P. S. N. CO. WILL ADVERTISE SOUND

ASK SUPPORT FOR THEIR SCHEME

Has Endorsement of Business Men of Every Town So Far Visited by Representatives.

The Puget Sound Navigation Company, through its recently organized Bureau of Publicity and Promotion, proposes to thoroughly advertise the Puget Sound Country during the A.-Y.-P. exposition.

It is the policy of this company to co-operate with the cities on its line in the upbuilding of commerce, and now that the exposition period begins so shortly and the opportunity is afforded for stimulating travel by boat to Sound points, the Navigation Company proposes to keep alive this community of interest by co-operating with the commercial bodies of the cities reached by their boats in making the advantages for sightseeing and prospective home-making known to Exposition visitors through the medium of the most exhaustive and comprehensive hand book of the Puget Sound country ever published—a plethora of information concerning what has aptly been termed, "the Mediterranean of the Pacific.

The time is propitious now, in advance of the exposition period; while Eastern people are gathered about the fireside, to contribute toward their education facts, regarding the Puget Sound Country, known to residents on its shores but yet to be revealed to even well read people at a distance, many of whom intend visiting this section of the country next summer.

It is proposed that the book shall be a complete guide to the Exposition and to Puget Sound, and will deal with the State of Washington as a whole, treating of its resources and possibilities for the home-seeker and investor. Also a descriptive article of Seattle and of the Exposition grounds. But the chief object of this valuable edition is to advertise Puget Sound Country and its cities. The only article on the Puget Sound Country, as a whole, that has ever done justice to this, the greatest of inland seas, will be a feature. This article presents statistical, historical and descriptive matter never before published, and is well calculated to beget a desire upon the part of the Eastern people to visit its many points of interest during their sojourn here next summer.

The proposition was placed before the business men of Angeles Thursday evening, 10th inst., at a meeting in the Commercial Club rooms, when Ira P. Rowley, manager of the Publicity Dep't of the P. S. N. Co., and C. W. Olsen of the Coast Exploitation Co-, explained the character of the work and the scheme for distribution. The Coast Exploitation Co. has charge of the distribution of the State Year, or Booster, Book and attends to all correspondence from Eastern parties for the Secretary of State, thus giving it exceptional advantages in the way of getting every copy of the new advertising booklet in the hands of prospective visitors. The Navigation Co. contributes $10,000 towards the expense, and each of the Sound towns is asked to evidence its good will by its support to an extent commeasurate with its importance. The business men present endorsed the plan, as have those of every town where it has been presented.

Improvements in East End.

The spirit of improvement, for a better and greater Port Angles, has also reached the south-east part of town. Within the past few weeks Homer Filion has built over his house and otherwise so improved his residence property as to completely and effectually change and greatly beautify its appearance.

D. E. McKee has recently enclosed what will be a comfortable home, on his lots in the same vicinity. The house rests upon a fine cement foundation overlooking lower Port Angeles and the Bay.

C. W. Fields is remodeling his small cottage home that has done duty so long into a more stately and modern building—28x36, two stories, with broad gallery across the front and along either side of the house.

FOOT BALL GAME SATURDAY, 19TH

Townsend High School Boys Will Be Here for Return Game. Big Crowd of Rooters Expected.

A return game of foot ball will be played at Angeles Ball Park Saturday, Dec. 19th, at 2:00 p. m. Angeles High School vs. Townsend High School. Our boys are anticipating a good time and a close game. The people should turn out and encourage them. Admission 25c.

The Call says that the Port Townsend team will leave that "city at 6 o'clock Saturday morning, remaining in Port Angeles over night, and returning here Sunday afternoon. From present indication considerable of a delegation of rooters will accompany the team."

The Townsend boys were badly worsted in a game with the Flagler team a week ago, and some of the boys received severe bruises "which considerably dampened their athletic ardor," says the Call. "However, they are now in fair shape to play another game, and considering the showing they made against Angeles on Thanksgiving Day, should again take the boys of the Straits City into camp."

SAILED INTO PORT AFTER TERRIFIC EXPERIENCE

The German four-mast bark Magdalene sailed into Port Angeles bay Sunday evening, safe after an experience unprecedented in the history of the North Pacific shipping.

For three days the big vessel beat about the entrance of the Strait of Fuca, between Cape Flattery and this city. Through maneuvers that frequently carried the ship so close to the forbidding shores of the Vancouver island coast made piling up on the rocks seem certain, the vessel was unsighted either from land or a fleet of towboats constantly on watch for her.

From the time the bark reached a speaking distance with Cape Flattery on Thursday evening, she was beset with winter gales, driven by winds of terrific velocity. Friday night a speed of fifty-five miles an hour was recorded. In spite of the difficulties of handling the vessel under such weather conditions, even though ample sea room offered, the dangers of a menancing lee shore were constantly present.

The Magdalene will load wheat at Tacoma. She is a big ship, being 315 feet in length and of 2,686 tons.

ALL WAS QUIET AT ANGELES

That Port Angeles is much more exempt from storms during the fall and winter months, owing to the close proximity of the Olympics, than other towns on the Strait, was exemplified again last Tuesday when the Perdita, on her regular daily trip from Seattle, could not land at either Townsend or Dungeness, owing to the heavy winds prevailing. At Angeles it was calm and serene, with no wind blowing. An ideal May day for the Middle West.

At Port Townsend the custom house suffered some damage from the wind, by having several window lights broken. Careless workmen had left part of their scaffolding and the broken windows were the natural result.

Purchased Sequim Sawmill.

L. J. Leonard purchased the land and sawmill building of the Sequim Manufacturing and Lighting company at Sheriff's sale last Saturday. He has since paid certain liens against the property, and has filed transfer of right of redemption, and is arranging for the purchase of the machinery held on conditional sale by the machinery people, thus coming into practical ownership of the entire mill property. It is Mr. Leonard's intention to operate the mill as soon as he can get matters satisfactorily adjusted.

THE NATIONAL APPLE SHOW

ONE CAR NETTED NEAR $10,000

One of the Greatest Educators to the People of the East that Could Be Devised.

The National apple show, held at Spokane last week, was the greatest of its kind ever held in the world. Representatives from horticultural societies and fruit growers from all parts of the country, and from several European countries, were present and were charmed and impressed by the thought and with the fact that Washington is now producing on a commercial scale the largest, the finest and the brightest colored apples that are grown anywhere, in any country, and the industry is only in the beginning. The product will be greater next year than this year and greater every year thereafter for several years to come.

Wenatchee valley won first prize. Mr. Horan, the winner, will have $10,000 as the result of his exhibit. Besides receiving large cash prizes, many of his apples sold at $10.00 per box, and his car netted him close to $10,000. Washington apples drew nearly every one of the large prizes.

J. L. Jones, a fruit grower and stock raiser of Tennessee, and representing the state horticultural society, said he came 3,000 miles to see the kind and size of fruit the Washington people raised. He was in the state last year and took back a specimen apple, which, when first shown, was declared to be of wax. "My neighbor," said he, "although he had grown apples for years did not believe it possible for one to produce fruit of such color and size."

"This apple show is one of the greatest educators to the people of the East that could be devised. The information of the way fruit is raised here that has so far reached our country has done our people much good, and when I get back I will be expected to make a report of what I have seen."

Wm. Crossley of Liverpool, England, representing D. Crossley & Sons of Liverpool, Glasgow, New York and Boston, attended the apple show. He said:

"I am here representing our firm, to find where the best apples are grown and to meet the people who grow them. Tuesday I bought seven car loads of northwestern apples for shipment to New York and Europe, and I am still looking for growers with car load shipments to sell.

"A short time ago we shipped to Liverpool a lot of Winter Bananas, some of which reached the tables of King Edward, and were of splendid size and appearance. The Winter Bananas measured two and one-half times the size of the New England Baldwins, which had been customarily going to the royal table. We have bought small lots of several varieties grown in the northwest for European shipment, with a view to introducing better varieties there. Yellow Newtons are in much favor in England.

Chas. George has commenced the erection of a residence on his property, corner Laurel and Eighth streets. This is a sightly location for a home, and the surroundings are pleasant. There is a fine bearing orchard and a commodious and well appointed work-shop on the premises.

A. Greason has about enclosed what evidently will make a modern and fine new home on his double lots on north side of Eighth steeet, near Laurel. This, with the George building around the corner, will add two more fine new homes erected on Sunrise hill this season.

E. E. Fisher has an elegant line of the famous imported Renbrandt China ware, all odd pieces, for Christmas gifts. The handsomest thing for the purpose you can buy.

I notice that when I sell a bottle they come back for more. I can honestly recommend it." W. J. Mathewson Drug Store.

RAILROADS CUT OUT MANY TERMINAL POINTS ON COAST

Seattle, Dec. 16.—Twenty-three towns in Washington and Oregon will be denied terminal rates after the first of the new year, according to the new transcontinental tariffs which have just arrived. Among the largest cities on the coast denied terminal rates by thet ranscontinental roads are those on Grays Harbor. Shippers in Aberdeen, Hoquiam and other towns on Grays harbor are already protesting against the withdrawal of the rates

According to the new tariffs the thirty-seven points in Washington and Oregon which will enjoy terminal rates are: Anacortes, Ballard, Bellingham, South Bellingham, Blaine, Dupont, Edmonds, Everett, Kendall, Lowell, Olympia, Richmond Beach, Seattle, Vancouver, Wrenn, all in Washington; Albina, Ash, Astoria, Bona, Brunn, Dorenbechers, East Portland, Fulton, Jones, Linnton, Meagly Junction, Montavilla, North Portland, Oliver, Portland, St. Johns, Stockdale, Thorsen, Zlipha, Zimmerman, all in Oregon.

One of the features of the new tariffs that Manager Mears of the transportation bureau believes will be felt most by Northwest jobbers is the removal of the class rates below fifth from points east of Chicago. Mr. Mears states that a large percentage of the groceries and machinery handled in Seattle will be affected by this change in the tariffs.

All freight that at present comes below fifth class, originating in the New England states or along the Atlantic seaboard, or in the Middle Eastern states, after the first of the year, if shipped by rail, will bear a local to Chicago, from which a through rate to the coast is made.

JUSTICE FULLERTON SAYS GOVERNOR TAKES NO OATH

Olympia, Dec. 15—Washington laws contain no provision for a governor-elect qualifying, according to statements made by Mark A. Fullerton, associate justice of the state supreme court. Judge Fullerton visited the offices of the secretary of state and governnor in a vain effort to discover if any governor had filed a written oath or bond. The judge asserted that he had searched the state laws and had nowhere found any legal provision requiring a governor to take an oath or do any specific act to qualify for office.

Pressed for a further expression of opinion, Judge Fullerton declined to discuss the matter for the stated reason that the question might later come before the supreme court for determination.

Seattle Dec. 14.—In all probability four of the eight submarines authorized at the last session of congress will be built by the Moran Company, of Seattle.

Paterson, vice president and general manager of the Moran Company, indicates that it is more than likely that the entire four awarded for construction on the Pacific coast will be turned out at the local yards.

The announcement means that the Moran Company will be engaged on this contract for at least a year and a half, and that over $1,000,000 will be spent by the government in Seattle.

WATERWAY BONDS

ROOSEVELT AND TAFT PUT THEMSELVES ON RECORD.

President-Elect Presides at Joint Conservation Meeting----Governor Chamberlain of Oregon Advocates Federal Jurisdiction and Is Roundly Applauded.

President Roosevelt and Pesident-Elecrt Taft have publicly put themselves on record in advocacy of the issuance of government bonds for the construction of permanent public improvements to conserve the natural resources of the nation. President-Elect Taft presided at the joint conservation meeting at the Belasco theater in Washington. President Roosevelt made the principal address. He gave his unqualified approval of the carrying out of expert plans for the conservation of the nation's resources. The coming president seconded Mr. Roosevelt's assertions with heatry accord.

Gov. Chamberlain, of Oregon, voiced what seemed the advanced ground of the Democratic party in advocacy of the federal jurisdiction, and the audience, which filled the theater, and which included Andrew Carnegie, John Mitchell, senators, congressmen and the governors of several states, applauded every sentiment expressed.

President Roosevelt spoke in part as follows:

Taking Stock of Resources

"The prudent business man regularly takes account of stock, so that he may know just where he stands; but nations have been slow to profit by the wise example. The United States is substantially the first nation to inventory its stock on hand, and it has only begun to do so in any definite way within the last few months.

"Our natural resources are so related that the use of one affects the use of all the others. This is especially true of our waterways. Every man, woman and child within our borders has an interest in them, through navigation, power, irrigation or water supply, or through all four. We have neglected our waterways more than any other natural resource and we must put an end to that neglect. The inland waterways commission has told us how.

"First, let us prepare a comprehensive plan for inland waterway development along the lines pointed out by the commission. Such a plan must consider every use of the waters. It must put the interests of all the people in advance of any private interests whatsoever. The preparation of this comprehensive plan should begin at once.

Proceed With Construction

"Second, let us proceed immediately with the waterways for which plans have already been approved, and which we are now certain will fit into the outlines of the general plan. Our previous policy of procrastination, delay, and fitful and partial action, has borne its perfect fruit. Our waterways are deserted, and in return for our vast expenditures we have little or no actual navigation to show. The people are ready for a change. Let us have it, and at once. If we can pay the cost from current revenues let us do so. If not, let us issue bonds. By either method let us have the waterways, and that qucikly. The plan and the work can and should proceed together. While the work we are sure of is being begun, the plan for the rest can be prepared.

"Forests and waterways cannot be separated in any successful treatment of either. Forest protection and river development must go hand in hand. The three things that should be done without any further delay are therefore: First, to provide for a comprehensive plan of waterway development. Second, to begin at once on work already planned that will surely fit into the larger plan. Third, to provide amply for forest protection against fire, against reckless cutting, against wanton or reckless destruction of all kinds, and to secure the Appalachian and White mountain national forests without delay.''

The joint meeting brought together the members of the conservation commission and their helpers, the delegates to the great Southern commercial congress, the members of the rivers and harbors congress and others interested in working out a comprehensive plan for making the most of the lands, minerals, forests and waters that belong to the public domain of the United States.

RIVERS AND HARBOR CONGRESS URGES ISSUE OF BONDS

Washington, Dec. 12.—Sentiments in favor of a government bond issue for a comprehensive improvement of the rivers, harbors and canals of the country, to the end that this nation shall have the greatest system of water ways in the world, gained headway at the opening session of the annual meeting of the rivers and harbors congress here.

The scheme contemplates $500,000,000 worth of federal bonds for internal water courses, to be distributed over a ten year period, or $50,000,000 annually. President Roosevelt and President-Elect Taft, before the joint conservation meeting, have advocated the issuance of government bonds for constructing permanent public improvements.

RUEF FOUND GUILTY

SAN FRANCISCO POLITICAL BOSS IS CONVICTED BY JURY,

Trial Was in Progress More Than a Hundred Days---Jury Out 24 Hours---Sentence Delayed to Allow Argument on Motion for Arrest of Judgment.

San Francisco, Dec. 11.—Abraham Ruef, former political boss of San Francisco, has been convicted of bribery. The verdict was rendered exactly upon the stroke of four o'clock, when the deliberations of the jury had been prolonged thoughout a preriod of 24 hours. The warnings of Judge William P. Lawlor and the vigilance of the police checked all attempted demonstrations, although the excitement in the court room was intense.

The trial, had been in progress 106 days.

SENTENCE DELAYED PENDING ARGUMENT OF MOTIONS

San Fancrisco, Dec. 12.—Abraham Ruef, convicted last Thursday of offering a bribe, was today granted a delay of one week before receiving sentence, the case being continued until next Saturday, December 19, with the assent of the district attorney's office.

Thomas B. Dozier, of the defense, based his motion for a week's respite on the ground that sufficient time had not been given the defense to prepare the motions and arguments in arrest of judgment and for a new trial. The inability of Henry Ach, Ruef's chief counsel, to appear in court, was assigned as a futher reason.

An order of postponement was made in two other cases against Ruef before the brief session adjourned.

GREAT NORTHERN FREIGHT TRAINS RUN TO TACOMA

Tacoma, Dec. 12.—According to Louis W. Hill Great Northern freight traffic to Tacoma will formally commence Monday morning. This is the first time a denfiite date has been set by Great Northern officials for the opening of traffic of their system into this city, and the news has caused joy among Tacoma business men.

For the present the service will be only a freight business, three freights running into and out of Tacoma daily. But the passenger service is assured. Mr. Hill has also announced that contracts for the building of Great Northern freight terminals here would be let this week andc onstruction rushed.

Up to the present Tacoma business men shipping over the Great Northern have had to pay the differential from Tacoma to Seatle. The advent of the freight service into the city wipes out this differential, giving Tacoma the same freight rate to and from all points reached by the Great Northern and its connections as Seattle enjoys.

Mr. Hill aslo stated he would at once extend the present through freight business now obtaining from Vancouver, B. C., to Seattle, south to Portland.

OIL EARNINGS AIRED

Testimony Shows Profits of Standard Reached 115 Per Cent.

New York, Dec. 8.—Figures showingsome of the profits of the Standard Oil Company yesterday became part of the court record in the federal siut to dissolve the Standard, when John D. Archbold resumed the stand for a brief examination, and Henry Tilford, president of the Standard Oil Company of California, testified at some length as a witness for the defense

The government inquisitor on figures submitted showed that the Continental Company, a Standard subsidiary in the Middle West, made profits of 115 per cent on its capitaliaztion of $300,000, and that the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, on a capitaliaztion of $1,000,000, earned about $55,000,000 between 1899 and 1906. Counsel for the company declared the actual assets of the company were greater than the capitaliaztion, as the companies had turned back large sums from earnings.

Counsel for the government sought to prove by Mr. Tilford that in California and other Western states the Standard had made contracts with competitors whereby it obtained all the oil supply.

Referring to oil trade rate cutting in Colorado and elsewhere, Mr. Tilford said the Standard never cut pries to undersell its competitors, but lowered rates to meet the reductions of its rivals.

To Annex Cosmopolis to Aberdeen

Aberdeen, Dec. 16.—Petitions favoring the annexation of Cosmsopolis to Aberdeen are in circulation in this city and in Cosmopolis. It is understood that more than half of the taxpayers and voters of Cosmopolis have signed the petition. Cosmopolis has a population of about 1,200 and is connected with Aberdeen by trolley line.

Willis to Succeed Hobart

Washington, Dec. 12.—The nomination of John R. Willis, of Juneau, to be collector of customs for the district of Alaska, has been sent to the senate. Mr. Willis will on January 1 succeed Clarence Hobart, who resigned the collectorship in order to enter private business in Seattle.

URGE RICH MEN TO SELL FARMS ON EASY TERMS

Washington, Dec. 12.—The recent opening of some government land to settlers developed the fact that there are thousands of city dwellers looking for an opportunity to take up government land—or to buy, if they can get land within their reach—because they wish to forsake the cities and become producers. As there is not government land enough for all, but as there are millions of acres of fine agricultural land for sale, it is suggested that an enterprise to place these lands within the reach of the class mentioned would form the basis of a practical working philanthropy.

It would build up a very desirable farming class in some regions now but sparsely settled, while it would also relieve the congestion of great cities. It is urged that if a syndicate of rich men of benevolent tendencies would secure and place on sale at terms which would enable worthy young men of the unemployed class to buy small tracts on a time basis and go to farming immediately, they would be doing an excellent thing for the country at large, as well as assisting individuals.

Many who have a natural bent for agricuture have not the capital to purchase a farm, stock it and support themseves and families during the non-producing time, and never will have such capital until too late in life for them to begin, unless some such system is adopted. Many such young men have something saved, and if they were offered farms on easy installments, woudl bend every energy toward paying up the balance. Many good tracts of land are for sale at prices far below their actual agricultural value, but they are not available to many who would prize them on account of the large cash payment that is required.

LOGGED LAND INQUIRY DESIRED BY DEPARTMENT

Washington, Dec. 12.—The agricultural department will ask congress for a direct appropriation for continuing investigation into economical methods of clearing logged-off lands in the West. This is a new project with the department, and was first brought to its attention a year ago by the Everett Chamber of Commerce, through Senator Piles.

If the appropriation is made the department will place Harry Thompson, of South Park, King county, at the head of the work, which will extend from the Coast to the Great Lakes, and allow him two assistants, one for the Coast and one for the territory farther east.

Mr. Thompson recently made an investigation in King and Snohoish counties, a report on which has just reached Washington, but will not be made public for several weeks. Mr. Thompson also represented the government at the first logged-off land convention, which was held at Everett last summer.

EXTENSIVE DREDGING PLANNED FOR YUKON

Dawson, Dec. 12.—Announcement has been made here that Missouri capitalists, chiefly of Kansas City, together with Dawsonites, have organized a company with $10,000,000 capital, to dredge Stewart and McQuesten rivers, beginning operations next year with at least one dredge. This company and the Yukon Gold Basin Company, headed by Former Governor Ogilvie, will install a joint power plant to drive twenty dredges.

The scheme to use Fraser falls power is likely to be abandoned, because of heavy rock work and large runs of ice damaging the plant in the spring and fall. Mayorister rapids will likely be used.

D. A. Mattheson, superintendent of the two compaines, leaves in a few days for the outside to arrange for the joint installation of the plant. These two companies promise to rival the Guggenheims on the Yukon in the number of dredges. Already they have a far larger dredging area.

Treasury Report Shows Big Deficit

Washington, Dec. 12.—The annual report of Mr. Cortelyou, the secretary of the treasury, shows a reversal of conditions for the fiscal year 1908, as compared with the fiscal year 1907. For the latter year the receipts were $84,236,856 in excess of the disbursements. For the fiscal year 1908 the disbursements were $58,070,201 in excess of the receipts, due to business depression and increased appropriations. The available cash balance at the beginning of the fiscal year was $272,061,445.

STATES TO CONFER

MATTERS OF FISH CONTROL TO AGAIN BE DISCUSSED.

Oregon and Washington Authorities Will Try for an Agreement on Columbia River Legislation. Dominion Defeats Province in Canadian Fisheries Dispute.

Olympia, Dec. 15.—To prevent any possible federal control of salmon fishing in the Columbia river, Oregon authorities have requested and Washington officials have agreed to a series of joint conferences to be held in this state early in January, looking toward concurrent and mutually satisfactory legislation by the two states to govern this industry.

This announcement was made by Attorney General Atkinson following a conference in the governor's office, attended by the attorney general, the governor and H. S. McGowan and Representatives Burke and Stewart. Attorney General Atkinson said:

"Some time ago the Oregon authorities requested meetings to permit us to arrive at mutually satisfactory laws to govern the Columbia river fishing—laws that would be fair to the fishermen of both states and that would prevent any possible conflict.

"The first week in January the conferences will be held at Seattle and Tacoma with the King and Pierce county delegations and with any other legislators who may wish to be present. Besides the Oregon legislators and others who will be there, there will be present the entire legislative delegations from the Columbia river counties of Washington; Ed Rosenberg, of Astoria, secretary of the United Fishermen's Association; J. H Smith, the attorney for the association; the Oregon fish warden and the Washington fish commissioner; W. P. Bell, the attorney general-elect of this state, and myself. We are hopeful that as the result of these conferences bills can be drawn to be presented and passed by both legislatures early in the session."

The conference yesterday also discussed the Sand island decision in executive session. It is known that the attorney general is preparing a petition for a rehearing which will be presented shohrtly, asking the supreme court of the United States to set aside this decision in favor of Oregon in the Columbia rviver boundary case and to render a decision in favor of Washington's contentions.

Dominion Beats Province

Vancouver, B. C., Dec. 15.—The conflict of authority between the provincial and Dominion governments regarding the control of salmon fisheries in the Fraser river came to a sudden termination yesterday in a decision by the full court of appeal, which declared the provincial regulations beyond the power of local legislature and wholly within the power of the Dominion government.

The appeal court was unanimous in this decision, upholding the decision of Judge Howry, of New Westminster The appeal was from a fine imposed by Magistrate Pittendrigh, of New Westminster against two fishermen, who obeyed the Dominion but disobeyed the provincial regulations.

The provincial government will carry the appeal to the privy council, as it involves the whole tidal water fishery question. Being the undisputed owners of the fish, the provincial government contends that it has the right to say when and where the fish may or may not be taken.

TOBACCO COMPANIES HELD TO CONSTITUTE A MONOPOLY

New York, Dec. 16.—The decree of the United States circuit court in the government's suit against the American Tobacco Company and others, which was filed late yesterday afternoon, declared the Amerian Tobacco Company, the R. J. Reynolds Company, the American Snuff Company, Pierre Lorillard and the Blackwell's Durham Company, a monopoly and engaged in illegal combination.

The decree restrains these holding companies from engaging in foreign and interstate commerce until competition between them is restored. The decree denies the receiverships asked the government.

An appeal, which has been taken to the United States supreme court, will act as a temporary stay to the decree filed yesterday.

Of Interest To Women.

To such women as are not seriously out of health, but who have exacting duties to perform, either in the way of household cares or in social duties and functions, which seriously tax their strength, as well as to nursing mothers. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has proved a most valuable supporting tonic and invigorating nervine. By its timely use, much serious sickness and suffering may be avoided. The operating table and the surgeons' knife, would, it is believed, seldom have to be employed if this most valuable woman's remedy were resorted to in good time. The "Favorite Prescription" has proven a great boon to expectant mothers by preparing the system for the coming of baby, thereby rendering childbirth safe, easy, and almost painless.

Bear in mind, please that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is not a secret or patent medicine, against which the most intelligent people are quite naturally averse, because of the uncertainty as to their composition and harmless character, but is a MEDICINE OF KNOWN COMPOSITION, a full list of all its ingredients being printed, in plain English, on every bottle-wrapper. An examination of this list of ingredients will disclose the fact that it is non-alcoholic in its composition, chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine taking the place of the commonly used alcohol, in its make-up. In this connection it may not be out of place to state that the "Favorite Prescription" of Dr. Pierce is the only medicine put up for the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses and ailments, and sold through druggists, all the ingredients of which have the unanimous endorsement of all the leading medical writers and teachers of all the several schools of practice, and that too as remedies for the ailments for which "Favorite Prescription" is recommended.

A little book of these endorsements will be sent to any address, post-paid, and absolutely free if you request same by postal card, or letter, of Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. Constipation is the cause of many diseases. Cure the cause and you cure the disease. Easy to take as candy.

That Puget Sound cities will be safe in case of foreign war is evidenced by the activity of the government in protecting every possible entrance by the building of forts. According to the reports from LaConner, the preliminary survey has been completed for a site to build a fort on Goat island. Goat island is about one mile from LaConner. The fort to be built at this point of territory reached by the way of Deception pass. The government has an appropriation of $370,000 on hand for the commencement of work on that fort, which is a much larger appropriation than it had when work was commenced on the forts in this vicinity, but since work was commenced here more than twenty million dollars has been expended. —Townsend Call.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 18, 1908

President-elect Taft appears to be it earnest regarding tariff revision. He is built that way; he believes in fulfilling all pre-election promises. He holds that the investigation should "reach the differences in the cost of production of the various articles brought within the tariff, here and abroad." That is all the Pacific Northwest demands for its lumber product.

The postal department is sending out warnings against sending thru the mails anything pertaining to a lottery. The publishing in a newspaper the lucky number of a church or any other drawing comes under the ban, and the postmaster should exclude the paper containing the information from the mails. Invitations to bridge or card parties where prizes are to be awarded come under the same ruling.

Enterprising citizens of Sedro-Woolley, Burlington, Mt. Vernon and La-Conner met at Anacortes to discuss plans and ways and means to thoroly advertise Skagit county at the Yukon exposition next year, says the Sedro-Woolley Courier. "The primary object is to prepare a folder setting forth in a unique and convincing manner the various resources of the county, to present in picture and prose the salient facts of the county's industrial wealth; to point out to homeseekers its many opportunities."

Is'nt it about time that Port Angeles' Commercial Club was taking advantage of the opportunities offered and preparing to advertise Clallam county in a proper manner at the Exposition next year?

As we draw near the Christmas time the genial, fir-scented atmosphere greets one on every side. There is something of gladness about this season which is suggestive of the higher harmonies of the better world; the very air is vocal with the anthems and minor melodies which awaken the affections of that love and kindness which is not by any means confined to professed Christians alone. We can almost hear the childish laughter, and the pleasant hum of conversation which causes the most frigid heart to take a more exalted view of life at this Christmas season.

The church pulpits, arched with the fragrant garlands of peace, typical of the spikenard, high tuned and made doubly beautiful by the vibrations of the grand anthems which will be sung by the choirs of the cathedrals and churches on that day ought to touch the affections, and add inspiration to this glad season.

Following the custom of many of the schools of the land, several of the rooms of the ward schools hold exercises this, Friday, afternoon appropriate to the Christmas season. In some of the grades in the kindergarten class, and in a few of the higher rooms, Christmas trees have been provided and small tokens of affection and good-will will be distributed among the younger scholars.

With the joyous and more sedate exercises of the afternoon, school closes for the holiday season. Books will be laid aside and given a rest from thumbing and conning and the hundreds of sighs of relief from study and joy at the coming of the Yuletide season emenating from as many little throats will be the requiem until Monday morning, January 4, 1909.

MAY NOT HAVE TO QUALIFY

There has been considerable discussion by the press of late concerning the succession to the gubernatorial chair, in the event of Governor-elect Cosgrove being unable to qualify. While the law states that the governor shall hold office until his successor is elected and has qualified, the provisions for qualification provided for by most states, are not specified by law in this state. It has been customary for the governor to take oath to support the constitution of the State and of the United States. Some have maintained that Cosgrove will not be governor until he has taken the oath of office at Olympia; others believe his presence at Olympia to be immaterial, the lieutenant-governor-elect acting as governor until his recovery or death.

According to a press dispatch from Olympia, Chief Justice Fullerton is quoted as saying that the Washington laws contain no provision for a governor-elect qualifying. Judge Fullerton visited the offices of secretary of state and governor in a vain effort to discover if any governor had filed a written oath of office or bond.

The judge stated that he had searched the state laws and had nowhere found any legal provision requiring a governor to take an oath or to do any specific act to qualify for office. Pressed for a further expression of opinion, Judge Fullerton declined to discuss the matter for the stated reason the question might probably later come before the supreme court for determination. The judge's statements have occasioned a belief that Mead cannot hold over if Cosgrove fails to be in the state to take office in January and in event of Cosgrove's absence the lieutenant governor and not Mead, will perform the executive duties.

Late advices from Pass Robles state that Cosgrove's condition has materiaiy improved in the past few days and that he is nearer himself than he has been since he was taken sick following the convention last May.

At all times he has been full of the belief that he would recover and is especially determined to serve the next four years as Washington's governor. Of course he is still very thin and weak for he has had a hard campaign with this sickness. It will take some time for him to become as strong as he would wish, but unless some unforseen recurrent difficulty appears he will soon be walking around Paso Robles a much different man.

He may return to Olympia for inauguration in January and immediately return to Paso Robles until sunny weather comes again in the north, or he may stay in California taking the oath of office there. These are matters as yet undecided.

THE CASE OF REUF.

The verdict of "guilty" may in the case of Abe Ruef mean much or it may mean nothing. He has been declared guilty before, but an accomodating Appelate Court relieved him of all anxiety and such trifling inconveniences as may be found at San Quentin or Folsom, and perhaps aid may be again extended to him. That he is guilty, this whole nation believes, and it is gratifying to have the verdict, though no actual punishment should come of it. Yet somehow in the interest of justice, despite the desires of the law, it is really to be hoped that the present verdict sticks. This man has appeared before the country for some years as a bribe giver and a bribe taker, a corrupt politician who fastened his hands on a great city to rob its people. It really seems that delay to visit the punishment on him that he so well deserves has been quite long enough. The example of him in stripes ought to be the salutary lesson that San Francisco really needs and its effect throughout the nation can not be altogether bad.

All of us have been too prone to criticize the law Too much of it has been done perhaps. But how can blame attach to the people when a man of this kind can successfully defy the law for years? Suppose Ruef had been without money; could he have kept out of prison for so long a time? Under the circumstances, isn't the contempt into which the courts have fallen quite warranted?—Aberdeen World.

Mrs. McRaney's Experience

Mrs. M. McRaney, Prentiss, Miss., writes: "I was confined to my bed for three months with kidney and bladder trouble, and was treated by two physicians but failed to get relief. No human tongue can tell how I suffered, and I had given up hope of ever getting well until I began taking Foley's Kidney Remedy. After taking two bottles I felt like a new person, and feel it my duty to tell suffering women what Foley's Kidney Remedy did for me. W. J. Mathews on Drug Store.

True Tailoring Excellence

A small local tailor shop is today impractical and unprofitable—

It has no labor market from which to secure desirable cutters and tailors—

It cannot afford to install a modern plant designed to reduce cost of production—

It doesn't do sufficient business to enable it to buy woolens direct from the mills—

It cannot keep abreast of metropolitan styles and workmanship.

Clothes we supply in our custom tailoring department are made exactly to the measure of the individual by the "House of Over a Thousand Tailors," Ed. V. Price & Co., of Chicago, and cost you about half the charges of a small tailor.

A SURE FOUNDATION.

It Is the Secret of Unfailing Success In Grange Effort.

One of the most efficient forces for the betterment of the farmers' condition today is the Order of Patrons of Husbandry, commonly known as the grange. No other farmers' organization compares with it in actual accomplishment; none claims superiority in aims and purposes. The founders of the Order forty years ago issued a "declaration of purposes" which is the chief cornerstone on which the great grange superstructure has been erected. They declare the purpose of this organization of the farmers to be "to develop a higher and better manhood and womanhood among ourselves; to enhance the comforts and attractions of our homes and strengthen our attachments to our pursuits. We propose meeting together, buying together, selling together and in general acting together for our mutual protection and advancement." From these declared purposes the grange has never swerved, and today where an active grange exists there is established a potent agency for the moral, social and educational uplift of the community.

A Convenient Grange Hall.

The grange hall occupied by the Compton grange of Rhode Island is very conveniently arranged for its purpose. Double doors open into the hall, a winding stairway leading to the upper hall. The hall proper is reached by folding doors. This room seats nearly 300 and the gallery seventy-five. Orchestra folding seats are provided. The stage has a drop curtain and four scenes. Dressing rooms are over the stage. A back stairway leads from the stage to the kitchen below. Dining room, closet, ladies' parlor, toilet, ticket office and cloakrooms are on the first floor.

A Massachusetts grange had an intensely interesting meeting in a magazine evening, carrying out the complete idea, stories, advertisements, editorials, funny page, correspondents' queries and all. Many members took part. All did well, and the evening was a great success.

CO-OPERATIVE INSURANCE.

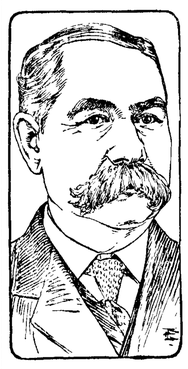
[Special Correspondence.]

It goes without saying that the grange has been instrumental in bringing about many reforms in the matter of legislation in the interests of the farmers of this country, but there is no one thing that has been more of a success than co-operative insurance.

Under the conservative management of the grange companies thousands of dollars are saved each year to the policy holders. The expense account of the grange companies is among the lowest. By requiring grange membership in order to be insured the moral hazard of fire underwriting is reduced to the minimum, as the character of the individual must be passed upon before he is eligible to seek insurance in these companies. In other words, the membership of the grange insurance companies is twice sifted. No grange company has ever been known to fail or repudiate any just claims.



IRA SHARP.

[Chairman executive committee, New York.]

Co-operative insurance is a bona fide agreement between individuals to help pay each other's losses. It is the only sane way to insure, for by such an agreement we receive our protection at actual cost. The grange companies assess policy holders to pay actual losses only. On the other hand, old line companies assess and collect in advance enough money not only to pay losses, but also to pay exorbitant salaries to officers. One company paid during 1907 $1,145,263.86 in salaries. The stock fire insurance companies paid $18,258,699.76 in dividends, an average annual dividend for all the companies of 24½ per cent. These dividends went to a comparatively few stockholders and none to the policy holders. Only last year one of our grange companies saved its policy holders the munificent sum of nearly $40,000 as compared with the cost in a stock company on the same amount of insurance—goodly amount to save to the members in two counties.

Fifty-one counties of New York state have the benefit of grange insurance.

One hundred and twenty-one co-operative companies, including the grange companies, reported to the central organization the total amount of risks carried to be $381,541,325. The average cost per $1,000 for all these companies in 1907 was $2.77. The average cost to the grange companies is but $1.80 per $1,000, a saving in favor of the grange companies of 97 cents per $1,000.

The largest grange company in New York has risks amounting to nearly $14,000,000. Who can truthfully say the farmer has not been able to manage the business of co-operative insurance successfully?

W. H. VARY,
Overseer New York State Grange.

THE GRANGE AND LABOR.

Proposition Made by Labor to Massachusetts State Grange.

A few weeks ago it was made known by press dispatches that an official overture had been made to the Massachusetts state grange by organized labor for a combination of interests. Concerning it the Springfield Republican says:

"This proposition is based upon the assertion that the labor men are ill treated, that the farmers are presumably so and that it would be for their mutual interests to combine. Of course such combination would be effective principally in the legislature. What is the practical proposition, therefore, is a log roll of labor and agricultural interests, with the idea that the two elements would be able to secure the legislation desired by each wing. Very likely, if such a combination were to be formed, it would come very near dominating the legislature, and the politicians outside would have to make terms with them.

"But, as a competent observer of the situation says, the agricultural element is habitually conservative. The labor element is radical. It is a question whether any such combination would be entered into by the farmers. In the first place, the farmers are not trained to combination. They are born independent and they live independently, so much so that combination among themselves is difficult. They generally propose in the legislature to act individually about as they think right, and they are not accustomed to combination unless they believe it is right. On the face of it there is no more reason why the farmers should combine with the labor men than with the manufacturers except upon the assumption that they are equally downtrodden and oppressed classes, and that is not in Massachusetts a sufficient basis for such a combination."

Active Ohio Patrons.

Ohio granges are very active. At the Ashtabula county grange picnic more than 4,000 were present. One railroad train carried 1,000 excursionists. This county has the largest grange membership in the state.

State Master Stetson is pushing things up in the Pine Tree State. Many hundreds of new members have been added thus far this year.

POSSIBILITIES OF POTATO CULTURE

The Montesano Vidette tells an interesting story illustrating the possibilities of potato growing in Western Washington. It states that the potato crop for the year 1908 ranges about an average of 400 sacks of marketable tubers per acre. The home market price is never less than $1 a sack. It frequently goes to almost double that price. At present values one crop will pay the first cost of logged-off lands and convert the remnants of the forest into profitable modern farms.

Western Washington presents ideal conditions for successful potato culture. The soil is perfect, the climate adapted and the market the best in the world. Potatoes can be planted at any time. Some of the most successful growers of early market varieties get their land in shape and plant potatoes in the autumn. There is no month in which they cannot be put in the ground with absolute safety from frost and other dangers. The grass never dies in the Puget Sound country, neither does it require a covering of snow for protection. Potatoes may be kept in the ground from seed time until harvest and from harvest until another seed time.

There are wonderful possibilities for the owners of small farms in the country tributary to Puget Sound markets. One crop of potatoes can be harvested and another produced on the same land within twelve months. That feat has been accomplished in many sections of Western Washington. Why then should the people be required to import potatoes? The only reply to that question is that there are not enough farmers in the vicinity of Puget Sound cities. The land remains in its native condition, except that the timber has been taken away and stumps and logs cover the earth. The problem is how to get the logged-off lands under cultivation and induce the people to make homes on their farms.

WHEN writing to advertisers please mention this paper

Prof. F. W. Blackmar of the University of Kansas is quoted as advising no young man to get married and assume the responsibilities of raising a family on $25 per week or less. Ex-Congressman J. D. Bowersock of Lawrence, a man of wealth and wide experience and observation in practical affairs, delivered a chapel address at the university a little later, taking issue with Prof. Blackmar and declaring that a large income is not indispensable to happiness or success. Prof. Blackmar has evidently been misunderstood, if not actually misquoted. He is too wise not to know that the vast majority of the homes of this country have been built up on $25 a week or less. He is too good a political and social economist not to know that the vast majority of the future American homes will have to be built up on $25 a week or less, and he is too patriotic a citizen to shut the door of hope and opportunity and good citizenship in the faces of all who do not earn above that sum. Regardless of Prof. Blackmar's views, Mr. Bowersock's position will commend itself to most people as being the nearer in accord with the facts as they are and should be. There is a great deal to be said in the matter of a constantly rising standard and cost of living. The young householder of to-day spends as much, necessarily and legitimately, on his little family of three or four members as did his own father on a family twice as large. The necessaries of to-day were the luxuries of the past generation, and the luxuries of to-day bid fair to be the necessaries of the next. But when all is said and done, it is not the wisest course, from any point of view, to seek to dissuade any ambitious young man, actuated by the highest of the home-building ideals, from realizing this basic ideal of all nations which are to last. Even in this dollar-frenzied America of ours it is only the frothy minority which gives the tinge and taint of financial mania to our society. In the background, unseen and often unsuspected, uncounted millions of people are rearing the superstructure of splendid American homes on a foundation of thrift, industry and patriotic sacrifice for their children, which is only another form of blessing the nation as a whole. In these homes the husband is not a plunger or spendthrift or frenzied financier, the wife is not a be-powdered and be-gowned fashion plate. The din of the mart never drowns the sound of contentment and the song of hope. Money means only the medium for procuring food and raiment and the advantages of a decent scale of living. The money that does this magnificent work is, in the great majority of cases, much less than $25 a week. To urge prudence in the financial phases of matrimonial prospects is excellent advice. But to place the dead line at $25 a week is an industrial Malthusianism for which we are not yet ready, even in America. The dead line may not be set, in fact, by any political economist. The right sort of character will work out its problems on any given sum, while the wrong sort of character will fail on any multiple of $25 a week.

Voting in Georgia has heretofore been restricted by the constitution to citizens who have paid all taxes assessed upon them since 1877. At the recent State election a constitutional amendment still further limiting the right to vote was adopted. Hereafter a voter must not only have paid all his taxes, but must have served in some one of the wars of the United States or of the State, or must be lawfully descended from some one who has rendered such service, or must be of good character and understand the duties of citizenship, or must possess a certain amount of education or a certain amount of property. The avowed object of the new law is the disfranchisement of the ignorant negroes. Similar disfranchisement has been effected in Louisiana and North Carolina by a law which provides that voters must be descended from persons whose ancestors could vote prior to 1867. In South Carolina and Virginia the voters must have paid their poll-tax. There are educational and property qualifications in South Carolina and an ancestry qualification in Virginia.

Treasury officials note that silver dollars are gradually going out of use in the West and South, and that their place is being taken by dollar bills. A few years ago it was a rare thing to see a dollar bill west of the Mississippi river, while in the South silver dollars were far more plentiful than the soft money. It seems that the doom of the silver dollar was sounded when the government decided that it would no longer pay the freight between subtreasuries and banks on the coins.

Season to taste with salt, add a pinch of red pepper and bake in a pudding dish in a quick oven, covered, for fifteen minutes, uncover and brown. Serve at once.

Short Suggestions.

Keep a vegetable brush to remove the silk quickly from ears of corn. A new nail brush with a handle is equally useful.

If an iron is not at hand when marking clothes with indelible ink, hold the writing against a lighted lamp chimney or gas globe.

Paraffin used on the tops of preserve glasses can be saved until the next season by washing in cold water and putting in a tin box with a tight lid.

Always use a wooden spoon for stirring batter, soups or fruits, as it will not wear out a sieve, stain, nor spoil the flavor. To keep it white dip in hot water before using, as that will fill the pores so they cannot absorb much of anything else.

Table linen which has been stained with egg should never be placed in boiling water, as it has the effect of "setting" the stain and making it almost permanent. The best method is to soak the cloth in cold water, which will make it perfectly easy to remove the stain before sending it to the wash.

One always regards married men with families as men on the retired list of life, as far as progress is concerned. One does not expect them to aid humanity, to break rough ground, to act as pioneers or even allies. They are fettered by their private duties.

HINTS FROM THE POSTOFFICE

As the time approaches for preparing your Christmas gifts, to be sent through the mails, it is well to bear in mind the cautions and instructions given out by the PostOffice Department, as to the manner of preparing them. Many a dear friend or relative has waited in vain for their customary Christmas remembrance, through the thoughtlessness and carelessness of the sender, in failing to observe the simple and correct manner of preparing gifts for mailing.

Your attention is first called to the manner of wrapping. Your parcel sould be securely wrapped in good strong paper avoiding flimsy or tissue papers; use strong twine, and not thread as thread is easily broken and your parcel will soon come apart and get lost.

If you desire to take advantage of the merchandise rate of postage your parcel must not be sealed or contain any writing. All matter regardless of the nature of its contents, if it be sealed against inspection, is rated as first class matter and the regular rate of postage is charged. Parcels of merchandise in which you have inclosed writing and not being sealed is also rated as first class.

See that your address is clear and distinct. Many a letter or parcel finds its way to the Dead Letter Office through the clerk's inability to decipher the address. See that the name and address of the sender is placed on the upper left hand corner of each package; this insures its return or your being notified in the event of its non-delivery.

See that your parcels are all weighed and properly stamped, for the Post Office regulations require that the postage shall be prepaid. Matter upon which the postage is not fully paid is held at the Post Office and the addressee or sender notified of the fact, and this means delay to your gifts.

Observe these simple precautions and you need have no fear, but that your gifts and messages of Good Cheer will reach your friends or relatives.

I can show you something suitable and useful for a gentleman. Call and consult
