MOUNT PLEASANT

Mount Pleasant is a district well adapted to dairying and general farming on account of the fertility of its soil. It is well irrigated from the mountains back of it, which is a positive assurance against drouth and which gives rise to an abundant growth of forage for pasture of cattle and hogs, both of which do well here. Diseases of cattle and hogs or other stock is unknown. The grazing season lasts from April first to November 30th and sometimes longer. The many springs of the purest of soft water all over this community affords an abundance of water for dairying purposes. The market for butter, butter fat, beef, pork and other products is always at its zenith and past demonstrations have proved that dairying and hog raising is one of the most remunerative kinds of farming. If not the highest here. There are about twenty good farms in the district and new settlers constantly coming in.

LOST MOUNTAIN VALLEY

The valley of Lost Mountain, sometimes called Texas Valley, is ten miles southwest of Sequim and lies in the foothills of the Olympics.

It has about 1600 acres of fertile land now farmed by less than a dozen families all of whom are fairly prosperous, principally in dairying. We ship our cream out to Sequim, where a part of it goes to the creameries there and a part is sent to Seattle. Our soil is fertile and very productive and we can raise all kinds of farm crops such as are grown in this section of Puget Sound. Berries and several kinds of fruit have been tried and will grow fine here. I have a farm of 440 acres and I am now trying irrigation on a part of it and I find that by irrigating I can double the productive capacity of the already fertile soil. In all respects our valley is as productive and as desirable as any district in this county of like extent. We are among the nearest to the mountains and between us and the sea shore of the Straits of Fuca lies the great and growing east end of Clallam County, an empire of natural and undeveloped wealth and resources, destined, in my judgment, when fully developed, to be the garden spot of the Olympic Peninsula and of the gilt-edge sections of the great State of Washington.

VAN KUREN.

This section, originally called Cedar Ridge, was first settled in 1889. It is north of the forest reserve and between Seibert and McDonald Creeks. Lying as it does in the horse shoe bend of the Olympics gives us a magnificent view of those mountains. We also have some fine views of the Straits.

Large bodies of timber, mostly cedar and fir, constitute the chief wealth of this locality.

VanKuren includes the school districts. VanKuren and Blue Mountain. The latter is the most populous and has the most improvements.

It has a cemetery, a good school house, Sunday School every Sunday and a social club that meets every month.

There are fish in the streams for the angler, game in the forest for the hunter and plenty of room for new settlers.

BLUE MOUNTAIN

The air and healthfulness of Blue Mountain is incomparable. Often when wind and fog prevail along the water front all is quiet and sunshiney up here. Barring accidents, a physician is never called.

With the road spanning the gulches and in direct line to the

COUNTY ROAD WORK MUST BE STOPPED

Attorney General Holds Commissioners Have No Power to Issue Warrants With Districts in Debt.

Clallam county can issue no warrants for road work for two years to come! The explosion of a dynamite boom under the court house could not have caused greater consternation than did the receipt of an opinion from the attorney general this week advising the county officials that they can not legally issue warrants against the road and bridge funds when there is no cash on hand.

For more years than the officials in the auditor's office have any remembrance, the funds of the four districts have been overdrawn. Each year a certain amount of road work has been laid out—the people have had the benefit of new and improved roads, the use of the money at a reasonable rate of interest, and heretofore there has been no complaint. It has always been presumed that the custom was perfectly legal, various attorney generals having so interperted the law. For instance,

Attorney General John D. Atkinson, in an opinion rendered the county auditor of Kitsap, July 11, 1906, advised that "there seems to be nothing contained in the laws of this state which would justify an opinion that the county commissioners or the county auditor on the order of the commissioners, cannot overdraw the funds of a district road and bridge fund when there would seem to be a necessity or a reasonably urgent cause for so doing. It would seem to be considered that warrants actually drawn or issued on a road district fund should not and would not be illegal, though the money of the fund were exhausted, and all of it levied for the present year had been paid out. When endorsed by the county treasurer as "Not paid for lack of funds" such warrants would draw interest from the date of presentation as in case of school warrants."

The question of legality of warrants so issued was brought up for the first time in this county a few days ago by Mr. Hunt of the Milwaukee Land Co., who intimated that legal action would be brought if the practice were not discontinued. Auditor McLaughlin, applying at once to the attorney general, was advised that warrants should not be issued upon the funds of a road district, when the district is already in debt and was referred to an opinion, given by Attorney General Bell on the 5th of August, 1910, wherein he stated,

"An examination of the various sections of the code relating to road districts and the supervision of the county commissioners over such districts shows that in no place is authority given to the county commissioners to incur an indebtedness in excess of the tax levy for the general road and bridge fund. Statutes granting various powers to be exercised by the county commissioners must be strictly construed, and inasmuch as there is no specific provision permitting the county commissioners to incur an indebtedness in excess of the tax levy for general road and bridge purposes, we are of the opinion that no such power resides in the county commissioners. "You are therefore advised that the commissioners have not the authority to authorize the payment of bills from the road funds of a road district, when the district is already in debt, and the tax levy has been exhausted."

Prosecuting Attorney Ritchie is now in Olympia conferring with the attorney general and further information is anxiously awaited. The Board, in session this week, has allowed the bills presented for work done last month, and the Govan contract at Lake Crescent will be completed, but further than that no road work can be done by the districts until they are again on a cash basis.

The county will expend the $5,000 to its credit in the state treasury, being the balance due from the State Aid fund, on the Angeles-Dungeness road from Ennis creek eastward; the law provides that this money must be spent in building roads from centers of population.

The Board had accepted Mr. Govan's bid of $5500 for work on the Burnt Mountain Cut-off, but had to annul its action.

Road district No. 1 had $19,766 outstanding warrants on December 31, 1910, with $321 cash on hand; No. 2, $14,710 with $523 on hand; No. 3, $34,687 with $3,267 on hand and No. 4 $25,540 warrants outstanding, with a deficit of $328 in its cash account. It is thought probable that the second and fourth districts — Port Angeles and Forks — may be able to clean up their indebtedness in eighteen months.

Meanwhile every foot of timber land in the county will be cruised, and the so-called cruises turned in by the Milwaukee Land Co. and the other big timber companies will in the future be returned with thanks. Ranges 13 and 14, which include the bulk of districts 3 and 4, will be taken up this year, Assessor Hallahan expecting to have ten crews in the field by early June. With the timber on the tax rolls at a fair valuation, and a levy of ten mills in each district, the county will soon recover lost ground, and the necessity of getting on a cash basis will prove the best thing that ever happened.

Word was received from Mr. Ritchie this (Friday) morning to the effect that the attorney general advises the completion of work now under way.

IRRIGATION WORK STARTS MONDAY

Blue Mountain Country to Be Made a Garden of Eden by New Company.

Work will commence Monday next on the dam to be put in on Siebert creek for the new irrigation system, which will furnish water for all the land lying between Siebert's and McDonald creeks, a beautiful plateau or series of plateaus and benches of very rich and fertile soil, that with the aid of irrigation can in a short time be a close rival of the already famous Sequim section.

The Siebert Creek Irrigation Company, now fully organized and equipped for active work, has a capital of $50,000. N. C. Strong of Port Townsend is president of the company, T. J. Appleton, Jr., vice-president, Geo. Welch, Port Townsend, treasurer, and L. M. Campbell of Port Angeles secretary and manager of the land department.

All the land has a commanding view of the Straits on the north and the towering, snow-clad Olympic mountains to the south. It is ideal dairying, fruit, and general farming land. Already some twenty-five farmers have cleared portions of these tracts and all are equipped with comfortable homes and are anxious and ready to commence the work of more intense farming by irrigation.

Captain Thomas Jones will have charge of the construction work. The dam will be built on Siebert's creek at a point about seven miles up stream from the Straits at an elevation of 1300 feet, and at the very foot of Blue Mountain. From this dam the water will be carried through flumes for a long distance along the side of the canyon, then by a main canal, winding around the slopes, always keeping the water to the the highest point, and at intervals along the canal storage reservoirs will be built so as to have ample water in the dryest part of the season.

DELIGHTFUL BEYOND DESCRIPTION

President Green's Press Club Excursion Received Unstinted Praise.

The Seattle Times of Monday evening speaks of the Press Club cruise on the Chippewa to Port Angeles last Sunday as delightful beyond description. Beating her schedule by half an hour, she arrived in Angeles at 1:30 o'clock.

While the visitors disembarked, a concert was presented by Wagner's Band on board and the Angeles Marine Band on the dock.

A large reception committee, both from the Commercial Club and the Women's Auxiliary, greeted the visitors and accompanied them to the Commercial Club room and the Masonic Hall. At the former place President Seevers gave a short address of welcome, pleasantly responded to by Fred Braid, president of the Press Club.

At Masonic Hall the ladies were served with hot tea and wafers by a committee of the Women's Auxiliary. This was certainly a happy tho't and was greatly appreciated by the visiting ladies, who were unstinted in their praise of the courtesies shown them and all expressed themselves eager to visit our city again in the near future.

The Masonic Hall was taxed to its utmost capacity to accommodate all the visitors in spite, of the fact that hundreds attended the ball game between Eilers' Pioneers and the Port Angeles Reds. Others enjoyed auto-

CONVENTION AFTERMATH

Letters from Prominent Men, All Breathing Good Wishes for the Development Movement.

A marked feature of the Convention was the receipt of many letters of regret from prominent men of the county in answer to the Port Angeles Commercial Club's invitations to attend the Development League Convention. Through the courtesy of Secretary Cosser we present a few excerpts from the many replies.

Howard Elliot, Pres. N. P. Railway, St. Paul, Minn.: "I am sorry to say that it will be impracticable for me to be on hand, but I have asked some of our western officers to go. I much wish I could attend the convention and learn something by personal observation of the Peninsula."

G. A. Glines, Winnipeg, Manitoba: "Regret cannot be with you in the person, but am with you in spirit. You have my best wishes for the success of the convention. Hope it may result in getting together in earnest and by concerted action of all mark an epoch in the Peninsula that will be an important page in the future history of the Puget Sound district."

A. M. Ingesell, Vice-pres. C. M. & P. S. Ry., Seattle: "Meetings of this character are beneficial generally to the whole northwest, to which this company are bending their energies to bring many colonists."

H M. Haller, President Portland Chamber of Commerce: "I am very much taken with the red letters (Get

50,000 HOMEMAKERS FOR WESTERN WASHINGTON

Seattle, May 1.—Initial steps having for their object the placing within five years of not less than 50,000 homemakers upon the lands of Western Washington, were taken at a meeting held during the week in Bellingham, where representatives of the commercial bodies of Whatcom, Skagit and San Juan counties met in response to a call issued by the Bellingham Chamber of Commerce. They voted to form a Wetsern Washington Development League for the exploitation and development of the Sound and island counties.

Loomis Baldrey, of the Bellingham chamber; Frank T. Watson, of the Olympia chamber, and Rufus R. Wilson, of the Seattle Commercial Club, were appointed a committee to prepare a scheme of organization along which the proposed league may prosecute its work, and the final steps for the league's organization will be taken at a meeting to be held at the rooms of the Seattle Commercial Club on the afternoon of Tuesday, May 16.

It is unlikely that the routine work of organizing the Western Washington Development League will be finished at a single session on May 16. The same evening those attending the conference, along with the newly-elected officers of the league, will be the guests at dinner of the Seattle Commercial Club.

DIRECT ELECTION FAVORED BY SENATE COMMITTEE

Washington, May 1.—The senate judiciary committee reported favorably on the resolution submitting a constitutional amendment for the direct election of United States senators. The measure has already passed the house.

The committee voted 7 to 5 to recommend the adoption of the resolution in the form in which it passed the house. This gives the states control of elections.

On the vote on the adoption the following voted in favor of the measure: Chilton, Culberson, Overman, Bacon, Cummins, Borah and Brown.

The favorable report was then made to the senate. Senator Heyburn protested against the report on the ground that it seemed hasty and ill-advised.

UNION MEN CALL McMANIGAL ANOTHER HARRY ORCHARD

Los Angeles, April 29.—That the confession of Ortie McManigal will prove a boomerang against the prosecution, is the statement of local labor leaders, defending the McNamara brothers, today.

McManigal, they say, has been for weeks in the employ of Detective Burns. McManigal's confession, they assert, is a replica of that made by Harry Orchard and which failed dismally in the attempt to convict Moyer, Haywood and Pettibone.

Attorney Job Harriman today declared that not only was McManigal in close touch with Burns, but he was paid money by the latter and was given a monetary reward in return for a "confession" and was promised that "whatever happens, he would be taken care of."

LOOKS TO SUFFRAGE TO HELP PEACE MOVEMENT

Milwaukee, Wis., May 1.—Baron d'Estournelles de Constant sees in woman suffrage a powerful factor for international friendship. In an interview here he said:

"Every autocratic government fears woman and her influence. She is the obstacle which autocracy sometimes finds in its path. No government tyranny, no policy of exploitation and conquest is conceivable in a country where woman is free. Our literature bears with it the lesson that woman is the real obstacle to the spirit of conquest.

Disbarment Case Fails.

Disbarment proceedings, brought against State Senator James W. Bryan, an attorney of Kitsap county, on the complaint of five fellow attorneys of the Kitsap bar, came to a sudden close yesterday, when Judge John F. Main ordered the prosecution to complete the evidence as to the remaining charges, listened to the arguments, denied the prayer for disbarment of the relators, and dismissed the case.

Would Fix Postal Clerks' Hours.

Washington, April 29.—Representative Reilly of Connecticut has introduced a bill providing an eight-hour work day for mail carriers and clerks in first and second class postoffices, the eight hours to be consumed within a limit of ten consecutive hours, and for pro rata compensation for all work in excess of eight hours a day. It was referred to the committee on postoffices and postroads.

LOS ANGELES SUSPECTS SOON TO BE ARRAIGNED--LINE OF DEFENSE

Los Angeles, April 29.—With details supplied by Ortie McManigal, District Attorney Fredericks began the preparation of the case against John J. and James B. McNamara for dynamiting the Los Angeles Times, and against McManigal for the explosion that partially destroyed the Llewellyn Iron Works.

Two stenographers segregated the details relating to each job. These were put down in chronological order and neatly typewritten. Five copies were made, four for actual use and the fifth to be stored away in a safety deposit vault. It required three hours for McManigal to relate the facts which he alleged constituted the gigantic conspiracy which destroyed $4,000,000 worth of property and killed more than a score of men.

James B. Did It.

It was James B. McNamara alone who piled the dynamite under the Los Angeles Times building, according to McManigal. David Caplan and M. Schmidt, although accomplices, were in San Francisco when the bomb exploded, he said.

John J. Planned Job.

John J. McNamara conceived the scheme, planned the details and directed his brother to carry them out. At 7 o'clock on the night of September 30, according to McManigal's confession, Jim McNamara went into Ink alley in the rear of the Times building and planted the dynamite with its alarm clock attachment. He then caught the "lark" train for San Francisco.

Hence he was four hours out of town when the explosion occurred.

McManigal freely gave the details of a long list of crimes in which he alone figured as the "wrecking crew." In all of these John J. McNamara was the guiding spirit and paymaster, he said. For every job he undertook McManigal confessed he was paid $200 in advance, retainer fee, and if he was successful he was paid from $500 to $1,000. John J. McNamara decided upon his campaign of destruction, McManigal said, three years ago.

Among the more important dynamitings confessed to by McManigal, according to District Attorney Fredericks, are the following:

October 12, 1906, engine of P. V. & Co. Railroad, dynamited at Clairton, Pa.

October 30, 1906, Baltimore & Ohio bridge at Youngstown, O., dynamited.

December 31, 1907, Palmer road bridge of Cleveland Short Line Railroad in Lucius county, Ohio, dynamited.

April 1, 1908, attempt to dynamite Blackwell island bridge being erected by the Pennsylvania Steel Company for the city of New York.

August 6, 1908, Illinois Central railway bridge over the Calumet river dynamited.

September 18, 1908, attempt made to dynamite hoisting engine of the Chicago Junction Railroad. Jerry Lynch, watchman, was killed.

December 8, 1909, house occupied by non-union men of the American Steel, Sheet & Tin Plate Company, at Struthers, O., dynamited; several persons injured.

October 1, 1910, Los Angeles Times building wrecked and twenty-one persons killed; bombs found at homes of Otis and Zeehandelaar.

October 5, 1910, annex to the West End Hotel, Kansas City, Mo., dynamited while under construction.

October 19, 1910, Charles K. Henry's residence, Portland, Or., dynamited.

December 25, 1910, Llewellyn Iron Company's plant, Los Angeles, dynamited.

February 24, 1911, explosion at the Iroquois Iron Works, in South Chicago.

March 1, 1911, Western Fuel Company's plant, Milwaukee, dynamited.

March 25, 1911, coal hoisting plant at Milwaukee, being erected by the Hyle & Patterson Construction Company of Pittsburg, dynamited.

April 1, 1911, blast wrecked tower on municipal building at Springfield, Mass.

Los Angeles, May 1.—Attorneys for both sides in the dynamiting case have completed arrangements for the early arraignment of John and James McNamara and Ortie McManigal.

Job Harriman, the Socialist attorney who has been retained in the interests of the alleged dynamiters with Darrow, had a three-hour conference Saturday with the two McNamara brothers, after which he declared that the two accused men had been informed of the confession alleged to have been made by McManigal, and that there was nothing in it which the defense need fear.

Defense Says Gas Did It.

In connection with this, Mr. Harriman declared the defense would hinge the fate of the McNamaras on the question of whether the wrecking of the Times building and the consequent death of twenty-one men was caused by gas or dynamite. He also said that Dr. J. A. Holmes, director of the United States Bureau of Mines, would be one of the chief witnesses, called to uphold the contention that gas and not an infernal machine caused the explosion of the newspaper plant on the morning of October 1 last.

The contention of the defense, according to Mr. Harriman, will be based on these grounds:

First. That the dynamite made by the factory from which the dynamite that is alleged to have caused the explosion was purchased, was tested in the Government Bureau of Mines and would not set fire to gas.

Second. That dynamite will not set fire to inks and oils, and an explosion of dynamite of the kind said to have been used would not have been followed by sheets of flame, but, on the contrary, would extinguish flame.

Third. A gas explosion, on the other hand, would set fire to inks and oils, and would be followed by sheets of flame.

James McNamara Again Identified.

One of the most important developments of the day from the viewpoint of the prosecution was the identification of James B. McNamara as James B. Bryce by Trevor McCachren, a bellboy who was employed in the Argonaut Hotel in San Francisco last September. J. B. Bryce, the man who is alleged to have purchased the dynamite that destroyed the Times, lived at that hotel.

James B. McNamara was led into the jail office with a number of other prisoners and, according to officials of the district attorney's office, the lad quickly picked out McNamara as the man he had known as Bryce.

Two registers of the Argonaut Hotel were brought here for the purpose of identifying the handwriting of Bryce's signature as that of McNamara. They also contain the signatures of Caplan and Schmidt, who have also been indicted in connection with the dynamiting.

McManigal Rebuffs Attorneys.

Mr. Harriman interviewed only the two McNamaras. His visit followed that of Attorney O. N. Hilton, chief counsel of the Western Federation of Miners, whose declaration that Ortie McManigal had denied his alleged confession to District Attorney Fredericks was emphatically denied by the prisoner, as well as by Jailor Gallagher and Turnkey Norell, of the county jail, who were present at Mr. Hilton's interview with McManigal.

Mr. Hilton said that McManigal had freely admitted that a statement had been made by him to the District Attorney and that the accused man had stated his reasons for giving it—reasons that were eminently satisfactory to the defense.

McManigal flatly denied that he had had an interview with Hilton, and over his own signature sent a note to a representative of the Associated Press, declaring that he refused to talk to anyone—Hilton and everyone else.

Gompers to Probe.

Washington, May 2.—Responding to appeals from labor union leaders all over the country, President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor will go personally to Indianapolis and investigate the history and actions of John J. McNamara.

CONGRESS CONTROLS ALL FOREST RESERVES

Washington, May 2.—The supreme court of the United States has decided that congress has absolute control over the forest reserves of the United States.

That tribunal not only upheld the constitutionality of the establishment of the reserves for any national and public purpose, but it settled once for all that the federal government and not the states may say how the reserves shall be used.

The immediate results of the decision are that Fred Light, a Colorado cattleman, will remain enjoined from allowing his cattle to graze on the Holy Cross forest reservation in Colorado, and that Pierre Grimaud, K. P. Carajous and Antonio Inda, California sheepmen, must answer to the indictment charging them with grazing sheep upon the Sierra forest reserve without a permit.

The subject was dealt with in two opinions delivered by Justice Lamar. The entire court concurred.

So widespread was the interest in the case and so vital the questions involved that the state of Colorado threw itself into the contest. Attorney General Barnett was authorized to assist Light in fighting the federal government. He did so.

State Rights Denied.

The attorney general emphasized the argument before the supreme court that no provision of the constitution empowered the federal government to "conserve the national resources" by providing for a continuing timber supply, regulating the flow of streams and preserving power sites from being monopolized.

He urged that the withdrawal of such large tracts of land, said to be one-fifth of the entire area of Colorado, was the denial of equality with the older states, which had been allowed to exercise dominion over all the territory within their boundaries.

Start New Railroad.

Springdale, May 1.—Active construction work has commenced on the new Springdale & Long Lake railroad, to extend from a junction with the Great Northern at this place to the site of the new plant of the Washington Water Power Company on the Spokane river, twenty-two miles south of Springdale.

FARM STATISTICS OF WASHINGTON

FIRST PRELIMINARY COMPARATIVE STATEMENT OF FARM DATA FOR STATE.

Total Value of Farm Lands Increased Over 400 Per Cent in Decade—Per Acre Valuation Increases 259 Per Cent—Distribution According to Acreage Groups.

Washington, May 2.—Census Director Durand issued today the first ofcial statement from the census bureau relative to the agricultural statistics of the state of Washington collected at the thirteenth decennial Unied States census April 15, 1910.

It is based on a preliminary comparative summary submitted to the director by Dr. LeGrand Powers, chief statistician of the division of agriculture in the bureau of the census. This summary shows, for both the census of 1910 and that of 1900, the reported total value of farm land, buildings and implements and machinery; total acreage; improved acreage; average acres per farm; average value per acre of farm land and buildings; average value per acre of farm land alone; and the aggregate expenditure for labor and fertilizers. It also distributes the total number of farms according to color of farmer; specified character of tenure, whether held free or mortgaged by owners; and by certain acreage groups.

Attention is called to the fact that the figures are subject to revision later as a number of farms, whose returns are incomplete, will be included in the final tables. These additions will not in all probability, materially modify any of the amounts or rates contained in the present statement.

The census of agriculture was taken primarily for the purpose of obtaining an accurate inventory of all classes of farm property existing on April 15, 1910; a complete exhibit of farm operations during the year ended December 31, 1909; and a statement of the number and value of domestic animals in cities and villages on April 15, 1910.

Statements relative to acreage and yield of crops and the domestic animals of Washington will be issued by Director Durand as soon as the tabulation of this data has been completed.

The Rates of Increase and Decrease.

It is pointed out in the statement today that the principal rates of increase in Washington in 1910, as against 1900, among the items for which percentages are given in the first section of the summary are: In the total value of farm land alone, 419 per cent; in the total value of farm land and buildings, 393 per cent; in the average value per acre of farm land alone, 278 per cent; in the average value per acre of farm land and buildings, 259 per cent; in the total value of farm buildings, 233 per cent; in the total expenditures for labor, 188 per cent; in the total expenditures for fertilizers, 172 per cent; in the total value of all farm implements and machinery, 166 per cent; in the improved acreage, 83 per cent; in the whole number of farms, 68 per cent; and in the total acreage, 37 per cent.

The only decrease during the decade, among the items for which percentages are given, occurred in the average acres per farm, 18 per cent.

The statement shows in detail that the number of farms reported in 1910 was 55,744, as compared with 33,202 in 1900, an increase of 22,542, or 68 per cent.

Farm Values.

The total value of farm land and buildings was given in 1910 as $570,142,000, as against $115,610,000 in 1900, an increase of $454,532,000, or 393 per cent.

The total value of all farm land alone was reported in 1910 as $515,918,000, as compared with $99,311,000 in 1900, a gain of $416,607,000, or 419 per cent.

The total value of farm buildings alone was given in 1910 as $54,224,000, as against $16,299,000 in 1900, an increase of $37,925,000, or 233 per cent.

In 1910 the value of the farm land alone constituted 90 per cent of the total value of land and buildings, as compared with 86 per cent in 1900.

The reported value of farm implements and machinery was $16,653,000 in 1910, as against $6,272,000 in 1900, a gain of $10,381,000, or 166 per cent.

The total acreage reported in 1910 was 11,663,000 acres, as compared with 8,499,000 in 1900, a gain of 3,164,000 acres, or 37 per cent.

The improved acreage was returned in 1910 as amounting to 6,354,000 acres, as against 3,466,000 in 1900, an increase of 2,888,000 acres, or 83 per cent.

The improved acreage formed 54 per cent of the total acreage in 1910, and 41 per cent in 1900.

The average acres per farm reported in 1910 was 209, as against 256 in 1900, a decrease of 47 acres, or 18 per cent.

The average value per acre of farm land and buildings in 1910 is stated as $48.88, as against $13.60 in 1900, a rise of $35.28, or 259 per cent.

The average value per acre of farm land alone in 1910 was reported as $44.24, while in 1900 it was $11.69, the amount of gain being $32.55, or 278 per cent.

Color of Farmers.

Of the whole number, 55,744, of farms reported in 1910 there were 54,705, or 98 per cent, operated by white farmers and 1,039, or 2 per cent, by negro and other non-white farmers, as compared with a total of 33,202 in 1900, of which 32,112, or 97 per cent, were conducted by white farmers and 1,090, or 3 per cent, by negro and other non-white. The increase in the number of farms of white farmers during the decade amounted to 22,593, and the decrease in the number of farms of negro and other non-white farmers to 51.

Farm Ownership.

The total number of farms operated in 1910 by owners, part owners, and owners and tenants, comprising the "all owners" class, was 47,110, as compared with 28,020 in 1900, an increase of 19,000.

The total number of farms conducted in 1910 by cash tenants, comprising the "all tenants" class, was 7,689, as against 4,777 in 1900, an increase of 2,912.

The total number of farms operated by managers in 1910 was 945, as compared with 405 in 1900, an increase of 540.

The total number of farms operated by the "all owners" class constituted 84 per cent of the whole number of farms in 1910 and 85 per cent in 1900; those operated by the "all tenants" class, 14 per cent in both 1910 and 1900; and those conducted by managers, 2 per cent in 1910 and 1 per cent in 1900.

Of the total number, 47,110, of farms operated in 1910 by the "all owners" class, there were 31,151, or 66 per cent, reported as "owned free of debt," and 15,959, or 34 per cent, reported as mortgaged. There were 415 farms for which no mortgage report was secured and these are included in the farms "owned free of debt."

In 1900 information was secured concerning the "owned farm homes." At that time 22,015, or 79 per cent, were reported "free of debt," and 6,001, or 21 per cent, reported as mortgaged. There were 422 farms in 1900 for which no mortgage report was secured and these were reported in the farms "free of debt." The census bureau has no information respecting the number of mortgaged farms leased to tenants.

Distribution According to Acreage Groups.

The statement relaitve to farms distributed according to certain acreage groups shows that those of 19 acres and under numbered 10,316 in 1910 and 3,025 in 1900, a gain of 7,291; of 20 to 49 acres, 10,205 in 1910 and 4,240 in 1900, an increase of 5,965; of 50 to 99 acres, 7,079 in 1910 and 4,387 in 1900, a gain of 2,692; of 100 to 174 acres, 13,767 in 1910 and 11,249 in 1900, an increase of 2,518; of 175 to 499 acres, 9,184 in 1910 and 7,338 in 1900, an increase of 1,846; of 500 to 999 acres, 3,473 in 1910 and 2,015 in 1900, a gain of 1,458; and of 1,000 acres and over, 1,720 in 1910 and 948 in 1900, an increase of 772.

Acreage Group Proportions.

Of the whole number of farms, those of 19 acres and under formed 19 per cent in 1910 and 9 per cent in 1900; those of 20 to 49 acres, 18 per cent in 1910 and 13 per cent in 1900; those of 50 to 99 acres, 13 per cent in both 1010 and 1900; those of 100 to 174 acres, 25 per cent in 1910 and 34 per cent in 1900; those of 175 to 499 acres, 16 per cent in 1910 and 22 per cent in 1900; those of 500 to 999 acres, 6 per cent in both 1910 and 1900; and those of 1,000 acres and over, 3 per cent in both 1910 and 1900.

The expenditures for labor in 1910 reached the sum of $15,223,000, as compared with $5,280,000 in 1900, an increase of $9,943,000, or 188 per cent.

The expenditures for fertilizers amounted in 1910 to $79,000, while in 1900 it was $29,000, an increase of $50,000, or 172 per cent.

PEACE COMMISSIONER FOR MEXICO APPOINTED

El Paso, Tex., April 29.—Gen. Madero has been officially notified that President Diaz has appointed a peace commissioner to complete peace negotiations with a similar commissioner to be appointed by the rebel leader.

The conference, it is agreed, will be held on the Mexican side of the Rio Grande at the dam lying midway between Juarez and Madero's camp, opposite the smelter.

The name of the Mexican peace commissioner is Francisco Carbajal, a judge of the Supreme Court of Mexico. Gen. Madero expressed gratification at the selection. Judge Carbajal is a jurist of the highest attainments in this country and has always been considered a man of the greatest integrity and independence of character. He is about 45 years of age.

Gomez to Represent Madero.

Gen. Madero, it is reported, may appoint more than one commissioner to represent him. It is regarded as certain that Dr. Vasquez Gomez, if not the only one, will be at least a member of the commission. Madero trusts him fully.

Railroad Workmen Receive Increase.

Winnipeg, Man., April 29.—The Canadian Pacific and Canadian Northern Railways have agreed to new terms respecting their maintenance of way employes by granting them better general working conditions and an increase of wages of 14 per cent. More than 10,000 men are affected by these new conditions. They are employed between Port Arthur and Vancouver.

Los Angeles Taxpayers' League.

Los Angeles, May 1.—An organization has been formed to be known as the Taxpayers' League, with the object of looking after the interests of the small taxpayers and home-owners in public affairs.

business and social center, what is an eight mile auto spin (the way electric lighted at night from the Olympic Power Company's plant) and what more ideal retreat than an artistic bungalow in a cool, shady, fern-trimmed wood.

And with the irrigation reservoir almost at our door what abundant crops for the rancher!

CLALLAM

is located twenty-five miles south east of Cape Flattery on the Strait. Our soil is fertile and hills or up-land as well as bottom land produce wonderfully. We have trees here 300 feet high and sixteen feet in diameter and townships with more than a billion feet of timber on them. We have a solid body of timber from the Strait to the Ocean.

LAKE OZETTE

is about eight miles long, parallel with the Ocean, and about four miles wide, and in some places only one and a quarter miles from the Ocean, and has two islands in it—Tivoli Island near the south end, a beautiful island of about two acres, and Gordon Island near the east side of about seven acres. It is a very deep lake and in summer there is a cool breeze blowing across it from the Ocean which accounts for no sickness here. If this Lake was in King County it would have been a perfect beehive years ago It is surrounded by some of the finest timber in the State. Its inlets are Big River, Umbrella River and Crook d River, while the Ozette gives outlet to the Pacific. Soil ten feet deep cannot be beat. Gold mining on the Ocean beach has been going on for years with profit. There are good indications of coal. The Lake and all streams are full of trout, and game in the woods is plentiful. Owing to the outlet at Clallam being twenty two miles distant by trail, her beauties are not know even at home, but some day Lake Ozette will be the greatest health resort in the State.

BEAVER.

The Heart of the Solduck Valley. Timber unsurpassed by any in the State. Quarter sections cruising twenty-eight million feet and sections cruising over one hundred million feet. Two hundred acres fertile prairie land, quite a quantity of river bottom land easily cleared. Ideal fishing and hunting. Two lakes and rivers at our door. Post office, hotels, store and public school, R. F. D. mail. The Lacy Timber Company's headquarters for the country are located here.

EDEN VALLEY

Eden Valley is located just west of the Elwha River between Port Angeles and Port Crescent. It is a pretty well settled and fertile land. There are a few thousand acres of logged-off land that would make fine farms. The land is well situated and as good as the best in the State. There are a number of shingle mills that give employment to men. The Sturdevant & Pellerin Shingle Company and The Clallam County Shingle Company work night and day and have a capacity of 80 thousand per day each. The Acme Shingle Company, a new firm, will soon be ready to work. The Eden Lumber and Shingle Company, a double block has a capacity of 130 thousand shingles per day. This mill has a saw mill combined with the shingle mill, where you can get all kinds f rough lumber.

We are only a short distance from Lakes Sutherland and Crescent and in close proximity to the Olympic Power Company's plant. We can boast of two public schools with a good attendance, a very good showing for one small precinct.

CLALLAM BAY

In brief, our extensive forests are still complete—a variety composed of spruce, fir, hemlock and cedar offer advantages to many different enterprises. Pulp and paper mills, saw and shingle mills, mills for the manufacture of hemlock extracts, tanneries and many other smaller industries would be the outgrowth of these. When this magnificent body of timber is cut, luxuriant grasses will grow in abundance on one of the largest and most productive areas of soil in Western Washington.

The fishing industry, comprised principally in the catch of salmon and halibut, might be largely increased by installing cold storage.

Our only handicap is transportation, our only relief spells RAILROAD.

WEAVER

Situated about five miles east of Port Angeles, a piece of land about five miles in width and extending from the waters of Juan de Fuca to the Olympic Mountains on the south and containing about 20,000 acres and valuation of $57,725. This magnificent tract of land is covered with timber, some of a heavy growth but mostly small and easily cleared. There are about 500 acres of land under cultivation in this precinct while at least 15,000 more can be used for stock raising, dairying, general farming.

There are large creeks on the east and west side, which rise in the mountains and give plenty of water for irrigation and other purposes. It is not generally known, but a well known banker of Port Angeles has a large tract of coal land on the banks of Seiberts Creek.

The present population of the precinct is nearly 100 while it is capable of sustaining at least 2500 when cleared of timber.

QUILLAYUTE PRAIRIE

Were these national beauties well advertised the Quillayute country would be the most popular summer resort in Clallam County. Its immense forests of virgin timber, its extensive river bottoms, its productive prairies, will at some future time demonstrate that the southwestern part of Clallam County is one of the most productive sections of the state. Wild animals are a lure to the hunter, and the opportunity to explore the rivers and creeks is such as would arouse the enthusiasm of any follower of Isaac Walton.

Convention Aftermath.

Together) on your letter head. That is what is needed on the entire Pacific coast, and what has been taking place for the past year. The results of getting together in Oregon are very noticeable, and if the people of your part of Washington will get together and work for the settlement and development of your territory, it will only be a short time until the results will show themselves, and you will prosper as you have never prospered before."

J. A. Miller, Gen. Agt. Ft. Dept G. N. Ry.: "I am heartily in sympathy with your work, and I assure you that if there is anything I can do, not only as a private citizen, but in connection with the Great Northern Ry. that will assist you to develop the immense tract of country known as the Olympic Peninsula, I shall take great pleasure in doing it at any time."

Ben Selling, Speaker of the Oregon House of Representatives, Portland: "Your section of the State of Washington certainly has wonderful resources which only wait development to make it one of the best portions of the Pacific Northwest. I certainly regret that I cannot go over to assist you."

D. O. Lively, Vice President of the Portland Union Stock Yard Co., North Portland: "You are doing a great work for your city and section, and when you have attracted settlers to the rich lands now covered with stumps, it will mean more than much that has been done for the development of the Pacific Northwest."

ABSOLUTELY CORRECT.

Donald McInnes' address before the convention last Saturday outclassed all other addresses given during the sessions of the Olympic Peninsula Development League Convention held in this city last week, insofar as it related to methods and results of farming in this section of the state. Mr. McInnes, as is well known, is a successful and practical farmer, owning and operating at Dungeness, this county, one of the finest and most productive farms on the peninsula, and what he said at the convention last Saturday can be relied upon as absolutely correct, and his conclusions not overdrawn in the least. The address, which appears in full in another part of this paper, printed in circular letter form and scattered broadcast over the Middle West, would open the eyes of the farmers of that section, and, to those who are contemplating a change of location, act as an incentive and desire to emigrate hitherward.

LURING THE TOURIST.

The meeting in Tacoma Monday of those interested in advancing the tourist business are engaged in a very profitable enterprise, says the News.

All conditions in the northwest lend themselves to the undertaking. Climatic conditions and scenic environment are the two factors that entice tourists. This section emphasizes these two factors in a superior way. Indeed there are few places in the world that present the two of them in such a striking manner.

Not until recently have spirited efforts been made to attract the tourist to the northwest. The results already are being felt. Last year and the year before large sums of money were brought to Puget Sound by pleasure seekers, and the coming summer will bring still larger revenues.

It is a work in which each individual may assist. The sending to an eastern friend of a postal card illustrating one of the many picturesque scenes in the northwest has its effect. All of us can distribute more or less literature.

W. D. Perkins & Co., bankers of Seattle, have asked the city council of Bremerton to take no action in regard to the awarding of a street railway franchise until they have considered a bid from the Elwha Power Company.

Representatives of the banking firm say that the power company has plans which will be of great advantage to the city and will put them into execution if they obtain the franchise. The plans include an extension to Port Townsend and Irondale, which would be reached by ferry across Hood canal.

WOMEN'S AUXILIARY ADVISORY BOARD

Chairmen for Improvement Districts and Plan of Work Next in Order.

The Women's Auxiliary held its second regular meeting Tuesday afternoon in the Commercial Club room. Quite a few new names have been added to the membership roll, making a total of 110 members.

At this meeting an advisory board was elected which will consist of the five officers of the Auxiliary, and the following six ladies: Mrs. J. E. Cochran, Mrs. Herman Johnson, Mrs. H. Butler, Mrs. E. E. Hopkins, Mrs. T. T. Aldwell and Mrs. Ada Hoare. At a meeting of this board the early part of next week, chairmen for the different Civic improvement districts will be chosen and a plan of work instituted at once.

It was decided at this meeting that for the convenience of members who can not attend the regular monthly meetings, a cash box will be left with Sec'y Cosser at the Commercial Club rooms. Members wishing to pay their dues will enclose same in an envelope on which is written their name and leave in the cash box, for collection by the secretary.

WORK RESUMED AT SOLDUCK SPRINGS.

Work at the Hot Springs will be started again the first of the coming week, it being the intention to have the big hotel ready for occupancy by August 1st.

P. F. Harley, who will conduct the hotel and springs this year as usual, left Wednesday to get things in readiness for the first crew of thirty men which will be sent in from Seattle Sunday next. From sixty to one hundred will be at work on bath house, hotel, in the mill and about the grounds within a week or so thereafter, providing the snow is not deep enough to interfere.

Dave Govan has had a crew repairing the road from Lake Crescent to the Springs and getting it in shape for the heavy hauling which will commence at once.

Manager Harley does not expect the bath house to be ready before July 1st, the only provision for baths at present being one or two of the old hewn tubs in a tent. But guests will be accommodated with good beds and meals at any time, as well as such bathing facilities as may be possible.

A PEOPLE'S RAILROAD.

A people's railroad for the Olympic peninsula, to cost $1,500,000, was the message brought by M J. Carrigan to last night's meeting of the Seattle Commercial Club from the residents of that territory, says Wednesday's P.-I.

"The late convention held in Port Angeles and to which the Commercial Club gave its encouragement," said Mr. Carrigan, "did more to awaken the people of the peninsula and attract attention to that section of the state from the outside than any publicity stunt ever undertaken. So aroused have the people become that plans are now being made to organize a $2,000,000 corporation that will build a railroad from Crescent lake to Port Angeles, thence through the Dungeness valley to Sequim and the head of Port Discovery. At that point a line will run northeast to Port Townsend and southeast to Irondale, Hadlock and Port Ludlow, and from the latter point a swift boat service to Seattle."

Mr. Carrigan said that the run from Crescent Lake to Seattle over the route laid out could be made in three hours, where six hours are now required. It is proposed to have every dollar needed to build the road contributed by the people.

FIRST LOGS BROUGHT OUT.

The Little River Logging Co. commenced logging operations this week, having a crew of some fifty men on the payroll. The first logs, dumped in the bay Wednesday, are said to be rather above the average product of the older camps.

A letter to the Port Angeles Commercial Club from the Progress and Properity Committee of the Seattle Commercial Club, offers their assistance in aiding us in securing better tranportation facilities between here and Seattle. This matter was placed before the committee by M. J. Carrigan who is an enthusiastic member.

TELLS OF EXPERIENCE IN PRACTICAL FARMING

Olympic Empire a Region of Big Yields in Crops of Many Kinds.

Mr. Chairman:—I think the subject alloted me to speak on was rather intended to be farming west of the Cascades without irrigation, as there is no semi-arid land in this section of the country. I will confine my remarks briefly to the subject of general methods of farming on the Olympic Peninsula; where dairying is not followed as a business and the farmer depends upon what he can raise from the soil, it is very necessary for the newcomer to know what crops do well in our soil and climate.

The following are safe and reliable, and if properly planted and attended to are sure crops: Wheat, oats, barley, peas and vetch. In root crops and vegetables, potatoes, mangel-wurtzel, turnips, beets, carrots, parsnips, celery, kohl rabi, cabbage, cauliflower, kale, savory, beans, squash, pumpkin, tomatoes, cucumbers, etc.

As practically all wheat grown on the peninsula is fall wheat, the farmer who understands his business generally sows this on potato land in the fall. The best time is the beginning of October, but our winters and soils on the peninsula are such that fall wheat is sown any time during the winter and in fact up to the middle of February. To get the best results, however, the ground should be thoroughly plowed just as quick as possible after the potatoes are out, well disked and about two bushels of seed to the acre sown, harrowed in and rolled in the spring. On our best land as high as 112 bushels have been grown to the acre. A common yield is from 60 to 70 bushels, and the average from 45 to 50. The quality is not first class, as owing to our delightfully cool summers the grain does not become sufficiently hard for milling purposes, but is good for grinding for cows and hogs, and there is a ready market at good prices among our dairymen for all that can be raised.

Barley, oats and peas are sown in spring, and as the peninsula is blessed with a better climate than any other portion of Western Washington, having more sunshine and less rainfall during the summer months, and as the good farmer aims to conserve and retain all the moisture possible, the land is most thoroughly worked and pulverized before any attempt is made to sow the crop. These crops can be sown any time from the first of March until the middle of May, hence the farmer has a long possible seed sowing season that enables him to have his land as it should be and the result is an enormous yield. Barley in exceptional cases has averaged 110 bushels on twelve and fourteen acre fields, and from 60 to 70 bushels as an average. The legal weight of a bushel of barley in this state is 45 pounds. Oats yield in exceptional cases 115 bushels, the average being from 50 to 60, weight of a bushel, 25 pounds.

Peas do remarkably well on the peninsula, more especially in the clay and shot clay land, and no better crop than this can be used as a first crop on our logged-off lands; it tends to subdue and fertilize them. The demand for this crop is excellent. The yield runs from 30 to 50 bushels to the acre; legal weight 60 lbs. to the bushel, but they generally overweigh about four pounds. The price paid is about $40 per ton. Rye is not grown to any extent as a grain crop, but used principally to cut green in the early spring for dairy cattle. It is sown early in the fall and makes a good growth by the end of April.

In the production of root crops the peninsula farmer bears in mind the fact that good farming tends to make good crops, and he is happy in the knowledge that he is neither dependant on a ditch company nor losing sleep at night for fear the dam will break, and all his hard toil and labor in planting crops be of no avail. But he is fully alive to the fact that even here with nature so kind to him he is expected to do his part, and this he does most fully.

All that I have said on the cultivation of the soil for grain crops applies doubly to the raising of roots, and the conservation of moisture is only found in the very thorough farming followed. The land is generally fall plowed and left to lay all winter, then disked and re-plowed and at times again re-plowed, disked, dragged and thoroughly pulverized, and when the soil is brought to the right condition crops are raised that must be seen to be believed. Potatoes of the finest quality are grown and the yield is frequently from 12 to 15 tons to the acre.

Mangel-wurtzels have yielded 75 weighed tons per acre, or 300 tons on four acres. Individual mangel-wurtzels have been raised and placed on exhibition in Port Angeles that weighed 64 pounds each, one of them being more than a cow can eat at a meal, and wagon loads that averaged 50 pounds, the average crop being about 40 tons per acre, and this enormous yield holds good on all roots and vegetables where the land is thoroughly worked and the crops cared for.

There is one point in which the peninsula is greatly favored and that is the extremely long seed season that enables the farmer to take plenty of time to put his crop in right and does not put him to the expense of hiring extra teams or carry throughout the entire year surplus horses at great expense, as they do in other sections where the seeding season is short and everything has to be put in with a rush.

It sometimes happens that a community, living as we of the peninsula are doing, get mistaken and exaggerated ideas of the producing capacities of their lands and when brought in competition with the other sections meet with bitter disappointments, but such has not been our experience.

At the Alaska-Yukon Exposition numerous were the prizes taken by peninsula counties for the best exhibit of farm products, and at the Western Washington Fair held in Seattle last year, in competition with the entire state and an extra competent unbiased judge, Clallam county was awarded the following prizes:

First prize for best county display; first prize and silver cup for best county display of forage crop; second prize on fruit display individual exhibition; first prize on wheat in sheaf; first prize on threshed wheat; first prize on vetch; first prize on best plate of colored apples; second prize on plates of apples; first prize on best plate of potatoes; first and second prizes on mangel-wurtzel; first prize on beets; first prize on turnips; first prize on cabbage; first prize on largest potato; first prize on cauliflower; first prize on pumpkin; second prize on carrots; all of these articles named, with the exception of two, were raised by common methods of farming and without water. Surely this speaks well for the farmers and farm lands of the Olympic Peninsula, and further comments or words of praise are unnecessary by me.

ROYAL Baking Powder Economy

The manufacturers of Royal Baking Powder have always declined to produce a cheap baking powder at the sacrifice of quality.

Royal Baking Powder is made from pure grape cream of tartar, and is the embodiment of all the excellence possible to be attained in the highest class baking powder.

Royal Baking Powder costs only a fair price, and is more economical at its price than any other leavening agent, because of the superlative quality and absolute wholesomeness of the food it makes.

Mixtures made in imitation of baking powders, but containing alum, are frequently distributed from door to door, or given away in grocery stores. Such mixtures are dangerous to use in food. In England, France, Germany and some sections of the United States their sale is prohibited by law. Alum is a dangerous mineral acid, and all physicians condemn baking powders containing it.

The label of alum baking powders must show the ingredients.

READ THE LABEL

WASHINGTON'S LAST WEST.

"Washington's Last West," the watchword as well as the attractive catchword of the aggressive Olympic Development Association, recently organized at Port Angeles by the Commercial Club, is exceptionally appropriate. It is applicable to a region unique in the entire United States, and under it is embraced a country that until a few years ago was heralded far and wide as "one of the few remaining unexplored areas of the North American continent."

Today that country is becoming known; and it will be better and more favorably known on account of the efforts of the Development Association and the Commercial Club; and as knowledge increases the wonder will grow that America has contained for so long an interval a section of country with such abundance and variety of natural resources.

A few of the features of "Washington's Last West" have been enumerated as embracing unlimited water power, unsurpassed climate, abundance of fresh and salt water fish, including bivalves, inspiring scenery both of mountain and lake, ideal dairying and farm lands, largest and finest body of timber in the state, diversified clays and sand for manufacturing, good quality of iron ore and indications of vast deposits, and indications of gold, copper, zinc, coal and oil awaiting the prospector.

The list, although clearly incomplete, is startling in its potential wealth. "Washington's Last West" is entited to the consideration it has just aroused at the largest commercial gathering ever assembled in this part of the state, and to a quick fulfillment of the promise held out by unexampled resources easy of access and lending themselves readily to development of the highest type.

CHRISTOPHERSON AND LELAND

PRESIDENT EXPLAINS RECIPROCITY

TALKS TO NEWSPAPERMEN ON CANADIAN TRADE AGREEMENT.

Commercial, Economical and Social Reasons Make Proposed Treaty Valuable to the Country, He Says, but Extension of Free List Would Work Harm.

New York, April 29.—President Taft spoke before the joint banquet of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association and the Associated Press at the Waldorf-Astoria. He devoted the greater part of his address to the Canadian reciprocity agreement. On this subject he said in part:

"I am glad to have the opportunity of speaking to a body which fully represents the most important agencies for the formation of public opinion in this country on a question which has now reached a critical point in its settlement. The agreement is a commercial one and affects the duties on imports from each country into the other, and therefore it is difficult to say that a detailed discussion of tariff schedules is not relevant and important in considering its wisdom. But the general commercial, economical and social arguments in its favor are so convincing that I may be pardoned if I do not dwell on specific rates.

Treaty Clauses.

"The treaty provides for free trade in all agricultural products and in rough lumber down to the point of planing.

"It reduces the duties on secondary food products by a very substantial percentage and it makes such reductions in a number of manufactured articles that those engaged in making them have assured us that the reductions will substantially increase the already large Canadian demand for them.

"We tendered to the Canadian commissioners absolute free trade in all products of either country, manufactured or natural, but the Canadian commissioners did not feel justified in going so far.

A Strong Argument.

"Hence it follows that their refusal to agree to free trade in these articles as we proposed is the strongest kind of evidence that if we take off the existing duty from such articles coming into the United States it would not affect in the slightest degree the price at which those articles could be furnished to the public here.

"Thus the reason why meats were not put upon the free list in this Canadian agreement was because Canada felt the competition of our packers would injuriously affect the products of their packing houses. If that be true, how would it help our consumer or lower the price of meat in our markets if we let their meats in free, while they retained a duty on our meat?

Flour Discussed.

"The same thing is true of flour. And yet some gentlemen insist that the farmer has been unjustly treated because we have not put Canadian flour and meal on the free list. And it is proposed to satisfy the proposed grievance of the farmers by now doing so without any compensating concessions from Canada.

"This proposal would be legislation for political platform uses, without accomplishing any real good.

A Serious Feature.

"In another aspect, however, the effect of the proposal might be serious. Of course, a mere reduction of our tariff, or the putting in of any article on our free list without insisting on a corresponding change in the Canadian tariff will not interfere with the contract as made with Canada.

"But if we do make concessions, without any consideration on the part of Canada, after the contract has been tentatively agreed upon by those authorized to make contracts for ratification in both governments, then we are in danger of creating an obligation against us in favor of all the foreign countries with which we have existing treaties containing what is called the 'favored nation' clause.

"This clause has been construed by our statesmen not to involve us in an obligation to extend a privilege to all nations which we confer upon one nation in consideration of an equally valuable privilege from that nation. But the serious quesiton that would arise, whether, if now that the contract has been tentatively agreed upon and is about to be confirmed by Canada, we should grant to Canada more than the contract requires, we could claim that this extra concession was not a pure gratuity and one which was necessarily extended to all other nations under the favored nation clause.

Two Objections.

"There are two objections, therefore, to inserting in the bill confirming this Canadian contract additions to our free list from Canada. The first is that they are a concession that is of no value to those whom it is proposed to propitiate by adopting it, and the second is that it may involve us indirectly in a doubtful obligation in respect to trade with other countries.

"If we desire to put meal and flour and other commodities in the free list for the entire world, that is one thing, and we can do it with our eyes open and with a knowledge of what it entails, after an investigation. But to put such a provision in a Canadian treaty and have it operate as a free list for the entire world is legislation necessarily ill considered.

"More than this, these proposed gratuitous concessions are in the nature of an admission that, in some way or other, we have done an injury to a particular class by this Canadian reciprocity agreement. I deny it. It is said that it injures the farmers. I deny it. It is strictly in accordance with the protective principle that we should only have a protective tariff between us and countries in which the conditions are so dissimilar as to make a difference in the cost of production.

"Now it is known of all men that the general conditions that prevail in Canada are the same as those which obtain in the United States in the matter of agricultural products. Indeed, if there is any advantage, the advantage is largely on the side of the United States, because we have much greater variety of product, in view of the varieties of our climate, than they can have in Canada."

GUGGENHEIMS GET KLONDIKE CLAIMS

Dawson, April 29.—One of the largest mining deals in the history of the Yukon and of Alaska has just been closed, whereby Daniel Guggenheim takes over the entire holdings of the National Trust Company of Toronto, in Yukon Territory. These include the oldest and richest portion of Gold Run creek, which has produced millions and is known as one of the banner streams of the Klondike camp.

The transfer also includes the Cruger concession on Dominion creek, extending down stream for two miles from the mouth of Sulphur for the full width of the valley.

Consideration Over $500,000.

The consideration is said to exceed half a million dollars.

The property has been controlled for years by the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

Gold Run was grouped and operated first by Chute & Wills. Later Count Carboneau became involved, and still later the bank got control on a mortgage for $650,000.

The foreclosure litigation lasted long, but was recently settled.

Guggenheim obtains control of all the ground, practically a solid block, along Gold Run to claim Forty-four above the mouth.

Harry Pinkiert controls Upper Gold Run, comprising sxity claims.

Treadgold Defeated.

Treadgold had been organizing Dominion, Last Chance, Quartz and other rich creeks in the Klondike which the Guggenheims had not secured, and said he intended to get Gold Run, but in this battle of the giants the Guggenheims scooped up the creek when Treadgold thought it was his sure meat.

There are indications that the Guggenheims intend to try to buy other rich creeks.

Treadgold's rival company is just completing an immense power plant on the south fork of the Klondike river and has an immense acreage, rivaling that of the Guggenheims.

One or two other large companies are also expected to break into this field.

The first dredges of the year got started on the Boyle concession last week. The largest dredge in the world was completed there last year and is now in full operation.

SHAFROTH SHARPLY GRILLS COLORADO LEGISLATURE

Denver, April 29.—In a letter sent to the House of Representatives Gov. Shafroth sharply criticized the State banking bill passed by the Senate as a measure "no more resembling the measure promised the people than night resembles day." The letter created a sensation.

The bill is now before the House.

"When introduced," said Gov. Shafroth in his letter, "the measure was intended to comply with the Democratic platform pledge relating to bank guarantee laws. It no more resembles the measure promised the people than night resembles day. Its author has repudiated the bill and had his name taken from it. The bill contains no provision whatever for a State guarantee fund, as promised in the Democratic platform.

"You have been in session for 113 days, twenty-three days longer than any session for the last thirty years, and not a pledge has been redeemed. Is there any excuse for such a failure? Are we to affirm the sayings that platforms are made to get in on, but not to stand on?

"He who thinks that such a betrayal can be made without censure and condemnation little understands the trend of events now taking place in all parts of the United States in behalf of rule of the people. I warn you now that an avalanche of public sentiment is coming as sure as right is right against those who refuse to redeem their contracts of honor."

The governor concluded by urging the House to make the bill conform to the platform pledge.

Warburton for Free List.

Washington, April 29.—Believing that the sugar industry is thriving beyond its proper due, Representative Warburton announces that he will favor the democratic free list now being considered, placing sugar, rice and citrus fruits on the free list.

CANTON REBELLION SHOWS ACTIVITY

EXISTING GOVERNMENT THREATENED BY DISLOYALTY OF PART OF TROOPS.

Battle Fought in Which Several Rebels Were Killed—Said, However, They Have Great Strength Numerically, as Well as Well Devised Plans.

Hongkong, April 30.—All advices from Canton indicate a desperate condition in that city. There are 30,000 soldiers within the walls and there is great fear that many of these will prove disloyal if it appears that the rebels are about to gain the upper hand.

The rebels are strong in numbers and have carried on their work of destruction with fanatical bravery. They made an attack upon the provincial arsenal, but were repulsed by the troops under loyal officers.

Hard to Repel.

Many revolutionists were killed and some fled to an unoccupied rice store and built a barricade with hundreds of bags of rice. The troops found great difficulty in assaulting the barricade, as the rebels threw bombs with accuracy.

Finally the store was set on fire, while the troops remained at some distance to pick off those who might seek to escape the flames. Thirty or more were burned to death, while others committed suicide rather than be taken.

Rebels Gather.

There has been a gathering at Canton lately of those opposed to the Manchu dynasty. A few days ago several hundred arrived from Hongkong. The plot to overthrow the government was betrayed and the leaders of the movement urged the viceroy's bodyguard to join forces and kill the Manchus. This the bodyguard refused to do, with the result that when the attack was made upon the residence of the viceroy a few days ago, the revolutionists were routed.

Certain bodies of troops may be depended upon not to abandon the rulers, and all attempts by the rebels to induce them to join the revolt have proved futile.

Property Damaged.

But the rebels, working together, according to a well devised plan, have succeeded in doing much damage to property, in addition to killing some of the officials. The family of the viceroy is now living on a gun boat We Sum, a Chinese who was educated in Japan and wears European clothes, is the leader of the movement. Both he and his confederates came to Canton from Singapore.

Men Decapitated.

While the authorities have not been able to capture these men, several suspects have been arrested and promptly decapitated. It is feared, however, that some of these were innocent.

The American gun boat Wilmington is now at Shamien, the foreign concession, on the point above the city, southward of the western suburb and facing Madao Fort Passage.

PROGRESSIVE REPUBLICANS ORGANIZING STATE LEAGUE

Spokane, May 1.—The Progressive Republican League of Spokane, which was organized a month ago and now has 800 active members, including 150 women electors, announces through its president, Nelson W. Durham, that United States Senator La Follette of Wisconsin, mentioned as a presidential candidate, will be the principal speaker at the organization of a state league here next fall.

Among other men invited to speak in Spokane and stump Eastern, Central and Western Washington next fall and winter are Senator Moses E. Clapp of Minnesota, Senator W. E. Borah of Idaho, Senator Jonathan Bourne of Oregon, Senator Miles Poindexter of Washington and former Senator Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana.

"The Progressives will put forth every effort to carry the state of Washington in 1912," Mr. Durham said. "We shall begin our work at once, sending ten or more of our members into various parts of the state to organize local leagues. We feel the time is ripe to advance the interests of the state and nation and we also believe that the Progressives will solve the problems."

Many predict that Washington and other states in the Pacific Northwest will be found in the Progressive column at the general election in 1912. Colonel Roosevelt's recent tour of the West, they add, is not without significanee. Others declare that the views expressed in Spokane by former Congressman James A. Tawney of Minnesota, would indicate that the "standpatters" are preparing for the fray not only in Washington, but throughout the Northwest.

"The woman vote will be an important factor in Washington at the next general election," said Mrs. May Arkwright Hutton. "Its influence has been felt in Spokane, Seattle and Tacoma during the last three months. We shall hear more of it in 1912."

GREAT IRRIGATION PLAN FOR SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

Los Angeles, May 1.—An irrigating system involving the expenditure of millions of dollars is to be built on the California side of the Colorado river. This reclamation project is expected to bring under cultivation 500,000 acres of land declared as rich as any in the world.

The power of the Colorado river is to be harnessed at Bull's Head, where there is a natural dam site, some distance above Needles. This power will then be carried for a distance of 100 miles to a point below Calzoma, where it will be used to lift water from the river and pour it out over the Palo Verde and Chuckawalla lands.

Prominent engineers who have reported on the project believe that the most practical method of utilizing the waters of the Colorado has been hit upon. The bed through which the great stream flows is so soft and of such a shifting character that there has been great difficulty in building diversion dams. The difficulties experienced in the Imperial valley were likely to reoccur at other points. At Bull's Head there is a rock formation and the river passes through a narrow channel. An immense reservoir can be created for miles back of this site by the building of a dam.

The power developed here should amount to several hundred thousand horsepower, and can be utilized at any point below where it is desired to take water from the river. Pumping water from the river to mesa, which lies a hundred feet above its level, will give absolute control of the water and eliminate flooded ditches and washed-out canals.

SENATE NOT IN HASTE TO PASS HOUSE BILLS

Washington, April 30.—Three weeks of the extraordinary session of the Sixty-second congress having passed into history with a record of rapid-fire legislation by the house, the senate is finally organized, but in no haste to consider that part of the Democratic program already disposed of by the lower branch.

Canadian reciprocity is the only matter now being considered by the senate and that probably will not come before it for several weeks. The finance committee, to which it was referred, will grant hearings on the bill. How long committee deliberation will continue is problematical, but the prospect is for a lengthy discussion.

Majority Hostile.

Chairman Penrose, of the committee, is in favor of the bill, but the majority is opposed to it. The prevailing opinion is that it will be reported with recommendation. The committee will meet Tuesday.

Senator Stone, of Missouri, will address the senate tomorrow on the bill and endeavor to explain some of the misrepresentations that have been made regarding the proposed agreement. After this speech there will be nothing before the senate and adjournment until Thursday is probable, with adjournment until Monday to follow.

Reciprocity First.

There is no prospect of the senate's considering the house bills providing for popular election of senators, preelection publication of campaign contributions or reapportionment until the reciprocity issue has been decided.

In the house the Democrats are keeping up their rapid progressive pace, and most of the week will be devoted to the farmers' free list bill. Chairman Underwood demonstrated his desire to hasten action and also to give all members a chance to be heard, by insisting upon 11 o'clock as the hour to convene instead of noon.

It is probable that debate will close Thursday or Friday. That it will pass there is no doubt, the Democratic support being almost solid, reinforced by the votes of a few progressive Republicans.

The Democratic leaders are anxious to hasten the free list bill so that the ways and means committee may be free to devote its time to the revision of the textile schedules.

New State Problems.

While this work is progressing it is probable the house will act upon the report of the territories committee on statehood for Arizona and New Mexico.

The New Mexico constitution has been vigorously assailed by Democrats from the territory, but it is doubtful if the committee will recommend any change that would necessitate the reference of the constitution to the people of the state. Both constitutions probably will be recommended for ratification.

GREAT FIRE DESTROYS SECTION OF BANGOR, ME.

Bangor, May 1.—One-third of Bangor is in ruins, thousands of persons are homeless and a property loss estimated at $6,000,000 has been sustained, as the result of a conflagration which raged for hours last night. Starting in a hay shed on Broad street, the fire swept along Broad and Exchange streets through the heart of the city, leaving residences, churches, schools, business blocks and all the public buildings with the exception of the city hall a mass of

STATE NOW FREE OF BONDED DEBT

LAST OF OUTSTANDING ISSUE TAKEN UP BY STATE TREASURER.

Something Like Three Hundred Thousand Left in Treasury to Credit of General Fund—All This in Spite of Two Expensive Legislatures.

Olympia, May 1.—For the first time in its history the state will be on a cash basis with no bond debt on May 1, 1911, as State Treasurer John G. Lewis has drawn a warrant to pay $12,937, interest due on outstanding bonds and a warrant for $700,000, to take up the bonds outstanding against the general fund.

This wipes out the state's bonded indebtedness. Two years ago the bonded debt was $1,200,000. A year ago $500,000 worth of bonds were redeemed and the balance was taken up so that on May 1 the state would have a clean slate and a working capital of more than $300,000.

Some Good Spenders.

From 1906 to 1909 there was no reduction in the state's bonded indebtedness, neither was there an increase, although the state institutions were greatly enlarged and there were heavy drafts on the various sources of the state's income.

The 1907 legislature was known as an expensive one and its budget was over $5,000,000. The session of 1909 was still more expensive, its budget running close to $13,000,000. The 1911 legislature's budget ran over $10,000,000, but in spite of this the receipts have taken care of all expenses and at the same time wiped out the bonded indebtedness.

As there will be no legislature next year it is figured that it will be easy for the state to keep out of debt and perhaps even reduce the levy.

Some Special Bonds.

There are still outstanding $206,024 in bonds which were issued to take up the old normal school debt, and $125,000 worth of bonds to pay for the Wenatchee bridge. The first named cannot be taken up for three years, as they are to run for at least five years, while the bridge bonds are to be taken up one-twelfth each year. These are not debts against the state, for the former are to be paid out of the normal school fund and the latter out of the highway fund.

In addition to all this, the state is now drawing 2 per cent interest on its average daily balance on all money deposited and this brings in about $17,000, which more than pays the expenses of the treasurer's office. The state also owns $8,000,000 worth of bonds held by the various permanent funds, which draw interest to the sum of about $400,000 a year, which is considerably more than $1,000 a day income.

Gov. Hay, State Treasurer J. G. Lewis and State Auditor Clausen, of the state board of finance, express themselves as well pleased with the showing made.

HOUSE COMMITTEE BEGINS INVESTIGATING STEEL TRUST

Washington, May 1.—The House committee on rules has begun consideration of the Stanley resolution for the appointment of a special committee to investigate the United States Steel Corporation and to inquire into any violations by that corporation of the anti-trust, interstate commerce and National banking laws.

George B. Hampton, representing farmers' granges of Maine, Pennsylvania, Kentucky, Colorado and Washington, appeared before the committee and declared the investigation had the unanimous indorsement of his organization.

George J. Kindel, a manufacturer of Denver, also urged the investigation. Hearings on the resolution will be continued next week.

Says Penny Postage Is Due.

Washington, April 29.—Postmaster General Hitchcock is confident that "penny postage" is a probability of the near future as the result of reductions in the $17,600,000 postal deficit, which existed when he took charge of the postoffice department. He has made a statement to this effect in acknowledging letters received regarding the postal situation.

Atchison Line Accused.

Washington, April 29.—A complaint directed against the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway, alleging that freight rates on live stock between Oklahoma City and Western and Southern points and on salt between Oklahoma points and points in other States are unreasonable and discriminatory, has been filed with the interstate commerce commission by the corporation commission of Oklahoma.

Denver Wants 10,000-Acre Park.

Denver, Colo., May 1.—A memorial to congress asking that 10,000 acres of government land be granted to the city and county of Denver for use as a foothills park has been adopted by the legislature. The national law-making body also was requested to have all government land within a radius of thirty miles west of Denver withdrawn from entry until Denver has selected a site for the proposed park.

CAREER OF MAN WHO STARTED AS PENNILESS BOY.

None of the Millionaires of the Old School Had Such Picturesque Personality as Late Frank Work.

New York.—Frank Work is dead. He was almost the last to die of that little company of American millionaires who started life as penniless boys. He ran away from home when he was 9 years old with $5.30 in his pocket and he died at 92 worth many millions and with the original $5 gold piece still in his possession.

Perhaps none among these American millionaires of the old school had such a picturesque personality as Work. His fast horses were the talk of former years. His ruddy face, surmounted by its snow white hair, was known everywhere in New York.

He was born in Chillicothe, O., and showed his independent spirit by leaving home when his mother whipped him because he had been such a bad boy in school that the teacher had whipped him. Two whippings in one day were too much. He never saw his mother again. He worked his way down the Ohio and Mississippi rivers to New Orleans, where he began as an errand boy. He grew up in that city, saving his original $5 gold piece and gaining an education and a livelihood at the same time. But he early saw that the southern metropolis did not give him the chance he wanted, so he moved to New York.

Here he entered Wall street and when Jim Fisk and Jay Gould and Daniel Drew were making their fortunes he was also busy making money. He became the head of the brokerage house of Work, Sturgis & Strong, and while he did not become the master of one of the world's greatest fortunes, he was still many times a millionaire.

In the days of his Wall street activity he was regarded as a bold plunger and a good loser. No slump or panic could deter him from the course his judgment pointed out as best and this is perhaps the secret of his success. He could lose $106,000 on sugar and eat a hearty luncheon within the same half hour, as he actually did one day in Delmonico's.

Work was a famous horseman. His harness horses were of national reputation. He was arrested on many occasions for fast driving through the streets of New York. He had a strong predilection for horses of a gray color and he would never consent to sell any horse he possessed. Some of his broken-down old champions survive him now in the pasture lots where he had pensioned them.

The dead millionaire was of irascible temper and had many bitter quarrels with relatives and friends. He leaves his wealth to Mrs. Peter Cooper Hewett, his daughter, and to the children of Mrs. Fanny Burke-Roche, his other daughter.

MARRY WEALTHY FARM GIRLS

Indiana Teacher Tells Rising Generation How to Become Successful and Prosperous.

Kokomo, Ind.—A unique solution of the problems that confront a young man who wishes to become a prosperous and practical farmer was given before the Howard County Farmers' Institute here by Edwin C. Druley.

Others had suggested that the young man must cater to society and the theater and get acquainted with "city folk," but Mr. Druley brought the discussion to an abrupt close when he said:

"The best thing for a young man like that to do is pick out a wealthy farmer, get a job on his farm, then marry one of his daughters."

That remark brought considerable laughter, but it was said with seriousness. Sam Lovejoy, speaking on the same subject, said:

"The young farmer must go in society a bit, attend shows and smoke a trifle, otherwise he is not 'in it' these days."

This brought a sharp retort from O. L. Gates, who shouted:

"No young farmer ever smoked himself into success or procured a farm by attending the theater spitting and chewing, nor did he ever roll the soil out by shuffling cards. By economy and good management a young man may buy a farm

100 YEARS OLD Pettit's Eye Salve

UNCLE SAM TO RUSH KACHESS DAM WORK

Washington, May 1.—The secretary of the interior has authorized the reclamation service to construct the Kachess dam, Yakima irrigation project. All bids received as a result of advertising were considered exclusive, and as failure to complete the dam for operation during the coming season would seriously jeopardize the interest of the Yakima project, the secretary decided it to be to the interest of the United States that the work be immediately undertaken by force account, thereby avoiding the delay which would result from the execution of the contract. The dam will close the outlet of Lake Kachess, a small tributary of the Yakima river. It will be an earth filled structure, with a maximum height of sixty-eight feet, crest length 1,500 feet and volume of 25,000 cubic yards. Upon its completion, Lake Kachess will have a storage capacity of 210,000 acre feet of water, which will be used in the development of the Yakima irrigation project.

DUCKS ON DRY LAND

THOUSANDS OF THEM GET WATER ONLY FOR DRINKING.

How the Indian Runners Are Raised for the Market in New Jersey—Some Lay Two Eggs a Day.

Raising ducks on dry land reads to the layman very much like running a locomotive without steam, and yet ducks—Indian Runner ducks, the Leghorns of the duck family—are raised generation after generation with only the water they drink and what little is contained in their food.

On a plot of ground two and one-half acres in extent, not all of which is utilized for the purpose, Joseph W. Scull, at Vineland, N. J., carries 450 Indian Runner ducks in ten houses with large runs. This is the fourth year of Mr. Scull's experiences with ducks—previously he raised chickens for eleven years—and he unhesitatingly recommends Indian Runners in preference to chickens.

Beginning with four females and one male, artificial incubation and brooding produced this flock in the time stated, and a hardy, handsome flock it is, according to Country Life in America. The eggs are fine eating, being larger and richer than hens' eggs.

With the Indian Runner duck we find some peculiar conditions, so peculiar as to be almost beyond belief. Kept in confinement, forced with food for egg production, some ducks, or possibly every duck, will on some days lay two eggs, usually the second egg soft shelled and laid late in the afternoon. This soft shelled egg has been changed to a hard shelled one with the use of oyster shell fed in the mesh in small quantities twice a week.

Again the duck is such an active arrangement, so honestly industrious that it devotes all of its energy during daylight to the making of the egg and rather consistently leaves it during the night where it can be secured in the morning, for the laying is done between midnight and 8 a. m.

For some reason they become frightened in the dark, running and flying in all directions, making as much noise as possible, materially reducing the egg output and frequently killing themselves, therefore they require a light in their sleeping quarters. A small lamp in the higher portion of the house at a safe distance from the roof is sufficient.

Although the Indian Runners are active and nervous, kindness and constant association make them mild and tractable. The female is as noisy as she is active; the male can produce only a weak combination of an abbreviated squawk and a hiss. Sex is only determined by these vocal efforts and later in life by the turned up tail feathers of the male.

Those Seidlitz-Powder Men.

"If there is one thing I hate worse than another it is to go to a banquet or public gathering and find myself seated next to one of those seidlitz-powder men," said First Assistant Prosecutor Frederick R. Lehlbach recently.

"What on earth is a 'eidlitz-powder man?' asked Fred Weimer, who overheard the remark.

"Why," continued Lehlbach, "he is a man who has an opinion on everything; who is everlastingly funny, or thinks he is, generally the latter; who is always telling you what 'my wife and I did;' what he is going to do tomorrow night; who has been in every place that is mentioned or has friends there! who tells such long stories that you miss your car; who is—a seidlitz powder, only a seidlitz powder gets through effervescing some time.

"Look up the definition of seidlitz powder and see if it does not fit the man I have described."—Newark Star.

Rubbing Noses.

A Maori clergyman whose habitat is Chicago is apparently resolved to make himself unpopular with both sexes in America, for he would introduce among us his tribal custom of nose rubbing as a subsitute for kissing. Here he will find our men and women united, whatever and however great the differences which in this day divide them. The practice is out of the question as a substitute, but it might be worth trying as a stage of progress or as a compromise in lovers' quarrels and conjugal differences. The maiden wooed but not yet won might coyly encourage her swain by conceding the preliminary nose rub while still withholding the first kiss, and in later days, as wedded wife, she might after a quarrel foreshadow the coming of reconcillation by the same process.

Thus the Drama Ended.

"Sign this paper," shouted the lawyer, "and save your son from disgrace!"

"How much time have I?" asked the parent—for he was in the last act of a melodrama.

"Ten minutes—plenty of time. Sign the paper and all will be well!"

"Lost—lost!" muttered the father sobbing.

"Lost nothing. You have ten minutes, I tell you—and the pen is in your hand. Sign!"

"There is no time—there is no time! This is a new fountain pen, and it will not spill a drop of ink inside of twenty minutes!"

On such things do our fates depend!

AFTER 7 YEARS SUFFERING

I Was Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Waurika, Okla.—"I had female troubles for seven years, was all run down, and so nervous I could not do anything. The doctors treated me for different things but did me no good. I got so bad that I could not sleep day or night. While in this condition I read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and began its use and wrote to Mrs. Pinkham for advice. In a short time I had gained my average weight and am now strong and well."—Mrs. SALLIE STEVENS, R. F. D., No. 3, Box 31, Waurika, Okla.

Another Grateful Woman.

Huntington, Mass.—"I was in a nervous, run down condition and for three years could find no help.

"I owe my present good health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier which I believe saved my life.

"My doctor knows what helped me and does not say one word against it."—Mrs. MARI JANETTE BATES, Box 134, Huntington, Mass.

Because your case is a difficult one, doctors having done you no good, do not continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It surely has cured many cases of female ills, such as inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, and nervous prostration.

BRITONS APPROVE ANTI-WAR ALLIANCE WITH AMERICA

London, April 29.—President Taft's proposed arbitration agreement between Great Britain and the United States was warmly approved at a great meeting in Guild Hall. Lord Mayor Strong presided and Premier Asquith, Leader of the Opposition Balfour and other men of note were prominent.

"Only a few months ago," said Premier Asquith, "such an object would have been considered a dream. All now admit it is within the domain of practical statesmanship.

"While we do not dictate or preach to other nations, an Anglo-American agreement against war will be a long step in the progress of humanity. This pact will be the entering wedge to the securing of universal peace. It is the most important victory ever won in the relations between England and America. It is not an offensive and defensive alliance. It simply rules out war."

Baltimore, Md., May 1.—"See Europe if you will, but see America first," is the slogan of a movement in which Governor Crothers, of Maryland, seeks to procure the co-operation of the governors of all states in a letter addressed to them. He invites the states to co-operate with Maryland by sending exhibits showing their attractions in the way of travel and sightseeing to a convention to be held in January, 1912.

STATE FORGETS CHILD

HUMAN "CROP" OF THE COUNTRY OF INESTIMABLE VALUE.

More Than Two Million Babies Are Born Yearly and They Should Be Protected by Government Bureau.

There are born every year in this country more than two million children—boys and girls who will constitute the future citizenship of the nation. The value of this "crop" as compared with the cereal and meat products of the country cannot be estimated; but in view of its effect upon the future destiny of the nation, it is certainly entitled to as much consideration, to say the least, as the wheat, corn or cattle crop.

To illustrate this phase of the question, suppose that the census report for 1910 shows that the wheat crop of Iowa has decreased 25 per cent. in production as compared with 1900, or that the production of cattle in Nebraska has fallen off 30 per cent. in the same time. It would be the duty of the department of agriculture to take cognizance of this fact, and experts of the department would at once be sent out to investigate and report upon the causes of this decrease, and if the causes could be ascertained and a remedy suggested, bulletins would be published and freely circulated among the farmers and cattle raisers of the respective states which would be of great value as a guide in raising the next year's crop. Now suppose that the census report shows that in Iowa the rate of infant mortality had increased 25 per cent. in 1910 as compared with 1900, or that the proportional increase in injuries to children in factories or mines of a certain state was 30 per cent.; there is no bureau under the federal government, and in fact under but few state governments, whose duty it would be to investigate and report upon the causes of those increases.

Out of these two million children born every year, three hundred thousand under one year of age die annually, and one-half of these deaths are preventable by the knowledge and application of the proper remedies or preventive measures. In other words, it may be said that one million American born children are lost to the country every ten years through a lack of proper information. Of course, it cannot be claimed that all these children could be saved by the dissemination of information by the federal government, but a general diffusion of sanitary knowledge and instructions as to the proper care of children would undoubtedly save the lives of many children in years to come.—Forum.

The Woman in Business.

What many girls, and women, too, fail to realize is that work—any work, be it for the commercial and impersonal world that pays for it with a small weekly check, or for the dear personal world which pays chiefly in love—that any work is a privilege. No matter how monotonous it may seem, it carries with it a responsibility which should win a response not only of respect and interest, but of affection, and which should result in making for the girl a larger and more admirable personality. Of course, a girl may be overdriven, in which case she can hardly be expected to love her work. What she needs is to be taken away from it and nursed back to steadiness of nerves. But assuming that a girl has a normal working day, lasting seven or eight hours (unfortunately, it is sometimes nine), she has no excuse for not feeling an interest in it, for not understanding that she owes it an attention that has nothing to do with the wage she draws for it.—Woman's World.

Something Missing.

In Kentucky is a quaint character named Ezekiel Hopkins, who once gained local fame by discovering a piece of broken railway line and warning an excursion train in time to save disaster. So it was decided to present Ezekiel with a gold watch. The head of the presentation committee, approaching Ezekiel with a grave bow, said:

"Mr. Hopkins, it is the desire of the good people of Kentucky that you shall, in recognition of your valor and merit, be presented with this watch, which they trust will ever remind you of their undying friendship." Without the least emotion Ezekiel ejected from his mouth a long stream of tobacco juice, took the watch from its handsome case, turned it over and over in his wrinkled hand, and finally asked: "Whar's the chain?"—The Argonaut.

Righteous Indignation.

"So you want a divorce, do you?" said the lawyer, peering over his glasses at the worried little man in front of him.

"Yes, sir. I've stood just about all I can. My wife's turned suffragette and she is never at home."

"It is a pretty serious thing to break up a family, you know. Don't you think you had better try to make the best of it for a while? Perhaps it is only a passing fad."

"That's what I have been doing, but there are some things a man can't stand. I don't mind the cooking and I haven't kicked on washing the dishes, but I do draw the line at running pink ribbons in my nightshirt to try to fool the children."—Success Magazine.

WELCOME WORDS TO WOMEN

Women who suffer with disorders peculiar to their sex should write to Dr. Pierce and receive free the advice of a physician of over 40 years' experience—a skilled and successful specialist in the diseases of women. Every letter of this sort has the most careful consideration and is regarded as sacredly confidential. Many sensitively modest women write fully to Dr. Pierce what they would shrink from telling to their local physician. The local physician is pretty sure to say that he cannot do anything without "an examination." Dr. Pierce holds that these distasteful examinations are generally needless, and that no woman, except in rare cases, should submit to them.

Dr. Pierce's treatment will cure you right in the privacy of your own home. His "Favorite Prescription" has cured hundreds of thousands, some of them the worst of cases.

It is the only medicine of its kind that is the product of a regularly graduated physician. The only one good enough that its makers dare to print its every ingredient on its outside wrapper. There's no secrecy. It will bear examination. No alcohol and no habit-forming drugs are found in it. Some unscrupulous medicine dealers may offer you a substitute. Don't take it. Don't trifle with your health. Write to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, President, Buffalo, N. Y.,—take the advice received and be well.

The Difference.

European cities certainly have a laughing, contented air, people seem to take life easily, they have time for pleasures, if it's only a chair hired for two cents on one of the broad, shaded boulevards to watch the crowds pass of a Sunday afternoon, says Orison Swett Marden in Success Magazine. What smiling, care-free faces! One remembers with a shiver the faces in a New York crowd—grim, anxious, frowning, self-centered.

No doubt this atmosphere of joyousness, along with the external beauty and picturesqueness of European cities, has its attraction for our heiresses, but, of course, that alone would not make them live abroad and marry foreigners. There are other considerations which bring them to this important decision.

TWO MILLION FRUIT TREES CONTRACTED FOR

Spokane, May 1.—Contracts have been awarded to nurseries to set out 2,000,000 apple and other fruit trees in Eastern Washington and North and Central Idaho this season. Of these more than 400,000 will be planted in Spokane county, which already has 1,500,000 growing trees. One nursery at Kennewick, Wash., has orders for 1,000,000 trees. Fifty thousand trees are being planted near Lewiston, Idaho, while 20 miles north of McArthur, Idaho, 1,500 acres are being prepared for apple culture. Another company is clearing 1,100 acres two miles north of Kootenai, Idaho. These lands will be devoted to ochards. The Arcadia company is clearing and planting a tract of 17,000 acres in the northern part of Spokane and Southern Stevens counties. This land was a forest until a few years ago. It is expected that not less than 2,000,000 acres of logged-off lands in Eastern Washington and Oregon, Northern Idaho and Western Montana will be cleared during the next five years and devoted to general farming, dairying and orchards.

Alcohol not needed

Ayer's Sarsaparilla is not a strong drink. As now made, there is not a drop of alcohol in it. It is a non-alcoholic tonic and alterative. Ask your own doctor about your taking this medicine for thin, impure blood. Follow his advice every time. He knows.

Ayer's We publish our formulas. We banish alcohol from our medicines. We urge you to consult your doctor

Ask your doctor, "What is the first great rule of health?" Nine doctors out of ten will quickly reply, "Keep the bowels regular." Then ask him another question, "What do you think of Ayer's Pills for constipation?"

CLALLAM TEACHERS STUDY NEW METHODS

Declare Present Session the Best in Every Respect Yet Held in the County.

The Clallam County Institute, being held in Angeles this week, has a larger number enrolled than any previous institute held in the county; in many ways it is considered also the most successful. The first two days, Monday and Tuesday, were given over to visiting of the city schools, an entirely new feature and one that proved very instructive and entertaining.

Monday afternoon from 3 to 5 a reception and tea was given the visiting teachers by the city teachers, in Parish Hall. The tables were beautifully decorated with daffodils and a pleasant time was enjoyed, getting acquainted "over the tea cups."

The Wednesday morning program was opened by J. M. Layhue, Assistant State Superintendent with a splendid talk on Agriculture in the Grades. Miss Hayes, an instructor from the Bellingham Normal, has proven a wonderful help and inspiration to all the teachers. Professor Hart of the State University was also very much enjoyed. C. C. Brass of Seattle, editor of the Northwest Journal of Education, has been in attendance at the institute and addressed the teachers, also told some very amusing and entertaining stories. He makes it a business to visit all the institutes of the state and speaks in very complimentary terms of the Clallam County Institute and the work of the Superintendent. Mr. Phillips, Superintendent elect of Jefferson county, made an excellent address, and spoke most favorably of a joint institute of Clallam and Jefferson counties for next year.

A very pleasant feature of the institute was the delightfully informal social and dance given in Parish Hall for the teachers and their friends, on Wednesday evening. After a very enjoyable musical and literary program, all entered heartily into a word contest which called forth the rhyming abilities of all present. Boxes of candy were awarded for the two best productions.

Dancing was enjoyed until midnight, Miss Verna Wolverton furnishing most excellent music. A prettily decorated punch table was presided over by Alice Coleman and Margaret Lawazo.

Following is a list of the teachers enrolled:

Grace Babcock	Lucy Bayton
Leland Beam	Mrs. Maude Bissell
Lucy Boynton	Jeanette Broughton
M. H. Breininger	J. M. Butchart
Lena Callaway	Pearl Coffinberry
May Cook	B. F. Edgar

MOUNT PLEASANT

A picnic party enjoyed an outing in a beautiful grove on Morse Creek Sunday. The young men of Mt. Pleasant entertained the party with a game of base ball.

Eva Stevens came home Tuesday and returned to Angeles Thursday.

Angeles visitors this week from Mt. Pleasant were, Mr. and Mrs. Burns, Mrs. Stevens, and Mr. Frietsch.

Mr. Buckman is clearing land this week.

Mr. Glass is on the sick list.

Mrs. Krajewski is out here for a visit.

SEQUIM

R. R. Camfield returned from Seattle Wednesday morning where he had been on business.

J. H. Priest bought five acres from William Peterson last week. Its a fine addition, as it joins their place.

There are two new automobiles on Sequim. Frank Miller and Charles Donnell owners. Sequim is coming to the front all the time

J. J. Becker is getting the foundation laid for a new home.

The president, J. M. Grant, has called a meeting of the Board of Trade for May 13th.

Let all the business men turn out and help a good thing along.

A good number of Sequim people attended the ball game in Dungeness Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hamilton are very happy over the nice little ten and a half pound boy that came to grace their home April 20th. Mother and baby are doing fine.

The Sequim Press Office looks fine in its new coat of paint.

Mrs. George O'Brien made a visit on Sequim a few days last week. She will move here the first of June. She will be greatly missed at Clallam Bay and will be a very welcome addition to Sequim.

The picnic on Sequim last Saturday was a grand success. The day was prefect, the Athletic Club did a fine job in getting the ground ready and clearing out the grove in time; they will have a beautiful place. The Port Angeles Marine Band was a great attraction that everybody enjoyed. The ball game between Dungeness and Sequim was an attractive feature, getting the best of Sequim. The horse race was quite exciting.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Stone are happy over little boy that came to them April 29th. Mother and son are doing fine.

There is some talk of a new four room school house on Sequim as the school children are growing so fast in numbers there will not be room to hold them another year.

It is suggested that the four acres east of the Athletic grounds would be a grand addition to the school grounds. Let everybody talk it over and agree to buy it for the school.

Jim Smith of Port Townsend was among the visitors on Sequim Saturday and Sunday. He said who would have ever thought of Sequim as it is now ten years ago, land I sold for $35 per acre!

BLYN.

School closed in Dist. 32 last Friday April 28. Miss Singletary, the teacher, left for Port Angeles Monday morning where she will attend Institute before returning to her home in Seattle.

Mr. Gardiner, owner of the Gardiner logging camp, was struck by a cable last Saturday and it was thot he would not live but we are all glad to hear that he is now on the improve.

Dr. Warner and wife are moving from Palo Alto to their ranch, formerly the Brown place, where they intend to store their furniture and take an extended Eastern trip.

Mrs. Joe Whitingslow has a lady friend from up sound visiting her.

Mrs. Philip McAllen and little daughter of Port Townsend came down to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Silva last Wednesday but left for their home again Monday.

James Stewart left for Seattle Sunday to visit his mother and sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Clark have moved to Irondale to live.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Wilson of Seattle have moved here to spend the summer with her parents Mr. and Mrs. J. Hudson.

Mr. Mitchell has begun hauling lumber to the land he bought from Mr. Gardiner last fall. He expects to build very soon.

Mr. Osborne is helping John McVicor clear land on his place, they have already cleared a large space and it improves the place so greatly you can hardly recognize it as the old place.

To the many kind friends who assisted us during the recent illness and death of our little daughter, Lavina, and to those who sent the beautiful floral offerings, we extend our heartfelt thanks.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cline and Family, Dungeness.

PRESS CLUB EXCURSION

mobile rides to the Olympic Power Co.'s plant and rides about the city in private rigs kindly donated for use by the owners. All who visited the Elwha were delighted with the remarkable beauty of the scenery and are looking forward with pleasure to the time when the Press Club will have a summer home built on a site which Mr. Aldwell told them would be donated upon the plants completion.

At 5:30 the gaily bedecked Chippewa, carring the first flag of the Golden Potlatch, gave her last whistle for all aboard and Joshua Green joined by the Press Club gave three cheers for Port Angeles and a hearty invitation to attend the Potlatch in June. The Port Angeles Commercial Club gave three cheers for the Press Club and Joshua Green, who made the excursion possible by the donation of his fine steamer which now begins her regular schedule between Seattle and Tacoma in charge of Captain Burns.

The ball game was a close contest in which the outcome remained in doubt until the last inning, with the Eilers team winning by a score of 4 to 2.

Among the prominent members of the Press Club on the excursion were: Mrs. Hanna of "The New Citizen," accompanied by her two daughters; Mrs. Dr. Weaver, President of the Woman's Commercial Club, Seattle, and her daughter; Mr. Bartow, a prominent magazine writer and his wife; Mrs. Christo, formerly Miss Alice Hensen of Angeles, now a magazine writer; J. B. Nelson of the Associated Press; Dr. Cora Smith Eaton, Treasurer of the National Council of Women Voters; Mrs Williams, widow of the late Alf. Williams of the Seattle Times. Mr. Thomas, night editor of the P.-I.; Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Carlson, of the State Bank; Elmer A. Freund, Sec'y of Press Club; Nelson Blade and Horace McClure, special committee men; G. A. Ludwig and wife, editor of Friday Harbor paper and Andrew Chilberg, father of J. E. Chilberg, who enjoyed a visit with his old time friend Judge Brewster.

On Monday, May the 3rd, at the residence of J. A. Reeves, "The Breakers," nine miles from town, occurred the marriage of Mabel Reeves to Ewen MacLeod of Clayoquot, B. C. Mrs. F. A. MacDonald, of Clayoquot, was the maid of honor and a brother of the groom was best man.

Only the immediate family were present but the occasion was a most happy one and an elaborate wedding dinner was enjoyed before the happy couple took their departure for Clayoquet, where the groom is a provincial officer. They hope to take up their residence in the near future close to "The Breakers" where the groom owns a fine ranch.

NOTICE

In the Superior Court of the State of Washington in and for Clallam County.
Little River Railroad and Logging Company, a corporation, plaintiff, vs. George F. Rosenmiller, defendant.

To George F. Rosenmiller, defendant: You are hereby notified that on the 13th day of May, 1911, at the hour of 10 a. m. of said day, or as soon thereafter as counsel can be heard, the Petitioners above named will present to the above entitled Court, at the court house in the City of Port Angeles, Clallam county, Washington, its petition praying for the condemnation of certain real estate hereinafter described, for a right of way for its toll logging railroad, and that a jury be empaneled to ascertain and determine the compensation to be made in money, irrespective of any benefits from the improvements proposed by the Petitioner, for the taking or injuriously affecting said lands and premises. The lands prayed to be condemned and of which you are the owners or encumbrancers, are bounded and described as follows:

A strip of land thirty (30) feet in width, being fifteen (15) feet on each side of the center line of said right of way as surveyed, and over, across and upon the following described land in Clallam county, Washington, to-wit:

The northeast quarter (ne¼) of the southwest quarter (sw¼) of the southwest quarter (sw¼) of the southwest quarter (sw¼) of section nine (9), township thirty (30) north, range six (6) west of Willamette Meridian. Said right of way being more particularly described as follows, to-wit:

Commencing at a point in the east line of said described lands, sixty five feet (65 ft.) south of the northeast corner (ne) thereof, thence in a generally south-westerly (sw) direction, along the valley of Frasier creek to a point in the south (s) line of said described lands, twenty five (25) feet east (e) of the southwest (sw) corner thereof.

BOB MADE BIG HIT.

"Mr. Bob," the two act comedy given in the opera house Friday evening, under the auspices of the Woman's Literary Club, is pronounced by all who attended one of the very best amateur plays ever given in the city.

The young people taking part are to be congratulated for the splendid manner in which they impersonated the parts assigned them and much credit is due Mr. Walter Clark for the assistance given them at rehearsals.

Margaret Ritchie, as Miss Rebecca's maid, Patty, left nothing to be desired and simply captivated the audience. Miss Rebecca's butler, Howard Campbell, was also a great success, convincing the spectators of his ability in the culinary department. Miss Rebbeca herself was ideal as portrayed by Beatrice Allen. Grace MacKechnie, her niece, and Grace Ross, the friend, come in for a full share of praise also. Herman Celian and Duane Allen, as two of the principal characters, won hearty applause and impressed the audience with their theatrical talent.

The music furnished by the Port Angeles Marine Band for the entertainment and dance that followed, was a very enjoyable feature.

Summons by Publication.

No. 2606.

In the Superior Court of the State of Washington, for Clallam county.
Charles Tillman, Plaintiff, vs. H. M. Fisher as administrator of the estate of James Stuckey, Deceased, The Unknown Heirs of the deceased, and B. E. Woods, Defendants.

The State of Washington to the Unknown Heirs of the Deceased, Defendants:

You are hereby summoned to appear within sixty days after the date of the first publication of this summons, to-wit: within sixty days after the 5th day of May, 1911, and defend the above entitled action in the above entitled court, and answer the complaint of the plaintiff, and serve a copy of your answer upon the undersigned attorney for plaintiff, at his office below stated; and in case of your failure so to do judgment will be rendered against you according to the demand of the complaint, which has been filed with the clerk of said court.

The object of said action is to recover judgment against the defendant H. M. Fisher as administrator of the estate of James Stuckey, deceased, and The Unknown Heirs of said James Stuckey, deceased, upon one certain promissory note in the sum of $400, executed and delivered by said James Stuckey on the 7th day of December, 1908, to the plaintiff Charles Tillman; for interest thereon at the rate of ten per cent. per annum from the 7th day of December, 1910, until paid, and for attorney's fees and costs; and to foreclose a certain mortgage made by said James Stuckey to secure the payment of said note, which said mortgage is recorded in Volume 18 of Mortgages, on page 108 of the Records of said Clallam county, and which said mortgage conveys to the plaintiff the lands described as follows:

Lots 15, 16, 17 and 18 in Block 266 of the Government Townsite of Port Angeles, all in the City of Port Angeles, Clallam county, Washington.

And the further object of such action is to foreclose the interest of each and all of the defendants, if any interest they have in said premises, and for a decree declaring such interest junior, inferior and subordinate to plaintiff's mortgage, and that the equity of redemption of each of the defendants be forever barred and foreclosed. And the further object of said action is to obtain a decree for the foreclosure of said mortgage and the sale of the premises to satisfy said judgment.

Dated this 5th day of May, 1911, the day of the first publication hereof.
