One Hundred Enthusiastic Women Have Already Signed Membership Rolls. Will Be Great Factor in City's Advancement.

At the public meeting in the opera house Saturday, the plan of organization presented by the committee appointed by the Commercial Club was adopted and the following officers elected:

President, Mrs. Delabarre.

Vice-president, Mrs Luppen.

Recording Secretary, Mrs. E. B. Webster.

Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. A. A. Smith.

At the request of the Commercial Club, the Ladies Auxiliary decided to serve the supper planned for Saturday evening, April 22nd, and a committee, consisting of the newly elected officers of the organization, was appointed to meet with the entertainment committee of the Commercial Club. This committee reported at another public meeting held Tuesday of this week, and everything being satisfactory the following committees were duly appointed to serve during the convention and to attend to all details of the banquet.

Reception—President Ladies' Auxiliary, Chairman; wives of nine directors of Commercial Club, mayor's wife, twelve ladies who met to start organization of auxiliary, officers of auxiliary, and as many more as are needed.

Refreshment — Mrs. P. B. Chambers, Chairman; Mesdames Geisness, Campbell, T. F. Trumbull, LaFlower, Fitz-Henry, Day, Farmer, Gorman, Mead, Christopherson, E. E. Fisher, F. A. Jensen, John Hansen, J. M. Davis, Butler, Draper, Cloukie.

Tea-Room — Mrs. Kirschberg, Chairman; Mesdames Haswell, White, W. B. Smith, Geist, H. Johnson, A. A. Smith, Brewster, Nelson, DeWitt Burns, Miss Gilmore.

Mr. Wallace R. Struble, special publicity agent, of Portland, who is assisting the Commercial Club in promoting the Olympic Development Convention, was present and, on request of the chairman, addressed the meeting. He spoke in part as follows:

"I congratulate the women of Port Angeles on the spirit of get-together indicated by this meeting. It spells victory in large letters. The co-operation of the women of a community is essential for the highest publicity success. You have already been ably informed by my friend Tom Richardson of some of the things that a woman's commercial club can do. I need not take your time to go over the ground again. For the present the Port Angeles Commercial Club needs your assistance in making the forthcoming Olympic Peninsula Development Convention a pronounced success. I am glad you have decided to organize a Women's Auxiliary and join in the work of boosting this great Peninsula. You have already done good work among your individual clubs. I hear of one women's club of this city that for some time past has been gathering money to assist in building a bridge across one of the gulches of the town. This effort is creditable, but it is my opinion that the citizens of Port Angeles ought to be ashamed to permit this money to be used for such a purpose. Bridges should be built by direct taxation or by a bond issue running for a term of years; for that matter a local improvement district might be formed to take care of such enterprises. The women's club money ought to go for some distinctive purpose, such as a public library, or park improvement. I believe if you will call for a mass meeting and submit the matter, the citizens of Port Angeles will release the women from the particular obligation implied in the raising of this fund and permit it to be used in the manner I have suggested.

"If the Woman's Auxiliary will get behind the forthcoming banque at the big convention, there is no question that it will be a pronounced success.

"I want you to know that I believe in the co-operation of the women, and wish to congratulate the women of Washington on the fact that they have the right of highest expression of their will through the ballot box."

The Auxiliary adopted the same slogan as the men, "Get Together," and they are making good by getting together one hundred enthusiastic members, all anxious to do their part in helping to make Angeles "The City Beautiful."

The Auxiliary has sent out about fifty invitations to the wives of the prominent men who are expected to be in attendance at the convention.

The Tea Room commiteee will have charge of Masonic Hall, which, during the two days of the convention, will be used as a rest room, where the visiting ladies may be refreshed at any time with a good cup of hot tea and wafers.

The work of civic improvement will be taken up as soon as the convention is over.

COMMERCIAL CLUB MEETING TOMORROW

Friday and Saturday Next to be Observed as General Holidays in Angeles.

A meeting of the Commercial Club as a whole will be called for tomorrow, Saturday, night at the club rooms for purpose of considering by-laws, ratifying selection of committees, and such other business as may come before the meeting.

At the meeting of the directors Tuesday evening, it was arranged that the chairman of the club confer with chairmen of delegations of visiting commercial clubs authorized to participate in organization of Olympic Peninsula Development League, and act with them in forming plans for representation, and that he be empowered to appoint delegates from this club to assist in such organization.

Replies to invitations sent out are beginning to come in at a lively rate, and enough acceptances are already at hand to guarantee a representative commercial gathering, and some most talented speakers are assured. The program is being shaped by the committee, and is given to the public this week in as complete form as is possible at this time. Details of committee work are gradually being worked out and things are assuming completed form. There is, however, a great deal of work yet to be accomplished.

Among those who will speak and have sent word that they will be here, are Gov. Hay; C. C. Chapman, of Oregon Dev. League; J. E. Barnes, of SW. Wash. Dev. Assn.; T. J. Gorman, Seattle, head Gorman Bros., packers; M. J. Carrigan, Seattle; Donald McInnes, Dungeness; Rufus R. Wilson, Sec. Seattle Com. Club, and many others are expected. Of the toasts at the supper, acceptances have been received from H. C. Nutt, of N. P. Ry.; F. W. Graham, of Gt. Nor. Ry.; F. C. Brewer, of Angeles Water Co., Tacoma; I. A. Nadeau, Pt. T. Southern, and others. While they have not yet been heard from it is certain that many prominent men of the Coast will be here in response to invitations to speak. Some 400 visitors are expected.

The citizens of Port Angeles are asked to observe Friday and Saturday, April 21-22, as general holidays, and to participate in the festivities of the occasion. It will be the endeavor of the committees to have something of interest going on all the time. The school board is asked to give a half-holiday Friday afternoon.

Tickets for the supper will be $1.00 per plate and may be secured from any member of the committee or from either bank. All requests for seats must be filled by the 18th inst. and every citizen of the city or county is cordially invited to participate. Call for or phone your reservations at once.

Ladies are especially invited to seats at the banquet.

A FEW TIMELY SUGGESTIONS

Offered the People of Port Angeles by Publicity Agent Wallace R. Struble.

On Friday and Saturday, April 21st and 22nd, the sessions of the Olympic-Peninsula Development Convention will be held in this city.

The event will strike the hour of a new awakening for the greatest undeveloped section of the State of Washington—a region containing nearly 1,200 square miles of matchless opportunity.

Representatives of the live publicity organizations of the Northwest (organizations which have made this part of the Pacific Coast famous) will be present to give us the benefit of their brains and experience.

Leading and influential men from the great cities of Oregon, Washington and British Columbia will visit the city as the guests of our Commercial Club, and will be heard in formal and informal addresses. Many of these men represent financial interests and enterprizes of mammoth proportions.

Delegates and representatives from all sections of the Olympic Peninsula will assemble for the purpose of discussing the resources and cementing the commercial and development interests of this great region.

It behooves Port Angeles to put her best foot forward. Every ugly aspect, so far as possible, should be removed from her streets, landscapes and edifices. She should clean up and brighten up. Hoes, axes, rakes and brooms should be popular weapons during the next week. The scrubbing brush, the mop rag and the paint brush should be exercised free-

Minor Happenings of the Week

To preside at the international convention of suffragists in Stockholm, Sweden, in June, Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt has sailed for Europe.

Both branches of the Alabama legislature have adopted a bill by which state-wide prohibition is ended, each county being given full power to regulate its liquor traffic.

Mayor-elect Carter Harrison of Chicago has announced that he will abolish every fee office in the city government, putting all municipal officials on a flat salary basis.

The two first-class battleships ordered by the last congress and now in process of construction will equal in strength the Texas and New York, the most powerful in the navy.

Husbands convicted of nonsupport or of abandonment of wives and children, in California, will work on county roads and other public works hereafter and their wives will receive $1.50 per day for every day their unwilling husbands labor.

The magnificent cathedral of St. John the Divine, at New York, fourth largest in the world, will be opened April 19. It has been building 19 years, and nearly $4,000,000 has been spent on it.

Following an unsuccessful criminal prosecution the state has begun suit against Joseph M. Snow, former state highway commissioner, for the recovery of $2,142.05, which, it is alleged, he had failed to account for when he gave up his office.

Two more famous New York hotels, the Hoffman House and the Gilsey House, will soon close their doors, unable to compete with modern hotels. Both hotels in their day have had the names of many men of national prominence upon their registers.

"Undesirable employes" who have been discharged from one state institution in Oregon will find short shrift in other institutions when they apply for positions in the future, as the blacklist will be inaugurated following an organization of all the superintendents in the offices of Governor West.

Five skyscrapers are soon to rise on the site of Madison Square Garden, New York. J. P. Morgan, who has owned the structure for twenty years and has run the $3,500,000 "white elephant" at a loss, has sold out. The purchasing company is perfecting plans to raze the big building to the ground.

An investigation will undoubtedly be made by Congress of the shooting to pieces of the old battleship Texas. The wisdom of destroying a craft in target practice that twenty years ago cost $4,000,000 brought much criticism. Members of Congress think that after all the money spent in repairs the ship should have been still serviceable.

DOUBLE-TRACKING PLANS FOR HARRIMAN LINES

New York, April 10.—Plans for the double-tracking of the Harriman system from the Missouri river to the Pacific, recently authorized by the directors, have been completed, and preparations are under way to begin the work. This announcement is made by Julius Kruttschnitt.

"The work will begin at a number of places at the same time," said Mr. Kruttschnitt.

Orders have been placed for 72,000 tons of rails for the Harriman lines. The order for rails for the double-tracking will come some time in the summer, after the grading and other preliminary work has been well advanced.

ENLARGED PACKING PLANT FOR PORTLAND PLANNED

New York, April 8.—Ferdinand Sulzberger, of the packing firm of Schwarzschild & Sulzberger, when asked tonight regarding a report from Portland to the effect that his firm contemplated building a large plant in that city, said:

"Our firm already has a packing-house in Portland, but the increasing business on the Pacific Coast has caused us to decide to build a much larger plant, modern in every respect. The details of the new plant will be handled by the Chicago branch of our firm."

Woodrow Wilson Will Visit Us.

Seattle, April 11.—Gov. Woodrow Wilson, of New Jersey, former president of Princeton university and the man who may be the Democratic standard bearer in the presidential campaign of 1912, will visit Seattle next month. The date of Gov. Wilson's arrival has not been determined but he has written Capt. Frank H Lord, who was Woodrow Wilson's classmate at Princeton, that he would be at Los Angeles May 12 to 14, and that he would come to Seattle a few days later.

GOOD ROADS ASSURED IN WAHKIAKUM COUNTY

Cathlamet, April 10.—The county commissioners at their regular meetinfi made arrangements for the issuance of the $50,000 of bonds for road purposes, which proposition carried at the last general election.

As soon as the preliminaries can be arranged, the bonds will be placed on the market and road building at once begun.

This move insures a splendid system of highways for Wahkiakum, the absence of which has been a serious drawback to the county for years.

FIVE MIKADO ENGINES FOR PORTLAND-SEATTLE RUN

Seattle, April 10.—Five of the twenty Mikado locomotives, ordered by the Harriman lines to run, between Seattle and Portland, left Philadelphia Friday and will be absorbed into the system immediately on arrival. Each engine, equipped and ready for service with tender, weighs 436,000 pounds.

The combined weight of the twenty engines is 8,720,000 pounds, and their aggregate cost is $460,000. The engines are not built for mountain climbing, and are not constructed on the pattern of the Mallets, used by the Milwaukee.

The slight grade between Seattle and Portland renders the heavier types unnecessary. The tractive force of the Mikado locomotives is 45,500 pounds, and they will be able to pull a string of loaded cars more than half a mile in length.

ROOSEVELT TRIP JUST TO EXPRESS GRATITUDE--NOT AFTER ANYTHING

Spokane, April 8.—Theodore Roosevelt came very close today to making a public declaration that he would not be a candidate for President in 1912 or at any other time. In the course of a post-luncheon address before the Commercial Club he said:

"I am not an aspirant for anything because I have had everything. I am ahead of the game."

This is the first statement of the kind that Mr. Roosevelt has made during the present tour and was made in connection with his explanation of his trip. It is the closest he has come to making public his frame of mind as regards the possibility of his nomination for the Presidency since the days preceding the last Presidential campaign.

"I have a certain difficulty in the fact that when one acts from motives sufficiently simple there are always so many people who persist in thinking that they are too simple to be believable and ascribe to me a Mephistophelian character, with far-reaching and sinister aspects," said Colonel Roosevelt. "I am not an aspirant for anything, because I have had everything. I am ahead of the game. No man alive has had as good a run for his money as I have had. Because of my life in the West, I was not only able to become president of the United States, but to do the things which in my mind made it worth while being president.

Gratitude Prompts Tour.

"When I left the presidency I made up my mind that when the opportunity offered after my return from Africa, I should try to visit each section and as nearly as possible every state in the Union to greet the people, to endeavor to show them my belief that the man who has been a president of the United States is forever after the debtor of the American people. Mind you, I do not care for any office in itself. The only reason why I value any office is because of the opportunity given by that office to do work worth doing.

"It is what the man does in the position and not the position he holds which gives honor and usefulness to his career. Next to Washington probably the two greatest men—certainly two of the four greatest man in our history—were Benjamin Franklin and Alexander Hamilton, neither of whom ever held a very great office, but each of whom rendered to this country services literally of inestimable value."

WARM WELCOME AT SEATTLE AND TACOMA

Seattle, April 8.—Theodore Roosevelt, on his entry into Washington, met with a welcome which far eclipsed all receptions heretofore extended to him on his present tour. In Tacoma and Seattle hundreds of thousands of men, women and children greeted him with an enthusiasm which is indescribable and which bore striking testimony of the strong bond of sympathy between the people and the former president, established upon admiration of the public career of Roosevelt and respect for the code of political and personal honor and honesty of which he has been at all times so conspicuous an exponent.

The crowds which have greeted Mr. Roosevelt in the two principal Coast cities of the state, as well as those extending a welcome to him at the stations through which his train passed, may well be taken as an index of the sentiment of the whole state—a sentiment to which the climax was given in Spokane Saturday.

Seattle's Welcome.

Seattle welcomed Roosevelt with the boom of guns and the hoarse drone of steam whistles as the Indianapolis steamed up to the dock on schedule.

The docks, roofs, windows and waiting rooms were black with a densely packed throng and the 30 automobiles of the parade got away from the dock terminal under perfect police supervision. Taking a route along First avenue to Yesler way Roosevelt met in Washington the tremendous spontaneous response of the plain people. Every hill street joining the line of parade was solidly jammed with cheering men and women, and a cordon of policemen held the thronging masses back from the line as the big motor cars swung around Yesler way and headed up Second avenue.

All traffic was suspended. Street cars were stopped. Pedestrians could not move and every window, curbstone, cornice and even lofty roofs held their quota of cheering admirers. It is estimated that 60,000 people lined the mile and a half of streets traversed by the Roosevelt party and the colonel stood erect throughout the entire progress, head bared, smile in evidence and hat waving response to the greetings. A detachment of mounted police and a detail from the naval and state militia formed a guard of honor.

Leaving the set limits of the parade all speed laws were off in the 15-minute dash to the university, nearly a mile of private automobiles juggling for place, and almost on the hour the guest, saluted by the cadets, dressed in academical robes, and escorted by the faculty and the delegation from the municipal league, was introduced by President T. F. Kane in the natural theater of the University of Washington, where 15,000 students and citizens had sat for hours.

Gave the Harvard Yell.

Another scene of brilliant colors, eager faces and fine enthusiasm greeted the guest of honor and when the cheering section gave three long 'rahs for Roosevelt, concluding with the Harvard yell, the speaking was on. The colonel was in good form and the peculiar falsetto that marks some of his most pointed repartee was frequently observed. The applause, while well restrained, was frequent, reaching its strongest when the guest said:

"The time has come when the people must insist on a constitutional amendment providing for the election of senators direct. Public men who have observed the antics of some legislatures prefer to choose their senators without the intervention of intermediaries. My state has just taken three months to choose a senator, and New York is ahead of Iowa (Senator Poindexter: "and Colorado") and Colorado. There are several vacancies in the senate; there ought to be more." (Laughter and applause.)

The Seattle Chamber of Commerce refused to have anything to do with the reception of Mr. Roosevelt, the municipal league organizing the reception and the commercial club giving the dinner.

An informal reception took place on the incoming boat and as the steamer neared the dock Colonel Roosevelt, having shaken hands with all who wished, mounted the bridge and saluted the welcoming crowds.

After the speaking at the university the guest was whirled away to dinner, stopping to see the varsity crews in a trial spin.

IN TACOMA STADIUM, 30,000.

Ten Thousand Children's Voices Swell Paeans of Welcome.

Tacoma, April 8.—Despite the lowering skies and a wind that blew chill and sharp across the terraces Tacoma's huge stadium was packed today with 30,000 people, the largest adulence ever assembled therein, to give Theodore Roosevelt the first assemblage greeting of the state of Washington. In the horseshoe sweep of the great open air auditorium were 10,000 children, marshaled bank by bank under their school flags. Men and women also crowded every tier of benches and thousands stood about the brim of the vast amphitheater.

Strongly flecked with the bright colors of the banners, scarlet coats and caps and the holiday attire of spectators, the half circle of crowded humanity presented a scene of brilliant animation that changed momentarily in a shifting kaleidoscopic effect unique in the public gatherings of the west.

As the nine automobiles which constituted Colonel Roosevelt's escort on a speed-shattering trip about the city swept into the stadium a burst of cheering surged down from the waiting thousands. It was not the deep boom of a political meeting, but a strangely composite sound in which the shrill treble of the children and the mellower tones of women's voices blended with the deep-lunged bass of manhood, an oddly thrilling and extraordinary note of greeting.

Throng Suddenly Silent.

At a pistol shot every sound was hushed and the massed figures of the audience seemed as if carven in place during the brief announcement of Lorenzo Dow. Then as Roosevelt, his face still bronzed with tropic suns, hat doffed and teeth bared in the familiar smile, stood alone on the flag-draped platform the applause took a new form. The throb of beaten palms from 60,000 loyal hands, pulsing wavelike from section to section, with the occasional cry of childish voices, thenceforth greeted every characteristic period of the speaker's address with a running ripple of laughter at some extra-Rooseveltian touch.

Declaring that no city on this side of the water or abroad possessed a stadium with such an outlook, Col. Roosevelt said:

"Judging from appearances the children are all right in both quality and quantity. You are not only making proper provision for the next generation, but are providing the next generation. You know my views on the baby question." (Laughter and applause.)

Referring to civic conditions, he said:

Elevate Status of Women.

"You have full control of the machinery of government and have deprived yourselves of the last excuse for bad government. If your women can exercise their citizenship without neglecting the first duty of the home you will elevate the status of women in the whole world."

According to the description of the trainmen Roosevelt "pounded his ear" all the way from Portland. He ate breakfast with Mrs. J. G. Mason, president of the state women voters; Mrs. O. G. Ellis, wife of the supreme court judge, and Mrs. A. E. Shores, president of the women's clubs. Mrs. Ellis talked pure food and the colonel said:

"Pure food is a vital question in conserving national vitality and efficiency."

Greeting him in the rush of the Tacoma lobby was E. S. Kincaid of Dupont. ex-rough rider. Roosevelt looked at him closely, then slapped his hand into Kincaid's, saying, "Why, it's Cherokee Bill!"

Senator Poindexter had to almost remove Bill by force before the colonel would resume the program. Another rough rider present was A. E. Hawley of Tacoma, ex-member of B troop.

With the speaker at the stadium were Speaker Howard D. Taylor, President Paulhamus, Senator Pliny Allen, Representatives Laube, Shutt and others, while Mayor Dilling of Seattle, President Kane of the state university and a top-hatted, frock-coated delegation of Seattle took the guest in charge after the speaking and served lunch on the steamer Indianapolis, leaving Tacoma at 1 p. m.

PREDICTS GREATNESS FOR COAST CITIES

Spokane, April 8.—"With the passage of one generation there will be, I firmly believe, four cities on the Pacific Coast, each with over a million population—Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland and Seattle."

This is Theodore Roosevelt's view of the future of the Pacific Coast, as expressed to various reception committees from Washington towns who boarded his train to greet him. He added, however, that he was more concerned as to the growth of the farming districts; the cities would take care of themselves. Also, he said, he had been gratified by the progress made over the whole Pacific slope, but particularly in the state of Washington.

Predicts From Observation.

Mr. Roosevelt founded his prediction as to the growth of four great cities by the Pacific ocean on a comparison of what he saw eight years ago, when he traveled from end to end of the Coast as president of the United States, with what he has seen and learned during his present tour over the same ground as a private citizen.

During his many train-end talks on his way here from Seattle he expressed amazement at the progress made in eight years. He had expected, he said, that he would see a wonderful change, for he had always believed that the Far West would develop rapidly; but what had actually been accomplished far overreached his expectations. He grew enthusiastic over the prospect of the years to come.

Enthusiasm, as Usual.

Mr. Roosevelt arrived in Spokane late last night, but the lateness of the hour did not diminish the enthusiasm with which he was received.

A great throng blocked the streets about the depot when his train pulled in, and cheers greeted the first appearance of the former president. He held an informal reception on the depot platform, then was hurried to his hotel for a night's sleep preparatory to the ceremonies of today of which he was the central figure.

Washington extended Mr. Roosevelt a continued ovation as his train swept through the Inland Empire. More than a dozen times he was called to the rear platform of his car to talk to throngs which cheered his doctrines of good citizenship to the echo. At each town elaborate preparations to welcome him had been made, and at several points his talks developed into real addresses.

PRESIDENT FIRMLY DENIES TREATY STORY

Washington, April 11.—President Taft moved quickly to squelch the latest Japanese war scare story. Incidentally a member of the senate committee on foreign relations revealed some of the reasons which the president has given that committee and the house committee on foreign affairs for the mobilization of troops on the Texas border.

Through Senator Burton, of Ohio, the president made an emphatic denial of the report from Mexico City that a proposed treaty between Japan and Mexico caused the movement of troops to Texas.

"The president authorized me," said Senator Burton, "to deny in most emphatic terms the story from Mexico City about a secret treaty between Mexico and Japan. There is not a word of truth in it."

PORTLAND CARPENTERS ASK $4 FOR 8 HOURS

Portland, Ore., April 11.—Union carpenters, estimated to number about 1,000, struck here yesterday for an increase of 50 cents per day in pay, a reduction of one hour a day in their time, and for the closed shop.

The union carpenters demand $4 and an eight-hour day.

Union and non-union men on practically all jobs in this city have been working side by side, and as the union men compose only about one-third of the total number employed, their absence was not generally noted by persons outside their craft until late yesterday.

Investigating Woman Suffrage.

Denver, April 8.—Count Carl Moltke, Danish ambassador to the United States, is in Denver to investigate the workings of woman's suffrage in this state for his government, which is considering granting full suffrage to women, including the right to be represented in parliament by their own sex.

MINNESOTA LOSES IN RATE CASES

JUDGE W. H. SANBORN DECIES AGAINST CONTENTION OF STATE COMMISSION.

Holds Necessary Effect of Reductions Ordered Would Be Substantially to Burden and Thereby Regulate Interstate Commerce.

St. Paul, April 10.—Judge Walter H. Sanborn, in the United States Circuit Court, in an opinion handed down, decided the Minnesota rate cases against the members of the Minnesota State Railway Commission.

Judge Sanborn held that the necessary effect of the reductions ordered was substantially to burden and directly to regulate interstate commerce, to create unjust discriminations between localities in Minnesota and those in adjoining states, in violation of the commercial clause of the Constitution, and to take properties of the railroad companies without just compensation.

Judge Sanborn in his ruling says:

Regulative Power Exclusive.

"The power to regulate commerce among the states as granted by the people to the Nation in the Constitution is exclusive, may be exercised to its utmost extent by the use of all means requisite to its complete exercise, and no state by virtue of its police power, or any other power it possesses, may restrict this grant or the plenary exercise of this power, for these inhere in the supreme law of the land and are paramount to the powers of the states.

"The fares and rate in transportation in interstate commerce are National in character, susceptible of uniform regulation, and so far as the Nation has not regulated them are free from regulation by virtue of the commercial clause of the Constitution.

"To the extent that it does not substantially burden or regulate interstate commerce, a state may regulate intrastate commerce and the fares and rates therein within its borders, but no farther. It may enforce regulations of intrastate commerce and its fares and rates, which only incidentally or remotely affect interstate commerce. But state laws, orders and regulations concerning intrastate commerce, or the fares or rates therein, which substantially burden or regulate interstate commerce, or the fares or rates therein, are beyond the powers of the state, unconstitutional and void.

Constitutional Power Supreme.

"Where the attempted exercise of the power of a state to regulate intrastate commerce or the attempted exercise of any of its other powers, infringes upon or conflicts with constitutional power of the Nation to protect the freedom of, and to regulate interstate commerce and the fares and rates therein, the latter must prevail, because that which is not supreme must yield to that which is supreme.

"But when, after fares and rates have been tried by actual use for months, after plenary proof of their effect and other facts determinative of the issue have been made before a master learned in the law, the legal or judicial presumption that his findings are just and right, while not conclusive, is superior to the original presumption that the rates were just and reasonable.

"A net income of 7 per cent per annum on the value of railroad property in Minnesota devoted to the public use of transportation is not more than the fair return to which a railroad company is entitled under the fourteenth amendment to the Constitution."

Stockholders Bring Suits.

The suits were brought by stockholders of the Northern Pacific Railway, the Great Northern Railway and the Minneapolis & St. Louis Railroad against those companies, the Attorney-General and the members of the Railroad and Warehouse Commission, to enjoin the reduction of the passenger rates in Minnesota from 3 cents to 2 cents a mile, the merchandise rates 20 to 25 per cent and the commodity rates 7.37 per cent.

The railroad companies had put all these reductions, except that on commodity rates, into effect and the cases were commenced and tried after the effect of the reductions had become provable.

Full proof of the facts was made before Charles E. Otis, special master, who recommended decrees in favor of the stockholders.

Judge Sanborn rendered decrees which affirm the report of the master and enjoin the enforcement of the reductions after June 1, 1911.

RAILROADS WIN IN SUIT AGAINST INDIANS

Washington, April 11.—The legal contest over the title to the "tide lands" lying in Commencement bay, in Tacoma, Wash., harbor ended yesterday, when the supreme court of the United States dismissed the appeal of the Puyallup band of Indians from the adverse decision of lower federal courts. It is said the land will now be used for terminals by railroads.

The Doings of Our Neighbors

SEQUIM

W. S. Dinsmore of Port Angeles visited F. T. Balch Monday; he was surprised to see the rapid strides Sequim has taken since the last time he was here.

Mrs. Mapes from Mount Moreson, Col., came to Sequim to take possession of her son's (who is deceased) five acres of land. Her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Crow, came with her and they are delighted with the place and will make this their permanent home.

Joe Keeler has installed a gasoline engine to pump water from an over flowing well, which will be a grand thing in case of fire.

Sequim is very proud of her paper, The Sequim Press, which made its debut into the homes of the people of the county last week; let every body help a grand thing along.

Mrs. W. E. Hamilton has a sister and her husband from the East, whom she has not seen for 27 years, visiting her and last Sunday there was a grand reunion of the Hamilton family, children, grandchildren and other friends; a very enjoyable day was spent.

AN EASTER MYTH.

One of the most ancient and interesting of myths is that which connects the hare with Easter. The relation is much clearer than would seem possible at first impression. It's all comes through the moon. Easter, as is well known, is a movable feast dependent on the phases of the moon. The date of the full moon following the vernal equinox fixes the date of Easter. The frisky hare, it seems, has also connection wth the moon. The moon only appears at night; so does the hare, which is a nocturnal animal and comes out after dark to feed. Each little German child is taught that if his deportment has been saisfactory a white hare will come quietly and hide colored eggs in the house for him to hunt on Easter morning. The practice of presenting eggs, now so universal, was brought down to us from the ancient Magians Persians. It springs from the old fable of the mundane egg, of which Armuzd, the Persian spirit of good, and Ahriman, the evil spirit, were to contend until the end of the world.

THE BRIDGE FUND.

It does seem a burning shame for the men of this town to permit the fund, which the ladies of the Literary Club have worked so long for, to be used to build bridges. At the time the fund was started, the bridges were the one great need of the hour, and so they are today, for that matter. But since that time we have had passed a law for our particular benefit, permitting a very small portion of the many thousands of dollars we have for years been paying into the county road and bridge fund, to be used on bridges within the town limits. Other towns in the state have already taken advantage of the law, and our bridges can be built the same way, by co-operation of city and county.

The ladies' bridge fund would be completely lost if spent as intended; it would be swallowed up in the so much greater sum required and in a year or two would be a forgotten incident. Supposing the early residents of Angeles had, in the same manner, raised over a thousand dollars and put it into the Peabody bridge, which must soon be rebuilt. Could they point with pride to that structure today and say, we sunk a thousand dollars in that? On the other hand, had they invested that much money in a park, centrally located, or even in three small parks, one on each "hill," they would by the present time have had something worth while.

There are a number of ways in which this fund could be spent so that it would be a lasting memorial to the energy and perseverance of the ladies of Angeles. Let us then wake up, and go to work and build those bridges the same as other communities do. Let us talk library, or park, or something that will not so prominently advertise our disadvantages as does a ladies' fund for street improvements.

SAYS CITY HAS NO RIGHTS.

It seems that Bellingham is having the same experience as Port Angeles, i. e., that a city has no right or power grant a franchise to build a dock on any lands controlled by the state; that the extension of streets into the harbor area grants no additional power to a city in the matter aside from police control over said street extensions. This is in accordance with Mr. Cochran's contention in the Morse-Port Angeles controversy.

The controversy at Bellingham is over a site for a proposed municipal dock. State Land Commissioner Ross advised the Mayor of Bellingham that the city has no right or power to grant a permit to build a dock on any land controlled by the state. In accordance with this advice the mayor advised the city council to get legislative approval before it proceeds to grant wharf privileges.

The Ross communication to Mayor De Mattons is as follows:

"I understand that your city, by ordinance, has granted permission to build a dock at the entrance of Whatcom creek, and before the city or individuals expend any money on the project I wish to inform you that the city has absolutely no say so about any waterway laid down by the state.

The first number of Geo. O'Brien's "Sequim Press," issued last week, was a credit to the little town in the East End, full of news and interesting to everyone who was favored with a copy. George is down on the publicity program for a talk on irrigation, which will doubtless become quite a hobby with him in the Press, thereby assisting in the advertising and building up of that section.

SCHOOL GROUNDS SHOW EFFECT OF ENTERPRISE

We are sure the citizens of Port Angeles all feel the school board took a commendable step when they directed the schools to observe Arbor Day and furnished trees to be set out. It was observed at Central on Friday last and 24 trees, consisting of maple, elm, mountain ash, horse chestnut, red maple and locust, were planted just outside the sidewalk. Each class had at least two trees to plant and these are to be their special care.

The boys of the school appeared about eight o'clock with pick axes and spades and, laying aside their coats, gladly did the work under the direction of Supt. Geisness. The trees were furnished by the Carter Nursery Company and Mr. Carter was there on the ground giving the boys valuable hints on the subject of tree planting. The eighth grade boys had a chance to put into practice some of the theories studied in Agriculture, which appears in their course of studies for the first time this year. Appropriate programs were rendered b the various rooms, one before and the other during the planting of the trees, each class marching out to assist in the planting of their own trees. After the trees were planted, the Manual Training department, led by Mr. Singer, put up a fence around each tree for protection, showing their proficiency in wielding hammer and saw. Trees were planted on Lincoln Heights school grounds Thursday (Arbor Day) and Central gave a part of the day to planting of a hedge of rosebushes in the school yard on the north and east sides. These improvements will greatly beautify the school grounds and it adopted by all the citizens would add greatly to the beauty of our little town.

In spite of the efforts of the weather man to make conditions disagreeable, the High School entertainment given at the opera house last Monday evening was attended by a large, interested and enthusiastic audience. Selections rendered by the Girls' Glee Club and its members, composed the first part of the program, while a farce entitled "A Box of Monkeys" completed the entertainment. Prominent among the chorus numbers rendered by the Glee Club were Lohr's "Swing Song" and "Out in the Deep" both of which were rendered in a pleasing manner and received deserved encores. The ensemble number, "Sweet the Angelus is Ringing" was also given in a harmonious and vigorous style. Misses Helen Laurens and Francis Hoare were the soloists and they responded to numerous encores, as did the girls' quartette composed of Gertrude Willson, Francis Hoare, Leola Foster, and Angie Ritchie. The feature number of the first part of the program, however, was the song, "Go to Sleep Dolly," by the little Misses Clara Wright and Margaret Stovel who did their parts right royally. During the intermission Paul Farmer entertained the audience with a delightful clarionet solo. The story dealt with a certain Ondego Jhones (Anna Hooker) an elite New Yorker who found her hands more than full in managing four vivacious young people. Leola Foster, as the mischievous westerner, though handicapped by a very severe cold, interpreted her part admirably, as did Gertrude Willson, playing the part of a young English girl. Howard Campbell and James Hooker brought down the house with their mock proposals.

Local hits were also quite frequently in order. Miss Thomas, supervisor of music, has been working hard and faithfully to organize an efficient glee club and to her is due, to a great extent, the credit for the success of the musical numbers.

The funds derived from entertainment will be used for the purchase of books for the school library.

The class in agriculture (eighth grade) has selected a plot of ground in the south side of the school grounds which they will use for experimental purposes in the subject. The members of the class under the leadership of Miss Watson are very enthusiastic and we confidentially expect that the class will soon supply the faculty and Board with fresh vegetables from the school garden.

W. H. Hammel, a popular traveling man from San Francisco, who visits Angeles several times a year in the interests of one of the big wholesale dry goods houses of that city, has been in town a few days the past week. He has traveled extensively all thru the great Northwest and has lived for many years in California, but he says there is no place where they have water to equal that of Port Angeles and as to its climate, he considers it one of the healthiest on earth.

TALKS ON ADVERTISING, NO. 2

Fifteen hundred four page leaflets, advertising the Olympic Empire, have been sent out by the Commercial Club, and by business men generally, in letters during the past week. Prepared by the advertising committee and intended primarily to supplement the invitations, the leaflet tells of the resources of the Empire and of those things which have already been accomplished — including, for good measure, two or three things the committee hopes may come to pass in the immediate future.

Taken as a whole, the statements made are most conservative and would have the endorsement of any resident of the counties in question. Much more might be said of Clallam county and of Port Angeles in particular, and would have been had this folder been designed for general distribution. Another leaflet will be prepared, after the convention, to be furnished to everyone in the city, in order that every piece of mail leaving Angeles may contain something advertising the town and the county.

However, it is not the leaflet itself that we particularly wish to mention, but the fact that it is the first piece of conservative advertising ever put out by the people of Angeles. The advertising committee has taken the stand that every statement must be within the bounds of truth to secure endorsement from the Club. The day of bird's-eye view maps and similar rank misrepresentations is past. Our industries, the opportunities for obtaining work, will no longer be exaggerated. No man will be encouraged to come here with a family and little or no capital. No man will be told that living is as cheap here as in the East. No man will be told that he can surely get work or succeed here. The utmost care and caution will be exercised in advising intending settlers, and the truth, in every detail, told to those seeking information.

A few months ago one of the Olympic-Leader's subscribers, a man living in Atlanta, stopped taking the paper because we weren't publishing the shipping news! Its a fact. He said so in his letter. He said the first thing this town needed was some good live newspapers. That may be true and we would have accepted his opinion on that point — if he hadn't gone on and told wherein we were deficient. There was no shipping news! There was no grain and livestock market report! He understood there was a big coal mine in the county and during the six months he had been taking the paper we hadn't mentioned a single shipment of coal! He had sized up this place from one of the bird's-eye view maps; he had gotten his information from the accompanying text — facts endorsed by the Commercial Club of those days—and tho the weekly paper he was receiving should have been sufficient refutation of the statements made, he preferred to believe the paper at fault. Its such men who buy residence lots in some addition seventeen miles out in the brush—they're born suckers and this community can use their money just as handily as any other. Such advertising, however, will not in the future receive the endorsement of the Commercial Club.

TOLL LOGGING ROAD ACT UPHELD BY COURT

A case of more than ordinary importance, particularly to lumbering interests, was decided by the Supreme Court last week on an appeal from a decision rendered by Judge Still of the Superior Court.

The matter involved was the constitutionality of what is known as the Toll Logging Road Act, by which it is provided that a corporation organized for the purpose of constructing and operating a logging road for transporting timber and timber products shall be common carrier of such products, and shall be entitled to exercise the right of Eminent Domain.

The action was bought by the Port Crescent Timber Transportation Company against James Clark, amongst other land owners along the proposed right of way and on its hearing in the Lower Court, Judge Still sustained the Act, and by his decision adjudged that proposed use was a public use and that the Transportation Company was entitled to condemn right of way. The Defendants took the case to the Supreme Court. Their main contention being that the Act was in contravention of the Constitution of the State.

Apparently the Port Crescent Timber Transportation Company and the Little River Railroad & Logging Company, of this County, were the first corporations to organize under this Act, and the questions involved in the case just decided by the Supreme Court have never before been presented to the Court. It is therefore, a matter of no small credit to Judge Still to have his judgment confirmed by the Supreme Court of this State.

SCHOOL DIRECTORS' MEETING

County School Superintendent Annette Trumbull is planning to hold the annual meeting of school directors on Thursday, April 20th, in order that all those who attend may take in the League Convention and have an opportunity of hearing Governor Hay and the other notables who will be here, and to see the practical road making and stump burning exhibits.

Supt. Dewey has wired he will be present, if it be decided to hold the meeting on that day, and Mr. Leghorne and Senator Polhamus are expected. The matter rests with the directors, many of whom are ranchers and may not be able to attend at this time; the meeting will not be called unless the majority so wish.

Tickets for the banquet, which will be held in the opera house Saturday evening, April 22nd, at seven o'clock, are now on sale at the Commercial Club rooms and by the ladies of the Women's Auxiliary. It is requested that all those expecting to attend send in their names at once. The price has been set at $1.00 a plate.

The Board adjourned to meet Wednesday, the 5th day of April, 1911, at 9 a. m.

Wednesday, April 5th, 1911, at 9 a. m.

The Board met pursuant to adjournment, all members and Auditor being present.

The Board proceeded to the Treasurer's Office and checked the amount of cash on hand, and found the same correct per his record.

The time having arrived for the hearing of the application of the Olympic Power Company, for a franchise over certain roads and highways for transmission lines for their power plant, and it appearing to the Board that due and legal application has therefore been made to th Board by said Olympic Power Company for said franchise and authority, and that upon said application, the said Board had made its order fixing this as the time and place of hearing said application, and causing the County Auditor to give notice of said application for the time and in the manner and form required by law.

And it further appearing to the said Board, from the affidavits of publication filed herein, that due and legal notice of the hearing of this application was published in the Olympic-Leader three times, the date of said last publication being the 31st day of March, 1911, said date being more than five days before the date of said hearing, and that in said notices is stated and set forth, the name of the applicant, the descriptions of the roads and streets or parts thereof for which the application is made, and the time and place fixed for the hearing,

And it further appearing to the said Board from the affidavits of R. D. McLaughlin, Auditor of Clallam County, Washington, and N. M. Hawkins, Deputy Auditor of Clallam County, Washington, that public notice of said hearing had been given by posting written notice in three public places in the City of Port Angeles, that being the County seat of Clallam County, and in at least one conspicuous place on each road or part thereof for which application is made, on the 19th day of March, 1911, that being more than 15 days before the date fixed for said hearing, and that said written notice stated the name of the applicant, the descriptions of the roads or streets or parts thereof, for which application is made, and the time and place fixed for the hearing,

And it further appearing that the said order of this Board and the provisions and requirements of the said order and the laws of the State of Washington, have been fully observed and complied with in all things, and that this Board has jurisdiction to hear said application and grant the franchise and authority asked for thereupon the Board proceeded to the hearing of said application,

Thereupon, Mr. C. J. Farmer, representing the Angeles Telephone & Telegraph Co., and Mr. J. A. Forehand, representing the Postal Telegraph & Cable Co., amongst others, appeared before the said Board and stated that they had no objections to the granting of the proposed franchise, but that inasmuch as the lines of their respective Companies are constructed along and contiguous to the roads and highways covered by said proposed franchise, they requested that in granting said franchise, provisions be made therein for the safeguarding of their interests and of the general public.

Thereupon full discussion of said franchise and its provisions was had by the members of said Board and the representatives of the various interests, and certain changes and additions to said franchise having been suggested and adopted by the said Board, and the provisions of the said franchise being to the satisfaction of all parties appearing at said hearing, the said hearing was continued until two o'clock p. m.

The Board met pursuant to adjournment, and the matter of the hearing of the application of the Olympic Power Company for a franchise coming on to be heard and it appearing to the Board that the law has been in all things duly complied with, and that there are no objections to said franchise, the same was duly and regularly granted by the unanimous vote of all the members of said Board, as follows, to-wit—

BABY THEN TOOK HER NAP

Does Things to Unbreakable Doll That Inventor Had Believed to Be Impossible.

A New Jersey man and his wife went on a little vacation trip with some friends in an automobile last week. They left the baby at home with the maternal grandmother and the baby's uncle. All the while the parents were away the baby was uppermost in their thoughts. In one of the towns they passed through they saw a sign in a shop window advertising an "unbreakable" doll. They stopped the machine and hurried in to get one for the baby. It was just what they had been looking for, and it seemed a providential occasion to fill a long-felt want.

When they got home they gave the unbreakable doll to the baby. The baby is a little maiden not yet two years old, but already has a fondness for dolls. She has also a desire to destroy them that some of the friends of the family call abnormal. She has more ways of breaking up her dolls than have ever been noticed before. Therefore what would happen to the unbreakable toy was a matter that was watched with considerable interest not only by her immediate family but by those in the neighborhood who were informed of the experiment.

The baby did not have the doll in her arms more than two minutes before she tried her strength. At the first attempt to pull it apart she was unsuccessful, and appeared to be puzzled. After swinging her right arm to and fro and seeming to do a little shadow boxing, just to see if she was in good condition or whether the trouble was with the doll, she tackled it again. This time she did better, and the doll retired from the encounter with a fractured skull. This seemed to encourage the baby, and she hurled the doll with excellent air and all her force against the marble fireplace. The doll's neck was broken as the result. In half an hour, as the result of the baby's efforts, the unbreakable doll was reduced to pieces fit only for the scrap heap. Then the child lay down for her afternoon nap and went to sleep with a seraphic smile on her face. She had achieved what the inventor of the unbreakable doll had believed to be impossible. She did not know this, but she was well satisfied with the result.

Faith and Works.

Representative Crumpacker of Indiana assured Representative Korby of the same state that it was ten minutes to 12, "although," he added, "my watch may be a few minutes this side or the other of the correct time."

"You are not as confident about your timepiece," said Korby, "as my friends, Bishop Chatard of Indianapolis and Bishop O'Donoghue of Louisville, when they compared watches once upon a time. 'It is just three minutes to 9,' said Bishop Chatard.

"'It is exactly four minutes and a half to 9,' retorted Bishop O'Donaghue.

"'I know the exact time,' exclaimed Bishop Chatard, 'for my watch is one in which I have the utmost faith.'

"'Ah, bishop,' replied the prelate from Louisville, 'we must not hope to succeed through faith alone. I have not only faith in my watch, but I know of its good works.'"

Royal Abbess of Seventeen.

The Archduchess Elizabeth Francesca, oldest unmarried granddaughter of the emperor of Austria, who made her debut at the first Viennese court ball of the season, did not present so picturesque a figure as her cousin, the Archduchess Elizabeth Mary, on a similar occasion.

Until her marriage with Prince Otto zu Windischgratz the Crown Prince Rudolph's daughter was abbess of the order of St. Theresa and wore the velvet and ermine robes of her office at all state functions.

With these she carried a pastoral staff, studded with jewels, presented to the order by St. Wenceslaus, king of Bohemia, 600 years ago.

A miter of peculiar shape perched on the curly head of the seventeen-year-old archduchess gave a piquant finish to her appearance when she made her first public courtesy to her grandfather.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Resourceful.

"We should all be like the piano tuner I once met out west.

"'Why,' I said to him—for we were in a wild, unsettled country—'surely piano tuning can't be very lucrative here. I shouldn't imagine that pianos were very plentiful in this region.'

"'No, sir, they're not,' said the piano tuner, 'but I make a pretty fair income by tightening up barbed wire fences.'"

CHANGE IN WOMAN'S LIFE

Made Safe by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Graniteville, Vt.—"I was passing through the Change of Life and suffered from nervousness and other annoying symptoms, and I can truly say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has proved worth mountains of gold to me, as it restored my health and strength. I never forget to tell my friends what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me during this trying period. Complete restoration to health means so much to me that for the sake of other suffering women I am willing to make my trouble public so you may publish this letter."—Mrs. Chas. Barclay, R.F.D., Graniteville, Vt.

No other medicine for woman's ills has received such wide-spread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine we know of has such a record of cures as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For more than 30 years it has been curing woman's ills such as inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains and nervous prostration, and it is unequalled for carrying women safely through the period of change of life.

Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

Tide Turns East.

Among the surprises of the federal census of last year were the returns from the middle western states. Throughout a large part of the richest and most prosperous farming region of the country the rural population, it was found, had decreased absolutely as well as relatively. The returns have not yet been analyzed by the census authorities with a view to determining the full extent of the rural depopulation, but it is known, for example, that despite a considerable urban growth, an area west of the Mississippi and north of the Missouri larger than the whole of New England contained fewer people in 1910 than in 1900. The loss of rural population, which is by no means confined to this section, seems in a measure the outcome of an eastward migration of experienced, well-to-do farmers that promises to restore agriculture in the east to its old prosperity.—New York Sun.

Too Unpleasant.

Dr. William J. Gies of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, was discussing at a dinner in New York, his recent dictum that cannibalism is the ideal diet, for the reason that the best food is the one which most nearly approaches the bodily composition of the eater.

"Cannibalism is the ideal regimen," said Dr. Gies, smiling, "and the books of Stanley, Jameson, Barttelot and other explorers will bear me out. The cannibals of the Congo are wonderfully fine fellows physically.

"But cannibalism is, of course, as unpleasant and as impossible as the economy suggested by the southern housewife.

"'Here,' said her husband to her, 'if you're going in to the village, buy me 5 cents' worth of snuff.'

"But the woman shook her head.

"'No,' she said, 'times are too hard for snuff-taking. In future, John, you must just tickle your nose with a straw.'"

French Method of Developing the Bust

Mdme Du Barrie Explains Free How the Bust May Be Developdd 2 to 8 Inches in 30 Days

"I am explaining for the first time to the ladies of America," says Madame DuBarrie, "the French Method of developing the bust. It is much more effective, the results appear much more quickly, the breasts become more firm, plump and symmetrical, the method is more simple, the effects more lasting, and altogether beyond comparison with the results produced here.

"By this French Method, the breasts may be developed from 2 to 8 inches in 30 days. This applies to women of almost any age, from young girls to elderly matrons, whether the bust is absolutely not developed at all, or has grown weak and flabby, and hangs, no matter from what cause."

We suggest to our lady readers that they write to Madame DuBarrie for particulars of this remarkable French Method, enclose 2 cents in stamps for the illustrated booklet and address it to Mdme. DuBarrie, Suite 2827 Quinlan Bldg., Chicago, Ill.

SO THEY KICKED THE KING

How English Schoolboys for Once Failed to Overlook a Title Much-Honored.

Most public school men who look back upon their school days will admit they were scarcely conscious of the origin of any of their fellows. The son of a tradesman had an equal chance of being popular with the son of an ancient family. Tom Hughes was unerring in his judgment when he gave his schoolboy hero the simple name of Tom Brown. Rev. Augustus Orlebar, whose fight at Rugby suggested to Tom Hughes Tom Brown's fight with Slogger Williams, thinks that the modern boy is pampered beyond reason and is in danger of losing his hardness; also that he respects rank more than formerly. The pampering may sometimes be real, though we suspect that strict medical observation, hygienic conditions and careful choice of food are commonly mistaken for pampering. But we cannot accept the social snobbishness. Mr. Orlebar says that in his day "it was almost a handicap against a boy to be the possessor of a title."

We are not sure that the attitude of the present public schoolboy is not better. He would not press the possession of a title against any boy; he would feel instinctively that to do so would be to make rather too much of the title, which in his view obviously could never be so important as colors in the cricken eleven or the football team. There used to be a story that when it was arranged that the Duke of Genoa, then a boy at Harrow, was to succeed to the throne of Spain every boy in the school (of sufficient size, let us presume) solemnly kicked him in order that he might have the gratification of saying in after years that he had kicked a king. An embroidery upon that significant legend tells us that only one boy rejected the great opportunity, and he was a member of a royalist family. When asked why he had refrained he piously exclaimed: "How could I kick the Lord's anointed?"—The Spectator.

Congressman Duncan McKinley, the silver-tongued lame duck from California, who was defeated in his own district last November while he was distributing Republican oratory in other parts of the country, was in the east right after election. He met President Taft in New York.

"Yes, so am I," admitted the congressman, with a tone that was as good as an affidavit. "But I am not going out of public life."

"That's good; what are you going to do?" asked the president.

"Don't know yet, but I'm going to have a position in the public service. I'm willing to leave that to you."

The president laughed, and so did the congressman. The story goes that Mr. McKinley filed on two or three good things that were found already preempted and finally got his eye on the collectorship of the port of San Francisco.

Chief Justice White's Ways.

Chief Justice White, who is one of the most amiable men in the world off the bench, is a terror to the lawyers that appear before the Supreme court to argue cases. He can argue a case himself in French, Spanish or English, and perhaps in some other languages. He is a student of philology, and when a lawyer is threshing about as to the meaning of some word, the chief justice is apt to break out with something like this:

"Give the Greek derivative of it."

A common expression from the chief justice is: "Illustrate it; illustrate it."

To have the chief justice lean over the bench and explode a question under a green lawyer is apt to make the latter lose his feet completely. Some days ago, when the attorney general was arguing in the Standard Oil case, the chief justice shot out:

"Give an illustration of it."

But it didn't scare Lawyer Wickersham. He has been in court before and is hardened. He proceeded to illustrate what he was trying to tell, and seemed to satisfy the court with it.

Doctors Said He Would Die

A Friend's Advice Saves Life

I wish to speak of the wonderful cure that I have received from your noted Swamp-Root, the great kidney and bladder cure. Last summer I was taken with severe pains in my back and sides. I could not breathe without difficulty and was nearly wild with the desire to urinate. Was compelled to do so every ten minutes with the passage of pure blood with the urine. I tried all the different doctors from far and near, but they said it was no use to doctor as I would die anyway. I was at the end of my rope and was so miserable with pain and the thought that I must die that words cannot tell how I felt. One day a friend told me of the wonderful help she had received from Swamp-Root. She gave me one of your pamphlets which I read and determined to try Swamp-Root. After taking half a bottle I felt better. Have now taken ten bottles and am well as I ever was, thanks to Swamp-Root. I wish to tell all suffering people that have kidney, liver or bladded trouble, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is the best medicine on the market.

All persons doubting this statement can write to me and I will answer them directly. Yours very truly,

CLYDE F. CAMERER,

His Reason for Secrecy.

Every fight fan in New York, says the correspondent of The Cincinnati Times-Star, knows little "K. O." Brown, who has won that title because he wins most of his battles by a knockout. When he is in the ring he is a muscular youngster, all wire and muscle, and with a most formidable fighting frown. Outside the ring he is just a schoolboy, blonde, smooth-faced, modest and everything but pugilistic in appearance. The other night the coppers raided the street on which he lives and caught "K. O." and a dozen other youthful malefactors. They had been playing football in the open street. They were taken to Night Court.

"C'n I give a name that ain't me own?" asked "K. O." of the court.

The magistrate wanted to know what was up, of course, and expressed astonishment when he was told that the quiet, pleasant looking little chap was the fighter who is working his way toward the top of the pugilistic tree.

"And why do you want to keep your name a secret?" asked he of young Brown.

"Because," said the fighter, "if me mother hears that I have been pinched she'll lam the daylights out of me."

An Honor to Allison.

"Do you know," inquired Wilbur Reaser, the New York portrait painter, "that when my painting of Senator Allison was hung in the lobby of the senate, the precedent of 40 years was broken?"

Surprised being expressed Mr. Reaser explained.

"It is a fact that since the beginning of the constitutional government the senate had bought only nine portraits for the lobby. The first was Washington's and the eighth was Charles Sumner's. For almost 40 years nobody was considered worthy to follow in the distinguished line.

"It was generally thought that no other portrait would ever be added to the group; but when Senator Allison died, after serving longer in the senate than any other man in the history of the government, the rule was broken, and his picture became the ninth."—Washington Times.

Mistaken Calculation.

"Why is that man so determined to marry a prima donna?"

"He has an absurd idea that she will have to save her voice for singing instead of using it to tell him exactly what she thinks."

Discrimination.

"What do you charge for your rooms?"

"Five dollars up."

"But I'm a student—"

"Then it's five dollars down."—Cornell Widow.

The League badges, a two-inch white ribbon with purple lettering, will be furnished delegates and members; others can obtain them at 10c each.

The Club will ask the ministers of the city to preach a sermon on "Unity" at an early date.

IMPROVEMENTS AT SEQUIM

Jim Knight has his ten acres all cleared of stumps and stones and expects to have it plowed in the near future.

The two saw mills and the planing mill in Sequim are rushed with orders much of the time by reason of so much building now going on all over the east end of the county. Everyone seems to be improving their home places and a good many are building. The spirit of progress and improvement is abroad and Sequim prairie, the dairy and fruit section of Clallam county, is fast becoming the home of energetic and progressive homeseekers.

The business man, as well as the rancher, looking for a place for investment and the quiet of a pleasant country village home, is not slow in observing the opportunities here offered, and Sequim is well supplied with stores. Our dealers carry dry goods, groceries, drugs, hardware, furniture, millinery, farm machinery and implements, in fact everything needed in the way of merchandise for the comfort and contentment of a well regulated and up-to-date community. Our churches and schools are as good or better than those of many other progressive communities; we have the telephone, which makes close neighbors of us all; a community irrigation system, insuring an abundant crop no matter how dry the season, a daily free rural mail service, good roads, a fertile soil, good gardens and an abundance of the choicest of fruits and sweetest and brightest of flowers; fresh, pure water and air from the ever present snow on the Olympics, near by. When looking for a home put Sequim on your itineracy card.

Mr. Durand, the census man, has attempted to "discredit the excellent and really wonderful showing in the 1910 report of the state fish commissioner," and the Sedro Woolley Courier takes a rap at him in this way: "Durand may have been a great find by President Taft but it will take a lot of persuasion to make the Northwest ever believe it. Notwithstanding the seemingly unfair treatment Washington has received from this department she has outclassed every state in the union by having made a net gain of 120 per cent in population during the past ten years."

ly. Put the city clean and it is wonderful how good we will all feel.

Port Angeles hospitality will, of course, be in evidence. The latch-string at every home should be out, and the word "Welcome" placed on every front door. Every man, woman and child should feel that they are members of the great reception committee of the whole to greet cordially every stranger within the gates next week.

Let everybody wear smiles and give out sunshine.

Every resident should wear a convention badge.

Be on hand, if possible, to meet incoming visitors. Go also to the departing boats and send off the "departing guests" with cheers and salutations. Tell them to "come again."

Let the people of Port Angeles (of both sexes) attend the sessions of the convention, and particularly the "Publicity Supper" on Saturday night. There will be no formal "agonies" of dress, and all can feel at home Get tickets at the banks or drug stores.

The Governor of Washington will be here to speak on Friday night at the opera house; don't fail to greet and hear him.

Think Olympic Peninsula, talk Olympic Peninsula at every opportunity.

Especially make welcome your fellow citizens of Port Townsend, Irondale, Sequim, Crescent, Clallam Bay, and the other communities of the Peninsula. They are your co-workers in this new forward movement.

Remember the slogan of the convention, "Get Together."

Yours in the good work,
WALLACE R. STRUBLE.

Port Angeles, April 13, 1911.

MRS J. F. SCHWEITZER

The Great Reaper, ever binding the sheaves of His harvest, has again invaded the home of one of Port Angeles best families, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Schweitzer, and gathered the spirit of the aged mother, Mrs. Hadank. It is with regret that friends are called upon to mourn with the family one so generally loved and respected. Mrs. Hadank was born in Germany in 1838, and came to this country with her parents when but nine or ten years of age. November, 1909, with her daughter, Mrs. Schweitzer, and family, she came to Port Angeles to make her home. She had been in feeble health for some time, receiving a paralytic stroke, from which she failed to rally, about two weeks before her death, which came peacefully and in full possession of her faculties, on Friday, April 7th.

Mrs. Hadank was a devout member of the Catholic church and her days were spent in usefulness for the good of others, and the sorely afflicted daughter, to whom the hearts of all our people go out in tenderest sympathy, can always look back to her memory with pride and satisfaction, for she was a mother who dignified her position and honored her Maker. Funeral services were held from the Catholic church Monday, April 10th.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to thank our kind friends and neighbors for the kindness and sympathy shown us during our recent bereavement and death of our beloved mother and grandmother, also for the many beautiful floral offerings.

FIRST TROUT OF SEASON.

E. E. Hopkins had on display in his show window yesterday a fine big trout, the first of the season. Gene says the big fellows are rising to the troll right along in the little lake now, and suggests that two or three of our merchants could put in a day or two next week to good advantage in catching fish to have on exhibition during the convention. An exhibit with appropriate card and photo of the hotel wouldn't be a bad idea for some of the resort owners.

Mrs. Ida Jameson has been in Seattle this week buying a stock of hats and other millinery goods. She will return today and be ready to fill any kind of an order in the millinery line, so make your selections at as early a date as possible to avoid the rush.

MRS. MARGARET DEWAR DICK

Mrs. Margaret Dewar Dick, 73 years, for thirty years a resident of Puget Sound, died yesterday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Harry Cook, at 1150 17th Ave., after a brief illness, says the Seattle Times of the 5th inst.

So successful was Mrs. Margaret Dewar Dick in hiding her suffering from her children, grandchildren and other relatives that those who gathered around her deathbed did not know that the end was so near. Only the members of her family living in Seattle were at the bedside when death called. Mrs. Dick was a pioneer of Seattle and of old Scotch descent.

News of "Gran" Dick's death carried sadness into many homes in the Pacific Northwest. In Seattle few women were better known. As the grandmother of Captain of Detectives Charles Tennant and Attorneys Albert and George Tennant, with their wide acquaintance, years ago she became "Gran" Dick to hundreds of friends.

After rearing thirteen children of her own, Mrs. Dick cheerfully accepted the task of looking after her orphaned grandchildren, the three Tennant boys, and little Mable Tait, for whom she became mother after her husband, James Brownlee Dick, died.

At the old Tennant homestead, Terry Avenue and Pike street, she became the head of the household and remained there until five years ago, when Charles Tennant married. Then Mrs. Dick went to live with her you gest daughter, Mrs. Cook, and her son in-law, Hugh Tait, counsel for the Stone-Webster corporation.

Her more than three score years and ten did not keep Mrs. Dick from attending the policeman's ball and taking part in the grand march with her grandson, Captain Tennant. In the dancing that followed Mrs. Dick waltzed long and often as she had danced at the homes of her many friends. Her grace in the old Scotch dances and her voice as heard in the song of her native land are familiar to hundreds of Seattle residents.

As a last tribute to the woman they loved and respected—the grandmother of their fellow workmen—members of the city detective department have sent a beautiful floral offering to Dungeness, where the funeral will be held tomorrow.

Mrs. Dick was born at Carluke, near Glasgow, seventy-three years ago and was married there. Her husband became a mining engineer and his work carried him all over the world.

Some of their children were born in Scotland, others New Zealand, and others in Indiana, Louisiana and Washington.

Mrs. James Tennant, mother of the Tennant boys, was the eldest of thirteen children, ten of whom survive. There are also twenty-three grandchildren. The children are: James and William Dick, of Dungeness; David Dick and Mrs Cook, of Seattle; Mrs. H. M. and Mrs. Frank Fisher, Mrs. George Lotgesell and Mrs. George Davis of Port Angeles; Mrs. Charles O'Brien, Los Angeles, and Mr. M. Morrison, Port Townsend.

Interment was at Dungeness where she was laid to rest beside her husband, who was drowned in the Dungeness river thirteen years ago. Rev. McNamee preached the funeral sermon to a large audience of old-time friends.

Messer. E. E. Fisher, David Govan, Wm. Ritchie, Donald McInnes, C. W. Thompson and John Knapman were the active pall bearers and Alex Henderson, John Wilcox, Robert Travers, Thomas Evans, Herman Sinders and Fred Ward the honorary pall bearers.

Flowers seem to be the best emblem we have to express our love and sympathy and they were sent in great profusion by old friends and pioneers of Seattle, Port Angeles and Dungeness, many of the floral pieces being of unusual beauty Thus would we leave her and in memory keep her, as sweetly reposing among the beautiful and fragrant flowers.
