JUDGES WISH TO CHANGE JUDICIAL DISTRICT

It seems somewhat certain that an attempt will be made during the present session of the legislature which convened at Olympia Monday, to change the judicial district of which Clallam is a part. It is said that Snohomish county has gotten too big for one judge to handle, and therefore it is necessary that Island be taken from this district and spliced to Snohomish and that another judge be given the newly formed district, thus giving practically two judges to Snohomish county, as the little business of Island county will give the judge of that county the bulk of his time in the city of smokestacks. Clallam can have little objection to this plan, provided that the law makers stop at taking away Island county from the district. But if they attempt to place us in a district with Kitsap and Jefferson, we fear that we will be out into the fire for a certainty. Clallam and Jefferson can get along very nicely in a judicial district by themselves, and are willing to keep Island county in the district, but to have Kitsap county substituted will mean that we will have an inferior service, and that Kitsap with a population nearly equal to that of both Jefferson and Clallam and directly across from Seattle will monopolize the attention of the court. To have a joint judicial district comprise simply Jefferson and Clallam will give us an improved service at practically the same cost as at present, as Island county only pays a small per cent. of the judge's salary and with a resident judge, either Clallam or Jefferson could do away with the court commissioner who draws $600 per year. Action will be watched with interest.

F. L. Buzzell of Butte, Mont., for eighteen years a minister, will speak at Haning Hall Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock, on "The Mission of Socialism." Ladies are especially requested to attend.

The Brotherhood meeting of the First Congregational church has been postponed from next Monday evening to Monday, January 23rd. It is expected that Mr. Wilcox, of Tacoma, will address the meeting at that time.

SALE ON BOOKS

We had too many books left in the Henty, Alger, Optic, Castleman, Mead, Carey and Alcott series, so have prepared a 25 cent table including all the above books, and many others selling formerly for 50c to 75c per volume.

Make your selections at once if you wish to get a good choice.

PUBLICITY EXPERT HAS BEEN ENGAGED

Big Effort Will Be Made to Provide for Extensive Advertising Campaign During 1911.

It was definitely decided, at a meeting of the Commercial Club held Tuesday, to engage the services of Thomas Richardson as a first step in a new and extensive publicity campaign. Mr. Richardson is a man of national prominence in his line, that of organizzation of commercial bodies, planning their work, and devising ways and means of carrying it on. He was for some time the active force back of Portland's advertising campaign; he organized the Tacoma Boosters Club which did such good work; he put new life into Seattle's Chamber of Commerce, and has started many of the smaller western cities on the way to rapid growth and development. The $500 for his services for a week in February was readily contributed by a few of those having considerable interests in the county.

Mr. Aldwell announced at the meeting of the club that his partner, Mr. Glines, was very much interested in the prospective work and would be here during that week to assist; also Mr. Brewer of the water works company, and others, had promised to be present at the first meetings and would contribute liberally toward the fund to be raised.

It was also planned to arrange with Mr. Weeks for the opening of an office in Milwaukee, during the time he is to be there abstracting for that county, and for purchase of advertising space, to the end that he might properly present the advantages of this section to all those interested in the West. Mr. Weeks is an interesting and convincing public speaker and, with the aid of stereopticon views, as he plans, could certainly do a great deal of good. Mr. Weeks expressed himself as being particularly interested in the establishment of a fruit cannery, believing that in Milwaukee, the center of that line of industry, a man or men with practical experience can easily be induced to come out here and start in, in a small way, just as the cannery men have done at Puyallup, near Tacoma. Being able to contract for the sale of large quantities of vegetables in advance of the planting season, and having a dependable market for berries of all kinds, the ranchers of that valley immediately entered the new field of activity, just as they have in so many, many other localities in the country, with the result that the Puyallup valley is now one of the most advanced and prosperous in the state—a condition to which Port Angeles and vicinity should have long ago attained.

THE ROAD SUPERVISORS

The new board of county commissioners met Monday pursuant to law and organized by electing K. O Erickson chairman.

The resignation of Garfield Davis, game warden, was accepted, and John W. Pike appointed to fill vacancy.

New road supervisors were appointed as follows: Dist. No. 1, F. J. Ward; No. 2, Joseph Pearson; No. 3, John A. Green; No. 4, Henry Marshall.

There will be the usual service in St. Andrew's church on Sunday next by the Rev. Dr. King of Seattle. 11 a. m., morning prayer and sermont subject, "Believe," or the subject; of creeds. 7:30, Evensong, subject, "The Church in the World." Sunday School 10 a. m.

According to a canvass made by a representative of the New York Herald there will be in the new House of Representatives of the United States 286 members who favor tariff revision out of a total membership of 391.

Saturday, January 28th, is the date set for the children's fancy dress party or masquerade at Parish Hall.

NEW COUNCIL GOING AFTER BRIDGES

Appointment of City Marshal Held Up for Another Week. Liquor Licenses All On Same Basis.

The city council held a busy meeting Tuesday evening, and before a full house. Several matters were taken up, but no conclusion reached on them.

City Attorney-elect James Stewart was sworn in by Mayor Mead.

Upon motion of O'Brien, it was ordered that a stove and pipe, not to exceed $8 in cost, be purchased for use at the cemetery.

Councilman Elliott stated that McDonnell & Sons, L. A. Kempton, F. F. Miller and P. Grubb had complied with order of council pay in balance of liquor licenses for unexpired term at the rate of $600. After much discussion this was declared to be satisfactory to the council.

Appointment of Garfield Davis as City Marshal was taken up, and, on motion of O'Brien, the matter was laid over one week, Myers, Dustman, Elliott, and O'Brien voting aye, Grubb, Fitzgerald and Gardner voting no. It was moved and carried that the clerk prepare an assessment roll, according to report submitted by Street Supt. Small, showing cost against property owners on Oak street for sidewalk built and turn same over to city treasurer for collection.

Upon motion of Dustman it was ordered that the street superintendent be instructed to clean up all refuse lumber from sidewalk building, store the good and destroy the balance.

Street lights were ordered placed at intersection of Front and Francis and First and Eunice.

On motion of O'Brien matter of work on road to cemetery was referred to cemetery committee and city engineer.

Upon motion of Myers city police judge was required to give bond in the sum of $500, and procure police docket register and keep a record of all arrests and fines, record to be kept in city hall.

Street committee instructed to confer with county commissioners in regard to bridging Valley and Tumwater gulches.

A special committee, consisting of Grubb, Myers, City Attorney and Mayor was appointed to draft rules for government of council.

The bonds of city attorney, street superintendent and engineer were approved.

NEW FACES AT COURT HOUSE

Monday being the first day of the official new year at the court house, John Hansen and Frank Lotzgesell, commissioners; C. L. Babcock, treasurer; R. D. McLaughlin, auditor; James R. Gallagher, sheriff; and John Hallahan, assessor, entered upon their duties as county officials, Mrs. Ina M. McNutt, superintendent of schools, will assume the duties of her office September 1st next.

Thus the new year makes seven changes in the personnel of our county officials. Six of these officials are in possession of their respective offices and have records to make. Few people, if any, doubt that they will make popular and painstaking officials. They are known to be competent, and we have no reason to believe that they will fail to do their duty The people elected them for that purpose and as they are all men of integrity it is safe to say that the affairs of their respective offices will be carefully managed. The Olympic-Leader wishes each and every one of them all kinds of success.

The outgoing officials retire with the respect and good will of all. They have had their time, and the fortune of politics has ousted them. That they were faithful and capable officials is evinced by the fact that they were continued in office the full term of four years, as the law contemplates. May happiness and prosperity be theirs.

ROAD DISTRICT LINES CHANGED

District No. 2 Now Includes Morse Creek on the East and Most of Lake-Sappho Road on West.

Road and Bridge District No. 2 was enlarged, at the meeting of the Board Monday, to include Morse creek on the east and Pysht on the west. This move, long contemplated by successive Boards, has as long been postponed, to the continued disadvantage of the people living within the included territory. It has remained for the 1911 Board, composed of men whose one hobby is the development of the roads of the entire county for the benefit of the people living in the county, to take the much to be desired step.

The Mt. Pleasant farming district, largest in the vicinity of Port Angeles, lying right back of town, has been compelled to pay its road taxes yearly into the coffers of District No. 1 and to see practically the entire amount expended on the roads about Port Williams and Sequim, 18 miles to the east. Morse creek hill is without any exception the worst piece of road in the county today, making an almost complete barrier between the eastern and middle sections of the county, a condition of affairs of advantage solely to two or three of the mercantile establishments in the East End. With the western confines of District No. 1 abutting Port Angeles, all residents to the east of town have been at the mercy of the East End commissioner. The new members propose to use the funds raised upon property contiguous to the Burlingame road for the improvement of that trunk line.

The western boundary line, which runs south from the straits for two townships between ranges 11 and 12, then west one township to within a mile of Beaver, then south again, has been established for practically the same reason. The commissioners are determined that the people of the west shall have an outlet independent of steamboat transportation, and, whatever the legislature may do with regard to the state road law, the road from Lake Crescent to Sappho will be built.

The taxes for 1911, however, will go thru the old channels

A DECIDED INNOVATION

Treasurer W. L. Babcock evidently believes in the old saw, "A new broom sweeps clean," and his assistants are all new men. Most people will approve of the innovation, and it certainly is one for a Clallam county official. The average voter believes that the spirit as well as the letter of the law should be observed, which in this state is four years and out, and that an official should not connive with his deputy for rotation in office. Occasionally we find a man who exclaims, "Shall years of experience and ability be turned down for years of inexperience", and that so and so can handle the business of his office better than a new man. This is often the cry of the one who wants to hang on. He forgets that there are as good fish in the sea out of it. Mr. Babcock has appointed a force of efficient and trustworthy assistants and is to be commended for his action in the premises.

Minor Happenings of the Week

A woman suffrage amendment has been introduced in the California legislature.

United States Senator Stephen B. Elkins died last week at his Washington home after a long illness.

The American Smelting & Refining Company has increased its capital stock from $100,000,000 to $115,000,000.

Frederick W. Plaisted has taken oath of office as governor of Maine. He is the first Democratic governor of that state in thirty years.

Luther Burbank announces the creation of a new type of strawberry, the "Patagonia," which ripens earliest and continues to bear the longest. A single berry sometimes weighs an ounce.

Much activity was shown by the four women members of the lower house in the convening of the Eighteenth Colorado general assembly last week. One of them made a nominating speech, named a temporary clerk and introduced a resolution.

The annual message of Gov. Foss of Masaschusetts assailing the bossism of corporations and advocating initiative and referendum, has been sent to the legislature. He urged that the use of private vehicles to convey voters to the polls be prohibited.

After twelve years' hard work the authors of the railway bill have won and the city council has decided to build a "north and south" railway across Berlin. The proposal was adopted unanimously, and it is hoped that work will be begun at once.

Prosecution by the government to dissolve the Standard Oil and American Tobacco trusts will be taken up by the supreme court for the second time within a few days. The Standard Oil case is considered the most important that ever came before the court.

A general corporation tax, levied against companies chartered in Michigan and not now paying such a tax, is recommended in the message of Gov. Osborn, sent to the legislature. The governor also recommends that express rates on interstate traffic be regulated.

Peru has agreed to submit its boundary dispute with Ecuador to the arbitration of The Hague tribunal. This is in compliance with the suggestion contained in the joint note recently presented to the two republics by the mediating powers, the United States, Brazil and Argentina.

Charles F. Johnson, of Waterville, Democratic candidate for governor of Maine in 1892 and again in 1894, a member of the state Board of Legal Examiners and a leading lawyer, was nominated on the first ballot at the Democratic caucus to succeed United States Senator Eugene Hale at the expiration of the latter's term on March 4th.

PROGRESSIVES WANT PUBLICITY FOR COMMITTEE MEETINGS

Washington, Jan. 7.—Two important amendments to the house rules, one intended to outflank the regulars in their fight against the insurgent rule as to discharging committees from consideration of the bills and the other to throw committee meetings open to the public, have been introduced by Representative Norris, of Nebraska, who led the insurgent Republicans in their great rules fight last March.

The resolution to meet the recent ruling of Speaker Cannon that on motion to discharge a committee from further considertaion of a bill the bill must be read in its entirety, provides that in the consideration of such a motion in the house, the measure shall be read by the title only.

Mr. Norris believes this will meet the attempt of the regular Republicans to deprive the insurgents' rule of its effectiveness, for under the ruling the reading of a bill might occupy all the remaining available time of a session of congress.

The public committee meeting on resolution, based upon the contention that secrecy of committee transactions is contrary to public policy, provides that unless otherwise ordered by the house, the business of all standing, select and special committees shall be made public, including the record of all votes taken.

Ohio to Elect Pomerene.

Columbus, O., Jan. 7.—Atlee Pomerene, of Canton, will be elected United States senator from Ohio at a joint session of the general assembly next Wednesday, as a result of the action taken at a joint caucus of Democrats. Pomerene won the caucus nomination on the first ballot, on which he received 45 votes, the exact number required.

To Regulate Aviation.

Sacramento, Cal., Jan. 7.—Regulation of aviation and aviators is provided for in a bill which Senator Hare of San Francisco is preparing. The recent deaths of Hoxsey and Moissant have caused Hare to look into the question of prepenting accidents.

Washington State News Items

The Everett street car strike has been settled and most of the men have returned to work.

Two hundred game pheasants valued at $3,500 were liberated last week by Game Warden W. W. Thompson of Pierce county. Another lot of 60 will be liberated soon.

Chehalis postoffice receipts were $2,000 more last year than in 1909.

Students in the course of journalism have organized a fraternity chapter at the state university.

The charge of perjury standing against State Insurance Commissioner J. H. Schively since June, 1909, has been dismissed on motion of the prosecuting attorney's office at Spokane.

The cost of making grain bags at the state prison is being investigated, following a statement made by Samuel Hill that the sacks cost more than the figure at which they were sold. The farmers demanded that this be proved, fearing the mill would be abolished.

More railroad construction work was done in the state of Washington during 1910 than in any other state in the United States except Texas, according to compilations just made by the Railroad and Engineering Review. Approximately 463 miles of new road was built in this state during the year.

J. D. Crary, acting for Eastern capitalists, has purchased 1,000,000,000 feet of Chehalis county timber for $1,000,000 from Eugene France and Edward Lowe, and timber from A. P. Stockwell for $350,000. The new company will be known as the Warren Company of Grays Harbor.

State Auditor C. W. Clausen estimates the amount needed for the state departments during the ensuing year will be at least 10 per cent higher than during the year just ended, $6,000,000. Most of the state officials are asking increases ranging from 5 to 30 per cent.

In an effort to stimulate traffic to Seattle and the Pacific Northwest the Gould system of railroads, including the Missouri Pacific, the Denver & Rio Grande and the Western Pacific, have inaugurated a campaign of publicity by which they are calling attention to their new service to Seattle and exploiting the resources of the Puget Sound country.

SUIT TO DISSOLVE STEAMSHIP COMBINE

New York, Jan. 7.—The federal government has brought suit in the United States circuit court under the Sherman anti-trust law against thirteen of the principal transatlantic carriers, which are estimated to control 90 per cent of the steerage traffic, worth to them $55,000,000 a year.

Twelve officers of the defendant companies, all resident in America, are named as co-defendants.

Illegal Contract.

These companies, the government charges, entered into an illegal contract February 5, 1908, at London, England, by which they constituted themselves the Atlantic Conference, with power to apportion all traffic prorata, impose heavy fines on members of the conference for violation of any article of agreement and wage competition against all lines outside the conference.

Driven Off Seas.

As a result, it is alleged, the Russian volunteer fleet, plying between New York and Libau, was driven out of business and the Russian-American line was forced to make terms with the conference and enter its membership.

Suit was brought by Henry A. Wise, United States district attorney, acting under instructions from Attorney General Wickersham. In its petition the government prays the court to "enjoin the defendants from further agreeing, combining and conspiring to injure or destroy the business of any person or corporation engaged in the business of carrying steerage passengers between points in the United States and Europe.

To Check Clearings.

"Further, that each, every and all of the defendant steamship lines be forbidden to clear any of their vessels from or at the port of New York or any other port of entry in the United States or any of its possessions, so long as they shall continue to operate under the aforesaid alleged unlawful combination or conspiracy."

BOUNDARY DISPUTE DISCUSSED AT PORTLAND.

Portland, Ore., Jan. 7.—The members of the joint state commission of Oregon and Washington appointed to determine the boundry dispute between the two states met Friday, preliminary to taking a trip down the Columbia river to visit the disputed territory, which consists chiefly of islands in the lower Columbia. Important fishing rights are involved in the dispute.

Plan Ship Yard at Esquimalt.

Victoria, B. C., Jan. 7.—It is reported here that Vickers, Maxim & Sons, the British shipbuilders, will associate with the British Columbia marine railway to establish a large dry dock and big shipbuilding plant at Esquimalt, for the construction of the Pacific squadron of two cruisers and three destroyers for Canada's new navy.

STATE LEGISLATURE ORGANIZES FOR REGULAR BIENNIAL SESSION

Olympia, Jan. 9.—Both houses of the state legislature convened today. The senate elected W. H. Paulhamus, of Pierce, president, while the house designated Howard D. Taylor, of King, speaker.

Chairmen of the leading house committees are announced as follows:

Appropriations—James H. Davis, Pierce.

Banks and banking—J. E. Leonard, Lewis.

Congressional apportionment—G. B. Webster, King.

Fisheries—D. N. McMillan, Whatcom.

Insurance—William Wray, King.

Irrigation and arid lands—George E. Dickson, Kittitas.

Judiciary—Edgar J. Wright, King.

Labor and labor statistics—Guvnor Teats, Pierce.

Roads and bridges—James McNealy, Pierce.

Municipalities of the first class—H. D. Buchanan, King.

Revenue and taxation—J. C. Hubbell, Kittitas.

Railroads—E. E. Halsey, Asotin.

Harbors and waterways—C. H. Ennis, King.

Senate Committee Chairmen.

Following are the important senate committees and the chairmen:

Appropriations, J. A. Falconer, Snohomish; banks and banking, E. C. Davis, Grant; cities of the first class, R. D. Nichols, King; corporations other than municipal, A. S. Ruth, Thurston; dairy and live stock, D. S. Troy, Jefferson; education, J. D. Bassett, Adams; educational institutions, Dan Landon, King; elections and privileges, J. W. Bryan, Kitsap; fisheries, Emerson Hammer, Skagit; insurance, John A. Whalley, King; judiciary, Harry Rosenhaupt, Spokane; municipal corporations other than first class, F. J. Allen, Yakima; railroads and transportation, D. H. Cox, Walla Walla; roads and bridges H. O. Fishback, Lewis; state granted school and tide lands, Pliny L. Allen, King.

A bill appropriating $75,000 for the expenses of the legislature, which is $10,000 less than the appropriation of two years ago, passed both houses.

A joint resolution urging congress to recognize the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco passed both houses. The legislature will meet again tomorrow at 10 o'clock.

Senate Employes.

The following officers and employes were then elected:

Secretary—William T. Laube, King.

Sergeant-at-arms—John D. Logan, Douglas.

Postmaster—Arthur Sprague, Spokane.

Doorkeeper—W. W. Swing, Jefferson.

Bill clerk—A. J. Hoskins, Stevens.

Until the rules comimttee gets to work, the rules of the eleventh session will control the senate.

President Paulhamus appointed Senator J. R. Stevenson, Josiah Collins and Jesse Huxtable to notify the house that the senate was organized and ready for business.

Portland, Ore., Jan. 9.—The Sunday Oregonian puolishes the following forecast of the matters likely to occupy a prominent place during the present legislative session at Olympia:

Hardly a day goes by but some new wrinkles for reform are advanced by members of the Legislature. The insurance question is going to be a big one and one that will cause a nasty fight. The insurance code commission, which is going to revise the insurance laws of Washington, in addition to recommending that the office of insurance commissioner be made appointive instead of elective, as it was prior to 1907, is said to have unearthed some interesting data concerning the insurance business in Washington, to put before the members of the Legislature, and some startling developments are expected.

Liability Law Probable.

On top of this, the commission appointed to draft an employe's compensation or employer's liability law, has recommended for passage a bill of great magnitude; in reality, the bill is more far-reaching than is ordinarily supposed. It is admitted by those in authority that if the continental system of pensions is adopted, that it is less than a step to the establishing of old-age pensions. The bill bears the indorsement of the big manufacturers of the state and many of the leading union labor leaders, and is reported to be approved by unorganized labor.

Many have forgotten that the report of the investigating committee of the various offices is to come up for consideration at this session. Embodied in this report is a long series of recommendations in regard to the state land office. The proposition has been advanced to wipe out the office as now constituted and to have a board of three land commissioners, one of whom is to be elected and two to be appointed. This will meet with more or less opposition from various sources and is bound to stir up trouble. Already a bill has been drawn to have the money now held in the name of the land commissioner deposited so that the state will draw interest on it.

Daily Balance $200,000.

The report shows that in the past five years this money amounted to an average daily balance of $200,000. This money does not belong to the state, but is simply held in trust by the land commissioner on behalf of the applicants to purchase state lands. It is not charged at any time that this money has been misused or that any one has gained unlawful profit from it, but those who advocate the reform declare that the state, being responsible for the money should draw interest on it instead of having it lie idle in the bank.

For 50 of the 60 days during the last session, the members of the Legislature were lined up in bitter factions over the local option question. An effort will be made to keep the liquor question out of the coming session, but it is likely to result in failure for the reason that the "drys" have announced that they will be able to put through a county unit measure. In addition to this, a bill has been drawn which provides for the South Carolina dispensary system to be worked in conjunction with the local option law. Under the South Carolina system, the state would take over the liquor business and regulate its sale; in short, make it a state monopoly. There are also bills drawn providing for statewide prohibition.

Roads Fight Due.

There has never been a session of the Legislature in which the good roads question has not come up. The 1911 Legislature is going to have a long and bitter fight over this proposition. Attacks have been made upon the present state-aid law and upon the one mill tax made for state road purposes, and it has been charged that the state highway commissioner is inefficient. These matters have been threshed out in the good roads association, but from all reports, the legislators themselves are far from a unit upon any one proposition. They are agreed that state aid is a good thing, but it is a question of what kind of state aid they want. The investigating committee that probed the charges against the highway department exonerated the highway commissioner and showed that he was running his office in a highly efficient manner.

Then there will be bills to reform everybody and everything in sight. The cigarette law passed by the last Legislature was held to be unconstitutional. It is coming up again. The criminal code has been attacked from all sides and not only will an effort be made to repeal certain sections of it, but also the whole bill. A fight is to be made on the state tax commission and on the state bureau of inspection. How far the opponents of those two bodies will go is hard to estimate, but both are coming in for some severe criticism.

The school system is also under the searchlight in certain quarters. It is charged the taxes are too high, that the higher educational institutions are costing too much money and some want the institutions shifted around and the State Board of Control to take complete charge of the financial end of these institutions.

Two Counties Want Division.

With all these matters before them, the Legislature will also have to deal with at least two county division fights, as Stevens county and Okanogan county want to be divided. The counties along the Columbia river are going to ask permission to bond themselves for the improvement of that stream and will ask for state aid in this connection. Every section west of the Cascades that has any kind of a stream flowing through it, is going to ask the state to help hold it in check during the high water season. Everett, Aberdeen, Walla Walla and North Yakima are anxious to have armories for their companies of militia.

In 1907 the Legislature broke all records by having a $5,000,000 budget; in 1909, $10,000,000 was spent, and the 1911 session promises to exceed the latter, for the State Board of Control is asking for the state institutions a sum which with that asked by the higher institutions of learning exceeds $5,000,000. A financial policy to meet the heavy demands will have to be outlined. The proposition has been advanced to bond the granted lands of the various institutions to raise money for them, and it is also planned to bond the state capitol land grant in order to get money to build the new statehouse in Olympia. However, if this bond issue is granted, it means a reduction of a similar sum from the appropriations made in 1909, for while the Legislature authorized the sale of this land in 1909, it has never been sold and the money realized.

Water Control Sought.

There will also be introduced bills to have the state take over the complete control of all waters in the state. A bill will be introduced to have one commission to handle all state departments that are now handled by the various boards, commissioners and individual heads of departments who are appointed. Another bill proposes to make the railorad commission a public utilities commission, and to give that body complete supervision and control over all public service corporations, both private and municipal, while a second commission will handle the other departments.

There are now 23 department heads in the state, aside from those elected and an effort will be made to cut the number down, and there is some question as to whether it will be successful or not. No session would be complete without a fight for additional superior court judges, and King county has already started this by the announcement that it intends to get at least one if not two more judges. An effort will also be made to raise the pay of the superior court judges, while the salaries of all state officers will perhaps be advanced.

As usual, there is talk of holding a short session instead of keeping the Legislature in Olympia for the full 60 days. That talk is like all other talk of the kind; it will never be anything but talk. There may be an attempt made to move the capital, but those who are seeking to take it from Olympia will have to secure the aid of King and Pierce counties before an effective fight can be made, and it is generally believed that they will make but litlte headway in that respect.

The direct primary law is also going to come up for consideration and an effort will be made to place the supreme court nominations back within its provisions. Likewise, efforts will be made to limit the injunctive powers of the court and to keep interstate corporations doing a strictly state business in the Washington courts, and also to limit the power of judges to punish for contempt committed outside of the court room.

Women now have the power to vote and hold office in Washington, and it is predicted that this will be the last session composed entirely of men. A bill is being drawn and will be introduced to exempt women from jury duty.

That the initiative and referendum will be submitted by the coming Legislature in the form of a constitutional amendment is probable. The main question now apparently is to raise the percentage of signers as high as possible for initiating a law in order to keep down expenses. Extremists are proposing, once the initiative and referendum is adopted, to abolish the Legislataure as now constituted, and in its place to have a commission of from three to 12 members to meet the year around to consider and draw up bills to be presented to the voters in legal form and to prevent a conflict in laws.

The lawmakers are, in any event, bound to have an interesting time while in Olympia, and whether or not it is the last session composed entirely of men or is the final session of the Legislature as now constituted, it is most certain to be a memorable one.

WILLING TO TAKE ALL CITIZENSHIP RESPONSIBILITY

Spokane, Jan. 9.—Prominent workers in the suffrage movement, members of exclusive clubs and scores of working women in Spokane are writing letters to Governor M. E. Hay, urging him to deny the petitions of women electors requesting to be relieved from jury duty if called upon for service.

"When I asked for the privilege of citizenship," said Mrs. May Arkwright Hutton, president of the Washington Equal Suffrage League, "I was ready and willing to accept all the requirements. I am willing to serve on a jury and will do so without protest, if called to that or any other duty required by the state."

Mrs. Hutton is the wife of Levi W. Hutton, a millionaire mining operator, and has extensive interests in Spokane and the Couer d'Alene mining district in Northern Idaho. She financed a state wide campaign for equal rights in 1910 and was a factor in securing the ballot for women at the last state election.

Mrs. A. P. Fassett, who has been identified with the suffrage and other woman's movements in Spokane for years, said:

"I have written to Governor Hay, asking him to refuse to take any action on the petitions of women voters requesting to be released from jury duty. I have also interested a large number of club women to write similar letters.

"When I worked for equal suffrage I fully understood all the duties that would devolve upon the women as voters. I am afraid now that if the women start to balk at sitting on a jury they will lose their right of franchise."

That the women of Spokane are interested in the ballot is evidenced by the large number regitsering for the spring election in March, when five commissioners will be chosen to replace the present city government, headed by Mayor Nelson S. Pratt.

"Canned" War Dance Songs.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 7.—Three graphaphone records of rare value have been received by First Assistant Abbott, of the bureau of Indian affairs. These records contain genuine reproductions of the war dance songs of the Bannock Indians of Idaho and were made by Ralph W. Dixie, an Indian ranchman of the Fort Hall reservation in that state. Dixie went to one of the dances and made the records unbeknown to participants. Indians, as a rule, are somewhat superstitious about such matters and it would have been almost impossible to get them to carry on their dances for "canned purposes.

$4,000,000 Order for Engines.

Philadelphia, Jan. 7.—Announcement has been made here that a contract for 190 engines had been awarded the Baldwin Locomotive works of this city by the Harriman railroad system and that the price is between $3,500,000 and $4,000,000. The contract called for the delivery of the engines during the spring and summer of this year, and the order insures steady employment to thousands of men until next fall.

Natural Gas in Wyoming.

Omaha, Jan. 7.—A telegram from Upton, Wyo., about 50 miles southwest of Lea, S. D., says there is great excitement there over the striking of a strong flow of natural gas in a well sunk by C. L. Young inside the city limits. Other wells will be sunk at once.

FIVE CONGRESSMEN FOR WASHINGTON

BASIS FOR REAPPORTIONMENT TENTATIVELY AGREED ON BY COMMITTEE.

House Membership to Be Increased to 433 at Which Figure No State Would Have Representation Numerically Reduced.

THREEE PATS)9:'7oddebe?nceO—os

Washington, Jan. 7.—Congressional reapportionment under the new census figures so as to increase the membership of the house to 433 was the plan tentatively favored by the house committee on census at a meeting yesterday. This figure will protect each state from diminished numerical representation and is exclusive of Arizona and New Mexico. The committee will meet again on Tuesday.

The apportionment bill introduced by Chairman Crumpacker fixes the membership of the house at 433. The bill was refered immediately to the census committee, where the entire subject was taken up.

The apportionment under the proposed arrangment will be:

Alabama, 10; Arkansas, 7; California, 11; Colorado, 4; Connecticut, 5; Delaware, 1; Florida, 4; Georgia,12; Idaho, 2; Illinois, 27; Indiana, 13; Iowa, 11; Kansas, 8; Kentucky, 11; Louisiana, 8; Maine, 4; Maryland, 6; Massachusetts, 16; Michigan, 13; Minnesota, 10; Mississippi, 8; Missiouri, 16; Montana, 2; Nebraska, 6; Nevada, 1; New Hampshire, 2; New Jersey, 12; New York, 43; North Carolina, 10; North Dakota, 3; Ohio, 22; Oklahoma, 8; Oregon, 3; Pennsylvania, 36; Rhode Island, 3; South Carolina, 7; South Dakota, 3; Tennessee, 10; Texas, 18; Utah, 2; Vermont, 2; Virginia, 10; Washington, 5; West Virginia, 6; Wisconsin, 11; Wyoming, 1.

PUGET SOUND COMMERCE SHOWS GREAT ADVANCE

Port Townsend, Jan. 7.—According to the records in the custom house the business of the Puget Sound collection district show that 1910 was the banner year in the matter of collections and imports, while the exports will exceed those of the year 1909, but not those of the three previous years. During the year ending December 31, 1910, the collections from all sources reached the enormous figures of $1,818,974.65, which is the largest in the hitsory of the district and is an increase of about 250 per cent since the year 1905. Of the total amount of collections Seattle contributed $1,084,512.74, or $346,051.87 more than the other eighteen ports in the district, which includes Tacoma, Everett and Bellingham.

The exports for the year reached a value of $30,353,477, or nearly one million dollars more than during the year 1909. Seattle leads all other ports in the district in the matter of exports with $11,782,470 to its credit. Tacoma was a close second with $11,079,726, while the remainder of the $20,353,477 is credited to the other seventeen ports.

The imports were $32,356,217, which is an increase of nearly 300 per cent, in the past six years and 20 per cent over last year. Seattle imported $16,461,777 or more than one-half of the entire district. The imports of Tacoma during the same period were $10,936,013.

Alaska cuts an important figure in the commerce of this district, as its business amounts to nearly one-half of the business of the entire district. The value of merchandise of all kinds shipped to that section during 1910 is $13,869,033, or an increase of more than 200 per cent, as compared with the year 1904.

TWO APPORTIONMENT BILLS NOW BEFORE CONGRESS

Washington, Jan. 9.—Two bills providing for reapportionment of the country for representation in congress have been presented to the house by Chairman Crumpacker, of the house committee on census.

One bill is based upon a continuance of the present membership of 391. This will fix the basis of representation at one congressman for every 234,000 people in the United States.

The other bill fixes a representation of one congressman for each 211,877 inhabitants, making a total membership of 433.

Chairman Crumpacker has offered the two bills in order that both may be formally considered by the committee. After introduction in the house they will be referred back to Mr. Crumpacker's committee.

Interstate Commission Upheld.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 7.—The attitude of the interstate commerce commission in refusing to take jurisdiction over the common carriers of Alaska, so as to require them to file schedules of rates, has been sustained by the supreme court of the District of Columbia, which declined to grant a mandamus sought by the Humboldt Steamship Company of California to compel the commission to take such jurisdiction.

Urges Election by Primary Plan.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 9.—Asking that Wall st. be no longer allowed to select the nation's president, La Follette's Magazine in an editorial urges the election of delegates to the national convention of 1912 at direct primaries.

JAPANSSE DISAVOW WAR SPIRIT

AMERICAPHOBIA ACCREDITED TO JAPAN UNKNOWN IN THAT COUNTRY.

Foreigners Assured That Japan Is Neither at Present Nor in the Future in a Fighting Mood—Not Now in Position to Go to War With Any Power.

Victoria, B. C., Jan. 7.—Japanese newspapers received yesterday devote much space to comments on the dispatches regarding the inadequacy of the Pacific Coast defenses of the United States. The Japanese editors protest against the inference that Japan is unfriendly to the United States.

Collating a number of comments, the Eibun Tsusnin, a Tokyo news agency, says:

"It is strange but true that the fever of Americaphobia supposed to be rife in Japan is not known in Japan."

The news agency says Japan will not be swayed by sensational newspaper reports, but criticises them as likely to cause ill feeling between the two countries. In its disclaimer, the Elbun Tsushin says:

"It has often been pointed out that America and Japan have disagreed upon various points of interest of late and that the policy pursued by America for the last few years has seriously affected the position of Japan in the Far East and that if there is any country for which Japan is making her military preparations that country is America.

"Nothing could be further from the truth. In spite of these superficial observations, it must be stated candidly that Japan is not in a position to fight against a foreign country, be it America, or England or Germany. Whenever there are some points of discussion it has always been suggested by Americans that the Japanese are a fighting race and the interests of America in the East and on the Pacific will be crossed by the Japanese. Such is a mere notion that has no political bearing with the real question at issue.

"While we admit that Japan and America have great interests in China these interests are of a commercial character and will not affect in the least degree the political and similar positions commanded by both these countries. What reason could there be in advocating in any way a war between Japan and America? Foreigners may be assured that Japan is neither at present nor in the future in a fighting mood because all the Japanese in spite of the increasing population and other considerations find the fact that it does not pay to fight with a country which is superior in every respect to her."

Treaty Revision Desired.

Victoria, B. C., Jan. 9.—The Empress of Japan brings advices that the Japanese government will seek, when the revision of the treaty is made next summer, to have the last clause eliminated, thus removing the restriction upon Japanese immigration.

ANNUAL FIRE LOSS SHOWS LARGE INCREASE.

Chicago, Jan. 7.—Statistics made public here show that losses by fire in the Uuited States and Canada, in 1910, amounted to $234, 470,750, or over $30,000,000 more than the losses in 1909. December losses were exceptionally heavy, aggregating $21,528,000.

There were thirty-six fires during the year, which caused a damage of $500,000 or more and in ten the losses exceeded $1,000,000 each. In only two preceding years have the fire losses been heavier than in 1910, one being the year of the Chicago fire, the other of the San Francisco fire.

Federal and state officials agree that the majority of these losses are preventable. In spite of the increasing losses, it is stated that the average rate of fire insurance shows a reduction in 1910.

ORAL ARGUMENTS IN BIG TRUST CASES NOW ON

Washington, Jan. 7.—Oral argument of the proposed dissolution of the so-called "tobacco trust" began late yesterday in the supreme court. As a year ago, when the dissolution suit was argued for the first time before the court, so yesterday J. C. McReynolds, special assistant to the attorney general, made the opening address.

He had not concluded his remarks when court adjourned until Monday. By arrangement, counsel on both sides agreed to conclude their arguments in twelve hours.

This will bring the close of the presentation about 3 p. m. next Wednesday. At that time the Standard Oil dissolution suit will be taken up for oral argument.

Smelter Trust Stock Increases.

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 7.—The American Smelting & Refining Company filed an amended certificate of incorporation today with the secretary of state, increasing its capital stock to $115,000,000. Its capital stock was previously $100,000,000.

MORE INSTRUCTORS DESIRED BY UNIVERSITY OFFICIALS

Seattle, Jan. 7.—In his recommendation to the coming session of the Washington state legislature on the biennial appropriation bill, President Thomas F. Kane, of the University of Washington, shows the great progress made by the state institution during the past two years, and offers the prediction of a still more staisfactory growth in the immediate future.

The amount asked from the state for the support of the university during the next two years is considerably in excess of the amount heretofore granted, but according to President Kane, it is no more than the exigencies of the occasion demand.

Shows Need of Teachers.

On account of the 35 per cent increase in attendance, the addition of forty teachers and instructors is deemed necessary, and even this increase in the teaching facilities will leave the University of Washington with more actual students to the teacher than are found at any other university of its class among state universities, save Kansas, Texas and Missouri. The ratio as planned will be fifteen students per instructor for Washington, whereas California and Stanford have one instructor for eight pupils.

Plan to Raise Salaries.

It is also planned to raise the salaries of such of the heads of departments as have earned recognition, a step made necessary by the attempts of other institutions to lure away several of the faculty by offers of higher salaries during the past year.

The amounts asked for by President Kane are in part as follows: For general maintenance, $884,344, of which $96,000 is for repairs and additions to the buildings obtained from the A.-Y.-P. exposition; for salaries of instructors, $539,482.20 is requested, and $105,427.84 to pay janitors and other employes.

All Are Necessary.

President Kane says that no requests are made which are not deemed absolutely necessary under the present requirements of the university, and that any increases over appropriations asked in the past are based upon logical deductions as to future growth, gained from close study of the development of the university for the past eight bienniums.

STATE GRAIN CROP IS 37,908,655 BUSHELS

Olympia, Jan. 7.—In 1910 the Washington grain crop amounted to 37,908,655 bushels, according to the report of the state grain inspector, filed with the state railroad commission and the state baord of control.

The crop is figured for the purpose of permitting the board of control to estimate the number of jute bags needed to handle the 1911 crop, as sacks are made at the state penitentiary.

Of the total crop 25,301,000 bushels are wheat; 8,537,000 are oats, while the barley crop amounted to 4,070,000 bushels.

Whitman county leads in the output of wheat with 6,000,000 bushels. Whitman county has equaled the oat crop of the famous Skagit valley, as its crop of 1,800,000 bushels is the same as that of Skagit county.

Skagit and Whatcom counties are the only ones on the West side mentioned in particular, as most of the grain is raised on the East side.

CANADIAN REFINERY TO BID FOR GOLD

Ottawa, Jan. 7.—Yukon and British Columbia gold, in fact practically all that is mined in Canada, has been going to American refineries, particularly the assay office at Seattle and the mint at San Francisco. It is in view of this that work has been rushed on a big refinery at Vancouver.

Deputy Minister of Mines Haanel has just returned from inspecting this new refinery. It is completed and he says has many late improvements.

Vancouver will now be able to take the metal from the Yukon, and the Canadian placer miner can now convert his gold readily into cash without first having to send to the United States.

MUNICIPAL STREET CAR LINE AGAIN UP IN SEATTLE

Seattle, Jan. 7.—President W. H. Murphy introduced at a meeting of the corporations and finance committees of the city council an ordinance submitting to voters a bond issue for constructing a municipally owned electric railway. The bill provides for the condemnation of the Seattle, Renton & Southern, with extensions northward to Salmon bay. The plan is to be carried out by a bond issue of $800,000, with power from the city's Cedar river plant.

How Women Are Paid.

Olympia, Jan. 9.—The average woman in the state of Washington, if she works nine hours a day, and for this is paid $1.57, according to Charles F. Hubbard, state labor commissioner. The figures show that 12,587 women are engaged in general employment, earning their livelihood in 723 establishments. The greatest number of women workers are employed in stores that sell general merchandise. The factories take the next largest number, while the waitresses come last on the list.

Emigration to Canada Heavy.

Ottawa, Ont., Jan. 9.—It is officially estimated that 350,000 immigrants came into Canada in 1910 and that of these 150,000 were from the United States. It is said that next year the influx will reach 500,000

MILLIONS IN BONDS HELD BY STATE

WASHINGTON A LARGE INVESTOR IN SECURITIES OF VARIOUS KINDS.

General School Fund Now Holds Over Seven Millions' Worth of Bonds—School Fund Increasing—Sales at Present Claimed to Mean Loss to Fund.

Olympia, Jan. 7.—In the report of John G. Lewis, state treasurer, for the week, month and year ending December 31, 1910, it is shown that the state is now holding $8,060,646.62 worth of bonds of all kinds. These bonds were purchased by the state board of finance with the money in the various permanent funds. The largest amount is in the permanent school fund, holding $7,298,521.62 worth of bonds, to its credit. There is in the university permanent fund, $83,750; scientific school permanent fund, $196,600; agricultural college permanent fund, $149,725; C. E. P. and R. I. permanent fund, $238,300; normal school permanent fund, $108,750.

State Bonds Outstanding.

There is now outstanding $700,000 worth of state bonds, and two years ago, when the present administration took hold, there was $1,200,000 outstanding in bonds. Since September 30, 1910, $100,000 worth of state bonds has been redeemed.

The report also shows the state treasurer now has on hand $986,251.50. of this amount $223,196.26 is in the general fund. It is announced by the state treasurer that there is little question but that the state can run along to the end of the biennial period, or the opening of the new one, April 1, 1911, without a bond issue of any kind.

The permanent school fund is piling up money at a rapid rate. Although $7,000,000 is invested in bonds, there is $367,836.50 uninvested cash in the hands of the state treasurer. With the exception of the highway fund, which has $176,000 on hand, all of the other funds are nearly exhausted.

STATE LOSING MILLIONS ON ITS SCHOOL LANDS

Seattle, Jan. 7.—The state of Washington is losing millions of dollars through the sale of valuable state and school lands that will enhance greatly in value during the next few years, according to Chief Deputy County Auditor W. S. Lincoln, who contends that the state could as well hold the land and gather the profit by enhancement as well as investors.

Appraised at $100.

Five years ago, according to the auditor's records, sections 10 and 3, in township 25, near Yesler landing, Lake Washington, were appraised at $100 an acre.

The state was asked to put up the land for sale at that time by a Seattle man, and if the sale had been held the land would have undoubtedly been disposed of at the appraised value. Litigation, however, delayed the sale until November 5 last, when the land was sold at from $1,000 to $1,200 per acre.

Delay Means Profit.

"If we could have delayed all our state and school land selling for five years the state would have been millions of dollars gainer," said Mr. Lincoln.

It is Mr. Lincoln's contention that the state and school land is a rich heritage to the people of the state that the future alone will fully realize, and that it is little short of a crime to place upon the market land at $20 to $50 an acre that will increase tenfold in value within a few years.

STREET CAR REGULATION BY CITIES UPHELD

Olympia, Jan. 7.—The conviction of F. A. Boutelle, who was fined $100 for not maintaining a five-minute schedule on the South Tacoma street car line, has been upheld in the supreme court. The appellant's contention that the ordinance requiring five-minute service was unconstitutional was overruled by the court, which stated that the car service was regulated for the convenience of the public, not the company.

Big Prizes for Bowlers.

Spokane, Jan. 7.—Fifteen hundred dollars, said to be the largest single prize yet offered on this continent for the best five-men team, will be awarded to the quintet making the highest score at the annual tournament of the Western Bowling Congress in Spokane the middle of March. Other prizes will be in proportion. It is estimated there will be at least 200 fives, including seven teams of women, 300 doubles and more than 1,000 singles. A ten-day program is being arranged.

Some Profits in Beef.

Chicago, Jan. 7.—The American public pays the six big packing concerns of this city the colossal sum of $945,000,000 a year for meat. The net profits of these concerns, which are being prosecuted by the government as a monopoly in restraint of trade, amount to $25,000,000 a year. The high cost of living, it is declared, evidently has a potent relationship to the enormous profits made this year by the beef barons.

RAILROAD OWNED SHIPS ATTACKED IN CANAL BILL

Washington, Jan. 10.—Aiming a blow directly at railroad-owned steamships engaged in American coastwise trade, the senate committee on interoceanic canals yesterday adopted material amendments to the Mann bill to provide for the government of the Panama Canal zone and for the regulation of the Panama Canal.

The chief amendment was one introduced by Chairman Flint and is designed to encourage the establishment of lines of independently owned vessels.

The amendment asks the president to fix the freight and passenger charges for using the canal, but freight charges must not be less than 50 cents nor more than $1.50 per net ton. It is provided also that no charges shall be paid for vessels in ballast, nor for vessels owned or operated for or on account of the United States government, or for merchant vessels of the United States engaged in the coastwise trade of this country.

A proviso is added, however, that the exemptions shall not apply to any vessel in coastwise trade which is owned in whole or in part, or which is controlled, directly or indirectly, by any railroad company.

The proviso refers especially to such railroad companies as seek to avoid or reduce the effect of the competition of ocean traffic between eastern and western seaboards of the United States, on transcontinental railway rates.

The effect of the amendment would be to deny free passage of the canal to the ships of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company or any line which has connection with transcontinental railroads.

Another proviso would authorize the United States to take for its own use any vessel which acepts free toll and pay for the same at a fair valuation, to be determined afterward.

WOULD PROHIBIT STRAW BALLOTS AND THIRD DEGREE

Spokane, Jan. 7.—Prohibiting the taking of "straw" ballots by newspapers or individuals is the effect of an amendment to the present primary laws of the state of Washington proposed by Guy B. Groff, legislator-elect of Spokane, who thus defines his position on the question:

"The publishing of the results of 'straw' ballots, showing one candidate far in the lead, exercises an unwarrantable influence upon the chances of others in the race. After the primaries, when only two candidates are running, the test is one of party strength, and the 'straw' ballot cannot have such a pernicious influence."

Mr. Gorff also declares that he will seek to wipe out the "third degree" by introducing an amendment, with a view to restricting the introduction of confessions and admissions in criminal trials. He said on this subject:

"I have been told at the Spokane police station that I could not talk with clients until the prosecuting attorney had seen them. When a person is allowed to talk with a prisoner he is in a separate compartment and can not see the man with whom he is talking.

"I would return to the old law of territorial days, which forbade the introduction of any alleged confession or admission unless the prisoner made it after being first fully informed of his rights and the consequences of his act, and through his attorney or some one taking a friendly interest in him."

BILL TO ALLOW LEASING OF ALASKA COAL LANDS

Washington, Jan. 9.—A bill authorizing the leasing of Alaskan coal lands was introduced in the senate today by Senator Nelson, chairman of the committee on public lands.

It limits the areas of leases to 3,200 acres, and provides that no individual may own more than one lease. A rental of from 5 cents to $4 per acre is provided, as is a royalty of 5 cents a ton on coal mined.

Lessees are required to supply coal at reasonable prices, and in cases of their failure to do so the interstate commerce commission is given jurisdiction to quote prices.

MEAT PACKERS CANNOT ESCAPE PROSECUTION

Chicago, Jan. 10.—Judge George A. Carpenter, in the United States district court, yesterday denied the motion of the indicted meat packers that criminal prosecution against them be forbidden. Their plea was made on the promise that if they were guilty of conspiracy to restrain trade they then were violating Circuit Judge Grosscup's injunction of several years ago against such a practice. Contempt proceedings, argued the packers, were the proper method of attack by the government.

Non-Irrigable Lands Designated.

Washington, Jan. 10.—Montana lands approximating 204,000 acres have been designated by Secretary of the Interior Ballinger, under the enlarged homestead act, as being not susceptible of successful irrigation. These are located in the northwestern part of the state. The total designation in Montana under the enlarged homestead act to date is 31,405,181 acres.

Will Support Longworth Bill.

Washinyton, D. C., Jan. 9.—The National Tariff Commission Association, through President Cobb, has promised to support the bill introduced by Representative Longworth of Ohio, providing for a commission.

Two Useful Coats

TWO useful styles are illustrated here, both suitable for cloth, serge or tweed.

The first is a semi-fitting coat for a girl of fourteen to sixteen years; it is single-breasted and has wide revers and collar trimmed with Russian braid; the cuffs and pockets are trimmed to match.

Hat of stitched velvet swathed with soft silk.

Materials required: Four yards cloth 48 inches wide, one dozen yards braid, two dozen buttons, four yards silk for lining coat to hips.

On the right is a lady's coat, and would look well in serge or cloth. It has a panel back and front, and fastens below the revers, which are faced with material; small buttons and loops of braid trim these, also the cuffs.

Hat of soft felt trimmed with feathers.

Materials required: Four and one-half yards serge 48 inches wide, 1½ dozen buttons, 4½ yards silk for lining to hips.

ARRANGE FLOWERS TASTILY

A Little Thought and Time Alone Necessary to Produce An Artistic Effect.

A knack for arranging flowers may be developed into a great gift by the girl who wishes to add to her personality the charm of varied accomplishments.

Even in elaborate establishments the most exquisite and expensive hothouse blossoms are often poorly arranged. They are left to servants who are ignorant of artistic effect, and so lose half their beauty.

If a girl has a pretty gift of this sort she may often have occasion to use it at week-end parties and so lift a large item of worry from the harassed mind of the house party hostess and at the same time gain for herself the reputation of being a most satisfactory guest.

At country houses where flowers are brought every day from the hothouses only a little time every morning need be given to seeing that the vases are freshly filled and taste displayed in their arrangement. But if one is staying in a simpler house then more time is required for the exercise of this happy gift, as the flowers must be picked as well as arranged.

If there is a clock and pair of candlesticks or vases of bronze on the mantle, surround them with ivy or a groundwork of caladium leaves, filled in with the clusters of pink dahlias, which must be put into small bowls of water that are hidden by the greenery. Or, remove the ornaments and have seven white candles graduated in pyramid fashion, the tallest in the center. Each candle must be stuck firmly into a small can filled with sand and hidden by the foliage.

The floral arrangements should conform with the candles, graduating in pyramid style. This arrangement has a striking effect at night when the same flowers are piled in like manner on the dinner table.

A more simple idea can be carried out by filling a shallow pan with wet sand and imbedding the candles in this. Then fill the pan with flowers or merely asparagus fern in the center with a border of white, pink or yellow chrysanthemums, set singly and primly in.

Cheap Cuff Links.

Cuff links of good quality are far from inexpensive, and the inferior ones mounted in brass are apt to stain ones linen. A good substitute is to purchase the pretty pearl buttons which sell two for five cents; choose either the kind with shanks or with holes. Whatever style is chosen, bind them in pairs with a loop of silk cord to form sleeve links. They will be found serviceable and neat. Buttons that have been tubbed are not so desirable, as washing destroys the luster of the pearl.

To Fasten Flowers.

To wear a cluster of flowers or a single blossom on a tailor-made coat, sew a little loop of heavy braid underneath the collar lapel with the ends sewed together at the outer edge, just under the buttonhole.

In this way flowers can be attached without sticking a pin into delicate cloth just where it will show most. It is a plan adopted by men also for their bouttonieres and a very useful one

DRESS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

Recently Devised Garment That Surely Has Many Points of Excellence.

Women generally might be interested in hearing about a work dress that is evidently convenient.

It is made like a coat, is fitted in the back, while the fronts are cut so large they fold over as far as the underarms. Just at this point a short belt is sewed to each front and corresponding slits are left in the underarm seams.

The dress is cut square in the neck and has long sleeves. It is open all the way down the front and put on like a coat. The fronts cross and the belts pass through the slits, buttoning in the back.

Only a few minutes are necessary to adjust the dress, and for slipping on to get an early breakfast or over a good gown to get dinner at night it cannot be excelled.

Again, as the frocks are double, when the one front becomes soiled the other can be placed over it and conceal the soil so that the frock lasts twice as long as the usual model housework dress.

PRETTY CAMISOLE.

Made from a piece of wide flounce embroidery threaded with ribbon, which forms the shoulder strap.

To Make Stockings Last.

In order to make new stockings last beyond their time one clever woman rubs paraffin on the heels and toes before putting the stockings on. They wear wonderfully under this treatment.

Another woman who considers this method uncomfortable (though, really, it is not so) runs a stocking darner into her new hosiery and darns it round and round at heel and toe with fine darning cotton. Done once, it never seems to be needed again, and the stockings last practically forever.

Some of the new traveling coats have pockets almost as big as handbags

The Fortnightly Club was delightfully entertained at the Nelson home Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. Wright. The hostess for the next meeting will be Mrs. E.E. Day.

Under the supervision of the ladies of St. Andrew's Guild a children's fancy dress party, or masquerade, will be given in Parish Hall, Saturday evening, January 28th. Admission to spectators 25 cts.

When Mr. Fisher, the racket store man, was getting in a supply of boys coasting sleds last August, in answer to the question, "What are you going to do with them?" he replied, "The winter has never failed me yet."

Mrs. John Trumbull was one of the speakers who addressed a public meeting for discussion of the recall of Mayor Gill, held in the Auditorium of the Y. M. C. A. building, Seattle, Wednesday. Dr. J. Allen Smith, of the University of Washington, had charge.

The Saturday Reading Club spent a most pleasant afternoon with Mrs. Geisness last Friday. An interesting paper on "The Government of Washington" was read by Mrs. R. D. Willson followed by a discussion of the new responsibilities devolving upon the women of Washington since receiving the vote. The next hostess will be Mrs. Gilmore on January 20th.

An exchange says: "The inhabitants of Portland, Oregon, try to impress the rest of the world that they are blessed with a tropical climate by having annual swimming races in the Willamette river on Christmas Day."

Pshaw, that's nothing, Port Angeles can go Portland one better. Mr. R. A. Muskett, the popular proprietor of the Times Clothing Mart, takes an early morning swim in Port Angeles Bay every morning of the year, winter as well as summer.

Installation of the following officers was held at Haning Hall by the Eagles, Saturday, the 7th: John Donahue, Pres.; Emory Ware, Vice-Pres.; E. R. Gherkie, Sec.; Geo. E. McKey, chaplain; Chas Hutchinson, Treas.; Lou Smith, trustee; H. J. Baker, O. G.; Thos. McRoberts, I. G. The initiation of James Raycraft was in order and he was blessed with the Eagle's wings. A big lunch was served after the meeting, when everybody went home at an early hour, having spent a very enjoyable evening.

SEQUIM

W. D. Cook is putting up a building on his lot near the drug store to be used for the U. S. Post Office, as soon as completed.

George Long, who is living with his sister, Mrs. Earnest Ware, and going to school, spent his vacation on Sequim with his Uncle Jack Long and family.

Married — At Judge Balch's, January 4th, Miss Amy Potter and Mr. Charles Floyd Bennett, both of Sequim, Wash. The bride is one of the popular young ladies of this place, and was very sweet and lovable in her dark blue traveling dress and hat. After hearty congratulations they left for Edmonds, Wash., where they will spend their honeymoon at the home of the groom's mother.

R. R. Canfield has the bridge across theDungeness river completed; it is a good job, and a great accommodation to the public.

Mrs. Jessie Robinson has her lot in Sequim cleared and the ground plowed, getting ready to build a home for herself and family.

It is rumored that one of Sequim's most popular young ladies is going to take on the matrimonial yoke.

George Priest left Tuesday afternoon for Calgary, B. C., to visit his two daughters.

There will be a dance in the G. A. R. Hall, January 14th, given by the W. R. C. They will also serve supper.

Mrs. Fred Edgington is very sick, her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Pettett of Dungeness, were with her the first of the week.

MOUNT PLEASANT

Mr. and Mrs. Teig, Mrs. Conway, Mrs. Copotoe and Henry Boyd and wife were Angeles visitors the first of the week, going in Monday and returning Tuesday. The occasion was a surprise party on Orson Boyd.

The first real snow of the season fell Monday evening and reached a depth of only one inch and half. We now have eight inches.

Mr. Bodley got his two calves, which he has been wintering at Mrs. Stevens, Tuesday.

Misses Brain and Ester, the teachers of this vicinity, pleasantly entertained a number of young folks at the DeWitt Burns home last Saturday evening. All kinds of games and jokes were played and a merry time all around was enjoyed. At 12 o'clock a dainty luncheon was served.

Asa Byres has just moved into the little house built this fall near the Filion & Wright mill. He intends to trap this winter.

A petition has been written, circulated, signed and been favorably received and acted upon by the county commissioners, which moves the line between road districts 1 and 2 east about three miles, and the line between commissioner districts 1 and 2 to correspond with it, and also corrects the line between Belleview and Weaver precincts, making the three conform to one line starting at the Meander line of Juan de Fuca, the center of section eight, township 30, range 5. That is directly south of to the Jefferson county line.

T. T. Aldwell went up to Seattle Wednesday to meet L. L. Summers of Chicago, the contracting engineer. They arrived Wednesday morning and drove right out to the scene of action on the Elwha canyon.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Mathewson entertained in a most happy manner Tuesday evening complimentary to the "newly weds". Mr. and Mrs. Merton Davis. Cards was the program for the evening and a very pleasant time was enjoyed by everyone.

We hear that R. A. Muskett is still keeping up his daily dips in the briny, he having been seen making for the beach in the gray twilight Wednesday morning the same as usual. The average man, on his way to work at that hour, preferred the warmth of an overcoat to a pair of swimming trunks in the snow storm then raging.

John Hansen has been giving his store an overhauling and changing the appearance of the interior considerably. The fancy shelving and counters through the middle of the store have been removed, throwing the whole into one large room. Tables are scattered around conveniently for displaying the goods and the shelving on the north side of the store is to be filled with the new spring stock of shoes of which he will carry a larger stock than ever before.

The ladies of the Book Club held their Annual at the home of Mrs. W. F. Delebarre on last Friday evening. They entertained their husbands at five hundred and also gave them a splendid supper. The gentlemen's prize for the largest score was won by Al Jensen, and Mrs. Clark carried off the ladies' head prize. Mr. FitzHenry received the gentleman's consolation and Mrs C.I. Don't forget the date of the children's fancy dress party and entertainment to be given in Parish Hall, January 28th.

We are glad to know that Mrs. E. E Day is improving after rather a serious illness with her throat. Her mother, Mrs. Wilcox, is visiting her.

If you want a choice high grade coffee for excellent flavor, try a lb. can of Golden West or White House—nothing better. Gate City Grocery.

Dr. and Mrs. Lewis were up sound passengers Sunday; the doctor returned the early part of the week, leaving Mrs. Lewis for a longer visit.

The new furniture for the Aldwell real estate and Olympic Power offices arrived this week and makes this office by far the finest equipped in the city.

Mrs. Sam Lutz and two little daughters have gone to Seattle to remain about three months, while the little girls are in attendance at one of the parochial schools.

The hostess for the T. D. C. Club Thursday afternoon was Mrs. W. Delebarre, who entertained her guests in a most charming manner. In spite of the winter weather every one turned out and had a jolly good time.

A large crowd gathered at Martin's Hall on Lincoln Heights, giving Orson Boyd a big surprise Monday evening. The jolly party enjoyed the evening in dancing. At 12 o'clock a nice lunch was served.

George Stewart arrived on the sound Tuesday from Cordova, Alaska, where he has been for the past two years. He came down yesterday for a visit with his mother and sister, Mrs. White, and expects to leave in a couple of weeks for the south.

A line from our old friend, P. W. Gallup, who went to Eustis, Florida, something over a year ago, says that if he were to write a picture of that country it would not have all the colors of the rainbow, and "don't be surprised of you hear of me back in Sequim."

We are extremely sorry to learn that Cecil McNutt is still confined to his bed, as the result of an operation for a rupture. We hope, however, that it will not be long ere he is about again, scattering sunshine with his pleasant congenial smile.

A jolly crowd of young married people gave a charivari party on last Friday evening to Mr. and Mrs. Merton Davis. After they had been properly charivaried, the visiting friends were invited in and cards and an excellent lunch completed the evenings entertainment.

T. T Aldwell returned from a business trip to Seattle Sunday. He is meeting with excellent success in the power company affairs, many men of prominence becoming interested. The latest to purchase stock are well-known Seattle lawyers, Kerr and McCord, who pay cash for a $2,000 subscription.

The many friends of Mrs. McGill in Port Angeles were shocked to hear, last Monday, of her death at the home of her daughter Flora, now Mrs. Delbert Griswold in Cle Elum, Wash. Her eldest daughter, Mrs. Lovejoy, left on Friday's boat in response to a telegram announcing the serious illness of her mother and was at her bedside when she passed away. Mrs. McGill was well known in Angeles, where she resided for a number of years and was an honored member of the Eastern Star and an earnest worker in several different clubs.

CLERK HAS TROUBLE

Man Who Handles Mail Finds Many Queer Missives.

Mostly Due to Carelessness, But Idiotic Addresses and Various Kinds of Cranks Add Greatly to His Confusion.

Washington.—It does seem an easy matter to address a letter properly in order that it may slip through Uncle Sam's postal mill as speedily and safely as possible. No racking of the intellect is required in the process and but little physical exertion—simply the inscribing of a name and address. Yet in the face of this, ask the man who superintends the sorting of the mail in the city post office about it and if he does not throw up his hands and fervently cry: "Our lucky stars preserve us from those who don't or won't know how to address a letter!" it will be because he is too busy to do more than think his opinion.

Of the thousands of letters which go through the office weekly it is surprising to learn that hundreds of them, through faulty addresses, cause the post office people almost as much trouble as the handling of those that are in proper form. And the acts of this same class are also the most potent factor in keeping the wheels of industry humming in the dead letter office all the year round.

Carelessness on the part of letter writers is the cause of the appearance of most of these bothersome missives, and in this line Washington is entitled to a seat in the grandstand, as the records of the office will show. It is the careless person who drops a letter adorned with a stamp but unadorned with an address into the box; it is a kindred spirit who mails a letter to a friend in some distant city which the writer locates in a state having no such city within its borders.

Have to Fill in City.

It is one with a similar failing who directs his letter to a certain street and leaves a blank space below for the post office officials to fill in any city or town it may occur to them the street is situated in. It is carelessness that brings to the post office a neatly addressed and stamped envelope which is, however, unsealed and destitute of contents, just the sort of an affair to cause a fearful breach between two correspondents, one angry because of an unanswered letter and the other indignant because his tale of the empty envelope is discredited. But to tell of the devious and aggravating ways of the careless letter writer would take a day in itself.

Ignorance also plays its part in the letter game, as a few select specimens will show. It was certainly an ignorant person who not long ago addressed a letter to "His honorableness the President," leaving it to the superior wisdom of the postmaster to guess whether the letter was a petition to the president of the United States for a position or an appeal to the president of a glue trust for a job as laborer.

Childlike Faith of Some.

Ignorance or a childlike belief in the supernatural powers of the postal officials also inspired the following effusive, though vague, inscription of a rather dirty envelope dropped in the main office:

"To my cousin, Martha Small, who lives in Organ and who was goin' to move to Montannel."

Another missive with a nomadic address was odorous with mystery. It was directed:

"Samuel Kramer, Milwaukee, Wis. If not, try Columbus, O., or maybe Dallas, Tex., or perhaps, Bangor, Me."

A piece of handiwork worthy of the immortal "Handy Andy" is exhibited by a letter which, besides the stamp, bore only on its face this writing:

"If not delivered in ten days, postmaster will please open and return as per address inside. Stamp inclosed."

But it is not the careless and ignorant alone who clog up the postal machinery and cause the letter men to give way at times to an inclination to use words of lurid tinge and emphatic meaning.

There is a vast and growing army of cranks who seem to live only for the purpose of using the mails in their own peculiar idiotic way. In the operations of some of these there is a studied fiendishness that would suggest a gigantic conspiracy to drive postal clerks to an insane asylum or the clammy tomb.

In the first place there is the puzzle crank, who imagines that two-cent stamp gives him the privilege of displaying, at the expense of the postal officials, his marvelous powers as an enigma maker. This is a fair sample of his work:

"F. (color) H. (Second President.)
"Seventh President,
"10——S——C."

The envelope ought to have gone into the waste basket, but Uncle Sam's orders are to use all possible means to find the party to whom a letter is addressed. So finally a reformed puzzler in the office deciphered the address to be: "Fred H. Adams, Jackson, Tenn."

Crank Who Writes Poetry.

Next in degree of abhorrence in the minds of the letter handlers is the poetical crank. He is strongly impregnated with the idea that all the world loves a poet, and that, above all, postal clerks need some intellectual refreshment to ameliorate the hard grind of daily toil. One of these disciples of Silas Wegg carolled as follows lately:

Oh, carrier with the willing feet,
Deliver this on Fiftieth street;
The number, thirteen twenty-four;
The town, New York, and on the door
You'll find, set in a silver frame,
The name which you seek—a person's name—
James Edgerton Strong—who'd want a better?
And 'tis to him I send this letter.

Another allowed himself to overflow with a fragment built on the same lines as the effervescent college yell. It ran:

Harper's, Harper's,
In Franklin square,
New York, New York,
With haste and care.

The envelope was bulky and surely held manuscript—undoubtedly a poem on spring—but whether that diabolical bark resembling the ululation of a mountain wolf on the war trail was to drive the post office to unusual exertions in forwarding the letter, or whether it was to convince the publishers that author was a rough and ready genius of the west, who would not brook refusal of copy, can only be conjectured.

It would be supposed that the crank bent on addressing a letter to himself and have it come back after a journey around the world resembling a porous plaster from postmarks is dead. It has been announced officially scores of times that letters mailed for such a purpose will be returned to the writer by the speediest route—that is, by local carrier. Still, the round-the-world crank is on the hustle and as eagerly bent on wasting postage stamps.

REBUILDING THE TREASURY.

The contractor who is remodeling part of the United States treasury, has begun the installation of three new vaults in the big building. Two of the old strong rooms in the subbasement and one in the basement are being torn out and will be replaced with modern steel structures, which will be guarded by an elaborate system of electrical devices. In making these alterations, the new vaults will be built in the west side of the treasury, and after their completion the money and express business which now enters the treasury on the Fifteenth street side will go into the building by the west side. One of the old vaults in the basement is to be entirely removed and will not be replaced.

When a small army of architects and artisans finishes the work now in progress the beautiful old structure will show the first material changes since 1869. Architecturally, it will represent a pagan temple, or, as many folk say, the American people's worship of money.

The nucleus of the present building, located where President Jackson, irritated by the procrastination of congress in choosing a site, put his hickory stick down with a thump and exclaimed, "Put 'er there, on that spot," will remain unchanged, but the double stone staircase leading up to the colonnade on the Fifteenth street side has been torn away. Architects said it spoiled the beauty of that side of the building.

The 30 granite monoliths, each of which cost $5,500 and weighs 30 tons, now stand in an unbroken row. They are said to be the finest example of their kind. It required ten men working 60 days to produce each of them, and a solid train of 30 flat cars brought them to Washington from the quarries in Massachusetts.

The appearance of the front of the treasury has been marred, the artists say, by the commercial aspect which the scores of trucks and wagons backed up to the curb gave to it. When it is finished the big three-horse truck, which brings up its rich cargo of currency every day to the vaults from the bureau of engraving and printing, will carry its precious load practically into the building, instead of depositing it on the sidewalk. Express wagons which carry off hundreds of valuable packages will do the same.

To give more space inside the building, all the files of letters and documents will be stored in the old coal vaults under the lawn on the Pennsylvania avenue side, and new coal vaults are being built on the side opposite the White House.

The completed building, as it stands, represents three stages of construction. The nucleus was located by Jackson and finished in 1842. The south wing was finished in 1864. The north wing, finished in 1869, is on the site of the old state department building.

The long colonnade of sandstone, erected in 1864, deteriorated in the southern climate, and was replaced by the present granite monoliths a little more than a year ago.

KICK ON A REFORMATORY.

The members of the Mount Vernon Ladies' association are kicking very hard against the probable establishment three miles from Mount Vernon of the District of Columbia reformatory. Nobody ever wants a reformatory planted any ways near them, anyhow, and it does seem particularly out of place to put such an institution on the ground hallowed by the great Washington; but in this year of our Lord, when money and how to make it is the know-all and be-all of the human creature, you could very easily look for anyone to take the Mount of Olives for golf grounds or an Italian garden, so in all probability the Washington Reformatory will be established as a next-door neighbor of Mount Vernon, if the people who want to put it there have not enough money to pay for the land upon which to establish it.

Decoration for Fur Hats

THE home milliner has been able to find a turban covered with fur of almost any description and almost any shape. The matter of trimming it at home is a problem of easy solution. Fur turbans are not exactly trimmed—they are decorated. The soft shapes, made without wire, carry bows, rosettes or motifs, applied flat to the body of the hat; or tinsel and silk roses, a smart cockade or an aigrette fastened on with an ornament, all easy to procure and the trimming easy of accomplishment. Fashion permits the trimming to be placed anywhere, from back to front, at the sweet will and sense of style possessed by the wearer.

Where the turban is made by covering a buckram shape with fur, plumes and fancy feathers, wings and ribbons are all available. The soft caps are more simply trimmed.

Soft caps of fur or fur fabrics are easily made at home. The crown is in four sections, like a boy's jockey cap, and the brim a slightly curved collar, which is wide enough to turn up about the crown. This is lined with silk or satin. A fine wire may be introduced in the outside brim edge to advantage. It should be put in between the fabric and the lining, and will serve to keep the hat shapely.

Such hats of plush or fur are very comfortable—a real protection to the head, and the becomingness is a new discovery. It is all in adjusting the right shape to the head in the right way.

JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

CHECKED SILK WAIST.

This most attractive waist is of checked old blue and white foulard, with pretty yoke of old blue cashmere. The guimpe, undersleeves, and frills are of white tulle. The girdle is of plain blue liberty.

THE NEW SHOE BUCKLES

Cut Steel and Rhinestone Predominate for Decorating Evening Slipper This Season.

Cut steel and rhinestone predominate in the shoe buckle for decorating the evening slipper this season. In the cut steel, which has a very refined appearance, the designs are very beautiful. The buckles made of this material seem to be the leading ones.

They are made oblong and large, and though this is actually the choice among the metals, there are other sizes and other metals still available, for though it is quite new, it does not exclude any of the others that with some are still popular.

Rhinestone buckles are favored next to steel and there is a wide variety of these from which to make a choice.

Small and large ornaments, square and round ornaments, oblong and star-shaped ornaments—in fact, in the rhinestone one can get an ornament in almost any shape a person desires.

Butterfly Note Paper.

The butterfly, a dominant novelty of this season's fashions, trails its frivolous wings across the latest note paper. Flights of sulphur-colored insects upon a delicate green ground, and of bright, soft blue ones over a cream white surface, none of them too perceptible are seen. It is a fanciful idea, to have these decorated missives as frivolous and brief as their own short lives.

CONCERNING USE OF PLUMES

Newest Trimming in Millinery Shows Styles Such as Our Mothers Never Dreamed Of.

The newest trimming in millinery emphasizes the use of plumes. Such plumes! The word conjures up an infinite variety of styles of which our mothers or grandmothers knew nothing, and fair women of today can be doubly grateful for the efforts of milliners.

Garlands of plumes are used on broad, low hats. They are spotted and flecked with color, and some are made of layers of different shades, giving a wonderfully irridescent effect.

On velvet turbans the use of a single plume attached at the front, and extending toward the back in a slanting line, is quite evident. This line for the plume is used on large hats as well. And speaking of the wide, flat shapes leads us to the introduction of ostrich feathers to edge the brim. Two successful Paris milliners have done this with great effect.

Feather rosettes are made of ostrich plumes. Concentric circles of cut feathers are placed around a jeweled center. At the side of a turban or on the upturned brim of a large velvet hat this new type of ornament is extremely chic.

A feather band is being used on many large hats. Black and white plumes are favored for these ornaments. They are detachable, hooking at one side. This idea is attractive, for a change of trimming means a change of hat.

To Freshen a Lace Waist.

A tight-cut lingerie waist of white lace and embroidery gains wonderfully in elaborateness by the addition of the latest French fancy. This is a broad band of net in a pastel shade, embroidered in soutache braid of the same color and applied just over the bust. With this is worn one of the new neck scarfs of chiffon, in a color that exactly matches and with the ends embroidered in the soutache. Both of these are easily made up at home by any clever needlewoman, and will go a long way toward hiding the deficiencies of a pretty but aging lingerie waist. The chiffon scarf is especially charming when embroidered its entire length with large coin dots in satin stitch.

Cretonne Lampshades.

The very newest and prettiest thing in home decoration is the lampshade of shirred cretonne or flowered silk. For these, heavy wire frames are purchased, the round shape being the best. The cretonne or silk is then shirred tightly under this frame, and clamped or glued to it. A narrow border of furniture gimp conceals the joining place.

In tapestry, this variety of lampshade becomes really gorgeous. The idea, of course, can be applied in any of these materials to candleshades as well.

FIND HISTORIC TOMB

MUMMY OF RED SEA PHARAOH BROUGHT TO LIGHT.

Discovery Proves That Ruler Who Drove the Children of Israel from Egypt Wae Not Drowned, but Died Natural Death.

An important royal mummy has been added to the assembly in the Hall of Kings in the Museum at Cairo, Egypt. It is nothing less than that of the Pharaoh who drove the children of Israel out of Egypt. And internal evidence reveals that he did not meet his death in the Red sea.

Both monumental, Biblical and classical authorities agree that the son of Rameses II—Seti-Mer-en-Phtah, or Menephtah—is the ruler to whose reign this important episode of the Exodus and the submergence of Pharaoh and his host in the Red sea is to be assigned. There has long been a mystery surrounding this important ruler. His tomb in the Valley of the Royal Tombs was discovered some years ago, but never properly explored, and the general idea formed was that the tomb had never been finished or occupied, probably, as many writers conjectured, on account of the body of the King never having been recovered from its watery grave in the Red sea.

Some years ago M. Lovet, one of Sir Gaston Maspero's assistants, discovered in the valley of the Kings at Thebes the tomb of the Pharaoh Amenophis II, which had fortunately escaped the attention of both ancient and modern tombs robbers. Not only was the body of the royal owner found in the coffin, undisturbed and covered with wreaths of flowers, but several other royal and priestly mummies were found in the side chamber which had been removed there for safety. Among them was one which at first was thought to be the remains of the heretic King Amenophis IV of Akh-u-Aten, but which on being examined was found to have on the bandages an indorsement in indelible ink which stated that it was the mummy of Menephtah.

The mummy has now been unrobed, so we are able to look upon the face of this historic ruler and see the manner of man he was. The mummy which had been rebandaged at a later time, probably at the time of removal to a place of safety, belonged certainly to the time of the early Rameses.

When the bandages were removed—the face and head being carefully uncovered—there was exposed to view the face of an old man bearing a striking resemblance to Seti I, his grandfather. The head was bald, excepting a narrow fringe on the temples of black hairs, mixed with a few gray, which had been carefully cut. There were traces of hair on the chin and upper lip. The body had been very carefully embalmed, and it was perfectly clear the King had died a natural death, and been laid to rest with his fathers in the royal manner

Porterhouse Steaks.

"Martin Morrison," said a gourmet, "ran a famous old tavern, the Porter house, at 327 Pearl street, New York, in the early days of the last century.

"The Porter house was a haunt of sea-faring men—pilots, skippers and mates. One cold winter night an old pilot came in rubbing his hands. He ordered a glass of porter and a steak, but Martin Morrison said:

"'I'm out of steaks, Poop, my boy, but I'll cut you off a thick slice from the sirloin we're getting ready for tomorrow's roasting. Will that do?'

"'I guess it will have to do,' growled Pilot Poop.

"So they cut him off a thick red slice from the sirloin roast, they grilled it to a turn, and they set it before him smoking hot. He cut it open. The rich juices gushed forth in their abundance. He took a mouthful, then rolled his eyes in ecstacy. He—

"But it is useless to continue. Pilot Poop was the first man ever to eat a porterhouse steak. The porterhouse was christened after Martin Morrison's house where it was born.

Hampered.

Barney Oldfield, at the dinner in honor of his victory over Jack Johnson at Sheepshead Bay, told a number of automobile stories.

"But my best story," said the famous racer, "is about a taxicab chauffeur. This chap was discharged for reckless driving, and so he became a motorman on a trolley line.

"As he was grumbling over his fallen fortunes, a friend said:

"'Oh, what's the matter with you? Can't you run over people just as much as ever?'

"'Yes,' the ex-chauffeur replied; 'but formerly I could pick and choose.'"

Passed the Examination.

Miss Francis A. Kellor was made chief investigator of the labor department of the state of New York, having been instrumental to a large extent in creating the bureau. But it was necessary that she pass the civil service examination before she could be regularly appointed. This she did, and while 30 of the applicants were men, she passed the best examination, and consequently earned the right to the new position.

ROCK OR STEEL FOR BRIDGES?

Stone Structures Cost About as Much as Steel and Are Practically Indestructible.

(By ISAAC MOTES.)

Nothing is truer than that the best is cheapest. Especially is this true in road and bridge building.

A small rock bridge that costs a thousand dollars or so and lasts a hundred years, with almost no repairs, is a great deal cheaper than an iron one costing about the same that lasts twenty-five or thirty years, with expensive repairs during the latter period of its life.

There is a sense of endurance and permanence about stone bridges that is lacking in iron bridges, for a good stone bridge may last five hundred years, while an iron bridge that remains in good condition for twenty-five years is doing well.

Naturally good roads and good bridges go together, and it is extravagance for any county to put a great deal of money into rock roads unless the bridges are both good and enduring.

When you put money into an iron bridge ("tin bridges," they are called) over a small stream, you are investing the people's money in a make-shift.

The country that has good building stone convenient would far better build substantial rock arches over all its streams.

By this means the work can be performed by local people, and the money for labor of masons, and the hauling of material, would be left in the country where it would circulate.

If made sufficiently massive and the abutments were as secure as they should be, with run-round spaces for high water to get by without flowing over the bridge, it might remain there in good condition for hundreds of years.

It might be impracticable to build rock bridges over wide streams, certainly without the help of masons qualified to superintend and direct such construction work, but nine-tenths of the bridges in every county are small ones and might safely be built of stone by those masons of average efficiency, using home material and home labor for all the work.

I have recently been talking with my pastor, who is just back from a long trip to Europe, and he says the greatest contrast between America and Europe, especially in England, France and Germany, is in the roads and bridges.

Over there every road is a good one, and every bridge is a good one, and almost always of stone. The roads are wide and well macadamized and laid out on scientific lines, and they add greatly to the charm of the scenery and contribute to the wealth of the farmers and the nations.

MAKING MONEY WITH SHEEP

Small Flock of Shropshires Make Excellent Returns for Owner During Course of Year.

(By C. W. COFFE.)

A neighbor of mine had 38 high-grade ewe Shropshires last spring. The business was new to him, and he studied the sheep and the available bulletins upon their care as he went along, learning the way over one difficulty as they arose. Only 33 ewes produced lambs—47 lambs—and only 40 of these lived to a marketable age.

These ewes sheared 380 pounds of wool, which brought 29½ cents per pound, netting him $112.10, or $2.95 per ewe.

The farmer determined to save 17 of the best ewes and thus enlarge his flock to 55 for next year. This left him 22 lambs to sell. These had been contracted for in advance at 6½ cents per pound at home, and they weighed 1,480 pounds when sold in June.

This makes an average of weight of 64 1-3 pounds, a price of $4.18 per head, and a total of $96.20. The 17 lambs which he kept, at $4.18 per head, would add $17.06 to the account. The total income was thus $279.86.

These sheep have done some excellent work in cleaning weeds out of the farm, to say nothing of the value of the manure, which is worth at least $25.

My neighbor did not keep a separate account of the cost of keeping the sheep, but the reader can form a fair judgment as to whether there is a good profit at these figures.

When Fodder Is Best.

Fodder is the best feed while the stalks are new and the leaves have not become dry and broken off. When it has been allowed to stand in the field and run the gauntlet of rains and rats half or more of its value has been lost. Cutting and feeding immediately from the fields saves both feed and labor.

Cost of Poultry.

Have you ever figured it out that it costs no more to produce 100 pounds of poultry than it does 100 pounds of beef, and that if the beef brings six cents on the hoof, chickens will bring 12 cents per pound alive?

Attending Poultry Shows.

Attend the poultry shows in your neighborhood and if you have any extra fine birds, take them along. They may not win, but your interest in them will prompt you to learn what a really good bird is.

Alfalfa Is Hardy.

Alfalfa is as hardy as clover and should be sown early in the spring to get a good start and to have the spring rains which will insure its growth.

Century Old Churches.

An interesting fact, and to many people a surprising one, is that of the 6,000 Congregational (orthodox) churches now existing in the United States 763, or more than 12½ per cent., were organized a century or more ago and have since continued their activities in company with the American board. All of them are located in New England, New York, New Jersey, Ohio and Pennsylvania.

In Connecticut 60 per cent. of the present 332 Congregational churches are at least 100 years old, as are more than one-half of those in New Hampshire, nearly one-half in Vermont and about 40 per cent. in Massachusetts. Only that a considerable number of churches that were Congregational then are Unitarian now, the proportion would be somewhat larger.

NO USE FOR WALKING STICK

Average American, In Hustle of Life, Has No Time for Unnecessary Cargo.

Now that we are reminded of it, we realize that the great American people are seldom seen to possess a walking stick. "It's a small thing," writes an essayist in a morning paper, "the absence of the walking stick, but it belongs to the American motto, never, in the hustle of life, carry unnecessary cargo."

The idea is, of course, fantastic with the fantasy of transpontine common sense. The hustle of life surely extends to travel in the case of a nation which would consider itself degraded if it spent longer than a week in a complete journey through Europe; and when Americans travel they are the last to deny themselves the luxury of an extra bit of luggage because it happens to be unnecessary. It is common knowledge that they go on loading the liner with trunks until the company's officials say "Stop," if only to collect so many more steamship and hotel labels to add to their already bloated store of these trophies.

No. The walking stick is a matter purely of personal choice. Most Americans chance to feel no need for a walking stick whereas we do. That is how the thing stands. When it comes to a walking stick the world must be considered individually. The physical weakling is quite likely to have a taste for a gigantic club; the enormously powerful man who snaps his Sandow developer before breakfast as though it were a piece of cotton may select for a walking stick the thinnest shred of malacca that money can buy.—London Globe.

SHE HAD CONSTANT PAIN

Until Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Dewittville, N.Y.—"Before I started to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I suffered nearly all the time with headaches, backaches, and bearing down pains, and had a continuous pain in my left side. It made me sick if I tried to walk much, and my back was so weak that I was obliged to wear corsets all the time. But now I do not have any of these troubles. I have a fine strong baby daughter now, which I did not have before taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—MRS. A. A. GILES, Route 44, Dewittville, N.Y.

The above is only one of the thousands of grateful letters which are constantly being received by the Pinkham Medicine Company of Lynn, Mass., which prove beyond a doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, actually does cure these obstinate diseases of women, and that every such suffering woman owes it to herself to at least give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial before submitting to an operation, or giving up hope of recovery.

FEW RULES FOR DIETING

Too Much Trifling With Digestion These Days and Much Harm Results.

Here are a few rules that the girl who is determined to diet does well to observe. There is too much trifling with our digestion these days, and not the least harm is done by the notion for undereating.

Never diet on the advice of a friend. Her regimen may have done wonders for her and will put you to bed or make you a sorry-looking wreck.

Don't diet to excess at any time. Girls, make sure she knows dietetics. Many physicians, good in other things, have little knowlege of the effect of food upon the system.

If you want to diet from a cause, as from diabetes or kidney trouble, do it religiously; almost better not begin than to do it spasmodically, letting up whenever food temps you.

If you only diet for the sake of figure or complexion, count the cost before starting. Cutting out the foods of ordinary family meals is hard. Ask yourself, "Which means most to me, the loss of a few pounds or being a nuisance at mealtime?"

Don't keep on dieting if you feel that it disagrees with you. This holds good even when your food list is carefully censored by a physisician. The best of them will make mistakes. Find out in time what is wrong.

Don't diet to excess at any time. Women often go to the point of weakening their entire system by injudiciously following a doctor's advice.

Common sense and moderation are good things to hold to in the matter of food.

Mothers will find Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup the best remedy to use for their children during the teething period.

Caring for Animals.

It is a good plan for every child to have some pet as soon as it is old enough to look after itself. Teach the little ones to watch the habits of the birds and animals and explain to the little ones that pussy does not altogether appreciate being squeezed too tightly and that a dog's tail was not meant to be pulled. Neither let dogs or cats sleep in the night nursery.

RULES FOR SEA TRAVELERS

On Navigation Courtesy and the Proper Poise in Qualms.

"Do not interfere with the captain in the performance of his duties, or offer suggestions in navigation based upon your own experience in running a catboat on Lake Mohonk," John Kendrick Bangs says in Harper's Weekly. "There are few captains now in the transatlantic service who have not crossed the ocean several times, and we know of none who has acquired his knowledge of the sea in a correspondence school.

"If the lady with golden hair seated in the steamer chair next to yours inadvertently puts her head on your shoulder and groans, do not rudely remove it, but whistle a soft lullaby as if you did not notice the act. Bear in mind that two heads are better than one. The lullaby may put her to sleep, when her curls may be gently removed to her own soft pillow. Should you desire to go below before she goes to sleep, send the deck steward after her husband and ask him to remove them himself.

"If in the midst of your dinner you feel a sudden emotional qualm arising within you, rise with it as nearly simultaneously as possible, and hasten from the saloon, taking care in your flight to stick to the aisles between the tables and not go leaping from table to table like a frightened antelope toward the exit. This latter course would cause considerable confusion in the dining room and in your haste you might inadvertently trip over another passenger's welsh-rabbit, which is not considered good form in polished circles, either on the land or on the sea.

"If, on your way to the upper deck, you find the staircase blocked by others hastening upward like yourself, do not step upon them in your mad flight upward, but slide down the banister to the lower deck, which you will find just as well adapted to your needs as the upper. Any deck is good in a qualm."

Higher Criticism Wanted.

"There are two things my three-year-old wants to know," said the young mother. "He says his little prayer every night without the slightest idea, of course, of what it all means, and he is always asking me, 'Where is Lay Me's house and what is God Bless's other name?' If anybody can tell me I'll be much obliged."

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS. Your druggist will refund money if PAZO OINTMENT fails to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles in 6 to 14 days. 50c.

An Author's Insight.

There is no surer mark of genius than the intuitive insight into characters and social conditions which the author has no personal experience. "What does Ben know of dukes?" asked homely old Isaac Disraeli when he heard the title of his son's latest novel. Trollope wrote inimitably of bishops and deans, when he had never been in a cathedral close in his life. Young Disraeli wrote so well about the great ones of the earth whom he had never seen that the critics busied themselves in finding "keys" to "Vivian Grev" and "The Young Duke."

TROUT FISHING AT NIGHT

Full Instructions Are Given by the Greatest of All Anglers, Izaak Walton.

You are to know there is night as well as day fishing for a trout; and that in the night the best trouts come out of their holds. And the manner of taking them is on the top of the water with a great lob or garden worm, or rather two, which you are to fish with in a stream where the waters run somewhat quietly, for in a stream the bait will not be so well discerned. I say in a quiet or dead place, near to some swift, there draw your bait over the top of the water, to and fro, and if there be a good trout in the hole, he will take it, especially if the night be dark, for then he is bold, and lies near the top of the water, watching the motion of any frog or water rat, or mouse, that swims betwixt him and the sky; these he hunts after if he sees the water but wrinkle or move in one of these dead holes, where these great old trouts usually lie, near to their holds; for you are to note that the great old trout is both subtle and fearful, and lies close all day, and does not usually stir out of his hold, but lies in it as close in the day as the timorous hare does in her form; for the chief feeding of either is seldom in the day, but usually in the night, and then the great trout feeds very boldly.—Walton's Compleat Angler.

Strength in Advancing Age.

To Hugo the years that bend and weaken and wrinkle the genius of the master seem but to bring fresh strength and energy and beauty. He ages like the lions. His brow, seamed with august furrows, rises under a mane larger, thicker, more bristling and more disheveled than ever before. His yellow eyes are like suns within caverns; when he roars, the other animals are silent. Or, changing the comparison, one might liken him to an oak that dominates the forest, its enormous wrinkled trunk bursting into leaf, its branches mighty as trees. Its deep-reaching roots drink of the sap of the heart of the earth, its head almost touches heaven. In its vast foliage the stars shine at night, the birds sing at dawn. It braves the sun, the tempest of the wind, the thunder and the rain. The very scars of the thunderbolt have added to its beauty something formidable and superb.—Gautier's "Portrait of Victor Hugo."

Heavy Hearted.

Bacon—The average weight of the heart is from nine to eleven ounces.

Egbert—Well, I've seen people when they seemed heavier hearted than that.—Yonkers Statesman.

AN ENJOYABLE HOUSE WARMING AND AT HOME

Mrs. Nelson and Mrs. M.J. Wright were at home to their friends last week Thursday, afternoon and evening. A great many ladies called during the afternoon and in the eveniug gentlemen and ladies both called and enjoyed the hospitality of these congenial new comers to our little city. Mrs. Wm. Moore and Mrs. Walter Mack Clark assisted in receiving and Miss Angeline Ritchie and Miss Ellen Hooker presided over the tea table and very graciously assisted in serving the guests with refreshments. M. Nelson delighted the guests with several beautiful vocal solos and Howard Campbell favored them with instrumental music; Mr. Nelson has a new Baby Grande piano which certainly is a pleasure to listen to. The Nelsons have but recently moved into their new home, which has been completely remodeled and fitted up with all modern improvements, making it one of the nicest homes in the city. It also has a most desirable location, commanding as it does an excellent view of both the sound and mountains.

PARTY AT PARISH HALL

A continuation of the good times manifested among the gatherings of the younger set this winter was the party given in Parish Hall Friday evening, which proved a great success. A mock marriage ceremony was properly carried out to the delight of all present. The union bringing together Mr. Howard Farmer and Miss Ellen Hooker; the bride being given away by Mr. H. A Campbell. The groom was accompanied by his best man, Mr. Paul Farmer, and the ceremony was conducted by his "Right Reverend Duane Allen, D. U. B." The bride was dressed in white "Miss Melean," covered with a beautiful "neck scarf a la mode" or veil. After the happy uniting of families, and congratulations over the new found cousin, dancing was indulged in and a dainty bridal luncheon served, thus completing a most pleasant evening of real enjoyment to all present.

The Good Templars lodge of Sequim, that started February 12th, 1910, with 24 charter members, has been very prosperous, as they numbered 69 members at their meeting Dec. 29th, 1910. This is quite a credit to the young people of Sequim, and they should be encouraged by the older people taking an interest in the work.

Chas. Snecal is home from New York on a visit with his mother, Mrs. Johnson of Port Crescent. Mr. Snecal has been about all over the world since his departure from the sound country many years ago, and secured his honorable disharge for the second time from the U. S. Army, now carrying the title of first sergeant. He will return and reenlist as soon as his visit is completed here with his family and friends.

The Ladies Literary Club meets today with Mrs. Harding on Lincoln Heights.

Rev. Todd, presiding elder of the Puget sound district, will preach at the Lincoln Heights church, Sunday at 3 o'clock.

Mr. Burgess secured the contract to bring the pupils from the east end of district No 7 into school, for the next three months.

When in want of anything in the fresh or salt meat line, just drop into James Fitzgerald's shop, the Bell building on Front street. Our motto is, the best of meats and courteous treatment to customers.

Young America was out in full force Wednesday evening enjoying the first fall of snow. Huge bonfires were lighted on the summit of many of the hills, and coasting was the order. Cecil Weeks had the misfortune to break his collar bone while coasting.

Mrs. H. H. LaFlower very pleasantly entertained a number of ladies Wednesday, who busied themselves by quilting. The occasion was in honor of the joint birthdays of Mrs. Mathews and Miss Lottie LaFlower. The ladies all seemed to enjoy a pleasant day.

The gymnasium class of the St. Andrews Parish will in the future meet on Wednesday evenings and Saturday afternoons, giving the boys more time for their studies in the evenings, as well as a greater chance for more amusement and development, at their former expense.

Judging from a letter of Mr. Roger's to Master Charles Webster, turkeys are not such a luxury down in southern California as here. He describes a Fiesta he and Mrs. Rogers attended on New Years day at which 650 turkeys and six large beeves were roasted; five thousand people ate their dinner there out in the warm sunshine. They were entertained by the cowboys who would lasso and ride ponies never mounted before. Mr. Rogers said he and Mrs. Rogers were hoping to visit Angeles next summer, which will be good news to their many warm friends, who will be delighted to see them again.

BASKET BALL GAME

The Basket Ball game Saturday evening between the Townsend High School and the Angeles High School was a very interesting and hard fought contest. It aroused a great deal of enthusiasm and excitement among the spectators and is considered one of the best games of the season.

Though the team played a harder and faster game, the visitors proved their superiority in basket shooting, and carried off the game by a score of 10 to 6. Through some misunderstanding, the game scheduled between the Townsend and Angeles girls was cancelled, the visiting team not even knowing that the girls were expected.
