THE ECONOMIC ASPECT

Experience of Washington Towns Same as of Towns Everywhere in the East.

Boyd P. Doty, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, in a report just issued, says: As a result of the local option elections held between August 14 and January 1, exclusive of those already dry, nineteen additional towns went dry. Fourteen cities and towns that vo ed dry a year ago repeated the decision, and approximately 150 saloons were put out of business as the result of the declaration of the voters throughout the sta e.

The dry counties are Whitman, which went dry last year, and Thurston, Skagit, Clark and Stevens.

"Besides holding our ground," says Mr. Doty, "in fourteen cities and towns that previously had gone dry, we added nineteen more to our list. Yakima City was the only blackslider, and the issue was brought on and decided so quickly that it was practically over before we had an opportunity to enter the fight. We had no organization there.

"The voters are coming to see this thing not as a sentimental proposition, but from its economic and social aspect, the view point of business. In Lynden, which went dry for the second time, bank deposits have increased 50 per cent., and the names of many small depositors appear on the banks' books. The two leading stores have doubled their business, and the proprietors unhesitatingly declare that they can see this issue from its broadest aspect."

Dayton was the first town in the Northwest to vote prohibition. The saloons were voted out a year ago, before the new local option law became effective, and this is the report from there in a special to the Post Intelligencer, dated Jan. 11, viz:

With real estate transactions aggregating $1,700,000, three business blocks, fifty dwellings costing from $2,500 to $8,000, forty new business firms, thirty orchards with an acreage of 500, representing an investment of $250,000 in Touchet valley orchard land; the first modern department store, installation of gasoline motor car service, a new wagon factory, brick yard, bank with a capital of $50,000, four real estate offices, several miles of new sewer, new reservoir, and an increase in population from 2,800 to 3,700, the year 1909 has witnessed the most active period in and about Dayton.

Evidently voting out the saloons did not kill Dayton.

Mr. Doty further says: "In every rural county the vote was 2 to 1 against saloons, and herein lies the defect of our law. I will venture the assertion that if we can secure an amendment to the state law eliminating the line of demarcation between the cities and towns and the rural vote, we can get counties in our column right along by overcoming the action of the cities by the rural vote. This has been proved by the elections already held.

"More than 100 cities and towns will vote on the question on or before the fall elections in November, when the issue cannot be submitted to the voters for two years. In these we expect signal victories."

CITY HAS NO CONTROL

A dispatch from Olympia to the P.-I. of the 13th, reports the decision of the supreme court on the Port Angeles-Morse wharf case as follows:

In the case of the state on the relation of the city of Port Angeles against D. W. Morse, the supreme court has affirmed judgment dismissing the action. The city gave Morse an alleged franchise to build and operate a wharf at the foot of a city street. Morse refused to pay rent, and the city brought this proceeding. The case is dismissed on the holding that quo warranto will not lie, as this is not a franchise, but, anyhow, the city does not control the property on which the wharf was erected, as it is either tide lands or harbor area, and belongs to the state.

BIG TIMBER LAND DEAL

Rumored Milwaukee is Behind Recent Purchase of East End Timber Lands.

The Miles-Macleay lands, between Siebert's and McDonnell creeks and along the latter comprising some 8,300 acres, recently sold under foreclosure of mortgage by the sheriff, together with the holdings of the Pacific Logging Company, of Dungeness, comprising all its holdings and logging engines, tracks, outfits, etc., were transferred this week to Craig L. Spencer and Arthur Maguire, of Seattle, for a consideration of $20,000 over and above the mortgage liens against same, aggregating some $275,000. The transfers are made by the Pacific Logging and Timber Company and by A. B. Ross, its principal owner, of Seattle, and by N. Cornett, of North Yakima, who has held some property in trust.

It is understood that the new owners will shortly redeem the Macleay lands from the sheriff's sale on a judgment of some $76,000, with interest, costs and some $5,000 of taxes paid, making the deal one of the most extensive of recent months.

The lands comprise practically all the available timber in the East End of the county and are traversed by the logging road of the company which suspended operations some two years ago because of the embarrassing financial difficulties, since which time the locomotives and donkey engines have been housed at the company's yards on the Burlingame road just east of McDonald creek.

It is not known just who the new purchasers represent or whether at this time they will attempt to renew operations. It is rumored, however, that the Milwaukee railroad has a hand in the deal. It is known that the Milwaukee people were negotiating for the purchase of the property some months ago, and it is therefore thought that they are the buyers under cover.

THE CITY COUNCIL

Consideration of Mayor Lewis' appointment of J. D. McQueen as street superintendent was, by mutual consent of mayor and council, laid over for another week. The matter was brought before the council by the mayor, who read from the statutes the section in confirmation of his position, that the street superintendent is in reality an assistant to the mayor, holding his position only during the mayor's pleasure, and is not, as in the case of the officers of the police department, partially responsible to the council. The question was raised as to whether or not the office of street superintendent had been provided for by ordinance and it was found that no ordinance had been passed, under the law, creating the minor city offices. The city attorney will introduce the required ordinance next week.

The application of McDonnell & Sons for privilege to open a saloon in the block East of Laurel street, and which is the only dry territory in the business section, brought forth a nearly unanimous remonstrance from the property owners, who believed the presence of a saloon would be detrimental to their business interests.

Petitions against the granting of such a license were signed by M. J. Carrigan, D. W. Morse, Jas. Stewart, C. P. Brown, R. D. Willson, John M. Bell, P. J. Wold, Mrs. A. Goldwater, and J. F. Frank for John Hensen.

Council adopted recommendation of the Mayor and ordered that a Baker valve should be purchased, the agent to place same in position, and that steam pipes in the light plant should be covered with asbestos, in order that the engine may prove more efficient.

HIGH SCHOOL DEBATE

The second in the series of State High School debates will be held in the opera house, Port Angeles, Friday, Jan. 21st, between LaConner and Port Angeles. Question: Resolved, that cities of the Northwest containing fifty thousand inhabitants or over should institute a commission form of government modeled after the plan of DesMoines: Provided, that the negative shall propose no other form of commission government.

Peter Scanlan was arrested Tuesday night in the act of carrying a pail of beer from the Old Crow saloon to some Indians, from Neah Bay, who are sojourning in the city. He is held in the county jail, and will be given a hearing today at 2 o'clock before Justice Fields.

GREAT BENEFITS FROM FARMERS' UNION WORK

Walla Walla, Jan. 15.—Farmers who patronize farmers' union grain office next year will have to agree to pay a quarter of a cent a bushel to the union for every bushel sold, regardless of whether through the farmers' union or through some grain dealer. The past year, while the office was getting a start, the quotations were furnished to all and many failed to pay the percentage to the union. Next year the quotations will not be given out except to those who will agree to recompense the union.

Farmers assert that thousands of dollars were saved to them this year through the maintenance of the union agency. Quotations were received daily from Tacoma, a man there acting as local agent, and by this method the farmers learned the Coast price and the local price. Armed with this information they got a better price for their grain from the dealers. One man last year was offered 96 cents a bushel by a dealer, but went to the farmers' union office and got the quotation, which was $1 a bushel An hour later the dealer came in and purchased the same wheat he had offered 96 cents for at $1.

Local farmers are jubilant over the benefits they received last year through their organized efforts. They bought their grain bags in one lot, forcing down both the "trust" and the prison prices and also got the best of the warehouse men. The rates of the warehouses were 75 cents a ton for the last three months of the year, but the farmers finally forced them down to 50 cents. They did it by uniting in the plan of stacking their grain in the field, where they were not close enough to an independent warehouse.

JAPAN PLAS TO OPEN PORT ARTHUR TO WORLD

Washington, Jan. 18.—Notice of the intention of the Japanese government to open Port Arthur to world-wide commerce is indicated in Tokyo dispatches to the Japanese embassy about two months ago, but it was said the issuing of the order would be withheld until the government was able to fix the exact date for the opening.

The purpose is not to make Port Arthur a free port in the sense of Hamburg, where goods may enter free of duty and be placed in bond, but simply to put it on a footing with New York or any other commercial city.

The significant point of this is the fact that it marks the determination of the Japanese government to abandon Port Arthur as a great sea coast fortress.

Sugar Officials Indicted

New York, Jan. 15.—The federal grand jury has returned indictments against Charles L. Heike, secretary of the American Sugar Refining Company; G. W. Gerbracht, J. R. Brendernagel, Henry W. Walker, Jean M. Voelker and James F. Hallagan, employes. Four counts charge false entries of sugar products and two counts allege conspiracy to defraud the government in weighing sugar imports.

The estimate on the 1909 crop by State Grain Inspector Armstrong, filed with the railroad commission for the benefit of the prison board in apportioning the grain bag output of the penitentiary among the counties, gives a total of 49,565,000 bushels for the 3,045,000 acres. It is divided as follows: Wheat, 35,095,000; oats, 9,290,000; barley, 1,580,000.

APPLE PACKING SCHOOL TO BE HELD AT WALLA WALLA

Walla Walla, Jan. 17.—Lack of fruit packers capable of putting up boxes of apples which ranked in quality with those of other No thwestern places, but which lacked in appearance, will be eliminated this year through the efforts of local horticulturists. District Fruit Inspect C. L. Whitney has arranged a fruit packing school to be held here the week of Februatry 21, and N. Y. Tostevin, a Hood River expert, will be in charge.

A large quantity of apples will be placed before the pupils and they will be taught the various fancy packs. Their proficiency will be proven by a test which will close the work, and those who pass successfully will be given certificates.

Instruction will be given at this school in pruning, planting and spraying trees. The Commercial Club is backing the school and has arranged to give the instruction free.

A feature of the school will also be a test of various smudge pots which agents are trying to introduce in the Walla Walla valley.

NO FIRST CLASS MATTER IN SECOND CLASS PACKAGE

In the future, sending a silk handkerchief or a message, gift or other greeting through the mail as second class matter will be punishable as a misdemeanor.

The postoffice authorities have found silk handkerchiefs wrapped in newspapers and letters enclosed in their folds. These articles are first class matter. Until recently the only penalty for sending matter in a wrong classification was a fine of $10, but the regulation recently promulgate l makes it a misdemeanor and fixes the penalty at $100.

This is considered part of the department's scheme for retrenchment. That the second-class rate has been abused by people sending matter through the mail is the belief of the department. For this reason the offense of inclosing first-class mail matter in second-class mail packages will be vigorously prosecuted

AGRICULTURAL ENTRY UPON COAL LANDS FINDS FAVOR

Washington, Jan. 17.—The Mondell bill, which is intended to unlock the gates of the conserved coal domain by permitting agricultural entries on coal lands in the United States, has been practically agreed to by the house committee on public lands. The bill applies to all the coal lands of the country. The bill does not apply to Alaska.

The proposed exhibition will commemorate the three hundredth anniversary of the settlement of Manhattan island. The promoters of the enterprise have effected a preliminary organization and have taken out articles of incorporation. No site for the fair has yet been chosen.

PRESIDENT TAFT SENDS SECOND SPECIAL MESSAGE

Washington, Jan. 15.—President Taft sent to congress yesterday a special messasge urging immediate conisderation of conservation legislation without waiting for the result of the investigation of the charges against Secretary Balilnger. The president states that his proposals are really an epitome of the recommendations made by Ballinger in his annual report, and says that bills prepared by Ballinger incorporate his ideas of what should be done.

The mesasge says that the early idea in this country was to give away all the public lands, and states:

"There has developed in recent years a deep concern in the public mind respecting the preservation and proper use of natural resources. The problem is how to save and how to utilize, how to conserve and still develop, for no sane person can contend that it is for the common good to hold that nature's blessings are only for unborn generations. Among the most noteworthy reforms initiated by my distinguished predecessor were the vigorous prosecution of land frauds and the bringing to public attention of the necessity for preserving the remaining public domain from further spoliation."

The president declared that since Secretary Ballinger had been in office, withdrawals of water power sites had been made on 102 streams, covering 22 per cent more streams than were covered prior to that date.

"The present statutes, except so far as they dispose of the precious metal and purely agricultural lands, are not adapted to carry out the modern view of the best dispoition of public lands to private ownership under conditions offering, on one hand, sufficient inducement to private capital to take them over, and for proper development on the other, which shall secure to the public that character of control which will prevent monopoly or misuse," declared Presidentl Taft.

More Power For Secretary

He said that the power of tte secretary of the interior to make withdrawals of the public lands is not now either definite or satisfactocry, adding:

"It seems to me that it is the duty of congress now, by statute, to validate the withdrawals that have been made by the secretary of the interior to withdraw lands pending the submission to congress of recommendations as to legislation to meet conditions or emergencies as they arise."

He recommends that surface and sub-surface rights be separated so as to allow the entry under the agricultural laws of the surface and the retention by the government of coal or other mineral deposits beneath public lands.

He suggests that the mining of coal be allowed on a royalty basis, requiring a certain amount of development yearly, and says:

Frightening Capital

"It is extremely difficult to retain government control over property to be developed by private capital in such a manner as to secure governmental protection, and at the same time not frighten away the investment of the necessary capital."

The president says that he will not go into a discussion of the mooted question as to whether water rights in streams flowing through government lands belong to the federal or state government for disposition, but expresses the belief that the federal government, through the ownership of the land necessary to develop these water rights, can impose restrictions.

"Under these conditions," he says, "if the goverunment owns the adjacent lands, it may control the use of the water power by imposing proper restrictions on the disposition of the land necessary in the creation and utilization of the water power."

He recommends that all water power sites be disposed of in such a way as to prevent their union for monopoly, and with the limitation for the right of use to 50 years, with provisions fixing terms for renewal, and "within proper means of determining a reasonable, graduated rent."

Nothing ou Rates

He does not touch the question of the regulation of rates, saying:

"As long as the government retains control, and can prevent their improper union for monopoly with other plants, competition must be maintained and prices kept reasonable."

He recommends the conservation of soils being carried on by the department of agriculture and criticises the reclamation services, saying that some of the projects in the west are likely to fall because of lack of water and that too many projects were set on foot for the amount of money on hand. He says that settlers have been invited to take up supposedly reclaimed lands, and now find that they have no water.

"The failure to complete these projects for their benefit is in fact a breach of faith," the president says, "and leaves them in a most distressed condition. This condition does not indicate any corruption on the part of the reclamation service. It only indicates an overzealous desire to extend the benfits of reclamation to as many states as possible." He then recommends the issuance of bonds from time to time, not exceeding $30,000,000, to provide for the completion of these projects "What I have said is really an epitome of the recommendations of the secretary of the interior in respect to the future conservation of the public domain in his annual reports." President Taft concludes:

"He has given attention to the problem of the disposition of these lands under such conditions as to invite the private capital necessary for their development on the one hand, and the maintenance of restrictions necessary to prevent monopoly and abuse from absolute ownership on the other."

PRISON GRAIN BAG PRICES ARE FIXED

Olympia, Jan. 18.—The state board of control has fixed 6 cents as the retail price of penitentiary grain sacks for this year, or 5.9 cents when the applicants combine orders to make a carload shipment. These prices are for the bags delivered to any railroad station in the state, based on the estimate of the crop made by the state grain commission.

The board apportioned the 1,500,000 bags to be manufactured this spring to the grain growing counties in quantities as follows: Garfield, 82,205; Columbia, 91,645; Walla Walla, 179,035; Whitman, 365,325; Spokane, 39,365; Lincoln, 249,685; Adams, 95,905; Douglas, 79,165; Franklin, 28,915; Benton, 38,055; Klickitat, 37,295; Yakima, 18,265; Asotin, 13,695; all other counties, 16,175. Applications must be made before April 1 to the superintendent at the penitentiary and sacks not applied for at that date may be sold to oyster growers on the West Side. The plan of selling bags at a flat rate, delivered at any railroad point in the state was inaugurated last summer to work off the accumulated bags in the warehouse.

WHITE SLAVE BILL PASSES HOUSE AFTER SHARP FIGHT

Washington, Jan. 17.--By a viva voce vote the house passed the "white slave" bill. The "white slave" bill is the result of an investigation of the traffic in alien women made by the national immigration commisson. Provision is made for the deportation and exclusion of immoral aliens and for the exclusion and punishment of their procurers. Traffic in immoral women becomes subject to the restrictions of interstate commerce laws.

Immirgation laws are so amended as to exclude persons who are supported by or who receive proceeds from the prostitution of aliens and provision is made for the criminal prosecution of persons who harbor aliens for the purpose of prostitution.

The measure makes it a crime punishable by a fine of not more than $5,000 and imprisonment for not more than ten years for any person to procure a ticket for any person to go from one state to another to engage in prostitution.

THIRD UNIT OF UMATILLA PROJECT READY FOR ENTRY

Washington, Jan. 18—Twenty thousand acres of land bodrering upon the Cnolumbia river, about 190 miles east of Portland, Or., embraced in the third unit of the Umatilla irrigation project in Oregon, will be thrown open to homestead entry at 9 o'clock February 10. This announcement has been made by the secretary of the interior.

Opportunity will be given to take up a farm varying in size from 10 to 40 acres, upon which the charge for building the irrigation system is $60 an acre, payable $18 an acre at the time of making the entry and $6 per acre annually thereafter.

The land all lies below an elevation of 600 feet above sea level, thus ensuring climatic conditions favorable to the early ripening of fruit.

PROF. H. S. GRAVES TO SUCCEED PINCHOT

Washington, Jan. 15—President Taft has appointed Henry S. Graves, director of the Yale forest school, as forester of the United States to succeed Gifford Pinchot. He also appointed Albert E. Potter, at present acting forester, as assistant forester. The new forester and his assistant both served under Mr. Pinchot.

It was largely through Mr. Pinchot's efforts that the Yale Forest school was established and Mr. Graves went from the post of assistant chief of the division of forestry under Pinchot to become director of the school in 1900. He served in the forestry division for two years.

Farmers May Roll Grain

Eugene Or. Jan. 18.—In view of the disastrous results to fall grain from the recent cold it has been suggested by some who have come here from the East that fall wheat fields be rolled with a heavy roller. It is thought that where the grain has lifted badly after the thaw rolling would press the roots back into the soil and that much fall wheat now considered a loss might be made to produce a fair crop without replanting. It is probable seveal farmers will try the plan, which has been successful in Eastern and Middle states.

Cowen to Succeed Gilham

Olympia, Jan. 15.—While no official announcement of Gov. Hay's intention has been made, it is current state house gossip that H. E. Gilham will retire from the state board of control February 1. E. D. Cowen is to be appointed his successor. The resignation of J. H. Brown as secretary of the board, will take effect at the same date.

RIGHTS OF PEOPLE IN DANGER

PINCHOT FEARS FOR GOVERNMENT AS WELL AS RESOURSES

Says Conservation of Both Are at Stake—One as Shaky as the Other, He Says, and Appeals to Voters to Come to His Aid in Fight Now On.

Washington, Jan. 15—"The conservation of natural resources and the conservation of popular government are both at stake. The one needs conservation no less than the other."

This statement epitomizes the formal announcement made public by Gifford Pinchot, recently removed as chief of the forest service. The former official declares that the great moral issue which now faces the country is not the loss of natural resources so much as whether special interests or the people shall rule. The statement, in part, is as follows:

"At this time I have no comment to make on recent events. Whether in or out of the government service, I propose to stay in the fight for conservation and equal opportunity.

"Every movement and measure, from whatever source, that tends to advance conservation and promote government by men for human welfare. I shall try to help. Every movmeent and mmeasure, from whatever source, that hinders conservation and promotes government by money for profit, I shall endeavor to oppose. The supreme test of movements and measures is the welfare of the plain people. I am as ready to support the administration when it moves toward the paramount end as I am to oppose it when it moves away."

Mr. Pinchot expresses his profound regret at leaving the forest serice, and pays high tribute to the faithfulness and high quality of service rendered by the men with whom he worked. Out of the work of the forest service, he declares, grew the conservation movement.

What Movement Represents

"Today that movement expresses one of our deepest natural convictions," he continues, "and the principles for which it stands are received as axiomatic. It is only the execution of them which remains in doubt.

"The great conference of governors in the White House in May, 1908, led to the appointment of the national conservation committee. whose report gave us a new conception of the value of our natural resources. It told us what is needed for their prompt and orderly development and for their safety and perpetuation.

"Together with President Roosevelt's message transmitting its report the recommendations of the committee furnished a complete statement of the conservation policy, met our needs squarely and prescribed the remedy. They include definite, practical recommendations for the protection of forests against fire and for equitable forest taaxtion..

"The classification of the public domain was strongly urged and principles for its use and disposition were laid down. The necessity for preserving the fertility of our soils and developing their agricultural value by drainage and otherwise was covered, and particular attention was given to the needs of retaining our phosphate lands, then in danger of absorption by a foreign syndicate."

Mr. Pinchot traced the recommendations of the conference, applauding and indorsing them all

"In a word," he said, "the report of the commisison and the message, taken together, set forth a comprehensive, definite statement for the conservation of our natural resources."

Scores Tawney Amendment

Then he proceeded:

"At this critical period, when the goal was in sight, enemies of conservation in congress not only succeeded in preventing an appropriation with which to pursue the work, but attempted to forbid its progress by the Tawney amendment to the last sundry civil bill. Thereupon the work of the national conservation commission was stopped.

"The recommendations of the commission still wait for action. All wise men will argee that the situation is serious. The Tawney amendment was more than a mistake—it was a deliberate betrayal of the future. The dangers which confront the conservation movement today must be met by positive action in congress. No action will be equivalent to bad action, and will have the same results.

"Unless congress acts, the water powers will pass into the hands of special interests without charge and without limit for all time. So will the phosphate deposits on public lands, when the withdrawals which now protect them are removed. So with the enormously valuable coal deposits in Alaska, which the present law would sell for $10 an are.

"The dancger of bad legislation is no less serious. The special interests must no longer be allowed to take what they choose out of the great property of all the people. Those who steal public lands steal homes from men and women who need them. Congress can stop the pillage, or conrgess can let it go on.

"In the absense of proper action, two great conservation plans for the public may fail. The first is the control of water powers on navigable streams in the public interest. The second is the construction of the deep waterway from the Great Lakes to the Gulf.

"The unanimous opinion of the Mississippi valley recognizes the waterway as a commercial necessity. It believes, with reason, that the cost, which is already officially known, will be trivial when compared with the benefits conferred. Transportation facilities create traffic.

"The failure to develop our waterways, together with adequate terminals and connetions by rail, leaves to the railroads a complete monopoly of transportation in the Mississippi valley."

Ask Voters for Help

The former forester then calls upon every "man of good will" to make clear to his representatives in congress his firm intention to hold them personally responsible for safeguarding the "rights and property of the people."

In such action, says Mr. Pinchot, lies the remedy.

"The first great immediate danger is that the water powers will be lost; the second is that the coal lands will be lost." The statement concludes:

"But these specific dangers of public loss are merely parts of the real issues between the special interests and the rest of us. That issue is whether this country shall be managed by men for human welfare, or by money for profit.

"It is a tremendous issue, far greater than any man's personal feelings or personal fortunes. It lies between the people and their representatives on one side and the interests and their representatives on the other side; between progress and reaction; between special privileges and a square deal. I repeat that the supreme test is the welfare of the plain people It is time to apply it."

WHEAT GROWERS, SHIPPERS, AND MILLERS HOLD MEETING

State College, Pullman, Jan. 15.—The Wheat Growers, Shippers and Millers' Association, three hundred strong, held their meeting at Pullman in the college auditorium and indulged in one of the most enthusiastic meetings since the beginning of its existence Among those present were John T. Burns, secretary of the National Dry Farming Congress; Byron Hunter, representing the United States department of agriculture; ex-Senator R. C. McCroskey, the largest wheat grower in Easterrn Washington, and many other leaders in the milling and cereal growing industries of the state.

Addresses were delivered by Hon. O. E. Young, president; John T. Burns and C. C. Thom, soil expert of the state college. Mr. Burns in is address gave the history of the dry farming movement from its inception to the present, and characterized the possibilities for advancement in this great line of agriculture as grand and practically unlimited.

COLVILLE RESERVATION MAY BE OPENED IN 1912

Spokane, Jan. 17.—Indian Commissioner Valentine says in his annual report, just given out by the department, that the south half of the Colville reservation in Eastern Washington, northwest of Spokane, may be opened to settlement and entry the middle of 1912. There are more than 2,500 Indian claims to be allotted, each receiving eighty acres of land.

Clair Hunt, of Colville, Wash., who had charge of the allotments to the red men on the Spokane reserve prior to its opening, is making progress with the appraisement of unallotted lands, but owing to the delays in procuring returns from the surveys in the Colville reservation, the actual work of making allotments in severalty has not begun. Much of the land, of which there are several hundred thousand acres, is timbered; other land is adapted to farming and it is known that there are extensive deposits of minerals.

To Rush Abbottsford-Hope Line

Vancouver, B C., Jan. 15.—Construction of the Victoria, Vancouver & Eastern railway from Abbotsford to Hope, a distance of approximately fifty miles, will be in full swing within the next month, or at least as soon as the contractor can get his outfits on the ground. Information to this effect was secured in connection with the announeement that the contract for the building of this stretch of the road, which is to link the Coast with the Kootenay and Boundary districts, had been awarded to P. Welch, of Spokane.

Not to Change Pinchot Policy

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 15.—Prof. Henry S. Graves, of Yale, newly appointed national forester, in an interview, expressed himself in favor of the policy pursued by Mr. Pinchot as chief of the forestry service. So far as he knew the rould be no reorganization of the service, he said. His only policy was the conservation of the public resources

The midwinter meeting of passenger agents and operating officials of the Burlington system was held at Chicago last week. The greater portion of the meeting, attended by more than 100 officials, was devoted to forming plans for inducing immigration of farmers to the far West, where the road is forming settlements, new towns and industries.

Gov. Hughes to Quit Politics

New York, Jan. 18.—The New York Tribune announces positively that Gov. Hughes will not under any circumstances be a candidate for re-election, having determined to return to his law practice. Gov. Hughes declined to discuss the report.

PEERS LOSE OUT IN ENGLAND

FIRST ELECTIONS INDICATE GREAT LIBERAL VICTORY.

With Their Labor Allies They Will Have Majority of Nearly a Hundred Over All Parties. Balfours' Prediction Recalled. Result of Monday's Polling.

London, Jan 17.—Sunday gave a welcome respite from the strenuous work at the election stations and an opportunity for calm reflection over the prospects of both parties striving for control of the government. The greatest animation prevailed all yesterday at the clubs and other rendezvous of politicians, and Saturday's results were excitedly discussed from every possible viewpoint.

Although both sides preserve a sanguine air of confidence, it was evident that the Conservatives have abandoned hope that the peers will control the next government. The utmost they dare to expect is that the Liberal majority will be so reduced in the next parliament as to place the Liberasl at the mercy of the Nationalists.

It must be remembered that Mr. Balfour, leader of the Conservative opposition in the house of commons, in a speech some days ago said the great political issues now in question would not be settled by one general election, and perhaps not by two. Clearly the ex-premier accurately measured the situation, and the hopes of the tariff reformers must now be centered upon some future general election.

Unionist Paper Pessimistic

An estimate by a well-informed Unionist, based on Saturday's pollings, gives the Liberals and Laboriets a clear majority of 90 or 100 over all parties, which would provide the Liberal government with a good working majority. Many Unionists, however, are less despondent. They do not believe the Liberals will finish the elections with so good a record

At the National Liberal Club great satisfaction is expressed over the results so far.

The pollings today, which include thirty-one London constituencies and fifty-seven provincial burroughs, will provide a better index as to how the country is going. Should the Liberals maintain the hold which they gained on the metropolis in 1906 their prospects will be regarded as much rosier than they are now.

Peers' Gain Insufficient

At the present, to sum up, nothing could be predicted with absolute certainty, but only a great increase in the Unionist gains over Saturday, when they gained only half the number of seats they had counted on, will give them victory. If Unionists continue to gain at the same ratio, the Liberals still will retain a majority of about ninety.

London, Jan. 18.—At the conclusion of yesterday's pollings in the general election the parties stood as follows:

Unionists, 92; Liberals, 77; Laborites, 16; Nationalists, 13. Net gain for the Unionists, 29.

The government fared much better yesterday than the most ardent supporters expected. The Unionists gained 19 seats, the Liberals 4 and the Laborites 1, making a net gain for the Unionists for the day of 14, one less than they gained in fewer elections on Saturday.

This practically assures the return of the Liberals to power with a fair majority, for among the places still to poll are those in Scotland and Wales, always solidly Liberal.

Russia Leads in Wheat

Washington, Jan. 18.—The United States has lost its place as the greatest wheat producing country in the world and Russia has won that distinction, Russia last year having produced the remarkable harvest of 783,000,000 bushels, which constitutes the largest crop ever harvested by any country and 26,000,000 bushels greater than that of the United States. Only twice has the wheat production of Russia surpassed that of the United States, the first in 1904, when the crop here was a partial failure. About one-fourth of the Russian crop is exported.

SEATTLE WOMEN FORM NEW COMMERCIAL CLUB

Seattle, Jan. 15.—Business and professional women of Seattle have organized a Woman's Commercial Club. According to the constitution adopted, the "object of the club shall be to promote good fellowship and a local spirit. To encourage the buisness development and the social and economic welfare of the city of Seattle, and to foster a spirit of civic pride and loyalty among its citizens. To promote, encourage and support the individual business interests of each of its members."

Pay of Country Enumerators

Washington, Jan 15.—Census Director Durand has announced that per diem rates of pay will be allowed census enumerators in the rural districts of Washington. The rate will range from $5 to $6 a day for the thirty days allowed in the enumeration of rural areas outside of cities having a population of 7,000 or more at the census of 1900. Six dollars will be the rate in the greater part of rural Washington.

COURT FAVORED BY POWERS

KNOX PROPOSAL FINDS FAVOR WITH FOREIGN GOVERNMENTS.

State Department Encouraged by Reception Given Its Suggestions by Leading Powers—No Official Advices—Manchurian Proposal Faaored by British and Germans

Washington, Jan. 17.—State department officials have received with much satisfaction during the past few days tidings leading them to believe that several of the principal powers of Europe are considering fatvorably Secretary Knox's proposal to the nations looking to the establishment of a permanent international court of arbitral justice.

While no formal or definite answers have been received to the joint note addressed to the powers, diplomats here and abroad recognize the great importance of the proposition from an international peace standpoint.

A state department official explained that it was not the intention directly to supplant the international prize court established as a result of the second Hague conference; nevertheless, he made it clear that had the court been satisfactory in its operation a new court would not have been suggested.

Germany and England Approve

Berlin, Jan. 17.—The German government has expressed its agreement to the proposal of Secretary Knox for the neutralization of the Manchurian railways, in the same sense that Great Britain has approved. Germany understands that Great Britain has expressed its fundamental agreement with the proposition, which fully recognizes the principles of the "open door and equal rihgts for all." These have been always the foundation of the German policy in Eastern Asia. It is believed in German circles, however, that the matter will occupy the attention of the various governments interested for a long time before a final settlement of the question is reached.

STATEMENT BY UCHIDA PLEASES STATE DEPARTMENT

Washington, Jan. 15.—The state department has not received any direct official expression from foreign governments interested regarding Secretary Knox's note suggesting neutralization of Manchuria railroads, and officials refuse to attach much importance to the views of some of the foreign newspapers unfavorable to the proposition.

In some instances the newspapers are known not to be in the confidence of their government, nor to exercise any potent influence in shaping their policies. This is believed to be true as to the Japanese press.

It is known at the state department that Mr. Knox's neutralization suggestion is receiving most careful consideration in the chancellories of the powers interested, and because of the exceptional importance of the matter it is not thought replies reasonably can be expected for some time.

No Doubt of Wisdom of Plan

The department entertains no doubt of the wisdom of taking the Manchurian railroads out of Eastern politics, thus minimizing the danger of war, and believes no country would profit by such a course more than Japan. Baron Uchida, the Japanese ambassador, it is believed expressed the views of his government in an interview recently published in Tokyo, in the course of which he is reported to have said:

"America's stand with reagrd to the preservation of peace and the integrity of China has been, and will be eaxctly identical with ours. We must understand that America's policy toward Japan and the Orient as a whole always has been on the same peaceful route."

This expression of Baron Uchida, which has just become known here, is highly satisfactory to the officials of the state department.

Financial Aid For Canadian Naval Work

Victoria, B. C., Jan. 15.—Arrangemennts practically have been completed by the British Columba Marne Railway Company for ample financial aid from British capitalsits for increases proposed to the plant of the Esquimalt shipyards in anticipation of the construction of the proposed Canadian cruisers and destroyers for the Canadian navy The naval bill will provide a dfferential in favor of Canadian builders of 3 1-3 per cent over other shipbuilders, and the local company expects to secure construction of some of the four cruisers of the Bristol class and of the six destroyers which are to form Canada's new navy, divided on the Atlantic and Pacific.

Oil Hearing Date Set

Washington, Jan. 18.—The supreme court of the United States has granted the motion of the government for the advancement on the docket of the Standard Oil case and set the hearing for March 14 next.

No Strike Agreement Yet

Washington, Jan. 18.—No agreement is yet in sight between the railroad officials and their switchmen, whose respective employes have been for several days in conference with Chairman Knapp and Mr. Neill, mediators.

CORNER IN 3-CENT PIECES.

Was the Involuntary Work of a Dime Slot Machine Company.

The disappearance of the 3-cent piece has for years been a matter of mild speculation. The New York Sun says persons are aware that a large proportion of the coins of this denomination which remained in circulation when the government stopped issuing them are peaceably slumbering in sundry large fat canvas bags in the vaults of a certain electrical manufacturing company of Chicago. They are not for sale just yet.

Each of the coins is an evidence of petty larceny.

Years ago the company equipped many telephone pay stations with dime slot machines. It was supposed that they could be worked only with dimes. The 3-cent pieces were becoming rare and no thought was taken of them.

Hardly six months passed before one of the telephone companies discovered that the collectors were yielding a harvest of 3-cent pieces. Then from all over the country came similar complaints.

Each company forwarded the pieces to the manufacturing company and more or less politely asked that a corresponding number of dimes or a check for an equivalent amount be sent back in exchange.

A council was held at the office of the manufacturing company. The cost of correcting the boxes was compared with fairly trustworthy information of the number of 3-cent pieces in circulation. It was found that a balance was in favor of the 3 cents and it was decided to accept the pieces as dimes.

Gradually the inpour of 3-cent pieces narrowed down to an intermittent current. The company seemed to have about all the pieces.

It is said that if ever the premium on 3-cent pieces goes high enough the coins will be offered to collectors at prices based upon the original cost to the company, plus 6 per cent a year, plus cost of storage, plus cost of guarding, plus cost of carrying the fund upon the books. Long ago the slot machines that collected them were relegated to the scrap heap.

Poor John!

A Philadelphian who was formerly a resident of a town in the north of Pennsylvania, says a writer in Lippincott's, recently revisited his old home town after an absence of many years. One day he was talking with an old friend about various people he used to know.

"What became of the Hoover family?" he inquired.

"Oh," answered the latter, "Tom Hoover did very well. Got to be an actor out west. Bill, the other brother, is something of an artist in New York, and Mary, the sister, is doing literary work. But John never amounted to much. It took all he could lay his hands on to support the others."

Ways of Women

Individuality Woman's Charm.

The charm of woman lies not in beauty but individuality—if she could but be brought to understand that fact. It isn't the details that count. It is, as Trilby says, "the altogether"—her carriage, her manner, her voice, her expression; in short, herself—that makes or unmakes her charm.

It is the woman, then, who has the courage to be herself who attracts.

Originals are much more desirable than copies, no matter how accurate the copy may be. If it be natural to wear one's hair in carelese fashion, by all means do so; nature is never mistaken.

But let the admiring sister whom that same autocrat intended to be a tailor-made girl beware of disorder; in her it would cease to be artistic; it would simply be untidy.

Let every woman dare to be herself, develop her own individuality, not blindly copy some other woman, whom, it may be, her husband happens to admire.

Let her think for herself, act for herself, and express her own honest opinion. Individuality when combined with that nameless something called manner is the most potent weapon in the possession of the sex. It is this which has given many a homely woman a reputation for beauty which a bona fide beauty with faultless face and figure has sighed in vain to attain.

Typhoid Fever Carriers.

Typhoid fever carriers is the term applied to persons who may be infected by the typhoid fever germ and yet themselves free from the disease. According to statistics, based on fifty-seven cases reported by various physicians, about three-fourths of all carriers thus far recorded are women, and with very few exceptions the carriers have been engaged in some occupation, such as cook, baker, or dairyman, which has enabled them to transmit the typhoid bacteria to food products, or they were inmates of insane asylums and careless in their personal habits. Carriers have in some instances had typhoid fever but a short time previous to their examination, and in others several years before. Dr. Albert believes that many people carry typhoid germs for a time without sickness.

A Governor's Busy Wife.

Mrs. E. F. Noel, wife of the Governor of Mississippi, is one of the busiest women in the United States. Conservation is her hobby. She has formed several women's organizations and almost the entire State has been divided into sections in each one of which is a body of women pledged to some particular effort aiming at the conservation of the national resources. Above all else, however, Mrs. Noel is interested in the conservation of the human race and she has devoted untold labor to the establishment of classes for the teaching of the elementary principles involved in caring for children and ill persons. Her organization of trained nurses is growing fast and already has achieved notable results.

Caracul and wolf are two of the best furs for motor garments.

Soft, fluffy pompons are an attractive trimming on some of the tailored hats.

Eight-gored skirts are worn in some of the cloth gowns, and flare gracefully in a becoming sweep.

A shirred satin ribbon makes a pretty finish around the crown of a hat, with a large rosette and jetted quill at one side.

A chic little tailored frock was of black and white checked wool with belt and high standing collar of black satin and a few large black satin buttons on the sleeves and waist.

The home dressmaker would far better choose plain material or invisible checks and stripes if she is about to experiment on the making of a suit or coat, for the decided stripes and plaids are extremely difficult to manage in cutting, and if cut and matched in the wrong way the effect is bad.

In the Second Century.

Professor Frank J. Abbott says in his "Society and Politics in Ancient Rome" that suffragettes made their first appearance in politics in 195 B. C. The object of the uprising was the law that forbade a woman to have more than half an ounce of gold, to wear a parti-colored gown or to ride in a chariot within the city limits or within a mile of it, except for religious purposes. The ladies rose up in wrath and denounced such a law, storming the Forum just as the new suffragettes have stormed the House of Commons. They blocked all the streets of the city leading to the Forum and asked each man as he approached to vote to restore their rights to them.

CLOTHES FOR COLD WEATHER.

The fur coat on the right shows the approved length and cut. It is of ponyskin, with shawl collar and turnover cuffs. The buttons are of jet, rimmed with silver. The turban is of mustard broadcloth, with a wide brim of sealskin and black aigrette in front. The figure in the middle shows a shoulder scarf and barrel muff of lynx, which is worn with a coat frock of black cheviot heavily soutached. The mushroom hat is of white felt, with crown of Burgundy velvet, trimmed with a scarf and head of brown fox. The figure on the left shows a shoulder scarf and muff of Australian opossum lined with silver and gray brocade. The stiff turban is of gray felt and black velvet trimmed at the side with a gold rosette.

Fads and Fancies in Dress

"Mediterranee" is one of the new blues.

Rat-tail braid seems to be supplanting soutache.

Paris is offering all sorts of hats except small ones.

Quills braided in gold and silver are a millinery novelty.

The Dutch and Eton collars are promised a renewed popularity.

Tassels are as popular as ever for trimming dressy coats and capes.

A novelty in a checked suit is to have the silk lining exactly match.

Long lace sleeves are a feature of the deliciously pretty tea gowns for the winter.

The general tendency is away from vivid colorings and few lustrous surfaces are seen.

One of the leading dressmakers of Paris is showing more black gowns than anything else.

Among the colors that will be much worn are the blues, pink, brown and a great deal of green.

Newest skirts show a combination of the popular princess panel and the new fashionable plaits.

Plaited bows of bengaline silk, the loops resembling tiny fans, are replacing rosettes on tailored hats.

Some of the most striking of the popular Russian blouse suits are made of a combination of velvet and cloth.

Crepe de chine scarfs are warm as well as chic. One very lovely affair had a Dresden center and old gold border.

The roll that has been removed from the pompadour allows hats to sit more firmly, and they will be worn low on the head.

Some of the newest scarfs are six yards long. They are as filmy as a veil and of course they must be arranged to give the best results.

Wedding Presents.

Wedding presents that show a desire to please the receiver plus a personality of the giver are always appreciated. Let not your berry spoon lose its identity in the seven other odd pieces. It smacks too much of the idea that anything will do.

In this practical age a tendency is growing with commendable force, to ask the bride just what will be best. It is much better than bestowing something which will be placed in a cupboard and taken out only at house-cleaning time.

The American Girl.

Many others besides Henry James have remarked upon the absurd position held in American society by young women. The ruinous indulgence of children ought at least to be confined to the home circle and not be carried into a world where age, intelligence and experience should have precedence and should form the standards. The reversal of values, so as to make the debutante the point of interest in a social season instead of the accomplished matron is as though society should have foresworn its functions. This would be true even were the manners of the debutante all that they should be in deference, suavity and tact. The experience of Washington, where society is fairly representative goes to show that much is still to be desired in these respects in the general education of American girls.—Century Magazine.

Turban of Hatter's Plush.

This smart hat is patterned after some of the high-brimmed French turbans for fall, and the model, which is of lustrous silky hatter's plush, now so fashionable, shows no trimming save the stiff blackbrush and a metal ornament holding it at one side. The higher the brim of the new French turbans, the smarter the style, and in some cases the brim rises several inches above the crown.

Hand-Made Frames.

There is at present a fad for using hand-made frames of wood, both in square and oval pieces, which are finished with sandpaper and wood filler to make them natural in wood effect. They bring out the delicate tints of some pictures to much better advantage than gold or highly ornamental frames.

OFFICIAL PAPER

FRIDAY, JAN. 21, 1910

Then, according to the logic of the Tribune Times, rottenness in public officials should be winked at and not exposed for fear that someone seeking a location would give that community in which the rascality was committed a wide berth. The man Hamilton should have gone scot free; he should have been permitted to steal and squander all the money he could get his hands upon for fear someone would be deterred from locating in the state if his rascality was exposed! The Seattle P.-I., which first called attention to Hamilton's stealing, should be wiped off the face of the earth for assuming to expose corruption. At least that is the drift of the screed in last week's T.-T.

Out with such tommy-rot. Brush the cob-webs from your eyes. Get a broader view of life. Live in the present and not in the dead past. This is a republic and not a monarchy; there should be no place in all this broad land for corruptionists and their sympathizers — they must go.

At last King county takes cognizance of the anti-screen law passed by the last legislature. To walk through Seattle one would never have known that a law of this nature had passed, as you could not see into a saloon there with a step ladder, and some not without entering, as the entire front was enclosed. Under the new order it is stated that the "better class" of saloons on First and Second avenues, where the entrances are occupied by cigar and bootblack stands, will not be molested, but by order of the grand jury others are directed to clear their fronts and reconstruction is already under way. Judge Ronald, in defining the law, says that any screen or shade that obstructs the windows or the interior of the place where liquor is sold comes within the law, and he specifically mentions where the windows are boarded up. Doors, he says, are for the purpose of entering and leaving, and may be open or solid, but the fronts otherwise must not be obstructed in any manner. This definition of the law might give the local authorities a pointer, for while it is possible to see into the saloons of Port Angeles and Clallam county, considerable hedging has been indulged in of late, and there are one or two absolute violations of law. It is understood that an effort will be made to have all bars of the city and country clear their windows down to a height of 4½ feet from the sidewalk, thus giving adults of smallest stature a chance to see what is going on, and still shut out the view of the inquisitive kid.

Our down street contemporary was mad last week, mad clear through, and brayed at the Olympic-Leader like a long eared Jackass. He recognized that the Olympic-Leader was right, that no one but a first-class shyster ever attempted to injure the business of a neighbor and our reference to the self-evident fact made him exceedingly wrathy. This is not the first time he has attempted to injure our business, not quite so publicaly, but his braying, like that of the four-legged variety, is entirely harmless; a number of our customers have heard his noise before.

SUGGESTIONS FOR THE THINKING MAN

A few of the reasons offered by the Seattle Suffrage Club in support of the proposed amendment for the enfranchisement of women:

Because women own much property which is taxed, and "Taxation without representation is tyranny."

Women who are fortunate and happy in their domestic and social relations and in their pecuniary circumstances, and who have no need to improve their individual condition, have the right and duty of trying to better the conditions of life for the multitude of women who have no leisure and few comforts. The needs of these latter are best understood by women, and woman should have political power to aid her sisters.

Women as well as men have ideas and ideals of good government. Without the franchise, they are disabled from doing, at first hand, anything that will improve the political conditions under which they and their children live, or from effectually promoting any reform in their city, state, or national government. Thus they are truly oppressed as are the subjects of the Russian Czar.

This country is full of educated and capable women. It may be safely asserted that every man's wife or sister is his intellectual peer. For such women to be classed with the insane, the idiotic and the criminal and with them shut out from the polls on election day, is an affront to thoughtful, self-respecting women.

The interests of women are affected by every law that is made. Women also are "people." The fundamental principles of democracy are violated wherever women are deprived of the right to vote.

In the state of Colorado where women have had the franchise for sixteen years and where seventy per cent of the women vote, men and women receive equal pay for equal work. This prevents women underbidding men in the labor market.

Women have need of every means of self-defense, including the ballot. It is not true that men protect women. The 500,000 "white slaves" in this country disprove it. The fact that in three-fourths of the states women lose control of their own property upon their marriage day disproves it. There is but one state where women have equal rights with men, and that is the state where women have voted since 1893. Any person who lacks due legal protection is apt to become ultimately a loser through the cupidity, the passions, or the neglect of others.

The consequences of injustice are always far reaching and terrible. One portion of the human family has held the other in legal subjection thru centuries uncounted, and the world as a whole is sad. It might be well to try to be just, and see what would come of it. Only good has come in New Zealand, Australia, Norway, England, Canada, Wyoming, Colorado, Kansas, Utah, and Idaho, where hundreds of eminent men have testified to the excellence of the results of enfranchising women.

"'The King can do no wrong' appears to be the very foundation of the creed of the editor of the T.-T., and this principle controlls his utterances, whether it be upon a question of open violation of law, or a mere matter of safeguarding the city's interests."

The above paragraph must have come pretty close to the truth for it seems to have unduly excited our neighbor, and he takes a column or more to tell us what he thinks of us. Says we have hurled that quotation at him time and again, when really we never saw it before in our life. Trouble with our neighbor is, he hasn't learned that when he jumps on another without cause or provocation, as he did on us a few weeks ago, he must take what's coming to him with good grace. Smile and look happy, brother, don't get so hopping mad.

However, he does not deny the truth of the above opinion of him, and he is welcome to his opinion of us; we'll let it go at that. One's opinion of one's brother editor don't go far towards justifying the Boss of the Council in the passage of the recent illegal salary ordinance; the holding up of saloon license as a club to force opposition into line; the passage of a wharf franchise that don't require a wharf to be built; the accumulation of $10,000 worth of unpaid light warrants, and the water franchise that required practically nothing of the grantee but a new pipe line to some unspecified point on Ennis creek, and which, while so "favorable to the city," was repealed in a few days even in the face of word from the grantee that he was going on with the work.

Our brother has evidently regained that $9 or $10 saloon business he said he lost, after he had that little tiff with the Boss of the saloon interests. We judge so, because he kindly tells us we are killing off our business — and how should he know unless he is gathering it in. But bless his dear heart for his solicitude, we never had it. We don't take business with "support of the Boss" strings tied to it. No, don't worry so, brother, you're welcome to it. You've earned it. We only wish it amounted to ten times as much, so it would have been worth your while.

$10,000 IN FINES SEVERAL YEARS IN JAIL

During the recent local option election, says the Mount Vernon Argus, so much was heard about the tragic failure of prohibition in Kansas that an opinion right from Kansas on the question at issue by William Allen White of the Emporia Gazette, than whom there is no more honest, fearless or capable newspaper man in Kansas, is timely and adds additional light on a question on which there appears to be a striking divergence of opinion.

"The industries of bootlegging and joint running have received a severe setback in Wichita, and the drought in that town is more complete now than ever before. Thirty-seven people were recently arrested and placed under bond for trial. One forfeited his bond and twenty-four were convicted; the fines aggregated over $10,000 and the jail sentences bunched will amount to a good many years. The boose dealers have become so discouraged they won't try it again, at least in Wichita.

"Similar stories come from other towns and it is becoming more and more difficult for the man with a state-wide thirst to gratify it with anything fiercer than water.

"The time-honored argument of the friends of John Barleycorn is that prohibition does not prohibit. Even a magazine of large circulation is printing a series of articles to that effect, but Kansas is demonstrating that a prohibition law, when aggressively enforced, is as effective as any other law. There never was a statute that would entirely prevent wrong doing. It may be a long time before the last Kansas bootlegger has perished from the face of the earth, but that does not argue that prohibition is a failure. Kansas is without saloons and whisky drug stores, and the man who wants a drink has to go to all sorts of trouble to get it. Temptation is not placed in the way of the rising generation, and that fact alone is sufficient vindication of the law."

MANSFIELD SENT TO PEN

Will Mansfield, picked up at Dry Creek, just east of town, some two months ago by Sheriff Cosser on the charge of wife desertion, has been sentenced from Spokane, to which place he was sent, for a term not to exceed 20 years, for highway robbery. Mansfield, it will be remembered left a wife and two children about a year ago and eloped to this city with Ida Brown, a young girl of 17 who did not know of his former marriage. He was apprehended and sent back to Spokane to answer the charge of deserting his family, and because of his youth and his promise to support his wife and give up the Brown girl, he was released. Later it was found that the girl had not been given up and that both she and his wife were out at housework supporting him, each unbeknown to the other. This made things sizzle, and the police became interested in the Brown girl's story with the result that he, together with John Pierce and Will Atkinson were apprehended on the bandit charge and sentenced to the penitentiary as stated above.

We could make clothes expressly for you here at home, but a local tailor shop today is impractical and unprofitable.

It has no labor market from which to secure desirable cutters and tailors —

It cannot afford to install a modern plant designed to reduce cost of production —

It doesn't do sufficient business to enable it to buy woolens direct from the mills —

It cannot keep abreast of metropolitan styles and workmanship.

Therefore, we send our orders for fine made-to-measure clothes to Ed. V. Price & Co., of Chicago.

We can take your measure the same way we would if running shops here, and furnish you your clothes, made as you want them, at 50% less than we could make them locally. Won't you call today?

You Make Good Bread

But different flour requires different handling. We are giving here a recipe, that carefully followed will always make light bread. The pure food laws have compelled the manufacturers of flour to abandon the bleaching, by sulphur and by electric spark. Flour kept in storage seven weeks after milling will bleach itself, and we aim to keep a large quantity of flour on hand so our customers will get white flour, but find it difficult to do so as the demand for Holly is so great.

Wash and boil six small potatoes, with jackets on. Drain the water into quart measure, mash potatoes, add to potatoes handfull of sugar. Soak three quarters cake of yeast in one cup warm water, add this to the potato water. Then add warm water to fill quart measure and add to potato; let stand two days.

Strain one cup of the prepared yeast, add enough warm water to make one quart, add one quart Holly Flour; raise over night in warm place; in morning add handful of salt and two quarts Holly Flour; raise in warm place; when light make into loaves. This makes four loaves.

PUGET SOUND WEATHER

While citizens here will get no pleasure out of the discomfort of people elsewhere in this country on account of severe climatic conditions, says the P.-I., they will yet feel that they are exceptionally fortunate in this particular, for in the entire Puget Sound section we have experienced no really severe weather, despite the fact that the range of temperature has been below the normal.

On the other hand, in the Atlantic states, in the Middle West, and in the Southern States, the weather has been unusually severe, and a great amount of suffering has resulted. The story may vary slightly from year to year, but it is a yearly story, and the wonder is that a greater number of persons who can afford to do so, do not seek a more congenial climate.

When the people of this country know thoroly, as they should know, the Puget Sound climate, there will be less hurt, less suffering, summer and winter, in the East and South.

There is one spot in this country, and a rather big spot, where summer homes and winter homes may be established with equal confidence in the complete absence of those meterological conditions which make life burdensome, summer and winter, in some other parts of the country.

Here the heat of summer doesn't sting and the cold of winter doesn't bite.

Part of the year is spring, as a rule, and the rest of the year is autumn, and the setting is always as beautiful as an artist's dream. Isn't it strange that Americans persist in enduring the hardships of other sections of this country when they may find here the conditions of life they most crave? Verification may be found in the average life here; it is long and pleasant, and that is enough for the normal man and woman.

THE SETTLER AND PINCHOT

A writer in the Aberdeen World gets after former Chief Forester Pinchot's policy in Chehalis, Clallam and Jefferson counties as follows:

"Let us yell for Pinchot, whose hobby it is to tie up one-half or more of the available timber on the western slope, thereby making unaccessible agricultural lands capable of supporting millions of people. A sample of this we have close to our own doors in the northern part of Chehalis county and the west ends of Clallam and Jefferson counties. Portions of this land were settled many years ago by the hardy pioneers in the hopes that it would soon be opened up by wagon road and railroad—pioneers who have suffered every deprivation that we can think of, whose children have been drowned trying to cross a mountain torrent stream to a school house—men, women and children who have died for lack of medical care, being 40, 50 and sixty miles away and no road.

The Quinault valley above the lake, one to six miles wide and 25 miles long, was partially settled by the pioneers before the forest reserve was in existence. These settlers have been leaving one by one, taking their families out where they could get a little schooling, and going to work for wages where best they could. The country is immensely fertile and will support many in independence and comfort if they had any kind of transportation. The government shuts them in with forest reserves, refuses to build them a road, and the people are too poor and cannot. Settlers have been arrested for cutting a little wood for their own consumption, and have also been threatened with arrest for cutting a windfall out of their trail. As much tyranny has been exhibited and inflicted upon our pioneer settlers as the Czar of Russia would exhibit or inflict in her black forests."

It will be remembered that Vancouver, this State, voted "wet" a short time ago, and, that following this election, Vancouver's city council passed a rigid ordinance governing the sale of liquor, among its provisions being an anti-treating clause. According to the framers of this ordinance, the law was designed to drive out a number of the saloons of which there was twenty-eight in the city, and it seems to be accomplishing its purpose. On Wednesday of last week the license of one of the saloons was revoked, its proprietors had violated the anti-treating ordinance. The saloon is a law breaker and the rigid enforcement of prohibitory laws of whatever character would eventually put them all out of business everywhere.

A Limerick for the New Year.

On the first of the year nineteen-ten,
A youth was lying drunk in his den.
His mother quite frantic,
With efforts gigantic,
Raised the young man on his feet again.

A college professor—pedantic,
A lovely young maiden—romantic,
Both said: What a shame;
Now who is to blame,
That he should cut up such an antic?

I opine that by nineteen-eleven,
This youth will have gone up to heaven;
For whiskey galore—
And yet calling for more—
With rank poison his system doth leaven.

"The evil of selling intoxicating liquors to minors is emphasized, in a rather distressing way, by the shooting and fatal wounding of August Roehl, the Marshal of Auburn," says the Seattle P.-I. "An officer, in an attempt to discharge his duty, was shot down, and the life of the youth who shot him, and the lives of his companions on the tragic occasion, will be saddened and shadowed on account of the unhappy sequence of their little spree. It is against the law in this state to sell intoxicating liquors to minors.

"Somebody is to blame. Somebody has failed to do what the law requires, and somebody ought to be compelled to answer the law for disrespect thus shown the law. Where lies the blame?"

THE INTELLIGENT ECHO.

Shakespeare's dictum, "Home-keeping youths have ever homely wits," seems to be qualified by the appended story, quoted from a writer in the Richmond News-Leader.

"Echoes," remarked the great traveler, "are queer things. They are queer for two reasons—their cause, and the vast difference in their sounds. Science has explained why there are echoes, but it can't tell why one should reverberate with bass tones in response to a shrill tenor yell, while another reverses this, or responds naturally."

"I reckon you've heerd a number o' echoes?" hazarded the young man, whose farthest trip from home was a distance of thirty-nine and a half miles.

"Rather! I recall one in Switzerland; the echo rolled for just four seconds—no more, no less. Then there's one in the Pyrenees that jumps six times; first loud and harsh, then low and soft, then loud again, and so on. There's one in the western part of Germany that holds a full sentence of seven words before releasing a sound, thus rivaling a certain echo in Afghanistan, which doesn't repeat until a minute and a half have elapsed."

"I'd like to hear a few of 'em," said the home-staying chap, with a fine show of wistfulness.

"Of course you would," responded the traveler, encouragingly. "There are few things in the world more interesting than a good echo."

"You're right," said the other, thoughtfully. "I ain't ever ben but a few miles from home, but I've heerd one o' the strangest echoes that ever was, anywhere.

"Up in the little range o' hills twenty miles yonder is a ravine. If you stand at one end of it an' yell 'Jones,' the echo comes back, 'Jones? Jones? What Jones?'"

The great traveler looked musingly into space and was silent.

Household Hints.

To revive a dying fire scatter on the embers a spoonful or two of granulated sugar.

Radiators will not be so conspicuous if enameled in a color to match the wall paper.

When rubbers look old, apply a coating of patent-leather shoe polish and they will be like new.

Finger-marks on doors can be removed with a rag dipped in paraffin. Afterward wash the door with a little hot water, and the smell will soon go.

To cut hard jelly squares, use a perfectly clean pair of scissors dipped in cold water. Thus one can cut small pieces more easily than with a knife. Carefully clean and dry the scissors before putting them away.

Hominy given long cooking and served as a vegetable with butter is one of the standbys of North Carolina tables, being used in place of potato. The cereal is cooked in a double boiler for an hour or two.

Coffee stains, even when the coffee has been mixed with cream or milk, may be removed by rubbing the spots with pure glycerin. Rinse afterward in lukewarm water, and press on the wrong side of the fabric (either silk or wool may be so treated) with a warm iron.

BUSINESS BASEBALL.

The Advent of Gate Receipts in the National Game.

The professional baseball player, as such, was unknown before the Civil War. One finds, indeed, signs in the newspapers of the period that our "sporting men" drew no very sharp line between the amateur and the occasional professional. That perhaps was only natural. Athletics were a new thing to us. We had yet to learn the dangers and the finer ethics of sport. For example, the first convention of amateur clubs, held in 1859, felt called upon to pass a rule against paying players. There was no money in the game as yet, only glory, but certain rich non-playing members of the fashionable clubs had begun to lure stars from other clubs by offers of money or "jobs."

The foundation stone of professional baseball, however, was laid when the Atlantics, the Eckfords, the Mutuals and the other crack teams of Brooklyn began playing on the old Union grounds. This arena was a fenced basin used in winter as a skating rink. In 1862 the owners decided to make it continuously profitable by turning it into a summer baseball park. Eperimentally they charged a regular 10-cent fee at the gate. They found that spectators were willing to pay even when they raised the price to 25 cents. Half of these fees went to the ground owners and half to the clubs. So came the appetite for gate receipts, and "business" had entered the game.—Collier's Weekly.

Mothers will find Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup the best remedy to use for their children during the teething period.

Plum Pudding.

A plum pudding that is not overrich wants a cupful of chopped suit, a cup ful of sour milk, a cupful of molasses a cupful each of raisins and figs minced fine, three cupfuls and a half of flour, two eggs, a teaspoonful of cloves, two teaspoonfuls of cinnamon a grated nutmeg, a little salt and a teaspoonful of soda dissolved in a little warm water. Fill a mold two thirds full with the mixture and steam three hours.

The danger from slight cuts or wounds is always blood poisoning. The immediate application of Hamlins Wizard Oil makes blood poisoning impossible.

THESE children have been employed by us during the last three years and will work for us during 1910. They are good children. We had them fire cannons on the Fourth of July. They have been on the plains with billboards and at the foot of live volcanoes, and have braved the trip to the Arctic circle in the interests of our business, but—they have never complained. They are a little bashful at having their pictures taken, but you will note they are dressed comfortably, and they feed their little pet, the black cat, all he wants to eat, but he isn't the fat kind.

WOULD ANNEX THEIR COUNTRY TO CHEHALIS

According to the Sunday P.-I., the settlers of western Jefferson are again planning to ask for annexation to Chehalis county, which adjoins them on the south and which, they allege, they have more interest in common than with Jefferson. It is and has been alleged that the settlers of western Jefferson have to go by way of Grays Harbor and Chehalis county and make a circuit of 200 miles to reach their county seat, Port Townsend This might be true of the settlers of the Clearwater country adjoining the Quinault reservation, but those of central western Jefferson and the country north have always traveled by way of Forks and Clallam in making this trip for the reason that it is much preferable. That the settlers of western Jefferson are completely isolated there is no doubt, as much so as is possible in the Pacific Northwest along the coast, but to annex to Chehalis would help none, except as above noted, and from reports of the conditions and dangers of the only egress that way by dodging the tides over many, many miles, it is doubtful if it would even help there much. By coming through Clallam county, the settlers of western Jefferson are assured fifty miles of good road in reaching Clallam and there they meet a steamer for any point on the sound desired. When the new state road gets thru that way it will help some, but it looks as though the railroad will be there as soon as any. Then look out for development in one of the richest countries on the face of the globe.

THE SPIRIT OF HELPFULNESS

Rev. Hartsell preached an excellent sermon last Sunday morning at the Methodist church on "Getting Right With Your Neighbors." He referred to the parable of the Good Samaritan as exemplifying the Christian spirit of getting right with one's neighbor. We should get right with our neighbors both temporally and spiritually. The true disciple of the meek and lowly Nazarene will quietly search out the needy of his community and minister to their temporal needs, thus bringing them to a closer touch with things Heavenly. Many of our fraternal societies recognize this fact and extend aid to indigent widows and orphans of deceased members, thus emphasizing this Christian spirit. The speaker cited instances that had come under his personal notice where this Christian spirit of assisting the needy poor was abroad in Angeles, and pleaded for a larger and broader conception of it.

That it is far more blessed to give than receive seems to be one of the normal attributes of many Port Angelites. Every few days one hears of some charitably disposed person or persons assisting the needy. Many instances could be pointed out where substantial relief has been extended to needy persons who have suddenly been bereft of a loved one, the head of the family, or met with dire disaster in the destruction of the home by fire or other calamities. Only last week, where the father and mother of a family of three have been sick for some time and unable to earn their daily bread, did the neighbors take the matter in hand and place this deserving family beyond want for weeks to come. This is the Christian spirit of getting right with one's neighbor that Rev. Hartsell would commend.

OPINIONS OF THE GOVERNORS

The people everywhere, those in authority, as well as those in the common walks of life, are becoming more and more interested and outspoken over the discussion of temperance reform and civic righteousness. The governors of many of the States are taking a hand in this discussion. Here is what some of them are saying, with more to follow:

Gov. Henry A. Buchtel of Colorado: "When you consider the unspeakable damage which comes from the open saloon, you cannot avoid making haste to enact a law which will make possible the exclusion of the open saloon from those districts where the majority of the people are squarely opposed to it."

Gov. R. B. Glenn, of North Carolina: "A man must take a square and unmistakable stand for the right or for the wrong, for righteousness or for evil, for happiness or for misery, for justice or for oppression. As for me, I am heart and soul against the liquor traffic."

Gov. Chas. E. Hughes, of New York: "Do not be deceived. The people are not mocked. If it is an easy thing to override the law in order to protect saloonkeepers, some day it will be an easy thing to override the constitution in its protection of property."

Gov. C. N. Haskell, of Oklahoma: "Prohibition is argued as being an infringment on personal liberties. Is there a single law in the broad length of our land that would permit any man to commit suicide? If the kisses of the wife and the clinging embraces of your babies are to be conducive to happiness, then begin there your search for pleasure. Is the promomotion of such pleasure as that an infringment on personal liberties?"

THE NEWS FROM THE COUNTY

FORKS.

Charley Palmer ran a large nail into the sole of his right foot Sunday the 9th, and at this writing is getting around a little on crutches.

John Grader has been having the grip which took a turn to pneumonia last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Maybury went to Seattle the first of the week to consult a physician, in the interest of the health of both.

Mrs. Sult is getting over an attack of grip.

Montie South has turned over the paraphernalia of the weather bureau to E. A. Markham of the Creamery who will take the observations during the year.

Jim Henril is now located in his new quarters.

After making some repairs on the storeroom in the old Odd Fellows' building, Postmaster F. M. Ackerly will move the post office and his stock of goods into it.

Rev James Oakey will give a lecture at the church Sunday evening, January 30th, on the subject, "How Marcus Whitman Saved Oregon."

SEQUIM

The Ladies Sewing Circle gave a dinner at the McDonald Hall Friday afternoon and evening for benefit of the M. E. Church; they cleared over twenty-seven dollars.

John Brown is clearing ten acres of land for J. A. Adams. This will be a great improvement to the street running in front of Mr. Adams beautiful home.

Joe McKissick says he is going to close out his studio at Dungeness by Feb. 6th; those that want to have their pictures taken by him had better get there quick, before he leaves.

Wm. Peterson bought 40 acres of land from Mrs. Alice Bell. This will make a good addition to Sequim if he cuts it up into five acre lots, as he is reported contemplating doing.

Sequim has an imitation battlefield, as one can hear the blasting of stumps from all directions. What was a wilderness a short time ago will soon be the site of beautiful homes with fruit and flowers.

The Woodmen lodge on Sequim indulged in an oyster supper the other evening; a few outside members helped them enjoy the festive occasion.

DUNGENESS

Mrs. James Dick is in Port Angeles under the doctor's care. She is expeted home this week.

The high tides and heavy seas of Tuesday did considerable damage to the fields on the Knight and McInnis ranches. The dykes were broken in several places, flooding the pastures with salt water.

Mrs. Thomas Knoph came from Seattle Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Park of Seattle have been visiting at McAlmond's. The ladies are sisters.

Miss Brown of Tacoma, organizer and lecturer for the W.C.T.U. spoke to the school children Monday afternoon and in the evening gave an excellent address on purity in the church. Every mother should have been present. Miss Brown is an earnest, forceful speaker.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Cays are visiting Mrs. Cays mother in Atwa, Cal.

We hope profanity will be a minus quantity in our streets hereafter.

Mrs. Thomas Evans is confined to her home with a sore foot.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgerton of Sequim are visiting with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Pettit.

District Superintendent F. S Pearson held the second quarterly conference at the Parsonage Wednesday.

Pacific Logging Co. has changed hands; work will be started at once. The new company will be known as Dungeness Logging Co. Messrs. Spencer and McGuire are interested in the company. Forty or fifty men and two donkeys will be employed.

MOUNT PLEASANT

The account of the burning of Mt. Pleasant Hall, which was published in last week's Tribune-Times, was evidently written by one who knew none of the particulars of the fire.

In the first place, if Dixie had cared to inquire, he would have learned that the usual precautions, in regard to fires in the stoves, were taken.

In the second place, common sense tells us that if the fire had caught from either of the stoves, one end of the building would have burned out first. As it was, those who witnessed the fire agree that the whole interior was completely gutted before it burst out thru the roof. There was no fire to be seen on either ends or sides of the building. I think this will prove to the public, beyond a doubt, that the fire could not have started from either of the stoves.

Since Dixie is so apt in explaining the cause of the fire, perhaps he can account for the flooding of the floor, which took place the night before the Christmas Eve. Dance. Also, explain the presence of the pitch, that covered the floor, previous to the last dance. It would be just as plausible to say that the water was caused by a leaky roof, or that the recent cold spell caused the pitch to ooze in large quantities from the floor, as to infer that the fire was due to carelessness.

Dixie, you had better disregard your New Year resolutions, dig up your bowie knife, take your hammer in your hand and help drive such miscreants from the community.

A Square Deal

In assured you when you buy Dr. Pierce's family medicines—for all the ingredients entering into them are printed on the bottle-wrappers and their formulas are attested under oath as being complete and correct. You know just what you are paying for and that the ingredients are gathered from Nature's laboratory, being selected from the most valuable native medicinal roots found growing in our American forests and while potent to cure are perfectly harmless even to the most delicate women and children. Not a drop of alcohol enters into their composition. A much better alcohol is used both for extracting and preserving the medicinal principles used in them, viz.—pure triple-refined glycerine. This agent possesses intrinsic medicinal properties of its own, being a most valuable antiseptic and antiferment, nutritive and soothing demulcent.

Glycerine plays an important part in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in the cure of indigestion, dyspepsia and weak stomach, attended by sour risings, heart-burn, foul breath, coated tongue, poor appetite, gnawing feeling in stomach, biliousness and kindred derangements of the stomach, liver and bowels.

Besides curing all the above distressing ailments, the "Golden Medical Discovery" is a specific for all diseases of the mucous membranes, as catarrh, whether of the nasal passages or of the stomach, bowels or pelvic organs. Even in its ulcerative stages it will yield to this sovereign remedy if its use be persevered in. In Chronic Catarrh of the Nasal passages, it is well, while taking the "Golden Medical Discovery" for the necessary constitutional treatment, to cleanse the passages freely two or three times a day with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. This thorough course of treatment generally cures the worst cases.

In coughs and hoarseness caused by bronchial, throat and lung affections, except consumption in its advanced stages, the "Golden Medical Discovery" is a most efficient remedy, especially in those obstinate, hang-on coughs caused by irritation and congestion of the bronchial mucous membranes. The "Discovery" is not so good for acute coughs arising from sudden colds, nor must it be expected to cure consumption in its advanced stages—no medicine will do that—but for all the obstinate, chronic coughs, which, if neglected, or badly treated, lead up to consumption, it is the best medicine [illegible]
