County 'Road Mix' Cost $1,512 Per Mile For Labor, Material

The 9.8 miles of bituminous road mix surfacing completed last summer on central district county roads cost $14,819.65, or an average of $1,512 per mile, cost data compiled and published by the county engineer's office shows.

This includes cost of labor and materials, but not the use of county equipment or general overhead, according to County Engineer Herman Ahlvers. Thus it does not represent total cost comparable to contractor's costs.

Preliminary estimate made in advance of the work was $31,730, an average of $3,237 per mile.

In explanation of the big difference between estimates and actual costs, Ahlvers cites two main reasons in addition to the fact that such costs are usually estimated high in order to be sure of having enough appropriation.

He says a big saving was made through use of a new mixing machine for mixing the oil and aggregate on the road. With the help of graders, this new machine mixes the material considerably faster and more thoroughly than graders alone. Pending actual trial, the possible saving through this type machine was not considered in making the preliminary estimates.

Also the county based its estimates on state highway contract prices, due to lack of recent county experience with road mix surfacing, and Ahlvers observed that contract prices usually run higher than county work. He said the county cost figures now do not include any charge for use of county-owned equipment. Formerly the state required inclusion of an equipment rental charge, but no longer does so, he added.

The county's breakdown of costs on the largest individual job (taken as an example), namely CRP 141, Lower Elwha road 2.8 miles, shows: Labor $2,601, industrial insurance and medical aid $23, supplies $92, materials $6,350.40.

All costs are reported to the state highway department under state-directed procedure. Most of the funds come from the state gasoline tax.

Seven individual "road mix" jobs are included in the 1945 second district surfacing total. In accordance with state law, the county commissioners have published in legal advertisements the final cost on each job, but the publications specify each project by number only, without road name or mileage. (Names are included for bridge repair jobs).

Adding names and mileage from the engineer's records, the following list shows the seven completed road mix jobs and actual costs:

Old highway 1 mile, Plywood street 0.2 mile, $1,827.28.

Mount Angeles road 2.1 miles, Laird's corner 0.7 mile, $3,388.51.

Park avenue 0.8 mile, $1,501.55.

Lower Elwha road 2.8 miles, $5,092.05.

Mount Pleasant road 2.2 miles, $3,010.00.

Total 9.8 miles, $14,819.65.

ROAD MIX VALUE

This 1945 program is the first extensive black-topping in this county by the road-mix method. It is more expensive than the more usual penetration coat method, but is expected to stand up much longer without expensive patchwork, according to County Commissioner E. G. Mills who directed the program in the central district and initiated county purchase of the road mix machine this year.

Mills said today that it is too early to judge the permanence of the road-mix surfacing done last summer, although it seems very satisfactory so far. He also emphasized that the published costs, determined by state regulations, are not complete costs to the county because they omit overhead, including use of county equipment. Mills said the lower Elwha road costs included rental of three private trucks at $3.76 per hour. He said total labor cost includes labor in crushing and hauling rock with county equipment, and that material cost is mainly asphalt.

Man Burns to Death In House at Forks

The body of a man, believed to be Louis Pearson, 70, was found in the charred ruins of a two-room house on the outskirts of Forks when the Forks fire department reached the scene at seven o'clock last night.

The house, belonging to Pearson, was practically burned to the ground when the alarm was received, Fire Chief James Astel said. The body was found lying near what had been a bed. Because the body was so badly burned Chief Astel said positive identification of the body was impossible and the state patrol has been called to help in the identification.

Pearson has been a resident of Forks for 14 years and lived in the house. He was a state old-age pensioner.

Called too late to save the house, Chief Astel said his department was able to prevent the flames from spreading to a nearby shed.

APPEALS DENIED

SEATTLE —(AP)— These appeals from its decisions have been denied by the national board, the 12th regional war labor board announced last night.

Amalgamated Meatcutters and Butcher Workmen, Spokane Local 494, seeking review of a wage increase decision.

Electro-Metallurgical Co., of Portland, seeking review of a four and six cents per hour differential on second and third shifts awarded the United Steelworkers of America.

Kramer, Irma Grese Convicted by Court

LUENEBURG, Germany —(AP)— A British military court today convicted Joseph Kramer, the "Beast of Belsen," and 30 other S. S. defendants of committing atrocities and brutalities at the Belsen and Eswiecim concentration camps.

Fourteen others, including five women, were found innocent at the climax of the nine-week trial.

Two of the major defendants convicted with Kramer, who had commanded both the Belsen and Oswiecim camps, were Dr. Fritz Klein and blonde Irma Grese, 22-year-old guard.

The court is expected to sentence the three tomorrow. Sentences may range from fines and imprisonment to death by hanging or shooting.

Seattle Policeman, Negro Killed in Gun Battle Last Night

SEATTLE—(AP)—A veteran Seattle police patrolman and a negro gunman died and another police officer was wounded in a blazing gun battle here last night.

Patrolman Fred Hull, about 50, died on the way to a hospital after exchanging shots with Eugene Moszee, 21, negro service station attendant. Moszee was killed when he took refuge in a gas station lubrncation room after fleeing from a Madison street beer tavern.

Patrolman Ralph L. Osborn was wounded in the ankle.

Police reported that Moszee was thrown out of the bar when he drew a knife.

He left in an automobile when police were summoned. He drove to a service station nearby, where he was employed, and hid in the lubrication room.

As police offices Hull and Osborn approached the room, the cornered negro started shooting. Hull fell, mortally wounded, and Osborn also went down with a bullet through his ankle. Osborn jumped up and emptied his revolver through the door to the room.

Other police officers, arriving on the scene, also began shooting through the door. The negro slumped, killed by the hail of bullets.

Patrolman Hull was hit by three bullets. One of them pierced his heart.

Body of Woman Pilot Found in Wreckage

SEATTLE—(AP)—Searchers found the body of Mrs. Alice Donahue Wolpert, 25, Seattle amateur pilot, in the wreckage of her plane on Squawk mountain, southwest of Issaquah, near noon today, the state patrol reported.

Earlier, a pilot of one of several search planes, Al Lockwood, had returned to report he had sighted the wreckage, with one wing crumpled.

A plane, missing since late yesterday, today was sighted from the air, wrecked on the face of Squak mountain, four miles southwest of Issaquah. Al Lockwood, piloting one of several search planes, said one wing was crumpled and there was no indication of the fate of the plane's occupant, Mrs. Alice Donahue Wolpert, 25, Seattle amateur flyer.

A doctor and six other men immediately began the long climb to the wreck scene.

Flying Instructor Al Davies said she left Issaquah airport at noon yesterday, and was to have returned after flying to Kent and Puyallup. Landing at Kent because of bad weather, Mrs. Wolpert telephoned Davis and was instructed to fly home by way of Renton and the Lake Washington bridge. She was flying without a parachute.

Davies said the light plane was in good condition, with a newly reconditioned motor. Searching planes were to take off at dawn today in efforts to locate the missing ship.

INVESTIGATE DEATH

TACOMA—(AP)—State patrol officers were investigating the death of Capt. Edward W. Elfving, 30, of Astoria, Ore., this morning on the Pacific highway near Tillicum.

Early reports said that Elfving died from a knife wound, but whether it was caused in a traffic accident or otherwise was not yet known.

U. S. Must Preserve Balanced Measure of Land, Sea, Air Power, Says Eisenhower

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—General Eisenhower said today that unless the armed services are placed under a unified command "we may enter another emergency, in a time to come, as we did at Pearl Harbor."

The European theater commander told the senate military committee in prepared testimony that "this nation must preserve a balanced, adequate measure of our land, sea and air power lest we lose the peace we have so dearly bought."

In World War II, he said, the United States had to achieve the change from joint to unified command "the hard way." He added:

"I know that our efforts would have met with failure without unity of direction. No system of joint command could possibly have brought victory to our cause."

NIMITZ TO APPEAR

Shortly before Eisenhower testified, Senator Hill (D-Ala) said Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, Pacific navy commander who flew to Washington for a naval conference, would appear before the committee Saturday.

Nimitz is expected to enlarge upon navy arguments against any merger of the armed forces.

Eisenhower said unity of land, sea and air forces under his command "was not easily achieved." He added that the thought the "difficulties grew directly from the traditional separation of the army and navy which is the inevitable outcome of the present organization of our military departments.

"Separation at the top necessarily fosters separation all along the line."

REPLY TO CRITICISMS

Replying to what he said were criticisms of the unification proposal, Eisenhower went on:

"I am told that the task of the civilian secretary, who would reside over such a department, is beyond the capacity of any man. If this were true, then it follows that no man has the capacity to assume the presidency of the United States."

As to statements that creation of a single department would subordinate one service to another, he commented that the result in Africa and Europe "proved such fears to be groundless."

To arguments that Germany had a single military department and yet lost the war, Eisenhower replied:

"The facts are that Germany never had such a single department or even unity of direction except in the fuehrer himself.

"On the contrary, the luftwaffe was commanded by Reichsmarshal Goering, who was second only to Hitler, and the successive chiefs of the German general staff were never able to achieve anything approaching unity of direction of the three components of the nazi fighting machine.

"One of the major contributing factors to the nazi defeat was the utter lack of unified direction over the luftwaffe and the wehrmacht."

Russia Holds Key To Anglo-American Atomic Control Idea

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Russia holds the key today to success or failure of the Anglo-American atomic control program. American officials say the next move is up to Moscow.

Hence the immediate future is viewed as an extremely critical period by those who regard the existence of the atomic bomb as probably the foremost problem of diplomacy in the world.

During this period the ability of the great powers to work together in the United Nations for the prevention of war is bound to undergo a severe test. The outcome of the test may well determine whether the United Nations will be a strong and effective organization in the years ahead.

This in turn may have much to do with whether the world wakes up some morning to find itself in an atomic war with several of its major cities already blasted out of existence.

President Truman, Prime Minister Attlee of Britain and Prime Minister Mackenzie King of Canada laid the groundwork for the test yesterday with their proposal that the United Nations organization create a special commission on atomic energy.

Russia's reaction may either be made known quickly or withheld until the United Nations holds its organization meeting at London during the first week in January.

That is where the issue will have to come to a head.

Meanwhile, the world probably will learn something more about American thinking on the subject tonight from Secretary of State Byrnes. The state department said he would devote part of his speech to the three-power declaration when he appears at a testimonial dinner in Charleston, S. C. (5 p.m. PST, NBC).

The job for the United Nations presumably will be proposed formally by the United States as soon as the security council is organized.

While no details have been disclosed officially, it is expected by officials here that the proposed atomic commission will be set up under the security council and that it will include as members America, Britain, Russia, France and China. Those are the five permanent members of the council.

SNOW ON PASSES

OLYMPIA —(AP)— The state highway department today reported a heavy snowstorm in Snoqualmie pass.

A new six-inch fall brought the snow's level to 31 inches. Motorists were cautioned to use chains. The snow was compact from four miles west of summit to 36 miles east.

Chains also were recommended on cars going over Stevens and Blewett passes, where snow was falling.

Adm. King Says Atom Bomb Can't Stop Fleet Operations

By William F. Arbogast

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Fleet Admiral Ernest J. King, chief of naval operations, told the house military committee today the atomic bomb in its present form "cannot prevent fleets from operating."

Testifying in support of President Truman's request for universal military training legislation, the five-star admiral said he believed it is essential that "our fleet be capable of prompt expansion from peace strength to war strength."

"There is no way to accomplish that save through the existence of a trained reserve," he said. "I do not think a sufficient and efficient reserve is possible save under universal military training."

Admiral King said he doubted the atomic bomb as it now exists can destroy a fleet properly disposed at sea. At Hiroshima in Japan where the first atom bomb was dropped, he said "the destruction radius was about a mile and a half."

"Since ships can withstand a greater shock than buildings," he added, "it is reasonable to assume that the destructive action of a bomb exploding above the sea would be less effective against ships within the same radius."

The navy, he said, can readily arrange fleet formations "to insure that not more than one or two ships would likely be lost through attack with an atomic bomb," and "such a result would nt pay the attacker in the view of great cost of these bombs and the small amount of material available in the world for making them."

WAR MORE COMPLICATED

He told the committee he regarded as "fallacious" suggestions that new weapons have made the fleet or large numbers of trained men unnecessary. Instead, he continued, "these new weapons have made war more complicated, more expensive, and may require us eventually to build stronger ships quite different from those we have."

He told the committee the navy plans to keep in active commission 20 carriers with 11,000 or 12,000 aircraft, five battleships, 31 cruisers, 170 destroyers and large escort vessels, and about 70 submarines, in addition to auxiliary vessels.

King's advocacy of universal training bulwarked yesterday's testimony by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower that such a program is necessary if the nation is to strike back quickly against any future aggressor. Secretary of the Navy Forrestal may testify later.

Young Mother of Two Killed in Accident

BELLINGHAM—(AP)—Juliette Vivien Stamm, 21, mother of two children and wife of Malcolm Stamm, stationed at the San Diego, Calif., naval center, died last night at the Whidby Island naval dispensary at Oak Harbor from injuries received in an automobile accident at 5 a.m. near Anacortes.

Two sailors, occupants of the car, were injured, one critically.

The civilian driver, L. B. Mitchell, was lodged in the Skagit county jail on a charge of reckless driving.

A second woman, Jessie Mae Oinnes, of Bellingham, was less seriously hurt.

The car driven by Mitchell struck a power line pole, severing the pole and causing a charged wire to fall across the car. State patrolmen were able to remove the injured only after the power had been cut off.

Mitchell was said to have been driving the two sailors back to the navy base when the accident occurred.

CIO WILL ENDEAVOR TO FORCE AFL WOODS WORKERS INTO UNION

EUGENE, Ore.—(AP)—The CIO International Woodworkers of America voted Thursday to take "any and all steps" to force the AFL lumber workers into the CIO union.

Another resolution passed by 300 delegates to the annual convention directed that longshoremen, boommen, and inland boatmen be asked to stop CIO-cut logs from going into strike-bound AFL mills.

The two actions were taken in connection with the "hot lumber" situation and the bitter inter-union conflict which has arisen from the AFL Lumber and Sawmill Workers' strike. The AFL has declared all CIO-handled lumber "hot," and some allied carpenters and teamsters have refused to touch it.

Hot debate arose between U. S. and Canadian delegates in response to an American proposal that British Columbia district 1 be instructed to cancel no-strike pledges immediately.

Canadian delegates said such an action now would violate dominion law PC 1003, a wartime regulation similar to the Smith-Connally act.

The union passed a resolution yesterday requesting cancellation of the no-strike pledge in both countries.

Train of Marine General Under Fire From China Village

SHANGHAI—(AP)—The U. S. China theater headquarters reported today that a train bearing Maj. Gen. DeWitt Peck, first marine division commander, was under fire from a communist-occupied north-China village yesterday.

General Peck, uninjured, requested that U. S. planes strafe the village if the firing continued, headquarters disclosed.

Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, commanding U. S. forces in China, in a careful reply authorized "appropriate military action," but only after "considerable" warning to the village and adequate precautions to avoid endangering innocent persons.

Headquarters was unable to confirm Tientsin reports that marines aboard the train returned the fire.

The report of the attack was received by Wedemeyer from Maj. Gen. Keller Rockey, commander of the third amphibious corps. Rockey's message said the train was en route from Tangshan to the coal port of Chinwangtao, and the small-arms fire was coming from a village 600 yards north of Lwanhsien.

Rockey instructed Peck to send an emissary to the village to inform the communist leader that "if firing continues I will order an air strafing mission against the village."

Rockey's message also reported that 300 yards of track and roadbed of the railway had been destroyed by mines, causing several casualties among Chinese workers. No American casualties were reported.

Pictures of Hitler, Eva and Baby Throw New Light on Case

FRANKFURT.— (AP) — Pictures of Eva Braun, Hitler and a baby girl identified only as "Uschi," discovered in an album tucked away with Eva's fabulous personal treasure, posed an interesting mystery today for American intelligence officers, who hinted that the full story of the treasure was yet to be told.

The treasure chest was found yesterday—precisely where was a secret.

The announcement called Eva Hitler's supposed wife. There had been reports that the couple had at least one child, although British intelligence investigators had concluded that Hitler and Eva were married only the day before they were believed to have died together in the chancellery of burning Berlin.

Besides thousands of dollars in American bills, valuable jewelry and a hoard of extremely valuable silver, there was a diary, evidently Eva's, which referred frequently to her "undying love" for Hitler.

Her pictures showed herself, Hitler and the blonde baby girl in many poses, from the child's infancy until she appeared to be about three years old in the last snapshots dated 1944. Often the line written under the picture would read: "And here is Uschi again." But there was no further identification.

Also in the find was the uniform Hitler wore on July 20, 1944, when an attempt was made on his life. It was blood-stained and tattered. The coat was the clue which led to the discovery. A German officer had told a friend he knew where the uniform was, and questioning of this officer resulted in the finding of Eva's treasures.

SAILORS QUARANTINED

BREMERTON —(AP)— Three hundred navy sailors in a Puget Sound navy yard barracks were placed under quarantine today after about 50 cases of scarlet fever developed in the past 10 days, Capt. C. D. Edgar, barracks commanding officer, announced. The cases were removed to the naval hospital and the outbreak was believed under control. The men came here from the naval training center, Sampson, N. Y., for assignment to sea duty.

Crew of U. S. Cruiser May Have Seen Jap Fleet Enroute to Pearl Harbor

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Republicans today raised the question whether the American Cruiser Boise sighted at sea the Japanese force which attacked Pearl Harbor but failed to report it because of orders for "radio silence."

Rep. Gearhart (R-Calif), member of the senate-house committee investigating the disaster, asked that Rear Admiral T. B. Inglis, a navy witness, investigate to determine "whether the officers and crew of the Boise sighted the attacking Japanese fleet during the first week of December."

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich) asked that Inglis supply the committee with the complete record of the Boise's movements in the period immediately prior to the Dec. 7, 1941, attack.

Inglis agreed to both requests.

Gearhart, in response to a reporter's question after the committee hearing recessed, said he had received information that the Boise did see the Japanese force.

FIGHT ABOARD

"My information is that there was a fight aboard the Boise over whether they should break orders for radio silence and report it and the captain decided they should not," he added.

Gearhart said that later in the hearings he expected witnesses to be presented who would tell the Boise story.

The Boise angle was brought up after democrats and republicans clashed vigorously over procedure during the second day of testimony which brought these other developments:

1. Disclosure that the navy had ordered the convoying of merchant vessels in the Pacific 12 days before the Japanese attack.

2. A suggestion by Gearhart that Gen. Douglas MacArthur had been ordered in the Philippines not to fire on the Japanese until they fired first.

3. A further suggestion by Gearhart that it was "strangely significant" that radar on the Hawaiian island of Oahu had been ordered shut down at 7 a.m., an hour he said was recognized as the most propitous for attack.

HEARSAY

Gearhart's criticism of what he said was "hearsay" evidence presented by Col. Bernard Thielan and Admiral Inglis on behalf of the war and navy departments plunged the hearing into controversy.

The Californian asked Thielen if he knew whether any orders had been issued at Pearl Harbor or in Washington directing American forces not to fire on Japanese vessels or installations until fired upon.

"Don't you know that such an order was issued to General MacArthur?" Gearhart asked.

Thielen said he had no knowledge of it.

"Is that the reason they have you people come up here to read hearsay testimony to us so that when we ask you a question you can answer that you don't know?" demanded Gearhart.

Chairman Barkley (D-Ky) broke in to object that the committee had agreed to receive a narrative account of the actual Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.

SHOUTING STARTS

Republicans immediately started shouting into the microphones before them.

Gearhart said he never agreed to any such thing. Senators Ferguson and Brewster (R-Me.) said they hadn't either.

Barkley insisted that the method had been agreed upon previously and republicans hadn't objected then.

In a series of questions, Gearhart attempted to develop what he said was the significance of orders to turn off the Oahu radar machines at 7 a.m. He noted that the attacking Japanese planes flew into the scope of one of the machines still operating at 7:02 a.m.

"Don't you think it was possible somebody was exerting a tremendous influence over the writing of orders either in the headquarters in Honolulu or headquarters in the United States?" he asked the witness.

Thielen said he didn't know anything about that.

Admiral Inglis told the committee about the pre-Pearl Harbor convoying of merchant ships in the Pacific and put into the record a copy of the November 24, 1941, convoy order by Admiral Harold E. Stark, then chief of naval operations.

A Japanese message to Tokyo intercepted nearly a month before Pearl Harbor described the late President Roosevelt as believing then that Japan would be "on the move soon."

This came to light today as the congressional inquiry into the Pacific military disaster entered its second day of public hearings.

The message, sent by Japanese Ambassador Kichisaburo Nomura on November 10, 1941, quoted "a certain cabinet member" as having told Nomura that Mr. Roosevelt and the then Secretary of State Cordell Hull, did not believe the impending "peace" conferences would alter the tense diplomatic situation.

SWAN ISLAND OVERCROWDED

PORTLAND, Ore. —(AP)— Nearly 3,000 men were quartered at the Swan Island separation center, with facilities for only 5,500, last night after arrival of three troopships yesterday.

Hundreds of extra cots were put up. Officials reported railroads unable to handle the influx.

The ships were the Florence Nightingale, with 1,800 navy men from Yokosaka; the Selinur, with 300 from Okinawa; and the Sea Runner, with 2,187 army men.

West Coast Jap Agents Identify Warship at Bremerton

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Two west coast Japanese agents mentioned in Japanese radio messages released by the congressional committee investigating the Pear Harbor disaster were identified only as Muto at San Francisco and Sato at Seattle. The messages were intercepted in 1941 before war broke out.

Muto reported to Tokyo September 18 that the British warship Warspite was at Bremerton, Wash., for repair.

This was confirmed two days later by Sato. Also, on December 6, Sato reported that the U. S. aircraft carrier Saratoga had sailed the day before.

On September 20, Sato reported:

"1. The following warships are now at Bremerton:

"The Warspite (repair work continuing. The upper part of the bridge and the left side of the bow spotted here and there with red paint.)

"Maryland class—one ship (the bridge, turrets and other main armaments have been painted red. Also they seem to be constructing mounting on the forward main deck for ten anti-aircraft guns).

"Saratoga class aircraft carrier, one ship (tied up alongside the pier).

"One ship which appears to be a cruiser (it has two smokestacks but we were unable to distinguish anything else.)

"One other ship just arrived for repair.

"2 The NewMexico class ship mentioned in message No. 101 (not available) has departed."

Japanese spies operating in the Philippines used everything from loose talks by U. S. Sailors to observation of wheelbarrow concentrations in rounding out their reports to Tokyo.

An Aug. 4, 1941, spy message from Manila told Tokyo it had been learned from crew members of the U. S. S. Coolidge that the ship had just brought in 600 American soldiers.

An August 22 report from Davao cited the concentration of 400 or 500 wheelbarrows as bearing out evidence of the imminent construction of a new U. S. air base there.

Tokyo asked on September 1 for a report on warship arrivals and departures at Manila. Such reports followed regularly, sometimes in great detail. Tokyo also got from its Manila spies information on troop movements and strength as well as airplane distribution.

As Pearl Harbor day drew closer, Tokyo called for a "reconnaissance of the new defense works" on the coasts of Luzon. In reply went the apology that "strict guard is being maintained and hence the gathering of information is extremely difficult."

The series of messages released by the committee included a number supplying Tokyo with data on ship movements through the Panama Canal.

NAVY NOT NOW READY FOR MAJOR BATTLE

By William F. Arbogast

WASHINGTON—(AP)— The navy's chief of operations told a congressional committee today the United States navy is not now prepared to fight a major battle if it were necessary to do so.

The statement was made by Fleet Admiral Ernest J. King, in response to questions by house military committee members after he had endorsed universal military training legislation.

King had commented that the rate of demobilization of the navy had resulted in disintegration of units.

Asked by Rep. Leroy Johnson (R-Calif.) if the disorganization was such as to render the navy unable "to fight a major battle" immediately if necessary, King replied:

"I'm afraid I will have to say 'Yes' to that question."

The navy, the admiral said, is not "the going concern" it had expected to be because of speedy demobilization and "it is more or less disintegrated."

"I don't want to be taken too literally on that," he cautioned, "but I don't know any other way to express it."

Many key men in units have been demobilized, the admiral explained, and have not been replaced. While fighting units may be up to their usual complement in actual numbers of men, he pointed out, these complements do not constitute what the navy knows as "ships companies."

Station KONP Is Heard in Greenland, Northern Canada and Alaska

Since KONP commenced broadcasting from Port Angeles last February, the Olympic peninsula station has received many reception reports from distant parts of the United States, Canada and Alaska.

This week brought a new record breaker. A U.S. army officer stationed in Greenland reports strong reception from KONP on October 24 and 26.

As usual in such reports, the listener quoted time, words and music for verification so there is no doubt of the identity, KONP Chief Engineer Lloyd Sundstrom points out.

The Greenland report is from Lieut. Frank J. Susorney, Det. 137th AACS squadron, at Marrak point, Greenland, in Lat. 63-25 N., Long. 51-15W. At 10:45 to 10:52 p.m., PST, Oct. 26, he heard night final news and weather forecast, and final sign off by "KONP, the Voice of the Olympic peninsula, owned by Evening News Press, Incorporated, operating on 1450 kilocycles with 250 watts power."

Lieutenant Susorney writes "You were coming in R9 (very strong) this morning, covering everything on 1450 kilocycles. I can honestly say that KNX, KFI, KPO and other 50 kilowatt jobs on the west coast do not come in as well. I nominate your station as "the most powerful peanut whistle station on the west coast. By peanut whistle I mean, of course, low power. Weather was overcast this night, temperature was 24 degrees F and we were having a blizzard with high winds from the northwest."

Other long distance reception from KONP during recent months include reports from:

Macon, Georgia. (Many reports have come from northeastern states).

Flin Flon, Manitoba, a mining district 500 miles NW of Winnipeg. The chief engineer of station CFAR at Flin Flon said KONP was stronger at the time reported than CBK, a high power station in Saskatchewan 400 miles distant.

Valley View, Alberta, on the Alaska highway 200 miles north of Edmonton.

Prince George, in northern British Columbia, inland.

Namu, 100 miles north of Vancouver island.

Sitka and Bethel, Alaska. Bethel is near the mouth of the Kuskokim river which empties into Bering sea.

Koyuk, Alaska, about 200 miles north of Nome.

NORTHERN LIGHTS

The Koyuk report was from Howard G. Dodge of the U. S. Indian service. Like most long distance listeners, he heard KONP during the weekly frequency test period at 12:30 a.m. Pacific time Saturdays. He wrote:

"This letter is being sent in answer to your broadcast request that listeners report the quality of your transmission in the test program of August 10, 1945. Our time being three hours different from yours we received the program at 9:30 p.m. August 10, instead of 12:30 a.m. August 11.

"We had been listening to the peace broadcast from Radio Tokyo on 1440. An almost imperceptible movement of the dial brought KONP in, exceedingly clear and distinct in every detail.

"We are almost at the arctic circle and are never able to predict what type of program one is going to get when the radio is set at any predetermined setting. At times the Northern Lights are active one can expect anything.

"For instance one time last winter the Aurora Borealis was unusually beautiful and we had been listening to fine, recorded American music from Tokyo when suddenly Tokyo went off the air, as completely as if the power had been cut, and almost instantly KGA (1510 KC) Spokane, Wash. came on full volume. We had not changed the dial setting. We listened to a pipe organ recital and a minister gave part of a sermon before Spokane went off the air and Tokyo came back on. Since we have tried many times to get KGA but without success.

"We will listen consistently for KONP and give you further confirmation if you so desire. In as much as we are two hundred miles by air from Nome, Alaska, all mail to us must be AIR MAILED in order to reach us."

Most Striking Peace Offer in History

By DeWitt Mackenzie

The atomic energy proposal of the United States, Britain and Canada is the most striking peace offer of history.

Had Hitler, even after defeat was treading on his heels, acquired this knowledge and been able to produce atomic bombs, he still could have conquered the world, and yet the United States, England and Canada, being first in possession of this terrific weapon, are asking other nations to join with them in rendering it innocuous.

Will this offer be accepted? I think a good deal depends on how much suspicion or heart-burning has been developed abroad since the first atomic bomb to be used in war was dropped on Hiroshima. That's only three months ago, but doubts are like mushrooms—they grow fast.

Of course the proposal is directed mainly towards Russia. It's the old question of Big Three solidarity again. If Moscow agrees, then we can feel assured that the world is rolling along the broad highway of lasting peace. For as the all-powerful Big Three go, so will go the rest of mankind as things now stand.

This is so because, as so often said, the Big Three have the physical strength to enforce peace against all odds. There in its essence we have the real defense against the atomic giant—the prevention of war. President Truman, and Prime Minister Attlee and Mackenzie King recognized this principle in their statement when they pointed out that the only complete protection for civilization against the destructive use of scientific knowledge "lies in the prevention of war."

We can pin the thing down even closer than that, for preventing of war depends on a change in the heart of man. We can yell our heads off about peace, and create enough organizations to carpet the whole globe, but all that won't matter a tinker's dam if we haven't accepted the golden rule as our guiding light.

'Atomic Powered' Auto Driven Through Streets of London

LONDON—(AP)—The Daily Sketch said Thursday that an obscure Briton had driven an "atomic powered" engineless automobile through the streets of London at ordinary speeds. No one in authority could confirm the report.

The newspaper identified the inventor as J. Wilson. It said the vehicle's mechanism consister of a mysterious metal box three inches in diameter which had been fitted into the place ordinarily occupied by a gasoline engine. An invisible stream of atomic energy flowed from the box, the newspaper added.

Wilson has submitted blue prints of his invention to the ministry of fuel, the Daily Sketch said. A ministry spokesman said the department was "interested" in the idea but could furnish no information on the claim.

W. Foster, parliamentary secretary of the ministry of fuel, and T. E. Naylor, also a member of parliament, rode in the car yesterday, the newspaper said. The account added that the two passengers described the ride as similar to that in any other automobile.

Zero Hour Order of Court Saves Man From Gas Chamber

SALEM, Ore.—(AP)—Andrew W. Dennis, scheduled to enter the lethal gas chamber this morning for the strangulation of his mother-in-law, was saved by a zero hour order of the state supreme court.

The court agreed to call a hearing to determine whether Dennis' trial was fair, and directed Warden George Alexander not carry out an order of execution.

Dennis' Attorney, Edwin D. Hicks, asked the court for a habeas corpus writ in order to give time for the hearing. Hicks backed his plea with letters from trial officials—Judge Martin H. Hawkins; James R. Bain, who was prosecuting attorney in the case and is now circuit judge; and Tom Handley, deputy district attorney at the trial and now district attorney.

The letters asserted that the crime was not first degree murder because it was not premeditated, and charged that the jury was prejudiced by the way in which the defense was conducted.

Bain wrote that, as district attorney, he offered to accept a plea of second degree murder, but that the defense attorney, Leroy Lomax Jr., refused. That, Bain said, left the jury with only two choices: First degree murder or acquittal.

The letters were directed to the acting governor, who refused to commute the sentence.

Housing Units Won't Come Down Yet

SEATTLE—(AP)—The demobilization period is considered a continuation of the war emergency and there will be no tearing down of public housing units until materials and workers are available for new construction, Howard Holtzendorff, president of the National Association of Housing Officials, said yesterday.

The public already has access to public projects in the southwest after accommodation of service families, veterans, civilian employes of the military and workers in plants winding up war work, he said in opening the fourth annual meeting of the Pacific northwest regional council.

W. K. Perry, executive director of the Vancouver housing authority said:

"We are introducing the public into some of our units now. Much of the temporary public housing, however, is substandard to begin with, and eventually must be demolished. We can't remain indefinitely in competition with carpenters and contractors who want to build new houses.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Only one side to our railroad tracks

Folks who are better off in our town live on the west side of the railroad tracks. We've got a lake there, and the local park, and some real nice land.

There used to be a phrase "from the wrong side of the tracks." It meant what you think . . . but you don't hear it any more. Not since Charlie Jenkins came home with the Purple Heart, and Willie Wells got the Silver Star. There isn't any "wrong side" of the railroad tracks now!

And that change is going on all over America . . . where our heroes have come from obscure homes . . . and greatness has overshadowed wealth and shallow social definitions.

From where I sit, it all comes down to tolerance . . . tolerance for what a man is and does . . . tolerance for his freedom and opinions, whether he's rich or poor, likes beer or cider, Shakespeare or the comic section. It's a great thing—tolerance!

Serving a Route Helps to Bring Out the Best in a Boy!

EARNING extra money, learning basic lessons about business, and gaining valuable experience, are not the only benefits a boy derives from being a newspaper carrier-salesman. This popular spare-time task for teen-age lads has a definite character-building value, as well.

It helps to bring out the best in a young fellow. Trains him to be alert, diligent and business-like! Teaches him to be honest, punctual and reliable in all his dealings! Encourages him to be neat, courteous and thrifty! Helps him develop good health, good habits and the qualities which make for high-type American manhood!

That is why boys who really apply themselves to their newspaper routes, invariably step ahead of other lads, in school, college and business careers.

PARENTS: There's no surer way of starting a boy off right — no better safeguard through the teen-age problem years — than for a boy to add sparetime route work to his daytime school and home training.

RIPENING THE TOMATOES

Every tomato of course is indoors now, either on the vines or wrapped and in boxes. Here are some further suggestions for better results in ripening green tomatoes.

Should you want to make the tomatoes "last longer, keep them in a place as cold as possible. A temperature of 32-35 degrees will practically suspend ripening. Incidentally, if you wipe the fruit with a rag dipped in a weak solution of formaldehyde you can also "suspend" the rot diseases which are apt to take a "toll" of stored tomatoes.

When you want some tomatoes ripened quickly, take them from the "colder" storage and use the old "paper bag" system. This system allows you to control the number of tomatoes you wish ripened fast.

Place about eight or ten good-sized tomatoes in a paper bag. The thicker quality grocery-store bags are good. Tie the top tightly with strong string and suspend the bag in any convenient place in the house.

If you want the tomatoes to ripen in a very short time, the temperature where the bag is hung should be quite high. This is generally near the ceiling of any room. Some gardeners hang the bag near the stove or other warmer part of the house but always high up near the ceiling.

By trying several convenient places, you can make a check for future reference on just how many days each place takes to ripen the tomatoes.

Several of you reader-gardeners have suggested that I pass on THEIR system, described above, but in addition they put two or three apples in the bottom of the bag. There is a "gas" given off by the apples which seems to ripen tomatoes to perfection.

D. D. T. FOR SLUGS

Among the many tests that have been made to determine the satisfactory results obtainable by the use of D. D. T., has been one to see the effects on slugs. It is very encouraging to note that in common with all other cold-blooded garden pests, slugs can be controlled with its paralyzing action.

D. D. T. in either powder or liquid form may be applied to any place where slugs will crawl at night. D. D. T. does not ATTRACT and kill, like metaldrhyde does, but, any slug which comes in contact with it, will die.

If D. D. T. is sprayed over the crowns of plants like delphiniums, slugs and other insects which "bed down" for the winter in the crowns, will be eliminated.

D. D. T. AND FISH

Tests reported in Sunset Magazine show that D. D. T. results in a 100% kill of Goldfish, even when diluted to one part in 5 million.

BRUSSELS SPROUTS

Brussels Sprouts have a most delicate flavor and are at their best AFTER the winter comes and the first frosts have settled on them. It is interesting also that during winter months, "Sprout," when picked fresh from the garden and used the same day, are easily digestible and have no unpleasant after-effects.

Now is the time to check over the plants to see that all the side leaves have been removed . . . close to the stem. Only the main stalk, with its rosette-head of green leaves like an umbrella, and the "sprouts" covering the stem, should now remain.

Should the lowest "sprouts" have burst their tight heads, put a note on your notebook not to set them out so early in the spring next year. Check on this, because mid-June is the right time for setting out the plants in this district.

When you pick "sprouts" for the table a knife or a SIDEWAYS bending twist will snap them off. If you take off every other one, it will leave more room for those remaining to come to a larger size.

Fathers of Jefferson school pupils were in charge of the Parent-Teacher Association meeting Thursday evening when the school was thrown open for observance of National Education Week. School rooms, decorated with art work, and with displays of regular school lessons on the desks, were visited by the parents, more than one hundred turning out for the special meeting.

Fathers and mothers trooped through the rooms, noted special displays on bulletin boards where outstanding work had been posted, and then went to the gymnasium for the business session and program.

Fred Beale presided while Percy Maloney read the minutes of the last meeting and Philo Tyler followed with a dad's version of minutes. George King gave a financial report.

On the program, arranged by the men, Jefferson Principal George Ellis talked on the purpose of national education week, stressing the importance of education both for the practical and cultural advantages gained through schooling. Ellis asked parents to visit the school occasionally and to keep in touch with the program through attendance at PTA meetings.

Fred Beale talked on the aims and purposes of the PTA, suggesting wider cooperation with the program of the association.

W. B. Augustine of the national park department showed moving pictures of the Olympic mountains, with particularly fine views of flowers and animal life.

For a lighter touch, Jack Venables and Philo Tyler, on kitchen duty, presented a little skit concerned with the cooking of a chicken. The chicken, floured and seasoned, was displayed ready for boiling in a covered pot.

On the committee which also served refreshments of cider and doughtnuts were Beale, Ellis, King, Tyler, Venables, Maloney, J. C. Marshall, Lloyd McGlenn, Ray Porter, Jack Reiners and Palmer Swenson.

The next meeting will be in charge of the children, who will give a Christmas program for the parents at 7:45 December 18.

BIDS TO BE OPENED

BOISE, Idaho—(AP)—Bids will be opened November 20, on a contract to construct irrigation facilities in the Rosa district of the Yakima project in southeastern Washington.

The installation of lateral and sub lateral canals and pipelines will bring water to the land from the Yakima canal, which is being completed this fall.

The work is situated from 6 to 16 miles northwest of Prosser, Wash., R. J. Newell, acting regional director, said, and he described it as one of the outstanding steps by the bureau of reclamation in expanding postwar production of food supplies to the 17 western states.

COUGARS DECLINE TWO POST-SEASON GAMES

PULLMAN, Wash. — (AP) — Pacific Coast conference rules have forced the Washington State college football team to decline two offers of post-season games, college officials said yesterday.

WSC officials said the Cougars would be unable to compete under conference rules, in any post-season games except the Rose Bowl event.

The Tacoma athletic commission invited the team to play in an "Evergreen Bowl" game at Tacoma with the San Diego navy eleven, and the Spokane athletic roundtable asked Washington State to meet the Farragut, Idaho, naval center in a game at Spokane.

The Cougars will complete their season next week against the University of Washington at Pullman.

Giske, in a hospital since he led the Cougars with some brilliant line play to an upset victory over Oregon last week, planned to join his team today in Portland. A kidney injury prevented him from leaving with the squad Thursday.

Seasons On Elk, Deer Close; Duck Shooting Is Legal

The deer and elk season are over but ducks are still flying over the Dungeness flats and the season on them will be open until the last of the year. It is also legal to kill bear.

Although weather conditions for the past two weeks should have been favorable for successful duck hunting, flights have not been extra good, many hunters report.

Sportsmen are finding fishing for blackmouth spring salmon in Port Angeles harbor fairly good. Usually that type of fishing does not amount to much until after the first of December but there have been some of the fish caught each day for the past several weeks.

The herring or smelt bait on which the salmon feed are not schooling often inside the harbor and the salmon are feeding deep. Fishermen say that the smaller salmon, up to a couple of pounds in weight, are quite plentiful but the larger ones are scarce. There have been two salmon, one weighing 21 pounds, 5 ounces, and the other 22 pounds, entered on the salmon club winter qualifying ladder.

Next big event in sporting circles is the opening of the winter steelhead season. Streams, except year-around open ones, are closed to trout fishing.

Sports Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK—(AP)—How far major league baseball has gone or will go with Commissioner Happy Chandler's plan to spend $50,000 a year for kid baseball remains to be seen, but Ray Dumont, who has spent more than a half million dollars in the last five years on sandlot ball has a few pertinent suggestions to offer . . . Of course, many of Ray's "sandlot" teams would shudder at the sight of sand on their smooth, green diamonds and a lot of that dough served to boost the national semi-pro tournament, but the profits each year have gone right back where they help baseball . . . In round numbers, here's what Dumont put out last year: Printing and distribution of circulars featuring promotional material, $65,000; free distribution of guides, $25,000; free rule books, $5,000; publicity and advertising, $10,000; payments to teams in national tournament, $30,000.

VOICE OF EXPERIENCE

Dumont's theory is that field men, preferably former diamond stars, are needed to do the job. "If they simply print up circulars and start lecture tours, that isn't enough. The men should be out the entire year. In the fall they should be doing organization work, contacting factories' executives and schools explaining why and how they should have teams. Later they should assist in organizing leagues and in the summer they would conduct district and state-wide schools."

COMEBACK

When Al Wesson, former Southern California and St. Mary's preflight publicitor shucked his navy gold braid to beat the drums for Hollywood Park, some of the west coast scribes ribbed him about getting more publicity for himself than for the gee-gees . . . Replied Al: "If they have sense enough not to bet on people, let them write their own stuff."

DIVIDEND AUTHORIZED

SPOKANE—(AP)—Washington Water Power Company directors authorized a quarterly dividend of $1.50 per share payable December 15 to holders of $5 preferred stock of record November 23.

The $155,000 dividend will be shared by 4,447 stockholders.

HUSKY FRESHMEN TO START GAME SATURDAY

SEATTLE—(AP)—An all-freshman backfield probably will start against Idaho for the University of Washington Saturday. Football Coach Pest Welch indicated last night when he had Gordon Hungar running with the varsity at left half in place of Johnny Norton, a veteran.

Norton has been favoring charley horses this week and is likely to spend much of Saturday's playing time on the bench, resting for the meeting next week with Washington State. Maury Stacy, right half, also will sit this one out, with Norm Sansregret handling his assignment.

Gail Bruce, veteran right end, also is likely to be a kickoff spectator, with Marv Hein working the starboard wing. The weather forecast calls for rain Saturday.

Army-Penn Game Highlights Grid Games Of Nation

NEW YORK—(AP)—Army's terrific football team, unbeaten and untied since the Navy game of 1943, goes after its 17th straight victory tomorrow against once-beaten Pennsylvania in the top game of the day.

A sellout crowd of 73,000, including many hopeful of seeing Penn spring an upset, but fearful of the worst, will sit in on the proceedings at Franklin field in Philadelphia.

Fresh from their 48-0 rout of Notre Dame last week, the West Point cadets, sparked by All-Americans Glenn Davis and Doc Blanchard, have been installed 30-point favorites. However, Army Coach Earl Blaik declared several days ago that Penn, defeated only by Navy, is "the toughest assignment Army has had to face in two years." The cadets won last year, 62-7.

Notre Dame will try to rebound against a dangerous Northwestern team while Navy, decisive winner over Michigan, is favored to whip Wisconsin.

Purdue tangles with Michigan while in other national headline frays Ohio State meets Illinois, St. Mary's encounters UCLA, Georgia Tech runs into Louisiana State, and Holy Cross battles temple. Victories for St. Mary's and Holy Cross probably will assure them bowl bids.

Alabama and the Oklahoma Aggies, both unbeaten and untied, and also high on the bowl bid lists, face Vanderbilt and Texas Tech, respectively, and should not have too much difficulty.

Three intersectional frays pit Penn State against Michigan State, Baylor against Tulsa and Indiana against Pitt, but for the most part the remainder of the card find sectional rivalries at stake.

Oklahoma and Missouri battle for the Big Six Conference title while the Texas Aggies-Rice and TCU-Texas tilts should go a long way toward determining the Southwestern Conference crown.

Other games include Columbia-Princeton; Cornell-Dartmouth; Colgate-Syracuse; Brown-Harvard; Yale-Coast Guard; Auburn-Georgia; North Carolina-Wake Forest; Arkansas-Southern Methodist; Minnesota-Iowa; Oregon-California and Washington State-Oregon State.

LOUIS BOXES FOUR EXHIBITION ROUNDS

SAN FRANCISCO—(AP)—World's Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis, weighing 215 pounds after a tour of army duty, boxed four exhibition rounds against two opponents last night, aided by the advice of his second Eddie Anderson, Rochester, of the movies.

Sugar Lip Robinson, 202, Los Angeles, the first opponent, spent most of the two-minute rounds backing around the ring while the audience of 6,000 laughed and cheered. Big Boy Brown, 258, of St. Louis, the second opponent, managed to reach Louis with a few blows but wilted when the Brown Bomber mixed it near the end.

In the six-round semi-windup Richie Shinn, 134½ won an easy decision over Walter "Cabby" Lewis, 131, Brooklyn. Nate Huskey, 136, San Francisco, decisioned Paul Guerrero, 138, San Jose; and Marvin Baker, 190, San Francisco, and Frank Lombardo, 206, Oakland, drew in the four rounders.

Winners Picked In Grid Contests All Over Nation

By Harold Claassen

NEW YORK—(AP)—Crawling out on the football limb for another batch of predictions:

Army-Penn: Army Coach Red Blaik fears Penn but he is the only one at West Point who does. The Cadets' confidence may be their undoing but this corner sees them winning by a comfortable three touchdown margin. Army.

Louisiana State-Georgia Tech: Tech's lack of a first-rate passer will prove costly but it should be the day's thriller in the Southeast conference. Louisiana State.

St. Mary's-UCLA: Each started the season with an outstanding back—Herman Wedemeyer at St. Mary's and Carl Rossi at UCLA. Wedemeyer still is with the Gaels but the navy transferred Rossi to Harvard. St. Mary's.

Purdue-Michigan: The Wolverines bow only to previously unbeaten teams and Purdue was spilled by Northwestern. Michigan.

Wisconsin-Navy: The revamped Middie backfield, which last week romped over Michigan, is set for another carnival. Navy.

Texas A & M-Rice: Jess Neeley's teams invariably are at their toughest in November but the Aggies shape up as just a little more than the Owls can handle. Texas A & M.

Temple-Holy Cross: Temple's Bowl chances went glimmering last Saturday in its loss to Penn State and the club is out for revenge against another Bowl candidate. But no luck. Holy Cross.

Oklahoma-Missouri: The home field gives the Tigers what edge there is in this Big Six title fray. Missouri.

Notre Dame-Northwestern: The Irish return to teams of their own class and are favored despite the rapid improvement of the young Wildcats. Notre Dame.

Auburn-Georgia: Charlie Trippi to get moving in this one. Georgia.

Columbia - Princeton: Princeton's navy-laden club gets stronger each week but Columbia has been strong all year. Columbia.

Indiana-Pittsburgh: Pitt has collected but two touchdowns since early October and won't break the famine to any great extent at this time. Indiana.

Wake Forest-North Carolina: Wake Forest has been tempered against stronger rivals. Wake Forest.

Finishing the rest in a hurry:

Far West—Colorado College over West Texas State; California over Oregon; Washington over Idaho; Washington State over Oregon State; Arizona over San Diego State.

Midwest: Nebraska over South Dakota, Minnesota over Iowa, Ohio State over Illinois. Marquette over Kentucky, Penn State over Michigan State, Great Lakes over Fort Warren, Iowa State over Drake, Kansas over Kansas State, Tulsa over Baylor, Oklahoma A & M over Texas Tech, Detroit over St. Louis (Sunday).

South: Alabama over Vanderbilt, Tulane over Clemson, Florida over Presbyterian, Mississippi State over Louisiana Normal, Virginia Tech over Richmond, Virginia over Oceana Naval Base, VMI over Catawba, Miami over North Carolina State (Friday), William & Mary over Kings Point.

Southwest: Southern Methodist over Arkansas, Texas over Texas Christian.

East: Scranton over Boston College, Connecticut over Boston University, Rutgers over New York University, Dartmouth over Cornell, Harvard over Brown, Syracuse over Colgate, Yale over Coast Guard, Johns Hopkins over Swarthmore, Drexel over Lehigh.

ATOMIC 'SECRET' NOT OURS ALONE—JACKSON

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Rep. Jackson (D-Wash) favors control of atomic energy by an international organization.

"The use and production of atomic energy," he said in a statement, "must be at the disposal of an international organization that includes all peace-loving nations of the earth."

The alternative, he declared, is "collective suicide."

"We Americans," he said, "must remember that the atomic 'secret' is not ours alone. The uranium ore which is the basis for atomic fission comes from northern Canada, the Belgian Congo, the Ural mountains in Malaya. British scientists participated in our experiments. We were assisted, too, by Danes and exiles from Germany. If we fool ourselves into believing that atomic energy is our 'secret' we are like the ostrich who thought he could hide himself by burying his head in the sand. We will fool nobody but ourselves."

DeGaulle Wants to Resign Presidency

PARIS—(AP)—Gen. De Gaulle's office announced today he had decided to resign as interim president of France because of a deadlock with communists over formation of a government, but frantic negotiations in the capital indicated a last minute effort was being made to prevent the general's retirement.

DeGaulle's decision grew out of a demand of the communist party, most important single political group in the newly elected constituent assembly, for key cabinet posts in the proposed three-party coalition government.

DeGaulle was elected unanimously by the constituent assembly Tuesday to serve as president during the creation of the fourth republic. The general then shed his uniform for civilian clothing.

He became head of the Free French movement after escaping from his homeland to London in mid-June, 1940, and won undisputed control of the French committee of national liberation ni Algiers in November, 1943, when Gen. Henri Giraud resigned as its co-president after a bitter dispute with DeGaulle over the composition of the administration.

The deadlock developed when the communists in two letters to DeGaulle said their price of participation in the government coalition alongside the socialists and popular republican movement was one of the "three big ministries"—foreign affairs, interior or war.

The first letter said DeGaulle's reasons for refusing to grant them one of these posts "cast doubt on the national character of our party and its policy."

DeGaulle's letter announcing his decision to resign was expected to be placed in the hands of Felix Gouin, president of the assembly, this evening. The assembly will be convoked tomorrow to hear the resignation and to act on it—either to reject or accept it and elect a new president.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Dahman of Shelton, Wash., former Sekiu residents, have a new daughter, Susan Mary, born on October 7. Mr. and Mrs. Dahman now have two daughters and a son.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Thomas and infant son visited at the home of Mrs. Thomas's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Sands on a recent weekend. It was the little boy's first trip to see his grandparents.

Sekiu young people are attending weekly meetings of two youth groups organized by Rev. Robert Baldwin of Neah Bay. High school students meet at Clallam Bay Church on Monday evenings, and a junior group meets on the same evening in the Sekiu school.

Miss Jean Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Johnson, is attending high school in Portland, Oregon this year.

Charles McLean and Bill Doran have each been successful in bagging an elk in the Hoh river country. The animal brought home by Bill Doran was a freak specimen in having an extra horn with two prongs growing over the right eye, in addition to the normal set of antlers.

Last month Mr. and Mrs. Doran and Mr. and Mrs. John Koch spent about two weeks on an unsuccessful moose hunting trip in British Columbia. Heavy snowfall caused them to return earlier than planned, but they had an interesting and enjoyable vacation.

but not too big to be friendly

YES, we're the "Big" hotel. And because we are the big hotel, statesmen and diplomats, Admirals and Generals, and lots of movie stars just naturally come to The Olympic. Of course we're happy to have them, but actually we are as anxious, in fact more anxious, to have our Washington neighbors. The apple grower from the Wenatchee Valley, the lumber man from Grays Harbor, the mining man from Spokane, the merchant from Bellingham.

☆

This is their home in Seattle and we want them to use it. We envision The Olympic as being a sort of headquarters for our neighbors from all parts of the state when they are in Seattle. The place to which citizens of our state come just as naturally, and feel just as much at home, as do citizens of the world. And that is precisely what we would like it to be.

☆

So when you come to Seattle, come to The Olympic. You'll find that while we're big, we're not too big to be friendly. That we are going "all out" to deserve your business. And you'll be surprised at the reasonableness of the bill, too!

CAR AND CHILD STOLEN

An automobile, parked near the Rhododendron dance hall near Chimacum last Saturday by Staff Sgt. and Mrs. Pete Corney, contained their four-year-old son Jimmie. The car, with the child was stolen but was found, with the child safe, parked near the residence of Sheriff Miles E. Brown shortly afterwards. The officers say it is their belief the car thieves discovered the sleeping child and parked the car near the sheriff's residence at Port Townsend so it would be readily discovered.

Barry Garland and Jodine Janish Win Plaudits in Comedy

Fast moving and sophisticated, the Junior class play, "Snafu," had a vociferously enthusiastic audience for its first presentation Thursday night, the auditorium crammed with students who gave every evidence of appreciating the dramatic work of their fellow students.

Barry Garland, the 16-year-old hero who has been returned to the bosom of his family "because mom sent for me," was awarded a medal for bravery in action. The audience was inclined to award him another medal for excellence in histrionics and also for the clarity with which he spoke his frequently hilarious lines.

Jodine Janish as the hero's mother, Janet Schoettler as Senator Ford, and Marlyn Strange, the maid, were feminine characters who were outstanding. The beautiful blond college reporter, Haroldine Ruthruff, in attempting to get a story about the hero, managed to get herself, the girls' college and another returned soldier, played by Jim Cole, into a series of predicaments that inspired the mistaken identity theme of the play.

Looking youthful for one so worried over his hero son, Michael Schmitt found his home turned into a reception center for practically the entire three acts of the play and struggled with continual introductions as Elsie Critchfield, Mildred Critchfield, Valda Dagley, Connie Marshall, LaVern Bartholomew, Eric Hoglund and John Gilliam, in supporting roles, streamed in and out.

The entire action took place in the living room of the hero's home in southern California. A handsome fireplace, luxurious furnishings, and typical California decorative accessories made the setting exceptionally attractive and succeeded in concealing the familiar defects of the high school auditorium stage.

Written by Louis Soloman and Harold Buchman, "Snafu" was a Broadway success of 1944, is still playing in eastern cities and proved a popular attraction of University of Washington players at one of the two campus theaters. It is now in production as a moving picture.

Mrs. Ashbel Koller, director of the play, was presented by the cast with an orchid corsage in appreciation of her work with them.

Francis McKay directed the high school orchestra in introductory selections. There was no intermission as the play moved quickly from each act to the next at the Thursday performance.

Assisting in the production were Jeanne Vasilatos, stage manager; Shirley Wilcox, costume chairman; Shirley Wells, make up chairman; Shirley Gwynn, properties chairman; Donna Vane, sound effects; Doris Ulmer and Dorothy Iverson, prompters, and other junior class members. Miss Katherine Gibson and Miss Madge McRae were faculty assistants. A. L. Chapman and his class from the high school shop assisted with staging.

The production will be given again tonight at 8 o'clock.

Baptist Convention Criticizes Truman

FORT WORTH, Tex.—(AP)—The Baptist general convention of Texas today leveled criticism at President Truman for what it asserted was his attitude toward gambling and drinking.

The convention, on motion of the Rev. L. L. Roloff, Corpus Christi, instructed trustees of all Texas Baptist colleges and universities not to confer an honorary degree on persons holding "to such a position."

The resolution:

"Because of the reported attitude of the president of the United States as a Baptist toward gambling and drinking and because of the invitation of Baylor university to confer upon him the high recognition of a honorary degree, I move that we instruct the trustees of all our colleges and universities not to confer any honorary degree on those holding to such a position."

At Waco, Pat M. Neff, president of Baylor, replied "no comment" when told of the resolution.

"No Baptist school should confer a degree on a man who likes his poker and drinks his bourbon," the Rev. W. L. Shuttleworth, Houston, chairman of the civic righteousness committee, said.

"I know that we all agree that no man—even the president of the United States—could be a good Baptist and drink his liquor."

CAMP SAN LUIS OBISPO, Calif. —(AP)—The 104th (Timberwolf) division of European war fame is in the process of being inactivated, its public relations office announced today, and soon will become just a "paper division."

Zionist Leaders Say Riots Unauthorized

JERUSALEM.— (AP) — British authorities took new precautions to halt illegal immigration into Palestine today as Zionist leaders deplored a two-day reign of violence in Tel Aviv estimated to have caused more than 100 casualties and $800,000 property damage.

With quiet at last reported restored to the troubled city, Isaac Ben-Tsevei, chairman of the Jewish national council, issued a statement attributing the riots to "irresponsible youths" and declaring they were "highly detrimental to the Jewish cause."

He added that Jewish leaders had urged self-discipline and non-violence.

At the same time the pro-zionist Palestinq Post declared editorially that all responsible Jews strongly disapproved the outbreaks in Tel Aviv. Describing the rioting as "a shoddy episode," the Post said:

"There is no Jew worthy of the name but will dissassociate himself from fascist terrorism which swoops and strikes where the victims are few and defenseless.

"That British firms should have been singled out for destruction and plunder is a stain which every Jew of decent feeling will long carry in shame."

Hungry Japs Seize Food From Farmers, Mills on Hokkaido

TOKYO—(AP)—Twenty-three hundred hungry residents of Hokkaido, northernmost Japanese home island, seized food from farmers, storehouses and mills on two successive days, the newspaper Asahi reported today. Some of them left money in payment.

The food rioters split into small bands for their forays, the newspaper said. Miners of Shigejiri and Adshira districts paid for the food they seized in a 1,000-person foraging raid Nov. 13. Similar raids by groups totalling 1,300 persons occurred next day, Asahi said.

Nineteen thousand pounds of milled foods were seized.

Sixty policemen have been assigned to guard the vicinity, and civilians joined to form a volunteer defense corps.

The rioting was the first reported for many weeks, but government spokesmen here are openly concerned over the possibility of violence in the foodless, fuelless winter ahead.

The government already has appealed to farmers to sell their produce at legal prices, but the lure of black-market profits is strong.

The Japanese government today admitted its control over the sale of fresh vegetables and fish was in "a state of complete collapse" and Allied headquarters immediately ordered into operation the Japanese plan to abolish price controls on perishable foods.

This is expected to increase prices beyond the current ceilings but keep them under black market prices. It also should result in substantial gains in perishable foods for city dwellers who have been unable to obtain vegetables.

Meantime there were growing indications that American-prompted political changes are forcing careful, detailed conversations within the palace clique; that the highly influential lord keeper of the privy seal, Marquis Koichi Kido, may resign next Tuesday; and that former Premier Fumimaro Konoye may have his constitutional revision plan ready the same day.

Kyodo news agency reported that full rights of collective bargaining and striking will be included in a labor union bill to be introduced in the diet at its extraordinary session Nov. 26. There has been no major effort to strike in Japan since 1931.
