES

TREES THIS YEAR ARE VERY HEAVILY LADEN.

Five Million Boxes of Fifty Pounds Each Will Be Packed and Find their Way to All Parts of the World---Fruit In Demand.

Spokane, Sept. 10.—Apple pickers in Washington orchards are having the time of their lives. The total acreage is near the 100,000 mark and the trees are heavily laden and wages higher than ever before in the history of the industry. The crop is estimated by growers and inspectors to be worth from $9,000,000 to $10,000,000 this season, and of this more than $5,000,000 will be paid for fruit packed for export. The bulk of the crop is made up of Spitzenberg, Newton pippins, Winesap, Jonathan and other winter varieties, which can be shipped anywhere, the chief districts being the Yakima, Wenatchee, Spokane and Prosser valleys in the order nmaed.

Much of this fruit will be sent to the Atlnatic coast markets, and England, Germany, Australia and the Orient. New York, Boston and Chicago are the chief distributing points east of the Rocky mountains and from these jobbers and dealers in various parts of the West, East and South are supplied. The big red apple is the favorite of Americans and Australians, while the Englishmen are fond of the various varieties of pippins, which also have reputations in Denmark and Sweden and other parts of Europe.

Would Fill 8,333 Cars

Stated commercially, the crop in Washington for shipment this year is a matter of 5,000,000 boxes, each containing fifty pounds of apples. The fruit was grown in 37 counties, Yakima leading with 1,248,000 trees, Chelan being second with 400,000. The crop would fill 8,333 cars of 30,000 pounds each, or make 250 trains of 33 cars each.

Packers do not pack barrels in this country. They are too unwieldy. Pine boxes are used and they reach the growers and packers "knocked down" the price being 12½ cents each, to which must be added one cent for nailing. As a rule pickers and packers are paid by the day, the wage scale ranging from $2.25 to $3 a day, though in some instances the pickers are paid by the box or the entire orchard, which contain from 80 to 108 trees to the acre. The average cost of picking, package and packing to the grower is 25 cents, but it is not unusual for shippers or commission men to buy the products of the orchard on the trees, paying from $1 to $1.25 a box and doing all the work.

As Washington apples are now handled in the highest priced markets of the world, every care is taken with the packs, the fruit being select and of uniform size, color and flavor. They are hand packed after grading and every precaution is taken against bruising and they are free from stains and pests. Every apple is wrapped in paper to prevent contact.

Only the highest quality of fruit is selected for export, and for this the growers receive at least $1 a box more in the foreign markets than they do the local markets, where competition is not so keen. Bostonians will readily pay the top price for big red apples, the New York market is the best for winesaps and Spitzenburgs, and Chicago wants flavor more than color and size.

That there is "big money" in apple orcharding, an industry yet in its infancy in the state of Washington, and, in fact, throughout the Northwest, becomes apparent when it is known that trees average five boxes each per season and that in many of the older orchards, containing from 50 to 75 trees, it is not uncommon to harvest from 15 to 20 boxes.

It is not in apples alone that Washington has come to the front as a fruit producing state. Reports compiled by State Fruit Commissioner Huntley and submitted to Gov. Mead show that in addition to almost four full townships of apple trees, the state had at the beginning of last year 949,299 plum and prune trees, 764,956 peach trees, 500,633 pear trees, 243,450 cherry trees, 30,089 apricot trees, 23,862 English walnut trees, 15,185 almond trees and 6,988 quince trees, and that thousands of trees have been planted since the statistics were gathered for the foregoing statement.

Liang Tun Yuen New Chinese Minister

Peking, Sept. 11.—The aggressive influence of Yuan Shi Kai has been further demonstrated. Liang Tun Yuen, one of the Yuan Shi Kai's men, has been appointed minister to Washington and made an acting member of the Wai Wu Pu, or board of foreign affairs. Numerous officials have been cashiered because of their denunciation by Yuan Shi Kai, who is fortifying his position before the arrival here of Chang Chin Tung.

Hop Prices Are Fixed

North Yakima, Sept. 9.—The prevailing price for hops here is 7 cents now and several contracts have been made at that price. Quite a number of the Ahtanum hop yards will not be picked this year, but the Tampico yards will all be harvested. Local hop men put the number of yards which will not be picked at 25 per cent in the Yakima valley.

NOT TO BE ABANDONED

Government Denies Reported Intention In Land Fraud Cases.

Washington, Sept. 7.— "There is absolutely no truth in the statement that the government will not further prosecute the Oregon land fraud cases," said Acting Attorney General Russell, when shown a dispatch from Portland quoting a story recently printed in that city.

"Land fraud trials will be resumed at an early date, I cannot say just when, but before very long, and they will be pushed to a definite conclusion.

"The delay thus far has been due to several causes. Mr. Heney, who conducted the past trials was more familiar with the pending cases than any other official and at the time he went to San Francisco he expected to return to Portland and personally handle most of the remaining fraud cases. His work at San Francisco has been so extensive as to make it impossible for him personally to take up the land trials in Oregon. Naturally some delay was occasioned in acquainting other officials with the facts. Then, too, towards the close of the fiscal year there was a shortage of funds. The new appropriation became available July 1, and, so far as I am aware, there is no particular reason why the Oregon trials should not proceed.

"There is absolutely no truth in the statement that there is friction between Mr. Heney and the department of justice," concluded Mr. Russell.

TELEGRAPH COMPANIES TO HAVE COMPETITOR

Chicago, Sept. 9.—The American Union Telegraph Company, which promises to become a strong competitor of the Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies in the telergaph business of the country, will open offices in Chicago in two weeks, according to L. K. Davis, president of the Rock Island Construction Company. The capital stock of the new company will be $5,000,000. It will be incorporated under the laws of Maine or New Jersey, but the headquarters of the company will be in Chicago.

"The president and secretary treasurer will be Chicagoans, and both are prominent and reliable men," said Davis.

"We have secured options on the wires of four telephone companies and 100,000 miles of telephone wires are available for use now in the East, West and a large portion of the South.

"We propose to construct, equip and operate standard telegraph lines throughout the United States, also to lease and otherwise acquire local and through telephone wires and use them for the transmission of our telegraph business, and when necessary we will construct new lines along the public highways and over the rights of way of local and through electric railways.

"By the use of our proposed new instruments we will be able to transmit telegraphic messages over local and through telephone wires without interrupting or in any way interfering with the telephone service, thereby greatly increasing the earning capacity of the local and general telegraph companies and reducing the cost of operation and maintenance.

"We expect to put in a rate of one cent a word. With this rate in effect we could make a splendid showing for our company. Every business man knows that he would send fifteen or twenty words instead of ten if it could be done at one cent per word, and the cost to the telegraph company in sending five or ten extra words in the same message would be exceedingly slight, while the benefit to the general public would be a great consideration."

NINE KNOWN DEAD IN SHELTON HOTEL FIRE

Olympia, Sept. 7.—Nine persons are dead, as many more missing or unaccounted for and more than a score injured as a result of the fire at Shelton which destroyed Hotel Webb and annex, together with a residence and saloon adjoining early Thursday morning. Besides those listed among the dead, missing or injured it is believed that still others may have perished whose presence in the hotel was not known.

The Webb was a large three story frame building of tinder-like construction and the eighty-five guests in the hotel were shut off from escape by the stairs almost before they had been alarmed. Most of those injured and some of those who lost their lives did so jumping from the third story to the ground below.

The fire burned with great swiftness cutting off the avenues of escape from the doomed lodgers. The seriously injured now is placed at ten, and only one is thought to be fatally hurt.

Following is a revised list of the dead:

Miss Ida M. Bailey W. H. Holmes, Leo Rabbideaux P F. Larson, Mrs. Gay, D. J. Hennessy, W. J. Westphal, Mrs. Westphal.

A coroner's inbuest will be held.

Turns Against Senator Borah

Boise, Idaho. Sept. 7.—It has developed that William Sweet, one of the men indicted along with Senator Borah, former Attorney General Frank Martin and others, has turned state's evidence on a promise of immunity, and it is on his testimony that the government relies largely in the timber land fraud cases. Friends of Borah claim Sweet's confession is untrue and was secured through a promise of immunity and threats. The trial is set for September 23.

SOLVE CONTREVERSY

VANCOUVER RIOTS MAY FURTHER EXCLUSION TREATY.

If Japan Enters Into Agreement With Great Britain for Exclusion United States Will Get the Same Rights--Negotiations Are Now Pending.

Washington, Sept. 11.—That a stringent exclusion treaty between America and Japan is measurably nearer realization than the most optimistic administration official could have believed forty-eight hours ago, is the judgment of the members of the diplomatic corps.

This long-sought object is expected to be attained perhaps as an indirect result of the mobbing of the Japanese at Vancouver, in British Columbia, last Saturday night. Officials here deplore what they view as an unfortunate and unwarranted infraction of the treaty rights of the Japanese, but they do not fail to perceive at once the important bearing that this incident will probably have upon the negotiations between the state department and the Japanese ambassador, looking to the drafting of a treaty that shall limit the incoming of Japanese coolies instead of allowing the subject to be dealt with in the present loose fashion by what amounts to semi-official undertakings on the part of the Japanese government to withhold passports to coolies coming directly to the United States.

Cannot Discriminate

The belief that a treaty is now within sight is based on the conviction of officials that the Japanese government will now be brought face to face with the fact that as it cannot discriminate between Great Britain and America in the matter of demands for fair treatment for its subjects, and must by this time be convinced that the problem presented is really a radical one, the only solution will lie in the formal recognition by Japan of the right to restrict coolie immigration, not only in America, but in British Columbia, Australia and the other British colonies. To take any other view, it is pointed out here, would be a breach of the alliance with England, of which the Japanese have been so proud and which they regard as so necessary to the development of their ambitious schemes for the exploitation of the East.

Though the British government may and doubtless will apologize for the Vancouver affair and even pay an indemnity, a repetition of the incident is believed to be almost certain, unless the British government yields to the demands of the British Columbians in the matter of restricting Japanese immigration. As a matter of fact, negotiations are already on foot between the British and the Japanese governments to regulate the influx of coolie labor into the British colonies.

The Vancouver incident will hasten these negotiations to a conclusion, and if Japan enters into treaty relations of that kind with Great Britain it cannot refuse to do so with America, so that there is, after all, prospect that Secretary Root and Ambassador Aoki will soon again be in conference on this subject.

COURT SAYS RAILROAD HASN'T ANY CASE

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 11.—In the hearing before Judge Lochren in the United States district court yesterday E. S. Robert, attorney for the Northern Pacific Railway Company, asked for leave to file an amended petition in the fight of the railroads against the two-cent fare and reduced freight rates enacted by the Minnesota legislature. He had admitted that the states had a right to regulate intrastate transportation, but argued that in a matter involving transportation beyond the confines of the state, the state had no authority.

Judge Lochren heard Mr. Robert through and then informed him he had no case.

This blow to the attorneys for the railroads resulted in a conference and a change of tactics. The request to file an amended petition was granted. The amended petition alleges confiscation. This had been pleaded in regard to passenger rates, but now the same is alleged in regard to commodity rates.

Secretary Taft's Vacation

Despite the fact that Secretary Taft was on a vacation when I saw him, it was not all play and no work for him at Murray bay. He had a private secretary up there with him, and used to give him plenty of work during a portion of every morning and afternoon, and frequently way into the night. Taft received telegrams and mail from Washintgon and Oyster Bay on every boat, and they invariably received his immediate attention. Every day he received a letter from the president, concerning some important matter regarding the Panama canal, Poto Rico, the Philippines or war department business proper. Never has a secretary of war been given more duties outside the sphere of his department than has Secretary Taft. He has a wonderful capacity for absorbing work, and the president keeps giving him more and more, but he has never yet reached Taft's administrative "dew point."—National Magazine for September.

NATIVES TERRIFIED

Aleutian Island Volcano Covers Towms With Ashes.

Seattle, Sept. 11.—Inhabitants of the Aleutian Islands, Alaska, were thrown into a frenzy of excitement September 1 by volcanic eruptions, terrific electric storms and seismic disturbances. So frightened were the natives that they were unable to tell which volcano near Dutch Harbor was in eruption. Word of the eruption was brought by the steamship Victoria, which reached port Monday.

When ashes and dust fell upon the inhabitants of Dutch Harbor, both Indians and whites fled in terror. The first intimation of an eruption came on the afternoon of September 1. There was slight quivering of the earth, accompanied by deep rumblings. A black pall approached rapidly from the south. Soon dust began to fall upon the houses and by 5 o'clock the city was in darkness.

The United States revenue cutter Rush, lying close to Mt. Makushin, was flooded with ashes, and it became necessary to turn on electric lights.

Those aboard the revenue cutter were almost suffocated by sulphurous fumes. hTe inhabitants of villages around Dutch Harbor were preparing to desert their homes when the ashes ceased falling.

TAFT PUTS IN SOME STRENUOUS DAYS

Seattle, Sept. 10.—Secretary Taft and party arrived in Seattle from Tacoma Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock on Chester Thorne's private yacht El Primero. Previous to his arrival thousands of spectators gathered at the entrauce to the pier and lines were maintained by a force of police.

Congressman Frank Cushman and Chester Thorne were with the party on the yacht. As the secretary stepped on the pier he was greeted by the reception committee, which included United States Senators Piles and Ankeny, Congressman W. E. Humphrey, ex-Senator John L. Wilson, Mayor William H. Moore, President J. E. Chilberg and Director General I. A. Nadeau, of the Alaska-Yukon exposition Mrs. Taft was received by Mrs. John L. Wilson and taken directly to her residence.

Talks on Philippines

Secretary Taft and the committee were driven in automobiles to the Grand Opera house, where the secretary delivered an address under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association. The address included an account of the settlement of the friar lands problem in the Philippine islands and of the negotiations conducted directly with the pope and details of how the final settlement avoided many delicate questions of diplomacy.

The secretary was then taken to the Rainier club, where he informally met the members. He was then taken to the residence of ex-Senator Wilson, whose guests Secretary Taft and his wife will be during their stay in Seattle.

The secretary made another address in the Grand opera house Monday afternoon, in which he urged equal justice for capital and labor.

A dinner was given at the University club in the evening and this was followed by a reception given by the Yale alumni at the same club. At a later hour the Ohio society, the Taft club and the Seattle Athletic club tendered him a reception at the Athletic club. Today he inspected the Lake Washington canal and tomorrow he will go to Grays Harbor. On Wednesday evening the party will return to Seattle. The steamer Minnesota, on which he will sail for Manila, is scheduled to leave Thursday at 11 a. m.

BIG WARSHIPS TO DOCK AT BREMERTON

Washington, Sept. 9—Assistant Secretary of the Navy Newberry has issued orders assigning ships at all regular stations to the various yards in the United States and Manila for periodical docking for repairs. The order provides that all big ships on the Pacific shall go to Bremerton yard, while the smaller vessels shall go to Mare Island. The vessels that will go to the Bremerton yard are the Oregon, Nebraska, Wisconsin, Charleston, Chicago, Albany, New Orleans, Boston, Wheeling, Princeton, Rowan and the Goldsboro.

In addition to these the California, South Dakota, New Orleans and San Francisco will repair at the Puget Sound yard. It is expected also that the Maryland, Pennsylvatnia, West Virginia and Colorado will go to the Puget Sound yard for considerable repairs on their arrival on the Cosat.

The department in making these assignments apparently recognized the fact that the large ships would have difficulty in geeeting up to Mare Island, and indications are that the Bremerton yard will have all the work of repairing the large ships on the Pacific station.

Standard Hearing Set for September 17

New York, Sept. 7.—Another postponement of the taking of testimony against the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey and affiliated concerns has been ordered by former Judge Franklin Ferries, of St. Louis, acting as referee. The hearing is now scheduled for September 17 and it is said there will be no further delay.

It is also expected that an additional referee will be appointed to expe dite the taking of testimony.

TO STUDY NEEDS

NAVAL SECRETARY VISITS PUGET SOUND YARD.

Enough Work in Sight, He Says, to Keep Yard Busy With Full Force for Two Years---Will Make Recommendations to Congress.

Seattle, Sept. 7.—Secretary of the Navy Metcalf last night told Admiral Burwell that he has enough work contemplated on government vessels to keep the Puget Sound navy yard working a full force of men for two years. He praised the yard highly.

He declined to discuss the rejection of the bid of McLellan & Co. for the new dock at the navy yard in any manner

Today the secretary will confer with Senator Piles and Congressman Humphrey at the navy yard.

Secretary Metcalf came north to inspect the navy yard at Bremerton and report recommendations for appropriations that will make it a first class yard, able to care for any number of vessels of war that may be sent here for repairs.

This was the explanation of his mission, made yesterday at Bremerton He had not visited the yard and deferred more detailed statsements until after his official inspection today. But on the chief object of his trip to Seattle, instead of taking a direct route from San Francisco to Washington, he was emphatic.

"My mission is to make a personal visit to the yard, discover its needs and report recommendations for appropriations that will make it a first class navy yard in every respect. We are sending war vessels into these waters. The yard must be prepared to care for them."

In Seattle Fifteen Minutes

Mr. Metcalf was in Seattle exactly fifteen minutes yesterday afternoon, and then went to Bremerton. For more than an hour after he had flitted through the city it was not definitely known that he had come to Seattle at all.

The secretary and Mrs. Metcalf stepped off the Northern Pacific train from Portland at 4:15 yesterday afternoon, and a quarter of an hour later were on board boat for Bremerton. Except for a couple of newspaper men no one had recognized the secretary of the navy, and he left Seattle as unostentatiously as he came. Secretary Metcalf took his lack of welcome good naturedly. "I didn't send any telegrams to Senator Piles or Admiral Burwell because I wished to come in without being noticed," he said. "I am still on my vacation and want to avoid publicity as much as possible."

Though avoiding publicity, he was willing to talk on several subjects. The coming of the fleet around the Horn to Pacific waters, and his views on the immigration question were subjects to which he gave considerable attention. On the other hand, when asked about naval construction and immediate improvements at the navy yard, including the question of the McLellan dry dock contract, he was uncommunicative, declining to discuss such matters.

Scouts Idea of War

War with Japan he scouts as a bogie set up by sensation mongers "In San Francisco I met Mr. Kikujiro Ishii, who is now in Seattle," he said. "I met other prominent Japanese. They have no idea of war with us and we none with them. The feeling in San Francisco is very much less bitter than it has been.

"Simply because we send our own fleet around the Horn up into our own waters, should that be regarded as a menace to Japan, veiled or otherwise? It certainly should not. Our navy needs such training trips, and the move was contemplated long before the recent agaitation in San Francisco set some people talking foolishly."

LA FOLLETTE WILL BE AN OPEN CANDIDATE

Milwaukee, Sept. 11.—Senator La Follette has decided to announce his candidacy for the Republican nomination for the presidency. He will address a statement to the voters next week, setting forth his claims before the Republican national convention.

Mr. La Follette returned here a few days ago, convinced that the people are thoroughly aroused that radical tendencies will govern in the national campaign next year, and that his chances of securing the nomination are second to none.

Immediately on arriving he called a conference of trusted lieutenants and apprised them of his determination. The utmost enthusiasm was shown and active work will begin at once to obtain a solid delegation from Wisconsin and Minnesota and other states throughout the West and Northwest.

Telegraphers to Keep Contracts

Chicago, Sept. 9.—Telegraph operators working under contracts with brokerage firms and newspapers will continue at work. This decision was reached at a meeting of operators to discuss a petition which had been circulated asking that the local executive board call out all union operators, regardless of contracts or agreements signed at the beginning of the strike.

WOMEN AND FASHION

The Woman Worker.

Women, instead of saying, "A man can do it, so why not I?" should choose rather some work that he should not be doing, and by her excellence wrest such employment from ill-suited hands—for we have to face the shame that the making of gowns, the trimming of dainty hats and other pre-eminently feminine work is too frequently performed by members of the other sex, and this while their sisters become gardeners, motor-drivers, and what not.

That a woman is a conscientious worker is everywhere admitted, but her great fault is that she rarely aims at, and consequently seldom reaches, perfection.

Generally, she has in the background the thought that her work is but temporary, since she will presently marry; or else she falls into the fatal error of supposing that being a woman "allowances" will be made for her shortcomings. They will not. Her work, like his, must stand or fall on its own merits.

In Being Photographed.

"There is a tremendous amount of ignorance on the subject of colors. Very frequently a woman wears a gown of a certain color, yellow, for instance, expecting it to take light when it takes dark, and is consequently disappointed in the result," says a photographer in the New York Sun. "White is always effective and takes beautifully, especially for dark background effects. But light blue, pink or cream are preferable even to white, for the reason that while they take light there is more detail and more character in the picture.

"If possible, soft, clinging effects are to be preferred to any material that presents a stiff appearance, and starchy effects should be tabooed entirely.

"Nowadays nearly every photographer has on hand lengths of soft, clinging material for drapery purposes when his subjects present themselves with some absolutely impossible frocks and when he can effect the substitution without hurting their feelings."

Woman To-day.

Women have more self-control than their great-grandmothers had. I fancy I hear some champion declare apropos of my statement that they cry less over novels and at the theaters than they used to do. Well, perhaps that is so. Perhaps with more self-control has come less sentiment. It may be ever so much easier to the present generation to stay the ready tear, because the tear is not so ready as it used to be, and therefore much more easy to stay. But all the same, the lack of sentiment evinced by the daughters of this generation is not a pleasant sign of the times.

Slip to Wear Under Princess Gowns.

To wear a princess frock of sheer material it is necessary to have a well-fitting slip, with the underbodice and skirt cut in one to gain the proper effect. The sketch shows a combination corset-cover and skirt made of nainsook, trimmed with lace. The garment fastens down the back with tiny pearl buttons.

Style of Hair Counts.

A fashion writer says that it is not the woman but her hair that counts, and declares that she has seen the most unpromising homely woman completely transformed by means of a stylish or becoming manner of wearing the hair. It should always be kept in the best possible condition, and should be shampooed at least once in three weeks, although many women are required to give the hair this cleansing treatment much oftener.

College Vs. Matrimony.

Dr. Stanley Hall has again repeated his assertion made some time ago that the tendency of a college education is to cause fewer women to marry. His statistics are taken from Smith, Wellesley and Vassar colleges, the facts having been secured from the secretaries of the classes. The report showed that ten years after graduation one-half of the women were unmarried and that twenty-five years after three-quarters of the men from the principal colleges were unmarried. The individual colleges did not object to the respective reports, and Dr. Hall contends the facts must be true.

ABOUT THE BABY

It would be absurd to advise not to let the baby's grandmothers and aunts hold and play with it, and I do not believe in such sweeping extremes. But I do say positively that they should hold him very little and that their loving baby talk to him should be low and quiet, so as not to excite. Instead of taking the baby in their arms, persuade them to let him stay on the bed and play with him there.

The child is so much more comfortable braced with some pillows, the little feet left full to kick, than when he is being held tight in arms. He does not quickly become tired in this way, and when fatigue does come it is a muscular, healthy one and not that of the nerves, caused somewhat by the nervous condition of the one who has been holding him.

All conversation before a baby, even when playing with him, should be quiet, and there should be no noises, for small children are very susceptible to loud sounds, and the start of some at the sudden banging of a door or an unexpected noise is pathetic, because of the nervous condition it indicates, says Mrs. Hood, in the New York Evening Telegram. When a baby shows by this that it is of nervous disposition the mother should make every effort to keep it quiet, and by that I mean to keep excitement from it. The effort should be to soothe, that the infant may not develop a highly-strung child.

Marriage a Failure.

He did all the courting before marriage.

He never talked over his affairs with his wife.

He thought of his wife only as a cheap housekeeper.

He never dreamed that a wife deserved praise or compliments.

He thought his wife had a very easy time.

He married an ideal, and was disappointed to find it had flaws.

He paid no attention to his personal appearance after marriage.

He treated his wife as he would not have dared to treat another woman.—Home Chat.

What They Each Require.

Girls of Indiana formed a society called the Young Ladies' Protective Association, in which they declare for men who have bank accounts of $2,000 at least and life insurance to that amount. The men have since organized the Men's Precaution Club, in which they want to know what they are to get for their $2,000 in the way of good housekeepers. A wife requiring this amount must not object to smoking any place in the house, must be a good cook and must not care for cats.

To Freshen Flowers.

It always seems so distressing to see beautiful cut flowers wither and fade, and to revive flowers that are not actually dead try my plan. Cut a tiny piece from each stem and place the stems in a large glass, or, even better, jar of cold water; then submerge the jar in a bucket of cold water, allowing the entire bunch to be almost covered. Put all in a dark place, cover with a newspaper to exclude the air; let them remain thus overnight; in the morning they will be as fresh as new, even to the glistening "dew drops."

Roses and carnations respond better than other flowers treated in this manner, but so far I have not found any way to freshen violets satisfactorily.

It might not be amiss to add that wilted green vegetables, such as spinach, lettuce and celery, are to be freshened by the same means, and may be kept for days, changing the water every morning, of course. However, we all know that the fresher all vegetables the better they are.

Fragrance Is Fashionable.

There are fashions in perfumes as much as in anything else, and just now jessamine is said to be very much used. The wise woman will invent a perfume of her own, mixing scents with orris root until she gets what she likes, and then she will keep it, no matter what the fashion may be. But young girls who have not yet decided must pass through a period when they are trying them all, with very evident results, which no doubt accounts for the very insistent state of perfume in which some of them seem to abide.

COLLECTION OF MODISH SUNSHADES.

The up-to-date sunshades are a mass of hand embroidery, whether they be of linen or silk. The two on the left of the cu tare white linen embroidered in self tone; those on the left are white silk embroidered in delicat shades and the one on top has a black lace center over white silk with plain black silk border.

DAME FASHIONS DECREES

Natural-colored suede gloves are the rage in Paris and have quite superseded black and white for all occasions.

A new notion is the brightening of the dark tailored coat with collar and cuffs of gay Scotch plaid. These sets are to be had ready-made, prettily shaped and finished.

The new plaids and stripes allow of much originality in the making up. Very curious and beautiful effects are gained by tucking to eliminate or bring out the pattern of the material.

For everyday wear there is a tendency to return to the little English walking hat of soft felt, simply trimmed with folds of ribbon around the long, narrow crown, and stiff wings or a rosette on one side holding up the rim.

Very charming things are done with black ribbon velvet in the way of suspender or peasant straps, or "harnesses," as they are popularly called. Jet or enameled buttons are effectively used on these, as are also rhinestone buckles.

Many of the light fabrics for evening, such as voile, crepe and grenadine in pale yellows, pinks and white, have either a satin crepe or narrow satin check over them. Such gowns need very little trimming except perhaps some good lace.

Both pique and duck are to constitute the smart little coat and skirt suits, suitable for informal occasions and braiding in fine soutache is the newest ornamentation. An occasional inserting of a heavy lace, such as Irish crochet and crochet lace buttons, contributes toward the general effect.

On the Sofa.

"You are a brick," he did aver,
And drew her to his side.
"I am a pressed brick, as it were,"
The witty girl replied.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 13, 1907

Mayor Appleton's resignation will be presented to the council next Tuesday night. As his successor, E. E. Seevers is being favorably mentioned everywhere on the street. Were the city a hundred times as large, no better man could be found among all its citizens for the position.

The fire in the Hotel Webb at Shelton, which destroyed a dozen lives and injured as many more, demonstrates how perfectly unsafe the great majority of buildings used for hotel purposes are. Such an occurrence ought to cause the City Councils of towns of the third class to pass just as strict fire-saving clauses and providing opportunities to escape from hotels as are provided in cities of the first class.

The first load of lumber for the life saving station at Wahdah island has just been sent out to the cape on the freighter Rapid Transit— nearly two years after the Valencia wreck, which started the agitation for adequate aids to navigation off the coast. Speaking of the dilatory action of Federal authorities, the Railway and Marine News says, "A Seattle firm has secured a contract for erecting a life-saving station on Wahdah island and before many weeks will have the building in readiness for the crew and lifeboat. Unfortunately the station house will be of no use without the boat and equipment. With its usual dispatch the government should have the lifeboat and power surf boat at the station by the winter of 1908."

Beverages, the official paper of the National Liquor League of America, in discussing prohibition in Georgia, says: "The result in Georgia presents no pleasant outlook for any section of the business. That state in its judgment has treated all alike and no false notion that beer is a temperance beverage and should be allowed to hold on has been entertained or brought forward. We dislike to acknowledge it, but we really believe the entire business all over has overstayed its opportunity to protect itself against the onward march of prohibition, which in some sections of the country is advancing like a prairie fire with not a hand raised to stop its progress.

"Five years ago the united industry might have kept back the situation that now confronts it, but today it is too late."

Recent experiments by A. E. Todd, St. Charles street, would appear to warrant the belief that private enterprise has solved the knotty problem of successful treatment of the street to abate the dust nuisance. Mr. Todd, at his own expense, undertook to follow out the plan adopted in some parts of California and the old country, and importing a score of barrels of California oil from Seattle, treated about 200 yards of the roadway leading to his residence on St. Charles street. The oil was sprinkled upon the road by means of watering cans, the experiment costing about $100. Only a slight sprinkling of oil was applied to the roadway, but no matter how dry the weather might be, the dust no longer accumulated, nor did traffic cut up the street so as to scatter the dust. Changes in the weather appear to have no effect upon the treatment.

The cost to Mr. Todd was a great deal higher than would be the case if the city were to undertake the experiment. The city would by tank steamer bring any quantity of oil here, store it at a convenient point and from there spread it over the streets by means of sprinklers.—Victoria Colonist.

A NEW LINE OF MONOPOLY

WATER POWERS ARE NOW RECEIVING ATTENTION

Far Sighted Capitalists Are Securing All Available Water Power Sites to Hold as an Investment.

Not many years ago the public owned vast areas of land and timber, but considered them of such little value that it gave them away to far-seeing men for nothing. Not many years ago the public owned the use of streets of the cities but considered it of little value and gave it away in form of free franchises. These gifts have become immensely valuable and been capitalized at immense sums by their possessors. The public already is rueing the day that it gave them up. It will rue more and more and more as the years go on.

The public still owns an immensely valuable property in the water powers of numerous streams. It is as lavish in giving these away as it was in bestowing the land, the timber and the street franchises. Men are grabbing water franchises all over Oregon and Washington. And the franchises once seized are forever perpetual.

In long lapse of time the grabbed and stolen land may work back into the hands of the people at large. The timber syndicates, after stripping the land of forests, may sell it to settlers. The five wagon-road companies and the three railroad companies that secured free grants of land in Oregon may release their ill-gotten gains after a long period of time. Therefore the clutch of the landgrabbers may sometime end.

But not the clutch of the water-grabbers. Their hold will last as long as the streams shall follow their courses. Water for power and irrigation, drained from the people's ocean clouds and mountain snows, will be theirs forever. And the people will not be able to oust them. The Spokane Chronicle says pertinently:

While the Forestry Department of the Government is worrying itself and the rest of the people over the destruction of the timber and while the reclamation service is trying to bring water to barren sections of land, would it not be a good plan to keep a watch on the grabbing of all the avilable water power sites thruout the country?

Electric power, generated by the waterfalls of the Northwest, is becoming one of the commercial features of the Northwest. Quietly the big concerns have been gathering in the sites. They have been buying them in much the same way as the big lumber companies did the timber lands.

It is not probable that the Government desires to give the forests to the common people and the water power to the monopolies.

Unappropriated waters should be declared the possession of the state. The Oregon Legislature refused to enact a bill to this end last winter. That bill or one for the same purpose should be taken before the people under the initiative and enacted. Here is a real use for the initiative. That method of legislation was intended to save the people from neglect or abuse of their interests by the Legislature. This is an ideal method by which to employ it.

In the case of attempted assault upon a little 7-year old girl, brought in King county against William Marsh, well known here, the jury, on Saturday, disagreed and was discharged. The witnesses in behalf of the defendant from this city, Messrs. Grubb, Christopherson, Tyrrell and Hawkes are certain there was a mistake in the arrest of Mareh. When the arresting officers allege they saw defendant in the act in one of Seattle's parks, he was known and proved to have been in Clallam county, and it is thought the case will now be dismissed.

The Ministerial Federation of Seattle is formulating a campaign against the restricted district of that city. Many cities have purged themselves of this evil and in a city where the Sunday closing law can be and is enforced, such a step is neither impossible nor impracticable.

CAPT. P. F. RITCHIE IS CALLED HOME

Capt. P. F. Ritchie died at his home on East Front street, this city, Sept. 10, 1907; he was in his 79th year. In 1854 he was married to Margaret Kidd, who passed away at their home in Angeles about two years ago, the couple having lived together 51 years. From this union there are six living children: Jas. Ritchie and Mrs. W. H. Jarrat of Seattle, C. R. Ritchie, a physician, Velva, N. D., Mrs. P. A. Rockwell of St. Paul, Mrs. Jno. P. Collins and Miss Zella Ritchie of this city.

He spent his earlier years on the Mississippi River, where he owned and operated several large steamers. After disposing of his interests there he came to Angeles, in 1899, and became interested in the manufacture of shingles. He retired from active life a few years ago, and devoted himself to a quiet home life, being particularly comforted in his declining years by his two daughters, Mrs. Collins and Miss Zella.

His demise was that of declining old age; death came as a peaceful sleep, he having suffered no pain to speak of, barring the inconvenience of a cataract on both eyes. He was taken to Seattle for treatment and was getting along nicely until about a month ago, when he came home; he soon began to fail, growing each day weaker until his death.

The funeral will take place from the family residence on E. Front St. at 1 p. m. Saturday. All friends of family are invited.

JAMES BELL PRONOUNCED INSANE

A rather startling call was received by Sheriff Cosser Monday night, summoning him to Seguin immediately. It was alleged that James Bell and wife had both gone crazy over family troubles, and that their lives and those of their five children were in danger. Arriving at the scene everything was reported quiet and well in hand and it was decided to await daylight before attempting to bring them to town. Arriving here Tuesday afternoon it was decided that the parties were simply exhausted, and Mr. Bell was returned to the care of Dr. Hart at the hospital, while Mrs. Bell was taken in charge by one of her husband's sisters who resides here.

Mr. Bell was brought before the court on Thursday and ordered committed to the asylum at Steilacom.

SCHOOLS OPEN MONDAY FOR FIRST SEMESTER

School begins next Monday, Sept. 16th. On that date the public schools of Port Angeles will re-open and the 1907-8 term will commence.

The enrollment this year, it is anticipated, will be somewhat in excess of that of last year. Angeles is growing, and the enrollment of her public schools is sure to increase year by year.

There will be several changes in the corps of instructors. All come with the best of recommendations, all are said to be proficient in their chosen work, and it will be no fault of theirs if the coming term is not one of the most successful in the history of the school. The teachers bespeak the hearty good-will, co-operation and support of parents and friends of the school.

Following is a list of the teachers engaged for the year:

Prof. Thos. Geisness, Farmington, Minn.
Prof. I. L. Ullery, city.
Helen K. Vaupell, Seattle.
Florence Post, Pocatello, Idaho.

MAYOR APPLETON JOINS OUR SEATTLE COLONY

Dr. T. J. Appleton, Sr., has accepted a partnership proposition with Dr. Stillson of Seattle and left for that city Wednesday evening. As Dr. Stillson is known thruout the west as one of the leading eye and ear specialists on the coast, Dr. Appleton is rightly jubilant over the opportunity thus afforded for extensive practice along his favorite lines. Not only that, but his selection by Dr. Stillson as an associate is, in itself, the best testimonial of worth that one physician could give another.

While the people of Angeles, to whom the genial doctor has endeared himself by his kindly ways and ever ready assistance and sympathy in time of trouble — an association extending over a period of ten years—will one and all learn of his departure with feelings of regret, they can but wish him God-speed.

Dr. T. J. Appleton, Jr., will continue the practice of the firm and management of the Appleton Hospital as heretofore.

FIRST FALL OF THE BEAUTIFUL

Mountain climbing, from present appearances, is at an end this season. The heavy mantle of snow that fell on the summit of Mt. Angeles Wednesday would seen to preclude anything in that line just at present. The rain that fell on the lower elevations came quietly and did a world of good in putting out forest fires and reviving parched meadows and pastures. At Seattle they had the heaviest rainfall, within a given time,—half an inch in sixteen minutes—in the history of the city. Thirteen street car lines were shut down for a time.

HARRY VAN'S TEDDY BEARS ARE GREAT

Musical Comedy Company of Bright Young Ladies is Drawing Good Houses Every Night at Parlor Theater.

Harry A. Van's attraction for the week at the Parlor Theater, the Clifford Musical Comedy Co., has been playing to good audiences—more than half of those in attendance having been ladies — and giving the best of satisfaction. Master Wayne Winscott, the 11-year old comedian, pleases everyone with his drollery and keeps the house in a ripple of laughter. He is ably assisted by Mrs. Clifford in his sketch, "The American Beauty," which is interspersed with rollicking songs and dances by the chorus of girls, the latter being frequently encored.

Prof. Jas. Minchin, Musical Director, has just come to this coast direct from New York, where he was with Harry Von Tilzer, the noted composer of beautiful songs.

Harry's judgment on film-quality is well known from his former visit here, but he seems to have done even better this season. His "Teddy Bears" presents the granny's story of Silverlocks—the little bowl of porridge, little bed, etc.—to perfection, and introduces a row of Teddies who put on the tumbling acts of the old-time one-ring circus so cleverly that the house rings with laughter. The pursuit of Silverlocks thru the snow-covered timber land is most realistic, particularly so when pursued and pursuers slide down hill, ploughing thru the fresh snow; the timely meeting with a sportsman saves the little girl, one almost hearing the reports of his gun as the old bears are bowled over and the smoke-cloud clears away. This film alone would draw a full house of happy children were it put on as a Saturday matinee. Changes of films each week and complete change of program every Monday for the week.

Mrs. Clifford's company, which is just off the Sullivan & Considine circuit, was recently burned out at Chehalis, and it is owing to their desire for a few weeks' semi-rest while preparing new wardrobes, that Mr. Van was able to secure them on terms within reach of the business here. They were joined yesterday, for a visit, by Mrs. Clifford's sisters known as the Clifford Sister Team, and their trick dog; they are just off the Keith & Procter circuit. This gives Mr. Van a company of eight people, in addition to Prof. Minchin, all being artists in their respective lines.

Sunday night, in addition to the regular program, there will be a contest by amatuers with prizes for the three receiving the heartiest applause.

Dr. W. S. Biglow and daughter, of Philipsburg, Pa., arrived Wednesday for a few days visit with Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Harvey, and their son and brother, William Biglow, who has been with a survey gang in this county for about a year. Mr. B. and daughter are touring the coast and are very enthusiastic over the scenery and climate.

Two divorce cases, from among the Neah Bay Indians, were heard Wednesday before Judge Still. Arthur Howato vs. Blossom Howato, and Parry Ides, by his father Jack Ides, vs. Seella Ides. A decree by default was granted in the first instance, but the latter case being contested was ordered continued and plaintiff was adjudged to pay defendant $75 to enable her to defend the action.

Plows! Plows! Plows! For your Plows see H. Gutenberg & Co.'s. Hdw. & Fur. Store. they sell the Oliver Plows, the J. I. Case Plows, and the Canton Plows. If you are in need of a good plow come in and we will cheerfully quote you the lowest prices on them.

An Ounce of Prevention

Is worth a pound of cure. There are many poor sufferers, Consumptives who are hopeless of getting well — who, if they had taken care of themselves, would now be well. A cough is the foundation of consumption. Ballard's Horehound Syrup will cure that cough. Mrs. S., Great Falls, Montana, writes: "I have used Ballard's Horehound Syrup in my family for years— my children never suffer with coughs.

THINGS BY THE WAY

WHAT THE PEOPLE DEMAND.

By Gov. Chas. E. Hughes.

GOV. C. E. HUGHES.

Ours is not and was not intended to be a pure democracy. It is impracticable that the people should administer the government directly. They govern through representatives.

For their protection they have by direct legislation created constitutions fettering the power of their representatives and establishing safeguards by which they are secure in their personal liberty and in the results of their thrift.

We note with satisfaction the increasing sense of responsibility to the people on the part of those who represent them.

Efforts to dominate legislation for selfish purposes and attempts through the form of popular election to place in office those who in the guise of executing public trusts serve private interests, are less successful than heretofore. The people have become intolerant of such traitorous representation. And it is entirely within their power to put a stop to it altogether.

Political leaders who have performed the function of clearing-houses for legislation, and who while posing as party workers have served under a retainer of special interests, careless alike of party principles or public justice, are passing from the stage. The people demand leadership, and parties need effective organization to advance their principles.

But the time is rapidly passing when any one can long maintain a position of wide political influence who is under suspicion of maintaining a double allegiance.

GREATEST DISCOVERIES STILL TO COME.

By Justice David Brewer.

Some years ago Lord Kelvin, that master mind of British science, remarked to my uncle, the late Henry Field—I cannot quote his exact words, but the substance of them was this: "Great as have been the discoveries of the past fifty years, those that are coming will make the next half century as far ahead of the last as it was in advance of the previous period. We are on the brink of discoveries greater than have been dreamed of, and of highest importance to mankind."

I can see the forerunners of some of the marvels that are in store for us. What a weird thing is wireless telegraphy, sending our messages mysteriously over the sea! The airship seems to be a practical possibility of the near future. The telegraph and the telephone already have enabled us to accomplish a valuable saving of time. Think what it means, this one thing of saving time in our human existence. It gives us more opportunity to think, to study, to work, to accumulate wealth, to carry on trade and commerce, and more time also to devote to helping others and promoting peace and happiness in the world.

The merchant of the past was confined principally to his isolated community. The merchant of the future may deal with the whole world, reaching out into every country, buying, selling, trading in faraway lands, carrying on enormous transactions that could not be undertaken but for the inventions of science that save his time at home and bring the other side of the world instantaneously to his door.

We have millionaires to-day and billionaires to-morrow. Perhaps we shall have trillionaires next. Let us have them if their wealth is used for increasing the welfare and the happiness of humanity. I do not view with alarm the accumulation of wealth, because I believe that the spirit of humanity and the sense of responsibility is growing among us.

YOUNG MAN'S SALARY NOT MAIN THING.

By John A. Howland.

Thousands of young men are starting out in life with the salary magnet the only attraction to them. "A job" that shall pay sufficiently to meet his small necessities and pay for as many of the small luxuries of the time as the young man feels more and more are parcel of his necessities becomes at once the young man's objective aim.

I have a business acquaintance who started in life as a clerk in a general store in a small town. He could have had more money in another store whose specialty was shoddy goods of all kinds. He decided to stay by the better man at the smaller salary, with the result that to-day in his own business, aggregating millions annually, he says that some of the basic principles of his house were found in the methods of that country store where he first sold goods for an honest man.

With the young man at the outset this question of salary seems all important. To the extent that it shall not humble his pride to have to accept so little, this salary has distinct bearing. But as between $1 and $2 on the salary roll, many a young man who in the beginning lived well on half as much finds himself in debt with twice the money in his pay envelope. He discovers suddenly that a salary of whatever size is subject to new perspectives.

Considering the young man venturing into business as an individual, training for business, he is fortunate if he shall have some level headed counselor who may help him see the full stature of Opportunity in sharp and lasting contrast to the petty salary of a day.

WORK FOR THE EDUCATED WOMAN.

By Ambassador James Bryce.

JAMES BRYCE.

There are two fields of work which the average educated citizen of the male sex does not find time to enter, but into which women have more time to enter. One is the cultivation of a thorough knowledge and a fine taste in literature—the habit of reading that which is not ephemeral, the habit of study, the acquisition of a critical faculty which discovers and enjoys what is of permanent literary value.

The other field includes the study of economic and social phenomena—how to mitigate the contrasts of wealth and poverty; how to adjust more fairly the burden of taxation; how to deal with intemperance, with unhealthy dwellings, with discharged criminals, with vagrants, with neglected children—how in various ways to help those who need help.

All these questions have a double side. They need to be studied in their principles as a part of economic science. They need even more to be studied in practice by getting into actual touch with the evils inherent in the growth of dense centers of population.

And if the antagonism of rich and poor which exists in many parts of Europe is to be averted from American cities, it must be by keeping the richer people in close personal touch with the life of the poor.

ENGLISH AS SHE IS SPOKE.

Danger of Using Slang in Business Intercourse with Foreigners.

Illustrations of the disadvantages of cultivating local vernacular and slang in one's own language are sometimes brought sharply home to business men, as was the case in a letter received the other day by a New York firm from one of their own correspondents in the far east, which read in part as follows, says Shipping Illustrated:

"Will you kindly send us a modern dictionary of American language, as we are unable to understand some of the phrases in your letter. Writing on the —th ultimo, you say, for instance: 'Do not let Messrs. —— hand you a lemon in this deal. If they try it on pitch one for fair right over the plate to Mr. ——, and if he foozles cable —— for a solar plexus.' The terms used are foreign to us and we entirely fail to comprehend their significance."

Another incident similarly illustrative occurred on board a big liner in New York a short time ago when a representative of Shipping Illustrated was conversing with one of the officers:

"Have you been often in New York?" asked the visitor.

"No. This is my first trip," was the reply.

"You have been running to other English-speaking ports then. You speak very good English," suggested the visitor.

"No. This is the first English-speaking place to which I ever came."

"May I ask where you learned English?"

"In school at Sebastopol. We had a good professor and I understand you very well, but many of the people here with whom I speak I cannot understand, so that I have supposed the American language is different. I am told by some of the other officers who do not speak English, but who speak French or German, that people here who speak those English languages speak the same as at home, but English here seems too large a language. One cannot understand the words. People say things and laugh and I am puzzled, but do not comprehend."

The moral of such incidents is obvious. If business men are to take advantage of the fact that English is now more widely spoken abroad than any other language, they must be at pains not to becloud their meanings by the use, especially in correspondence, of slang phrases which have merely local significance.

CORNISH TREASURE FOUND.

Buried Gold Found by Farmer Claimed by the Duchy.

Mr. De Castro Glubo, coroner, held an inquest at Liskeard guildhall yesterday on thirty-one gold coins, found buried in Trebraze farm yard near the town. The coroner stated that no similar inquiry had been held in Cornwall for at least one hundred years.

If the jury found that the coins were treasure trove, he said, they would be claimed by the Duchy of Cornwall, who, no doubt, would deal generously with the finder, as was the practice of the crown. James Croker Govett, son of the owner of the farm, described how he found the coins while cleaning the farm yard.

His mother's family, he said, had owned the farm for years, and he produced a document dated July 13, 1745, relating to the finding of 55½ guineas in the floor of the barn by John Croker and Dorothy, his wife. Mr. Volk, jeweler of Liskeard, said many of the coins were rare. Eight were Portuguese milreis, dated 1652 to 1725. The remainder were English, the most ancient being three gold units, or 20 shilling pieces, of James I. and Charles I., while the rest were guinea pieces dating from 1680 to 1725.

The jury, of which the mayor (Alderman Bone) was foreman, found that the coins were treasure trove, and the coroner handed them to the finder. Subsequently they were claimed by Alexander Webster, steward of the Duchy of Cornwall, and the matter will be laid before the next meeting of the duchy.—London Standard.

The Chameleon Goshawk.

I know no bird which passes through so many changes of plumage and color of eyes as the goshawk. A young one which I have mounted is about the size of a small hen and is covered with white down. His eyes are pale blue. I colored the eyes exactly from life. When fully grown, the first plumage is dark brown above and the eyes are pale yellow. No one would be likely to suspect this being a goshawk who had seen only adult birds. Later it changes to the dark slaty blue of the adult, and the eye, after passing through all the intermediate changes in color from straw yellow, orange yellow and pink, finally assumes the deep rich red of the adult. I know no other hawk, adds Manly Hardy, writing in Forest and Stream, so handsome as the goshawk.

BIGGEST SAWMILL IN COUNTRY.

Will Have a Capacity of About 225,000 Feet a Day.

Two million dollars will be expended by the Weyerhaeuser timber syndicate near the town of Orofino in northern Idaho, 100 miles east of Spokane, in installing what is designed to be the largest sawmill in the United States, says the New York World. The mill site will be one mile square and the plant will have an output of from 200,000 to 250,000 feet a day. This with the plant at Potlatch, Idaho, will give the company capacity for from 350,000 to 400,000 feet daily.

The plan involves the construction of two lines of logging roads to connect with the Northern Pacific Railway. One of these will be eight miles in length, the other being forty-five miles, and they will tap a stand of 3,000,000,000 feet of pine timber at the confluence of Whisky and Orofino creeks, affording also connection with the Clearwater river. The long reservoir is to be above Granite canyon, on the north fork of the Clearwater, which will be dammed to flood 300 acres of land.

The syndicate also owns thousands of acres of fine timber lands in the mountains north of Orofino and its agents are buying every holding offered for sale at anywhere near a reasonable figure.

There is a movement on foot to further protect the forests by State and Federal legislation, which, if successful, will be the means of withdrawing thousands of acres of land and further bar the invasion by timbermen.

Whatever the outcome will be, one thing is certain. Frederick Weyerhaeuser of St. Paul, who has already chopped a fortune of $1,000,000,000 out of the forests of the Northwest, with his associates is planning to increase it by devastating large areas of timber lands and the establishment of mills in various parts of the Spokane district, in which employment will be given to thousands of men.

Did Not Have Mirrors.

Old Roman and Etruscan tombs, under the picks and shovels of musty archæologists, are giving up secrets these days of living interest to modern women, with the result of binding the woman of to-day by a closer link of living interest with her dead sisters of the Cæsarian days, says the New York Press. What woman of this century will not read with sympathetic interest that thimbles and safety pins and hairpins have been dug from the old tombs? The Smithsonian Institution at Washington recently has acquired a most interesting collection of these feminine implements of the early Roman woman's toilet. For their hair the Roman women used a straight bronze pin, with a large spherical head. The ancient thimble was topless, but so are many of those used to-day. Fine-tooth ivory combs for the hair have been taken from an Etruscan tomb, while bodkins have been found in large numbers. The ancient woman of fashion would have envied her modern sister her French glass mirror, however, for in those days the best substitute was a bit of highly polished bronze.

A LITTLE LESSON IN ADVERSITY.

Chester Alan Arthur was attending Union College when he learned that the family funds would not permit of his completing his course there. Arthur at once sought for a means by which he could help himself. A position of teaching in a district school was the only one available, and although the work was hard and the recompense small, it would prove sufficient to enable him to continue his college career. How he managed both his teaching and his study is remarkable. But he finished college with his class and with honor.

CHESTER A. ARTHUR

He desired to take up the study of law, but was again confronted with the question of the lack of means. He took a class of boys, whom he tutored in preparation for their collegiate work. At the same time he worked at his law books, studying eagerly. Soon afterward he accepted the principalship of an academy at North Pownal, Vermont, but his intentions of taking up law as a profession did not waver. He was at last admitted to the bar, and soon afterward went to New York to take up the practice.

Alone and unknown, it was a hard struggle for the young lawyer. But his earlier lessons of immediate work for the sake of an end stood him in good stead in these trying times, and he came at last to the recognition by the public of the powers he knew to be in himself.

TOBACCO AS A DISINFECTANT.

The Smoke, Containing Formaldehyde, Is Able to Kill Microbes.

Although there is a general impression that tobacco smoke is a germicide, this property has not been assigned hitherto to any one particular constituent of the smoke. The author of a note on the subject in the Lancet gives reasons for believing that among other germicidal constituents the smoke contains formaldehyde. He says:

"The composition of tobacco smoke is, of course, complex, but everybody knows that tarry oils are a principal constituent, and certainly many oils are powerfully antiseptic. Nicotine, again, is a strong disinfectant, but the quantity of this poison in tobacco smoke is minute, if, indeed, it is present at all. At least in a number of chemical analyses of tobacco smoke made at different times it was difficult to declare with absolute certainty that nicotine was an important constituent. The oily matter which accumulates in a tobacco pipe is decidedly poisonous, but it does not contain any appreciable quantity of nicotine, the chief constituent being the very poisonous pyridin.

"Tobacco smoke contains a decided quantity of the very poisonous gas carbon monoxide which has been used for preserving purposes and which therefore must possess germicidal properties. Some simple experiments which we have recently made would seem to confirm the observation that one of the principal constituents accounting for the germicidal properties of tobacco smoke is the powerful antiseptic formaldehyde. The amount present is more than just appreciable, for if water through which a few puffs of tobacco have been passed is tested for formaldehyde the result is strikingly positive.

"The quantity of formaldehyde in tobacco smoke would appear to depend on the quality and kind of tobacco smoked. Thus the cigar appears to yield more formaldehyde than the pipe, and the pipe more than the cigarette. Possibly the peculiarly irritating property of the smoke issuing from the glowing end of a cigarette or cigar or from the bowl of a pipe is due to formaldehyde. It has more than once been stated that tobacco smokers enjoy an immunity from certain diseases, and the frequent presence of a powerful antiseptic in the mouth, nasal passages and sometimes the lungs (as in the case of those who foolishly inhale tobacco smoke) would to some extent justify the statement. When it is considered that in the nose a vast number of microbes are hourly deposited it is conceivable that these may be effectively destroyed by the frequent passage of tobacco smoke through that organ. In the same way the organisms exposed to tobacco smoke in the mouth would succumb.

"Formaldehyde is one of the most powerful disinfectants we possess, one part in 10,000 parts of water serving to destroy all microbes, while such a dilute solution has practically no poisonous action on the human organism. All the same, it is most undesirable that this fact should stimulate the practice of smoking tobacco to absurd excess, for tobacco poisoning is a greater rarity than many persons think, and to employ tobacco in abusive quantities for the sake of destroying microbes might amount possibly to killing the seeds of one disease only to counteract another."

What if the sky be dark and drear—
Storm and sorrow near us.
Better to smile than sigh, my dear
For time stays not to hear us.

Comes the song.

According to the latest returns from the Chinese census, the empire has a population of fully four hundred million persons; enough, certainly, to have considerable influence on the future of the world if they all become enlightened. A Substitute for Radium.

A cable dispatch from Paris says that a student of the Rochefort School of Pharmacy has discovered a new radio-active substance, possessing all the properties of radium, but which costs only $3.50 per gram to produce, instead of $600, which is the cost of radium. The student credited with this important discovery is named Andre Lancieh, and is only 21 years old. He calls the new substance molybdate. The process is described as follows: When ammonia molybdate is brought to act upon nitrate of uranium a precipitate is formed, and in complete darkness a white amphorous powder is obtained from this precipitate. After thirty hours the white powder takes on a yellowish-gold color. It is insoluble in nitric acid and forms a powerful radio-active agent, having absolutely the same action as radium.

Lessons in Motherhood.

At the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, New York City, a school has just been opened by Mr. Rockefeller's direction to teach mothers how to care for their young. Twenty experienced nurses are to be hired to explain the subject to poor and ignorant mothers. The Pittsburg board of health reports that 50 per cent of the babies born in that city die before reaching the age of 1 year, and mainly due to the ignorance of their mothers.

Up to April 1 of this year the total cost of American intervention in Cuba had been $2,969,395. The total cost up to the first day of July has not yet been computed, but is estimated by Secretary Taft at $3,330,569. The cost of the army and navy services required in the initial stages of the occupation amounted to $2,012,632, or considerably more than half of all that has thus far been spent. It has been the intention of our government to ask Cuba to repay all our expenditures. Indeed, the total which our books show to be due us is much less than it would have been had it not been possible to assess many of the costs on the Cuban treasury direct. The question is an uncertain one, however, as to how far it will be possible for Cuba to pay off these military expenditures out of its ordinary revenue, and the ultimate payment may be considered, therefore, in part as still an open question. Whatever Cuba must pay will probably have been amply reimbursed to her by the prosperity which has come with peace under American control. There is remarkably little complaint heard from the island because of the continuance of American rule, and what there is comes solely from certain political leaders who are not gaining the fruits of their trouble-making dispositions. If even they are comparatively quiet it is no doubt because they are given to understand by the majority of the Cubans themselves that their peculiar form of patriotism is the worst possible thing for Cuba. If it should prove that enough of the Cubans have got a good grasp of the importance of preserving order in the government so that when the American oversight is removed they can continue to move forward on the lines of the model set them, Cuba cannot only afford to repay all that we have spent but she will have the certainty that she will reap a thousandfold in returns.

CONTAGIOUS BLOOD POISON

NO LIMIT TO ITS POWERS FOR EVIL

Contagious Blood Poison has brought more suffering, misery and humiliation into the world than all other diseases combined; there is hardly any limit to its powers for evil. It is the blackest and vilest of all disorders, wrecking the lives of those unfortunate enough to contract it and often being transmitted to innocent offspring, a blighting legacy of suffering and shame. So highly contagious is the trouble that innocent persons may contract it by using the same table ware, toilet articles or clothing of one in whose blood the treacherous virus has taken root. Not only is it a powerful poison but a very deceptive one. Only those who have learned by bitter experience know by the little sore or ulcer, which usually makes its appearance first, of the suffering which is to follow. It comes in the form of ulcerated mouth and throat, unsightly copper colored spots, swollen glands in the groin, falling hair, offensive sores and ulcers on the body, and in severe cases the finger nails drop off, the bones become diseased, the nervous system is shattered and the sufferer becomes an object of pity to his fellow man. Especially is the treacherous nature of Contagious Blood Poison, shown when the infected person endeavors to combat the poison with mercury and potash. These minerals will drive away all outward symptoms of the troubles for a while, and the victim is deceived into the belief that he is cured. When, however, the treatment is left off he finds that the poison has only been driven deeper into the blood and the disease reappears, and usually in worse form because these strong minerals have not only failed to remove the virus from the blood but have weakened the entire system because of their destructive action. S. S. S. is she only real and certain cure for Contagious Blood Poison. It is made of a combination of healing blood-purifying roots, herbs and barks, the best in Nature's great laboratory of forest and field. We offer a reward of $1.000 for proof that S. S. S. contains a particle of mineral in any form. S. S. WRITES OF HER HOME IN ALASKA

Former Angeles Girl a Leading and Regular Contributor to Alaskan Magazine

The Alaska Yukon Magazine for September is a special Gastineau Channel number. Mrs. Alice Henson Christoe, daughter of John Henson, formerly well known in Angeles, contributes an article—"Chiefly Historical"—on Alaska's great channel, on the shores of which are located the thriving cities of Juneau, Douglas and Treadwell. The current number also contains a poem from the versatile pen of Mrs. Christoe (under the non de plume of Margaret North) entitled, "Gastineau." Mrs. Christoe is a magazine writer of much ability and her Angeles friends will be pleased to learn of her success in a literary way.

John Henson also contributes an article for this magazine—"Douglas"—the "most peaceful, home-like town in all this 'Emerald land, this land of sun mists and land of the sea.'"

In an article on "Douglas Men of Affairs," it is said of Mr. Henson that "No one is more interested in the welfare of Douglas than the subject of this sketch. Ever since the town incorporated he has served as city clerk and presents a good example of the conservative, yet progressive citizen."

A Day in Douglas.

The tired day troops wearily to rest,
No gleam of gold relieves the sombre west.
The gray, gray clouds look down upon a listless earth—
A day for gloom and sadness, not for mirth. —Margaret North.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys and a cure is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

protect his company and prevent their being forced off the run by rate cutting. He asked that the business men ascertain what portion of their business each would contract, say for six months or a year, in the interest of a better boat service. For the purpose of handling shingles, the company would run down their car ferry, thus saving the expense of reloading and loss thru breakage of bunches. Thru cars of household goods, eastern freight, hay from east of the mountains, etc., could be delivered here in this way.

There is no doubt whatever but that Port Angeles has outgrown the present boat service. The passenger rates are far greater than to any other like-distant point. The travel is heavy, particularly in the summer, and could easily be doubled, even at the price, if we had a better and more prompt service. But the present line is swamped with the heavy freight traffic and the steamer schedules are very unsatisfactory. The service to Victoria, eighteen miles across the straits — well, one can go from Chicago to New York in less time. The Monticello could easily make the run in the afternoon.

Not only that, but it is highly probable, the gentlemen say, that it would pay to run a car ferry between this city and Victoria, thus making this a terminal point for the Canadian Pacific, enabling shingles to be loaded in cars here for shipment to Minnesota and the Middle West, and thru freight from the manufacturing centers to be shipped via that road. A scheme that possesses great possibilities and would result in an enormous saving to the shingle industry.

At the meeting of the committee, held this afternoon, C. W. Fields of the Olympic-Leader was selected as secretary and instructed to ascertain just what each merchant and shipper would contract to do for the betterment of business conditions and the general advancement of the city's interests. Manager Skinner thought the steamer could be profitably run on an average of fifty tons each way, together with the passenger list. Judging by the amount already promised, it will be an easy matter to exceed this. If it can be made sufficiently large, the Blakely people will put on a larger boat. The Monticello can be gotten ready for the run in about a month.

THE VALLEY.

Nels Nelson has completed the half-mile of road extending west from the Bay.

The Milwaukee surveyors are still camped at Clallam.

Mr. Kemper bought 20 head of sheep of Nels Nelson and brought them to the Bay to supply mutton to R. R. surveyors and residents.

Mr. Wickersham has been engaged to teach a nine months school here, and will move his family down from his ranch in a few days to take up the work.

John Leyh has gone to the Soleduck hot springs to take treatment for sciatic rheumatism. He was improving at last report.

A Lazy Liver

May be only a tired liver, or a starved liver. It would be a stupid as well as savage thing to beat a weary or starved man because he lagged in his work. So in treating the lagging, torpid liver it is a great mistake to lash it with strong drastic drugs. A torpid liver is but an indication of an ill-nourished, enfeebled body whose organs are weary with over work. Start with the stomach and allied organs of digestion and nutrition. Put them in working order and see how quickly your liver will become active. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has made many marvelous cures of "liver trouble" by its wonderful control of the organs of digestion and nutrition. It restores the normal activity of the stomach, increases the secretions of the blood-making glands, cleanses the system from poisonous accumulations, and so relieves the liver of the burdens imposed upon it by the defection of other organs.

If you have bitter or bad taste in the morning, poor or variable appetite, coated tongue, foul breath, constipated or irregular bowels, feel weak, easily tired, despondent, frequent headaches, pain or distress in "small of back," gnawing or distressed feeling in stomach, perhaps nausea, bitter or sour "risings" in throat after eating, and kindred symptoms of weak stomach and torpid liver, no medicine will relieve you more promptly or cure you more permanently than Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Perhaps only a part of the above symptoms will be present at one time and yet point to torpid liver or biliousness and weak stomach. Avoid all hot bread and biscuits, griddle cakes and other indigestible food and take the "Golden Medical Discovery" regularly and stick to its use until you are vigorous and strong.

The "Discovery" is non-secret, non-alcoholic, is a glyceric extract of native medicinal roots with a full list of its ingredients printed on each bottle-wrapper and attested under oath. Its ingredients are endorsed and extolled by the most eminent medical writers of the age and are recommended to cure the diseases for which it is advised.

Don't accept a substitute of unknown composition for this non-secret MEDICINE OF KNOWN COMPOSITION.
