A NOMINATION WITHOUT HONOR

Southern, Territorial and Stolen Delegates Make Up Half of Taft's Total Vote, 561.

The "steam-roller was in good working condition at the Coliseum last Saturday, and the bitter fight in Chicago over the nomination of a candidate for president is over. The balloting commenced late in the evening, after an all day's stormy session, resulting as follows:

Taft, 561; Roosevelt, 107; La-Follette, 41; Cummins, 17; Hughes, 2; absent, 2; present but not voting, 344.

Many of the Roosevelt delegates, while retaining their seats in the convention, declined to vote. Illinois furnished nearly half of the 107 votes given Roosevelt, Governor Deneen asking to have the state's vote polled. He said that under the law of the state the delegates felt obliged to obey their instructions and vote for Roosevelt. The Illinois vote stood, Taft, 2; Roosevelt, 52; absent, 2; not voting 2.

Seven of the 17 votes for Cummins came from Idaho.

Vice President Sherman was named as Taft's running mate.

The states where the majority of the Roosevelt delegates refrained from voting for president were, California, Indiana, Kansas, Maine, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, New Jersey, North Carolina, Ohio, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Texas and West Virginia.

At no time was there any indication of a walkout of Roosevelt delegates. They remained and expressed their contempt of the convention's proceedings in fraudulently seating delegates in silence.

During the day the remaining contests were rushed through. Justification for this was given by Chairman Root in an effort to close the business of the convention before Sunday.

When the convention was called to order at 10:43 a. m. several delegates called "All aboard" as the steam-roller began to turn. "Toot, toot," and "choo, choo," came in a chorus from the galleries as the reports on the contests were decided in favor of Taft. When Washington was reached, a delegate from Mississippi raised the point of order, "the steam roller is exceeding its speed limit."

There was a gale of laughter, renewed when Chairman Root said he was prepared to rule on the point. "The point of order," he said, "is well taken. The justification is that we have some hope of starting home on Sunday."

In order that an adverse vote might not throw out the entire state delegation, the committee reported the Washington delegates-at-large and each district delegation seperately.

Sullivan, of Ohio, presented a minority report and moved to substitute for the majority report. Watson, of Indiana, moved to table the motion. While a conference was being held on the platform bedlam broke loose on the floor.

"Toot, toot, choo, choo, choo, toot, toot."

"Sand the track, Watson; you're slipping."

The crowd began to sing, "Nearer, My God, to Thee" and "John Brown's Body," altering the final lines ot the chorus to: "As we go rolling on."

Hugh T. Halbert, of Minnesota, spoke in support of the minority report when quiet was restored. A motion to put the Taft delegates on the permanent roll was carried without a roll call. After the Washington contests had been decided there was a lull in the proceedings.

During the intermission a big sign was hung over the rear gallery reading:

AMERICA—
Mother of Republics

A Fourth of July Poem by

JAMES A. EDGERTON

WHEN first young America gave to the world
Man's charter of rights in her bold Declaration,
When first to the sun and the breeze was unfurled
Her flag of the morn that proclaimed her a nation,
No foothold had freedom in all of the earth,
No home had democracy outside a prison,
And every republic that since has had birth
Is child of hers, through her example has risen
Till all of the continents now have divined
The light of the new day that breaks for mankind.

FIRST France caught the gleam, she whose soldiers had fought
As brothers with ours; with the blood and the treasure
She gave unto us her own freedom she bought,
Repaid thus in liberty's bounteous measure.
Then glistened the light upon Switzerland's crags,
Next all the Americas glowed into morning
And, under the eagle's wing, blossomed with flags,
A wreath of republics the New World adorning.
Brazil followed soon, and then over the sea
Our guns thundered chorus and Cuba was free.

THE growing republican phalanx moves on,
Proud Portugal yesterday swelling the number.
Today o'er the orient blushes the dawn
And China awakes from her ages of slumber.
Tomorrow what new land will turn to the light?
Already the rule of the people grows stronger
Throughout all the earth, and the day is in sight
When kings and their minions shall govern no longer;
Already the era of promise is nigh
When each land shall boast its own Fourth of July.

ROOSEVELT PROGRESSIVE NOMINEE

Seventy-five Per cent of the People Refuse to Disenfranchised by the National Committee.

Former President Theodore Roosevelt was nominated Saturday night for president on an independent ticket. The convention meeting in Orchestra hall, Chicago.

In accepting the nomination for president, Col. Roosevelt appealed to the people of all sections, regardless of party affiliations, to stand by the founders of the new party, one of whose cardinal principles, he said, was to be "thou shalt not steal."

The informal nomination of Col. Roosevelt was said to be chiefly for the purpose of effecting a temporary organization. Beginning tomorrow, when a call is to be issued for a state convention in Illinois, the work of organization will be pushed forward rapidly, state by state.

At a later date, probably early in August, it is intended to hold a national convention.

Col. Roosevelt in accepting the nomination, said he did so with the understanding that he would be willing to step aside if it should be the desire of the new party, when organized, to select another standard bearer.

The method of operation in the various states is still to be decided upon. In states where the progressives control the the organization, the Republican candidates for state and national officers, with the exception of president, will be endorsed with the idea of preserving the organizations intact. In such cases an effort will be made to pledge the candidates for electors to vote for Roosevelt without regard to the Republican national ticket.

In states in which the organizations are opposed to Col. Roosevelt it is planned to name entire new tickets, probably under the emblem of the progressive party.

MEN WHO FARM DRY CREEK VALLEY

Show Opportunities Open to Those Seeking Homes on Lands in Clallam County.

Out on Dry Creek near the Lake Crescent road, there lives a farmer, a recent arrival in this community, whose experience holds so much of promise for the prosperity of this county that his story is told here.

Two years ago S. T. Eddy brought his family here from Wyoming in search of a home in western Washington. He bought eighty acres of logged-off land six miles from town. This land was in the raw state, without a dollar's worth of improvements on it. Today Mr. Eddy has seventeen acres in cultivation. His outlay for hired help has been less than fifty dollars. He lives in a comfortable house, has a large barn and other out-buildings, and good fences; and he has nearly three hundred fine chickens, besides cows and horses.

Ten Acres Loganberries

Last December J. J. McDonald, a former resident of Port Angeles, was here from Salem, Oregon, where he is very successfully engaged in the raising and drying of Loganberries. He declared that our climate and soil is ideal for Loganberries, and he agreed to put up a drier if the farmers in this vicinity would set out ten acres of berries. Although there was considerable agitation at the time, the matter was allowed to die. But Mr. Eddy has gone ahead and set out two hundred plants. They are now fine and sturdy. He proposes to raise Loganberries whether his neighbors do or not. He states that a portable drier, with a capacity of five bushels per day, can be had at a cost of thirty dollars. This he will use until such a time as the output will justify the building of a large drier.

Fine Field Alfalfa

Raising alfalfa is an experiment which Mr. Eddy is trying this year for the first time. He has an acre of this. Today it looks as well as clover sown at the same time. It gives every indication of being successful. If it is, it will mean much for this region.

In clearing the land, Mr. Eddy first removes everything but the stumps. Then he plants a crop on the ground. Later, as he can afford it, he removes the stumps with powder.

He states that while this is not an ideal way to farm, it makes it possible for a man to get immediate results from his land. He has ten acres all clear but the stumps. From this he is cutting his first crop of clover. It is of fine quality, and as to yield plenty of land is being farmed year after year with no larger returns than is had upon this land the first year.

One field of seven acres is without a stump. They were all removed with powder, and three boxes of dynamite did the work. Dynamite costs five dollars a box This is probably the best and cheapest way so far devised.

The chicken raising on the new farm is the enterprise of Mrs. Eddy. The results obtained show the possibilities of raising poultry in this county. She has seventy hens of the Silver-laced Wyandotte variety, and two hundred half grown White Leghorn chickens. Mrs. Eddy keeps books on her chickens, and finds that on an average twelve out of fifteen eggs hatch. Out of three settings of fifteen eggs each, every egg hatched.

Mr. Eddy and his family are happy and contented in their new home. Their success is assured. So is their independence. Their story is told because it

The trouble with a Clallam county party boss is that he would a thousand times rather see his party lose than for it to win with men and methods that would put him out of the bossing of it.

Government experts estimate the vote of 1912 at 15,000,000 and it looks as though they were nearly correct. In round figures the numbers were 11,381,000 in 1888, 12,044,000 in 1892, 13,607,000 in 1896, 13,960,000 in 1900, 13,540,000 in 1904, 14,500,000 in 1908. Thus it will require a half million to bring it up to 15,000,000 this year.

The influence of women in the coming presidential election may not be thoroughly understood. They will vote in the states of California, Colorado, Washington, Wyoming, Idaho and Utah. One thing certain, the women of these states may be depended upon to vote against dishonesty and trickery in politics. Women, more than the men, have a high conception of justice and right, and will vote accordingly.

The Friday Harbor Journal sizes up the situation correctly, as follows: By the action of the Republican national committee at Chicago, the 14 delegates from the State of Washington have been placed to the credit of President Taft, by a process of plain lying, artistic perjury and common theft. This action practically disfranchised 75 per cent of the republican voters of the state so far as having any voice as to who should be the nominee for president.

A report of the convention says: "In order that an adverse vote might not throw out the entire delegation, the committee reported the Washington delegates-at-large and each district delegation separately." Why this anxious solicitation? Were the Washington delegates seated regularly, or was the convention fearful that some over-conscious delegates might see the light clearly and decide to do the honest thing by voting to unseat the Washington Taft delegation? Can you tell?

The division in the Republican party can be laid directly to the ineptitude of William Howard Taft. The word is explained by Webster as follows: "unsuitableness; a foolish word or action." The word applies wonderfully to Mr. Taft. His ineptitude lost him friends. The division in the party began with that celebrated speech at Winona, Minn. That speech was a direct charge of disloyalty of the republican senators and congressmen who voted against the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill. Mr. Taft afterwards saw his mistake and admitted the speech was wrong in its utterance, but it was too late to undo the harm.

So after all the bluff and bluster it required Washington's fourteen delegates to nominate Taft. Without Washington Taft could not have been nominated. And this corrupt seating of the Taft delegation was brought about in part by the Taft bolters in Clallam county, the most brazen, sham-faced and dishonorable procedure that ever disgraced the political annals of any community. These self-appointed delegates attended the Aberdeen convention and participated in its deliberations. And this in the face of the universal verdict from every quarter thruout the state that there was absolutely no merit in the Clallam county bolt. Such actions as this of the office holders and bosses breeds political divisions within party lines and we mistake the temper of the people of Clallam county if they do not shelve for all time to come the political aspirations of the participants in this high-handed outrage.

machine: They are an aggregation of criminals masquerading under the banner of Republicanism."

When order was restored the report of the committee on permanent organization, recommending that the temporary list, headed by Senator Root, be made permanent, was adopted.

Senator Root came forward amid deafening cheers; when at last order was restored, Mr. Root made a brief speech of thanks and introduced Henry J. Allen of Kansas, to make a statement.

Allen's speech was a declaration that the Roosevelt people repudiated this convention and its work and, without a physical bolt, appealed to the people. At the first mention of Roosevelt's name tremendous cheering followed which lasted many minutes.

Allen's remarks were constantly interrupted by cheers, hisses and other noises.

At last Chairman Root stepped forward on the platform and said: "I hope it will be understood in this convention that friends of Mr. Taft must pay the same respect to speakers on the side favoring Mr. Roosevelt as the advocates of Mr. Roosevelt have paid to speakers on the other side."

Allen announced that he would read "a statement just placed in my hands by Col. Roosevelt."

When he reached the point where Mr. Roosevelt asked that his followers refrain from voting on any other proposition in the convention, a burst of cheers, groans and hisses interrupted him. Mr. Allen then proceeded:

"Gentlemen: We have reached a point where a majority of the Roosevelt delegations feel that they can no longer share in the responsibility for the acts of this convention. When by using the votes of the delegates whose rights to sit in this convention are challenged, you took a position which places the power of a political committee above the authority of 77,000 majority of electors in a legal primary in California, we decided that your steam roller had exceeded the speed limit. Since then we have asked for no roll call.

"We can not in justice to ourselves, share the responsibility of a convention which has said to Ohio, the home of President Taft, that a majority of 47,000 voters, obtained in a legal primary election, must stand aside for the political dictum of a national committee discarded by the same majority."

The speaker read the roll of states in which, he said, majorities given against Mr. Taft "went down under the mere rulings of a political committee:" Wisconsin, Maine, Maryland, South Dakota, North Dakota, Nebraska, Oregon, Minnesota, Kansas, Oklahoma, West Virginia and North Carolina.

"We do not bolt," concluded Allen, "we merely insist that you and not we are making the record. And we refuse to be bound by it. We have pleaded with you ten days. We have fought with you five days. We fight no more. We plead no longer. We shall sit in protest and the people who sent us here shall judge us."

There was a lack of enthusiasm at the convention. Mention of the name of Taft, the nominee, never elicited a half-hearted response from the delegates or galleries. It was more like a funeral pyre, a cold-blooded convention from start to finish.

Warren G. Harding, of Ohio, in nominating President Taft for re-election, said: "I hold a brief from tens of thousands of business men for President Taft." Why from "business men" more than any other class of men? Why more than the laboring man, the rancher, the poor mechanic, or the hod carrier? The laboring people of this country have been bottled up long enough by the predatory interests for the good of the countrv. Give us a brief from all the people, not from the aristocratic, moneyed class alone. Let the people rule.

The steam roller of the republican national committee was about the finest oiled and best working machine that was ever brought into politics.

The proceedings were well under way when Col. Roosevelt appeared upon the stage at the mass meeting. The crowd went wild with enthusiasm. Men flung their hats in the air and women tossed their gloves and fans about. The cheering was deafening and it was some time before order was restored.

Gov. Johnson dismissed the meeting after calling upon the delegates to meet tomorrow afternoon.

"I know it is Sunday," he said, "but our work is holy work."

The speech nominating Col. Roosevelt was made bv Comptroller W.A. Prendergast, of New York, who was to have presented the Colonel's name to the convention.

Representatives of twenty-two states composed the notification committee which informed Col. Roosevelt of his nomination and in a sense stood as sponsors for the movement.

The delegates from the Coliseum convention arrived in a body and marched into the hall, headed by Senator Clapp of Minnesota and the Minnesota delegation, which joined the California delegation on the stage. Governor Johnson, as he opened the formal part of the meeting, said:

"The delegates present represent a majority of the legally elected delegates to the national republican convention. They propose to do right here and now just what they were elected to do.

"We came here with the mandate of the people of California. You came here with the design to carry out, not the will of a rotten boss in Pennsylvania, or a crooked one in New York, or a United States senator in Massachusetts, but to carry out the mandate of the people to nominate Theodore Roosevelt, who by a fraud has been robbed of that which was his. We, the delegates, free and untrammeled, have come here to nominate him tonight."

Senator Clapp of Minnesota then read the resolution nominating Col. Roosevelt. It was adopted with a cheer. The resolution follows:

"We, delegates and alternates to the republican national convention, representing a clear majority of the voters of the republican party in the nation, and representing a clear majority of delegates and alternates legally elected to the convention in meeting assembled, make the following declaration:

"We were delegated by a majority of the republican voters of our respective districts and states to nominate Theodore Roosevelt in the republican national convention as the candidate of our party for president, and thereby carry out the will of the voters as expressed at the primaries. We have earnestly and conscientiously striven to execute the commission entrusted to us by the party voters.

"For five days we have been denied justice in the national convention. This result has been accomplished by the action of the now defunct national committee in placing upon the preliminary roll of the convention, and thereby seating upon the floor of the convention, a sufficient number of fraudulently elected delegates to control the proceedings of the convention.

"These fraudulent delegates, once seated, have by concerted action with one another, put themselves upon the permanent roll, where they constitute an influence sufficient to control the convention and defeat the will of the party as expressed at the primaries.

"We have exhausted every known means to hold off this conspiracy and to prevent this fraud upon the popular will, but without success.

"We were sent to this convention bearing the most specific instructions to place Theodore Roosevelt in nomination as the candidate of our party for president, and we therefore deem it to be our duty to carry out these instructions in the only practical and feasible way remaining open to us. Therefore, be it

"Roosevelt, That we, representing the majority of the voters of the Republican party and of the delegates and alternates legally elected to the National Republican convention, in compliance with our instructions from the party voters, hereby nominate Theodore Roosevelt as the candidate of our party for the office of president of the United States, and we call upon him to accept such nomination in compliance with the will of the party voters. And, be it further

"Resolved, That a committee be appointed by the chair to forth with notify Col. Roosevelt of the action here taken, and request him to appear before us in this hall as soon as convenient."

In a message to a friend in New York, former Senator C. M. Depew, for many years prominent in Republican councils, is quoted as saying of the Chicago convention: "It is merely a question of which corpse will get the most flowers. This is the first Republican convention for fifty years, the nominee of which has not a ghost of a show to be elected." Chauncy isn't the only wise guy in the country. His opinion is shared by thousands of old-time republicans throughout the country.—Friday Harbor Journal.

The predatory interests of Wall street have both political parties by the throat. These interests seated Elihu Root as chairman and thereby made him boss of the Taft convention at Chicago. Thomas B. Ryan, the boss that is running the democratic convention at Baltimore, which seated Allen B. Parker as chairman, represents the same interests. Elihu Root is Thomas B. Ryan's attorney, retained to assist Ryan in managing his immense business affairs.

Nearly half, or to be exact, 258 of the 561 votes given Taft at the Chicago convention were from the southern states, where the republican vote is comparatively nil, or from Uncle Sam's outlying possessions, where they do not vote for president. Add to this the stolen delegates from the northern republican states and the showing is not very flattering for the administration party.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS OPENED MONDAY

School opened, Tuesday morning after a two weeks' vaccation and the children, as well as the teachers, were happy to resume their work in the handsome new building. The Fourth Ward school has been closed, the pupils of that ward coming now to the new central school. This fact, together with all the new families that have moved into town the past few months, has caused the different rooms to become overcrowded and more teachers will have to be secured. No better proof of the wonderful increase in our population could be given than this surprisingly increased enrollment.

The Board of Education is hoping to get a good commercial course established in the school very soon and domestic science and other vocational courses will be added later..

A plank walk has been built from Peabody street to the school house and the Board is still hoping that the city will see to making the other streets passable at an early date. The teachers are doing their best to keep the pupils from walking in the mud around the building. They will be allowed to use the auditorium for recreation and play during the bad weather. In the spring, as soon as the weather permits, fine concrete walks will be put in and the grounds beautified. Every citizen should take pride in this beautiful building and endeavor to instill the same pride in the pupils. Their comfort, health and pleasure ure were the inspiration for its building and it is to be hoped they will not mar its beauty or disfigure it in any way.

A most desirable thing in connection with our schools would be a mothers' or parents' club of which the teachers and Board should also be members. These clubs are doing a splendid work in many towns of Washington and in all the large cities. In Seattle Parental Clubs are to be found in connection with all the schools, parents and teachers co-operating most harmoniously. There is nothing in which parents should be so interested as the schools, yet a shockingly small per cent of either fathers or mothers ever visit the schools from one year's end to the other. We cannot expect strange teachers to come into our schools and work with zeal and enthusiasm when we ourselves show not a particle of interest. Let this new year mark a change for the better in Port Angeles. Mothers, take your work along and spend a half day at a time and see if you are satisfied with the work your child is doing and with the instruction he is receiving. Not long ago a teacher of wide experience said to the writer, "I never enjoyed teaching any place in my twenty years' experience as I do at my present location, because of the great interest the parents take. Why, I never know when some mother will drop in with her work and spend the whole forenoon and their interest and pride in my work and the pupils' spurs us both on to better things."

A lecturer in Port Angeles a short time ago stated that while we were reviewing our resources we must never forget that our city's most valuable asset is its children and young people. We can, indeed, ill afford to neglect them for financial or social successes or any of the other various phases of life.

Let us aim to turn out from our schools not only well equiped students mentally, but well equipped physically also. To do this we must have in our school a thorough system of medical and dental inspection from which no pupil may be exempt. Let us work also for a fine gymnasium and an ideal play ground supervised by competent and trustworthy persons. There are few finer school buildings in the state than ours, let us never rest content until it is complete in every detail and department so that our children may receive all the education necessary for the ordinary walks of life right here at home. Let us not try to economize in our teachers. An incompetent teacher is the greatest extravagance.

DOINGS OF THE CITY COUNCIL

an order releasing to the city the route not used. It was provided that construction work shall begin by March 1st and the road completed within two years.

The ordinance was then read, Engineer Donovan having prepared a map for the council that they might follow the line of grant asked as read. It provides for the right to build on the streets and alleys thru the city as outlined by the Morrow grant, including sidetracks and spurs at Ennis creek and at the lagoon and on about half the north and south streets between, from the main line to the inner harbor line. As stated by Mr. Shank, either Railroad avenue or the Front street route will be voided by the company later when the city decides what can be done as to the breakwater. The ordinance was referred to the council in committee, and it was arranged to have a meeting with Messrs. Erickson and Shank Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock.

All ordinances and franchises in the hands of the committees were then returned to the council, including the two electric railway grants, the Lincoln wharf grant and several others, and action was laid over for one week.

The organization of the new council then took place, Mr. O'Brien again taking his seat and G. V. Smith succeeding Jas. Stewart as city attorney. The mayor read a report of the past year and recommendations for the coming year, which are published elsewhere in this issue.

The Mayor announced the following appointments, which were confirmed: City engineer, Chas. J. Filion; street superintendent, Wm. Graham; health officer, Dr. F. T. Hyde; marshal, Garfield Davis; policeman, Mike Sullivan; police justice, J. Merton Davis; electrician, E. G. Schoeder (at a salary of $100); janitor, Thomas Olson.

Plat of Swanson's subdivision of suburban block No. 102 was read and examined and upon motion of Fisher same was approved and ordered filed for record.

A few minor street improvements were ordered.

The application of Fred Zbinden for a liquor license with bond, consent of property owners and citizens, etc., was then read. Mr. Dustman asked the Clerk if the Mayor had yet filed any communication relative to the ordinance passed last week, and on being informed that he had not, moved that the application be laid on the table until definite action can be had on the pending liquor ordinance. The motion carried by the votes of Dustman, Stiles, Elliott, and Wilcox; Myers, Fisher and O'Brien voting to grant a license under the old ordinance.

Several other applications were submitted, and like action taken on them.

The marshal was directed to have a new roof put on the city jail.

Council then adjourned.

so small, and the uncertainty attendant upon the renter. When, however, the situation happens to be as serious for homeseekers as it is in Port Angeles today, a building company becomes a downright necessity. Mr. Lester, who is the promoter of this company, recognized this fact and his choice of associates is evidence enough of his intention to operate on a sound business basis.

By its very nature a building company is in a position to build a given house cheaper than could a contractor, since the greater quantity of material used by such an organization can be obtained at better prices, as well as the labor which is more permanently employed.

Mr. Lester says The Olympic Building Co. is prepared to build bungalows and cottages of the best architectural design for from fifteen hundred to two thousand dollars, securing the company by taking a mortage to the value of each house. That Port Angeles felt the need of such an arrangement is convincingly demonstrated by the fact that already fifteen to twenty applications for houses have been placed with the new company.

THE NEWS FROM THE WEST END

Annual Masque Ball of the Forks Athletic Club Proved to Be a Record Breaker.

The Annual Masque Ball of the Forks Athletic Club proved to be a record breaker. When three years ago the Club appointed a committee to arrange for a masquerade dance, the "Wise Men" of the Prairie pooh-poohed the idea and predicted a complete failure, but nothing daunted the committee set to work with a will (as the Club committees always do) and proved to these "W.M." that a masque dance was just what the people had been waiting for.

The following ball was even a greater success than its predecessor and this year's dance far surpassed the other two, for while the attendance was not as great as last year yet the costumes showed much more originality and attention to details than on the former occasions; in fact, the costumes and the delineation of the characters would have been a credit to any community. Among the many, the following were particularly conspicuous: "The Daughter of the Regiment," by Mable Hosac; Eva Hosac was a pretty Red Riding Hood"; Iva Hosac attracted much attention as a rollicking, jolly circus clown. Mrs. Fred Rudisile, of Clallam Bay, in colonial costume, depicted the character with stately grace. Therole of an Italian Dancing Girl was well taken by Vera Howard. Marjory Griffith made a beautiful Spanish Lady (and is still wearing a fine sunkissed complexion, for it refuses to come off). Pearl Morganthaler, as a bridesmaid, was outdone in sweetness only by her sister, Mrs. Morton Peterson, as a bride. Mrs. Moffatt, of Quillayute, as Red Wing, was accompanied by her husband as a horrible Hoboe. Chas. Grader did well as an Irish Gentleman. Mephisto was well represented by Chas. Griffith and Ray Shamley. Joe Marsh made a good plantation negro. Probably the costume that attracted the most attention was that worn by Jack Hahn—and thereby hangs a tale. It appears that Jack went to the woods to don his costume and in his search for it strayed away from his citizen's clothes so that he could not find them, but with characteristic resourcefulness he seized a barrel, knocked out both ends, got into it and went to the dance; there were few people present who did not believe the costume was an original idea with Jake, but Jake knew better and he spent several hours in a vain attempt to convince a certain dear friend that the above was the true condition of affairs. The annual masque ball has come and passed, but pleasant and amusing recollections will linger until the next one.

The Wrestling Match

The wrestling match on New Years eve was somewhat disappointing, inasmuch as it was declared a draw. In order that the match might interfere as little as possible with the dance that followed, it was necessary to set a time limit. So, after wrestling for an hour and ten minutes with no apparent advantage to either man it was declared a draw. Both men appeared in the ring in splendid condition and put up a splendid exhibition. LaBelle is a nice clean wrestler and knows the game; in fact, he is the first man that Kreig has met that has given him any trouble. It is to be hoped that another match can be arranged in the near future and that Mr. LaBelle can fall into company who can and will give him the backing his merits deserve.

Wedding at Cottage Hotel

The parlor of Cottage Hotel was again the scene of a quiet wedding last Saturday evening, when B. J. Sheridan, an oil driller for the Washington Oil Co., and Florence R. Kilmer, school teacher at Tyee, were joined in wedlock by the local Justice. Mr. Herbert Smith, the Forks school teacher, acted as best man, while Miss Clotilde Patton, school teacher at Hoh, was bridesmaid.

John Gunness is arranging to start a shoe and harness repair shop in the log building formerly occupied by the Cottage Hotel.

Dave Elterich has returned from an upsound trip.

T. H. Rixon, of Mora, passed thru Forks on his way to Seattle.

The Yakima Indians who spent the Holidays at LaPush have returned to their homes.

S. G. Morse of Mora has returned from an Angeles visit. He timed his return to take in the wrestling match and ball.

County Commissioner-elect Clark left for Port Angeles Thursday.

P. L. Jordan, the telephone man, is kept quite busy these days. repairing the line which the recent storms put in bad condition.

Martin Raun, formerly of Sappho, is visiting in the West End. Martin is superintendent of a large ranch in Oregon, owned and controlled by the Pacific Lumber Co. He is looking well and seems well satisfied with his present position.

Joe Marsh and wife, of Quillayute were on the Prairie several days the past week.

Mrs. Shelby, of Victoria, is visiting her brother, Joe Marsh, and her sister, Mrs. Earl Wilson.

Miss Clotilde Patton, who is teaching the Hoh school this term, has returned to her duties after a pleasant visit to her home in Bellingham. Fred and George Fletcher came as far as Forks to meet her. Fred won out and George left in disgust for Port Townsend to find another school teacher.

P. J. Baldwin, a geologist from Bremerton, is looking the country over and stopped at Forks for several days last week.

MORA

C. E. Wells, wife and son, of Whitewood, S. Dak., are holiday guests at Wesley Smiths, where quite a family gathering was held New Years eve. O. W. Smith and wife, H. B. Smith, wife and children, Mrs. Hess and Miss Somers made quite a merry crowd at a dinner and belated Christmas tree which was just as enjoyable as if Santa Claus had been able to get to Quillayute on time.

A large crowd went to Forks to the wrestling match and dance. All came home reporting a good time at both.

Quite a calamity for the West End occurred when the dock at Clallam Bay went down on the 31st. It it a bad time of the year to be compelled to land freight and passengers by row boat; there will most likely be times when it cannot be done at all. The unloading has to be done at West Clallam and the road to West Clallam is in bad shape although it is the only road for Ozette and Dickey Lake. It makes the problem of getting freight in and out a bad one. It is understood they will rebuild at once.

S. G. Morse came in home for New Years. An effort was made to arrange a wrestling match between S. G. and Eli Peterson as a preliminary if Kreig and LaBelle wrestle soon.

Harry California had a horse drowned in the Quillayute at Mora on New Years.

SAPPHO

The wind has been doing all the work in this section lately. The storms have been one continual performance. Last week the wharf and warehouse at Clallam Bay went down, during the heavy swells. It was quite a heavy loss to Mr. Fairservice, as it is quite expensive to keep the dock in repair. Last year cresote piling was put in. A force of men are now at work getting piling and it is hoped the damage will be repaired in a short time.

Wesley Kidd has gone to Angeles to have some dental work done.

Martin Raun, of near Portland, came in last week for a visit with his mother, Mrs. Weldrick, of the Sappho House.

Miss Kilmer and Mr. Sheridan were married Saturday night at the Cottage Hotel, Forks. The bride was the Tyee teacher, and Mr. Sheridan an oil driller at Forks. They will make their home at Forks.

The young men are all wondering who the next teacher for the Hahn district will be.

Mrs. J. A. Rainey goes to Port Angeles this week.
