TEACHERS IN SESSION

Practical Work a Leading Feature this Year. Fifty-three Teachers in Attendance.

"The most interesting Institute ever held here," was the way one of the leading educators of Port Angeles sized up the work being done at the opera house this week, where over fifty Clallam county teachers have assembled to hear the lectures on theory and practice of teaching and see the practical work carried on by teachers and their pupils.

The class work in phonics, arithmetic and geography by Misses Catherine Russell, Esterre Powell and Hattie Watson of the city schools, and that in raffia work by Miss R. Teague, have been exceptionally interesting. A novel feature of Thursday's program was the practical demonstration of results obtained in teaching vocal music by Miss Bertha Reeves, of the primary department at Sequim, and some two dozen of her pupils.

Another interesting and unusual feature was the display of manual training work which has been done by pupils of both city and country schools and brought together to be placed on exhibition at the A.-Y.-P. This includes a log house, complete in every detail including the pioneer's furniture, a barn with vehicles and horse, an elegant little mission chair, miniature furniture, picture frames, hemstitched handkerchiefs, drawn work, outline work, aprons, embroidery, dolls' outfits, sofa pillows, art work, maps, potato starch, etc. All the work shown is of a high character, and would be a credit to older and more experienced hands. It is safe to say that if the entire exhibit from Clallam county is as good in proportion as that from the schools, our people will have reason to be proud of the work of the committee.

WILL PACK 40,000 CASES

The Messrs. Gorman of the Manhatten Canning Company are preparing for a large business the coming season. A large force has been at work for some time making cans for this season's pack, and they are prepared to put up 40,000 cases of salmon before the close of the present year. When in Seattle and Anacortes last week, Mr. T. S. Gorman secured a new launch, the Comrade, which, in conjunction with the Pike—now being put into condition for service—will be used for the season's catch. When under full swing, Mr. Gorman promises that things at the cannery will hum.

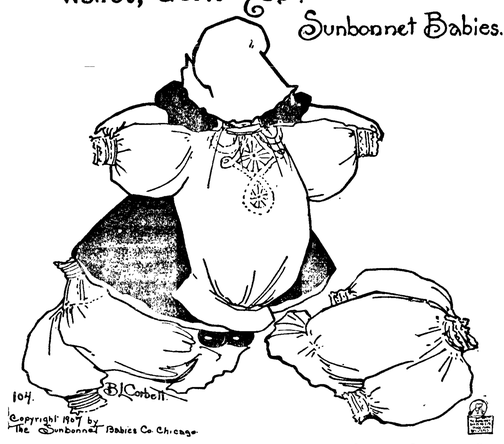
MERRILL WILL SELL MEAT

E. W. Merrill & Co., not to be out done by their competitors, announce the opening of a meat market in connection with their grocery business, thus adopting an up-to-date method generally used by grocerymen in the larger cities. Mr. R. H. Kidd, the well known meat man, will have charge of this department of the business.

A series of Gospel Meetings will be held in the hall on Second and Laurel streets, beginning Sunday evening, May 9th. Preaching every night at 8:00 p. m. J. J. Clark and Geo. Harlow, Evangelists.

Say—You need more than one waist, dont you?

Sunbonnet Babies.



What are you going to do when that one shirt-waist is soiled? You know it takes time for them to be cleaned.

Besides it is not waisting money to have several shirt-waists, because they are good until they wear out anyway, and if you "rest" your waists you will get just as much wear out of them and you can more often make a change.

Don't you think that you could afford to add some of our latest style waists to your collection at our prices?

We have an excellent Lawn in all the light colors at 6c the yard. Dress Gingham, something new and attractive, a very handsome weave and handsome patterns, of noted wearing quality, 10c the yard.

Ladies Silk Underwear, the best in the city and not excelled for wearing quality. We now have a new line in union and two piece suits.

Hosiery in all the latest shades and colors, cream, tan, white, pink and blue. A new line of Oxford Cros Grain Shoe Ribbons.

MILWAUKEE SEEKING ROUTE ALONG CANAL

Has Applied to State Land Office for Right of Way Across State Lands North of Olympia.

"With the failure of Chicago capitalists who held the franchise for the construction of a railroad from the vicinity of Port Ludlow to Clallam Bay, the Milwaukee on its own resources has begun a campaign for rights along the shore, or near the shore of the straits of Juan de Fuca.

"The Milwaukee has applied to the state land office in Olympia for a right-of-way across the state capitol lands, and as this is a matter of importance in regard to the extension of the straits line, the report of the land commissioner will be awaited with interest.

Land Commissioner E W. Ross will take the matter up with the new capitol commission and the attorney general to determine whether the new law giving the commission power to sell these lands is repealed. By implication the law provides that the state board of land commissioners has jurisdiction in matters of granting railway right-of way easements over the state lands.

"Clallam Bay and Port Angeles have been the selected spots for the terminus of a straits railway, and not only is the Milwaukee headed that way, but the Union Pacific, giving the common user rights to the Milwaukee for its Grays harbor Ozette lake extension will eventually reach Clallam Bay and Port Angeles by way of the Soleduck river.

One of the greatest hauls for any road in Western Washington is offered those lines which tap the timber regions of the Olympic peninsula. With short logging roads reaching the principal camps and many rivers offering opportunity to make drives to railroads near their mouths the logging industry on the Olympic peninsula will eventually become a great factor in the railroad industry of this state.

"The Northern Pacific has also two entrances to the timber districts, one by way of the Port Townsend Southern and the other by its present extension to Moclips. That the Northern Pacific line intends to extend in the very near future is evident from the recent filing of the condemnation suits along its surveys to the north. Railroad men say that any road built to the cape, will within a very few years pay for itself from scenic offerings made to the public in the summer."

BURN SLASHINGS THIS MONTH

Loggers and settlers on logged-off lands will do well to heed the recomendations of the Washington Forest Fire Association, that slashings and refuse be burned in the spring and winter months and that no fires be started during the dry season. The association recommends that slashings be burned not later than May 15th, and earlier if possible.

The association, which has thoroughly investigated the subject of forest fires and their prevention, finds that in the past a large majority of the forest fires originated from burning slashings.

Not only are millions of dollars of property imperiled by forest fires, but especially this year is it desirable that after the influx of eastern visitors to the Exposition and the Sound and Grays Harbor country begins, that the atmosphere should be clear of smoke—which will not be the condition if slashings are burned late and forest fires result, as they will.

William Harvey, a cripple, formerly a resident here, had his valise stolen from the boat Sunday night as he was leaving for Port Angeles. It contained $15 worth of merchandise which he had just secured for sale for a livelihood. He believes he knows the culprit who took the grip, and left again for Seattle to apprehend him. One of two hams placed aboard for the mess also turned up missing on the same trip, and was found in the berth of one of the deck hands, but no connection could be made of the two thefts.

BIG MOTOR BOAT RACE

Seventy-five Power Yachts Will Round Turning Post Off Morse Dock on June 30th.

The International Power Boat Association of Seattle and Vancouver will pull off a long distance power boat race in conjunction with the Alaska-Yukon Exposition from Vancouver, B. C., to Seattle by way of Port Angeles, June 30th. From present indications, this will be the biggest event of its kind ever attempted in the world, as it is anticipated that something like seventy-five cruising power yachts will join in the race and circle the stake boat at Port Angeles. This will cover entries all up and down the Coast from Juneau to Mexico, and will attract to Port Angeles an attention that might not come through other channels. Various trophies will be given, aggregating about $2000 in value. It is expected that the first handicapped boat will arrive at Angeles at dawn of June 30th; the other boots following it through a larger portion of the day. The race is for cruising boats of not less than thirty feet over all.

The course will be in part as follows: Starting from a stake boat in English Bay, Vancouver, across the Gulf of Georgia to Victoria, thence around stake boat in Port Angeles Bay, thence on the west side of Vashon Island to Tacoma, thenee north on the east side of Vashon Island, and finishing at the Elliott Bay Yacht Club House, West Seattle.

The management have written to Mr. Davis of the local Chamber of Commerce, to place and maintain a stake boat in our harbor to serve as one of the turning points in the race, which request will be complied with.

LEADER DEPARTMENT STORE

Opening Was Well Attended and All Visitors were Pleased with the Attractive Display.

The opening of the Leader Department Store on last Monday was a decided success, and an event, especially for the ladies, in the business circles of Angeles The day was an ideal one and the ladies of the city and of the vicinity were not slow in availing themselves of the opportunity to examine the fine lines of goods there displayed. The large store rooms had been put in spick and span shape and equipped throughout for the reception of the goods.

Upon entering the spacious store one became at once aware that experts had been at work, and many were the expressions of surprise and approval at the artistic and tasteful manner in which the goods were displayed. The arrangement and draping of the various show places about the store, as well as in the large show windows, were works of art. Courteous sales people were on hand to wait upon the throng of ladies who visited the store and long before the closing hour the large line of handsome souvenirs had been completely exhausted. The stock carried embraces everything comprehended in ladies' and children's wear, dry goods and notions, as well as a complete line of staple and fancy groceries.

The Messrs. Hansen have adopted the twentieth century methods of doing business. With reliable goods, prompt and polite attention to customers, small profits and quick sales, with no old goods or bad debts, being the special features that will contribute towards making their store a favorite resort for our citizens and those of the surrounding country for obtaining their supplies.

FITZGERALD IN HARNESS AGAIN

James Fitzgerald has bought the Fred Pollow meat market, has taken charge and will hereafter conduct the same. As our readers know, Mr. Fitzgerald is experienced and practical in this business, and there are many people in Angeles who will be pleased to have him cut their choice steaks and roasts once again. Only the best of meats will be handled in this market, and patrons can rely upon getting honest weight, prompt and polite service. For the present the market will be conducted at the old stand on First street.

EXHIBIT NEARLY READY

Will Be Installed a Week Before the Exposition Opens.

Secretary Corsan, speaking of the progress being made by the Exposition committee, says it is now believed the exhibits will be in place at least a week before the opening day. The dairy building is practically completed. Commissioner Erickson has selected several typical trees from which sections will be taken which it is believed will compare favorably with any from the other counties. Splendid specimens of coal from the Clallam mine, of ore from Mr. Gregory's Little River mine, and other minerals have been secured. A portion of the agricultural exhibit is now in Seattle. The fish exhibit will consist of embalmed specimens displayed in the glass tanks formerly used for the state exhibit, it having been decided that a live fish exhibit would be too expensive. There will be a good display of mounted heads of game.

SNOHOMISH MAKES FIRST VISIT

The government tug Snohomish, built for the special purpose of aiding ships in distress off Cape Flattery, where she will be stationed, was in the harbor this week, having completed a tour of the Sound before going on duty. While here, Captain Levis made an inspection of the spit for the purpose of selecting a site for a wharf and storage house. Of course the condltions were found perfectly satisfactory and he will recommend the establishment of a warehouse here.

It gives his three sons and a daughter $1,000,000 each and devises most of the remainder to the widow. His church, the Holy Apostles, gets $100,000 outright and a contingent bequest of nearly $200,000 more.

Government experts declare that the smoke nuisance in many American cities is now abolished. They have, they claim, solved the problem. They say there are over 200 plants being operated smokelessly and at lower cost, and that in 50 per cent of the industrial plants of the United States over 10 per cent of the coal bill can be saved by the smokeless burning of fuel.

Students to Build Clock Tower

State College, Pullman, May 3.—Students in the mechanical engineering departments of the State College are preparing plans for the construction of a clock for the high tower of the new auditorium and library building. Estimates for the purchase of a clock for the new building were submitted to the appropriation committees of the recently adjourned legislature, but were eliminated when the total amount asked was reduced $100,000. The board of regents will furnish the students with the material and the students will build the timepiece as a part of their regular laboratory work.

N. P. Shopmen to Work Full Time

Tacoma, May 3.—Beginning May 1 the 300 men at the South Tacoma car shops will be put on full time, working ten hours a day and six days a week. Traffic on the Northern Pacific is improving. A number of locomotives that have been idle in the yards here have recently been placed in commission and hundreds of freight cars yarded at different division headquarters are now rolling.

Immense Order for Steel Rails

New York, May 3.—The third largest order for steel rails this year has been given to the Illinois Steel Company by the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway. The order was for 65,000 tons at $28 a ton. The only larger orders have been those of the New York Central and Pennsylvania. The rails will be used on the main line of the Milwaukee road.

Washington State News

Edward E. Cushman, of Tacoma, brother of Congressman Cushman, has been appointed judge for the new division in Alaska.

NICHOLS TO RESIGN

SECRETARY OF STATE SAYS HE WILL GIVE UP CONTEST.

Conscious of No Wrong Doing He Says, But Is Getting too Old to Fight—Schively Would Like to Let Go, But Is Afraid to Do So at Present.

Olympia, May 4—Secretary of State Sam H. Nichols, accompanied by Mrs. Nichols, returned home from Everett on last eveninngs train. Both appeared in excellent spirits and Mr. Nichols comported himself as though not at all worried over the aspect of the future. He attempted no concealment of his decision to resign from office and in an offhand manner tendered the sale of his Olympia home to the attorney general for $4,000.

"Yes, I am going to resign," said Mr. Nichols, "although I am guilty of no wrong doing. I am an old man and my children want me to get out of politics. I am going to quit the fight. But if I were fifteen years younger, I'd stay."

Mr. Nichols has already purchased lots in Everett, where he will build a home for himself and Mrs. Ncihols. The spot he has selected is close to the homes of his two daughters. He is in independent financial circumstances.

Schively Much Worried

Insurance Commissioner Schively is in a state of great perturbation. The dilemma in which he finds himself is tragic in the extreme. He is without individual financial means. He is willing and anxious to follow the example of Secretary Nichols and resign, but he is deterred from so doing from fear lest his Spokane bondsmen withdraw at once in the event of resignation and thus throw him behind the bars.

It is not for attorney fees that he is casting about but for enough friends who will pledge themselves to safeguard the Spokane bond if he resigns as insurance commissioner.

COMMITTEE NEAR END OF TESTIMONY TAKING

When the legislative investigating committee adjourned last week not to meet until Wednesday, it was the understanding between the members and Assistant Attorney General Lee, according to the Olympia correspondent of the Post-Intelligencer, that the case against Secretary of State S. H. Nichols, as ex-officio insurance commissioner, and J. H. Schively, as deputy could be closed at the next hearing. The investigation, so far as Eastern Washington companies are concerned, has been finished, and the remaining witnesses will be from Seattle.

The final hours of the inquiry prior to the preparation of the findings, which may require two weeks time, will be given over to an exhaustive re-examination of the two accused and recriminating officials, and to the introduction of affidavits obtained from the officers of foreign insurance corporations.

It is betraying no secret to predict that the report of the committee will include such positive and disgraceful findings of graft and malfeasance as to justify the verdict to demand that both men resign from office. Beyond that lies the possibility of prosecution for perjury and extortion should the accused, in the face of the evidence, persist in remaining in the public service.

Contradictory Testimony

In his testimony last week, Insurance Commissioner Schively said he divided the pickngs with Secretary of State Nichols. The secretary of state swears he never received a cent.

From other testimony, in addition to that of Schively, it is evident that the insurance companies were held up for various sums. Schively admits getting money. The only question now in doubt is whether or not the secretary of state shared in the spoils. Schively sweas he did, Nichols swears he didn't.

If the question at issue was not so inherently serious, the outcome of the investigation so far would be ludicrous.

But the fact remains that one man holding state office stalked abroad through the United States calling upon insurance companies to stand and deliver. Either this official purjured himself a hundred times before the investigating committee, or the secretary of state swore falsely with an insistency and rapidity never before equaled in the capital.

Nichols Denies It

Secretary of State Nichols has denied under oath in detail every assertion of Schively wherein Schively connected Nichols with a division of the plunder. Nichols swears emphatically that he turned the insurance department over to Schively and paid no more than a formal attention to it thereafter. Nichols did not know of Schivelys holups; never heard of them until he read the papers; never advised him or suggested anything to him. Schively swears that every move he made was with the advice, consent and approbation of the secretary of state.

ACCUSES BOTH SCHIVELY SECRETARY NICHOLS

One of the sensations sprung in the case was when Attorney General Bell showed to Secretary of State Nichols sworan affidavit of S. W. Munsell, secretary and general manager of the Masonic Mutual Accident Company, Springfield, Mass. The affidavit is sworn to before an authorized notary public of the commonwealth of Massachusetts, and if its contents are true, gives the lie direct to the evidence of Nichols before the committee. It shows that Nichols and Schively both were present to examine the insurance company's books, and that though no examination was made, a demand was made for $200 because they were short and needed the money. When the demand was refused, Schively served notice on Munsell that the license would not be renewed, and when application for renewal was subsequently made, Schively refused to renew it on the ground of an indebtedness of $200.

MILITIA OFFICER IS ACCUSED OF EMBEZZLEMENT

Seattle, May 6—The Post-Intelligencer this morning contains a three page story in which an account is given of alleged embezzlement of state military funds by former Adjutant General Ortis Hamilton. The paper states that Hamilton is to be taken into custody today It is stated that the amount of Hamilton's peculations will probably reach $50,000. The money is said to have been spent in riotoous living.

SPOKANE-SEATTLE ELECTRIC LINE DECLARED CERTAINTY

Spokane, April 30.—Official announcement has been made by Col. Albert M. Dewey, of Spokane, president of the Okanogan Electric Railway company, that French capitalists have taken over a bond issue of $3,000,000, the money from which will be used to build a line from Nighthawk, in North Central Washington, to a point near the head of navigation on the Columbia river, 75 miles. The road will also be extnded east to Spokane and west to Seattle, making a system of more than 500 miles. Col. Dewey says:

"We have had engineers in the field for months running preliminary surveys for an electric line from Spokane to Seattle. We are looking for a feasible pass through the Cascade mountains, near the west fork of the Methow river. If we can find the right pass we shall build by way of Bridgeport and the Methow valley and down the Skagit river to a point which will give us a connection with the Great Northern railway at Rockport, going thence into the Sound cities.

"The Okanogan Electric railway is certain of construction, and we already own a 50-year franchise right of way and charter for a steam or electric road from a point at or near Nighthawk, Okanogan county, to a point near the head of navigation on the Columbia river.

"The line will pass through Loomis, Okanogan, Ophir, Marlott, Brewster and Riverside, and our road is to connect at the north end with the Victoria, Vancouver & Eastern extension of the Great Northern and at the south with the Columbia river steamboats and Great Northern railway, thus connecting up with Spokane on the east and the Sound cities on the west. We want direct communication with Seattle and Spokane and are running a line of survey to secure a feasible route for an electric line.'

SAY PRESIDENT TAFT WILL ENFORCE LAWS

New York, May 3.—The Sherman anti-trust law will be enforced by the Taft administration; rebates will be prevented so far as possible; the work of the Roosevelt regime in this direction will be carried forward with vigor, though by different methods.

This was announced by Attorney General Wickershma in ana ddress before the New York bar.

Mr. Wickersham said: "The work of the present administration is no less important than was that of the last in continuing to enforce the laws and in endeavoring to effectuate the intent of the people, in preventing the things which the people have come to believe to be inconsistent with the welfare of the republic, but the methods which are necsesary to awaken the business community to a recognition of the existence of the validity of these laws are no longer essential."

Canada to Reserve Much Timber

Winnipeg, May 3.—The Dominion government has decided to reserve a belt of about ninety million acres of timber land running south of the Crows Nest line of the Canadian Pacific railway to the international line and from fifty miles east of the British Colubmia boundary line in to Alberta. The government will control the cutting of timber on this land, which will amount to about 12,000,000 feet per year for the next sixty years.

Land Fraud Cases Postponed

Portland, Or., May 3.—Several cases pending before the federal court, including cases against Binger Hermann and others untried on land fraud indictments, will not be taken up until next fall, according to United States Attorney McCourt.

To Elect Old Officers

New York, May 3.—The board of directors of the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad Company have re-elected all the old officials of the company for the ensuing year.

TO RELIEVE DISTRESS

THE TURKISH PARLIAMENT VOTES $100,000 FOR SUFFERERS.

May Also Pension Families of Dead—Said Massacrees Will Be Probed and Perpetrators Punished—New Sultan Replies to Message of Congratulation.

Constantinople, May 3.—Following a spirited debate, the chamber adopted a resolution that a parliamentary committee be dispatched to Adana to investigate the massacres and to organize a military court to courtmartial the guilty persons.

One hundred thousand dollars has been appropriated to relieve the distressed in that district.

The deputies have under consideration a proposal to pension the families of those killed or wounded in the recent fighting in Constantinople.

An imperial "hat" was read in the presence of the cabinet and other officials confirming the appointment of Tewfik Pasha as grand vizier and Reschad Effendi as Sheik Usham. The "hat" briefly referred to the revolution and the recent massacres and enjoined universal observance of the constitution and sheri laws.

Describes Massacre

Stephen Trowbridge, a missionary who witnessed the killing of D. M. Rogers and Henry Maurer, fellow missionaries at Adana, has supplied an account of the occurrence, dated Adana, April 24, to representatives of the grand vizier and has written it out also for the mission board at home. Mr. Trowbridge says:

"Firing and fighting began April 14 between Moslems and Armenians which resulted in a number of casualties on both sides.

"The next morning conflagrations resutled from incendiary fires and had spread to such an extent that we were obliged to watch closely the building of the girls school and residence of William N. Chambers. Mr. Rogers was guarding the home of Miss Wallace and the dispensary across the street.

"All this time there had been no sign of any effort on the part of the government authorities to stop the firing, the pillaging and burning."

Death of Missionaries

Mr. Trowbridge then tells of the efforts of himself, Mr. Rogers and Mr. Maurer to save the school building.

"Mr. Maurer was using the crowbar against a wall and I, higher up, was pouring water on the places catching fire. Suddenly two shots rang out not more than 80 yards from where we were working.

"Mr. Rogers, who was on the street bringing in water, was mortally wounded. He called me by name and then fell in the middle of the street. The other bullet hit Mr. Maurer in the left lung near the heart and the crowbar fell from his hands. He then climbed down the ladder and collapsed at the side of Mr. Rogers."

A little later when British Vice Consul Daughty-Wylie, with twenty Turkish soldiers, arrived the neighborhood was deserted and the murderers had fled.

Sultan's Reply to Taft

Washington, May 3.—Sultan Mehmed of Turkey has cabled a message in acknowledgment of the greetings sent to him by President Taft on his accession to the throne. The cablegram, dated April 30, has just been made public:

"I received with real pleasure the telegram of conrgatulations which your excellency was pleased to send me on the occasion of my ascension to the throne. I thank you cordially for the sentiments contained therein, as well as for the assurance of friendship which you give me in the name of the government and nation of the United States and to which I attach the highest value. I beg of your excellency to believe in the cordial wishes which I cherish, both for happiness and prosperity and for those of the great and noble people.

Ambassador Leishman at Constantinople cabled that the government had taken energetic means to suppress further atempts at disorders and to punish perpetrators of the recent trouble.

The government, he said, appeared to be able and anxious to restore peace.

To Build Safes at Everett

Everett, May 3.—Representatives of a safe and lock company have definitely decided to locate at Everett, and have selected one of the several sites offered through the Chamber of Commerce and Business Men's Association. The site contains five acres, and four fireproof buildings are to be erected at once. At least $200,000 is to be invested in machinery and buildings. The plant will employ from 200 to 300 men, and the monthly payroll will amount to $30,000 to $50,000.

Pierce County Calls Warrants

Tacoma, May 3.—County Treasurer Edward Meath has called in warrants to the amount of $399,000, the largest call of outstanding warrants in the history of the county. The call is made possible through the extraordinarily heavy tax collections made since the beginning of the year. There is now nearly a million dollars in coin in the county treasury, with heavy additions coming in daily.

WORKING ON RATE SCHEME TO EMBRACE ENTIRE WEST

Chicago, May 3 .—Acting upon the suggestion of the interstate commerce commission, traffic officials of the Harriman and Hill roads are triyng to work out a comprehensive scheme of freight rates which shall apply from the Middle West to interior Pacific coast points.

The suggestion was offered by the comission in the Spokane rate case decision and is being acted upon by the railroads in a spirit of concession to public opinion. All of the high traffic officials of the Harriman lines are in Chicago working vigorously over what they declare to be the most difficult problem they have ever undertaken to work out; a plan of transcotinental rates which shall please all shipping communities.

The Spokane rate case decision fixed the rates only fromS t. Paul and Chicago to Spokane, and suggested that the lines get together and agree upon an adjustmentof rates to intermediate points. J. C. Stubbs, traffic manager for the Harriman lines, said:

"It is the most dicffiult task we have ever undertaken. We hope to be able to work out a scheme of rates not only in the Spokane case, but for all the West, which will prove acceptablet to he commission.'

MISSOURI FEDERAL JUDGES FACE AN INVESTIGATION

Washington, May 4—Making serious charges against Federal Judges John F. Phillips and Smith McPherson, of the Western district of Missouri, Representative Murphy of that state introdeuced a resolution yesterday to investigate their conduct in the litigation between the state and railroad companies over the maximum freight law and the two-cent passenger rate law.

The preamble of the Murphy resolution alleges that the two judges accompanied certain railroad attorneys on a fishing trip, on which occasion members of the party were arrested for violaing the game laws of the state.

The resolution charges that Judge Phillips neglects his duty by continued absence from the bench and that when he does preside the court is in session only four hours each day. Mr. Murphy desires the general conduct of Judge Phillips investigated, contending that he is insulting to the attorneys who are compelled to practice in his court, and that he has at various times instructed the jury to bring in a certain verdict. If the jurors bring in a different verdict, declares the resolution, Judge Phillips becomes insulting and virtually charges that they have violated their oaths as jurors.

The resolution recites the various phases of the litigation, including a statement that the railroad companies refused to establish certain rates within the state of Missouri, in violation of the state anti-trust law. It is stated that the two judges rendered certain decisions which, in effect, usurped the legislative powers of the legislature.

DATES SET FOR SPOKANE'S NEXT BIG APPLE SHOW

Spokane, May 3.—December 6 to11, inclusive, is the time fixed for the second annual national apple show to be held at Spokane this winter in the armory and outer buildings to be erected. The world has been asked to compete for $35,000 in premiums.

E. F. C. Van Dissel, president of the Phoenix Lumber company, has been elected vice president of the organization. He will have charge of local arrangements, although Louis W. Hill will be head of the official roster as president

Ben H. Rice will be secretary and manager. The same plans will be carried out in connecting the show as last year. The exhibits will be shown in the temporary buildings erected around the armory The vaudeville show and entertainment features will be conducted in the armory.

NEW GASOLINE MOTOR CAR ON B. B. & B. C. ROAD

Bellingham, May 3.—The new gasoline motor car of the Bellingham Bay & British Colubmia railroad was taken out for a trial trip during the week over the company's tracks. The trip proved the car to be up to the contract specifications in every way. Fifty city and county officials and business men of the city made the trip as guests of the company.

The new car is to be put into service between this city and Sumas and Lynden. It is epxected that round trips between the towns mentioned will be made daily. The new car travels under its own power. It is the first of its kind to be put into service in the Pacific Northwest. The car has a seating capacity of eighty people, besides a bagagge compartment. It has a speed of more than sixty miles an hour. It is built entirely of steel and looks like an inverted vessel. The gasoline engine with which the car is equipped is of 250 horsepower.

Selections for Diplomatic Service

Washington, May 4. —Oscar Straus former secretary of commrece and labor has been selected for ambassador to Turkey and W. W. Rockhill for ambassador to Rusisa. Mr. Rockhill formerly was assistant secretary of state and latterly minister to China. Mr. Straus who twice before was minister to Turkey succeeds Ambassador Leishman, who goes to Rome in place of Lloyd S. Griscom. Mr. Rockhill succeeds Ambassador Riddle at St. Petersburg

BUILD NEW LINES

MILWAUKEE SOON TO BEGIN CONSTRUCTION OF BRANCH.

Runs From Gates City to Tacoma Eastern—With Joint User Will Tap Grays Harbor District—N. P. Lets Large Contract—Lolo Cutoff Project Now in Shape.

Seattle, May 3.—To have its connection made with the Grays Harbor country by the time its transcontinental line is ready for heavy traffic, the Milwaukee railwy will in a short time begin construction work on the line from McKenna, on the Tacoma Eastern, to the joint user line from Gates City to Aberdeen. The construction work on the Oregon & Washington line from Gates City to Grays harbor is being rushed, and the Milwaukee will now hasten the work of making its connection.

The Tacoma Eastern, while not officially declared to be a Milwaukee feeder, is gnerally conceded to belong to that line Surveyors for the Milwaukee were at work early this spring in not only a readjustment of lines on that road, but also on the route to be followed to a connection with the Grays Harbor & Puget Sound line.

President Earling has epxressed him self frequently as wanting to reach the timber districts, and it is over this route that he expects to secure for the Milwaukee a share in the heavy tonnage that is now controlled by the Norhern Pacfiic. The fact that forty miles of line must be built to complete the connection between the Tacoma Eastern and the Grays Harbor & Puget Sound makes it necessary for the Milwaukee to hasten its construction to be in readiness by the time the Harriman line reaches Aberdeen and the milwaukee is ready for its heavy transcontinental service.

Chief Engneer Pearson returned last Monday from an extended trip over the road as far east as Butte, hastened to Gates City Tuesday and went over part of the Harriman line, as well as over the right of way secured for the Milwaukee extension.

HILL HAS FINANCED LOLO CUT-OFF PROJECT

Seattle, May 3.—The announcement that the Northern Pacific intended to make a short cut in its line from Missoula to the Columbia river by the use of the Lolo pass,has stirred up interest among railroad men, who say that it is the third time the Northern Pacific has laid its plans for this route. They say that for the last two years Mr. Hill has planned for its use and has already arranged for the $10,000,000 necesary to contruct the road, which will average nearly $75,000 a mile, but which will make an immense saving in the hauling of passenger and fast freight trains.

Lolo pass is higher than St. Paul pass, the route used by the Milwaukee, but it has easy approaches on both sides and a tunnel will greatly reduce the grades. The old surveys of the Northern Pacific are being used in the present movement, and the several parties of field surveyor who have gone into the Sweetwater on this side of the Rockies within the last ten days are said to be making fast time in the readjustment of old lines.

Within the past ten days surveyors for the Northern Pacific have been seen in the Clearwater district in groups of from ten to twelve, all making haste to the upper waters of that stream. On the Missoula side of the Rockies it is reported the line has been almost located to the pass.

Harriman surveyors are also reported on both sides of the mountains, but not in such numbers as the Northern Pacific crews.

N. P. GIVES CONTRACT FOR NEW BRANCH LINE

Spokane, May 3.—Porter Bros. & Welch have been awarded a contract for the construction of 170 miles of railway to be built by the Northern Pacific as a feeder line south from Mandan, N. D., following the course of the Missouri river to the Standing Rock Indian reservation. Work will be started right away. It will involve an expenditure of at least $3,500,000, and may even go higher. This line, it is understood, is not the proposed cutoff from Mandan to Miles City, but is an entrely new and hitherto unannounced line cutting southward into South Dakota as a feeder for the Northern Pacific and an invasion of the Milwaukee territory, which intends to build a line north.

New Montana Line

Great Falls, Mont., May 3.—Articles of incorporation have been filed for the Montana Western Railway company, which will build a railway line from Conrad toward the mountains, through a country that is being developed by the Conrad irrigation project. Surveyors are now at work.

Many Applications for State Lands

Olympia, May 5.—State Land Commissioner Ross collected $206,116 during April. Of this $164,000 was for the permanent school fund. In addition fees and forfeitures collected by the office aggregated $638.25. During the month there were 114 applications for the purchase of state lands and timber and 92 applications to lease.

HEPBURN RATE LAW HELD TO BE CONSTITUTIONAL

Washington, May 4—That the "commodities clause of the interstate commerce act of 1906, known as the Hepburn rate law, is constitutional was in effect declared by the United States supreme court. The decision was announced by Justice White. The court reversed and remanded the decision of the United States circuit courtt, but the only directions were to enforce and apply the statute as now construed.

Briefly summarized, the decision holds the law to be constitutional, but it does not concede the contentions of the government as to its scope. An especial exception was as to the ownership of stock in a different corporation, which it was held did not constitute such ownership as would prohibit transportation under the terms of the law. It was also held that ownership of the commodity applied only to the time of transportation. If before transporting it the railroad company has in good faith parted with a commodity it may carry it. The principal point of the decision was in relation to railroads holding the stock of subordinate companies and on that important point the finding was favorable to the roads. Justice Harlan dissented on the stock feature, but otherwise the decision was unanimous.

MALHEUR DISTRICT SURVEY IS ORDERED BY BALLINGER

Ontario, Ore., May 5.—Secretary Ballinger of the interior department, has telegraphed to the reclamation officials at Boise ordering immediate work in the field to begin by the surveyors and engineers for the Malheur irrigation project. F. E. Weymouth, supervising engineer for this reclamation district, is at Boise, gathering a crew of enigneers and surveyors and says he will be in Ontario within a day or two to begin work.

Secretary Ballinger directs that the work be hastened sufficiently to permit his personal inspection when he visits Ontario in June. He states that if the project looks feasible at that time he will order the work completed as soon as possible.

People here feel sure the government project will be built, as former surveyors promised great success. Private interests which have been protesting against the government project, were heard by Secretary Ballinger in Washington last week, and he stated to them that if they could show definitely they were financially able to build the project and that the people want a private project, they may be permitted to build.

GOV. HAY FILLS SEVERAL APROINTIVE POSITIONS

Olympia, May 5.—Gov. Hay has announced the following appointments:

Charles F. Hubbard, of Tacoma, reappointed commissioner of labor; Dr George N. Matzgar, of Dayton, and Dr. W. B. Power, of Seattle, members of the board of dental examiners, succeeding Dr. A. W. Burns and Dr. H. D. Brand, whose therms have expired; Dr. F. P. Witer, of Spokane; Dr. E. J. Taggart, of Bremerton; Dr. A. Macrae Smith, of Bellingham; Dr. H. R. Keylor, of Walla Walla; Dr. E. Weldon Young, of Seattle; Dr. W. T. Thomas, of Tacoma, and Dr. J. Clinton McFadden, of Seattle, members of the new state medical examining board.

Dr. Thomas and Dr. McFadden are the osteopathic members provided by the new law; the others are members of the regular profession. Two homeopathic members have not yet been named.

DECISION REVERSED IN SANTA FE REBATE CASE

San Francisco, May 5—Holding that the trial court was in error in having stricken from the record certain testimony tending to show the intent of the railroad company in accepting a lower freight rate than that fixed by its freight tariff on file with the interstate commmerce commission, the United States circuit court of appeals reversed the decision of the district court at Los Angeles in the case onf the United States against the Santa Fe railroad company, wherein the company was found guilty on sixty-six counts of rebating on shipments of lime between Nelson, Arizona, and Los Angeles, and fined $330,000, and remanded the cause for a new trial.

The appeal was heard by Judges Gilbert, Ross and Morrow.

ROOSEVELT'S MARKSMANSHIP ASTONISHES THE NATIVES

Nairobi, British East Africa, May 3.—Theodore Roosevelt bagged one more lion yesterday at Wami, near Kapiti. This gives him a total of three lions and one lioness on the present expedition. Kermit Roosevelt succeeded in bringing down a cheetah. The hunting was exciting and both marksmen did excellent work.

It is rumored in native sources, but the reports lack confirmation, that the Roosevelt party will arrive at Nairobi on May 15, before proceeding to Sorik

The lion killed by Mr. Roosevelt yesterday was brought down at close range. His quick work with the rifle saved the lives of some of his mounted escort, who had narrow escapes from the infuriated beast The accuracy of Mr. Roosevelts marksmanship is a matter of astonishment.

New Idea Is Spreading

New Y ork, May 3.—The directors of the Erie Railroad Company have formally accepted the conditions of the public service commission in the second district, stipulating that 75 per cent of the Erie's bondholders must assent to the company's plan for a $30,000,000 bond issue.

IN FAVOR OF DISPOSAL

FEW SOLONS AGREE WITH GOVERNOR ON CAPITOL LAND SALE

Majority Think Intention Was to Have Sale Take Place as Soon as Details Could Be Arranged. Timber Cruisers Meet With Capitol Commission.

Olympia, May 3.—The capitol commission, created by the last legisalture for the sale of the capitol granted lands to raise money to pay off the old indebtedness and to build a new capitol, will meet this afternoon. Gov. Hay will present the poll of the legislature that he has made. This shows that of the 134 members of the house and senate (the Thurston county members were not asked, as Gov. Hay says he knows how they stand), only 12 are listed under the column headed "agree with the governor." Of these seven are house members and five are senators.

J. C. Hubbell has the distinction of being the only one who thinks that the capitol should not be at Olympia. Forty-one think there should be no haste in the sale of the lands, while only three labored under the delusion that the land was not to be sold at once.

At the meeting Monday a number of timber cruisers will be present to go over with the commission the best plan for determining the value of the lands. It is possible that one of those present will be selected to take charge of the cruising.

ABDUL HAMID RULES NO MORE

London, April, April 29.—A Constantinople dispatch says Abdul Hamid was dragged yesterday from his room in Yildiz palace, where he had taken refuge. He was taken before a deputation. Seeing them he turned pale and cried in terror: "Why do you want my life?' There was no reply. Still trembling, Abdul proceeded:

"I reigned thirty-three years, but have done ill to nobody. Why do you want my life?'

Still no reply was vouchsafed. The Sultan continued:

"I made war with Greece. Why do you want my life?'

"For thirty years," the sultan continued, "I treated my brother Mehemed well. Any other sultan would have had him killed. So why do you want my life? Still there was no reply.

After a pause, longer than the others, the sultan tottered to his feet and said:

"Take me to the palace at Cheragan with my family. I was born there, there let me die "

Later in the day there was some discussion as to what should be done with the deposed sultan. It was finally decided that he must remain in Constantinople, where he could be under surveillance.

NEW SULTAN IS CHOSEN BY NATIONAL ASSEMBLY

Constantinople, April 28.—The reign of Abdul Hamid II ended yesterday with his deposition and the succession of his brother, Mehemmed Reschad Effendi, as Mehemmed V. The name is a variation of Mahomet or Mohammed. It is considered inappropriate to assume the precise name of the prophet. Mehemmed is the thirty-fifth sultan of Turkey, in male descent, of the house of Osman, the founder of the empire, and the twenty-ninth sultan since the conquest of Constantinople in 1453.

The two houses of parliament, meeting as a national assembly, approved the decree of deposition, which was read by Sheik Ul Islam, chief of the Ulemas, and supreme judge on ecclesiastical questions. The document recites that Abdul Hamids acts were contrary to the sacred law and set forth a long list of crimes, the whole making a terrible indictment. The assembly chose Reschad as sultan and appointed committees to notify the dethroned sultan and his successor. The firing of 101 guns announced at 2:30 in the afternoon to the waiting people that a new sultan had been proclaimed.

New Professors Named

State College Pullman May 4.—Prof. Charles Isaacs who for the past two years has had a leave of absence and has been attending Columbia university New York has been elected professor of mathematics in the State College. Prof. Isaacs will receive the Ph. D. degree this year. C. C. Thom, late of Guelph, Canada, has been appointed soil physicist of the college. Prof. R. W. Thatcher, hitherto acting superintendent of farmers institutes, has been elected superintendent of farmers' institutes. O. M. Olson has been elected deputy superintendent.

Three Towns Incorporate as One

Concrete, Wash., May 3.—Incorporation carried by an overwhelming majority at the election held here for the purpose of determining whether or not the trio of towns of the upper Skagit valley—Baker, Concrete and Superior—should become incorporated as a town of the fourth class. The town was incorporated under the name of Concrete, and has a population of about 1,200.

BUILDING TO MUSIC.

How Maj. Kennon Got Work Out of Filipinos.

Major L. W. V. Kennon, now commanding a battalion of the Tenth Infantry at Fort Benjamin Harrison, in building the famous Benguet road through the mountains of northern Luzon, Philippine Islands, accomplished a feat called humanly impossible. It took music, money and a mongrel army of 4,000 men to do it, but Benguet road stands to-day one of the remarkable highways of the world.

Major Kennon's army of 4,000 road builders rested only Sunday. For ten hours of each day they forged ahead. Sunday they rested in their quarters, houses built of poles and grass. They amused themselves with dances, cards and games that appealed to the different nationalities. Major Kennon introduced music as one of the attractions along his lonely highway. He is known for his resourcefulness, and he does not deny that he used music to get better work out of the pleasure-loving Filipinos and other orientals. They did not like to work, and when they did it was with slow, sluggish movement.

One day Major Kennon decided to try music as an impetus to zeal. He assembled his band, made up of men of all nations, and ordered it to move quietly and secretly to a place where several hundred Filipinos were engaged in drilling holes in the canon walls. The band stole up behind the slow-going drillers and suddenly struck up a favorite oriental air. Instantly the Filipinos caught the spirit of the music and began to beat their drills against the rock in rhythm.

The result was more than a surprise to the resourceful Kennon. He kept that band busy after that. It followed the Filipinos along the way and played wherever they worked. From laborers worth about 10 cents a day he developed them into musical machines that worked to drum beats. Major Kennon insists that his band saved the Philippine government thousands of dollars.

A bet had been made between Major Kennon and his foreman on one side and the members of the Philippine commission on the other side that the road would not be open by Jan. 31, 1905. The story of the bet was borne from tongue to tongue along the road. Major Kennon promised each man a cigar if they won the bet. The effect was good. The army of 4,000 bent to their work, there being a man to every seven feet of the road on the last lap into Baguio. Jan. 29, two days before the expiration of the wager, Major Kennon rode into Baguio in a carriage. He was received there as a prince returned. There was a great celebration, and all the men in the Kennon army smoked a good cigar marked "The Kennon Special," each with a label bearing the major's picture.—Indianapolis News.

HE DID HIS BEST.

What may happen while red tape is being unwound is the obvious point of this story from Judge. It was clear that the elderly man was from the country. For several minutes he stood on the sidewalk, gaping up at the top story of a tall trust company building across the way. Then he scratched his head and stroked his chin.

"Wa-al," he muttered, "it may be all right, I s'pose, but I might's well find out."

He crossed the street, pushed his way into the trust company offices and approached the nearest window. The brass plate over it was inscribed, "New Accounts."

"Well?" asked the man behind the window without looking up from his ledger.

"Wa-al," drawled the other, "it may be all right and correct, of course, but while I was looking over—"

"The bookkeeper'll fix that for you. Third window to the left."

After slight hesitation the man from the country made his way over to the bookkeeper's window.

"Well, sir, what can we do for you?" demanded the bookkeeper.

"Nothing. I do' know why they sent me over to you. I ain't got any account here. I was just wondering if you happened to know—"

"Information department," said the bookkeeper, brusquely. "Sixth window to the right."

The countryman started to say something, but the bookkeeper had resumed his writing, so the farmer walked over to the "information" window.

"Say!" he opened up, without waiting for an invitation. "You folks needn't be so flossy. I just wanted to tell your old company that their—"

"Complaint department. Last window, rear!" growled the clerk.

The countryman glared. For an instant he seemed undecided; then, his jaws set with determination, he strode down to the complaint window.

"Well, what's the trouble with you?" demanded the complaint clerk.

"Ain't none-" snapped the countryman. "I just wanted to say to your old company that it appears to me as how their building is—"

But he got no further. "Fire! fire! fire!" came the cry from all parts of the building. Instantly everything became bustle and confusion.

"Humph!" grunted the disgusted countryman, as he followed the crowd out. "They'd 'a' known it half an hour ago if they'd only listened to me."

Patience becomes a habit quicker with a woman than with a man.

The bachelor is punished already, not only in losing the joys of a home, but in being an object of contumely. So long as bachelors are willing to put up with all the losses they sustain in celibacy far be it from the majesty of the law to impose further penalties. It was Cicero or a man of his day who remarked that it was onerous for a man to get along with a wife, but impossible to get along without one. The bachelor is not a man—only a more or less imitation of one—sometimes a very poor one. He thinks he has a good time in escaping all the major responsibilities of life, but he is deceiving no one but himself. As an example and a warning he has his uses in society. As an individual he is apt to find that he is eating only apples of Sodom. The man who deliberately remains a bachelor is already punished enough. Let him alone in his misery until some nice girl comes along and carries him off. And we may remark that no man is a bachelor of his own initiative—no matter how much he may think so. He is simply a human derelict whom the women have examined and passed by. The bachelors are the disjecta membra of society whom no woman will have. That is awful and it is enough.

The successful Wall street man's life is not always a path of roses. The millionaires carry more troubles than the poorer fraternity. The big man's working day does not always end when he shuts his desk at three or four o'clock. The head of one large Stock Exchange house that does an international banking business not only works all day, but never goes to bed without a supply of pens and paper ready at hand with which to make a note of ideas that float into his head during the night. This particular financier has had a romantic career. He began life on this side as a peddler of shoe strings. Having earned a few dollars, he conceived the idea of meeting incoming ships and changing money for foreigners. This business proved most lucrative. By and by he engaged one or two "runners" to attend to the vessels he himself could not meet, and in due course he opened a small office near the main piers. The role of money changer became profitable beyond all expectations. From the small office he moved to more commodious quarters in the heart of the financial district and blossomed out as a member of the New York Stock Exchange. To-day, as indicated, he is a millionaire, but he has never lost the industrious habits to which he owes the foundation of his remarkable success. He jokingly remarks that most of his best ideas come to him while Wall street sleeps.

Since America is composed of half the races of the earth, Americans, taken altogether, are amazing polyglots. But those of us who were born to the English language and no other are said to be woefully deficient in knowledge of foreign tongues. Such an assertion is hard to verify. Americans are living all over the world; we are great travelers. and we are an alert, acquisitive people. If it is true that at scientific and political congresses foreigners understand our delegates better than our delegates understand them, then it may be argued that our men in various intellectual pursuits have not been trained as they should be in German and French, which are almost indispensable to one who pretends to keep up with the best thought of the world. Moreover, if, as a professor of many years' experience in examining candidates for admission to a large college has recently written, boys who have studied "advanced" French and German cannot read easy prose in those languages at sight, then no doubt our school methods are not so good as they should be. It is doubtful, however, if a language can be learned well, even in a good school, along with the other necessary subjects. Language is learned by use. The scientific man with mind enough to be valuable in his subject can get for himself any language that he needs. Moreover, all other nations are inviting us to neglect their tongues by their universal willingness to learn English. Perhaps we need all our energies to master our language ourselves. Francois Coppee, when asked if he knew English, replied, "No, I am still busy studying French." The true charge against us as a nation is that we do not devote enough time and zeal to the magnificent instrument we have inherited.

CITY TO PLANT FRUIT TREES.

Tropical Orchards in Yards and Gardens for Jacksonville, Fla.

That Jacksonville will be metamorphosed into a city beautiful next winter seems assured. The initiative taken by the Board of Trade in a movement to plant tropical fruit trees in the gardens and yards of residences in that city has struck a popular chord, having met with popular approval of property owners. Those who have tried to adopt the plan will endeavor to persuade their neighbors to fall in line.

Growing tropical plants in Jacksonville seems to many people, no doubt, absurd, the Times-Union of that city says. However impracticable it may appear, the plan will be carried out to a successful realization. Some years ago large and handsome orange trees were even thriving in the streets of the city and scattered about the country were numerous bearing groves. These were greatly admired by the Northern tourists, who, although comparatively small in number in those days, visited the State annually and spent much of the winter here. Along came the freeze of 1895 and wiped out of existence within one night practically every orange tree then growing in or near the city. The cold wave not only wrought havoc here, but entered the very heart of the State, nipping and damaging tender vegetation. Since the freeze no effort to restore tropical fruit trees here has been made, it being contended by many that the tender plants could not withstand the occasional cold and that any effort put forth in the direction would prove useless expense.

Now comes the discovery of the trifoliata stock, which remains dormant during the entire winter months and is of sufficient toughness to withstand cold of a much greater temperature than that which is usually blown Floridaward. Onto this hard, tough stock can be budded orange, grapefruit, tangerine and other citrus fruit. If planted out during the month of March the tree would blossom the coming spring and bear fruit the following winter.

Wrong Guess.

"A fellow tapped me on the head once and said——"

"I know all about it. He was a phrenologist and he said: 'You have a well-developed bump of wisdom.'"

"Nothing of the sort. He was a footpad and he said: 'Gimme yer watch!'"—Birmingham Age-Herald.

HATS

THIS is the way a printer pictures a hat when he has nothing but plain rule to work with. We could show real pictures of real hats but the hats themselves look so much better that you ought to come in and see them first hand.

It's a strong line you'll find here. Hats of every shape and color. They are all good hats—we've not been able to find any better—and the prices marked on them won't scare you.

Whether you want the hat for day or evening, sunshine or rain, Sunday or every other day, you'll find it in this shop.

New spring Shirts too—and Collars, Cravats, Underwear, etc., etc.

A PORTION OF THE CASCADE COURT.

The Palace of Oriental Exhibits forms one of the twelve mammoth display buildings first completed by the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition Its lines are in pleasing contrast to the Agricultural and Manufacturers buildings, with which they are grouped, and their position overlooks the beautiful formal gardens and water display of the Cascades and Geyser Basin.

The exhibit placed within the walls of the Oriental building constitutes one of the most gorgeous displays of Far Eastern art and manufactured articles ever shipped from the Orient, and is bewildering in beauty and extent. Not a country of Asia is without representation, and treasures of old and modern art, never before permitted to leave the lands in which they were created, will be seen for the first time in the land of the Occident. The matter of arrangement of the Oriental exhibit has been placed in the hands of the most competent and artistic men at command and its display will be worthy of the magnificent collection.

About the Oriental building are gathered the great buildings housing the United States exhibit and the Alaska, Hawaiian and Philippine displays. One of the largest bandstands is within close distance, and from its doors the most noted musical organizations of the world will be heard daily.

R. D. WILLSON
HARDWARE CO.

MRS. W. A. WILLSON

Miss Anna Lilly Fields, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Fields, was born at Laclede, Mo., July 17, 1877, and died at the home of her brother, Rev. D. C. Fields, at Salem, Oregon, April 28, 1909. In the fall of 1891, she came to Port Angeles with her parents, and on August 16, 1905, was united in marriage with Wm. A. Willson.

For the past ten months Mrs. Willson has not been in the best of health, and on April 19th went with her husband to Salem, hoping that the change might prove beneficial, but this was not to be and she passed away on April 29th, as above stated.

As a girl, Mrs. Willson attended school in Angeles, afterwards graduating at the Ellensburg Normal, and teaching in the public schools of this city for a number of years. She was one of Angeles' most highly respected Christian ladies, a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church and also of the Eastern Star. As a teacher she was always popular and painstaking, and one whose life has been spent teaching the blessings of Christian living to the scholars and in her home and exemplifying it to others in her own life. Though unassuming yet foremost in all church and school work, her life has been a blessing to all who have had the pleasure of her acquaintance. She leaves to mourn her loss a husband, father and three brothers, C. W. Fields, Rev. D. L. and Edgar Fields.

Funeral services were held Saturday, May 1st, at the home of A. D. Willson, conducted by Rev. Hixson. Her remains were laid at rest in Ocean View cemetery, there to wait the resurrection morn. The sympathy of the entire community is extended to the bereaved relatives.

SEQUIM.

May Day was an ideal one, and everybody was out in their Sunday best, taking in the sunshine and other good things. The ball game between Sequim and Dungeness was won by the latter. Sequim, however, won the foot race. Mr. Chris Miller was busy all day with his automobile, and Mr. Bennett and Mr. Wilcox with their autos, and Mr. Lewis Cays with his motor buggy, all of Dungeness, were shining around and making things lively for everybody. The dance at the opera house in the evening was largely attended and everybody had a good time.

Our Board of Trade is working for the interests of Sequim, judging from the number of projects on hand that are expected to prove beneficial to our community.

The monthly meeting of the S. P. D. Co. was held Monday evening at the home of F. T. Balch.

Capt. Horne has a new $2,000 auto. He was kept busy May day giving all his friends a ride.

Mrs. Thos. Jones, formerly of Sequim, is very ill at her home in Port Townsend. She has many friends here who wish for her speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Webster, Mrs. W. H. Hamilton and Mrs. Bert Ward, called on their old friends, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jones, at Port Townsend, the other day.

The Woman's Relief Corps gave an ice cream social and a chicken supper Wednesday evening. The event was a grand success, socially and financially. The proceeds are to be used by the G. A. R. to help them pay for the hall they have bought and will remodel for the use of the two organizations and for public entertainment.

Mrs. Emily Vancise died at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John McDonald last Thursday, aged 69 years. The Woman's Relief Corps has been taking care of her for the past month. She was a great sufferer, but has gone to rest.

Mrs. Frank Duncan and daughter left for Michigan last Tuesday to visit relatives. They expect to be absent all summer.

William Edward Grant, for the past nineteen years a resident of this section, was taken up Tuesday night upon complaint of neighbors and tried on the charge of insanity Wednesday before an insanity board which ordered him committed to the hospital at Steilacoom. Grant was committed to the asylum ten years ago and was discharged after serving three years. Since that time he has resided in Port Angeles and has seemingly bothered no one. During the past three months, however, he had been quite violent at times and has frightened the women of the neighborhood to such an extent that they deemed it wise to send him back.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union will have a silver medal contest in the opera house Saturday evening, May 8th. Admission 10 cents. Program to begin at 8:15.

Pacific W. F. C. No. 21 is still on deck and holding her own, though many members have been sick and quite a number are non-residents. Still there are the "faithful few" that can always be depended upon and are always found on duty at each regular meeting. Preparations are being made for a Corps Fair in the fall. One member gives the use of her house and two sewing machines every alternate Thursday where the members take their lunch and spend the day in sewing for the fair and always have a social time. The Post and Corps held one of their famous "deutch markets" last Friday eve. which was a success socially and financially. Memorial day occupies the attention of the Post and Corps at present.

C. B. Maxfield,
Press Correspondent.

A very pretty but informal wedding took place Wednesday, May 3rd, at two p. m. at the residence of Mrs. Mulholland, corner 10th and Oak sts., Miss Olive Clark of Muskegon, Michigan, and Mr. William Bender of the well known Buckhorn ranch being the principal parties. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. Rogers of the Episcopal Church. The decorations were very simple, the colors being green and white. The bride was dressed in a white net all-over lace dress, and wearing a wreath of apple blossoms in her hair. After the ceremony a dainty luncheon was served by Miss Anna Albertson and Master William Bender. It all made a very pretty and dainty affair. After luncheon, the bridal party started for the ranch where they were received by friends and neighbors with some very valuable presents.

Rex Eckley returned to Port Angeles Saturday after an absence of a year or more in Oklahoma. Mr. Eckley and sister were in business in Oklahoma, which they have sold, and they say that they have enough of that very changeable climate. Miss Eckley remained in Everett to assist her brother Guy who is in business there.

The W. C.T.U. will meet in the Congregational Church Friday, May 14th, at 3 p. m. Everybody welcome.

Sheriff's Sale.

Cause No. 2420.

In the Superior Court of the State of Washington for Clallam County.

Mamie L. Cain and John Cain, her husband, Plaintiffs, vs. August Biebusch, A. C. Trebus and Jane Doe Trebus, his wife, John Morrisey, as Administrator of the estate of Adam Weidinger, deceased, Louise Weidinger, Philip Weidinger, Lena Weidinger, Rose Weidinger, Barbara Traglauer Johann Weidinger, Geo Franz Weidinger, and Appolonia Schirmmann, Defendants.

Under and by virtue of an Order of Sale on Special Execution issued out of and under the seal of the Superior Court of the State of Washington, holding terms at Port Angeles, in and for said county, on the 27th day of April, A. D. 1909, upon a judgment rendered in said court on the 6th day of April, 1909, in favor of Mamie L. Cain and John Cain, her husband, and against August Biebusch, et al, for the sum of Ten Hundred and Seventy-one and no 100 Dollars, together with attorney's fees, interest, costs and increased costs, and to me directed and delivered, commanding me to sell the following described property to satisfy said judgment, to-wit:

Parents seem to have prejudices that are exceeding strong against having their offspring kidnapped. We should respect these prejudices even where we cannot fully understand them. There is a story that after the Charleston earthquake a resident of the shaken city sent his 6-year-old son out of the danger and confusion to the youngster's grandfather in New York. Three days after the boy's arrival the Charleston man received this telegram from his father: "Send us your earthquake and take back your boy." When the boy is vociferous or offensive it may be well to remember that there are things that might be worse. Kidnapping, for example.

TRUMPET CALLS.

Ram's Horn Sounds a Warning Note to the Unredeemed.

Putting little thoughts in big words adds nothing to their weight.

It takes more courage to be laughed at than it does to be shot at.

The question of what the Lord will do for us depends upon what we will trust Him to do.

Love is blind, but vain regret has good eyesight.

We can never do our best until certain we are right.

It is the moderate drinker who keeps the saloon going.

Blinking at the sun can never make an eagle out of an owl.

When some people have nothing to say they talk the most.

The Lord will give us credit for what we would do if we could.

We lose much by looking in the wrong direction for our happiness.

It is doubtful if the man who makes a long prayer ever expects a quick answer.

Many a man who sets out to kill a giant is tripped up by an old barrel hoop.

You can't tell much about a city's righteousness by counting the church steeples.

A politician can see no more of the public good than he can see from the public crib.

It was the disciples who did not go to the mount of transfiguration who could not cast out devils.

When a man begins to talk about the necessity for economy he always looks straight at his wife.

Some people are always down at the heels because they never try to hit any kind of a nail on the head.

PAYING FOR THE WHISTLE.

The story told by Franklin of how he bought a whistle is familiar to every reader. Since Franklin's time the demand for whistles has not been so great. Indeed, railroad commissioners would no doubt say that the demand is loud and frequent for the silencing of all whistles. But among the wild tribes of the Rocky Mountains whistles are still in good demand. In his book on "Sport and Life in the Hunting Grounds of Western America," Mr. Baillie-Grohman tells how he turned a steam-whistle to good account. He was the first to put a steamboat on the Kootenai River of British Columbia. This was done in 1884, and it took some time for the novelty to wear off.

The Midge was the first steamer to navigate any part of the Kotenai River or Lake, and can therefore claim to be a historical craft.

Among the Flatbows it created the most profound surprise, the whole tribe dashing down to the river bank when they heard the infantile puffs.

The biggest thing about the Midge was the whistle, and to get permission to pull the string and send forth a shrill blast was the most prized privilege I could bestow on any buck whom I desired to distinguish.

This I turned to practical use, for as dry wood was unobtainable for fuel, driftwood on the river banks had to be used. So long as I provided a "buck-saw," the like of which these primitive Indians had never seen, they were quite ready to cut up big stacks at different points on the river in return for a few minutes at the whistle, or, what was equally prized, getting their canoes towed.

This was an economical way of solving a difficulty which besets most pioneer steamers navigating the waters of uninhabited countries, and generally causes either much delay in having the crew land and cut the necessary supply, or considerable expense by having to establish wood camps along the route.

When Dollars Looked Big.

In one of the magazines lately issued there was an account of the method of running the government wherein among other startling statements the author asserted that the annual receipts and expenditures of the national treasury were sometimes as high as $100,000,000, says the Washington Star. The writer had evidently never heard of the "billion-dollar congresses."

When this article was shown to one of the senators from Illinois he remarked that it reminded him of a man who lived in a Connecticut town in the early '60's.

It appears that when Lincoln was a candidate for re-election the Republicans made every effort to get the support of this man, but in vain. Finally one of them asked him why it was that he would not support Lincoln.

"I'll never vote for a Republican as long as I live," was the emphatic reply. "Why, they're ruining the country. Take Lincoln himself. Why, he's spent more'n $75,000 already trying to put this war down, and he ain't stopped yet."

About 80 per cent of New Year's resolutions relate to economy, and about 20 per cent to a desire for improvement in character.

With the coming of Lent, the man who swore off the first of the year can catch his second wind.

Prescription for Nervous Men and Women. Try It

The impairment of the nervous force in men and women is first manifested by extreme nervousness, sleeplessness, dread, worry and anxiety without reason, trembling of the hands and limbs, with the slightest exertion, heart palpitation, constipation, kidney trouble, and a general inability to act rationally at all times as others with health in their bodies do.

In a half pint bottle get three ounces of syrup sarsaparilla compound and add to this one ounce compound fluid balmwort, and let stand two hours; then get one ounce compound essence cardiol, and one ounce tincture cadomene compound (not cardamom); mix all together, shake well and take a teaspoonful after each meal and one at retiring.

Warning Notes Calling the Wicked to Repentance.

Our heaviest burdens are the ones we borrow.

It is easier to be contented without riches than with them.

No matter how much religion we claim to have, all that counts is what we live.

Love for God takes in everybody else.

It is hard to live any higher than we look.

Tearing one leaf out of the Bible spoils the whole book.

You can't tell how much a good man is doing by the pay he gets.

There are folks who call keeping the ten commandments running into fanaticism.

We have never trusted God in earnest until we have trusted Him in the dark.

The character of Moses will still be as good as new when the pyramids are gone.

It never makes meanness any whiter to baptize it and take it into the church.

Every wife who has to live with a drunken husband knows that the devil is still loose.

Lazarus did more for the Lord without saying a word than Martha did with all her talk.

When a man treats his mule better than he does his wife the devil likes to hear him talk in church.

It would soften the push of the door in the book agent's face if we could only see the little hands that stretch out to him for bread.

BRUTUS, THE VEGETARIAN.

Twelve years is a long time for a cat to live, unappreciated, but Brutus never seemed to mind. The tenor of his life had run smoothly, in spite of constant gibes and jeers from the man of the house, who had no liking for a cat that loved asparagus above all things, and refused to show the least interest in a live mouse.

"If you will insist on calling him 'brute,' I shall have to name him Brutus,' the gentle mistress had remarked to her husband one day, while the peace-loving cat was still a kitten; so Brutus he was from that hour, a queer, big, unoffending creature, that not only declined to catch mice, but utterly disdained meat of all kinds dining contentedly every noontime on a plain cold boiled potato, with perhaps a bit of lettuce, or on special feast-days a dish of asparagus.

For years he was a neighborhood joke, a harmless, amusing oddity, until one morning a terrible commotion called the mistress of the house to her kitchen window. It seemed that the small kitten belonged to the neighbor on the north had scaled her fence, and the fierce little bulldog belonging to the neighbor on the south had crept under his, and now the two were met in unequal combat in the back yard where Brutus had so long held peaceful sway.

"Call your dog off! Get him away, quick!" the neighbor behind the north fence was demanding excitedly, while the neighbor behind the south fence was wringing her hands and protesting that her dog would not mind, and he would surely kill the kitten, and what in the world could they do!

Just at this point 12-year-old vegetarian Brutus, the cat without spirit, roused from a peaceful snooze on top of a barrel, and giving a mighty leap into the midst of the fray, furnished that bulldog with a surprise.

It was a snarling, clawing, merciless surprise, it shed blood and caused howls of pain, but it was thoroughly effective, for in less than two minutes it sent the bulldog, whipped, slinking home to his own back yard, while Brutus calmly picked up the frightened kitten by the nape of the neck and caried it straight to its mistress.

This done, he resumed the barrel-top, an appreciated cat, and since that moment no silken cushion in the neighborhood has been too fine to hold Brutus, the hero.

New Book of Kings.

A fine book might be written upon the psychology of royalty, containing all the human documents that have come down to us from the rulers of the past. Such a book would make us think more kindly of those rulers—even of that long line of the kings of Israel of whom we are told nothing except that they did evil in the sight of the Lord.—London Times.

One Left.

"Santa Claus brought me a little baby sister for Christmas," confides the small girl from next door. "He did? That was fine!" answers the neighbor. "Yes; an' it's th' only present me an' Freddie got that papa has not broken already windin' it up an' showin' us how it runs."—Judge.

A Trained Taste.

"But, Dorothy, dear, don't you care for this lovely sunset?"

"Why, you know very well, mamma, that I've got lots of picture post cards that are much lovelier."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

One of the queer things about a man is the way he thinks it is impossible for any woman not to admire him.

IMPERISHABLE CEDAR

Clallam County Has Many Similar Trees, whose Death Antedated the Birth of Columbus.

An extraordinary illustration of the almost imperishable nature of Washintgon's red cedar is furnished in some shingles recently cut in a Washington mill and sent east for exhibition purposes. Those shingles were cut from a moss covered log lying on the ground, and which had growing over it another tree, the roots of which encircled the fallen log. The growing tree had 750 rings, which indicate, according to the accepted theory, that it was 750 years old. Yet its growth started after the tree from which the shingles were cut had fallen to the ground. Here was a cedar log fallen and limbless, which had been exposed to the weather for not less than 750 years and yet was free from rot to the extent that merchantable shingles could be sawed from it. Every man who has worked in the woods or in clearing land in this state has seen similar instances of the ability of red cedar to resist the ravages of time.

In alluvial soil along the river banks, in digging ditches, cedar logs have been found covered by four or five feet of alluvium which were yet sound save for a few inches on the extreme outside, although under similar conditions almost any other wood would have decayed in a few years. Conjecture halts at any attempt to estimate the length of time which might have elapsed since those logs were growing trees.

It may be added that the shingles from this tree which fell 750 years ago were as sound and in all respects as good as any cut from standing timber. Indeed, they could hardly be distinguished from the ordinary run of shingles from a mill, save possibly by their deeper color. Such a showing as this is a splendid advertisement of the value of Washington shingles; and Washington is the leading shingle making state of the country by a very large lead over all the others.—Post Intelligencer.
