ELKS MEMORIAL SERVICES SUNDAY

Eloquent and Impressive Address Given by Hon. Chas. A. Reynolds. Splendid Musical Program.

Sunday, December 5th, in compliance with orders from the grand lodge and in common with all the lodges of the country, Naval Lodge, 353, B. P. O. E., held the annual special session known as the "Lodge of Sorrow," the ceremony being had in the opera house, which was filled to its capacity with members of the order, and their friends who had come to hear the memorial address and the special music provided.

The members of the order, to the number of about one hundred, met at their hall at 1:30, donned crape and evergreen and white gloves and marched in a body to the opera house, entering with the opening strains of the march, "Death of a Hero," by Beethoven, rendered by Mrs. E. M. Rogers. The officers taking their positions about the hall, as in their lodge room, the opening ceremonies were had. The hall was even more tastily decorated than in years past, the chief features being a magnificent elk's head, the antler points tipped with tiny lights, and the American flags, emblematic of the order. On the right of the stage was the mound of the departed with the tombstone, on which was inscribed the motto of the order, "The faults of our brothers we write upon the sands; their virtues upon tablets of love and memory." Around the stone was set an electric light for each of the departed, and, as the roll was called, a light flashed forth, but there was no other response.

The musical part of the program included the solo, by C. C. McNutt, "With Peace in My Soul"; "Like as a Father," by Mrs. C. J. Farmer, Miss Bernice Allen, N. H. Bonnett and C. C. McNutt; an instrumental solo, a selection from Tannhauser, by Mrs. Rogers; "Hear Our Prayer," a vocal duet by Mrs. Farmer and Miss Allen; and "Thanatopsis," by Mrs. J. C. Hansen.

The memorial address, by Hon. C. A. Reynolds of Seattle, was undoubtedly the most scholarly and most impressively delivered of any that have ever been given here at the Elks' annual services, a beautiful lesson on the brotherly love which is so manifest on memorial day.

After the address, Miss Allen sang "The Door of Hope," and the audience, in the closing ceremony, joined in singing "Nearer My God to Thee." Rev. E. M. Rogers pronounced the benediction, and "Gavotte Royale," by Mrs. Rogers, concluded the exercises.

The departed brothers who have gone to their last reward are:

COLLAPSE OF CITY DOCK

The City Dock, loaded with two and a half million shingles, collapsed early Tuesday morning, causing a loss to the dock owners, the steamboat company and the mills of about ten thousand dollars. The dock itself, used only for the storage of shingles, was none too secure without the enormous weight; owing to the presence of a strata of tough clay through which it was impossible to drive piles, the support was none of the best, and besides there was doubtless an insufficient number of sound piles. The Charles Nelson Co., which had advanced eighty per cent on the shingles, had been notified that they were stored at their risk and the steamer was expected Saturday to take them to Frisco, but after wiring that she would be here passed by without calling in. Tuesday morning, twenty-five cents per thousand was offered as salvage and a big fleet of launches and boats was employed get the shingles to shore, boom sticks and barges being employed for the purpose. Mr. Grubb, being the principal owner in the wharf company, was the heaviest loser.

MATTERHORN FOUNDERS OF COAST

All But Three of Crew Reach Umatilla Light Ship, Spending 27 Hours in Small Boat.

The first, and probably the most important wreck to be recorded in the annals of the winter of 1909-10 for the North Pacific coast, occurred Tuesday, the 30th, when the big four masted ship Matterhorn went down off the coast below Cape Flattery.

The Matterhorn, which left the Columbia, loaded with barley for Europe, on the previous Friday, ran into the terrific storm which raged for several days at the close of the month. Her cargo shifting, she listed till the hatches were under water and the crew could not get them off to jettison a part of the sacks. They worked day and night endeavoring to balance the cargo without success, and on Tuesday morning the boats were lowered, only one of which cleared the ship without being wrecked; all hands went over the stern and twenty-seven, or all but three, were picked up. The ship had hardly been cleared before she went down, and the small boat started for the cape, the men hoping they would be picked up by the Snohomish, which they presumed would be cruising off the coast at such a time.

After twenty-seven hours they reached the Umatilla lightship. After waiting two days, despairing of assistance from the Snohomish, the captain of the lightship and eight men left for the cape in a small boat, arriving at Tatoosh island last Friday, when the first news of the wreck was sent out, by wireless. The rest of the men were brought to Tatoosh the same way, and taken from there to Seattle on the cutter Tahoma.

Reports from the coast, of wreckage not believed to belong to the Matterhorn, would indicate other losses during the same storm.

TRAINED NURSES IN SCHOOLS

In Seattle the system of employing trained nurses in the public schools has been tried with good results. Mrs. Hickey, chief nurse in the city schools, in on address before the Women'sClub of Olympia on the subject, stated that not only had the employment of nurses greatly increased the efficiency of the schools by keeping the pupils in a healthy condition, but the increased attendance had more than offset their salaries. The allowance of ten cents a day by the state for attendance of pupils in each district emphasizes the importance of the healthy pupil.

Mrs. Hickey also informed the ladies that through the medium of this new department in the public schools it had been discovered that the greater number if not all the children who had been on the verge of being classed as incorrigibles were discovered to be simply the victims of some disease or ailment which was at the bottom of their bad dispositions and that when the cause was discovered and removed they became the most diligent of students and took the greatest interest in their work. With their restoration to perfect bodily health their ability to master their tasks became so much easier that their ambition was aroused and their work became a pleasure.

It is said that there is a move on foot to employ trained nurses in all of the public schools of the state where the attendance exceeds 300 or 400.

The Port Townsend correspondent of the Seattle Times, in an article setting forth the present condition of Puget Sound with regard to fortifications, says it is the plan of the War Department to make the shore line impregnable from Cape Flattery to Fort Worden by means of defense works at Tatoosh Island, Neah Bay, Clallam Bay, Port Angeles, Dungeness and Protection Island. The expense of such an undertaking would be enormous, but it is declared by experts that the forts at the entrance of the Sound can thus be rendered secure from assault.

In line with other progressive county superintendents of the state, Annette Trumbull, superintendent of schools of Clallam county, has caused to be printed a 40-page booklet containing a course of study for the common schools of the county. Among other things the work instructs the teachers how far to go each year, and systemizes the work of the schools so that it is the same all over the county, two important essentials for the improvement of the public schools.

COAST TO COAST STRIKE

CHICAGO TRIBUNE PREDICTS GREATEST LABOR STRUGGLE IN RAILROAD HISTORY

Practically Every Railroad in the Country, Paper Says, Is in Imminent Danger of Being Completely Tied Up—Both Sides Reported Preparing for Struggle.

Chicago, Oec. 4.—The Tribune this morning says:

"The United States is threatened with the greatest railroad strike in the history of the nation.

"Practically every railroad line in the country, east and west, is in imminent danger of being completely tied up by a walk-out on the part of a large number of its operating employes this month.

"Officers of the organization of engineers, firemen, trainmen and switchmen have agreed upon a uniform demand of a 10 per cent. wage increase, without deviation or compromise.

"That the crisis is approaching rapidly was indicated yesterday by the announcement at New York by officers of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen that they would present their demands December 11. The wage conferences will begin December 15. Although every effort will be made to avert a general strike, it is impossible to predict what the outcome of the conferences will be.

"Both the railroads and the leaders of organized labor among the railroad employes are preparing for the struggle, which, when it once begins, will without doubt develop into one of the greatest industrial battles that has ever been fought in this or any other land.

"The attitude of the leaders on both sides of the dispute which menaces the industrial peace of the country is at present that of iron stubbornness.

"Over a million men will engage directly in a battle with the railroads unless some fortunate circumstances arise to avert the trouble. More than 150,000 miles of railroad track will be idle."

UNIONS WILL SOON FILE THEIR ULTIMATUMS

Chicago, Dec. 7.—The Tribune says: A national strike of railroad employes became a more imminent peril yesterday. The developments of the day bore out the forecast given by the Tribune, when it was announced that the great army of men working in the transportation lines of the country had decided to back up wage demands by striking if advances were not granted.

The Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen in New York prepared to present to thirty-two Eastern lines demands for a 10 per cent increase in pay. The demands will be presented to the railroads late this week. Vice-President James Murdock of the organization said the men expected to win without a fight. But if the railroads do not yield—and their representatives have maintained that they would not—then, Mr. Murdock said, there would be a strike.

The filing of demands in the East will be followed by the presentation of similar propositions in the West, with a like ultimatum.

The federal government is awake to the gravity of the situation. The officials at Washington are keeping in touch with developments and will be prepared to take a hand in negotiations to prevent a strike the moment opportunity offers. They will act under powers conferred by the Erdman act.

CANNON WILL RESIGN, ALLEGES MR. MURDOCK

Washington, D. C., Dec. 4.—That Speaker Cannon believes the house is in danger of being captured by the Democrats and will try to save it to the Republicans by announcing his retiremnet from the speakership before the Republican primaries next June, was the statement made by Victor Murdock, of Kansas, the leader of the "insurgents" in the house.

"About the first of June watch Cannon announce that he will not serve as speaker after his present term," said Murdock. "He has seen the writing on the wall."

Murdock says he is convinced that Cannon will be eliminated as speaker, no matter whether the house is Democratic or Republican.

The "insurgents" held a meeting yesterday and today to map out a program.

"We want three things," said Murdock. "First, we want to take from the speaker the right to inquire for what purpose a member rises to obtain the floor; second, we want to take away from the speaker the power to appoint committees and to lodge that power in a committee, and third, we want to abolish the rule which makes the speaker a member of the committee on rules."

Protocol With Chile Signed.

Santiago, Chile, Dec. 4.—The protocol with the United States for reference of the Alsop claim to King Edward for mediation was signed by the government of Chile Thursday.

REPORT OF WICKERSHAM EXONERATES BALLINGER

Washington, D. C., Dec. 4.—Attorney General Wickersham has decided after a detailed study of all the records involving charges concerning Secretary Ballinger's administration of the interior department, that Ballinger is entitled to be upheld at every point. His report, going into the matter in much detail, has been laid before the president, who approves it in all its features. The verdict as between Pinchot and Ballinger is therefore finally and conclusively in favor of Ballinger.

The president instructed the attorney general to investigate every particle of evidence in regard to the case and to submit to him a legal opinion on the actions of Ballinger from the time he became commissioner of the land office up to the present time, covering his connection with the Cunningham coal claims and all other aspects of the case. Having made his investigation, Wickersham wrote his report which upheld Ballinger in every particular.

Nothing could be broader in its support of the secretary of the interior. It goes through the whole business and upholds him throughout.

Pinchot Will Stay.

The general expectation is that Pinchot, notwithstanding this finding, will determine to remain in the government service and to continue the forest administration. Some people who have given him strong backing throughout the controversy feel he ought not to do this. They will urge him to resign and make public all the facts which have come into his possession concerning the matters back of the controversy and force the whole matter into a new phase, but the almost universal opinion aside from the more extreme of the supporters of the conservation movement is that Pinchot will remain in his present position.

In that event the controversy will be ended, unless congress takes steps for investigation by congressional committee. It is known a strong element is determined to have this step taken, provided it can be done in such fashion as to make it a real investigation held in the open and not a mere perfunctory one designed to give endorsement to a program of pushing of trouble. It has been open secret for weeks that the president's cabinet has been advising him to let Pinchot out.

CASES OF GOMPERS AND MITCHELL TO BE HEARD BY THE SUPREME COURT

Washington, Dec. 7.—The supreme court of the United States granted yesterday the petition for a writ of certiorari in the contempt cases of Samuel Gompers, Frank Morrison and John Mitchell, officers of the American Federation of Labor. The effect of the decision will be to bring the entire record in the Buck's Stove and Range case against these men to the supreme court for review.

Washington, Dec. 7.—The supreme court of the United States denied yesterday the petition of Charles W. Morse, the New York banker, for a writ of certiorari. This leaves in effect against Morse the sentence of fifteen years' imprisonment.

MAYOR FINDS NEW WAY TO LAND LOAN SHARKS

Spokane, Dec. 4.—Corporation Counsel Connor believes he has found a way to assist Mayor Nelson S. Pratt in his efforts to rid Spokane of salary loan and chattel mortgage agencies which charge more than the legal rate of interest. Instead of compelling the "sharks" to forfeit notes, whereon interest exceeding the principal has been paid, he purposes prosecuting the owners of buildings in which these agencies are located upon the charge of keeping disorderly houses. This will force the agencies to the street. The code in the state of Washington designates as a disorderly house "any place where illegal practices are habitually carried on," and, as the statutes say that the taking of usury is an unlawful act, though the law does not prohibit the borrower from paying it, Mr. Connor believes that prosecutions can be carried to successful conclusion. He contends the statute means that any person who maintains a place of business, in which the law against usury is habitually violated, is guilty of keeping a disorderly house, and he purposes ordering arrests to make a test.

Tacoma Also After Sharks.

Tacoma, Dec. 4.—Tacoma has joined the crusade begun by other Northwestern cities to eliminate loan sharks. Hereafter any person charged an unreasonable interest by a shark will accommodate the city authorities if he will make a formal complaint, which will be prosecuted by the city attorney's office with vigor.

Gag Order for Cabinet Officers.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 4.—A gag order affecting the furnishing of information to any committee of the house or senate or any member of congress except as authorized by the head of the department in which such official serves has been issued by the president. The order is directed chiefly at bureau officers or division chiefs.

CONGRESS AND PRESIDENT

UNUSUAL INTEREST ATTACHES TO SESSION WHICH BEGAN MONDAY.

Expected Fully to Disclose Attitude Toward Progressive Policies of Roosevelt's Successor — Insurgents Will Help Taft as Far as They Deem His Measures Right.

Portland, Or., Dec. 6.—The Washington correspondent of the Sunday Oregonian has this to say of the congress which meets at noon today:

Congress will meet Monday in the first legislative session since Mr. Taft came into office. The house already is fully organized, committees have been appointed and there is no reason apparent why the members should not begin the important work of the winter at once.

Unusual interest attaches to the coming session, because before it is ended congress must disclose its attitude toward the progressive policies of Mr. Roosevelt's successor—policies in every way as distasteful to the organization majority of Republicans in congress as they were when the man now in Africa first gave them his sanction.

Taft Has Measures of His Own.

Mr. Taft has inherited parts of an unfinished legislative programme, but it must not be understood that he has not several matters of public moment, the result of his own thought and initiative, to bring to the attention of the national legislators. It will not be surprising at all if some of the legislation which the president will urge before the winter is over proves to be more radical than anything which Mr. Roosevelt advocated.

There are many things of general public concern to come before congress during the coming session, but the great questions for consideration and debate as far as can be foreseen at present are:

Measures to Come Up.

Amendments to the interstate commerce law; legislation to make certain that the natural resources of the country shall be saved to the people from the hand of greed; establishment of a postal savings bank system; reduction of governmental expenses; the question of separate statehood for Arizona and New Mexico.

The insurgents in congress, through their spokesmen who have come here in advance, say without reservation that they will support every administrative endeavor of Mr. Taft along the lines of progress, and that they will not allow a personal grievance, growing out of trouble over the rules, or of insurgent antagonism to Speaker Cannon, to move them from their position of loyalty.

Insurgents Loyal to Taft.

The reactionary members of congress have promised, with every outward appearance of sincerity, that they will give heed and sympathy to everything demanded by the Republican platform and to everything which the president may recommend and which they think has the people's support. The promise of the conservative gentlemen is engaging. The question, which the administration could have answered in advance, is, will the promisers keep their promises? The feeling among the insurgents seems to be that the organization members of congress, who are one with the conservatives, will give way just as little as they can to the president's progressive demands and yet save themselves from the wrath of their constituents when election day comes, next November.

Postal Banks May Fail.

These seems to be a feeling that congress will refuse to authorize the establishment of postal savings banks. It is possible that the question may be postponed for consideration until another session, but if a postponement be attempted, friends of the postal savings system promise to create trouble.

Some of the amendments to the interstate commerce act which Mr. Taft advocated in his speeches during his recent trip through the country are of a nature to make the conservatives of congress stand aghast. That some of the amendments will be made, there is no reason to doubt, but that the president will secure all it is believed he favors, is open to serious question. It is taken for granted, perhaps, that many resolutions providing an investigation of the sugar trust frauds will be offered, but the introduction of a resolution is one thing, and its passage is another.

$1,500,000 LUMBER COMPANY TO TAKE OVER TIMBER LANDS

With a capitalization of $1,500,000, the Pysht River Lumber Company has been organized to take over extensive timber holdings of the Merrill, Ring & Bliss Timber Company in Clallam county. The incorporators of the company are Thomas D. Merrill, Timothy Jerome and Maurice McMicken.

About 25,000 acres of timber land in the Pysht river district will be taken over by the new company. The company does not plan to cut the timber yet. The company was organized, according to Mr. Jerome, as a holding corporation.

GOVERNMENT ENCOUNTERS CHECK IN SUGAR CASES

New York, Dec. 4.—The government encountered a check in its prosecution of the American Sugar Refining Company when it developed that documentary evidence and many witnesses important to the government's case had disappeared. The missing documents were records kept by city weighers and neither the documents nor the men who kept them could be found.

But although tally sheets were missing the government was able to introduce testimony showing that every scale on the Williamsburg docks of the company had been tampered with.

Conrad Heller, a carpenter, testified to cutting out a portion of the wooden stanchion of No. 1 scales. Through the hole thus cut, the government contends, was operated the steel spring that manipulated the weights recorded on the beam.

Thomas D. Hyatt, a government weigher, was asked if he had inspected all six scales on the dock in company with Treasury Agent Parr. He said that he had found all the scales fixed with holes in them.

SIXTY-FIRST CONGRESS HOLDS OPENING SESSION

Washington, Dec. 7.—Both houses of congress at noon yesterday took up the work of the so-called "long session," which may not adjourn until well into the summer.

Although since the memorable inauguration day last March, these same senators and representatives have already done five months' work in the extra session from March to August, which brought forth the new tariff act, the session begun yesterday is technically the first of the Sixty-first congress.

The senate was in session only thirteen minutes, the house session, too, being brief. The work in both was of a purely routine character. The net result was that the president was informed that both houses were ready for business and awaiting any message which he might see fit to send. His response will take the form of his first annual message, the reading of which will constitute the feature of today's business.

Crowded galleries, representing official and social life in Washington, witnessed the commencement of the regular session. On the floor of both houses, a renewal of the friendships among senators and representatives took the place of interchange on partisan or political matters.

When Vice-President Sherman in the senate, and Speaker Cannon in the house brought down their gavels promptly at the noon hour, there were few empty seats in the two chambers.

The announcement of the recent deaths of Senator Johnson of North Dakota, and of Representative Lassiter of Virginia, and De Armond of Missouri caused adjournments yesterday on both sides of the capitol in respect to their memories.

The swearing in of Senator Fountain L. Thompson and of Representatives W. W. McCredie of Washington, and W. J. Moxley of Illinois will not take place until today, just before the president's message is received.

Before the day is over, there will be preliminary conferences on both sides of the capitol for the purpose of laying out plans for the session's work.

KING GUSTAVE TAKES WORK AS STEVEDORE

Stockholm, Dec. 6.—King Gustave on Saturday inaugurated a new departure for sovereigns. Disguised as a stevedore, he spent most of the day carrying sacks of coal from a lighter. In an interview after it was all over, the king said this was only the beginning. He intended to mix with all classes of laborers, so that he might ascertain their opinions and wishes. Already, he added, he had obtained many valuable hints from men with whom he worked.

The determination of King Gustave to learn of the conditions of the workingmen by mingling with them and taking part in their labors, has resulted from the recent great tieup of the business life of the country by a general strike. King Gustave intervened last August in an endeavor to obtain a compromise, but without avail. The strike continued for months and involved thousands of men. Eventually arbitration was undertaken by the Swedish government and in the interim many workmen returned to their tasks, although the number of unemployed remained large.

King Gustave and other members of the royal family contributed to a national fund raised to make loans to the working classes. The king, to ascertain the real facts, joined various laborers at their work and in such a guise that they would not recognize him.

FIRST HUNDRED MILES OF ALASKA ROAD FINISHED

Cordova, Dec. 4.—Completing the work a month ahead of his schedule, Contractor M. J. Heney Friday night finished the first hundred miles of the Copper River railway. Track is now laid to Tiekel, half way to the Bonanza copper mines. Work is continuing through the winter. Four thousand men are to be employed on the construction next spring.

BRITISH HOUSE STANDS FIRM

COMMONS RESOLVES THAT THE HOUSE OF LORDS HAS USURPED RIGHTS

King Prorogues Parliament and General Elections Will Be Held in January—Premier Asquith Says Circumstances Are Without Parallel in British History.

London, Dec. 4.—The house of commons, by a vote of 349 to 134, has passed the resolution of Premier Asquith to the effect that in rejecting the government's budget bill the house of lords had committed a breach of the constitution and usurped the rights of the house of commons.

Arthur Henderson, leader of the Labor party in the house of commons, announced that the government would have the whole-hearted support of the laborites.

It is understood that parliament will be dissolved so as to permit the holding of elections between January 10 and 20. The prorogation took place Friday.

Premier Asquith announced in the house of commons that the government had advised King Edward to dissolve parliament, and that his majesty had accepted the invitation. The premier added that if the Liberals were returned to power the first act of the government would be the re-enactment of all the taxes for which provision was made in the budget rejected by the house of lords. His first words were:

"We are meeting this afternoon under circumstances without example in the history of the British parliament."

The prime minister pointed out that in opening parliament the king had invited the house of commons alone to make provision for the heavy additional expenditures, in view of the necessities in the way of social reform and national defense. The budget represented, he said, in a greater degree than could be said of any other measure of our time the deliberate work of an overwhelming majority of the representatives of the people. In the course of the week that whole fabric had been thrown to the ground by a body which admittedly had no power to increase or decrease a single tax.

With much emphasis Premier Asquith declared that the house of commons would prove unworthy of its tradition if it allowed days to pass without making clear that it did not mean to brook this grave indignity and arrogant usurpation of its rights. He concluded:

"We are living under a system of false balances and loaded dice. When democracy voted for a Liberal government the dormant second chamber awoke from its slumbers and nullified the work of the house of commons."

Following the premier A. J. Balfour strenuously defended the action of the lords.

OREGONIANS ASSESSED LARGE SUMS FOR LAND FRAUDS

Portland, Or., Dec. 4.—Judge Charles E. Wolverton, of the United States district court, imposed fines upon sixteen Eastern Oregon men who pleaded guilty to having technically defrauded the government of part of the public domain.

Col. J. H. Raley, a prominent lawyer of Pendleton, one of the defendants, made a plea of leniency for all. Col. Raley declared while technically guilty of violating the law, their acts had been done under the impression that they were within the pale of the law.

United States District Attorney John McCourt indorsed Col. Raley's appeal, adding that the defendants are business men of standing in their community, and have led irreproachable lives.

On acknowledgment of Col. Raley that his advice was responsible for the other defendants violating the law, Judge Wolverton imposed a fine of $10,000 on him. On the others graduated fines ranging from $5,000 to $500 were inflicted.

ZELAYA ASKS INVESTIGATION BY THIS GOVERNMENT

Managua, Dec. 6.—President Zelaya has asked the United States to send a commission to Nicaragua to investigate conditions existing here and says that if its findings show that his administration is detrimental to Central America he will resign.

President Zelaya believes the information sent to the United States regarding cruelties practiced by his government is prejudiced and that a disinterested investigation would show matters in a better light.

Cream Scones.

Sift one and one-half cupfuls flour into a basin, add one teaspoonful of sugar and one teaspoonful of baking powder. Rub in one heaping tablespoon butter, then make into soft paste with some cream. Divide it in two pieces. Take one piece and roll it out quite thin and round, then roll out the second piece and cut into eight pieces. Lay them on hot griddle and bake them for five minutes, turning them once.

CANADIANS AND FISH QUESTION

NORTHERN NEIGHBORS NOW WANT MORE UNIFORM LAWS.

Claim to Be at Disadvantage Under Present Regulations—Echo of the Sealing Cases, Which Are Said to Have Proved a Boomerang.

Victoria, B. C., Dec. 6.—Owing to the apparent reluctance of the United States authorities to unite with Canada in the enactment of regulations that should ensure the conservation for all time of the salmon fishing industry of the Pacific Northwest, there is marked dissatisfiaction among the canners of Vancouver island and the lower British Columbia mainland. The publication of the total packs on this and the Washington coast, the comparison being in favor of the latter for the first time, has added fuel to the fire of indignation.

Among those directly interested in the industry and in political circles it is said that the situation resolves itself to the question: "Is the salmon fishing industry to be adequately protected or is it to be killed by overexploitation?" It is looked on as a certainty that this will be one of the matters introduced at the Dominion parliament during the session now in progress and that Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his colleagues will be besought to reopen negotiations with the authorities at Washington in the endeavor to induce them to co-operate in the drafting of such protective measures as experts, after due investigation, may consider absolutely necessary.

Canadians at Disadvantage.

That the Canadians were at a disadvantage this season, the year of the "big run," because they had to lift trap and seine nets for a longer period than their American neighbors, is one source of grievance. They point out that, while they have no objection to doing anything that may appear right to prevent the extermination of the fish that mean millions of dollars to the Northwest, yet it is a hardship to let the fish go by during the period bitter competitors are catching as many as possible. Their claim is that before any restrictions can be effective and equitable they must be adopted both by Canada and the United States, and, moreover, they assert that if the fishermen of Washington are sufficiently broad-minded they must realize that such a policy is in the interests of all concerned.

The report that even the existing regulations south of the border line are not strictly enforced is another source of trouble. This statement is said to come from authoritative quarters. For these reasons the Canadians have reached such a condition of mental agitation that they are determined to exert all their influence to bring about an understanding between the two countries concerning this question before another season.

"We should have allowed the United States to win that dispute over the seals some years ago and then we would be able to insist on our neighbors listening in our case regarding the salmon," remarked an authority. discussing the situation.

When the contentions of Canada and the United States on the sealing industry were arbitrated the latter's argument was that the seals of the Bering sea belonged to that country because they bred on the Aleutian island, the cubs were left there while the mothers went away foraging for food, and that it was while so engaged that, in the majority of instances they were killed.

If this argument had been counted good by the judges then it is pointed out that the precedent could be used to force the United States to a recognition of what British Columbians claim are their rights with respect to the salmon. The position is much the same because the salmon spawn and breed in Canadian rivers and are caught by the Americans while on their way to these waterways for that purpose.

And so, with the passing years, Canada's jubilation over the victory won in the sealing controversy has turned to regret that such a decision was not given as would enable its use in forcing the protection of an industry which now is admitted to be of tenfold more importance than that of sealing, once so lucrative.

Cream of Rice.

One-half cup of rice, four tablespoons of sugar, one-quarter teaspoon salt. Pour over this one pint of hot water and one pint milk. Scald and remove half the liquid. Bake till nearly done. Stir in remaining liquid and bake a minute or so more. Take from oven while still quite wet, as it dries up when cool.

Young Wife (rather nervously)—Oh, cook, I must really speak to you. Your master is always complaining. One day it is the soup, the second day it is the fish, the third day it is the joint—in fact, it is always something or other. Cook (with feeling)—Well, mum, I'm sorry for you. It must be quite hawful to live with a gentleman of that sort.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

WOMAN'S SPHERE

Saves Trying on Hats.

Whether the millinery device designed by a New York man will be as popular as it is ingenious remains to be seen. According to the prevailing opinion of a woman's department in a millinery store, it does not seem likely. The device consists of a large card with an opening large enough to admit a woman's head. Above this opening is painted a hat of some particular design, while below is a design to represent a bust portion of a woman's waist. The idea is to have a millinery supplied with a painted reproduction of every hat in stock. When customers come in they look the hats over on their stands, and when they see styles they would like to try on stand in front of a mirror and put their heads in the card bearing the design of those particular pieces of headgear. This plan saves a great deal of wear and tear on hats and saves the customer a great deal of time, but whether it will be appreciated by the fair sex is a matter of grave doubt.

Health and Beauty Hints.

A flannel bag or hot alt is very useful and comforting, not only for rheumatism, but for any muscular pain.

Peroxide, the application of which sometimes prevents the growth of superfluous hair, is apt to have an injurious effect upon the skin by overdrying it.

To alleviate the effects of a blow little ones often receive at play the old-fashioned remedy of a little butter or olive oil rubbed on immediately is excellent. It should be removed every half hour for an hour or two.

As a knock hard enough to bruise the eye may cause serious trouble, one should be careful when walking in the dark in unaccustomed spots to protect the face and chest by raising the arm about to the level of the nose and keeping it bent in front of you.

Lemon being an astringent, it is particularly good if the pores of the skin are enlarged. It is excellent to rub on the yellow line on the neck where the collar ends. Be careful not to use lemon juice too continuously, as it sometimes hurts delicate skin.

The habit of grimacing overexercises the mouth and draws unpleasant lines about it. The woman whose family tells her of this defect should count herself fortunate, and endeavor continually to check these mannerisms which threaten to disfigure her.

It is foolish to put drops in the eyes to give them an added luster, as this will, in the course of time, if it is kept up, almost entirely ruin the eyesight. If the eyes feel heavy and tired bathe them with weak salt water, either hot or cold. This can do no harm and will relieve the strained sensation.

A home-made specific for tan and sunburn consists of paste made from magnesia and lemon juice. Apply to the neck and arms by means of a linen bandage or directly to the skin, covering it with a cheesecloth. Allow the bandage to remain on for several minutes, then wash off in tepid water which has a dash of witch hazel in it. Apply twice a day if necessary.

To Make Sleep Come.

If you cannot get asleep try a sponge bath made thus: Into eight ounces of alcohol put two of ammonia and two of camphor. Shake thoroughly, and when well mixed add four ounces of sea salt and enough hot water to fill a quart bottle. To apply it, adds the Family Doctor, pour a little of the liquid in a shallow dish, moisten the whole body a little at a time by dipping a small sponge in it. Rub on only a very little, then finish with a vigorous rubbing with a coarse crash towel. Get into bed, and we'll insure the quick arrival of "nature's quick restorer, balmy sleep."

Washing Blankets.

Put a cupful of soft soap and two tablespoonfuls of borax into a tub of lukewarm water. When this has had time to entirely dissolve put in your blankets and let them stand for half a day. Then wash carefully and rinse thoroughly in several waters. Do not wring them. Have some one take hold of one end of the blanket and you grasp the other firmly in your hand. Shake the blanket carefully and hang up to dry.

Woman Wins Golf Honors.

The supremacy of man now is being challenged by women in the game of golf. Miss Ida Leitch, a young Englishwoman, has developed such skill that it is believed she will prove a rival for the best professionals, including Taylor, the British champion and the player most admired by President Taft. Few women have developed real skill at golf, but Miss Leitch has the application and the patience necessary to a steady game over the hard courses. The other day she turned in a score of 72 for the Silloth course, one of the hardest in the United Kingdom, breaking the amateur record and coming within two strokes of the professional record. Miss Leitch is looked upon as by far the best of all women players. She is planning to visit this country next summer.

A Womanly Woman.

She stayed at home.
You don't hear of her.
She was too busy to talk.
She was too well bred to brag.
She didn't say she disliked hotels.
She murmured not when Mrs. Rich drove off.
She didn't declare resort life too vapid.
She was making school dresses for wear later.
She was taking her children for day excursions into the open places.
She has explained all she can of the flowers, trees and insect life.
She studies some good nature books along with the children before their excursions.
She has superintended her children's games and their gardening efforts, in addition to her own work.
And she's the "salt of the earth," this woman who is above aping those with more money, and who rejoices in a fine mind and body, which she puts to the best possible use.—Philadelphia Record.

To Remove Tan.

One of the most celebrated recipes for removing tan is the following English recipe: Best English mustard, one tablespoonful; oil of sweet almonds, one tablespoonful, and lemon juice to make a thick paste.

Mix and spread in a thin plaster over the face, keeping it well away from the eyes and leaving it on the skin until it smarts. In a few days the scarf skin will become loosened and will gradually rub off, carrying the tan and freckles with it.

Vichy water, applied night and morning, is also effective in removing tan and freckles.

Elaborate Bodice Design.

An extremely smart and effective design for a separate blouse which would be pleasing made up in soft silk or wash materials is pictured here. A complicated arrangement of tucks in various widths combined with eyelet embroidery or lace is used. The plastron is outlined by a broad piping of delicate silk, as are also the tucked sleeve caps. Little buttons and loops trim the diagonal front closing. The deep cuffs are of allover lace. The high tucked collar is made of mousseline de soie and the design of the front is repeated in the back.

Cultivate a Graceful Walk.

Very few girls walk gracefully nowadays, in spite of the craze for physical culture. The most generally noticeable faults are a forward droop of the head, sticking out of the elbows and scraping the feet. The girl who walks with a forward stoop accentuates all these faults and lays herself open to various diseases as well. Because, if you slouch forward, you compress the lungs, and prevent proper expansions of the chest. Consequently the lungs are insufficiently supplied with fresh air, and the body does not get enough oxygen for the requirements of health.

Carrots for Complexion.

Carrots are said to be excellent for the complexion, and here is a good way to prepare them: Wash, scrape off the skin, cut into dice and leave in cold water for half an hour. Put in the inner compartment of a double boiler with no water upon them except that which clings to them after washing. Cover closely and cook tender. An hour should be long enough for this. Turn into a deep dish, pepper and salt and cover with a good white sauce. Peas may be added, and the combination is delicious.

Fads and Fancies in Dress

Collars are now practically even all around and are very high. Tabs and points have disappeared.

Scotch zephyrs in all the new berry colors with a good amount of white in the weave will be suitable for one-piece dresses.

Black chantilly shawls come in as an excellent drapery over silk gowns. It is not necessary to cut the shawl, though it is draped and held in place with rosettes of soft satin.

The latest whim of the Parisian is carrying the evening gloves in the hand instead of wearing them. Rings have grown to such large size and are so numerous that the wearing of gloves becomes a question and the result is their banishment.

Chiffon bishop sleeves have a portion of the uppers made of dress material. The noticeable puff and fluting at the hand have a tendency to make the hand appear much smaller.

Picturesquely reminiscent of the middle ages are the popular casquines, made of corded silk, with short sleeves and somewhat elaborate with jetting. The skirts worn with jackets of this kind are rather full.

The skirt for street wear is noticeably long, and the skirt of sheer garments is also quite long. Modistes are fast bringing in dresses that must be slightly lifted at the hem in order that the wearer may take a step. This style made its appearance when Paris muslins were adopted and the feminine dress lovers were delighted with the long, billowy white dress and blue ribbons.

Broke Pie-Making Record.

Mrs. Wyman, aged 70, of Pittsfield, Mass., recently broke all records in her piemaking career. She made seventy-two pies of nine different varieties, as follows: Custard, apple, cocoanut, prune, raisin, squash, chocolate, blueberry and lemon. Mrs. Wyman did the work alone and had it finished by noon.

To Clean Lamp Chimneys.

An excellent cleaner for lamp chimneys is made by fastening to the end of a stick a sponge just large enough, when immersed in water, to fit the chimney. Wipe your chimney inside with this, and, after rinsing, dry with a soft piece of linen.

To Clean Knives.

In order to keep your knives clean and bright, take some wood ashes and mix with fine scrapings of a raw Irish potato. Rub this over the blades with a cloth, and, after rinsing, dry with a soft flannel.

Hard to Lose.

"It's hard to lose a beautiful daughter," said the wedding guest sympathetically.

"It's a blamed sight harder to lose the homely ones," replied the old man, who had several yet to go.—Exchange.

HIGH CROWNS AND A FEATHER FEATURES OF NEWEST HATS.

There are hats and hats. This fall's newest style hats are turned up and turned down, trimmed heavily and trimmed very simply—but the crown must be high, and it must have a feather on it somewhere. Above are some of the styles.

Fall Care of Poultry.

The fall of the year is the time to buy pure bred stock, whether of males only or of both sexes. Breeders do not keep over winter more than enough to complete their breeding pens, and will readily dispose of their surplus stock at a fair price. It is better to buy fowls in the fall than to procure eggs of pure breeds in the spring. A pair of hens will lay perhaps 250 eggs—at least 100 of them being early in the season—thus producing a large number of chicks and avoiding the shipment of eggs by express and the likelihood of breakage. It will be still cheaper, if buying pure breeds, to procure half a dozen, a male and five pullets, as they will cost less proportionately and give an opportunity for hatching chicks quite early in the spring without being compelled to wait too long to secure a setting of eggs. It will pay every one interested in poultry to use pure breeds, and the fall is the best time to buy them.—Field and Farm.

Cataclysm on Mars.

The Journal of the British Astronomical Association says that the obliteration of the usual markings on the surface of the planet Mars during the September observations by a gloomy yellow veil indicates a gigantic catastrophe of some kind. The change may be connected with the abnormal electrical conditions of the sun.

Drys Get Saloon Permits.

A novel way to prevent the opening of saloons in a town recaptured by the liquor element was discovered and put into effect at Fairfield, Texas, where the prohibitionists were the first to make application for licenses under the law limiting the number of saloons. These being granted by the court, no more being available, the liquor men were simply crowded out, and the prohibs kept their permits in their pockets and sat tight.

FRIDAY, DEC. 10, 1909

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

President Taft's message to Congress is a strong paper, a clear statement of his views on the more important problems now before the American people. The message is conservative and will please the country. "Perhaps the most important question presented to this administration is that of economy in expenditure and sufficiency of revenue" says the President, and this is the dominant note of the message. He favors retrenchment in all departments of the government.

The President declares it unwise to attempt further revision of the tariff until the facts are at hand upon which such revision can properly be undertaken. Speaking generally, he says the country is in a high state of prosperity. He notes the increase in the cost of living, but says the tariff is not the cause. In those products of the factory and farm there has been no increase in the tariff and in many instances a very considerable reduction.

Among the questions discussed and urged upon Congress are postal savings banks, ship subsidy law, suppression of "white slave" traffic, reform of judicial procedure, reform of injunction abuses, statehood for New Mexico and Arizona, executive council to govern Alaska, and open door in China.

The Nicaraguan situation is reviewed and the President declares the government is prepared to act as duty to American interests, obligations to Central America and to civilization dictate.

WILL ENFORCE THE LAW

It has been a common circumstance in the past to meet Indians on the streets of Angeles under the influence of liquor, and the inference is that these Indians obtained the liquor from one of the saloons of the city.

Our state prohibition law contains a clause absolutely prohibiting the sale or the giving away of intoxicants to Indians of more than one-eighth blood, and provides discretionary penalties embracing imprisonment not exceeding two years and fines of not more than $1000 for each offense.

While this new law is a state statute, the Indian department of the national government was more or less responsible for its enactment, so that better care and control over the Indians can be maintained, and it is understood that the Indian department is going to see that the law is enforced. To this end Special Agent George A. Miller of the Indian service, department of the interior, commenced operations in Tacoma recently with the result that seven saloon men were arrested for selling liquor to Indians.

It is Special Agent Miller's intention to visit every town or city on the sound or send a representative to secure evidence, and cause the arrest of all who violate the law.

WHY NOT?

Well, it may be, it would be, odd if the question of prohibition, whether absolute, or in the form of local option or high license, or in any other shape or form, should be adopted by one of the great parties and become a national issue. Doubtless the country, as a whole, is hardly ready for such a radical step; but why, may we ask the Tribune-Times, why not the Democratic party? Are the saloon keepers all democrats? All save those in Port Angeles? Can it be true that in every community the saloon keepers have practical control of the city government, as they have today in Angeles? Is it possible that in every locality the saloon keepers exert the degree of influence they do in Clallam county? For unless the saloon keepers and their allies are democrats, why should not the democratic party be as likely to espouse the cause of prohibition as the republican? And why, may we ask, with the states of Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Florida, North Carolina, Tennessee, Oklahoma, North Dakota and Maine in the prohibition column; and with South Carolina, Virginia, Arkansas, Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana, Delaware and Wyoming almost entirely dry; and with Texas, Louisiana, Iowa, Illinois, West Virginia, Missouri, and the remainder of the New England states dry with the exception of small areas; with Nebraska, Minnesota, and other states largely dry and controlling the liquor traffic with high license and stringent regulations—why, with the Solid South and most of the doubtful states almost entirely dry, wouldn't the democratic party be as likely to declare for national regulation of the liquor traffic as the republican?

HALLAHAN AGAIN DEFEATED

The furtive attempt of Mr. Hallahan to defeat the will of the people as expressed at the recent primaries came to naught at the city election Tuesday, although it was a close shave. The people most directly interested won, despite the unmanly interference of ward-heelers from other parts of the city into the affairs of the Fourth ward and the reported importation of booze and money from the saloon interests of the Second ward in a dastardly attempt to corrupt the voters and retain control in the city council.

For some days prior to the election rumors were afloat that eleventh hour tactics were to be resorted to in an attempt to defeat the will of the majority. On the other hand Mr. Hallahan was quoted as saying that as there was nothing in the office of councilman but kicks and abuse, and that as he had been fairly and honorably defeated by a vote of his peers—the sovereign people—he would abide the result and not allow the use of his name at the city election. Believing him to be an honorable gentleman, we were inclined to take Mr. Hallahan at his word and avoided saying anything about the matter in print prior to the election, although repeatedly urged to do so. The sequel shows that we misjudged the man.

While the people have a vested and undeniable right to vote for whom they please, with the use of stickers if they will, eleventh hour methods, dependent upon a light vote, and slipping over a surprise on the friends of the successful candidate who in this instance won a fair election, with the use of stickers is distinctly unpatriotic, un-American and unjust and no fair-minded, self-respecting man will knowingly allow the use of his name in this underhanded manner to defeat the expressed will of the voters.

NOT AT HER POST

The foundering of the Matterhorn, which occurred Tuesday, the 30th, about seventy miles off Umatilla reef, and the subsequent experiences of the crew in making the light ship at the reef have been the cause of not a little unfavorable comment upon the officers of the Snohomish, due to the absence of that tug from her post at a time when apparently most needed. A criticism which, while no doubt merited by the department for its failure to make proper provision for a coaling station before the beginning of the winter season, can hardly be held to apply to Captain Leavis.

The Snohomish, at the time of the disaster, was at Neah Bay and was without sufficient coal to enable her to make a cruise along the coast. Leaving to aid a ship reported to be dragging her anchor at Clallam Bay, she continued on to Port Townsend for pay-day, and to Seattle for coal. While there is no doubt the Snohomish has been away from her post more than shipping men consider necessary, the department is to be criticised for allowing the summer to have slipped by, after deciding upon Port Angeles as the supply station, without having on hand at this point, at some one of the wharves already here, a sufficient supply of coal. Neither should the boat be compelled to go to Port Townsend in order that the men may be paid off on the first of every month. Work is now under way repairing the Fish Products Co.'s wharf for use as bunkers and it may be that the recent criticism will tend to hasten the delivery of coal.

In the face of such unseemly scramble for office as was apparent in the fourth ward last Tuesday is it any wonder that people stop to enquire why some men attempt to hang onto the public teat so tenaciously when there is nothing in it but abuse?

C. S. DALE'S NEW STORE

C. S. Dale is again in business on Front street at the old location, but in the new store building just completed for his occupancy, where he has a large, well lighted room for the proper arrangement and display of his large stock of cigars, tobaccos, pipes, confectionery, nuts, light package goods, as well as for the news, magazine, book and stationery department, to which he will devote the west half of the room and which he will make a leading feature. The stock from the old Horace White stand, which Mr. Dale purchased early in the year, was moved down Saturday and combined with that of the West Front street store, Mr. Layman will continue with Mr. Dale as in the past.

In entering upon the new year in the new building, Mr. Dale wishes to thank his many customers who have made possible a fair degree of business success, and to respectfully solicit their continued patronage.

Advices from Seattle say that the grand jury of King county has begun a searching inquiry into the alleged provision trust, including prices on butter, eggs, farm produce, meat, coal and groceries, in Seattle, and will summon merchants to explain how high prices are made and maintained. Charges have been made that dealers have conspired to maintain high prices on the necessaries of life, and that the real producers do not participate in the benefits. It is claimed that the criminal code relating to trade has been violated in Seattle.

Secretary of Agriculture Wilson in his annual report says that the retail meat dealers in fifty cities of the Union, including Seattle, average a profit of 38 per cent. on the price he pays the wholesaler. And the wholesaler in Seattle has a corner on the article?

The special selections of music at the Congregational church last Sunday were exceptionally good. In the morning Miss Alice Ball very sweetly rendered the solo "Rock of Ages," and in the evening a Quartette, Mrs. Moore, Messrs. Bonnet, Edgar and McNutt, sang the words of a beautiful hymn which was composed by Mr. Bonnet and arranged to a melody in the Christmas Anthem, "Calm on the Listening Ear of Night."

Another prominent business man of Peoria, Ill., is coming to Angeles to reside. Walter Mack Clark, who with his bride is on a brief visit to California, writes to have his copy of the Olympic-Leader delivered to him here in Angeles, where, he says, "I will be settled by the 15th or 20th of December.

Our former townsman, Mr. George Welch, gave an illustrated lecture on the subject of the Olympic mountains at Port Townsend Monday evening. The lecture was illustrated by 100 lantern slides, showing many of the interesting points touched by the speaker. The Call says of the lecturer: Mr. Welch is thoroughly competent to handle his subject in masterly style. He has for years spent a portion of his vacations in the range and is noted as one of the most successful hunters and mountain climbers of this section, and from his vast store of knowledge and experience gathered in actual contact with his subject can give his hearers a realistic talk on a matter in which all should be interested.

If a little effort was made upon the part of one of our church societies Mr. Welch might be induced to deliver his lecture here.

Mrs R. D. Merrill returned home last Saturday from Port Townsend; a nurse from the Sanitarium accompanied her. Mr. Merrill also accompanied his wife home.

ANGELES SCHOOL NOTES

"Obstipui, steteruntque comae, vox faucibus haesit".

The above verse from Vergil fittingly describes the experience of the faculty in the basketball game of last Friday evening. One of the teachers said it was much worse than that, but judging from the score it was a fairly hotly contested game. It is not quite clear to the faculty how the scores happened to be so one sided (19 to 5) but the opinion seems to prevail that it was an easy victory for the High School boys. Miss Hayes may know all about the curves and angles in Geometry but curves and angles described by the basket ball that night are beyond her comprehension. Mr. Geisness can throw baskets when Duane is not around. Mr. Peterson is not much taller than Robert. Mr. Singer has still some manual training to learn (how to handle a basket ball) and Miss Marsh better stick to Music and Drawing. The faculty is satisfied. They have claimed superiority in football and basketball and have been vanquished. There is nothing for them to do but to withdraw within the fortifications, Latin conjugations, German syntax, Radicals with three unknown quantities, and the monuments of English Language and Literature. Can they be routed also from these ancient strongholds by these same boys? Let us see what the boys can do along that line.

The first number in the High School Entertaimnent course will be given Friday evening, December 17. The program will consist of a farce by High School students, "Maidens All Forlorn", several musical numbers, and club swinging. Seats are now reserved at Mathewson's. Considerable interest is manifested in the efforts of the school to provide entertainment and at the same time procure sufficient funds to pay for the piano, etc. We hope that everybody who can will make an effort to be present next Friday evening.

A teachers' meeting will be held in Room 8, Central building, Friday, Dec. 10, at 4:15 p. m. At this meeting reports will be given on the subject "Moral Instruction in the Schools Correlated with Class Room Work", by Mr. Fleming, Miss Caskey, Miss Babcock, and Mr. Edgar.

The apples which graced the Thanksgiving table of President Taft were big red ones from Washington. They were grown on Puget Sound and forwarded to the national capital by the growers of Vashon Island. Before going East, this fruit was on display at the national apple show in Spokane. It attracted more people than any other single exhibit because of its beauty and unique and natural arrangement. These apples demonstrated the fact that the irrigated districts of Eastern Washington are not the only ones that can produce fine fruit. With care and scientific methods, Puget Sound horticulturists say that good apples can be produced here, as well as any place in the Northwest.

The fair held by Pacific W.R. C. No. 21 last week netted the society about one hundred and ten dollars, nearly all the goods were sold. The Corps is very grateful to the people of the city who were so liberal in their purchases, and to the various committees for their excellent work in making the fair and supper a success.

The election of officers passed off very pleasantly and we are looking forward to a successful year. We have not had much relief work to do in the past year but stand ready to aid the old soldier or his dependent ones whenever aid is needed.

The Good Dinner.

The successful housekeeper was planning a dinner for a few of her husband's friends.

"I must have apple pie and cheese for dessert," she remarked without a flicker of indecision.

"But I should think you would want something more dainty this time of year," suggested the woman who always worried herself sick over a company dinner, "an ice or a frozen pudding."

"Oh, but apple pie is my husband's favorite dish. When he has company I always serve what he likes best; then he thinks his guests have had such a good dinner, and everybody is happy. At least my husband and I are happy, and if the guests aren't no one is the wiser."—Chicago Inter Ocean.

DEER KNEW ITS FRIENDS.

Wild Doe That Helped Woman to Take Care of Wounded Fawn.

An incident in animal life which possibly may never be duplicated occurred a few weeks ago on the estate of George W. Watson at Eastern Point.

Soon after Mr. Watson arrived at his Eastern Point residence a fawn was born in the grass land around the residence, the New London (Conn.) Day says. During the winter, of course, there was nothing to disturb the deer, and they wandered at will around the estate. When it was time to cut the grass a mowing machine was put to work, and the sharp knife of the mower found the little fawn while it was cuddled up in the herbage. One leg was cut badly—so badly that the baby deer was unable to get away. It was taken care of by Mr. Watson and the injured leg treated.

The little chap seemed to understand that it was in good hands and responded to the treatment. It was left where found, and each day the mother doe came along and attended to the provision of food, the youngster gaining health and strength daily. Now the little chap has fully recovered and is able to fight its own life battle. Mr. and Mrs. Watson are well pleased to know that the fawn they cared for is able to follow its mother and enjoy the freedom of Groton woods.

It has been accorded to very few, even those who spend much time in the wilds, to see baby deer nurtured as Mr. and Mrs. Watson saw their little pet.

Recipe for Catarrh.

The only logical treatment for catarrh is through the blood. A prescription which has recently proved wonderfully effective in hospital work is the following. It is easily mixed:

"One ounce compound syrup of Sarsaparilla; one ounce Toris compound; half pint first-class whiskey." These to be mixed by shaking well in a bottle, and used in tablespoon doses before each meal and at bedtime. The ingredients can be gotten from any well stocked druggist, or he will get them from his wholesale house.

Within a month three books have been published, entitled, respectively, "As It Happened," "As Things Happen," and "It Never Can Happen Again." Let us hope it never will.

A Little Cold.

He caught a little cold—
That was all.
So the neighbors sadly said,
As they gathered round his bed,
When they heard that he was dead.

He caught a little cold—
That was all. (Puck.)

Neglect of a cough or cold often leads to serious trouble. To break up a cold in twenty-four hours and cure any cough that is curable, mix two ounces of Glycerine, a half ounce of Virgin Oil of Pine compound pure and eight ounces of pure Whisky. Take a teaspoonful every four hours. You can buy these at any good drug store and easily mix them in a large bottle.

Soup from Canned Salmon.

Take half a can of salmon, remove all skin and bones and chop it fine. Boil an onion in one quart of water for about fifteen minutes; take out the onion, thicken the milk with one scant tablespoonful of butter and two tablespoonfuls of flour, a teaspoonful of salt and pepper to taste. Add the salmon; boil up and serve.

No matter how long your neck may be or how sore your throat, Hamlins Wizard Oil will cure it surely and quickly. It drives out all soreness and inflammation.

Comparison of the size of Henry Hudson's ship, the Half-Moon, with that of the enormous ocean passenger-ships of the present, implies a suggestion that an explorer who would set sail in a vessel of only ninety tons' burden was courageous indeed. It would be more just to compare the Half-Moon with the ships used by explorers at the present time. Commander Peary's Roosevelt, with its fifteen hundred tons' burden, is one of the largest used in arctic or antarctic exploration. Nansen's Fram was a vessel of only four hundred tons, and Mikklesen, who spent two years in the arctic sea north of Alaska, charting the coast and making soundings, used a vessel of less than fifty-six tons. It was only sixty-five feet long and twenty feet wide, and the hold was seven and a half feet deep. Hudson's ship was much larger.

Friendship has been vaunted by the essayists as one of the compensations of life, and it is generally recognized that a true friend is a rare and valuable possession. But there is always this danger, that a friend will not be true enough to tell us our faults, and, for this reason, here and there a philosopher has appeared who has prayed for an enemy, because this enemy is sometimes a truer friend than the one we call a friend. In an obscure magazine printed in the East, one of these clearer sighted people has voiced this need of an enemy in a little petition for that which is not pleasant, but which may be needful to the well-rounded character. A little reflection will show that in the last analysis a true man has no enemies. Those whom he has called his enemies are the best of friends, for they push him up on higher ground, till he reaches that highest of all positions where he is able to understand what enemies are but to actually love them, "for they know not what they do."

THE NEWS FROM THE COUNTY

DUNGENESS

The high water did little damage here. Sunday evening at five o'clock the river overflowed and was soon pouring through the streets. It began to fall at midnight but was high again all Monday. Tuesday it had run off altogether, leaving drift wood, planks and shingle bolts scattered around in the streets and alleys. Not knowing how high the water would rise, many families left their homes and went to their friends whose houses were on higher land. Sidewalks were washed away and several feet of mud was left in different yards.

About fifteen head of cattle and several horses of J. W. Bettit's were caught on the island. Jake Hall, after being carried out to sea once, finally reached them in a skiff, but was unable o drive them into the stream. They were given up as lost but on Tuesday were still safe and hay was carried to them and on Wednesday they were driven off.

It was feared that J. Wilcox's new house would be undermined but the water fell without doing damage.

A log jam on the west side of the river turned the water toward Dungeness. Several boxes of powder was used on it Thursday and Friday.

Boats, gumboots and stilts were much in evidence Monday. Mr. Jensen, the blacksmith, did not see as much fun in it as did the boys when he got mired and fell into the water when using his stilts trying to get from his shop to the hotel.

The bridge at Mr. Seal's was considerably damaged, but was soon repaired so that teams could use it.

The covered bridge near the school house is about the only one not washed out. The water rose to the floor and only the hard work of several men saved it. It now looks as though one of Uncle Sam's battleships had been using it as a mark for target practice. The foundations are undermined, six inch braces are shattered and torn away and a great hole in the roof shows where a tree tore its way through the bridge.

Several miles above R. J. Campbell's farm the river overflowed and dividing into four streams flowed over the land, washing away several acres.

Tom Downie, the foreman, was nearly washed away when his new house was destroyed; he spent Sunday night up a tree on an island.

Mrs. Arthur Cays was taken to the hospital at Port Angeles for an operation. She is reported as doing well. The operation was a severe one.

Miss Lilly, the missionary from Singapore, Malaysia, spoke of her work, the people and the climate, in the school Friday afternoon and also in the evening at the church.

Ernest Evans and Eddie Pettit were home for Thanksgiving.

Frank Lotzgesell and wife attended the Elks' memorial services Sunday.

The Improvement Club met with Mrs. Blake Wednesday.

Mrs. Hooper, daughter of J. Wilcox, is visiting her parents.

Mr. Hoffman, our artist, is on Bowman's ranch where he has a fine view of the river and mountains.

Mr. Halston has moved into the house left vacant by Mr. Hoffman, getting off the island just in time to escape the flood.

Mr. Blake is with Mr. Monson in the postoffice.

Mr. Wooten is cooking at Mr. Conley's.

Mr. Baker and family from Pennsylvania have rented the house left vacant by Louis Pettit.

The Ladies Aid Society is to give an oyster chowder supper Friday, the 17th, from five to nine o'clock.

Mr. J. Dick and Mr. Mapes have bought a donkey engine and will soon begin to drive piles for the new bulkhead to take the place of the one washed out. It is hoped that $1500 will be raised for improvements; the county is expected to grant a like amount.

Mr. Seal entertained Mr. and Miss Humphrey, brother and sister of Mrs. Seal, Thanksgiving week.

Miss Ida Albers, teacher of school in District One, entertained, Thanksgiving, her sister, Miss Adella Albers, who is teaching in Blyn and Miss Clara Albers, her cousin, who is teaching in Sequim.

Christmas won't be complete without a visit to Fisher's Bazaar where presents for old and young at prices to suit any purse.

The necktie social given by the athletic club at the G.A.R. hall last Friday evening was a grand success; there was a large crowd and they cleared $57.50. The club proposes to build a hall near the school house and get a library started so that the young people of Sequim will have some place to go and spend their spare time where they can find good healthy reading and improve their minds as well as their habits.

Sequim Prairie has water running now in two of her ditches and expects to have the third one in running order soon; the damage to the ditches were not nearly as bad as they thought at first.

Leo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Cook, slipped on the ice and broke his collar bone one day last week.

Will Wright, Jr., had an auction sale of all his belongings last Saturday and everything was sold for a good price.

Walter Grant sold his fine home and ten acres to Harland Howell. Walter moved Tuesday to the old home place now owned by his brother, Virney Grant, until he can build on his own ten acres over near town. Mr. Howell moved into his new home Tuesday.

Mr. Reeves got his new donkey engine last week; the mill whistle blew for the first time last Friday.

Christ Miller has a very bad cold.

Virney Grant moved into his new house Monday; they now have a lovely home.

School started in the Independent school house Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Jack Long is very sick

Received too late for last week.

The Sequim Prairie Ditch Co. will hold their annual election Dec. 11. That date being the second Saturday in the month the election will be to select three directors for the coming year. All stockholders should turn out and select men that will take an interest in the work. The election will be held in the S. A. Wilber Hall at 2 o'clock p. m.

P. L. Edgington is home from Seattle. His eyes have much improved from treatment while in the city.

Hamond Keeler, son of Joe Keeler, also received benefit from having his eyes treated when in Seattle.

Larry Freeland of Lost Mountain, who has been in Dr. Longhary's Sanitarium in Seattle, is no better and will be sent to the State Sanitarium. Mrs. Freeland is prostrated from her troubles. She is at Dr. Cook's Sanitarium, and her aunt, from Iowa, is here taking care of her.

Willis Cook's mother, Mrs. Mary E. Cook of Seattle, and sister, Mrs. Jane Dewey of Chicago, are here visiting their relatives.

Mr. Barrem's youngest child is quite sick.

Frank Duncan, who has been very sick with plurisy, is some better.

Mrs. John Potter is home from the hospital; that accounts for the broad smile on John's face these days.

School children neither tardy nor absent during the 2nd school month, ending Nov. 24:

Primary room: Myrtle Bell, Charles Hamilton.

Third, Fourth and Fifth grades: Harold Waldon, Frank Long, Marcella Doran, Dagmer Nelson, George Potter, Ilda Fisher, Raymond McDonald, Willie Crosby, Gladys Long, Glenda Potter, Ruth Cozins, Minnie Berg, Rose Grennan, Helen Stroup, Fay Ward.

Sixth and Seventh grades: Robert Priest, Phillip Waldron, Madeline Stewart, George Quinn.

High School: Preston Dey, George Noble, Pearl McDonald. Mary Jones, Ivy Jones, Harleigh Brown, John McDonald, Bert McCombs.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Webster and children who have been East on a visit returned home in time for Thanksgiving. They report having had a grand time but glad to be back to Sequim.

When on the way to visit a patient last Wednesday one of the shafts to Dr. Cook's buggy dropped down, causing the buggy to swing to one side, which frightened the horse and causing the buggy to strike a stump, throwing the occupants, Dr. Cook, her son Rogers and Mrs. Johns, out. The Dr. sustained a sprained wrist, the others were uninjured.

The masquerade ball at the opera house Wednesday evening was a grand success. Miss Carrie Davidson and Miss Annie Grimit carried away the prizes as the best dressed young ladies. The supper was given by Mrs. Joe Keeler and it was a fine one, with turkey, duck and chicken and all the other dainties, such as Mrs. Keeler knows how to serve.

FORKS.

Written for last week.

The storm of last Saturday and Sunday was the worst that has taken place in this vicinity in many years. This prairie at times looked like a lake. Creek, and rivers were all at a very high stage of water. The following items indicate something of the severity and damage done by the storm:

Louie Klahn did not leave Clallam with the mail on Sunday, water on the low piece of road on Beaver prairie being deep enough to cover a horse's back. Even on Monday only a letter-pouch came through, and that on horse back.

Roy Whitcomb was compelled to leave his place by the high water of Sunday. He drove his cattle up to a hay stack, afterwards rescuing them from danger. Water was several feet deep in his house.

John Grader's dam on Mill Creek went out before the flood of waters. This is the third time that John has seen his work prove unavailing. Several hundred dollars will hardly cover his loss.

Dan Wilson's dam was badly covered up with logs and driftwood.

Some Indians going in a house on the Brogachiel near Charley Grader's were routed out by the rising waters at five o'clock Sunday morning. Taking refuge in a barn further back from the river they were afterwards compelled to seek safety on the hills.

Jack Fraker has lost his bearings, as the river has changed its course near his place.

At low water the Calawa is thirty feet below the bridge just out of Forks. The water was twenty feet above that mark on Sunday.

At Mora, Wesley Smith lost a hundred head of sheep. Water stood a foot deep on the first floor of his residence.

The Lake Creek Bridge was washed away, and the approach to the Solduck river bridge near Quillayute was washed out, leaving the stringers, however.

No teams can get to Quillayute or Clallam from here.
