PRESIDENT EARLING ANNOUNCES PLANS

FIRST DEFINITE STATMENT MADE

Milwaukee Will Commence Building Line to Straits Early Next Year. Exact Route Not Decided.

A. J. Earling, president of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, accompanied by Percy A. Rockefeller, son of Wm. Rockefeller, and other directors; H. B. Earling, general superintendent of the Milwaukee; A. L. Flewelling, president of the Milwaukee Timber Company, and Henry E. Wing, of the legal department of the Milwaukee system, arrived in Seattle Monday evening over the C. M. & P. S. in a special train of four cars.

Railroad men familiar with the traditions of the old St. Paul have been ready to accept as probable the unofficial statements appearing in the past few months that the Milwaukee would vigorously carry out in Washington its well known and historic policy and develop large areas of productive territory tributary to its new main line to Seattle.

For obvious reasons, President Earling, of the parent corporation, and President J. R. Williams, of the new company, have refused to make public these plans, and the preparations made by St. Paul interests to enter upon and develop the untapped and virgin timber and agricultural regions of this state have become known only through reports gained of the work of Milwaukee surveying parties of the Northwest.

Mr. Earling refuses to be definite as to the amount of money that will be spent in the immediate construction of feeders, or branch lines, but it is known that months ago the St. Paul directors laid plans for a bond issue of $50,000,000, of which $25,000,000 would be set aside for the construction of branch lines in the far Pacific Northwest.

From statements made by Mr. Earling on his present trip West it is apparent that a large part of this sum will be spent in Washington.

Lines to tap the wheat fields of central Washington, timber districts of Puget sound and the Coast, and the coal measures of King county, are principal features of President Earling's announcements.

"Our line is in superb condition," said Mr. Earling, "so much better than I had expected that it has been an agreeable surprise to me. We began ballasting once the rails were laid and did not draw this work along, completing it at once. We have been more than recompensed by the heavy traffic we are already enjoying and the present condition of the line.

"We intend to build branch lines as quickly as possible. Our surveys north of Grays harbor have been completed, and next season shall see our line started toward the straits. As yet no definite announcement can be made concerning which of the surveys will be accepted, but we will build, that is settled.

"The line to tap the coal and timber near Enumclaw will be started next week. It is our intention to build into the Moses Lake district. The Tacoma Eastern is being extended some twenty miles to tap new timber districts. We have a number of branch lines in contemplation, but it is mere guess work to say whether there will anything come of the surveys we have made. When the business warrants it we shall build.

"We have made our offer for a fast mail service to the government and it is up to the government to decide whether it will accept or not. But today we can give any service that is demanded, as is evident from the fast freights we have sent over our line. Our road is in such splendid condition that we could start such service today.

"The fast mail to the Coast means considerable to the people out here, and is a fine recognition by the government of the importance of the Western country, especially of Puget sound. Its growing importance with the Orient, with Alaska and all Pacific shores is made more evident by the desire for such a service by the government. If we get the contract we shall have one of the finest mail trains in the entire country, and it will be our aim to never let the mail come in behind time.

"As I have said before, the passenger service will not begin until July, next season. We would run trains now, but we are getting special equipment for our Coast service, and the hundreds of cars needed, the fast passenger engines required, icing houses, and the many other things to insure perfect service compel us to be slow rather than be hasty and cause inconvenience.

"Another big surprise to me has been the development of our Oriental traffic connections. We have secured much more tonnage than we first expected, and see no good reason why the visit of the Japanese commissioners should not result with our trade with Japan increasing. It will result in Puget sound becoming an entreport for the Orient that will make it the greatest of all Coast shipping points.

"I have been very much pleased, as were all the directors, with the general prosperity, evident on every hand, in the West. In the East business has revived with alacrity, and we passed the great industries at night and saw for ourselves that night shifts have been called in to supply the demands."

SIXTY THOUSAND NEWCOMERS IN OCTOBER

Transcontinental railroads are expecting a large influx of new settlers to the Northwestern states during the fall colonist season, which opened September 15. Railroad traffic officials expect fully 60,000 newcomers during the month that the rates will be in effect. The world of humanity desires a change from the monotony of a long season of winter or summer, and the people are coming West to open up for themselves new homes. They see greater opportunities here than exist in the older parts of the country, with cheaper land, better climate and more favorable surroundings than exist elsewhere. People are learning that there is something remarkable in the equitable climate of the Northwest and more especially of the Puget sound country. It imparts health, prolongs life, and its soil produces abundantly. The logged-off lands of this section can beat the world in raising spuds. The Anacortes Citizen tells of a rancher who took from one hill 16¼ pounds of potatoes. A farmer near Coupeville recently harvested an eighteen acre crop of wheat that averaged 91 bushels to the acre. In the market reports of Monday's Tacoma News choice luscious strawberries of the everbearing variety were quoted at $4.00 per crate. These berries were the product of the rich soil of the Tacoma tideflats. Many of the stories of the enormous yield of fruit trees grown in the fertile valleys and upon the logged-off table lands of this section are almost unbelievable. And the flowers are more fragrant and beautiful than elsewhere. The people of the East and Middle West have heard of these things and are coming West to investigate for themselves. Everyone should welcome the newcomers, extend to them a helping hand, and make sure that their first impressions of the country are pleasant impressions.

NEW SHINGLE MILL ON LITTLE RIVER

L. G. McBurney, accompanied by W. M. Maxfield, left for Seattle yesterday to purchase machinery for a new shingle mill which Mr. McBurney will locate on his place on Little River, seven miles south of town. The proposed mill will possess a number of unusual features, the success or failure of which will be awaited with no little interest. A number of the mills adjacent to this city are situated on or near streams upon which power might possibly be developed, yet all are run with steam. Mr. McBurney has put in a dam and turbine wheel, giving him 56 horse power, tho as the wheel is 126 h. p. and the stream is sufficient to afford 120 h. p., he can easily secure an increase. He will put in a small mill at present, having a capacity of 40,000 shingles per day. Bolts will be used, and as the cedar, as a matter of course, lies above the stream, they will be shot down to the mill pond in shutes, to be later delivered on the floor of the mill by means of an endless chain. Mac says that tho the seven miles is a long haul, he believes the expense will more than be offset by the saving in operation, as no engineer or night watchman will be necessary, and there will be less machinery to keep in repair. Mr. Maxfield will have charge of operation and a dozen or more men will be employed. As the timber is cleared away, the stumps and refuse will be burned for it is Mr. McBurney's aim to follow in the steps of his neighbor, Mr. Coleman, who has amply proven that the growing of apples is profitable in this county, and set out a considerable acerage of fruit.

EXPOSITION LIVE STOCK SHOW GETS MORE ROOM

Seattle, Sept. 25.—The eighteen big buildings now completed at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific expeosition for housing the great live stock and poultry show, which opens next Monday morning, if placed end to end, would make one huge building 50 feet wide and nearly a mile in length. Enormous as is the space contained in these buildings, it is insufficient for the many entries made, and it has been found necessary to rent the Twenty-third avenue garage, just at the south entrance, to accommodate the overflow exhibits.

All day Saturday and Sunday there will be busy times at these great barns, for many cars and several special trains have arrived from all over the country with exhibits for the various classes. Housing and arranging more than 2,000 head of horses, cattle, sheep and swine is a stupendous task, to say nothing of the work of installing in coops and pens the thousands of wild and domestic fowls in the poultry show.

A special corps of men has been engaged for receiving and installing the exhibits, so that everything might be ready in time for the show to open Monday morning on time. The buildings were ready several days ago, and the big infield of the Stadium has been cleared and smoothed to provide what is probably the largest arena ever used in a live stock show.

The pick of the exhibits at the big Eastern and Canadian fairs will be here for the show.

As heretofore announced, there will be no charge for admission to any part of the stock or poultry show, and the buildings will be open from 9 a. m. until late in the evening. The poultry will all be judged on the second day, next Tuesday, and after that date visitors will be able to pick out the winners in the different classes. Judging in the live stock exhibition will begin next Wednesday and continue for about a week, and those interested in this department of the show will have plenty of chances to see how the judges do their work.

Complete catalogues describing every exhibit and listing the various entries will be available.

Settlers Reject overnment Offer

North Yakima, Wash., Sept. 27.—The water users under the Tieton project almost unanimously refused to consider the proposition made by the government that they raise $400,000 by assessment of $20 an acre, this money to be turned over to the government by next May, to insure the completion of the project by 1911.

When the motion was made to consider the assessment, a motion to adjourn was made and carried.

STRAHORN'S ROAD SECURES ENTRY TO CITY OF SPOKANE

Spokane, Wash., Sept. 27.—After poking at Spokane from all sides to find an inlet and outlet for a year, the North Coast, the mysterious Mr. Strahorn's toy, has at last been successful. That the mysterious road will enter Spokane on a nearly perefct grade to Howard street and Front avenue, the passenger depot site, and continue its course northeast over the Spokane International line out of Spokane, is indicated by surveys quietly carried on by Chief Engineer Pitman and his corps.

Instead of entering the city underneath the Monroe street bridge, on a grade 30 feet below the street level at Howard and Front, the North Coast is to cross the Monroe street bridge north of the river between the Great Northern right of way and the river, passing southeast across the river at Post street and continuing east along Front to Howard street.

Once in the city, it is to leave the terminal at Howard street and Front avenue in a northeasterly direction until the Spokane International main line is reached, over which line the North Coast will continue out of Spokane.

Great Pipe Line Completed

Dawson, Sept. 25.—The Yukon Gold Company's great ditch was completed last week, reaching Gold Hill. The water was conveyed from Twelve-Mile river, seventy miles from the place of its use. A volume of 5,000 inches, virtually a river, is conveyed over hills at a cost of $10,000,000, making the successful consummation of the greatest engineering undertaking in the history of the North.

STATE IS TO JUDGE

THE RAILROAD COMMISSION MAKES RULING ON SMUT QUESTION.

Terminal Inspectors Will Decide Dockage, Thereby Making the State the Arbiter — Several Prominent Farmers and Grain Dealers Present.

The establishment of a system by which smut in wheat, and the correct dockage in weight for foul wheat, may be judged by terminal inspectors, thereby placing the State as arbiter in the two most important questions arising between farmer and dealer, is the chief result of the session of the State Railroad Commission in Tacoma. The conference, called for a general revision of the State grades in grains and grasses, was attended by Washington's best known farmers and wholesale dealers.

The decision of the railroad commission, which takes the place of the recently abolished State grain commission, is important to the entire State and principally to the grain raisers east of the mountains. In the past the Eastern Washington farmer has had to take as final the decision of the purchaser in regard to the amount of foul wheat or smut in his shipment. In the future this question will be judged by a neutral party, the State grain inspector.

The State standard of smut in wheat will be established on a percentage plan, the grades ranging from 10 to 100 per cent. Samples of the various grades will be made by the authorites and sent both farmer and purchaser upon application. A committee of six men, appointed by the commission at their session, will work out the problem. Members of the committee are: State Grain Inspector S. C. Armstrong and Deputy Inspector S. S. King of Tacoma; A. W. Lee, State grain inspector of Idaho; W. E. Hyde, chief deputy inspector of Seattle; H. E. McLane, of Walla Walla, manager of the Farmers' Union, and R. L. McCroskey, Garfield, who was chairman of the State grain commission. The State railroad commission, composed of H. A. Fairchild, Jesse S. Jones and John C. Lawrence, will also remain in the ciyt to assist in the work.

Chief Change Decided On.

The decision regarding the judging of smutty and foul wheat is practically the only change as yet decided upon in the existing grain grading laws. It was reached only after exhaustive argument of the question pro and con by prominent grain men from all parts of the State. John T. Bibb, manager of the Tacoma Grain Company, and P. J. Fransioli, of the grain and hay firm of that name, were the principal speakers among the Tacoma dealers present.

Among the men attending the session from east of the mountains were P. W. Cox of Colfax, Olin D. Stevens of Hay, H. H. McLane of Walla Walla, G. W. Perrine of Colfax, and R. C. McCroskey of Garfield; A. W. Lee, chief inspector of Idaho; W. E. Hyde, chief deputy inspector at Seattle, and C. H. Lilly, hay dealer of Seattle, were also present. Senator D. H. Cox of Walla Walla, father of the present laws regulating the grading of grains and grasses, arrived before the session closed and took an active part in the closing discussions.

Several important changes were also made in the grading of hay and grasses. By the new schedule No. 1 quality timothy hay may contain as high as 15 per cent. of clover and other grasses, and No. 2 timothy as high as 25 per cent. Two grades—No. 3 timothy and Western Washington timothy—will be entirely abolished in the new schedule.

By the new rule No. 1 quality of clover hay is permitted to contain 15 per cent. of other grasses instead of 5 per cent., as heretofore. No. 2 quality may contain 25 per cent. instead of 15, as in the past. The same rules apply to alfalfa, and the No. 3 grade of alfalfa has been abolished for the new schedule.

Readjust Hay Grades.

There was considerable discussion upon the hay question. In the past there have been two No. 1 grades—one of Eastern and the other of Western Washington. Basing the decision upon the concensus of opinion of assembled dealers, who were unanimous in declaring Eastern Washington hay far superior in quality to that of Puget Sound, the commission abolished the latter No. 1 grade. In the future only Eastern Washington hay will be graded as first. There will be but the two grades of mixed hay, the No. 3 quality of the past being abolished. A new standard, to be known as "No grade," because of inferiority, will be established for both hay and straw.

The estblishment of the smut and foul wheat judging system was made largely upon the indorsement of this plan by State Grain Inspector S. C. Armstrong as a solution of the growers' and buyers' troubles of the past. The percentage plan, as sketched by the inspector, met with the approval of both. He will work out the plan with the five other men appointed on that committee at the commission's conference.

CITY OF WENATCHEE IS BUSY ON BIG REGRADES

Wenatchee, Sept. 25.—Further regrade work in Wenatchee to the amount of $80,000 has been ordered by the city council, and it is the intention to ultimately bring about the improvement of all the principal streets in the city.

Mission street, an important business street, will be improved for about a mile by grading, surfacing with crushed rock, and cement sidewalks laid on both sides of the street the entire distance, the whole improvement costing about $40,000.

Poplar and Okanogan avenues will be regraded and cement walks placed on both sides, costing in all nearly $40,000.

With these streets improved and the work on the streets now under way completed, nearly one-half the street area of the city will be in first-class condition.

A general plan for sewerage over the city is being worked out by the city engineer and next week resolutions will be introduced calling for the work on all of the principal residence streets. This will involve an expenditure of $100,000, but when completed will give a greater part of the city a complete sewer system.

It is expected that before the close of this year several other residence streets will be under way for improvement.

The regrade of Wenatchee avenue is about half completed and cement sidewalks are being laid on both sides of the street.

It is expected that the work will be completed by Dec. 1. This will give Wenatchee a fine business street, and already has encouraged outside capital to loan money for business improvements.

IRRIGRATION WORKS WONDERS IN EGYPTIAN AGRICULTURE

Dr. G. Coulthard of the British army, who has been on duty for the last five years in Egypt, and who arrived at San Francisco recently on the liner China, brings a story of miracles wrought by irrigation in a land that a few years ago was a desert, says the San Francisco Call.

The construction of great dams by the British and Egyptian governments made the miracle possible, and the muddy waters of the Nile did the rest. Thousands of square miles of what used to be desert is now yielding four and five harvests a year. To quote Dr. Coulthard:

"When a crop ripens and is reaped the land is covered with water from the Nile. This water is heavy with virgin mud, which maintains the richness of the soil and does away with the necessity for fertilizing.

"The people, slaves practically, a few years ago, are now wealthy and growing richer. This in spite of the fact that they are using the same kind of implements used in that land 4,000 years ago. The plows of today, made of wood, are exactly patterned after the hireoglyphics which were carved 40 centuries ago. We got them an American plow, but it plowed too deep and the people would not use it.

CUTTER SENT TO BRING OUT STRANDED WORKERS

Washington, Sept. 25.—One hundred American citizens stranded at Nome will be brought to Seattle on a revenue cutter.

Telegraphic orders went forward today from Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Hill directing the deputy collector of customs at Seward, Alaska, to have a revenue cutter proceed at once from Seward to Nome, there to take on board the men and women who are destitute.

Official advices said the Americans were taken to Nome by the Alaska Development & Investment Company, which, according to the official dispatch, has not paid them their season's wages, and they are now depending upon charity for sustenance.

Installing University Newspaper Plant

Seattle, Sept. 25.—Through an arrangement with W. A. Halteman, state executive commissioner for the exposition, and H. B. Dewey, state superintendent of public instruction, the linotype and presses for the University of Washington daily paper are now being installed in the educational building. The first issue of the paper will be out Oct. 4.

Peddling Law Attacked

Olympia, Sept. 25.—The validity of the 1909 peddling law was attacked in the State supreme court today when Charles D. Fullen, of Seattle, attorney for A. D. McKnight, brought habeas corpus proceedings, claiming McKnight, who had been arrested for violating the law, was unlawfully restrained of his liberty by Sheriff Hodge. The court took decision under advisement.

Light Plant Deal Fails

North Yakima, Wash., Sept. 27.—The Northwest Light & Water Company today refused to accept the offer of the city of $300,000 for the plant of the company. It is holding for $331,000, but another meeting will be held.

Mayor Armbruster is anxious for a municipal plant, and suggests securing the plant by condemnation or building a new one.

AURORA IS ACCUSED

ENTIRE COUNTRY GRIPPED BY INVISIBLE ELECTRIC STORM.

Telegraph Connection Suspended Throughout Northern Section. Also Felt in England—Weather Officials Attribute Disturbance to Aurora Borealis.

Chicago, Sept. 27.—The entire country, from the Atlantic Coast to the Pacific, was gripped Saturday by an electric storm, silent and invisible, but carrying earth currents so powerful that every telegraph wire was crippled and even the submarine cable service badly tangled.

For a time telegraph communication was supended, but late in the day the companies succeeded in re-establishing their service by sending messages far to the south, beyond the storm's zone of influence.

Weather bureau officials and telegraph experts attribute the electrical disturbance to the aurora borealis, which in turn is traceable to the exceptionally high barometer in the Northwest. Forecaster Cuthbertson, of the local weather office, said Chicago might expect an unusual supply of the aurora tonight.

The storm or disturbance was as powerful as it was far-reaching. Chicago, New York, Buffalo, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Omaha, Portland, San Francisco and many other cities were affected, and for hours practically every telegraph instrument was "dead" and not a message was sent or received. The strength of the storm was as pronounced in one section as another.

During the height of the disturbance the measuring instruments in the telegraph offices registered the presence on the wires of upward of 500 volts of electricity from the unknown source. This is a greater voltage than is supplied for the operation of any of the land wires, and it lighted several of the incandescent resistance lamps attached to the wires in the telegraph office in New York. Brilliant sparks flashed across the gaps when the telegraph keys were opened.

In Chicago the electrical currents were first felt about 5 o'clock in the morning and increased in intensity for two hours, reaching the heaviest wave at 7:10 a. m., when all the telegraph activities were at a standstill.

The force of the disturbing currents was so great that fuses were blown out and the resistance lamps lighted up brilliantly.

Shortly after 7 o'clock the currents began to subside and intermittent service was resumed. The conditions at 9 o'clock were fast becoming normal.

Prof. David Cuthbertson, in charge of the local weather bureau, declared that the phenomenon was due to the aurora borealis, which he said always accompanied a high pressure in atmospheric conditions. The center of the magnetic storm, the weather bureau declares, is in Manitoba. No weather reports ahve been received from north of Nebraska.

London, Sept. 27.—The whole telegraphic system of the United Kingdom and all cable services are seriously affected by the magnetic storm experienced here soon after noon Saturday. The underground wires suffered more than the overhead wires, the telephone systems being little affected.

The last occasion on which the wires were similarly put out of working order here was six years ago. The trouble is attributed by cable experts to the aurora borealis.

New York, Sept. 27.—For nearly three hours Saturday the telegraph, telephone and cable service of the western portion of the United States was interrupted by a severe electrical storm, which generally accompanies a display of the aurora borealis.

The magnetic influence moved rapidly westward and disappeared, so that by 9:40 a. m. communication was again established.

During the height of the electrical disturbance the measuring instruments in the telegraph offices in this city registered the presence on the wires of upward of 500 volts of electricity from an unknown disturbance. The disturbance continued intermittently throughout the day. The principal trouble was with the cable lines.

FOUR MILLION CIGARS IN ONE CARGO OUT OF MANILA

Manila, Sept. 25.—Four million cigars formed part of the cargo of the Pacific Mail liner Siberia, which sailed today for San Francisco. This is the largest shipment that has ever crossed the Pacific, and has completely cleared the market. As a result of the heavy demand for Philippine cigars since the tariff was removed, factories are beginning to advance prices.

Thirteen Cases Decided

Olympia, Wash., Sept. 25.—Thirteen decisions were handed down Saturday by the state supreme court, and it is announced that between now and October 11, when the next trial term begins, decisions on about 50 other cases will be handed down.

TAFT FAVORS BIG ISSUE OF BONDS FOR IRRIGATION

Spokane, Sept. 29.—President Taft delivered here yesterday his long-anticipated speech on the conservation of natural resources and outlined the policy of his administration on this subject, of supreme importance to all the West.

Mr. Taft broadly took the stand that while the present administration is pledged to follow out the policies of Mr. Roosevelt, such a pledge does not involve him in any obligation to carry out these policies without congressional authorization. The president added, however, that he would take every step and exert every influence upon congress to enact legislation which shall best subserve the purposes and requirements of the situation.

President Taft created a great deal of enthusiasm when he announced that he would urge upon congress the necessity of authorizing the secretary of the interior to issue $10,000,000 of bonds for the completion of irrigation projects in the West, upon which work has been suspended because of lack of funds and the discovery that the projectors, in their enthusiasm, did not closely observe the limitations of the reclamation act. Hardships have been worked upon many settlers through the suspension of work, and Senator Borah, of Idaho, and other Western senators and representatives have urged upon the president that a bond issue was the only way by which justice could be done.

Mr. Taft declared that congress did not intend that the government should undertake projects which could not be currently paid for out of the proceeds of the sales of public lands, but added that he has been impressed during his visit to the West with the necessity for immediate relief.

It was here in Spokane a while ago that the national irrigation congress met and the Ballinger-Pinchot controversy arose. The controversy was fostered by the friends and adherents of the two officials.

Secretary Ballinger was criticised by former Gov. Pardee of California, and others in the congress for having recommended and secured the reopening for entry of lands containing water power sites which had been withdrawn by Mr. Roosevelt. It was asserted that a "water power trust" had been formed to take up all of these lands and that the strong conservation policy begun by Mr. Pinchot, with the support of Mr. Roosevelt, had been practically abandoned.

President Taft today gave credit both to Mr. Pinchot and to Mr. Ballinger. He referred to the wonderful work of Mr. Pinchot and said that while that work had brought denunciation at first, it was now generally realized that the reforms inaugurated by Mr. Pinchot were not only necessary but should have been begun ten years ago.

The president defended the reopening of lands by the present administration as a compliance with existing laws and declared that Mr. Ballinger's views are in strict accord with those of the administration and that he has been helpful and will use his powerful influence as secretary of the interior to support the president in securing congressional action that will put the Roosevelt policy of conservation on a firm basis.

Mr. Taft stated that the 4,000,000 acres of water power lands withdrawn from general entry by the last administration had been reduced to 450,000 acres under the present administration. The latter number, however, he pointed out, contain more ascertained power sites than the original withdrawals.

The president further stated that it must be understood that these withdrawals are only temporary, to permit congress to act upon a recommendation he will make that the government be authorized to grant or lease power sites to private concerns, to be developed under general government control and supervision. If congress fails to act upon this recommendation, the president says, he knows of no way in which the withdrawn lands can much longer be withheld from claims filed under the general land laws.

Mr. Taft placed himself in opposition to the suggestion that settlers should be allowed a longer term than ten years in which to repay the government for water secured through government irrigation projects. He says a longer term would not conduce to thrift, and would delay work on additional projects which should be undertaken.

President Taft dictated his conservation speech on the train Monday night, sittting up until nearly 1 o'clock to complete the task. He rose at 6 a. m. yesterday to correct the manuscript, and both before and after framing the address he consulted freely with Secretary Ballinger, who has been with the president since his arrival in Denver, a week ago, and will continue as a member of the party as far as Seattle.

Since his entry into the West and the testimony of his own eyes as to the miracles wrought by a touch of water upon the virgin land, the president has become an enthusiastic exponent of irrigation, and declared today that no one could visit this section of the country without being convinced of the necessity for a proper treatment of the arid lands.

PINCHOT TO STICK

Statement By Taft Says Roosevelt Policies Must Be Carried Out Within Law—Letter to Chief Forester Praises Work Accomplished.

Salt Lake City, Sept. 27.—As a result of several long conferences with Chief Forester Gifford Pinchot here, President Taft caused to be issued a statement in which it is declared that never at any time during the Ballinger-Pinchot controversy has the president intended to reflect upon Mr. Pinchot, and in which Mr. Taft takes a more forward stand than ever in favor of the Roosevelt policies for the conservation of natural resources. The president indicates that what is to be done in the way of reclaiming arid lands must be done within the law, but he announces his intention of applying to congress for such confirmatory and enabling legislation as will put the Roosevelt policies on the firmest possible basis.

Mr. Pinchot, before leaving for Washington, also issued a statement in which he made public a portion of President Taft's letter, written to the chief forester at the time the letter to Secretary Ballinger was dictated. The president said he hoped Mr. Pinchot would not find reason in the Ballinger letter for resigning.

"I shall not resign," declares Mr. Pinchot, and he adds that he is going to continue to serve the government along the same lines he has pursued in the past, concluding with the statement:

"I believe in the equality of opportunity, and the Roosevelt policies, and I propose to stand for them as long as I have the strength to stand for anything."

Mr. Pinchot's statement was shown to the president before it was given out. In view of the published items that the letter of the president to Secretary Ballinger was to be considered in some way a reflection on Mr. Pinchot, the president today authorized the publication of the following:

"That at the time that he wrote the letter to Secretary Ballinger, he also wrote a letter to Mr. Pinchot, saying that the conclusions stated therein were not intended in any way to reflect on him; that the president deemed Mr. Pinchot's services to the public of the utmost value; that he expected to continue the policies as to the conservation of resources, including the reclamation of arid lands and the preservation of forests and the proper restrictions in respect to the use of coal lands and water power sites, as well as the improvement of our waterways, and to ask congress for such confirmatory and enabling legislation as would put these policies on the firmest basis; and that he would deem it a great loss if in respect to the matters Mr. Pinchot had been concerned, the administration should be denied the benefit of his services."

The president held a long conference with Mr. Pinchot at the Knutsford hotel after the banquet given by the Fifteenth infantry.

Mr. Pinchot's statement, which was made public at the same time, follows:

"At the suggestion of the president, I make public the following extracts from his letter to me mentioned in the statement he has just authorized:

"'I wish you to know that I have the utmost confidence in your conscientious desire to serve the government and the public, in the intensity of your purpose to achieve success in the matter of conservation of natural resources, and in the immense value of what you have done and propose to do with reference to the forestry and kindred methods of conservation; and that I am thoroughly in sympathy with all of these policies and propose to do everything that I can to maintain them, insisting only that the action for which I become responsible, or for which my administration becomes responsible, shall be within the law.

"'I should consider it one of the greatest losses that my administration could sustain if you were to leave it, and I sincerely hope that you will not think that my action in writing the inclosed letter to Secretary Ballinger is reason for your taking a step of this character.'

"These expressions by the president, which are most kind toward me and most favorable toward my work, as well as the statement authorized by him, define his attitude toward the conservation policies with convincing clearness.

"I shall not resign, but shall remain in the government service. I shall give my best efforts in the future, as in the past, to promote the conservation and development of our forests, waters, lands and minerals, and to defend the conservation policies whenever the need arises. Especially I shall continue to advocate the control of water power monopoly in the public interest, and the use of our institutions, laws and natural resources for the benefit of the plain people.

"I believe in equality of opportunity and the Roosevelt policies and I propose to stand for them, as long as I have the strength to stand for anything. GIFFORD PINCHOT."

ANSWERS TO FARMERS

R. W. Thatcher, Director State Experiment Station, Pullman.

Seattle: "I wish to know a simple method of testing desert soil, such as is found in the vicinity of Hanford, Wash., to determine the presence of alkali in such quantities as to make the land unfit for profitable cultivation. If you know of such a test I would be very thankful to learn of it, as I wish to take up a homestead in that locality this fall. M. J. V."

Since the injurious effects of alkali depend upon the amount which is present it is hardly practicable for a farmer to determine the presence of alkali in injurious quantities in this soil. A simple test, however, is to put a handful of the soil in an ordinary fruit jar, then fill the jar with rainwater, or any other water which is practically free from mineral salts, shaking well, and then allowing it to settle until some of the water is clear. Then pour off a little of this water into a dish and evaporate it on the stove, or in the open air, and see if any residue is left. If any appreciable residue remains in the dish, alkali was present in the soil.

Vetch a Good Humus.

Richalnd: "Will you kindly inform me if vetch will form a better humus in the soil than rye? Is vetch easily grown on irrigated land? Does it rot easily in a dry country? M. J. B."

Vetch makes a much better mulch for soil than rye, since vetch is a nitrogen gathering plant, and adds to the soil just the element that is lacking in most irrigated land, whereas rye does not add to the soil anything which is not originally present in the soil, except the decaying vegetation. Vetch makes a splendid growth under any conditions where there is plenty of moisture, and we think it would prove very successful with you. It will not grow up again when plowed under, in which case the seed will produce new plants. Vetch seed is quite expensive.

How to Avoid Difficulty.

Spokane: "I have a homestead in Stevens county upon which there is five acres of cleared land that I wish to put under cultivation in the spring. The land originally was covered with a scrub growth of pine and fir. I am told that the ground carries quite a bit of turpentine from the pine and fir needles, and I do not know what to do to get this out of the ground. I would also like to know the names of two or three commercial apples that will grow profitably in a climate that is hot in the daytime and cold at night, with very little rain from the early part of June until late in September. A. C. M."

The trouble you mention usually disappears after a season or two of thorough tillage. We do not know any way to avoid the difficulty, except by the use of manure or fertilizers. A green crop of peas, or clover plowed under, will accomplish the same result, but it is usually difficult to get such a crop to make any satisfactory growth. The only remedy we know is thorough tillage with repeated efforts to grow some clover crop, until the soil gets in such condition that the clover will grow, and can be plowed under. The trouble you mention is very common on logged-off lands, and while popularly supposed to be due to the presence of pitch or turpentine in the soil, we think instead that it is due to the bad condition of the soil that has never been tilled.

Richland: "I am in a position where I can obtain salmon from the river by the wagon load. What value have the fish as fertilizer on an asparagus bed, compared with horse manure, or commercial fertilizer? G. A."

Uncooked fish contains about twice as much fertilizer value as ordinary farm manure, but they are so oily as to decay very slowly in the soil. Nearly all the use that is made of fish as a fertilizer requires that they first be boiled to get rid of the oil and gelatine. Then the flesh, bones, etc., can be used for fertilizer. It is very rich in plant food, and is worth four or five times as much as ordinary barnyard manure. In fact, it compares favorably with any of the commercial manures, such as tankage, blood and bones, etc.

White Clay Is Poor.

Seattle: "I am forwarding you a sample of earth taken from some low swampy land in a creek bottom, and would like to have it analyzed. There is about eighteen inches of this on the surface, overlaying several feet of black muck. At present the land is covered with a small growth of alder and other trees that are small and it can be cleared at a comparatively small expense. G. W. W."

What you have sent to us is a white clay, such as is usually overlaid with peaty soil, or deposits of vegetable matter. We have analyzed several samples of this white clay stratum, and find it to be very poor in the essential elements of plant food, because of the leaching effect which I have just mentioned. So far as can be determined from an examination of the samples you inclose, we are in doubt very much if there would be wisdom in attempting to make agricultural land out of this kind of soil. Both the white clay and the black peat are deficient in the mineral elements of plant food, and it would probably require very heavy fertilizing with lime, phosphorous and potash fertilizers to bring the soil to a point of profitable crop production.

Two Sprays Effective.

Cashmere: "Is there any reason why arsenate of lead should not be mixed with kerosene emulsion in spraying cabbage, thereby killing both the aphis and the cabbage worms? Done on a large scale this would mean a great saving of time and expense if it is equally effective. Is there any danger to consumers in using arsenate of lead or paris green and bran mixture on cabbage that is well headed out and nearly ready for market? S. S. B."

The mixing of arsenate of lead with kerosene emulsion will not injure the quality of either spray. We doubt, also, if there would be any mechanical difficulty in mixing them. I am confident that the two sprays would be fully as effective if combined as they would be if applied singly. There is little danger to consumers from the use of arsenical poisons on cabbage, since the outer leaves are usually stripped off before use. There has never yet been reported any disastrous results from the use of these poisons upon cabbage.

We would think there was something wrong with our school system if graduates couldn't see a bright future before them.

KNAPP OFF TO SEATTLE TO FIX FREIGHT RATES

Washington, Sept. 26.—Chairman Martin G. Knapp of the interstate commerce commission, left yesterday for the Pacific coast, where the commission is to hear a series of important cases affecting the freight traffic of the entire country from the Atlantic to the Pacific seaboard.

Chairman Knapp will go directly to Seattle, where he will join the other commissioners. The first series of cases will be heard at Spokane, beginning September 29.

Commissioner Franklin K. Lane, who is in Chicago attending a meeting of the demurrage committee of the National Association of Railway Commissioners, will join the commission at Spokane this week.

Railroad Contract Awarded

Victoria, B. C., Sept 27.—Announcement was made Friday that the contract for building the 40-mile extension of the Esquimalt & Nanaimo railway from Nanaimo to Alberni has been awarded to James McDonnell and Timothy McGrath. It is also announced that following the agreement for the sale of $1,500,000 worth of timber lands on Cowichan lake, a branch will be built from a point near Duncans to Cowichan lake, a distance of 20 miles.

Churches to Enter City Politics

Everett, Sept. 25.—Ministers of the city have organized and decided to take a hand in municipal politics. Representatives from twenty-two church organizations met in the Unted Norwegian Lutheran church and appointed a committee of one from each society to act as an executive board to interview candidates for city offices and get statements pending open endorsement by the church of one "moral" candidate for each city office.

America to Claim Pole

Washington, Sept. 27.—A new map of the world, with the north pole as American territory, will be issued by the hydrographic office of the navy deparment.

AUTOMOBILE LICENSE DODGERS TO BE PUNISHED

Olympia, Sept. 25. — Secretary of State I. M. Howell has prepared a list of numbers of automobiles which have failed to pay license for the current year. This list will be placed in the hands of peace officers throughout the State and a special man from here will also go on the road to check up the lists, with the intention of causing the arrest and punishment of all persons driving cars which have failed to pay the license. Hundreds of cars are on the list.

WAR WITH MOORS SAID TO BE NEARING THE END

Paris, Sept. 25.—A special dispatch to the Matin from Melilla says that four notables of the Beni-Sicar tribe went into the Spanish camp yesterday and held a long conference with Gen. Salamo, asking for peace. Spain demanded the disarmament of the tribesmen and the surrender of persons guilty of murdering Spaniards. Hunger has attacked the Moors.

Madrid, Sept. 25.—An official dispatch received here tonight says the main body of the enemy is suing for peace and that hostilities have been suspended during the negotiations.

Bankers Life Company May Stay

Tacoma, Sept. 25.—Insurance Commissioner Schively has informed the Bankers' Life Association, of Des Moines, Ia., that the recent opinion of the State attorney general ousting certain companies from this State will in no manner affect that association. He says the company will have no difficulty in meeting the provisions of the new code.

A.-Y.-P. Cattle for Provincial Fair

New Westminster, B. C., Sept. 25.—The stock exhibit will be a feature of the provincial fair, held in this city next month. Several consignments of cattle from the A.-Y.-P. are to come, and nearly the whole of the Victoria display will be seen here, besides the animals from the district farmers.

MONTANA TO OUST TRESPASSERS ON CLAIMS

Helena, Mont., Sept. 27.—"That the State Land Agent should at once go into the field and take with him such assistance as is necessary to oust from the tract of land in question all trespassers and persons asserting rights against the state of Montana."

Such is the wording of an order issued Saturday by the State Board of Land Commissioners in what is known as the Belton controversy between the commonwealth and the forest reserve officials, involving title to a certain tract of land in section 16, township 32 north, range 19 west.

Literally construed, it means that the state land agent is directed to oust the forestry officials, even to the extent of resorting to force. Mr. Neill, the land agent, could not be seen, and it is not known if he will make requisition for state militia or avail himself of the services of residents of the community. But one thing is certain, and that is that the state will not tolerate the alleged trespass of the forestry officials, who not only warned all persons against purchasing the land when offered for sale recently by the land agent, but also built a fence around the tract and essayed to set it apart for "administrative purposes."

At this sale, the Great Northern railway was the purchaser, despite the protest of the supervisor, the price paid being $75 an acre. The forestry officials refused to vacate the land, but as a compromise later permitted the railroad company to enter thereon under a lease and to begin the construction of buildings.

The railway company then made demands upon the state, through a request on the land agent, that the property be delivered in fee simple. The board was called in special session Saturday to consider the matter, with the result indicated.

It is estimated that 1,000,000 acres are involved in the dispute.

MILITARY POMP AT JOHNSON FUNERAL

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 25.—In keeping with the dignity of the office he filled as governor of Minnesota and to the accompaniment of tolling bells, the body of John A. Johnson was escorted from the rotunda of the State capitol today with military pomp to the train which was to carry it to St. Peter, Minn., and its last resting place. A volunteer band of 100 pieces sounded the funeral march, to the solemn time of which ten companies of State militia and three batteries of artillery swung into line ahead of the hearse. Thousands of citizens followed the body.

The procession proceeded through the heart of the retail district to the union station, where a special train was standing. The casket was placed in the baggage car. The train was thrown open for the accommodation of the public, and a large number went along to St. Peter.

While the procession was passing through the streets business was practically suspended. The sidewalks were jammed with a silent throng.

The funeral train arrived at 12:45 o'clock in St. Peter. Services were held in the Presbyterian church, where the deceased was once a member of the choir. The interment was in Green Hill cemetery, beside the bodies of Gov. Johnson's father and mother.

SALVATIONISTS WILL SETTLE NEAR VICTORIA

Victoria, B. C., Sept. 25.—R. Marpole, president of the Esquimalt & Nanaimo railway, has announced in a telegram to the Colonist that Col. Lamb and Commissioner Coombs, of the Salvation Army, of London, will arrive here Monday to arrange for the settlement of large tracts along the new branches of the Esquimalt & Nanaimo railway by Salvation Army immigrants from Great Britain.

Mr. Marpole also announced that the contract for building the branch of the railroad from the present line to Alberni had been awarded to James, McDonnell & Timothy, and that the agreement for the sale for a million and a half dollars of the Cowichan Lake timber limits will be followed by the construction of a branch line from a point near Duncans to Cowichan Lake.

PROMISE BETTER SERVICE AFTER CLOSE OF FAIR

Olympia, Sept. 25.—It is stated here that Northern Pacific officials have promised the railroad commission that as soon as the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition closes additional trains will be placed on the run between Seattle and Grays Harbor points, which will give Olympia the extra trains the commission ordered. The railroad has taken an appeal to the courts to block execution of the order, but only for delay, and will drop the case in October.

Moors Chastise Spanish

Dudah, Morocco, Sept. 27.—Further native reports say that 7,000 Spaniards were killed by the Moors September 20.

According to these reports a detachment of artillery was surrounded by the tribesmen and was not afterward heard from.

While we are sighing over the past we miss the opportunity of the present.

When many examples have been noted and an average of human conduct has been ascertained, the fact remains that man desires to be honorable and is as nearly so as he may be; that the earth is good to be alive upon; that wealth will not often shove by justice; that friends are generally true; that lovers are mostly devoted; and that there is evidence of greater happiness beyond. And even when a weight of testimony collects to confute all these things, we are better off if we still strive to believe that they are true.

The popularity of what is called "practical" education has had a recent striking testimonial from Missouri. A farmer sent his son to the State agricultural college. The boy's letters so interested and excited his father that the old gentleman himself moved to the college town, entered two years later than his son, and caught up with and passed him in his studies. One of the pleasantest parts of the story is the fact that the father took and enjoyed the gymnasium work, was elected to one of the fraternities, and altogether was one of the most popular "boys" in college.

There is nothing new under the sun. The taxicab, which is probably supposed by most to be a recent invention, was in use ages ago. Ancient documents plainly show, says Prof. E. H. Parker in the Asiatic Quarterly Review, "that mechanical carts capable of registering distances traveled, by counting and recording the revolutions of very large cart-wheels, connected by cogs with other concentric or eccentric horizontal and perpendicular wheels of proportionate diameters, have been well known to the Chinese for seventeen or eighteen hundred years." On the top of the cart was a figure of a man holding a drum, which he beat when one li, a third of a mile, was traveled. Some cars had in addition a figure holding a cymbal, which was struck when the drum had been beaten ten times.

Employes of the government departments in Washington have been much disturbed by a recent order of Secretary Nagel of the Department of Commerce and Labor that the heads of bureaus under his jurisdiction should prepare a report upon the efficiency of the clerks under them. The test is reported to have disclosed the fact that one in ten of the clerks is inefficient. The proportion is surprisingly low. It is not generally known outside of Washington that a sort of efficiency record of the clerks has been kept for years. Employes have been "marked" on their work, like schoolboys, but neither by them nor by their superiors has the record been taken very seriously. Secretary Nagel's order brings to the front one of the great problems of government administration everywhere—a problem from which no nation is wholly free, and for which no perfect solution has been discovered. It is admitted by those most familiar with conditions in the United States that the work of the departments at Washington could be done by contract with private firms for less than one-half what it now costs. The working hours of the clerks are from 9 o'clock in the morning until half past 4. Throughout the summer months Saturday is a half-holiday, and every clerk has thirty days of sick-leave during the year, and thirty days' vacation, both with full pay. Salaries range from $750 to $2,500; but those who receive more than $1,200 are more than those who receive less than that sum. The average, although not large, is higher than the payment for similar work in private employment. Nevertheless, it is not sufficient to enable clerks to lay up a fund for the time when they will be superannuated, and they have formed an organization the object of which is the establishment of civil pensions for aged government employes. In the past the United States has suffered greatly in its public service through political influence. The establishment of civil service reform has worked a great improvement, but not perfection. Moreover, since it has placed this country in line with foreign nations in the matter of civil service, it is almost inevitable that in time it will also introduce the foreign practice of civil pensions. That question, however, is too large to discuss here.

BREADLESS PEOPLE.

Baked loaves of bread are practically unknown in many parts of South Austria and Italy, as well as in the agricultural districts of Roumania, the Baker's Weekly says. In the villages of the Obersteirmark, not many miles from Vienna, bread is seldom seen, the staple food of the people being sterz, a kind of porridge made from ground beechnuts, which is taken at breakfast with broth or fried in lard and with milk again at supper. This sterz is also known as heiden, and takes the place of bread not only in Stelermark, but in Carynthia and in many parts of the Tyrol. In the north of Italy the peasantry live chiefly on polenta, a porridge made of boiled maize. The polenta, however, is not allowed to granulate, like Scotch porridge or like the Austrian sterz, but is boiled into a solid pudding, which is cut up and portioned out with a string. It is eaten cold as often as it is hot, and is in every sense the Italian peasant's daily bread. The modern Roumanians are held by many scholars to be descended from a Roman colony—in other words, to be cousins of the Italians; and, curiously enough a variation of the polenta, called mamaliga, is the national dish of Roumania. The mamaliga is like the polenta in that it is made of boiled maze, but it is unlike the latter in one important respect, as the grains are not allowed to settle into a solid mass, but are kept distinct, after the fashion of oatmeal porridge.

A Problem in Mathematics.

The town of Sturgis in Mississipp. is the only round square town in existence. By legal enactment the circle has been squared, and the mathematician may now proceed to calculate the area of a square circle. In the laws of Mississippi for the year 1886, on page 682, is found the following:

"An act to incorporate the town of Sturgis, in Oktibbeha County, Mississippi.

"Section 1. Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Mississippi, That the town of Sturgis, in the county of Oktibbeha, is hereby incorporated, and that the corporate limits of said town shall be as follows: Beginning at the quarter stake in front of Caleb Hannah's residence, and running six hundred yards every direction, making said corporate limits twelve hundred yards square."

That Secretary Ballinger of the Interior Department is regarded as one of the strongest members of President Taft's cabinet, was the testimony given by the Postmaster General Hitchcock, while in Seattle recently visiting the Exposition. He said that one might as well try to tear down the foundations of Mt. Rainier as to attempt to shatter the character of Mr. Ballinger. The secretary is now touring the Northwest in company with the chief executive, which is further evidence of his complete triumph in the recent efforts to involve him, through the so called Pinchott controversy. Secretary Ballinger stands for the development of the natural resources in a legitimate way, for the benefit of the whole people.

Half a dozen of the permanent structures at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition are to be used for collegiate purposes by the Washington State University, on whose campus the fair has been held. The New York state building, a replica of W. H. Sewards' home at Auburn, N. Y., will be used as a residence by President Kane of the university. There are also four permanent buildings, erected by the fair management, which the university regents take over when the gates close on October 16th, so that the educational institution is a handsome gainer by the fair having been held on its grounds.

Senator Piles, Congressman Humphrey and Engineer Kutz are soon to visit Cape Flattery to look into the question of a breakwater at Neah Bay, in order that information may be had preparatory to taking up the subject at the next session of congress.

JUDGE M'CREDIE THE MAN

The Second district congressional convention in session at Olympia on Wednesday nominated Judge William Wallace McCredie of Vancouver for representative in Congress on the first ballot, by a vote of 123 to 103 for Ashton. The convention was called to order at 11 o'clock, a. m., with a noisy demonstration in favor of Judge McCrede, selected by a caucus of the southwestern counties held the previous evening. By Ashton's motion McCredies' nomination was made unanimous. Ashton received the eleven votes of Clallam county, 9 from Mason, 4 from Pacific, 63 from Pierce, 16 from Thurston. McCredie got all the rest.

After a spirited and somewhat turbulant scene District Chairman Coiner succeeded in having the convention organized without the vote of either contesting Pacific county delegation. Then Edward C. Finch of Chehalis county defeated Thomas B. Fisk of Mason county for temporary chairman by a vote of 114 to 99, a bare majority of all votes for Finch, considering the excluded Pacific delegation.

The caucus combine of the southwestern counties was a noisy affair, lasting until the early morning hours. Interest among the delegates assembled was at the highest pitch. Twice Harmon, of Chehalis county, and Finch, of Chehalis, had sufficient votes to make them the nominee, but before the vote was announced, Klickitat and Clark counties changed front and robbed them of the honor. Judge McCredie was sprung as a dark horse and on the 60th ballot, taken at 1:30 a. m., he received 101 out of 123 votes cast.

Judge McCredie has become widely known for his interest in Portland base ball and for refusing to wear a judicial robe while sitting as a superior judge. If elected, he will be the first base ball magnate to sit in congress.

For the purpose of getting together on the question of rate regulation, Gov. Brady of Idaho suggests a conference of the railway commissions of the three states making up the Northwest, viz., Washington, Oregon, idaho. He wants to see a common basis adopted, that will insure this section of the country practical independence from the railways and the Interstate Commerce Commission. By taking time by the forelock now, Gov. Brady believes steps can be taken to organize commerce so that the Northwest will reap substantial benefits from the Panama canal. This proposal is of particular interest because of the coming sessions of the Interstate Commerce Commission in Spokane, Seattle and Portland, early next month. New York merchants have filed a protest against the preliminary decision in the so called Spokane rate case, which may be considered further at the coming hearings.

Henceforth, Alaskan affairs will be administered by Gov. W. E. Clark, who assumes the executive chair at Juneau, October 1. He has declared his policy will be to encourage internal development. Clark has made numerous trips through the North, as a newspaper man and is thoroughly conversant with the country's possibilities. He intends to bring them to the attention of the public, so that more people will locate there. This year's gold production of Fairbanks alone is placed at $12,000,000, giving an idea of its wonderful wealth.

Politics were given some of their old time zest in Pacific county last week when a number of leading republicans of South Bend, denying the authority of the republican county central committee in assuming the power to name delegates to the second district congressional convention, issued a call for a county convention and a contesting delegation was named.

THE WEEK AT THE EXPOSITION

"Apple Day," October 6th, will see the Washington apple in all its glory. Visitors to the Exposition will know that it is apple day even before the car loads of apples are distributed, for every walk and avenue of the grounds, to say nothing of the buildings, will be decorated with the lucious fruit. Directly in front of the cascades will be erected a pyramid of apples 32 feet high and measuring 16 feet square at the base. Every county in the state that raises a pippin has offered barrels of apples and these will be given en away to fair visitors.

Texas Day on October 7th will see bronco busting exhibitions and cattle branding stunts in the stadium. In the parade the Lone Star people plan a historical pageant, while at night the "Fall of the Alamo" will be picturesquely reproduced in the stadium, showing the fearful fight and last stand of the little band of Texans. An electrical display has been arranged for and when the last Texan falls before the Mexicans, above the funeral pile will blaze forth the inscription: "Thermoplae had its survivor; the Alamo had none."

The democratic state committee is planning a rousing celebration in honor of William Jennings Bryan, who is to be the guest of the Exposition on October 12th.

WERE THOROLY IMBUED WITH SEATTLE SPIRIT

John and Ray Doran, Willie Lance and Leon Potter, four Seattle newsboys ranging in age from 12 to 16 years, were picked up here Sunday afternoon by Marshal Smith and Deputy Nichols, after they had practically fired the town with some 300 rounds of ammunition of 22 calibre, and had destroyed various property of residents of which were several windows, a copper wash boiler and some tinware, also the new galvanized tank of Dan Gasser. It is also reported that they held up Mr. Baldwin at the point of a rifle when he attempted to bring one of them to the authorities for demolishing property of neighbors.

The boys arrived in town from Seattle Saturday, changed a $50 Canadian bill at one of the banks and proceeded to spend it with a lavish hand. They purchased three 22 rifles, some 600 rounds of cartridges, and some fishing tackle and hooked some other. Then they started up Tumwater valley where they began shooting promiscuously and practically defied interference. After this they covered the Gasser district and vicinity, finally being rounded up by the marshals, and for respectabilities sake were incarcerated in the county jail in preference to the city bastile. Here they awaited the arrival of officers from Seattle and were taken up to that place on Tuesday's Whatcom.

From the story the officers succeeded in getting from the boys separately, it seems that a well dressed woman stopped in front of the Quaker drug store in Seattle to be weighed, and handed one of the boys her handbag and packages while on the scales. The boy passed the bag to a companion, knowing that he would make away with it, and later they met and divided the spoils, some $60, and throwing the fine large bag under a passing car and a bunch of keys into the bay. They then took Friday night's boat for Port Angeles to celebrate, and proved themselves the liveliest bunch of rowdies that have ever struck the town. They have been before the Juvenile Court of Seattle and to the Mercer Island school so often that they expect this incident to land them at the Chehalis reformatory, but they seem so hardened that they talk of the prospect with a laugh and joke.

The action of Manuel Correa vs. B. F. Haley, brought in Justice Warner's court for the return of certain hind wheels belonging to Mr. Correa, heard Saturday, resulted in judgment being held pending the return of the wheels in good repair, when the case will be dismissed. It seems Haley borrowed Correa's wagon for Tony Zaccardo, who, Correa alleges, broke the hind wheels. To save trouble it was agreed that the wheels would be taken to Sequim for repairs. After remaining there some weeks they disappeared and Correa sought to recover from Haley, alleging that Haley was the one responsible to him. Zaccardo learned of the location of the wheels and agreed to see that they were returned in good order.

All persons holding Mirror coupons of the Fulmer Studio are requested to make arrangements for an early sitting.

THE CUBAN FLAG

By SARA V. BEAUMONT.

Tune, "Columbia," or "Red, White and Blue."

Copyright 1898.

O, Cuba, the Pearl of the Ocean!
Thy star shineth over the dead;
The folds of thy banner in motion—
Hurrah for the Blue, White and Red!

Cho. Refrain. Repeat two last lines.

O, many have fought for thy freedom,
And precious the blood that was shed;
Thy ransom was well worth a kingdom,
Three cheers for the Blue, White and Red.

No more will the tyrant oppress thee,
Or children go hungry for bread,
Nor fears of the future distress thee
While serving the Blue, White and Red.

The triangle shows on thy banner
The Emblem of Labor 'tis said
It floats in its three cornered Union,
Uniting the Blue, White and Red.

The Red showeth forth in its beauty,
The blood by thy patriots shed.
Be true, as the Blue, to thy duty—
May God bless the Blue, White and Red.

And pure as the star on thy bosom,
No sound of an army's vast tread—
The Love for thy Country shall blossom
While under the Blue, White and Red.

Thy colors wave over the freemen,
Thy brave ones to victory led—
And bright as the sun shining over
The Home of the Blue, White and Red.

Then long may thy Banner wave o'er thee
With no one to Slavery wed;
And well all nations give honor
For aye to the Blue, White and Red.

Now may the good angels guard ever
And fair as the sky overhead—
The destiny of thy loved Island;
Good cheer to the Blue, White and Red!

'Tis the Pride of thy bosom at present,
But to thine Own Country be true,
Or the flag thou hast chosen may sometime
Be merged in the Red, White and Blue.

CHORUS

Be merged in the Red, White and Blue;
Or the Flag of thy Freedom may sometime

WOULD MEAN MUCH FOR WEST SIDE

Upon the heels of the return of James A. Moore from the East comes a well defined rumor that Charles Schwab, the great steel manufacturer, has purchased the Moran Company plant at Seattle, which, if true, means that Mr. Schwab has also absorbed Irondale, says the Quilcene Magaphone. Mr. Moore is president of both the Moran Company and the Irondale Steel Co.

A few months ago Mr. Schwab purchased the Union Iron Works at San Francicso, and it is but natural that he should reach out also and grasp the steel industry in the Pacific Northwest. If the story is true, it means a steel industry on Port Townsend bay as extensive as the biggest plant in the East, because the demand for steel on the Pacific Coast will warrant it. It also means that the Moran Company plant will become a part of the Irondale industry, where facilities are ample to accommodate the Seattle plant and fifty more like it. At Seattle the plant is handicapped for room, and the land has become too valuable for railroad terminals to warrant it being continued for manufacturing. It has long been rumored that the Moran Company was seeking a new location, and, under these conditions, what is more natural than that Mr. Moore would want to combine the interests of which he is head?

We could make clothes expressly for you here at home, but a local tailor shop today is impractical and unprofitable.

It has no labor market from which to secure desirable cutters and tailors—

It cannot afford to install a modern plant designed to reduce cost of production—

It doesn't do sufficient business to enable it to buy woolens direct from the mills—

It cannot keep abreast of metropolitan styles and workmanship.

Therefore, we send our orders for fine made-to-measure clothes to Ed. V. Price & Co., of Chicago.

We can take your measure the same way we would if running shops here, and furnish you your clothes, made as you want them, at 50% less than we could make them locally. Won't you call today?

When You Take Cold

One way is to pay no attention to it; at least not until it develops into pneumonia, or bronchitis, or pleurisy. Another way is to ask your doctor about Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. If he says, "The best thing for colds," then take it. Do as he says, anyway.

Ayer's — We publish our formulas. We banish alcohol from our medicines. We urge you to consult your doctor

When the bowels are constipated, poisonous substances are absorbed into the blood instead of being daily removed from the body as nature intended. Knowing this danger, doctors always inquire about the condition of the bowels. Ayer's Pills.

WHEN writing to advertisers please mention this paper.

Truth is stranger than even dime-novel fiction. A United States Secret Service operative recently broke up a band of Italian counterfeiters after trailing them for four years. An American by birth, he learned Italian, got into New York as a steerage passenger, disguised as an immigrant, worked as a ditch-digger, won the confidence of the counterfeiters by posing as a fellow criminal, and ate and slept with scoundrels who would have killed him instantly if they had suspected him. Finally, his chain of evidence complete, he got the gang together and arrested them, to the last man. The hero of fiction gets more "glory," but this real life hero seems to have been content to do his duty.

FOR THE PUBLIC

New Formula Cures Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis and Hoarseness in Five Hours.

Much is being done in these days to stop the ravages of consumption, but probably nothing has been so effective as teaching the public how to break up a cold and cure coughs, bronchitis, tonsilitis, etc., with simple home-mixed medicine free from opium, poisons, etc. A laxative cough syrup, free from whiskey and poisons, is the prime need. A cough indicates inflammation and congestion and these in turn are due to an excess of waste and poisons in the system. A tonic laxative cough syrup rids the system of congestion while relieving the painful coughing. Get the following and mix at home: One-half ounce fluid wild-cherry bark, one ounce compound essence cardiol and three ounces syrup white pine compound. Shake the bottle and take twenty drops every half-hour for four hours. Then one-half to one teaspoonful three or four times daily. Give children less, according to age. Cut this out and save it for some friend.

Eliot Defends Book Shelf.

Former President Eliot of Harvard has replied again to the numerous criticisms of his five-foot book shelf because it omitted the Bible and Shakespeare. He now says that he left out the Bible because many things in it are antiquated happenings of a bygone day, and that it is a question whether either the Bible or Shakespeare should take the place of many other good books. He denies that he has consented to the extension of his shelf to six feet.

Old-Fashioned Waffles.

A quart of flour with enough milk to form a stiff batter. Stir in a tablespoonful of melted butter, a teaspoonful of salt, three teaspoonfuls of baking powder and beat to a cream. When quite light add two well-beaten eggs and bake in hot greased waffle irons. The second batch of waffles is usually better than the first, because the irons have had time to become uniformly heated.

Valuable Item for Men

Health and strength hitherto unknown will be felt surging in rich red blood through the arteries and veins and life's greatest ambitions may be realized as never before, if the following special treatment is followed by those men, and women, too, who are stricken with that most dreaded of all afflictions, nervous exhaustion, accompanied with such symptoms as extreme nervousness, insomnia, cold extremities, melancholia, headaches, constipation and dyspepsia, kidney trouble, dreadful dreams of direful disasters, timidity in venturing and a general inability to act naturally at all times as other people do. Lack of poise and equilibrium in men is a constant source of embarrassment even when the public least suspects it. For the benefit of those who want a restoration to full, bounding health and all the happiness accompanying it, the following home treatment is given. It contains no opiates or habit-forming drugs whatever. Mix it at home and no one will be the wiser as to your affliction.

The treatment is simple, thorough and correct. Leading druggists supply the main tinctures, extracts and essences in one-ounce bottles ready to mix. Get three ounces syrup sarsaparilla compound, mix with one ounce compound fluid balmwort, and stand two hours. Add one ounce compound essence cardiol, and one ounce tincture cadomene compound (not cardamom). Shake well and take a teaspoonful after each meal and one at bedtime.

The ingredients are used for various prescriptions.

A HOPELESS CASE.

"One of the queerest cases in our town is old Mis' Saunders," said the native of Bushby who was driving the summer boarder over to Gresham Center to do a little shopping. "Yes'm, I call her one o' the most remarkable; she appears to be fading away from amongst us from the complaint o' sons-in-law. I don't know how else to put it, ma'am."

"Do you—do you mean they've complained—what do you mean?" asked the bewildered listener.

"You see it's like this," said the Bushby man, slowly. "She has two daughters, old Mis' Saunders has, Ellen and Myra. Fourteen years ago Ellen married Doc' Stebbins over to Bushby Corners, and Myra, five years ago, she married Doc' Powers over to Gresham Center, where we're going.

"Well, now, Doc' Stebbins is allopath, set as a door-stone, an' Doc' Powers is homypath, rabid.

"Three months ago, cold-ketching spring time, Mis' Saunders, that's never been sick all her life, caught a grippy cold, and it took right hold of her. She didn't care call in Doc' Stebbins for fear Myra's feelings would be hurt, an' she couldn't call Doc' Powers on account of Ellen; nor she didn't dare summons anybody else for fear both of 'em would be mad—besides which there wa'n't anybody else to summons.

"So the old lady doctored herself, and she seemed to be getting on pretty well for a while, with asking everybody's advice and using her own judgment, till one day when both o' her sons-in-law come there to see how she was getting on; and they were so hopping, to find she was on the mend without any o' their help, they fell into a medical quarrel right over her rocking chair, and sca't her into a relapse.

"And she told my wife the other day she hadn't got a mite of ambition left.

"'If they'd talk like that with me barely sitting up, what would they say if I got well?' the old lady asked her.

"She began to fade from that time, an' there are those that don't hardly think she'll last out this month—my wife's among 'em."

A bulletin lately issued by the Bureau of Statistics of the Department of Commerce and Labor contains much interesting and some striking information concerning the growth and resources of the United States. It is now virtually three hundred years since the first permanent settlements were made on this continent. Since then that portion of the continent which forms the United States has come to be occupied by upward of eighty million people. It is doubtful if ever before in the history of the world so large an area was so quickly occupied by so numerous a population. As compared with the region settled since the Revolution, the thirteen original States contain but a small area. It is, nevertheless, a fact that one-third of the total population of the country is still living in that circumscribed area, and another third in the region which the thirteen original States ceded to the national government. The remaining third lives in States most of which lie beyond the Mississippi. The rapid development of the country, and especially the rapid spread of population, was due of course to the large amount of accessible land. It is not yet all exhausted. Counting Alaska, more than three-quarters of a billion acres still remain undistributed. Of course much of this is at present undesirable; but irrigation, the reclaiming of swamps and the extension of roads and railways, will yet turn millions of acres to service. The original population and its descendants have been modified by an admixture of twenty-six million immigrants, and the foreign tide now flowing in approximates a million a year. In spite of that, however, the native-born element is holding its own. Not since 1860—a period of almost fifty years, and the period, too, of the country's greatest development—has there been any appreciable change in the ratio of the foreign element to the native-born. It was about 13 per cent then. It is the same now.

First Methodist Episcopal Church, Rev. H. Jackson Hartsell, pastor. Sunday school, 10 a. m., preaching, 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m., class meeting, 12 noon, Junior Epworth League, 3 p. m., Epworth League 7:30 p. m., Mid-week prayer service Thursday 7:30 p. m A cordial welcome is extended to all. The sermon next Sunday morning will be delivered by Rev. F. S. Pearson, District Superintendent of this district. Following the sermon the communion of the Lord's supper will be administered. The subject of the evening sermon by the pastor will be, Sacrificing Upon the Wayside Altars.

Rev. Hartzell preached an excellent sermon Sunday morning, taking for his theme: A Pastor's Relation to His Church. The reverend gentleman spoke straight from the shoulder, telling his congregation of many things he hoped to accomplish during the present Conference year for the up-building of the church and the betterment of the community, but that the pastor could not pull the church up to a higher Christan life without the aid and support of his people—they must get out and put their shoulders to the wheel if good was to be accomplished. The discourse was well received and Rev. Hartzell created for himself a favorable impression among his people.

A new line of the justly celebrated La Vogue Coats for misses and children was received and placed on display yesterday at the Phelps Dry Goods and Millinery store. These goods need only to be seen to be admired. Materials and workmanship are of the best. They are "dressy" goods, and the prices are within the reach of all.

If People with symptoms of kidney or bladder trouble could realize their danger they would without loss of time commence taking Foley's Kidney remedy. This great remedy stops the pain and the irregularities, strengthens and builds up these organs and there is no danger of Bright's disease or other serious disorder. THE NEW ROAD TO PIEDMONT

County Engineer FitzHenry has completed the survey of the five miles of proposed new road from Port Crescent to Piedmont and is now working out the details and estimates as to the cost, in order that it may be taken up at the next session of the Board of Commissioners. He has secured a much better grade —an avereage of four per cent—than that of the old road, even to cutting down and reducing the length of the grade up from the lake, and reports that much of the way there is first class road material right at hand, in fact, that for some distance the material is such that the road will merely have to be rounded up. There will be a half dozen bridges, the most important of which, that across Whiskey creek, will be a trestle bridge 150 feet in length. A trifle over a half mile of one of the old roads put in by the logging company can be utilized, though that will have to be widened, as the new road is to be sixteen feet in width with ditches on either side.

Port Angeles sent a good delegation, about two hundred and fifty, up to Seattle Tuesday to be present at the A.-Y.-P. Exposition on Port Angeles Day, Wednesday. Many others went up Sunday, and earlier on the preceding week While it was impossible to obtain the names of all who went up Tuesday, our reporter caught these as they crowded up the gang plank:

COUNTY EXHIBIT STRENGTHENED

The Clallam county exhibit was materially strengthened this week by a shipment of fine specimens of several kinds of vegetables and fruits grown in these parts. Councilman Rouse and our rustling friend Lewis Levy are responsible for the awakening. Included were three mammoth turnips, grown by D. W. Craig, measuring two feet five to seven inches in diameter; a branch of Duchess D'Angonleme pears, eighteen inches in length, containing thirty-four large handsome pears, grown by Frank Merritt; two bundles of oats, grown by Albert Eacrett and T. T. Aldwell, each measuring more than six feet in length. G. M. Rouse furnishes a nice lot of Red Siberian Crabs grown on trees standing out on the commons for the past twelve years. All these samples were first class and represent in a small measure the productiveness of Clallam county soil.

Port Angeles team and a few other members of Mountain View Rebekah Lodge No. 34 went up to Port Townsend Tuesday to initiate eight candidates into the mysteries of the order at the semi-annual district meeting. They report a most pleasant time, the affair ending with a sumptuous banquet, by the Port Townsend Rebekahs. The visiting Rebekahs were: Mrs. Ed. Ramsey, Mrs. Garvin, Mrs. Alex. Harris, Mrs. M. Waite, Mrs. Clonkie, Misses Lousie Higgins, Gertie Ester, Sadie Goldwater, Mary McClure, Laurena Ester, Mrs. Ernest Waite, Mr. C. Stockwell, Mr. Ed. Ramsey, and Mr. and Mrs. Long.

BOTH BOYS SAVED

Louis Boon, a leading merchant of Norway, Mich., writes: "Three bottles of Foley's Honey and Tar absolutely cured my boy of a severe cough, and a neighbor's boy, who was so ill with a cold that the doctors gave him up, was cured by taking Foley's Honey and Tar." Nothing else is as safe and certain in results. W. J. Mathewson's Drug Store.

COOLIDGE-FITZGERALD

The wedding of Miss Mary Francis Fitzgerald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Fitzgerald, and Mr. John Van Coolidge, a long time resident of this city, was consumated at the Catholic church on Oak street Tuesday morning, September 28th, Rev. Father Wolfgang officiating at the ceremony that so happily united the lives of these popular and esteemed young people. Preceding the ceremony Bridal Mass was said. The ceremony was performed in the presence of the immediate relatives of the contracting parties and a few friends, following which a wedding breakfast was served at the residence of the bride's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge left on a wedding trip, the auto bearing them to the wharf, where they took the Whatcom, having been artistically if not elegantly decorated by a few friends with evergreens, streamers and rice for the occasion. The bride is one of Angeles most popular young ladies and has many friends. The groom is a highly respected young man, well thought of by all who know him. He is employed at the Big Four shingle mill, and is a trusted and valued employee. The young couple will make their home in the residence corner Ninth and Laurel. May all of life's blessings be theirs.

INDICTED BY U. S. GRAND JURY

Theodore Siegfried, who was recently convicted at Port Townsend for the operation of a blind pig in Jefferson county, has been indicted by the grand jury in session at Tacoma on the charge of selling liquor to the LaPush Indians. Both indictments were due to the activity of the Clallam county officials; while Siegfried sold no liquor in this county he maintained his blind pig so near the county line that it amounted to the same thing.

The electrical storm Tuesday was something unusual for this section. The terrific thunder and vivid lightning caused our younger people, unused to such phenomena, to sit up and take notice. The storm was, however, confined principally to the mountains.

DOCTORS MISTAKES

Are said often to be buried six feet under ground. But many times women call on their family physicians, suffering, as they imagine, one from dyspepsia, another from heart disease, another from liver or kidney disease, another from nervous prostration, another with pain here and there, and in this way they present alike to themselves and their easy-going or over-busy doctor, separate diseases, for which he, assuming them to be such, prescribes his pills and potions. In reality, they are all only symptoms caused by some uterine disease. The physician, ignorant of the cause of suffering, keeps up his treatment until large bills are made. The suffering patient gets no better by reason of the wrong treatment, but probably worse. A proper medicine like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, directed to the cause would have entirely removed the disease, thereby dispelling all those distressing symptoms, and instituting comfort instead of prolonged misery. It has been well said, that "a disease known is half cured."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a scientific medicine, carefully devised by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate system. It is made of native American medicinal roots and is perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the female system.

As a powerful invigorating tonic "Favorite Prescription" imparts strength to the whole system and to the organs distinctly feminine in particular. For overworked, "worn-out," run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," house-keepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, nervous exhaustion, nervous prostration, neuralgia, hysteria, spasms, St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing, nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the uterus. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets invigorate the stomach, liver and bowels. One to three a dose. Easy to take as candy.

ENTERTAINED THE TEACHERS

"One of the prettiest social events of the season," to quote from the Social News edited by two of the contestants, "took place on the evening of Saturday, the 25th, at the homes of Miss Annette Trumbull and Mrs. McNutt, when a typical crowd of ladies and gentlemen, locally known as 'the teachers' gathered to waste their time laughing at each other." The entertainment was termed a "questionable party" and the guests were put through all manner of stunts, not the least of which was an editorial contest, wherein they prepared copy on various subjects from weddings to baseball games. Prizes were offered, that for the editorial contest being awarded to one of the lady teachers, who chronicled the demise of a member of the hostess' family, which occurred earlier in the day. The Olympic-Leader will confess to having expressed a desire to publish the papers submitted in the contest, but as one of the writers said, they "all got stuck in the mud when they were trying to think of something to say," and the result was too awful. By the "prize winner," which follows, may the rest of the 18t be judged:

Teachers of Port Angeles Take Up Arms for Defenseless Dogs

On next Friday afternoon in the Principal's office of the central school, the faculty of Port Angeles will hold a meeting to determine ways and means to secure protection for canine pets. Will not the people of Port Angeles stand by them? Have we not all lately been deeply perturbed and distressed over the sudden and foul death of the friend of us all, the dog belonging to our county supt. Has he not often proved his affection and good-will toward us all, by assuring us at all hours, particularly at night, that he was watching and guarding over us? Has he not taken the greatest interest in his neighbors' chickens? Are not these marks of his loyalty appealing to us now and calling us to revenge his interests? Can we not all partake in this work? People of Port Angeles, will you not join forces and come to argue the cause with the teachers? And is not this action all the more imperative because one of the teachers possesses a dog who is remarkable in his line —a dog who can swear? Think of the loss of this noble creature to this city—the gateway to the Pacific—should it not also be the gateway to the dogs' happiness? Take up the cause! Come, let us do our share. People of Port Angeles, waken, as the dogs have taught you to do!

Foley's Honey and Tar clears the air passages, stops the irritation of the throat, soothes the inflamed membranes, and the most obstinate cough disappears. Sore and inflamed lungs are healed and strengthened, and the cold is expelled from the system. Refuse any but the genuine in the yellow package. W. J. Mathewson's Drug Store.
