BROTHERHOOD IDEA GROWING IN FAVOR

New Organization is Making Substantial Gain in Membership. Interesting Meeting Held.

The Brotherhood of the First Congregational Church held its second regular meeting at the church Monday evening. Forty-three members out of a total membership of forty-eight were present, besides a few invited guests. A very interesting session was held and much enthusiasm manifested over the bright outlook for the future success of the organization.

Mr. L. M. Campbell, of the membership committee, reported twelve new members, most of whom were present, remarking that with a little extra effort on the part of the committee and other members during the next two months, the membership could easily be increased to one hundred.

After enjoying a most excellent two-course dinner, graciously served by ladies of the Aid Society of the Church, President R. D. Willson called the members to order, when Secretary Weeks read the by-laws and minutes of the preceding meeting. Other routine business was transacted. Mr. Weeks also stated that it was found impossible to secure an outside speaker, as contemplated for the Monday evening meeting, but thought there would be no difficulty in obtaining one for the next regular meeting in January.

While waiting for the lights to be turned on for the stereoptican lecture, which Rev. Smith kindly offered, representing the work of foreign missions in Spain, Secretary Weeks entertained all present with a very vivid description of a recent interview with one of the few chronic knockers who have infested Port Angeles for the past ten or twenty years, sitting down and waiting for the coming of a railroad, and one who hates everybody but himself and imagines that business men who are seemingly thriving while he is not, are doing business illegally, and who proceeds to stir up rancor and opposition that might seriously affect the prosperity of the municipality, did not everyone who hears him consider the source from whom the howl emanates. Mr. Weeks' talk was amusing, highly entertaining, and true to life. This feature of Monday night's meeting will no doubt become a permanent one.

Someone suggested that John Hansen tell what he knew about Mud. Mr. Hansen very modestly replied that there was not much to say, only that the work accomplished demonstrated that the job of cleaning the street was not such a serious one after all, and that the cost of mixing water with mud was nominal, amounting to but $3 50 per abutting lot of fifty feet.

The musical part of the program consisted of a piano solo by Howard Campbell and a vocal duet by Boyd Edgar and Cecil McNutt Both numbers were greatly appreciated.

Papers on the current events of the day, prepared by members of the Outlook Committee, were read, and after singing America, by the audience, the meeting adjourned.

THE CITY COUNCIL

The city council held a short session Tuesday evening.

City Electrician R. M. Toler submitted his quarterly report, showing a total charge of $1008.40; collections, $783.70; outstanding $224.70; Report referred to finance and electric light committee.

Fire Hydrant was ordered installed south east corner 6th and Oak streets.

Sidewalk ordered on north side of Sixth from Lincoln to Laurel streets

Lincoln street tunnel ordered extended thirty feet.

Bills to the amount of about $1500 were allowed.

CHRISTMAS DINNER

Get your Christmas Dinner at the Merchants Hotel Sunday and save the work and worry. Served from 3 till 6. Good company, good cheer, and a fine meal.

URGES PUBLICITY FOR PUGET SOUND

Hill Advises All Communities to Unite in a Campaign to Make Known Our Advantages.

Urging a campaign of publicity not only in the East and Middle West, but throughout Europe, James J. Hill, chairman of the board of directors of the Great Northern railway, in an address delivered before the transportation bureau of the Chamber of Commerce at the Washington Hotel Saturday night, intimated that Seattle and the Sound country are not fully alive to their possibilities.

Mr. Hill said that the cultivation of a strip of land thirty miles wide extending around the Sound would produce more wealth in time than all the gold mines in Alaska.

Urging that the thrifty farmer is needed to make Washington prosperous, Mr. Hill suggested that the commercial organizations send agents East and abroad to let the people of Europe know what can be done in Washington. He said that in his opinion the farming communities of Holland and Sweden were the most thrifty and prosperous of all Europe, and urged that the commercial organizations of Seattle and Washington encourage them to immigrate to this country.

The committee had made an appointment with Mr. Hill with a view of asking his advice as to how more settlers might be attracted to the Pacific Northwest.

His answer was expressed in one word—publicity.

He told in detail what the Great Northern railway is doing in its effort to let the East and Middle West know of the possibilities of Washington and Oregon. The exhibit car, which was equipped with fruits, grains and farm products of the North Pacific states, about two years ago, and sent all over the country, according to Mr. Hill, is doing a great publicity work and results will be tooth coming Even in Boston, Philadelphia, New York and the busy cities of the East the car was thronged with visitors, all anxious to know of Washington and Oregon.

WILL BENEFIT FARMERS

The Victoria, B. C., Times says that the Ontario government is making preparations to supply electric power to farmers in that province. The power is generated at Niagara Falls. The government proposes laying the wires to farms and making an annual charge for the installation covering fifteen or twenty years. This should help to popularize farm life. When the Olympic Power Co., now building an electric plant on the Elwha to put power into Port Angeles, Port Townsend and Irondale is completed and ready for operation, the farmers, as well all others on the Olympic peninsula, will be supplied with all the power they can use for every purpose.

CANDIDATES FOR MARSHAL

There seems to a goodly number of candidates for city marshal. These have left their fate in the hands of Mayor-elect Mead: G. A. Davis, former marshal Wm. Smith, present marshal Erv. Nichols, J. J McKechnie, Wm. Marsh, Wm. McMullen, George Porter, Mike Sullivan. It is also reported that there are others in a receptive mood.

NEW DEPUTY TREASURER

No wonder Cliff Babcock is wearing such a broad smile these days—a ten pound boy arrived at his home Monday and thus solves for him the question of a new deputy treasurer.

This is the time of year you will be using canned fruit and vegetables. Don't forget that the Amocat Brand is one of the best [illegible] market. You can get them at the Gate City Grocery come under the ban of the tariff law which excludes the importation of convict products from foreign countries. The Philippines are not foreign lands, according to the opinion of the treasury department.

The strenuous exercise for naval officers prescribed under the Roosevelt administration has failed in its purpose, in the opinion of Secretary of the Navy Meyer, and a general order has been issued greatly modifying the severity of the physical tests.

The Standard mine at Silverton, B. C., said to be the biggest and richest silver-lead mine in Canada, has changed owners. Patrick Clark, of Spokane, bought a 65 per cent interest in it on the basis of $2,500,000 cash for the property.

Asserting wholesale revision of the tariff to be an "unmitigated injustice to the business interests of the country and ruinous to the party that undertakes them," Senator Lodge, in a speech Saturday in the senate, supported the tariff amendment by sections.

POSTAL BANKS BEGIN BUSINESS JANUARY 3

Washington, Dec. 19.—Postmaster Beneral Hitchcock says that everything will be in readiness for the postal savings banks to receive deposits on January 3, the first working day of the new year. The task of drawing up regulations, forms and instructions has progressed so far as to assure the beginning of operations.

One experimental office will be opened in each state and territory to make the first test of the service as thorough as possible under the limited appropriation.

Boy Scouts as Fire Fighters.

Spokane, Dec. 17.—Training in the methods of preventing and fighting forest fires will probably be included in the work of Spokane boy scouts in the future. E. T. Allen, forester of the Western Forestry and Conservation Association, said recently that he hoped to secure the co-operation of the Spokane scout troops to help spread the knowledge of fire danger among the boys of the entire Northwest.

Concessions to Clergy.

Olympia, Dec. 17.—Ministers of the gospel may travel at half rates or reduced rates on railroads but they must pay full charges for having their baggage and other effects transported. So holds W. V. Tanner, assistant attorney general, in an opinion given to the Washington railroad commission. Using this as a basis the commission has entered an order to that effect.

LE SHOW WILL RING RESULTS

ЗITION HELD AT CHICAGO CENTLY ATTRACTED GREAT ATTENTION.

Exhibitors Besieged From Morning Till Night by Eager Inquirers Seeking Knowledge at First Hand of the Various Districts in Four Western States and British Columbia.

Spokane, Dec. 19.—"Perhaps the most significant result of the National Apple Show in Chicago recently is the widespread attention attracted to the commercial orchard districts of Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana and British Columbia," said E. F. Cartier Van Dissel, first vice president and chairman of the board of trustees of the National Apple Show, Inc., adding:

"The daily newspapers and class publications in Chicago were liberal in devoting space to the enterprise, and taken in all it was the best exploitation the apple ever had, next to the story of its first appearance in the Garden of Eden. Moreover, the people of the Mississippi valley country and the states to the east and south and north have a better acquaintance today with the apple districts in the Northwest than ever before."

Mr. Van Dissel said that the Chicago show was attended mostly by men and women who have money to invest or are looking for homes in this country. The fact that the exhibitors were literally besieged from morning until night by eager inquirers, seeking knowledge at first hand of the various districts in the four states and province, he added, may be taken as an indication that many will cast their lot in the Western country.

"The car-lot displays," Mr. Van Dissel continued, "were viewed by thousands, who marveled at the color, size and uniformity of the Western apples, and also held the interest of buyers from all over America; but it is probable that the district exhibits were the chief centers of attraction for those with a few thousand dollars to invest in orchard lands.

"Representatives of the districts that entered displays were on the ground with photographs, statistics and conservative word pictures of the exact state of things in the pomological history of the valleys and bench lands in Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana and British Columbia. They told their stories in a convincing way and were ready to answer all questions as to climate and soils.

"Tremendous interest was aroused in all the districts. There was a general interchange of courtesies; it was a genuine 'get-together' movement, and as a result all will benefit.

"No one is in position to foretell the extent of the influx of capital and settlers into the Northwestern country as a direct result of the apple show, but if only one of every hundred men and women who evinced interest in what this country offers to the homeseeker crosses to the west side of the Rocky mountains the value of the Chicago exposition will be apparent on all sides.

"Some might infer that this widespread talk about apples and apple lands is entirely due to the Spokane and Chicago shows. That is not true; it is too general to make such claims. However, they confirmed the reports given in print and by word of mouth of the marvelous development of the apple industry and the rapid and substantial strides made in the Northwest during the last ten years, and as such they proved their value a thousandfold.

"The Chicago show was operated at a financial loss to the management, as we expected it would be, but from a publicity viewpoint it was a highly gratifying success. It also resulted in bringing invitations from many Eastern and Middle Western cities to have the shows there following the competitive exposition in 1911.

"It is likely that the coming year will see the construction of a permanent home for the National Apple Show, also the establishment of a circuit in important Eastern cities. We are highly pleased with what was accomplished, and I look for a larger and more complete show than ever for the fall of 1911."

Sub-Committee Clears Lorimer.

Washington, Dec. 19.—Senator Lorimer, of Illinois, is given a clean bill of health by the subcommittee of the senate committee on privileges and elections which investigated charges of bribery made in connection with his election. The report of the investigation was made to the full committee on privileges and elections Saturday, which then adjourned until Tuesday to give the members opportunity to study the evidence and the subcommittee report.

Disposal of Cruisers.

Washington, Dec. 17.—As recently announced, the navy department will present the armored cruiser Boston and the gunboat Concord, now at Bremerton, to the state naval militias of Washington and Oregon instead of selling the vessels, and it has now been determined that the Concord shall be awarded to Washington, probably to be located in the Seattle harbor, and the latter to Oregon.

MEXICAN TROOPS ROUTED BY INSURGENT FORCES

El Paso, Tex., Dec. 17.—Federal troops were completely overthrown in an engagement lasting several hours at La Junta, a small town near Minaca, on the Mexico Northwestern and Orient railroads, according to authentic information received here. At 4:30 last evening the remnant of the federal troops, numbering 150, surrendered their arms and ammunition and were allowed to depart in the direction of Chihuahua.

Owing to the wires being cut in many places, no details of the battle can be secured. A telephone wire running north through the mountains brought the news to the Juarez branch of the Mexican Northwestern that the federals were overwhelmingly defeated. The federal forces were supposed to number over 1,000 men, and were in command of Gens. Navarro and Hernandez.

The fight at La Junta is believed to be a continuation of the battle reported in the vicinity of San Andres Thursday night.

An effort was made yesterday to run trains over the Mexico Northwestern into Chihuahua, but with what success cannot be learned. The railroad officials admit that the insurrectos are in complete control of the entire region, and that traffic is practically at a standstill.

UNCLE SAM'S CLERKS MUST DO MORE WORK

Washington, Dec. 17.—President Taft and his cabinet have decided that all government clerks employed in Washington shall work half an hour longer each day. The decision is in line with the policy of the administration for greater efficiency and economy in government departments. The time for reporting each morning was fixed at 8:30 o'clock instead of 9.

Up to a few years ago the government clerks in Washington worked from 9 o'clock until 4, with half an hour for lunch, making an actual working day of only six and one-half hours. Then the hours were extended to 4:30, so as to give a seven-hour day. Now the clerks will have to work seven and a half hours each day.

Creamery Operators Elect.

Tacoma, Dec. 17.—S. S. Morse of Montesano was elected president of the Washington Creamery Operators' Association at the closing sessions of the third annual convention here. H. W. Maynard of Olympia was elected secretary-treasurer and N. C. Hall of Ridgefield, F. H. Ward of Shelton and John Gillespie of Arlington, vice presidents. The officers will select the place for the 1911 convention.

New Steamship Line.

Victoria, B. C., Dec. 17.—The steamers Iroquois and Chippewa will be placed in a new service running between Puget Sound ports and Southeastern Alaska ports. A new company will be formed to use the two steamers, well known here, as the nucleus of a new line to the North, it is said.

ADVERTISE PUGET SOUND REGION

THAT IS J. J. HILL'S ADVICE TO SEATTLE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

Publicity in His Opinion Is One Thing Essential to Attract New People to This Section—Would Especially go After Substantial Farmers.

Seattle, Dec. 19.—Urging a compaign of publicity not only in the East and Middle West, but throughout Europe, James J. Hill, chairman of the board of directors of the Great Northern railway, in an address delivered before the transportation bureau of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce at the Washington hotel Saturday night, intimated that Seattle and the Puget Sound country are not fully alive to their possibilities.

Better Than Alaska Gold.

Mr. Hill said that the cultivation of a strip of land thirty miles wide extending around the Sound would produce more wealth in time than all the gold mines of Alaska.

He insisted that the Chamber of Commerce and other trade organizations let the world know what Washington and the Puget Sound country can produce and then he said settlers will flock to the North Pacific coast.

Seek Out the Farmer.

Urging that the thrifty farmer is needed to make Washington prosperous, Mr. Hill suggested that the commercial organizations send agents East and abroad to let the people of Europe know what can be done in Washington. He said that in his opinion the farming communities of Holland and Sweden were the most thrifty and prosperous of all Europe, and urged that the commercial organization of Seattle and Washington encourage them to immigrate to this country.

Mr. Hill said that Washington needed greater activity in the dairy industry. It was his belief that Washington, and especially the Puget Sound country, was well adapted for the location of dairy farms and that if a large number of the thrifty farmers of Holland and Sweden could be influenced to settle in the Puget Sound country, an important increase in the permanent wealth of the entire district could be expected.

The committee had made an appointment with Mr. Hill with a view of asking his advice as to how more settlers might be attracted to the Pacific Northwest.

His answer was expressed in one word—publicity.

He told in detail what the Great Northern railway is doing in its effort to let the East and Middle West know of the possibilities of Washington and Oregon. The exhibit car, which was equipped with fruits, grains and farm products of the North Pacific states, about two years ago, and sent all over the country, according to Mr. Hill, is doing a great publicity work and results will be forthcoming. Even in Boston, Philadelphia, New York and the busy cities of the East the car was thronged with visitors, all anxious to know of Washington and Oregon.

Mr. Hill said that a good indication of what the Great Northern railway was doing for the Pacific Northwest was shown by the large increase in the number of inquiries made at the offices of the company in St. Paul. He also spoke of what the United States land and irrigation exposition at Chicago had done in the way of publicity and said that Washington and Oregon would get results from the work done.

"Mr. Hill's heart is with Washington and the will do all he can to aid the people of the Puget Sound district," said James S. Goldsmith, president of the Schwabacher Brothers Company, who was present at the meeting. "He is especially impressed with the Wenatchee valley and its possibilities. He is in favor of developing Oregon, but Washington will not be neglected."

Start Work on Spokane Paper Mill.

Spokane, Dec. 17.—W. S. Yearsley, president of the Inland Empire Paper Mill Company, has returned to Spokane from a three months' trip East, during which time he thoroughly completed the organization of the big paper mill company, and announced, for the first time definitely that the plant would be in operation by July 1, 1911. From the start the mill will employ from 75 to 100 men, and many more when in full operation.

Second Alaska Cable.

Seattle, Dec. 17.—The laying of another cable to Alaska is under consideration by Secretary of War J. M. Dickinson, and a request for an appropriation will be presented to congress soon, according to advices received yesterday from Washington. Business has grown so rapidly in the last two or three years that the capacity of the cable is sorely taxed, especially in the summer season.

To Eliminate Tin Colonels.

Sacramento, Cal., Dec. 17.—Gov.-elect Johnson will eliminate the numerous "political colonels" that composed the majority of the military staffs of former governors. He is planning to ask for the submission of a plan for the establishment of a convenient working staff composed of men familiar with military life and discipline.

CANADIAN FARMERS OUTLINE DEMANDS

Ottawa, Ont., Dec. 17.—With a view to obtaining at first hand opinion of farmers of Canada in regard to the tariff and other questions of importance to the agricultural interests, members of the Dominion government and parliament yesterday gave a hearing to a delegation of over 500 representatives of the organized farmers of the country. The conference was held in the chamber of the house of commons. The extraordinary public interest attached to the conference was evidenced by the fact that the galleries were filled long before 10 o'clock, the hour fixed for the hearing to begin. Representatives of newspapers in all parts of the Dominion were present.

Among the agricultural organizations represented at the hearing were the Grain Growers' Association of Manitoba, Alberta and Saskatchewan, the organized farmers and dairymen of Ontario and Quebec, and the fruit growers of the maritime provinces. The Canadian Council of Agriculture and the Dominion Grange were represented by many of their officials and leading members.

Chief Requests Made.

The chief requests presented to the conference were five in number, as follows:

Placing of manufactured articles used by farmers on the free list.

Government ownership of a railway line to Hudson Bay.

The establishment of a chilled meat trade in Canada to foster a greater export business.

The passing of a law to permit the formation of co-operative societies.

Government ownership of terminal elevators.

The foregoing, in the opinion of the farmers' organizations, represents in a general way the chief points of the program which the government should adopt with a view to furthering the best interests of the several million persons engaged in the agricultural industry in Canada. The details of the program are left to be worked out later, with such modifications relating to the tariff and trade preference as may be found necessary.

A policy of reciprocity with the United States, it is urged, would prove a great boon to the Canadian farmer, both as to buying and selling, as it would enable him to get his implements and farm equipment cheaper, and to sell his wheat for more, as the Western farmers claim the prices of wheat in the Minneapolis market range considerably higher than the price in Winnipeg.

PROVINCE TO SPEND VAST SUM ON ROADS

Victoria, B. C., Dec. 19.—The present government of British Columbia, headed by Hon. Richard McBride, is making a record in road building which, taking into consideration the population of the province, is probably second to none.

With an estimated population of a little over 300,000, the British Columbia government will expend something like $4,500,000 this year in the building of roads. All this money is drawn from the treasury and is not especially levied for one period.

The argument is that, even with the other vast natural resources of the province, agriculture must in the final event be the mainstay of its prosperity, and agriculture first of all must have good roads.

Through Magificent Scenery.

Among the many roads now under construction under the supervision of Thomas Taylor, minister of public works, is the road from the Alberni district through to Ucluelet and Clayoquet on the west coast. This road will be a marvel of wonderful scenery and at the same time will open up large tracts that will become excellent agricultural country. Some of this can be drained and turned into tillable land, some of it is very heavily timbered, other portions little timbered, and here and there in the river valleys and around the lakes will be found open spaces.

This road will cross rivers and extend along the lakes of the central and western portion of Vancouver island, and from a point of picturesque attractiveness will afford a never-ending variety of scenery to the lover of outdoors.

Planting Many Fruit Trees.

Everett, Dec. 19.—County Fruit Inspector C. J. Stuart makes the statement that fruit culture throughout Snohomish county is increasing rapidly. More nursery stock, he says, was shipped into the county last month than during the twelve months of 1909. The new trees are for the most part of the Gravenstein, King and Northern Spy varieties. The county inspector says Snohomish county is capable of growing as fine an apple as the eastern part of the state.

Columbia to Have Big Stadium.

New York, Dec. 17.—Columbia university hopes to begin work shortly on a $1,000,000 athletic stadium. About 10 per cent of the funds required are already on hand. The plans call for the filling in of the Hudson river for four blocks as far as the bulkhead line. This filling is the most expensive part of the project, although most of the material for the purpose will be taken from the new subways.

Tax Rolls Total $6,697,615.

Dayton, Wash., Dec. 19.—Columbia county's property, real and personal, is valued at $6,697,615, according to County Auditor Swart. The State Board of Equalization has fixed a valuation of $8,123,553, which includes railroads and other public-service corporations.

SEATTLE EDITORS GET JAIL SENTENCE

DECLARED IN CONTEMPT OF COURT BY KING COUNTY JUDGE.

Attorney Gives Notice of Appeal, and Says Case Will Go to Federal Supreme Court if Necessary—Star Publishing Company Gets $300 Fine.

Seattle, Dec. 17.—Contempt of court proceedings against the Seattle Star, Leroy Sanders, editor, and Hugh Allen, city editor, took a formidable aspect yesterday when, at the conclusion of the hearing, Editor Sanders was conducted down to the county jail by Deputy Sheriff Luther Mills, under a four months' sentence, while City Editor Allen received a thirty days' sentence for the same offense. The Star Publishing Co. was fined $300 by Judge Mitchell Gilliam.

Notice of Appeal.

Attorney John H. Parry, for the defendants, gave notice of appeal to the supreme court of the state, and later signified his intention to carry the case, if necessary, to the supreme court of the United States. In the latter event a final decision may not be reached for several days.

"The paper will keep up this fight," said Editor Sanders, "and we are liable to have $50,000 worth of fines piled up before we get through."

The Seattle Star, on November 22, published a cartoon and a comment on the granting of a restraining order in the case of the Puget Sound Electric Company against various John Doe citizens of the White river valley, who resisted the payment of the charges under the passenger fare schedule. The John Does were restrained from refusing to leave the cars on nonpayment of fare, and the Star criticised the action of the court.

Case Was Pending.

The Puget Sound Electric Co. case being untried, and in process of adjudication, Judge Gilliam regarded the publication of the story and cartoon as flagrant cases of contempt of court, and, through Deputy Prosecuting Attorney Hugh Caldwell, the Star, Mr. Sanders and Mr. Allen were cited to show cause why they should not be punished for contempt of court.

Yesterday, at the hearing, the court overruled the general demurrer, interposed by Mr. Perry. Mr. Sanders took full responsibility for the publication of the objectionable features, and exculpated his company and City Editor Allen. Mr. Perry contended that the offense, not having been committed in court, was not contempt of court.

Inflame Prejudice.

Judge Gilliam, in imposing sentence, stated that the Puget Sound Electric case was entitled to adjudication without the interposition of outside influences calculated to prejudice the case, though he clearly recognized the right of a newspaper to criticise the court after a case had been tried. In the Puget Sound case, said the court, the situation was rendered acute through the excited condition of mind exisiting among the valley residents, and newspaper comment on a case untried was calculated to prejudice its determination.

Mr. Sanders, last evening, stated that he would arrange a bond for his release from jail this morning.

AGREE TO MEDIATION UNDER ERDMAN ACT

Washington, Dec. 19.—Chairman Knapp, of the interstate commerce commission Saturday received information that both parties to the controversy over wages between sixty-one railroads operating west of Chicago and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers have agreed to mediation under the Erdman act. In the event of arbitration the two parties each will select an arbitrator and the mediators a third.

Chicago, Dec. 19.—Labor Commissioner Charles P. Neill has began his effort to avert a strike of the engineers on sixty-one Western railroads. He was called to Chicago by officials of the roads to use his influence under the Erdman act with approximately 34,000 angineers who voted to uphold their demands for a wage increase.

Mr. Neill spent the morning in a secret conference with the railroads' management committee. During the afternoon he conferred with the engineers.

The conferences will be held daily until a basis of negotiations is agreed upon, after which a joint conference will be held preparatory to opening arbitration proceedings.

1,000,000 Chinese Face Famine.

Washington, Dec. 17.—Famine impends over more than a million Chinese in the northern part of the province of Anhui, a section of the country very subject to destructive floods from the Husi river and its tributaries. A railroad now being built from Tientsin to Pukow (opposite Nanking) crosses the northeastern portion of the province, which was disastrously affected by the floods of 1906 and the subsequent famine, and eventually will do much to improve the conditions of the people, who are extremely poor.

Regarding the wonderful growth in the population of the state of Washington during the last decade, the Aberdeen World is led to remark: It centers the interest of the nation because of its phenomenal percentage of growth. It could not have had a better advertisement. The East is bound to enquire the reason for this remarkable rate of growth, and not content with the mere asking, will probably come out to see for itself. And like the traveling salesman, all we want is an opportunity to show goods. For we have the goods for the manufacturer, the shipper, the business man, the professional man, the farmer, the home builder.

Part of the growth of Washington —and a good part—is to be found in the railways that now serve us. These have opened new territory and brought settlers. This state, in fact, is the finest example in the West and in the nation that the west needs railways and that railways mean development. With facilities and with the natural resources of the soil, there is no limit to the stage this state can reach.

There is plenty of room in Washington, plenty of work to be done, much money to be made and great opportunites for the making of it. The tide is set toward the West, and it will never be stayed. Its trend is always westward and with the impetus now gained, why should it not contnue?

The Northwestern General Hospital at Irondale is one of the most modern and best equipped institutions of its kind in the entire Northwest. It is a handsome four story brick structure occupying the most sightly location in Irondale, commanding a beautiful view of Port Townsend Bay, the Olympic and Cascade mountains. It contains wards, single private rooms, and two and three rooms with private bath. Acute and chronic medical and surgical cases accepted for treatment.

AS A HEALTH RESORT

Permanent Inhabitants Agree that There is No Healthier Climate.

A recent visitor, who has traveled all over the United States, keeps a record of the answers to his question, "Why do you live here". Nine tenths of Port Angeles answers are, "It is a good climate. I like it. My family and I are healthy here".

That we have a healthy town is true, and yet many of us will admit that we have sometimes wondered how we could truthfully tell of a little better feeling, show a little springier step, gain an extra twenty or forty years of life. Mention was made in these columns last week of Mr. and Mrs. Maynard, who are coming on January second. They are sent out, expenses paid by Dr. Tilder of Denver, the editor of "A Stuffed Club" magazine. From him they have learned what we are paying for but do not get. They are teachers, instructors, lecturers, who come with a message that strikes home, one for which we know we have a crying need. Poor health is the price of "Not knowing."

Every body in this community who can hobble out on the night of January 2nd should go to hear these lecturers.

Don't forget Mr. and Mrs. Maynard, your engagement for Monday evening, January second.

James J. Hill, the Empire builder of the Great Northern railway, speaking at the Washington hotel, Seattle, last Saturday, was very optimistic over the future of this section. The one thing essential, he said, was publicity. Let the world know what Washington and the Puget Sound country can produce and then settlers will flock to the North Pacific coast.

In the commissioners' proceedings for the month of October, officially published in the Olympic Leader on Oct. 14, in the allowance of claims for road work, L. T. Sands of Bucyrus is credited with having been allowed $37.50. Mr. Sands says this should of been but $28.00, that is what he received for his work.

Order to Show Cause.
No. 425.

In the Superior Court of the State of Washington, for Clallam County.
In the matter of the estate of Joseph H. Ristine, deceased.

It appearing to the satisfaction of this court by the petition this day presented and filed by Clara B. Harrison, the executrix of the estate of Joseph H. Ristine, deceased, that it is necessary to sell the whole or some portion of the real estate of said deceased in order to pay his debts and the expenses and charges of administration.

It is ordered that all persons interested in said estate appear before this court on Saturday, the 31st day of December, at the hour of 10 o'clock A. M. of that day, in the court room of said court, at the court house in the city of Port Angeles, County of Clallam, State of Washington, to show cause why an order should not be granted said executrix to sell so much of said real estate as shall be necessary to pay such charges and debts; and it is further ordered that a copy of this order be published four successive weeks next preceding said day in the "Olympic-Leader", a newspaper printed and published in said county.

Dated November 26, 1910.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 23, 1910

It looks as if the Eastern Washington district judgeship would go to Chief Justice Frank H. Rudkin of the state supreme court. He is the first choice of Senators Piles and Jones and the second choice of Senator-elect Poindexter. Governor Hay in considering a successor to Justice Rudkin is said to have in mind the appointment of a Democrat.

Mr. D. O'Brien, councilman elect of the sixth ward, will prove to be the right man in the right place if he follows up the plan that he mapped out at a meeting with his constituents of the sixth ward last Saturday evening, a report of which appears in another part of this paper. If other members of the city council would act likewise there would be far less wrangling and the business affairs of our city would be handled with less friction and more judiciously and satisfactorily than at present.

Gov. Brady of Idaho, chairman of the Advisory Board of Washington State Campaign Committee, has issued a call for a convention to be held in the city of Tacoma on January 14, 1911, for the purpose of organizing an association of national scope of the women voters of America. Governors of each of the five states where women have the right of suffrage will appoint one delegate to said convention with authority to organize a national association. Washington's delegate to the first national gathering of enfranchised women will be Mrs. Virginia Wilson Mason of Tacoma.

The Spokane Review, in summing up the result of the recent Good Roads Convention at Walla Walla in reference to the state aid road laws says: The contest in the convention was not between those who believed in state aid and those who opposed state aid but between those who believed that the county commissioners should select the roads to benefit from state aid, and have charge of the funds so expended, and those who believed that these matters should be in the hands of the state highway commissioner.

In short, it was a fight by the county commissioners for more power, and the commissioners won. They gathered together to defeat the present state aid road law in the convention because they believed that to be the most practicable way of ultimately securing a state aid road law which would conform to their particular desires.

It seems that the experience of Tacoma under the first six months of the commission form of government is somewhat anomalous, considering the statement made before its inception by the mayor of that city, that the commission form should save the city something like one quarter of a million annually.

The comptroller's report shows that during the first six months the salaries alone have been over $38,000 more than they were under the old form.

The sinking of an island in the the Hokango lagoon, situated a few miles southwest of San Salvador, the capital of the republic of that name, following repeated earthquake shocks, reported in Monday's dailies, wherein about 170 persons perished, is the latest horror of the many reported of the year now drawing to a close.

The Tacoma Press of December 16th says: "The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul is maturing plans for entering the Olympic peninsula." They can't "mature" too fast to suit some of the people down this way.

R. D. WILLSON
HARDWARE CO.

Copies of a Protest and Appeal from the unfavorable report of Captain Williams of the Corps of Engineers upon the proposed breakwater at Neah Bay have been received by the Commercial Club here.

The protest states that Captain Williams was only here four months and hence was not familiar with the importance of the proposed improvement, and insinuates that because he came here from work on the Columbia river jetty, he was probably prejudiced.

It makes the astounding statement that there is no harbor north of San Francisco bay in our 900 miles of coast line in which ships can seek shelter except they enter the strait and pass thru its entire length to Puget Sound, and says that with a breakwater at Neah Bay such vessels as were bound for Portland would be saved 150 to 200 miles in their detour to obtain shelter.

The country around Neah Bay, the protest states, is rich but sparsely inhabited; it is within an Indian reservation; freight can only be landed in small boats in calm weather; owing to the mountains the country will not be opened up by a railroad until the breakwater is constructed, hence it would benefit the inhabitants of the entire region.

For want of a breakwater, the protest says, each year takes its toll of lives from the fishermen off the Cape, and that the life saving station and the Snohomish are only partially serviceable for want of protection and a wharf.

It is believed that the northern railroads are back of the breakwater agitation, as its construction and maintenance would enable them to secure terminals 140 miles nearer the ocean than are Seattle and Tacoma, a matter of no small importance in the coming contest with the Canadian roads that are now extending their terminals to Barclay sound in British Columbia. Color is lent to this belief by the fact that Thomas Burke was chairman of the committee making the recommendation to the Chamber of Commerce, upon the adoption of which action was commenced. Certain other interests, who would profit directly by the work, notably a contracting company handling stone, are actively engaged in securing signers to the protest.

Those who sign the protest and appeal must do so either thru ignorance or without giving any attention to the statements made, not one of which, save the fact that the country if uninhabited and will remain so for generations, has any semblance of truth. In the first place, were it possible to build a breakwater at Neah Bay, and on that sloping shelf of rock it would be swept out by the first hard storm, no inward bound ship could get behind it when the wind was blowing forty to sixty miles an hour. Ships entering the straits for shelter would sail on to Clallam Bay just as they do now. Outward bound ships, warned by the weather signals at Port Angeles, Port Crescent and Clallam Bay, stop either at Angeles or at Clallam which is fifteen miles from Neah Bay and has good holding ground. As many as eighteen ships are anchored at Clallam Bay at one time. No ship has ever yet made a 200 mile detour up the Strait for shelter.

The life saving station is located on the mainland and the Snohomish finds shelter in stormy weather between the island and the mainland. The thousands of people who cross the Straits to Victoria should have equal protection with those who enter at the cape; witness the loss of the Clallam. The Snohomish, whether at the government coal bunkers at Angeles, or cruising the Strait, is on her station; she is kept in touch with the cape by wireless.

Senator Burton, who was chairman of the Rivers and Harbors committee which visited Neah Bay ten years ago, reported such breakwater would be "an unjustifiable expenditure of public funds." Then, as now, the railroads were behind the scheme and the Chamber of Commerce was being used as the cat's paw.

The voice of duty is never still. It whispers to us morning, noon and night; it reaches us from the roar of the wild tempest, the sigh of the summer winds, the soft gentle murmur of the wayside brook. That still small voice will not be hushed.

Have you seen the big line of Rockford silver plated goods at P. J's? These goods are sold under a positive 25 year guarantee. Come in and look them over. P. J. Williams.

CHRISTMAS SUGGESTIONS ?

Well, just go down to Lutz & Co.'s store and you will not have to puzzle your brain further. The swellest line of men's boxed goods ever brought to the city you will find there. Beautiful holly bedecked boxes containing one pair of silk hose with necktie or muffler to match, or maybe you would rather have those elegant suspenders with sleeve bands and sox supporters to match, and then just look at those neckties, also the handsome tie pins and cuff buttons. Your father, brother or sweetheart could be made happy with one of these gifts.

After a housekeeper fully realizes the worth of turpentine in the household she is never willing to be without a supply of it. It gives quick relief to burns; it is an excellent application for corns; it is good for rheumatism and sore throats. Then it is a sure preventative for moths; by just dropping a trifle in the drawers, chests and cupboards it will render the garments secure from injury during the summer. It will keep ants and bugs from closets and store rooms by putting a few drops in the corners and upon the shelves. It is sure destruction to bedbugs, and will effectually drive them away from their haunts if thoroughly applied to all the joints of the bedstead, and injures neither furniture nor clothing. A spoonful of this added to a pail of warm water is excellent for cleaning paint.

One of those fancy Gillette Safety Razors or a Rider Perfection Fountain Pen would make him an excellent and servicable gift. See them at Nailor's.

It is worthy of note, since we are to have equal suffrage in Washington, that women of Toronto have formed a political club and work for the Conservative party. It is said that the ladies are to be invited to attend all party meetings. This should prove a great attraction and result in better attended meetings, and, possibly, better meetings as well.

With the exception of some lateral extensions, we have completed the new water system for the City from Ennis Creek. The City Officials have tested the pressure and found it ample. We believe the quantity and purity of the water, the whole system in fact, is one the city can be proud of, and is of special value to the community as a whole.

We have now a large investment and there will be some adjustment in rates to meet this expenditure. The residence rates where Bath and Closet are not used will be for the present, per month $1.25. For payment at the office on or before the 10th of the month a DISCOUNT of 25 cents will be allowed, making a net rate of [not including sprinkling] $1.00 Some rate will be charged where Baths and Closets are connected, and an adjustment equalizing rates will be made for commercial connection.

The increase will be small, and we hope consumers, where the rates are changed will find the new and excellent supply worth the increased cost.

The changes will go into effect January 1st, 1911.

IF CHAMP CLARK IS SPEAKER

DEMOCRATIC LEADER ISSUES STATEMENT OUTLINING HIS PLATFORM.

Favors Caucus on Committees and Declares He Wants No Appointing Power—Favors a Revision of the Tariff by Separate Schedules and Many Bills, Indorsing Plan Urged by President Taft.

Washington, Dec. 17.—Representative Champ Clark issued a statement last night fully outlining his platform as prospective speaker of the Democratic house of representatives in the next congress.

He proclaims himself in favor of the appointment of house committees by a committee, rather than by the speaker, and he states his belief that the tariff should be revised, schedule by schedule, rather than in one single bill. Those two subjects, says Mr. Clark, are the ones upon which he has been continually importuned to make some statement. Democratic house members sent out a call yesterday for a caucus January 19 of the Democratic membership of the next house of representatives.

Caucus to Work.

Mr. Clark's statement is both an explanation of the call and a declaration of his own platform as the probable speaker of the house. The caucus will select a ways and means committee and a rules committee, somewhat larger than the present committee of seven.

Mr. Clark believes one of these committees should then be empowered to select the other committees of the house.

"There are two theories of tariff revision," says Mr. Clark in his statement, "revision by one general bill, and revision by separate bills for separate schedules. This is a matter not of principle, but of method.

Favors Many Bills.

"Individually, I prefer the scheme of separate bills for separate schedules, taking the schedules with the most obnoxious features first, perhaps in certain cases having separate bills for particular items."

The statement proceeds to say that whatever method is decided upon, full hearing as comprehensive as that which preceded the framing of the Payne-Aldrich law, will be had by the new ways and means committee.

"The assumption, growing out of ignorance in certain quarters," says Mr. Clark, "that President Taft or Senator Cummins or any other Republican has discovered something new in tariff revision by the separate schedule scheme is preposterous.

"As far back as the Fifty-second congress Chairman Springer introduced separate bils for separate schedules and even for particular items, which were derisively denominated "Springer's gun bills' by ribald Republican speakers and writers; and several years before Judge Springer was chairman of the committee on ways and means Mr. McKenzie, of Kentucky, achieved both great renown and the sobriquet of 'Quinine Jim' by securing the passage of a bill putting quinine on the free list, and touching no other item whatsoever in any tariff schedule."

To Invite Members.

Mr. Clark declares that he is heartily in favor of inviting to the caucus all Democratic members-elect. He says his efforts for two years have been directed to the unification of the Democrats in the house and for that reason members-elect should be given every opportunity to express their choice in the naming of committees.

The questions of interest to the country, as Mr. Clark sees it, is how the Democrats will select their committees and what the party will do with the tariff. This last question has been answered, and proceeding to the first he says:

"As to the mode of selecting committees in the event of my own election to the speakership I would not care the snap of my finger to exercise the power of appointing them. I have stated that to every Democratic member who cared to inquire my opinion. The exercise of that power would undoubtedly have certain unpleasant features."

Of the two plans for the election of committees, by the Democratic caucus or directly by the house itself, Mr. Clark favors the latter. This is based on the fact that in the debatable states the independent voters appear to favor it and the future speaker of the house frankly acknowledges that it may be adopted because of the influence it would have in returning a Democratic president and a Democratic congress in 1912.

Indications are that any tariff measure brought in by its Democratic members of the ways and means committee in the next congress will be along the line of revision schedule by schedule.

The call for the caucus was circulated at the instance of Champ Clark and of Mr. Underwood of Alabama, his right arm in congress. The idea is that to facilitate the work of the next congress along tariff lines the Democratic members of the committee should meet early enough to have their action in shape to submit to congress when it convenes next December.

OFFERS CHEAP BEEF IF TARIFF IS LOWERED

New York, Dec. 17.—Consumers in America could obtain beef at 3 cents per pound and lamb at 8 cents if this country should get it supplies from Australia and admit them free of duty, according to Arthur Kidman, "Australia's cattle king," who has been in the United States six months studying conditions.

"Australia is the logical source to which the United States should turn, with all tariff bars lowered, for beef, lamb, mutton and other products at prices far more satisfactory than those which now obtain," says Mr. Kidman.

"Last year," he said, "we shipped to the United Kingdom nearly $20,000,000 in beef, mutton and lamb. Practically the same amount went to Canada, and many millions more to the Mediterranean ports, Africa, Dutch East Indies, the Philippines and other Eastern markets. Other millions are exported in hides, wool and dairy products. Last year we exported over $20,000,000 in butter alone.

"If congress will let down the tariff bars a bit we can give the United States beef, delivered in the carcass at the wharf, for 6 cents a pound, mutton for 6 cents, lamb for 8 cents and butter for 23 to 24 cents, exclusive of duty."

Mr. Kidman conducts an export business amounting yearly to many millions of dollars.

"We have a wonderful country there," he continued. "And we could make it still more wonderful if we only had more people. When you consider that for an area nearly as large as the United States we have a total population which is smaller than that of Greater New York—only 4,750,000, to be exact—you can readily understand the extent of our handicap.

"To have local manufacturing industries we must have a population large enough to support them—from 20,000,000 to 30,000,000 people. Stock raising and produce export are the present chief business undertakings.

"Australia is really in a most flourishing condition, and we are looking forward to a better prosperity. The next ten years should prove to be the best of our existence."

CONGRESSIONAL INQUIRY INTO ACTS OF ROOSEVELT

Washington, Dec. 20.—A congressional investigation of Theodore Roosevelt's railroad transportation expenses, while he was president of the United States, is called for in a resolution introduced by Representative Rainey, of Illinois, a Democrat. It was referred to the committee on rules.

The resolution provides that a committee of five be selected to investigate how much, if any of these expenses, were paid by Mr. Roosevelt or by any one acting for him. It further provides for inquiry as to the contracts made for him, while president, with the Pennsylvania railroad or its officials, "or the demands for transportation made by Theodore Roosevelt, while president, on said road."

The committee is to make the same investigation with regard to other railroads furnishing him transportation.

HOUSE BILL CREATES NEW POSTAL POSITION

Washington, Dec. 20.—The reading was begun in the house yesterday of a bill for the revision and codification of the postal laws.

The bill provides for a practical reclassification of the postal service and for the appointment of a director general of posts. The latter would be a permanent government official, subject to dismissal for cause only, and would be the practical manager of the entire postoffice department. This would not dispense with the cabinet position of postmaster general, and the latter would be the real head of the department, giving his attention, however, almost entirely to the broad question of policy.

PROGRESSIVE CHINESE FIGHT FOR CABINET

Peking, Dec. 20.—The fight of the imperial senate to abolish the grand council and to establish a constitutional cabinet was renewed yesterday in the face of the throne's repection of the recent memorial.

Some time ago, in secret sessions, the senators decided that they would no longer tolerate a grand council which was not responsible to the imperial senate and would not execute that body's resolutions.

A memorial to the throne praying for a constitutional cabinet and the retirement of the grand councilors was adopted.

SUB-COMMITTEE FAVORS DIRECT VOTE FOR SENATORS

Washington, Dec. 17.—By a vote of 2 to 1, a sub-committee of the senate committee on judiciary has authorized a favorable report on a resolution for a constitutional amendment, to provide for the election of the United States senators by direct vote of the people. Senators Borah and Raynor voted for and Senator Dillingham against the report. The question will be submitted to the full committee next Monday.

Berth Schedule Approved.

Washington, Dec. 20.—Tentative approval of the interstate commerce commission has been given to the fixed charge for upper berths in Pullman cars at 80 per cent of the charge now paid for lower berths. The new charge is to become effective throughout the United States on or before January 20, 1911.

SAYS PEACE COURTS WILL REMAIN

PERMANENCY OF HAGUE TRIBUNAL PREDICTED BY GOV. BALDWIN.

International Courts Seem Logical Outcome of What Has Already Been Accomplished—Religious Wars a Thing of the Past—World Ready for Advance.

Washington, Dec. 17.—"Evolution is the law which has brought to its present stage the question of international arbitration by courts in the settlement of differences between nations," declared Governor-elect Simeon Baldwin of Connecticut, in an address before the American Society for the Judicial Settlement of International Disputes. He said that "nothing of human handiwork that comes to stay is suddenly conceived or produced," and that this law applied to international courts as well as to anything else.

Law Gives Hope.

"It is this law," he added," that gives courage to members of this society in looking to the establishment of international courts.

"They seem to use the natural and logical outcome of what has already been accomplished."

He then spoke of what the world already has done, either in ancient, medieval or modern times looking toward arbitration.

America Takes Lead.

The real beginning of modern times for the settlement of disputes by arbitration, he declared, took place on the American continent, being a settlement with England and Holland as ratifiers of the arbitration of a boundary dispute between the united colonies of New England and New Netherlands.

Praises Hague.

He referred to the good accomplished by the conferences which have been held at The Hague, for the London conference of 1908-09, and of the religious sentiments expressed in the form of international councils and conferences. All have been steps in the evolution of the international court idea.

"There have been in former ages wars of religion," he declared. "There never will be another between civilized peoples."

He mentioned the fact that in this country appeal has been made to the clergy of all religious denominations to obsevre the third Sunday in December of each year as "peace Sunday," for advocating the substitution for war of "imperative, universal arbitration."

Rebuilding Court House.

The Central American court of justice at Cartago, whose building was destroyed in a recent earthquake, but toward the rebuilding of which Andrew Carnegie has given the necessary money, "is still in the experimental stages, but nevertheless it is a living example that something has been done in the direction of inquiry and that more may be done. It fortifies the position of any hopeful student of international law who looks forward to an era of prevailing peace.

Court Will Stay.

"An international court is not a passing idea of speculative theorists," he asserted. He quoted the words of Gen. Grant, who declared that "there never was a time in his opinion when some way could not have been found to prevent the drawing of the sword."

"The epoch of peace contemplated by Grant seems now at hand. The times have presented the occasion. It is for the world to grasp it. I believe it will."

TRY TO GET TOGETHER ON STATE LINE DISPUTE

Olympia, Dec. 20.—Gov. M. E. Hay will be unable to attend the conference called by the governor of Oregon, to be held in Portland December 22, to take up the Columbia river boundary question, but Washington will be represented by W. P. Bell, the attorney general.

On December 27 the party will make a trip down the Columbia river to see the points in dispute between Washington and Oregon.

It is expected the conference will adopt some policy acceptable to both states and that the legislature will take the necessary steps to put an end to litigation.

Shingle Tariff Held Up.

Washington, Dec. 20.—Proposed freight tariffs, advancing rates on lumber, shingles and other products eastbound from North Pacific points, have been suspended by the interstate commerce commission until April 28, 1911. The tariffs were to have become effective December 24. They were filed by the agent of the transcontinental freight bureau for traffic originating on the Tacoma & Eastern railroad and affect 135 railroad lines operating west of Chicago.

Moulders Get Wage Increase.

Chicago, Dec. 20.—The Stove Founders' National Defense Association, after a four days' conference with the Iron Moulders' Union of North America, has signed an agreement granting the moulders' 5 per cent wage increase. About 80,000 men are affected.

PAINT THE CAPITOL

Old Coats Removed and Job Is Costing $300,000.

Work of Restoration Reveals the Original Sandstone—Statuary Hall Getting Big Share of the General Renovation.

Washington.—Within the stately capitol building the painters, plasterers and decorators have been working like Trojans to restore a portion of the great edifice to the condition in which its builders left it, and in which they supposed and intended that it should endure.

Magnificent statuary hall is filled with a spidery trellis from floor to lofty ceiling, and workmen are climbing on and over it with recklessness characteristic of artisans who toil on lofty places.

Litter of plaster and paint removed from places which were never intended to be covered with those materials is strewn upon the stone and tiled floors, but amid it all the irrepressible tourist strays as of yore.

Many persons who have learned of the restoration work in progress know little of the causes which led up to it and made it necessary.

According to Elliott Woods, the superintendent of the capitol building and grounds, the builders of the capitol intended that it should be of stone, and efforts were made to secure an adequate supply. In those days there had not been sufficient demand to encourage the opening of large quarries, but after some search a considerable deposit of Potomac limestone was found on Aquia Creek, about forty miles below the city of Washington.

This quarry was opened, and from it came the stone used in the capitol. Because of the difficulty in getting enough men to quarry and cut the stone, however, it was impossible, apparently, to get out enough of it to make it possible to use no other material in the construction of the capitol, so a considerable quantity of brick was used in the construction of interior walls.

This brick was covered with plaster and colored to imitate the sandstone.

Injury Caused by Dampness.

Anyone who has looked at one of the old prints of the capitol will recollect, doubtless, that it was surmounted by a cup-shaped wooden dome, open to the sky.

After the lapse of some years it was found that the sandstone of which the building was constructed was very susceptible to moisture, and that there was great danger of its disintegration from the dampness, which entered freely through the open dome.

The walls of the rotunda, ornamented with paintings and decorations, sweated continually, and there was much discussion as to what ought to be done to effect a remedy.

At length it was decided to apply several coats of paint to the sandstone to protect it from the effects of the weather. This was done, as nearly as the oldest inhabitant can recollect, about eighty years ago.

Later, as everyone knows, an iron dome was put on, but the paint was allowed to remain on the sandstone walls of the interior, and from time to time the walls were cleaned and fresh coats of paint were applied.

The exterior, of course, had to be treated in that manner because it was even more exposed to the elements than the walls, which were exposed because of the open dome.

The wings of the capital are more modern than the central portion, and they are constructed of marble, which suffers comparatively little from moisture, as they have been left in their natural condition.

Some day, if congress gets in a liberal mood, it may decree that the central portion of the building shall be faced with marble to match the newer portions. As it is, the original building might as well have been made of brick and stucco, as far as appearances and durability are concerned.

After considerable discussion, expert and otherwise, extending over a period of several years, congress finally authorized the restoration of the interior of the building, and a start was made on it two years ago.

Something was done last year also, and the exposure of the sandstone walls in their natural soft, buff tints seemed sufficient justification for the undertaking of the work.

This year the work is being carried still further, and under the direction of the superintendent, with the advice of the consulting architects, Washington artisans and artists are busy removing some fifty coats of paint to get down to the original sandstone, and removing plaster which has been in place for almost one hundred years, revealing the original brickwork, which will be again covered with a cement mortar or stucco finished in close imitation of sandstone.

Didn't Know They Were Stone.

Everyone who ever entered the western portals will remember the great stairway with the massive sides of solid stone taking the place of the ordinary handrail or balustrade—only one would hardly have thought that they were stone.

Like the greater part of the rest of the interior, these were painted, and they might have been brick and stucco or concrete, for all one could tell from their appearance. Now that the paint has been carefully removed, it can be seen that these architectural features are solid sandstone, built of massive blocks and finely finished, but with chastened severity, like most of the great building. Dainty fripperies would seem out of place in this structure.

Hereafter the great stairway will stand out as its builders intended it should—a structure of massive stone.

In the entrance on the basement floor, near this same air shaft, where the justices of the supreme court can, if they wish, take a private elevator to their quarters above, other famed columns—designed, tradition has it, by Thomas Jefferson—will also be restored to their original state, the paint of ages scraped off and their pristine beauties allowed once more to shine without apprehensions of damage from the weather.

It is estimated that this entire work will cost about $300,000, but it is being distributed over a series of years, as there was too much of it to make it feasible to do it all at once, even if congress had been willing to devote the necessary amount of money in a lump sum for that purpose. The work of renovation is taking about all the money at present that congress feels like allowing.

Nearly $50,000 was required to keep the United States Capitol building spick, span and clean during the last fiscal year and something more than $10,000 to light the Capitol grounds, while $27,500 was expended in improving the grounds. These statements are found in the report of Elliott Woods, superintendent of the Capitol building and grounds, which has just been made public.

Permanent improvements have been made in the senate wing in the form of two new passenger elevators at the east entrance, new marble floors, mantels and lavatories in the cloak rooms and crystal chandeliers in the senate cloak rooms and in several committee rooms.

Decided changes have been made in the senate restaurant. New marble floors have been laid, two private rooms for the senators have been united by cutting away the intervening wall and erecting an arch to support the ceiling; new mahogany furniture and other improvements have been added to the restaurant. Mahogany doors have been put in place in several of the committee rooms, and an ornamental stained glass skylight has been put in the main lobby, gallery floor of the senate wing.

The ladies' retiring room of the House has been moved to the room formerly occupied by the committee on foreign affairs, and the room vacated has been added to the pressrooms of the house. New cables for elevators, necessary repairs to doors, windows, roofs and floors have also formed a part of the improvement work on the House side. Considerable wiring for electric lighting has been done and chandeliers have been put up in the rooms occupied by the sergeant-at-arms, the chief clerk and at the entrance to the house basement floor. The heating, lighting and ventilating machinery has all been overhauled, the plumbing put in good order and new lavatories have been installed.

Many of the committee and other rooms have been painted, touched up or decorated.

Mr. Wood's report also covers the District courthouse, the Court of claims building, the Botanic Garden, the new Court of Appeals building for the District, the senate and house office buildings and the congressional heating, lighting and power plant. Details as to the care and progress of each of these buildings are given in the report.

SWORDS OF GENERAL GRANT.

In the National museum at Washington there is a valuable collection of swords which belonged to General Grant and which were presented to him on various occasions during his military career. The general prized these swords very highly and at the time of his bankruptcy gave them as a security for a loan. He afterwards recovered them with the proceeds of his famous Memoirs, which he wrote while slowly dying. One of the swords was presented to him at the capture of Fort Donelson. On this occasion, one of his officers, noticing that the enemy's haversacks were filled with rations, reported the fact to Grant with the words, "They have come out prepared to fight for several days."

Grant, shaking his head slowly, replied: "This means retreat. Soldiers don't fill their haversacks this way unless they are planning to decamp. Now, then, one more sharp attack and we will end this fight."

A little later Grant took possession of the fort, and in honor of his triumph a handsome sword was presented to him by G. W. Graham, C. C. March, C. W. Lagout and John Cook. It is generally known as the "Sword of Donelson," and is the one which Grant was most fond of wearing.

There are three other famous swords which were presented to Grant on occasions similar to that of his victory at Fort Donelson. They are all beautifully engraved and rest in the National museum, the favorite relics of General Grant.

MAN CHAPERONS A PARTY OF YOUNG WOMEN TOURISTS

There is one man, a member of the faculty of the University of Kansas, who has successfully played the role of chaperon to young women tourists. Prof. E. W. Murray of the department of Latin spent 70 days last summer conducting a party of young women on a sightseeing tour through several European countries.

There were 300 in the party, which left New York on June 22, and returned August 16, after having visited all of the historic spots from England south to Italy. Professor Murray was engaged as one of the 15 guides. Each guide was placed directly over a party of 20 of the young women. It was his duty to show the members of his party the different places of interest included in the itinerary.

"I must admit," Professor Murray said, "that it was an exceedingly novel experience. The fifteen guides, as we who were in charge of the tour were called, were practically the only men among the three hundred tourists. Of course, it was a busy party, and the guides were the busiest of all. It was our duty to arrange for transportation of all the members. We also engaged hotel accommodations and paid cab and street car fares, and were often compelled to stand in the middle of the street arguing with a cabman over the size of the tip he was to receive. In addition we were prepared to deliver a lecture at every place of interest. The plan of the University Travel bureau is to instruct its tourists concerning the history of all buildings, paintings and other objects of interest seen on the tour. The guide must either have seen the building or painting before or must have read a complete history concerning it, that he may transfer that knowledge to the members of his party."

"But what were your sensations as a chaperon of a party of young women?" the visitor asked.

"More peace of mind than when chaperoning a party of men," was the answer. "The women stay in the hotel at nights, while the men expect you to spend practically every evening showing them the interesting sights of the different cities. But I wouldn't care to make the same trip again. The lectures grow tiresome, especially when you are attempting to talk to tired, wornout tourists."

Professor Murray was the first of the Kansas Rhodes scholars. He has spent much of his time the last several years touring European countries and at Oxford university. He is at present secretary to the Rhodes scholars of America and is probably in closer touch with them than any other Oxford student.

A SAMURAI SOLDIER WHO HEADS NEW YORK MILITIA

Gen. William Verbeck, the chief officer of the National Guard of the state of New York, might almost be called an American Samurai. Born in Nagasaki, brought up in the strictest military discipline, mingling with Japanese boys of his own age of the higher classes, who were destined to become soldiers, entering into their games and sports with a true American zest and fervor, believing Japanese traditions and practicing with their weapons, his military environment was such that the profession of arms seemed to him as a youth the noblest in the world. By the time he had arrived at maturity, his skill in the game of war was unquestioned, and he had made himself an adept at handling Japanese weapons, even the short two-handled sword which demands such lightning-like dexterity and swiftness of eye and hand.

This liking for the clash of arms and the call of battle, says Human Life, may appear strange when taken in connection with the calling of his father, Dr. Guido Fridolin Verbeck, who went to Japan before his son's birth as a Dutch Reformed missionary in the clipper ship Surprise—a six-months' trip in the fifties.

General Verbeck remained in Japan until sixteen years of age, always in a military environment, coming, however, to California in 1880, to enlist in the Fifth California infantry, where he served successively as private, quartermaster, sergeant, sergeant major, first lieutenant, quartermaster captain, adjutant and major. Fifteen years after his arrival he was appointed commissary general of subsistence, New York National Guard, and was rendered supernumerary four years later. He joined the Forty-first Separate company as a private, New Year's day of 1889, being later commissioned second and first lieutenant and captain. For the next three years he was assistant inspector of the Fourth Brigade, and in 1907 was elected major of the third regiment of infantry, one of the crack New York commands.

SPARE MINUTE FOR THE EYES

Nothing Gives Eyes Such Complete Rest as Habit of Closing Them Occasionally.

If you will spare a minute every half hour to the eyes they may be spared to you many years in consequence.

A well-known oculist declares nothing gives the eyes such complete rest as the habit of closing them occasionally for a minute or too. In threatened cases of eyestrain he has sometimes advised no other cure and the patient has recovered his normal sight.

Where one uses the eyes constantly, especially for close work, as the woman who does fine sewing, embroidery or painting, the relief to eyes of lifting them from the work and closing them while one slowly counts twenty-five cannot be overestimated.

Another rest is to change the point of vision from time to time. Look away from what you are doing and gaze blankly into space. Do not attempt to concentrate on anything, merely look out of the window or into a distant corner of the room.

Do not begrudge the time for this eye resting. It is the best sort of investment you can make and will not take half as much time or money as visits to the oculist.

INTRODUCTION ANNOYED HER

Haughty Little Miss Shows Her Resentment When Presented to a Terrier.

There is a little East End girl, still under six, who reaches the limit in the matter of sensitiveness. Likewise, she has her points in respect to deadgameness. She was taken out to Lakewood about a week ago to spend a few days with her aunt. The little Miss played around in front of her aunt's place for awhile. Then her aunt let a playful young terrier into the yard, saying to the child:

"This is your little four-footed cousin."

Five minutes later the aunt returned to the front yard to call the kid into the house, but she wasn't anywhere to be seen. The fox terrier was playing alone. There was a scrambling hunt for the child, and all kinds of alarm, but the little girl didn't turn up. The aunt hustled to town. The little girl was home with her mother.

She had walked right to the car for town as soon as the fox terrier pup was presented to her.

"Why didn't you stay at aunty's?" her mother asked her in surprise.

"She introduced me to a dog!" replied the haughty little person.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Keep Busy.

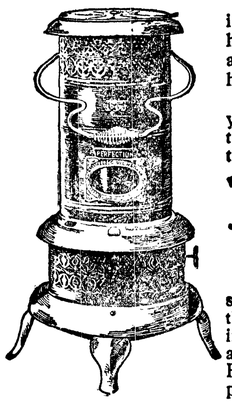
"I have known a great many men who worked hard for a competence and they loafed themselves to death. The man who does not keep busy starts down hill pretty soon and the one who gives up living interests under the notion that he is going to have a good time will soon be reading patent medicine almanacs and imagining he has all those things and then some. There is a difference between wholesome idleness and absolute loafing, if you will stop to study the matter out.

Taking Chances.

"Yes, I am booked for my first lecture, and now I am praying for a large and intelligent audience."

"You'd better confine yourself to praying for merely a large audience; if it is intelligent it may not let you finish."

Fresh Air in Winter



In winter, it is hard to get fresh air in certain rooms. Some rooms in a house are usually colder than others, and if you open the windows it is hard again to heat the room properly.

If you keep the windows closed you don't get fresh air; if you keep them open you cannot quickly reheat the room. The solves the difficulty. You can leave the windows in a room open all day in winter, and when you close them apply a match to a Perfection Oil Heater and heat the room to any temperature you desire in a few minutes.

PERFECTION SMOKELESS OIL HEATER

Absolutely smokeless and odorless

The Perfection Oil Heater is finished in japan or nickel. It burns for nine hours. It has a cool handle and a damper top. It has an automatic-locking flame spreader, which prevents the wick from being turned high enough to smoke, and is easy to remove and drop back so that the wick can be quickly cleaned. An indicator always shows amount of oil in the font

The filler-cap does not need to be screwed down. It is put in like a cork in a bottle, and is attached to the font by a chain.

The burner body or gallery cannot become wedged, because of a new device in construction, and consequently, it can always be easily unscrewed in an instant for rewicking. The Perfection Oil Heater is strong, durable, well made, built for service, yet light and ornamental.

WISE YOUNGSTER AN EXPERT

Garrulous Young Man Sure He Knew Fresh Oysters but Didn't Recognize Rubber Ones.

The garrulous young man who thinks he "knows it all," and some more besides, stood in front of the restaurant window.

"Fine jar of oysters you have in there," he commented.

"Yes," responded the corpulent proprietor, who was standing in the doorway.

"So plump and fresh-looking. When it comes to telling a fresh oyster by its appearance, I'm the candy."

"Regular expert, eh?"

"You bet! They say oysters are not running good this year, and yet those in that jar look the same as those you had in the window two years ago when oysters were plentiful."

And the restaurant proprietor's features relaxed into a pleasant smile.

"They are the same," was the quiet response. "Those are rubber oysters, for show only."

Ultra-Swell.

Little Madge of Shantytown is not so fortunate as her well-dressed sisters and is often forced to wear her mother's "hand me downs." When she appeared out on the river pier in a skirt that was so long she could scarcely walk all the gamins started to jeer her. "Get onto de umbrella cover she has on," bantered Jimmy Finn. "What do yer call it, anyhow, Madge?"

And Madge elevated her little sunpeeled nose and retorted:

"Get some sense about yer, Jimmy Finn, an' read de Paris styles once in a while. Dis is one of de new 'hobble skirts.'"

Melodrama.

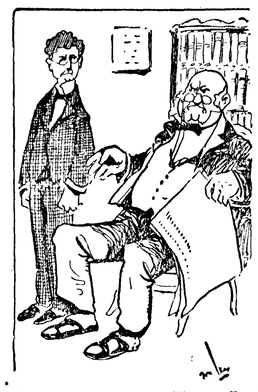
As the eighteen-carat villain leaped down from the pasteboard castle the beautiful heroine gave a shriek of despair.

"Harold McDuff!" she moaned, as the great crystal tears welled in her eyes, "you have been my undoing!"

Turning as white as a summer-boarding house sheet, the eighteen-carat villain vanished among the paper foliage. And the beautiful heroine spoke the truth.

By stepping on the train of her gown the arch conspirator had loosened two tiny hooks up near the neck.

AWFUL.



The Trust Magnate—They tell me that I am accused of being two-faced.

His Secretary—Worse than that. Why, the newspaper illustrators have run your face up into the hundreds.

The Silver Lining.

"Anyway," remarked the optimist, "there is one good feature about the tariff on wool."

"Huh!" sneered the pessimist. "I'd like to know what it is."

"Why," rejoined the optimist. "It will make it more expensive for the wolf to masquerade in sheep's clothing."

A Luckless Family.

"His father had a leg broken, his brother was run over by the trolley, and another brother had an arm broken while cranking up his auto."

"And did he escape all such serious things?"

"He got married."

A Resemblance.

"What drink is a complaint of bad electric service like?"

"I can't see that it resembles any drink."

"Why, isn't it a current whine?"

FARMING BACK IN 1800

Agriculturist Lived in the Simplest Manner and in the Strictest Economy.

In a well built cabin of logs the farmer lived in the simplest manner and with the strictest economy. His rooms were warmed and his food was cooked by a fire in a 10-plate iron stove, which sent the gases up the flue of a solitary chimney that rose from the middle of the house. His food was chiefly pork and rye, onions and sauerkraut, milk and cheese, turnips and Indian corn. Sometimes fresh meat was added. But no beeves nor sheep were slaughtered till every part of the carcass had been disposed of among the families on the neighboring farms.

With this exception, everything he ate grew upon his own land. Everything he wore was made under his own roof. The good wife and her daughters cultivated the garden patch that lay near the house, trained the honeysuckles that shaded the door, spun the flax and woolen yarn, worked the loom, made the cheese and butter and, when harvest came, toiled with the sickle in the field. If he had a servant on the farm, the man or woman was a redemptioner.—From McMaster's "History of the American People."

Primitive Paper-Making.

In Madagascar a kind of writing-paper used by some of the native notables and the fetish priests is made from the bark of a shrub named hahova. The bark fiber is boiled and macerated until a thin paste is obtained. Then a leaf of the plant called ravinia, or traveler's tea, is coated with pulp, formed from a particular kind of rice, and over this is spread the hahova paste, on both sides of the leaf. After the coating has thoroughly dried and adhered, it is polished with a smooth shell, and the paper is ready for use in writing. The manufacture of the ink employed, like that of the paper itself, is a monopoly of the notables and priests who use it. This paper may be bought by travelers at about a cent and a half per sheet, but only a few hundred sheets are produced in a month.

MUNYON'S PAW-PAW PILLS

Munyon's Paw-Paw Pills are unlike all other laxatives or cathartics. They coax the liver into activity by gentle methods. They do not scour; they do not gripe; they do not weaken; but they do start all the secretions of the liver and stomach in a way that soon puts these organs in a healthy condition and corrects constipation. In my opinion constipation is responsible for most ailments. There are thirty-two feet of human bowels which is really a sewer pipe. When this pipe becomes clogged, the whole system becomes poisoned, causing biliousness, indigestion and impure blood, which often produces rheumatism and kidney ailments. No woman who suffers with constipation of any liver ailment can expect to have a clear complexion, or enjoy good health. If I had my way, I would prohibit the sale of nine-tenths of the cathartics that are now being sold, for the reason that they soon destroy the lining of the stomach, setting up serious forms of indigestion, and so paralyze the bowels that they refuse to act unless forced by strong purgatives.

Munyon's Paw-Paw Pills are a tonic to the stomach, liver and nerves. They invigorate instead of weakening; they enrich the blood instead of impoverishing it; they enable the stomach to get all the nourishment from food that is put into it.

These pills contain no calomel, no dope, they are soothing, healing and stimulating. They school the bowels to act without physic.

LIVING IN TWO HOUSES

Various Advantages Found in Arrangement of One Home in Country.

"At a place where I lately visited," said a man just back from the country. "I found that my host had two houses which stood about two hundred feet apart. He had not built these houses but had bought them, one after the other, together with the grounds and some acreage property around them. If he had built here for himself he would doubtless have built one big house; but these two houses served his hospitable purposes and his own comfort very well.

"One of these two houses was commonly occupied as the family home and under its roof also were sheltered guests when these were few in number, but if the visitors were more numerous quarters were provided for them in the other house, which was thus practically a guest house.

"In another way the two houses served conveniently and comfortably for the family's own use. If either house was being done over or repaired or torn up in any way the family simply dwelt for the time in the other. With two houses equipped for use they can always have one in which they may live quite undisturbed."

Subjects for Big Stick.

"My great-grandfather was clever at blowing rings of smoke," began the first Ananias, as he helped himself to the crackers in the corner grocery. "Horseshoes were scarce in those days, so when he wanted to play a game of quoits he would blow rings of smoke and cover the peg every time."

"Very clever, indeed," said the second Ananias, with a smile, "but my great-grandfather was also an artist at blowing smoke rings. One day a cyclone came along and blew out his keyhole in the front door, but great-grandfather just lit his pipe, blew a smoke ring and made a new one."

THOMAS DANIELS

Thomas Daniels passed away at the home of his son, Henry, early Tuesday morning. Death was apparently the result of old age, as he was in his usual health and was found dead in his bed in the morning. Funeral services were held from the Fulmer undertaking parlors Wednesday afternoon and were conducted by Rev. Fulmer.

Mr. Daniels was born in England June 5th, 1827, and would have been 84 years old had he lived until June next.

He cast his first vote in this country for Abraham Lincoln. He was a missionary among the Chippewa Indians in Michigan firteen or twenty years and was what is known as a local minister, often filling the pulpit here in both the Methodist and Baptist churches, and was a very devout Methodist all his life. He moved to Angeles with his daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Treby, some twelve years ago and as his wife was dead made his home with them most of the time.

He was the father of ten children, only two of which survive him, namely Mrs. Samuel Treby of Seattle and his son Henry of this place. Mr. and Mrs. Treby came down from Seattle Wendesday, also her neice, Miss Laura Daniels.

Mr. Daniels was a well known and highly respected citizen in this community where he will be greatly missed by his old friends.

to the food. The food is thereby made more tasty and digestible

There is nothing that is so cheering to a mother's heart, and such a rich recompense for all she has sacrificed and endured, as the kind, affectionate remembrance of her children. There is nothing that can adorn man or woman more than the tenderness and gentle care they manifest towards their aged parents as they totter on the borders of another world.

The biggest Christmas stock in town will be found at Muskett's Santa Claus Toy Shop. It will make you long to be kids again.

Miss MacClure
