MEN, NOT PARTY, THE CONSIDERATION

For the First Time, Party Politics is Largely Eliminated from Choice of Representatives.

The Olympic-Leader believes that the source of government rests in the people and that as long as the source is pure the stream cannot long be defiled, that the only real danger lies in the corrupting of the source itself. It is this idea that has given us the public school. Government issues from the people, hence we must have an intelligent people. The voter is sovereign and the sovereign must be a reading, thinking, well-balanced ruler, if the nation and the state is to be governed with wisdom and justice

There is no more important function in the whole scheme of self-government than the law-making power. Under our system, the people are supreme and make their own laws. We send representatives to congress and to the state legislature to voice our will, and to effect this we select men, presumably at least, to carry that will into effect.

In this spirit the publishers of this paper supported Miles Poindexter for the United States senate before the recent primaries, and in the same spirit is supporting the Hon. David S. Troy for the state senate and Dr. F. S. Lewis for representative in the lower house of the state legislature. Both of these men, Mr. Troy and Mr. Lewis, have gone on record as being in favor of the people's choice for U S. senate, Mr. Troy sending a letter to the secretary of state enclosing his pledge of preference for U. S. senator, (the peoples' choice at the primary election) but too late to have the same filed with his declaration of candidacy. Dr. Lewis, in his "Letter to the People of Clallam county", printed elsewhere in this paper, says that if elected he will consider it his duty as well as a pleasure to vote for Miles Poindexter for the U. S. senate, and the people of Clallam county know that both Mr. Troy and Mr. Lewis will do exactly as they say.

The Olympic-Leader is supporting these men at this time because its publishers believe that they are the best men of any named for the positions to which they aspire and will therefore better represent the people of the county in the legislative halls at Olympia. Our columns have been filled from week to week with endorsements of Mr. Troy, and we shall continue to endorse him. Of Dr. Lewis it is needless for us to say anything as to his popularity or fitness for office. He is no stranger to the people of this county and the voters are better acquainted with him than we, and know that if elected he will reflect honor and credit upon our fair county and the people who send him to Olympia as their representative.

Right here we want to say that the publishers of this paper also believe that it is the duty of every citizen to align himself with the political party whose doctrines he believes best for

HAVE MADE GOOD SHOWING AT SPRINGS

First Story of Hotel Up; Saw Mill Ready to Run; Bath House to be Built This Winter.

"We hope to have the mill running in a few days now," said Superintendent Govan at the Hot Springs last week, "and expect to cut twenty-five to thirty thousand feet a day; it will be the second best mill in the county and we should be able to cut the million or so feet required for the hotel before the weather gets too bad. Meanwhile we will keep at work on the bath house and make an effort to have it completed before Christmas."

Such are the plans for the winter. While the work of modernizing the Soleduck Springs can hardly be said to be more than fairly under way, so much is there to be done, yet a very considerable progress has been made and the stockholders of the company, who recently returned from an inspection trip, have stated that they are more than satisfied.

The big hotel, which is to be three storied, the first, which is already up, being built of upright logs after the style of the forestry building, will contain a hundred rooms. It is located down river a few rods from the springs, in a grove of small maples and alders. Hewn timbers, many of them a hundred feet long, have been used as a basis for construction, giving a solid, massive appearance to the work already done. There is no basement, but the first floor is six feet from the ground, as it stands at present, without grading. The fir logs used for the walls of the first floor are hewn on three sides, the bark having been carefully preserved on the exterior; they stand, not on the ground, but on the big timbers six feet above ground.

The hotel is so near the steep slope of the mountainside, to the rear, that there is barely room for a roadway, already graded out, which is to be continued two miles down river to the company's ranch, where a herd of dairy cattle will be kept, and where vegetables will be raised for the hotel. This roadway will materially supplement the auto road to the springs as a promenade. Then there will be the quarter mile porch around the hotel and the breakwater.

The old bath houses of the pioneer have passed away in smoke, and in their place is a four foot excavation forty by eighty, the size of the new structure, which is to have a cement basement furnished with thirty-six porcelain tubs; a corresponding number of rest rooms will be provided on the second floor. This building is to be ready for business in the spring, tho it is more than probable that the present avenue of tents will have to do duty one more season.

A temporary bath house has been built and as long as the camp remains open Mr. Harrington, who has taken charge of the springs, will be able to accommodate visitors. There are tents with board floors and sides, furnished with stoves and good beds, and at the cook house good meals. The freighting wagons go in three times a week.

Timbers 120 feet long by three feet through have been gotten out for a bridge across the river, a foot-log answering the purpose at present. Considerable other road work will be done this winter, particularly sluice ways built of lumber and long enough to shoot the water down below the embankment in order that the road may not be undermined at points where heavy grading has been done.

Mr. Samuel Orr has demonstrated that a good crop of fine potatoes can be grown in Angeles despite a dry season. At his home place on 4th street, near Oak, he planted last spring a plat of ground 24x60 feet to potatoes and last week harvested sixteen sacks of 100 pounds each from the same. A little irrigation, judicious fertilizing and proper cultivation will work wonders with Clallam county soil.

A masquerade ball will be given by the Degree of Honor Thanksgiving night in the opera house. Watch windows for prizes.

STATUS OF WORK AT THE ALDWELL CANYON

Work on the power plant at the Aldwell canyon has been suspended, and every effort is being put forth to get the road in shape so that heavy freight can be taken in Several teams are at work hauling gravel and a line of men are shoveling the stiff clay like mud out of the wheel ruts so that there may be a better foundation for the new roadbed. Corduroy is being put in along the canyon, and the small bridges are being rebuilt.

The last team in, Saturday, managed to get thru with half a load and then it, too, went to work on the road. Load after load of heavy plank is scattered along the road and but one load of machinery has been gotten in. However, the canyon bridge is not far from the new, well graded auto road to the lakes so that work at the canyon will not be held up long.

A large part of the oldtime log jam still remains in the river. On the bank one hundred feet above are piles of logs ready for use in the temporary work. The buildings are large and substantial, constructed with an eye to comfort during the winter months, and, in fact, everything seems to be in shape for work as soon as the road is rendered passable. An extra heavy hoisting engine, clam shell shovel, and castings, cable and cars for the construction of a big derrick have been on the wharf for some days.

There will be a pie social at the Methodist Parsonage, Friday Eve., Nov. 4th. Every lady is invited to come and bring a pie, also a gentleman to buy. Something new and novel in the way of entertainment will be had. Everybody is cordially invited to come.

TO RUN AS INDEPENDENT NON-PARTISAN JUDICIARY.

Seattle, Oct. 22.—County Auditor Otto A. Case has accepted the filing of the insurgent-Democratic supreme court ticket as nominees of the "Independent Non-Partisan Judiciary Party,' the name selected by a committee of three at the insurgent conference in Tacoma. The judiciary nominees, two Republicans and three Democrats, elected to run as independents.

This action was taken against the advise of the Democratic state committee leaders, who urged that thousands of Democratic votes would be lost and there was no reasonable theory which would show that the losses would be overcome by an increased number of independents who would support the judiciary ticket.

STATE MILITIA PRAISED FOR SPLENDID SHOWING.

Washington, Oct. 22.—The weekly bulletin of militia notes issued by the division of militia affairs for circulation throughout the country gives publicity today to the fact that the acting secretary of war has written to Adjt. Gen. Lamping, of the state of Washington, testifying the department's appreciation of the excellent showing made by the Washington coast artillery reserve force at the Puget sound forts in July. The writing of such a letter to the militia of a state is unusual. No other state this year has been singled out for such a mark of appreciation.

Private Bankers Win Case.

Olympia, Oct. 22.—Until 1907 it was not illegal for private bankers to receive deposits after knowing that the bank was insolvent. Such was the decision of the supreme court today in a Skagit county case in which Jacob Youngbluth and August W. Schafer, who formerly conducted a private bank at Hamilton, were arrested.

WELLMAN AND PARTY PROPOSE TO TRY AGAIN.

New York, Oct. 22.—Walter Wellman and his five companions were landed here by the steamship Trent, which picked them up at sea after they had abandoned their dirigible balloon America and failed in the first attempt ever made to cross the Atlantic through the air.

A bruised right hand, which Wellman carried in a sling, was the only physical injury that resulted from their long voyage of approximately 900 miles, and a rescue the like of which is unknown in all history.

None of the aeronauts expressed regret for the loss of the America. They agreed that it had served its purpose. All stand ready to renew the attempt as soon as Wellman and his engineers find a way to conquer the difficulties that brought their first trip to its thrilling end last Tuesday morning, 400 miles southeast of Sandy Hook.

Standing on the deck of the Trent, Wellman made this statement:

"We thought we could not get along without the equilibrator. Now we find we could not get along with it. Our plans for the future are indefinite until we find something that will do what we thought the equilibrator would do."

The "equilibrator" to which Wellman attributes the failure of his voyage was the series of tanks containing gasoline which floated in the water and were attached to the airship by a long rope.

Its purpose, in addition to the storing of gasoline and serving as a wireless "ground," was to keep the baloon steady, compensating for the expansion and contraction of gas due to changes in temperature, which would have made the America rise and sink erratically.

Tail Jerked Head.

The America's experience proved that this floating tail, jerking at the delicately posed airship, made it impossible to steer or to make headway in the desired direction and severely weakened the structure. To find another means of compensating for this unavoidable change in the volume of gas is the problem to which Wellman and his engineer, Melvin Vaniman, will now devote their attention.

The direct cause of abandonment of the America was the exhaustion of the supply of gasoline, which had to be thrown out to save the ship. When the crew abandoned the balloon only enough was left to last about twenty-four hours.

New President for Northwestern.

Chicago, Oct. 22.—Marvin Hughitt, for nearly twenty-four years president of the Chicago & Northwestern railway, gave up that position Thursday to become chairman of the board of directors. The directors elected William A. Gardner of Chicago to succeed him. Mr. Gardner was also elected president of the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha railroad. Mr. Hughitt is now in his seventy-third year.

NOTED LIBEL SUIT IN SUPREME COURT

GOVERNMENT USES WEST POINT RESERVE AS BASE OF ATTACK.

Alleges Panama Libel Pubilcation Was Spread There—Legal Technicality Is Resorted to by Prosecutors in Carrying Case to Federal Supreme Court.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 22.—The government's brief in the so-called Panama libel suit of the United States against the Press Publishing Company of New York, has been filed in the supreme court of the United States. It contained a statement of facts and an argument in support of the position that the indictment against the Press Publishing company should not have been quashed.

"In effect," says the brief, "the published article charges that Charles P. Taft, Douglas Robinson and William Nelson Cromwell, with J. Pierpont Morgan and others, acting through an American syndicate, obtained control of the securities of the French company which owned the Panama canal route and its properties for the approximate sum of $3,000,000. Aided by the intimacy they enjoyed with Theodore Roosevelt, then president of the United States and brother-in-law of Douglas Robinson, and William H. Taft, then secretary of war and brother of Charles P. Taft, and by the co-operation of these officials with them, they were enabled to effect the sale of the Panama canal to the United States for $40,000,000 and reap a profit of some $36,000,000, which was divided, as charged, among government favorites in the world of politics and finance."

Question of Jurisdiction.

The substantial question which the government says is before the court was set out in the brief as being whether or not the United States Courts have jurisdiction to punish a corporation which printed in the city of New York a newspaper containing a libel, criminal under the laws of the state of New York, and circulated copies of the same within the federal territory of West Point. The government's contention is based on an act of congress of 1898, which the government urges "operates to transfer the state law to federal territory, for the purpose of punishing acts committed there, which, if performed outside and in the jurisdiction of the state, would be amenable to its laws."

In the government's brief it is argued that it is not only the right, but the duty of congress, so to legislate concerning territory under its exclusive jurisdiction as to preserve peace and good order therein.

Ingenious Argument.

"Because one may not be punished for issuing a libel in New York, is no reason," says the government, "for allowing him to go free of all punishment for circulating it at West Point. The people in the latter place are entitled to protection."

The inconvenience to the accused of being subjected to prosecutions in sundry places, where their alleged libels are circulated, was met with the argument that "the inconvenience which may be suffered by criminals has not generally been regarded as adequate reason for permitting them to operate without restraint."

The suggestion that the offense charged could be punished in New York state courts and therefore was not intended to be included in the act of 1898 brought forth the argument from the government "that the state of New York cannot punish an offense committed at West Point against the United States."

LAKE WASHINGTON CANAL CASE TO GET REHEARING.

The supreme court has granted a motion for a rehearing of the Lake Washington canal case, which was decided against the canal supporters last May.

The court said that there were several points that were not settled by the first decision.

The case is one in which an effort is made to force the county commissioners to equalize the assessment rolls for the improvement.

The new hearing is set for November 7. At that time an effort will be put forth to make a showing on which the King county commissioners may be permitted to equalize the $1,750,000 assessment rolls prepared months ago.

COURT SAYS DRUGGIST MUST PAY LIQUOR TAX.

Olympia, Oct. 22.—In a decision by the supreme court the constitutionality of the law passed by the legislature of 1907, levying a $25 annual tax upon all retailers who handle intoxicants, including druggists, is declared to be constitutional. The suit was a test case from King county, the druggists desiring to test the constitutionality of the act. John W. Putman of Seattle refused to pay the tax, with the result that he was arrested by the state tax commission.

Putman lost his suit in the lower court and the supreme court affirms the King county superior court, deciding that the measure was designed for the purpose of revenue only and it is not an attempt at regulation, so it is declared to be constitutional.

REASON FOR REFUSING MONEY FOR COAL ENTRIES.

Seattle, Oct. 22.—A Post-Intelligencer Washington special says:

Washington, Oct. 22.—In refusing to accept from C. A. McKenzie and John W. Roberts $40,000 as final payment on their Alaska coal claims, as related in the Post-Intelligencer last Monday, Receiver Mullen, of the Juneau land office, was acting in accordance with an opinion which has just been rendered by Attorney General Wickersham.

The receiver's action, however, anticipated the opinion by several days. It, taken with the opinion, establishes the policy of the department not to issue final receipts to any Alaska coal claims until after any charge or suspicion of fraud has been investigated and disproved.

The statute provides that final payment must be made on a claim within a certain time after entry, and the practice heretofore has been to issue final receipt on payment. This was done in the Cunningham cases, with the result that the government has had $52,000 of the claimants' money for several years, and, in the absence of special legislation, will hold it permanently, even if the claimants do not get the land.

The attorney general now holds that, notwithstanding the statute, final payment is not required to be made until after the termination of the protest or adverse proceedings against an Alaskan coal claim. In the meantime, whatever rights the claimants may have are protected.

KING APPLE'S DOMINION IS FULLY ESTABLISHED

Spokane, Wash., Oct. 22.—King Apple's dominion is fully established when he can upset railroad schedules and order record runs over transcontinental lines to suit his imperial convenience. That is what the Northwestern potentate has accomplished with regard to the transportation facilities placed at his disposal by the Hill lines, over which the prize-winning displays from the third National Apple snow in Spokane, the week of November 14, will be moved to Chicago for exhibition in the First Regiment Armory, November 28 to December 4.

A special train, loaded with the Northwest's choicest offerings of the king of fruit, will be started on passenger train time 48 hours after the Spokane show closes, the night of November 19, for a run of 2,000 miles. The train will carry the winner of the $1,000 championship sweepstake on carload contests and many other premium takers, also displays from thirty-five commercial orchard districts in Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana and British Columbia.

Provided with a diagram of the Chicago armory, Ren H. Rice, secretary and manager of the show, has been able to designate where the respective exhibits are to be placed. When the time comes to make the transfer, the car packers will have definite directions which will be the key to the placards on each exhibit, showing their exact position in the cars and where they are to be installed in the armory.

"In no other way could the co-operation of the railway companies with the National Apple show have been more strongly emphasized," said Secretary Rice. "It reflects, as nothing else, the realization by the railroads that the Northwestern apple, as a commercial asset, will mean potential tonnage yet undreamed of by heads of the traffic departments. It represents also, in a way, the enterpirse and spirit that finds its full fruition in the Northwest—the imagination to grasp the benefit to accrue from such an undertaking and the courage to carry it out."

FIRST SHIP OF CANADIAN NAVY ARRIVES AT HALIFAX.

Halifax, N. S., Oct. 22.—The first ship on the Atlantic coast of the new Canadian navy, the cruiser Niobe, arrived today from England, flying the flag of Admiral Kingsmill, a Canadian naval officer.

On her arrival Lieut. George McK. Gregor presented to the ship, on behalf of the people of Nova Scotia, a piece of silver plate.

The Niobe was purchased from the British navy and is commanded by a Canadian, Commander MacDonald, son of Senator MacDonald, of British Columbia.

GREAT NORTHERN EARNINGS BREAK FORMER RECORDS.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 22.—The twenty-first annual report of the Great Northern railway says that the improvement in conditions during the fiscal year ending June 30 resulted "in the largest earnings for one year ever reported by the company.'

The report shows that gross operating revenues for the year were $64,465,339, an increase of 20.08 per cent over the previous year. The net operating revenue was $25,187,273, an increase of 19.17 per cent. The operating expenses showed an increase of 20.65 per cent.

Corporation Tax Easy.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 22.—Practically all the corporation tax, aggregating in excess of $27,000,000, has been collected by the treasury department. Officials say it was collected with less annoyance and was paid apparently with less reluctance than other internal revenue tax.

EXPORTS OVER HALF MANUFACTURES

FIGURES FOR EIGHT MONTHS SHOW FIFTY-TWO PER CENT OF WHOLE VOLUME.

Increase But Continuation of Steady Expansion and Is Uniform in Almost All the Principal Lines—Total Exportation Amounts to $1,027,000,000.

Washington, Oct. 24.—Manufactures now form, for the first time in the history of our commerce, more than one-half of the total exports of the United States. In the eight months ending with August the figures of the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor show that out of a total exportation of $1,027,000,000, manufactures amounted to $542,750,000, or 54.8 per cent of the whole.

One year ago, out of a total export of $989,000,000 in the eight months, manufactures contributed $475,000,000, or but 48 per cent; two years ago their share was $472,000,000 out of a total of $1,075,000,000 or 44 per cent of the total; ten years ago, taking the figures for the entire year, manufactures formed 35½ per cent; 2 years ago, 21 per cent, and 30 years ago, 15 per cent of the total exports of domestic merchandise. The value of manufactures exported during the first eight months of 1910 averaged more than $2,500,000 for each business day; in 1900, a little over $1,500,000 and in 1890 a little over $750,000 for each business day.

The increase in the exportation of manufactures occurred in most of the principal articles. Agricultural implements, in the eight months ending with August last, showed a total of $23,000,000, against $21,000,0000 in 1909 and $19,750,000 in 1908; cars and carriages, $17,000,000, against $11,750,000 in 1909 and $13,000,000 in 1908; automobiles and parts of, $9,500,000, against $5,500,000 last year and $4,000,000 two years ago; India rubber manufactures $7,333,000, gainst $5,333,000 in 1909 and $4,500,000 in 1908; instruments and apparatus, $7,500,000, against $6,000,000 in 1909 and $6,250,000 in 1908; steel rails, $7,000,000, against $4,750,000 in 1909 and $4,333,000 in 1908; sheets and plates, $9,000,000, against $5,500,000 in 1909 and $4,000,000 in 1908; structural iron and steel, $5,000,000, against $3,000,000 in 1909 and $4,500,000 in 1908; builders' hardware, $1,333,000, against $8,500,000 in 1909 and $9,000,000 in 1908; electrical machinery, $4,750,000, against $4,000,000 in 1909 and about $5,000,000 in 1908; metal-working machinery, $4,500,000, against $2,750,00 in 1909 and $4,000,000 in 1908; mining machinery, $4,500,000, against $3,000,000 last year and $2,500,000 two years ago; sewing machines, $5,250,000, against $4,000,000 in 1909 and $4,250,000 in 1908; typewriters, $5,750,000, against $4,750,000 in 1909 and $4,000,000 in 1908; machinery of all kinds, $58,500,000, against $45,500,000 in 1909 and $52,500,000 in 1908, and manufactures of iron and steel as a whole, $130,000,000, against $101,000,000 in 1909 and $105,000,000 in 1908.

Exports of leather as a whole in the eight months of 1910 were $26,000,000, against $20,250,000 in 1909 and $18,000,000 in 1908; of leather boots and shoes, $9,000,000, against $7,750,000 in 1909 and $7,000,000 in 1908; rosin, $7,000,000, against $4,750,000 in 1909 and $6,500,000 in 1908; lubricating oil, $13,500,000, against $12,000,000 in 1909 and $12,250,000 in 1908; naphthas, $5,750,000, against $4,500,000 in 1909 and $2,750,000 in 1908; books and maps, $5,500,000, against $4,000,000 in 1909 and $3,750,000 in 1908; and lumber, $27,750,000, against $21,750,000 in 1909 and $21,500,000 in 1908. In a few cases, such as copper, illuminating oil and cotton manufactures, the exports during the eight months of 1910 are slightly below those of the same months of 1909.

These increases in value of manufactures exported are, it is proper to add, the result, in most cases, at least, of increased quantities of merchandise exported and not the result of higher prices, since, as shown by a statement recently issued by the bureau of statistics, prices of both exports and imports show a downward tendency in recent month.

SAYS ROOSEVELT WILL NOT BE A CANDIDATE.

Portland, Ore., October 22.—Theodore Roosevelt will not be a candidate for the presidency again, but Taft will come up for the nomination for a second term, backed by Roosevelt, according to the prediction of Jared L. Brush, ex-lieutenant governor of Colorado, and a prominent banker of that state. Brush stopped off in Portland while en route to his home at Fort Collins, Colo., from Los Angeles, where he attended the bankers' convention.

State Maps for Depots.

Olympia, Oct. 22.—With the exception of the Oregon Railway & Navigation company, all of the railroad companies in the state have accepted the offer of the state railway commission that if the roads would instruct the station agents of the companies to place the maps in the waiting room, the commission will furnish copies of the new railroad map. The new map shows every line of railroad, logging, steam and electric, in the state, and it is planned to have one placed in every depot in the state.

LARGEST VESSEL IN WORLD LAUNCHED AT BELFAST.

The largest vessel in the world has been launched at the yards of Harland & Wolf, Belfast, Ireland. It is the gigantic Olympic, of the White Star Line, which is more than half again as large as any previous vessel that has been built. It is two and a quarter times as big as the biggest American vessel afloat, the Great Northern liner Minnesota.

The new sea monster has a gross tonnage of 45,000, while the Minnesota has a gross tonnage of little more than 20,000. The biggest vessel previously built is the Mauretania, which has a gross tonnage of 31,938. The length of the Olympic and the Minnesota are respectively 882 and 622 feet, and their breadths 92 and 73 feet. The height from the bottom of the keel to the top of the funnels is 175 feet on the new boat. There are eleven decks and 15 water-tight bulkheads.

The Olympic will be followed by a slightly larger sister ship, to be known as the Titanic. The two ships will be put on the White Star Line's mail service between New York, Plymouth, Cherbourg and Southampton next summer.

The new ships are 22-knot boats, being considerably slower than the Lusitania and Mauretania. To compensate for the extra day the passenger quarters will be more commodious and more elegant. The Titanic and the Olympic will carry 2,500 passengers and a crew of 860 each.

5,725 MILES OF STEAM RAILROADS IN STATE

The total mileage of all steam railroads in the state of Washington during the year 1910 was 5,725 miles, according to a table compiled by E. J. Koors, secretary of the state tax commission. Of this amount, the Northern Pacific has a preponderating proportion, with 2,415 miles. This figure, as is the case with all other lines cited in the table, includes main track, second main track and sidings, both on main and branch lines.

The total mileage represented in main lines of all railroads is 3,678, and that of branch lines 2,049.

Other leading lines have mileage as follows: Great Northern, 1,145; Oregon Railroad & Navigation Co., 654; Spokane, Portland & Seattle Railway, 488; Chicago, Milwaukee & Puget Sound Railway, 435. The shortest road in the state is the Baker River & Shuksan, with a trifle more than two miles of line. However, it has several close competitors, including: Cascade Railroad, three and one-half miles; Seattle Southeastern Railway, five miles; Washington, Idaho & Montana and Pacific & Eastern, each with about five and one-half miles; Oregon & Washington, six miles, and Centralia Eastern with ten miles.

King has the largest mileage of any county in the state, with 618. Whitman comes second, with 499. Other leading counties are represented in the table by the following figures: Spokane, 409; Pierce, 371; Walla Walla, 299; Franklin, 213.

The smallest mileage in any county is in Garfield, which has only about eighteen miles of trackage. Jefferson has twenty-seven miles; Skamania and Mason, each a trifle more than fifty miles; Okanogan, fifty-eight; Cowlitz, sixty; Pacific, seventy-five; Douglas, eighty-two; Columbia, eighty-seven. All others have over 100 miles.

LONG AND SHORT HAUL TO BE ENFORCED STRICTLY.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 22.—In a formal order the interstate commerce commission announced its intention to administer strictly section 4, the long and short haul provision of the interstate commerce act. By the terms of the order there will be no change in the existing status or in the present rights of carriers until February 17, 1911. They may file with the commission such changes in rates as ordinarily would be filed in the course of their business under the present rate basis or adjustments. This accords to them the right even to file higher rates or fares to interemdiate points, and through rates or fares higher than the combinations of the intermediate rates or fares, providing that in so doing the discrimination against intermediate points is not made greater than that in existence August 17, 1910.

The commission announces that it does not necessarily approve through this permission any rates or fares that may be filed, all of them being held subject to complaint and, if necessary, to correction.

It is ordered "that the commission reaffirm its previously expressed view that a through rate or fare that is higher than the combination of the intermediate rates or fares is prima facie unreasonable and will insist upon the application of that principle at the earliest possible date in every instance, except possible extreme and very unusual cases."

Probe for Big Milk Trust.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 22.—A multi-millionaire dollar milk trust is said to be under investigation by the department of justice. It is charged that a combination exists which controls the milk markets of the principal cities of the United States through buying up all Pasteurizing machinery. The men said to be involved are Levi P. Morton, Thomas F. Ryan, Anthony Brady, James J. Berwind, John A. Flagler and the firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co.

PLAN TO SAVE THE BABY SEALS

UNCLE SAM TO ESTABLISH ORPHANAGES ON NORTHERN ISLANDS.

Fifty Motherless Ones Expected in Seattle Soon on Cutter Bear—They Will Go to Washington in Special Car—Feeding Tests to Be Made.

When the revenue cutter Bear arrives in Seattle from the Pribiloff islands she will bring about half a hundred orphan seal pups, with which the United States department of fisheries is going to conduct experiments in feeding during the coming winter at Washington, D. C.

According to Capt. Godfrey Lynet Carden, commanding the revenue cutter Manning, which arrived from the Pribiloffs a few days ago, the government is going to establish an asylum for the orphaned seals.

Private Car Will Meet Them.

"The experiments begun on St. Paul island, which will be continued at the capital, whither the young seals will be transported by private car, which will meet the Bear at Seattle, are based on an idea that means money to our government if it can be carried out," said Capt. Carden.

"The seal herds go south in the winter. They travel through Unimak pass down the Pacific as far south as San Diego, Cal. In the spring they turn back, coming by way of Southeastern Alaska, across the Gulf of Alaska, through Unimak pass and back to the Pribiloffs. They reach the islands in early June.

"The government has demonstrated, by branding seals, that they not only return to the islands, but go back every year to the island where they were born. They are like a great herd of sea cattle turned out to the range, always coming home to their own pasture.

Business and Mercy at Once.

"When the seals reach the islands, the females give birth to a pup. Every few days these females swim out to sea a distance of thirty miles, where they find a shoal of food fishes, which they eat. They return again to suckle the pups.

"The Japanese are allowed to seal within three miles of the islands, which is the international boundary. It is there they get the seals, and the seals they take are the mothers swimming out to find food for their young.

"It is a peculiarity of the seal community life that no female will suckle any but her own pup. For every mother that is killed there is a pup seal ashore which will starve to death. We saw the little fellows all over the rocks gasping and weakened by lack of food. To care for these seals and bring them to maturity where they can shift for themselves is not only humane, it is good business.

Cutting Tongues Saves Lives.

"The government has established an agent on each island, and a surgeon. Besides there is Dr. Rahm, of the Smithsonian Institution, who is spending the winter on the islands, investigating seal life.

"A peculiarity of the young seal is that the tongue is held in the base of the mouth by a small ligament, which prevents its masticating until it has reached a certain age. A boatswain on the Bear was the first man to discover that this ligament could be broken, and that the pup seal would then eat and thrive on fish. Before that the pups had been nursed with a bottle, but with indifferent success.

"This year a large number of pups were collected and their tongues lanced so that they could use their teeth. They thrived on small fish placed in the tank where they were kept. The experimenters also found that the pups would eat dead fish. If this plan works out it will be possible to feed these pups, of which thousands die every year, on fish at a very slight expense, and the orphans will bring the government a valuable revenue to repay the saving of their lives.

Profits Large.

"This year the twenty-year lease to the North American Commercial Company expired, and for the first time the United States reaped the benefit of its seal rookeries. Between 12,000 and 13,000 pelts were taken. The company was allowed to take 15,000 a year.

"These pelts are worth $40 each. They will be shipped direct to London, where they will be auctioned off and the revenue will accrue to the treasury of the United States."

Globe, Ariz.; Stufffart, Ark.; Oroville, Cal.; Leadville, Colo.; Coeur d'Alene, Idaho; Decorah, Iowa; Pittsburg, Kan.; New Iberia, La.; Gulfport, Miss.; Carthage, Mo.; Anaconda, Mont.; Nebraska City, Neb.; Carson City, Nev.; Raton, New Mexico; Guymon, Okla.; Klamath Falls, Ore.; Deadwood, S D.; Port Arthur, Tex.; Provo, Utah; Olympia, Wash., and Laramie, Wyo.

WOULD PERPETUATE STATE FORESTS

SUB-COMMITTEE MAKES FINAL REPORT TO STATE FORESTRY COMMISSION.

Declares in Favor of a Timber Tax Payable When the Trees Are Cut—Plan Would Remove One Strong Motive for Rapid Deforestation of Lands Under Private Ownership.

Seattle, Oct. 24.—That virgin timber should be exempt from taxation until it is cut, and that as an encouragement to private capital to hold cutover land for a second cut, the state exempt both the land and the growing tree from taxation until the timber is cut, were the final recommendations made by the sub-committee on forest taxation of the state commission on forest legislation. The report was presented by Prof. Frank G. Miller. The other members of the committee were: E. G. Ames and J. J. Donovan.

Conservation Measure.

The committee suggested in its report that the change in the method of taxation proposed would be highly to the interest of the state as a whole "in that it would aid distinctly in perpetuating the forest as a resource."

The committee, among other things, said in its report:

"This investigation has shown that it is not so much the amount of the taxes, but the system that is objected to. Many an owner would hold his timber for a number of years and pay the accumulated tax with interest when he harvests his crop, but would be obliged to harvest early where the tax must be paid annually.

Taxes Increasing.

"The tax on timber land has increased rapidly in the last few years, and there is strong pressure being brought to bear on tax officials constantly to increase it still further. This pressure will be stronger in the future than it has been in the past, for as additional land is cleared, and in consequence yields less tax revenue, the tendency will be to make the uncleared land make up the difference. The facing of this almost certain increase, together with the annual recurrence of the tax whatever it is, with no income from the property itself with which to pay it, is going to have the inevitable result of hastening the cutting unduly, which means enforced waste through the rushing of timber off on a weak market. In fact, there is just now a decided movement in this direction."

Statistics Are Compile.

The committee submitted a large amount of statistical information showing the timber tax scale for Western Washington and what it amounts to for various periods if compounded at 5 per cent interest. Tables showing the working out of the proposed stumpage tax were also submitted.

Prof. Thatcher, in the discussion that followed the reading of the report, pointed out that one objection to the plan was that it might be construed as giving a preference to timber as against other resources. R. W. Douglas pointed out that under present laws fruit trees were exempt from taxation. E. G. Ames declared that this rule had fostered the planting of large orchards yielding annually thousands of dollars' worth of fruit.

Not Favoritism.

Mr. Douglas stated a plan of taxing the timber only at the time it was cut would not give timber a preference in that it would merely put timber taxation on the same basis as other crops.

Prof. Thatcher presented a report of the logged-off land committee.

Those present were: J. J. Donovan, chairman; R. W. Douglas, secretary; Prof. H. K. Benson, Prof. B. W. Thatcher, Prof. Frank G. Miller, E. G. Ames, Frank H. Lamb, all members of the commission. The following were also present: B. W. Rawden, Harry Thompson, B. W. Sawyer, V. O. Baker, J. B. Jones.

RAILROAD PROMISES TO QUIT POLITICS.

Concord, N. H., Oct. 22.—The Boston & Maine railroad will not interfere with the politics of the state hereafter, according to President Charles H. Mellen, who tonight addressed the Wonolnoet club on "The Political Situation in New Hampshire. Mr. Mellen said:

"We will not interfere in any way with the election of members of the legislature or of other public officers. We shall not give directly or indirectly any consideration which will tend to influence an officer in the performance of his duty.

"We shall do away with the lobby, in the sense in which that term is commonly used. We must, however, employ the ablest talent we can secure to present to the legislature our views upon pending legislation affecting our company."

Monorail Road Planned.

Olympia, Oct. 22.—Bellingham, Monut Vernon, Port Townsend, Irondale and Port Angeles will be connected by a monorail railroad, according to articles of incorporation offered for filing with the secretary of state. Owing to some defects the papers are being held up.

SALE OF UNIVERSITY LANDS IS STRONGLY OPPOSED

Seattle, Oct. 24.—Backed by prominent Seattle graduates of the University of Washington, a movement in opposition to the proposed sale of 34,000 acres of land in Douglas county, owned by the university, is now well under way. At a luncheon at the Arctic Club Saturday the old "grads" went on record as unalterably opposed to the deal now contemplated by the university regents, and expressed their intention of appearing before the board at its meeting tomorrow and voicing their protest.

Instead of selling the lands, estimated to represent fully one-third of the domain to which the university holds title, the alumni, in the event the regents decide it is imperative that the lands produce a revenue, will argue in favor of their lease, contending that by realizing at the present time an inconsequential sum the university will part forever with property which at a conservative estimate will command an immensely greater price years hence.

The Washington Alumnus, the official organ of the old "grads," in its current issue declares itself in opposition to the proposed sale. The Alumnus, in an editorial bearing the signatures of the four members of its board of editors, says:

Minnesota an Example.

"When other states were selling their school lands forty years ago, Minnesota 'conserved.' A state report the other day showed that Minnesota had received from 120 acres of swamp land more money than Wisconsin and Michigan obtained from the sale of their whole public domain. It is estimated that Minnesota will receive $200,000,000 in royalties on ore mined from state lands.

"We do not wish to stand in the way of the development of the state. The state's interests are the university's interests, and the university's interests are the state's interests. But we feel there is no crying demand from settlers for the university land, and that the university should not sell her birthright at this time for what may amount to a mess of pottage."

INSURGENCY NEW FACTOR IN ENGLISH POLITICS.

London, Oct. 22.—Insurgency is rapidly becoming as much an issue, from all practical standpoints, in English politics as in America. In England, as in America, the insurgents are young men, desiring reform.

British conservatism or toryism has always stood for the maintenance of "things as they are." But a change came over conservatism when the party adopted protection as one of its principles, because the adoption brought into the party ranks a large number of men who are liberals or even socialists in everything but the tariff.

Tired of Venerable Traditions.

Now this new element is beginning to cause trouble. It chafes under the venerable traditions of the leaders and has no sympathy with the doctrines which it considers behind the times. It is in open rebellion against policies repugnant to the masses and against that form of generalship which consists mainly of a pose of lofty detachment from the every day affairs of the world. The insurgents are preparing to go into battle on their own account. Protection will be their main issue, but land and social reforms will not be overlooked.

TACOMA CITY RAILWAY WILL PAY ITS TAXES.

Tacoma, Oct. 22.—Next Monday the Tacoma Railway & Power Company will send County Treasurer Meath a certified check for $340,113, representing taxes for the years 1907, 1908 and 1909. Of this amount $20,000 is interest.

The taxes for 1907 will be paid under protest because of the assessment in that year of the franchise under which the company operates in this city. This question has been decided in favor of the county by United States District Judge Hanford but will probably be appealed by the company to the United States circuit court of appeals.

The decision to pay came as a result of a conference today between representatives of the county and J. B. Howe, general counsel, and L. H. Bean, general manager of the railway company. Treasurer Meath had threatened to seize the lines of the traction company.

NOME IS SEALED UP FOR ALASKAN WINTER.

Seattle, Oct. 22.—Less than 1,000 people will winter in Nome, the rich strikes in Iditarod and Squirrel river having lured away great numbers of miners. In the boom days of 1900 more than 6,000 people wintered in Nome.

The steamers Umatilla and Victoria have sailed for Seattle and the Northwestern will sail from Nome tomorrow. After that the famous gold camp will be sealed for the winter, except for such communication as is kept up by dog-sled travel overland to Fairbanks.

Seattle Milk Is Fifth.

Seattle, Oct. 25.—Seattle certified milk stands fifth in competition with samples from all over the United States, according to a telegram sent to Commissioner of Health Dr. J. E. Crichton by Milk Inspector Gus Henderson, who is at the national dairy show at Chicago. Milk sent 3,000 miles by J. D. Farrel and Orting Brothers are tied for fifth place.

STATE SUPPORT FOR POOR PUPILS

UNIVERSITY PROFESSOR PROPOSES PLAN FOR EDUCATION FOR ALL.

In Address to Club Women of Seattle on Child Labor Law He Advocates Provision for Some Measure of Education for All Young Citizens.

State support of poor children who have to be taken out of school to support themselves or a parent was advocated by Dr. J. Allen Smith, head of the department of political economy at the University of Washington, in an address on the "Child Labor Law," to 500 parents at a meeting in the Broadway high school, under the auspices of the Seattle Women's Club.

"No state that recognizes a certain minimum of education as necessary for all its citizens should exempt any child from the operation of its compulsory education law because of poverty," he said. "It is the duty of every enlightened, democratic community to provide some measure of educational opportunity for all its young citizens.

Burden Belongs to State.

"When a child under 14 may be taken out of school merely because its labor is needed for its own support or the support of its parents, we are placing a burden upon that child which the state itself should assume. Of course, the reason for such an exemption is that we, as taxpayers, wish to escape the small financial burden that would be involved in keeping dependent children in school.

"No burden should be placed upon children of the dependent class which the law protects other children against. A discrimination such as this, which operates to the disadvantage of the weak or the unfortunate, instead of helping them to become independent, tends to make dependence permanent."

A precedent was set by the school board when it authorized the use of the high school for the purpose of the meeting. It was an effort on the part of the clubwomen to bring the parents and citizens to a closer realization of the work being done by the educational authorities of the city and state. The conservation of the child was the topic of the evening.

Supt. Cooper Speaks.

Deploring the law that requires the educational authorities to release delinquent and backward children after the age of fifteen, Superintendent of Public Schools Frank B. Cooper urged the necessity of an institution or voluntary association that would find a location and invironment for the boy after he is released to keep him free of entanglement so that the good work done in the parental school shall not be nullified and the last state be worse than the first.

Supt. Cooper told of the exceptional service for exceptional children done in the schools.

Scores So-Called Good Citizens.

Rev. J. D. O. Powers, of the Boylston Avenue Unitarian church, in his address on "Consevration and Reclamation of Moral and Spiritual Resources," scored the so-called good citizens who fail to take their burden of civic cares.

"It seems that vice and crime are not confined to the red light district," he said. "It seems as if immorality infests practically every phase of civic life today. It spoils all our achievements mentally. All our civilization will go to shipwreck, as all the other civilizations of the past have gone, unless a sterner morality becomes general.

"Men and women in beautiful homes on the hills are responsible for the vice in the slums. Christian manhood needs awakening."

Mrs. F. C. Stevens, president of the club, presided. The meeting was in charge of Mrs. A. R. Manca.

SHAKEUP IN NEW YORK POLICE FORCE OCCURS.

New York, Oct. 22.—The long-expected shakeup in the administration of the police department occurred late Thursday, when announcement was made from Mayor Gaynor's office that Police Commissioner W. F. Baker and his deputies, Frederick H. Bugher and Charles Kidby, had resigned.

James C. Cropsey, a Brooklyn lawyer, was named to succeed Mr. Baker; Clement J. Driscoll, who has attracted attention recently by his activity as commisisoner of weights and measures, was appointed first deputy to succeed Mr. Bugher, and Capt. William J. Flynn, chief operative of the United States secret service, was made head of the detective bureau, with the title of second deputy.

Mr. Flynn's appointment is in line with the known intention of Mayor Gaynor thoroughly to reorganize the detective bureau. James Cropsey is 46 years old and is known as an able lawyer.

Clement J. Driscoll is 30 years old and before his appointment as commissioner of weights and measures was a newspaper reporter at the city hall.

William J. Flynn has made an enviable record in the federal secret service, with which he has been connected for thirteen years. He is 42 years old.

CLAIMED CORPORATION TAX IS VERY SMALL

New York, Oct. 25.—A nation-wide scandal may result from the manner in which the corporation tax law has worked out. With the official announcement by the treasury department at Washington that the total amount paid in as the result of the tax is only a trifle more than $27,000,000 Wall street financiers are convinced that an extremely clever job in hiding profits has been carried out by somebody.

This federal tax is one per cent of the net yearly income of a corporation from all sources over and above $5,000—exclusive of all amounts received by it as dividends on the stock of other corporations subject to the tax.

The two biggest concerns in the country, the Standard Oil Company and the United States Steel Corporation, have paid into the government more than $2,000,000 or about one-thirteenth of the entire tax.

Railroads alone should have paid in as much as the total tax receipts amounted to, in the opinion of financiers, and there is wonderment as to why the receipts from this source should be so small. The general belief is that the "big fry" corporations have so formulated their earnings as to show an apparent deficit for the purpose.

If the figures of the treasury department are correct and those who were hit by the tax law met its requirements honestly, Wall street points out, then the total earnings of all the corporations in the United States for the year 1909 were only $2,700,000,000. This, the financiers say, is preposterous, inasmuch as many of the big companies have admitted a total earning of seven per cent or better on their capitalization in their reports to their stockholders.

It is predicted in financial circles today that as the result of the apparent evasion of the tax law, the law will be strengthened by congress in the near future so that the treasury department may readily detect those who fail to meet the requirements.

NOVEL APARTMENT HOUSE PLANNED FOR SPOKANE

Spokane, Oct. 25.—Four hundred thousand dollars is the estimated cost of a four-story triangle-shaped apartment house, with a frontage of 450 feet, to be erected in the northern part of Spokane by Charles Jasper and J. G. Malmgren. The German style of architecture will be followed, an acre of ground in the center of the structure being devoted to lawn, shrubs and flowers. This arrangement will give natural light to every room in the building, designed to accommodate 129 families. The apartment will be arranged in suites of from three to five rooms each. The heating plant will be 30 feet below the ground floor and special lighting and water systems will be installed. The surrounding grounds on the nine-acre tract selected as a site for the big structure are to be beautified with shade trees, flower beds, grass plots and play grounds. There will also be private driveways and a large garage. Mr. Malmgren, who prepared the plans for the building, says it will be different from any structure on the American continent.

MYSTERIOUS WHEAT FOUND NEAR WAITSBURG

Spokane, Oct. 25.—J. L. Harper, a practical farmer at Waitsburg, Kent., has succeeded in producing sufficient seed of an unknown variety of wheat to sow one and a half acres of what is declared to be the hardiest grain grown in the Northwest. Experts at the State of Washington College and master agriculturists in other parts of the Pacific country have not been able to classify the grain, though they say it is likely to become a heavy producer. The head is similar to Club wheat, but the grain is harder. Harper found seven stalks on his 1,020-acre ranch near Waitsburg four years ago and from five stalks, which were carefully cultivated in a garden patch for two years, he made six pecks, which will be sown next spring. In giving out the foregoing information Harper said he has no bonanza or wonder seed wheat to sell, nor does he believe the new grain will yield more than the average Northwestern crop. However, he claims it is sufficiently hardy to grow in any part of the United States and Canada.

COAL LAND CASES IN CIRCUIT COURT AT SPOKANE

Spokane, Oct. 25.—The first circuit court grand jury ever called in the Northwest will convene in Spokane Thursday afternoon, with Judge C. H. Hanford, of Seattle, presiding, to take up the Alaska coal claims investigation.

Special land office agents desire to subpoena residents of Montana, Oregon and Idaho, which they would be unable to do in the district court.

There is also said to be uncertainty on the part of Judge W. B. Gilbert as to his right to appoint a jurist to sit in place of the late Judge Whitson in the district court, while no uncertainty exists as to the jurisdiction of a circuit court.

Whitman to Sell Lands.

Walla Walla, Oct. 22.—Lands owned by Whitman College, appraised at $234,350, are to be sold, so the debt on the college can be paid off and the institution put on a cash basis. The money over that needed to pay expenses is to be loaned out.

OATMEAL COOKIES MADE TENDER BY USE OF KNIFE.

Ingredients Used in Making Three Layer Hot-Water Cake, Orange Preparations—Also Good Directions for Kisses.

Oatmeal Cookies Help.—Almost every one is fond of oatmeal cookies, but there is one thing disliked by many, that is the uncooked taste that the oatmeal has if not ground. I have learned by experience that by using the coarsest knife on your food chopper and grinding the oatmeal through it improves the cookies very much. This does not pulverize the oatmeal, but makes the grains finer and distributes the flavor more evenly, and they never have that uncooked taste. Below is my favorite recipe: One cup shortening, half lard and half butter; one large cupful C sugar creamed with butter, two eggs well beaten, nine tablespoonfuls sour milk, one scant teaspoonful soda dissolved in milk, one teaspoonful cinnamon, half teaspoonful nutmeg, pinch of salt; one-half cupful chopped nut meats; one cupful chopped raisins, one small teaspoonful baking powder sifted with two cups flour. Add one cup ground oatmeal last. I bake these in muffin tins, but can be baked as drop cookies if preferred.

Hot Water Cake.—Four eggs, separate them, beat yolks light, gradually stirring in two cupfuls of granulated sugar. Beat well together, add one cupful of boiling water, two cupfuls of flour, one teaspoonful of baking powder. Beat whites to a froth and flavor. This makes a good, large, three-layer cake. Bake slowly.

Orange Cake.—One cup sugar, three tablespoonfuls butter, two eggs, half cup orange juice, grated rind of one orange, one and one-half cups flour, one and one-half teaspoonfuls baking powder. Cream butter, add sugar, beat; add eggs unbeatetn; beat thoroughly; add orange juice, then the flour sifted with the baking powder. Bake in gem pans and roll in powdered sugar while warm.

Kisses.—The secret of good kisses lies in the beating. Beat the whites of two eggs to a stiff froth, then add two cupfuls of granulated sugar and one teaspoonful of vinegar. Beat well for twenty minutes. Turn your baking pan upside down and cover with oiled paper. Drop the mixture in teaspoonfuls on the pan. In baking they swell quite a bit. Do not turn the light on the oven until they are in. Then bake slowly 25 minutes. This quantity makes two dozen.

Veal in New Style.

Get two pounds of the breast even if there is to be no company, for it can be eaten cold the next day. Roll out the long narrow piece and fill it with a stuffing of dry, stale white bread, and chopped pimentos seasoned with cayenne and salt. Mix the mass together with olive oil, put in a raw beaten egg and lay the dressing on the veal, shaping this into a roll. Skewer or tie with cords and dredge with flour, pouring over a little olive oil to start the roasting if there is little fat.

This must be thoroughly done to be perfect, and when it is served the carver cuts a round slice, putting the stuffing beside it and covering the two with the gravy.

Fruits.

Anything from a watermelon down to strawberries unhulled with a little paper of powdered sugar to assist in their service goes well at a picnic. A few lemons should always be carried—a squeeze of lemon juice added to each cup of drinking water making it not only more refreshing but serving as a germicide in case there is anything out of the way with the water supply. In packing bananas, carry separately from the rest of the luncheon, as their heavy odor permeates everything laid near them.

For Broiled or Fried Fish.

Blend one tablespoonful each of flour and butter, then add slowly one cupful of boiling water and cook smooth. Beat an egg light and pour the hot mixture over it very slowly, stirring the while. Cook one minute, take from the fire and beat in a tablespoonful of minced parsley, a teaspoonful of chopped capers and a pickled onion chopped fine. Season with salt and a quarter teaspoonful of French mustard, pour over the fish and garnish with sliced lemon. Serve at once.

Light Buns.

Set sponge for bread at noon. Before going to bed take out about one quart of the sponge, add one egg, one-half cupful of sugar, a lump of shortening the size of an egg, and knead. In the morning mold into biscuit, let rise until light, and bake. When done touch over lightly with butter. This makes the crust tender. These buns are delicious and enjoyed by every one.

Luncheon Dish.

Four pound pot roast, cut up suet and bring to brown, cut up an onion, celery and parsley with it. Take piece of meat, dust with salt and pepper and rub in flour. Sear raw edges of meat thoroughly. Put in kettle and cover with cold water, adding a tablespoonful of salt to one quart of water. Add one bay leaf, peppercorns, or parsley, and one-fourth teaspoonful of paprika. Boil slowly three to four hours.

OFFICIAL PAPER

Published Every Friday at Port Angeles by The Webster Publishing Co.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 28, 1910

The state supreme court has ruled that every druggist who sells liquor must pay the state license of $25.

To the question, "What change did woman suffrage make?" there is but one answer where it has been tried: "Better candidates. Woman suffrage compelled all parties to bring out their best men as candidates."

Meetings of Republican nominees will be held in the East End as follows:

Lost Mountain, Monday, October 31st, 8 p. m., in new hall.

Sequim, Tuesday, Nov. 1st, 8 p. m. opera house.

Blyn, Wednesday, Nov. 2, 8 p. m., Zaccardo hall.

Dungeness, Thursday, Nov. 3, 8 p m., Dungeness hall.

The Non-Partisan-Democratic nominees for supreme judges, having been refused by the supreme court the privilege of appearing on the ballot as the nominees of both parties, have decided to make the race on the former ticket. As may be seen in another part of this paper, the ballot will contain partial lists on Republican, Democratic, Socialist, Non-Partisan and Prohibition tickets

Isn't there some truth in this statement from the Mt. Vernon Herald: There are people yet unborn who will need to use the roads and bridges we should begin building this coming year. And there is no good reason why they should not help pay for them. A hundred years from now you will turn over in your grave in anger to think how you drove long 'round-about roads and through mud and stumps in the interest of a public economy that a race of strangers will be getting the benefit of.

SENATE NEEDS A MAN.

The man this senatorial district needs in the state legislature is a man possessing the qualifications of Mr. D. S. Troy, of Chimacum. To accomplish the important work that will come before the coming legislature, the representative in the senate must be a man whose ability and personality are known and recognized beyond the confines of his own home or district. Mr. Troy is, in political affiliation, a democrat; he is of the same democratic material as Theodore Roosevelt, and it is the democracy of the people of this state. His life, private and public, is so well known to nearly every man, woman and child of this part of Washington, that it seems unnecessary to bring him any more prominently before the public than he now is. He is a man of the up-to-date type; a man whose work and habits of life tell honestly the kind of man he is, and this the kind of man the senate of Washington needs today. Mr. Troy has been a successful man, both in his own personal career and in his career as a representative of the people he has at times represented.

The election to be held on the 8th of November will mark a very important period in the welfare of this state, and at no other time in its history have the counties in this particular section of Washington stood more in need of having a representative who, through his ability and earnestness would be able to get those things belonging to his district in the natural order of things. It is a work that cannot be done by every man, and the opportunity to send such a man to the senate should not be overlooked or neglected. It is simply a question of sending the best man the district has for the high office, and this will be done by sending D. S. Troy to Olympia. The early expressions from every part of the district indicated that Troy is the one man for the place, and the people are outspoken in his favor.

Party politics when adverse to the public good have no place with Mr. Troy and his efforts have always been for the accomplishment of anything that would be for public benefit and worth.

CLALLAM COUNTY MAN FOR JUDGE SUPREME COURT

The electors of Clallam county will have an opportunity of voting for another native son of Washington November 8, next. Preston M. Troy, non-partisan candidate for the Supreme Court, was born in Clallam county in 1867. Like his brother, the Hon. D. S. Troy of Chimacum, candidate for State Senator, he comes of pioneer stock, his father, Smith Troy, having been one of the territorial settlers and a member of both territorial and early state legislature. The early life of Mr. Troy was that of the ordinary pioneer. He worked on the farm, cleared land and toiled in logging camps, getting what little education there was to be had meanwhile. When he wac twenty-one years old he entered the Olympia Collegiate Institute, a normal school at Olympia, where he prepared himself to study law. He was a close, hard student and ambitious. When he finished here he went to the University of Michigan where he entered the law school. He was graduated in 1893 and went straight from Ann Arbor to Olympia and at Olympia he has since remained, although he still has a warm place in his heart for Clallam county and her people. Mr. Troy immediately took an interest in public life. He was a Democrat in a strong Republican district but despite this fact he was elected city attorney of Olympia six times, and only stopped at this number because he had a desire to become prosecuting attorney of Thurston county. He was elected to this office which he filed to the entire satisfaction of Thurston county for four years. Mr. Troy is prominent in fraternal circles and enjoys a large law practice in the southern section of the state as a member of the firm of Troy & Sturdevant.

BELIEVES LEWIS TO BE THE BETTER CANDIDATE

Mr. Editor: Will you allow space for a heart to heart talk with the voters of Clallam relative to the Representative candidates? I have known both majority candidates for the past twenty years and feel competent to judge their relative merits.

At the outset we will take it for granted that they are on an even footing politically inasmuch as the Democratic candidate has pledged himself to support the people's choice for U. S. senator; and as there has been some talk along that line we will also give equal credit morally, for we do not believe either has it over the other in this respect. The choice therefore lies in the ability of the contesting candidates to represent the people of the county, and in view of the fact that much very important legislation will come before the coming session of the legislature that will materially affect the welfare of the laboring man and the small taxpayer, the probable vote of the men should be considered. Dr. Lewis has ever been the working man's friend, and has not only at all times given his time but often his money to help those in need. He has, professionally, turned out many a bad night and traveled many a weary mile to do what he could to relieve suffering humanity when he knew that the pay would be very slow in getting around if ever. He has made the trip as willingly as though the gold dollars were in sight at the end of the service. Never, too, has he sent a bill to anyone when he knew the party could not pay or that it would greatly embarrass him; always patient, even to complete loss. This may not appeal to some, but to me it is humanity's side of life that there is altogether too little of in this day of commercialism and grasping natures. It is not reason, of course, in itself for his election. But in my mind Dr. Lewis stands towering over his Republican opponent in ability to represent us in the state legislature, both in inclination and talents, and if elected would not only be a true representative of Clallam's interests, but would be a marked factor in the legislation passed which would stand to the credit of the county.

We want men to represent us who CAN and WILL. To allow any petty party feeling to influence one against his best judgment, brings on and has brought on just the state of affairs that we are rebelling so strongly against in the awakening now taking place.

Dr. Lewis has served us with ability as Mayor for three terms. He has been an honor to the city and to the position. Vote for him for Representative and I'll warrant in the face of the meager ability you have sent to Olympia in the past you will not regret your action in the least, but will rejoice in the fact that for once in many years Clallam was really represented in Olympia.

Mayor, City Clerk and Attorney instructed to draft application to the government for hot springs water for the use of the city.

Petition of property owners on Front street for graveling and oiling street referred back to petitioners for planking.

Sidewalk ordered on both north and south side of 7th street, from west side of Lincoln to east side of Cherry.

Appropriation of $100 made for graveling 1st street between Laurel and Valley.

$15 appropriation for improving 11th street, between Laurel and Oak. Ditch ordered dug on alley between 8th and 9th streets, from Chambers to Washington, and $15 appropriated for improving Alley between 2nd and 3rd streets from Oak to Cherry. The proposition signed by thirty-four lot owners in the district composed of Eighth street between Race and A street, was before the council Tuesday evening and was made the order of business before committee of the whole at a special meeting next Monday evening.

PROMOTERS TALK MONORAIL

The Wm. H. Boyce Monorail Port Townsend—Port Angeles Company filed articles of incorporation with the county auditor Monday. The incorporators are Walter Strange, Arpad Tokay and Homer C. Myers, and capitalization is fixed at $1,250,000, shares $10 each, term fifty years. The incorporators are named as trustees until March, 1911. The purposes of the corporation are to build and operate a railway system between Port Angeles and Port Townsend, with terminals at both places, and to transact all business necessary for the successful building and operation of said railway, defraying all expenses for same either in cash, shares of stock or obligations of the company. The cost of construction is said to be one-tenth, of operation fifty per cent less than of a standard guage railroad and the rate of speed twice as fast. The track to be elevated on timbers and no damage will accrue to property through which the line would pass, and the promoters will ask for an easement from property owners.

Messrs. Boyes, the inventor, Myers and Tokay have been in the city since first of the week for the purpose of interesting our business men and securing the confidence of the people in the project. A meeting has been called for 10 o'clock this, Friday, morning at Mr. Cain's real estate office for consultation.

In speaking of the project the promoters claim that they could sell their patents at a nice figure but that the purchasers would not use the system as it would revolutionize railroad building. The inventor states that he wants the people to have the benefit of his invention and he wants the credit of the simplicity of the system in actual operation. Prospectus of the system on exhibition in the Lewis Levy building on Front street, has been drawing considerable attention during the week.

Mr. Homer C. Myers will be the general manager of the Port Angeles-Port Townsend division. He says the road will be built in the near future and without asking for financial aid from the people.

THE LECTURE COURSE.

Any one desiring to engage season tickets to the Lyceum Course of entertainments and concerts to be given during the fall and winter, will please subscribe at once at W. J. Mathewson's drug store. The course this year consists of four entertainments: The Southland Orchestra and Quartet; H. Tremain Dunstan, Lecturer, from Sydney, Australia; Miss Augusta Grimm and Miss Jean Cooper, Readers, Singers and Whistlers; Grace V. Bonner, Ventriloquist, Character Impersonator and Reader.

Season Tickets for the four engagements will be $1.50; students $1.00. Subscription list closes October 31st.

The lecture Sunday evening in Haning hall by Mrs. R. L. Lillie, the inspirational speaker and poet, was largely attended and very much enjoyed. Mrs. Lillie has a very pleasing manner and is also a very earnest and convincing speaker. During her discourse she made several witty references to woman suffrage, leaving no doubt in the minds of her hearers as her great sympathy with this cause, which is being agitated to such an extent in this state at present. Mr. and Mrs. Lillie will be guests of their old friends Mr. and Mrs. David Craig all week and will probably hold other meetings similar to that of Sunday night.

THE CHARGE OF THE LIGHT BRIGADE

Apropos of a communication from Boston to the Seattle Times requesting that an accompanying list of 500 names of prominent New England anti suffragists be published in Seattle to stem the time of female suffrage in the State of Washington.

I.

From the Hub, from the Hub,
From the Hub onward,
Clear on to Washington
Wrote the Five Hundred.
"Forward, our Light Brigade!
Charge for The Times!" they said.
Clear on to Washington
Wrote the Five Hundred.

II.

'Forward, our Light Brigade!"
But Blethen, unafraid,
Scanned their note undismayed.
How they had blundered!
'Women to Freedom ride?
No! let us stem the tide,
Progress we can't abide."
Thus on to Washington
Wrote the Five Hundred.

III.

"Soft ease to right of us,
Soft ease to left of us,
Soft ease in front of us,"
These Antis thundered;
"You suffragists unkind
Want us to use our mind,
Want us to know a lot:
We won't! It's unrefined!"
Wailed the Five Hundred.

IV.

Blind to their children's good,
False to true womanhood,
Inert, afraid, they stood
Hindering their sisters, while
All the world wondered.
"We like to stay at home,
Hence, you must never roam;
Be just like us.
Man's the surf, we're the foam—
We'll not be sundered;
We're going to ride that surf!"
Stormed the Five Hundred.

V.

Blethen at right of names,
Blethen at right of names
Chuckled: then thundered:
"Your names can never quell!
This rising tide. To hell
With names—! Seek your shell!
Out here it's deeds that tell."
Straight back to Boston Town
Sent he that list of names,—
The whole Five Hundred.

VI.

Will their disgrace soon fade?
Oh, the wild charge they made!
Washington wondered.
Blush for the charge they made!
Blush for that Light Brigade,
Foolish Five Hundred
—Seattle Week-end.

TO THE PEOPLE OF CLALLAM COUNTY:

My name will appear on the ticket at the November election as the Democratic candidate for Representative of the 34th District. If I am elected to that office I shall give the best service of which I am capable to this county, the State and the Nation. For the county, equitable taxation and its fair share in the distribution of the monies raised for roads and other public purposes. In the state at large I shall favor such laws as shall give the people the largest possible share in government, as in Oregon, Arkansas and other progressive states. I believe in the largest individual liberty consistent with good government and a proper consideration of the rights of others, also in the rule of the majority for in no other way can Republican institutions be perpetuated.

In the recent primaries the Hon. Miles Poindexter received a majority over all the other candidates in the state combined for U. S. Senator. In this county a majority of democrats voting supported him. I therefore feel it my duty as well as pleasure to vote for him if elected to the office to which I aspire.

I have lived in Clallam county over twenty-two years. My qualifications for the office are known to a majority of the citizens; and on the facts alone that you believe me capable to fill the office creditably and will work in season and out of season for the interests of Clallam county do I base my appeal for your support.

Respectfully,
F. S. LEWIS,
Candidate for Representative.

PAID ADVERTISEMENT.

TO THE VOTERS OF THE CITY OF PORT ANGELES

At the solicitation of numerous tax payers and others, I have consented to become a candidate for mayor, subject to the primary election to be held on November 8, 1910.

I am in favor of a sane and progressive policy of street improvements

I am heartily in favor of bridging Tumwater and Valley creek gulches.

I am in favor of urging upon the next congress to pass a bill for the disposition of the government blocks, so that the property may become taxable, and to enable the city to go ahead with much needed street improvements.

I am in favor of urging upon the next congress for an appropriation for a public building, to which Port Angeles is entitled.

I am in favor of establishing the grades of the city so that property owners may know under what conditions to build.

I am in favor of making a start on a sewerage system.

I am most heartily in favor of bringing the water of the Olympic hot springs on Boulder creek into the city of Port Angeles, making this the mecca of health and pleasure seekers, the same as Los Angeles, Calif., which hundreds of thousands of people visit every year for health and pleasure, expending in that city millions of dollars for such.

The cost of bringing the water from the springs into the city may be obtained by a bond issue, making the indebtedness a charge upon the enterprise itself, without adding any tax upon the people.

If you honor me with the office of mayor, I promise a faithful performance of the same.

Very truly yours,
LEWIS LEVY.

The Name of

Chris. Miller

Will appear on the Democratic ticket, to be voted at the general election Nov. 8th, as a candidate for County Commissioner from the First or East End District.

The Standard of Oyster Value

Sealshipt Oysters are packed solid into air-tight, germ-proof containers, no liquor. Ice is packed around the OUTSIDE of the containers. But no ice or water ever touches the oysters.

The Sealshipt Oysters we sell at our store are just as they were wheandred ged from the deep—all the sea flavor saved. When you buy them you get no liquor—nothing but solid meats; firm, tempting, delicious morsels of sea food.

If you have been buying oysters by the quart, get only a pint of Sealship. They will go just as far.

"Seaside Oyster Dishes"

This is the name of a new book we will be pleased to hand you when you call at the store. It gives many shore recipes of interest to housewives.

the general good. But, at the same time, we would call attention to the difference of belonging to party and being owned by it, and becoming a chattel of the scheming boss, who cares for nothing but self-aggrandizement and possible graft. We believe in being a Roosevelt Republican and a Poindexter Republican.

In the selection of county officials the Republican voters acted wisely, and the Olympic-Leader can cheerfully and enthusiastically support each and every one of them.

In John Hansen the county will have an able man for commissioner of the second district. His record as a business man here in Port Angeles is one worthy of praise. If elected he will attend to the affairs of the county with as much carefulness as if it was his own private business, and such service will be very valuable to all Clallam county citizens. Mr. Hansen needs no recommendation. As a business man he is a success and such men are always in demand by the public and the county can congratulate itself upon securing his services in such an important position. The public may rest assured that Mr. Hansen's interests will be the county's and that his voice will always be with an eye to the county's interests.

Every reason advanced for Mr. Hansen can, with equal force, be advanced for the election of Frank Lotzgesell for commissioner for the first district. His integrity and public spirit are known and appreciated by the people of his home district and his long business training upon the farm would be of the greatest advantage to the county were he to be elected, and he will be, to the office of commissioner. In Messrs. Hansen and Lotzgesell the voters of Clallam county have before them two unimpeachable candidates for the most important office on the ticket. This is a matter that especially appeals to the taxpayers. It means dollars and cents to them. It is now up to the taxpayers to decide.

The Republicans of Clallam county have said to Wm. B. Ritchie, "Well done thou good and faithful servant", and have honored him with a renomination to the office of prosecuting attorney, the duties of which he has faithfully administered for the past two years. The voters and taxpayers of the county need no assurance of the wisdom of this choice, and Mr. Ritchie will have no opposition at the polls on November 8th.

Horace White was wisely placed in re-nomination for county clerk. The duties of this office are strictly clerical, but they are many and intricate and require a well balanced mind and a habit of the strictest precision. Nature has abundantly lavished these gifts upon Mr. White and long experience along these lines has rendered them fixed, purposeful and without a flaw. He will continue to manage this office for the next two years, as in the past, free from even the taint of suspicion and with clerical ability.

R. D. McLaughlin for county auditor will have no opposition. When the voters at the primaries endorsed him for this office they did it with the full knowledge that he was the right man for the place. Auditor Hawkins was the first to recognize Mr. McLaughlin's peculiar fitness for the place and he made him his deputy. Many of the duties of the office have devolved upon Mr. McLaughlin and his record in the office has unerringly shown him to be one of the best fitted men in the county to administer the duties of the office of auditor.

The office of county treasurer is an important one. As the treasurer has the custody of all monies paid into the county, and his books, while subject to public inspection, should be rigorously guarded. In the hands of C. L. Babcock, the Republican nominee, the records as well as the cash will be scrupulously looked after, and his accommodating disposition and genial manner would make the transaction of business in that office most pleasant. Having resided in this county for many years, and been engaged in farming, fruit raising and the dairying business, Mr. Babcock is in a position to meet any condition that may arise in his duties as a member of the board of equalization and to protect the county's interests in every particular.

Ina M. McNutt, candidate for superintendent of schools, is one of the best of the large field of candidates on the Republican ticket. She has been tested for several years as a popular teacher in the Central school of Port Angeles, and as an assistant for the past three years in the office of County Superintendent Annette Trumbull; she has the highest recommendations from City Supt. of Schools Thos. Geisness and County Supt. Miss Trumbull, and is a capable and fit candidate in every particular. Mrs. McNutt is possessed of a pleasing personality, is popular in her school work, and has made many new friends in her short canvass. She is an excellent disciplinarian, well versed in methods, is up-to-date in whatever is best for the county schools and the country school teacher, and her friends predict that she will make a capable and successful superintendent of schools.

James R. Gallagher, Republican nominee for sheriff, has been a resident of Clallam county for many years, and is intimately known to all its people, unless it be some of the more recent arrivals, and no one will dispute the assertion that he is peculiarly fitted to fill the office to which he aspires. Mr. Gallagher has the courage of his convictions, and his candidacy before the primaries was "based on a rigid enforcement of the law, irrespective of who it may please or displease", and the people believe and expect that he will "deliver the goods".

A county office that demands the attention of a business man is that of assessor. The republicans have named Willis D. Cook of Sequim. If elected, Mr. Cook will owe that election to the people at large, not to any set of men or interests, as it is generally understood that the interests are favoring his opponent for the office. Therefore a vote for Mr. Cook will be vote for a more equitable assessment. In his letter to the voters of Clallam county, Mr. Cook said: If elected, "I will endeavor to fill the office with credit to myself and to the county, and it shall be my highest ambition to give everybody a fair and square deal".

Mr. Cook is thoroughly well qualified for the position; no one will dispute that. But the chronic tax dodger will oppose him, so that his election must come from the average taxpayers, who make up the sums escaped by the dodgers.

A. D. Willson, whose name will appear on the Republican ballot for county coroner, possesses every qualification that can be desired for that office. Mr. Willson has served the county for the past two years in this office with the greatest of care and interest, and will continue to do so for the ensuing two years.

The Northwestern General Hospital at Irondale is one of the most modern and best equipped institutions of its kind in the entire Northwest. It is a handsome four story brick structure occupying the most sightly location in Irondale, commanding a beautiful view of Port Townsend Bay, the Olympic and Cascade mountains. It contains wards, single private rooms, and two and three rooms with private bath. Acute and chronic medical and surgical cases accepted for treatment.

Mr. Goldstein says: "I suffered from rheumatism five years, it kept me from business and caused excruciating pain. My knees would become as stiff as steel. I tried many medicines without relief, then took Hood's Sarsaparilla, soon felt much better, and now consider myself entirely cured. I recommend Hood's."

BIRDS OF A FEATHER

By TEMPLE BAILEY

(Copyright, 1910, by Associated Literary Press.)

When Ward Davis heard that her name was Jennie Wright, he smiled and said: "It ought to be Jennie Wren."

He had noticed that she wore sober little gowns to class, gowns which contrasted strangely with the pinks and blues and heliotropes of the other girls at the summer school.

She had a sober manner, too, which was relieved by a birdlike brightness. And she went on her sedate and busy little way alone, studying hard while ushers danced and played cards, or ate shore dinners at neighboring beaches.

To Ward she seemed, in spite of her intellectual occupation, closely allied to the women he had known in his childhood. She seemed the type who would be busy about household things. He was glad when he discovered that her work in the winter was in a kindergarten. There seemed an eternal fitness in the fact that she lived daily with little children. But now and then, the thought came to him that she would be at her best crooning a lullaby at her own hearthstone.

Such thoughts never entered his head when he made merry with the other grown-up scholars who were seeking the knowledge that should advance them in the professions. Most of these other women were bright, scintillating, beautiful creatures, who seemed made for fun and frivolity. Those who were not beautiful and brilliant were intellectual machines, whom no man could seek, because they would not admit the need of masculine companionship.

Ward Davis, having taught English to countless students, both in the summer and the winter schools of the university, could not quite understand his interest in Jennie Wright. Girls had come and gone, and he had remained heart whole and fancy free. When he had dreamed of marriage for himself, he had thought he would select a wife of rare attainments, with culture and beauty. He had made up his mind that no teacher or toiler should tempt him from his ambition, and now this little Jennie Wright was beginning to hold for him an interest which was amazing and disconcerting.

Poring Over a Volume of Ancient Cookery.

He avoided her except when she came to his classes, but fate seemed to bring them singularly together. Their tastes were similar, and if he went to the college art gallery, he was sure to find her in front of his favorite pictures. She spent hours in the library digging among old books, and it pleased him one day to find that she was poring over a volume of ancient cookery. It seemed to fit in with his idea of her domestic qualities.

"That isn't in line with your studies," he chided her with a laugh in his eyes. "You ought to be reading finger plays and things like that."

As her eyes laughed back he felt a sudden thrill. It was as if a wild bird had flashed past him, and had then hidden herself away in a thicket.

"I like cook books," she said. "They are my solace when things at the boarding house go wrong. I like to read about good things to eat—just at this moment I have been reveling in a recipe for Brunswick stew. Did you ever taste one?"

"Yes, indeed." Ward's tone was eager. "My grandfather was a mighty hunter, and he would bring home squirrels, and there were always corn and green peppers and onions to make it savory, and tomatoes to add the final finish to its flavor."

She laughed. "You positively make a poem of it," she said.

"Look, here," he urged, boyishly, "I know a place a short ride away, where we can get Brunswick stew made after our family recipe. An old nurse of mine keeps the place, and she would be delighted to have it ready if I telephoned ahead."

Her glance reminded him, more than ever, of a startled bird. "Why, I couldn't," she said. And then she added stiffly: "You must think me dreadfully silly.

Ward wanted to say that he thought her charming, with the flush on her cheeks, and with her kindling eyes. But he knew it wouldn't do. He felt that flattery would be distasteful to her, and that she would fly away.

"Please," he urged again, but she shook her head.

"I have so much to do," she pleaded.

Never having been thwarted, Ward made up his mind that some day she should go with him, but he bided his time. And, before he knew it, he was wooing his little Jennie Wren like a gallant Robin Redbreast.

He was deeply, profoundly in love for the first time. He felt stirring in his heart all the primeval instincts. He wanted a home with this woman in it. He wanted a future in which this little creature should be at his side, cheering him, helping him, sustaining him. He smiled as he analyzed his feelings. "I thought I longed for a mate of gay plumage, but I am no more fitted, with my quiet tastes and love of homely happiness, to unite with a society woman than is a plain robin to join his fortunes with a hummingbird."

His sense of protection made him want to surround her with every safeguard, and when one day, upon the campus, he found her being badgered by a group of gay young students, his blood boiled. Behind a screen of vines he sat on the porch of the old library and heard them tease her about him. They had read his secret before her modesty would permit her to understand and now they were taxing her with it.

"Little mouse," said a gay girl in blue, "to think that you should carry off the prize."

Jennie's inquiring glance went from one amused face to another. "Why—I haven't won any prize," she said. "What do you mean?"

"A big prize," said the girl in blue explaining; "all of us set our caps for the professor, and now you have won out—"

"Oh," Jennie's face flamed, "but I haven't—why, who ever thought of such a thing—"

"He did, and we did," chanted the girl in blue. "Oh, you blind little mouse." And away they went.

Ward dared not approach her as she sat alone looking out over the campus. He knew how she must feel to have had her affairs talked about by irreverent tongues.

But that afternoon he sought her out. "You refused my invitation once," he said gravely, "to go to my old nurse's. Please don't refuse me now—I want you."

With a new self-consciousness upon her she dropped her head.

"Please don't ask me," she protested. "I—I think I ought not to go."

"Why?"

"Because."

"Because of what those girls said to you on the porch this morning?"

"Yes."

"And it is true. And it is because of that that I want to carry you off with me this afternoon. I want to talk it over with you—may I Jennie Wren?"

Suddenly she was enveloped by the joy of his love for her. "Oh, yes," she said breathlessly. "I'll be glad—to talk it over."

In the dim, cool dining room of the old farmhouse, where the air was sweet with the fragrance of honeysuckle, Ward told her the story of his awakening. "I need such a woman as you to complete my life," he said. "I need the comfort of you," the quiet content that your presence gives me, the rest, the peace, the joy of your gentle womanhood." He smiled whimsically. "Do you know the words of the old song: 'Will You Have Me, Jennie Wren?'"

And Jennie, true to nursery rhyme tradition, whispered "Yes."

Hungarian Banks.

Paul Nash, the American consul general at Budapest, in his report to the department, reviewing financial conditions in Hungary, shows that every branch of industry in that country is financed by banking concerns; running from the manufacture of machinery to the export of nuts, and yet there has been only one bank failure of importance in 40 years. The assistance of the banks is a necessity for Hungarian industry because the individual investor, as in most agricultural countries, does not regard manufacturing with any degree of enthusiasm, and but for the banks and the government little progress would be made toward industrial independence.

The Royal Petticoat Colonels.

Most of the women of the royal families of Europe are honorary colonels of regiments. In effect the sponsors of these regiments, but they are actually permitted to wear the regimental uniform with a skirt instead of the masculine trousers. The kaiserin is a colonel, so is the czarine. The crown princess of Roumania, who likes to pose in picturesque garb, has, of course, not missed the opportunity of being photographed in regimentals. Most of the German grand duchesses are colonels of regiments. The latest colonel in petticoats is the crown princess of Germany, who is sponsor for the Eighth dragoons.

RECOGNIZED TASTE OF ROPE

Mystery of Cigars Furnished by Schoolhouse Custodian Cleared by Member of Board.

The school committee was in executive session. There were many problems for sober consideration as the solons of the schools gathered in thoughtful consideration, says an official connected with headquarters. Schoolhouse Custodian Mulvey, who does not use tobacco in any form, entered with a handful of cigars and distributed them as gifts to four of the five members present.

"Thank you," was the response from each as a neat bundle of the weed was passed to him. Soon matches were applied, and smoke and a mysteriously suspicious odor floated in the air.

A minute or two elapsed. The chairman had removed his cigar from his mouth and was looking at it long and thoughtfully.

Joseph Lee, who does not smoke, sat silently gazing into space, wondering how men can.

Dr. Scannell was puffing and frowning furiously.

George Brock was the first to break the silence, holding his cigar at a secure distance from his nostrils: "I wonder what kind of cigar this is?" he asked.

It was J. P. Magenis who responded as he quizzingly surveyed the roll of tobacco between his fingers. "That," said he, "is a Manila cigar."

"How can you tell?" asked the doubtful Brock.

"Readily," replied Magenis, "I recognize it by the taste of the rope."—Boston Evening Record.

Tactful Truth.

"I appeal to Mr. Verity, whose truthfulness nobody doubts," said the outraged hostess, with a glitter in her eye. "Mr. Verity, do you think I supply my boarders with bad butter?"

The others looked eager attention to see how Mr. Verity would get out of it.

"Madam," he answered with a bow, "the truth on which you compliment me forces me to declare that your butter is one of your strong points."

Parmesan Cheese and Sea Kale.

One pound of sea kale, two ounces of grated Parmesan cheese, half a small cucumber, one-half pint of milk, the juice of half a lemon, pepper and salt. Wash and dress the sea kale and cut it up into even lengths and tie in bundles. Place in sufficient boiling milk to cover it; cut up the cucumber and boil it in a little of the milk until tender. When both are done take out the sea kale and lay it flat in a fireproof dish. Lay the cucumber on the top and add the milk, pepper, and salt as required and the lemon juice a few drops at a time. Cover the top with the grated Parmesan cheese and bake in the oven until golden brown.

Shock and the Hair.

The iconoclast is abroad again, and persons who may have been looking ahead to a time when they should experience such fright as would immediately turn their hair from nature's possibly objectionable color to snowy white seem doomed to disappointment. An important German medical publication, the Deutsche Medizinische Wochenschrift, quotes Doctor Steida as reviving an old more-than-suspicion that whitening of dark hair over night is in reality a sort of withdrawal symptom, due to sudden deprivation of the walnut stain or whatever dyestuff is in daily recourse; whence, according to Steida, the frequency of alleged cases after incarceration. Doctor Steida says it is no longer believed by experts that psychic traima ever has caused this transformation. Mental shock is extremely common, but blanching of the hair at a stroke is so rare that a list of alleged cases may be quickly compiled. The expert here quoted admits that psychic shock may appear to cause blanching of the hair within a comparatively short time—a few weeks, perhaps—but he deals only with alleged instantaneous cases.

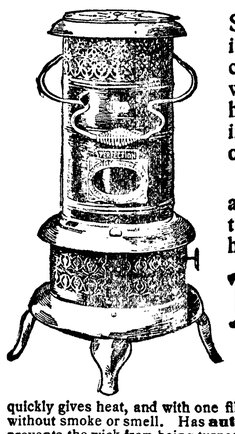
People Who Work Indoors With Their Hands



Seamstresses, watch-makers, artists, draughtsmen, and many others, cannot properly handle their tools with cold, stiff hands. Many a lost hour or two on cold winter mornings results from the delayed heat of furnace or stove.

The Perfection Oil Heater in a few minutes gives the temperature that assures the worker warm hands and pliable muscles. The quickly gives heat, and with one filling of the font burns steadily for nine hours, without smoke or smell. Has automatic-locking flame spreader which prevents the wick from being turned high enough to smoke, and is easy to remove and drop back so the wick can be quickly cleaned.

It has a damper top and a cool handle. Indicator always shows the amount of oil in the font. The filler-cap does not need to be screwed down; it is put in like a cork in a bottle, and is attached to the font by a chain, and cannot get lost.

The burner body or gallery cannot become wedged, because of a new device in construction, and consequently, it can always be easily unscrewed in an instant for rewicking. The Perfection is finished in japan or nickel, is strong, durable, well-made, built for service, and yet light and ornamental.

SEQUIM

The Womens Relief Corps of Sequim was honored by a visit from the corps inspector, Mrs. Mae Ramsey of Port Angeles, at their regular meeting, Saturday, Oct. 22nd, at the G.A.R. hall. She was well pleased with the work of the corps officers and expressed much surprise that the Post and Corps had earned enough to own their hall in such a short time, the Post and Corps having been organized less than three years with only a small number of members to begin with. But then Sequim always takes the lead in any thing for the loyal, good and true, so why not for the good old boys in blue.

There will be a dance at G.A.R. hall Saturday night, Oct. 29th. A chicken pie supper will be given by the ladies of the Relief Corps. Everybody is cordially invited to attend and bring along their best girl.

Word was received here Wednesday from Sappho, on the Clallam Forks road, half way, that the dead bodies of Joe Neiderstrasser and George Cowan were found in that vicinity. No particulars were given, but two deaths at the same time indicate other than natural death. Coroner Willson, Sheriff Cosser and Prosecutor Ritchie left at once for the scene, traveling overland by way of the lakes.

Neiderstrasser is a prospector and has a claim of more or less value in the vicinity of his home at Sappho. He has complained at times of people stealing his tools during his absence up sound. Just who Cowan is is not known. He seems to be a prospector also, but whether a resident of this locality for any length of time is not known.

A FEW REASONS

Why You Should Emphatically Consider Undersigned When You Cast Your Vote for County Commissioner for the Second District.

1st. I received my nomination on the Republican ticket at the Primary Election from the Taxpayers of the Middle District. I have resided in the City of Port Angeles for Twenty years and am well acquainted with the conditions and affairs of the County.

2nd. The all important question today is whether or not the timber is shouldering its right proportion of taxation. I am of the opinion that a County Commissioner ought to be a disinterested party, when he sits in judgment on the Board of Equalization. That is the reason why I filed my declaration for this office before the primary election.

3rd. My worthy opponent on the Democratic ticket is a TIMBER MAN, while I am free from any affiliations with their interest or any other interest. I am not in the service of any man or any set of men and declare myself free and independent. If elected I will give the same attention to the affairs of the county and run it along the same economical line as I do my own personal business.

4th. I believe in the upbuilding of the county and to accomplish this it is a well-known fact, acknowledged throughout the county, that Roads and Bridges are the main factors and must receive the most earnest and closest attention from the members of the Board of County Commissioners.

5th. If elected I will see to it, as far as lies in my power, that everybody gets a square deal in the three districts and will discriminate neither for nor against friend or foe.

6th. In the maintenance of the County Poor Farm, which up to this time has been run at a loss by the county, I believe in establishing an advisory Board, consisting of three practical farmers, who shall meet and examine conditions of the same, every ninety days, and assist the Board of Commissioners to make the same self-sustaining as soon as possible.
