Deer Park Road Will Be Opened For Use Saturday

The road to Deer park winter ski area in Olympic National Park will be opened to the public on Saturday, January 4 at 8:00 a.m., Superintendent Preston P. Macy announces today.

"One way traffic only will be permitted," Macy said, "due to steep, narrow, winding grade. All cars using the road will be required to put on chains at the park entrance. The road will be locked at all times except on Saturdays and Sundays.

The following schedule for hours will be in effect, the official said:

"Ascending traffic may leave the park entrance between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. and must clear the top parking area by 2:30 p.m.

"Descending cars may leave the parking area starting at 2:30 p.m. and must be clear of the parking area by 5:00 p.m. and proceed directly out to the entrance.

"Those skiers who stay Saturday nights will be required to remain at Deer park until down traffic is permitted at 2:30 p.m. Sunday.

Sunday January 5 has been designated Port Angeles day in the Deer park winter use area, the park official said.

The park service makes the following announcements in regard to the operation of the Deer park winter use area:

The combined kitchen and dining room in the Deer park lodge has been ceiled so it can be kept warmer than in former years.

The original Deer park ranger station has been loaned by the national park service to the Port Angeles branch of the national ski patrol. The patrol will use this solely for the benefit of emergency first aid to injured persons and have it now equipped for that purpose.

Curtis Barnard, in charge of the ski patrol station says free skiing instructions will be offered to high school students who will agree to take first aid instructions. The first aid instruction also is offered free of charge.

The national park service urges that all persons interested in skiing take instructions in the use of skis, and this should be taken at the very beginning in order that proper control and use of skis can be learned, thus insuring fewer injuries and much greater enjoyment of the sport.

LODGE OPERATORS

Larry Winters and Bill Clark are the operators of the Deer park lodge and will operate on weekends only. Clark will conduct classes in ski instruction at a reasonable cost. The importance of the need of everyone not skilled in the use of skis, taking advantage of this instruction cannot be stressed too strongly.

The operators will have soups, sandwiches, coffee, candy bars and other simple but staple foods available.

They also will operate a ski rental and repair service at Deer park where all types of ski equipment and accessories will be available. James Cahill has agreed to take charge of the rental and repair service.

A ski tow will be installed by the operators for the use of skiers at a reasonable charge.

The national park service requests the cooperation of all motorists using the Deer park road. During stormy weather it will be necessary to have snow removal equipment in operation at all the times. The road being narrow, steep and having many sharp corners will demand the utmost caution on the part of motorists and they should be on the lookout for road equipment at all times.

National park rangers under the direction of Chief Ranger Otto M. Brown will be in charge of traffic, information, parking of cars and enforcement of all measures for the safety, protection and enjoyment of visitors at Deer park.

League Basketball Game This Evening

Basketball fans will have an opportunity to see an opening game of the high school league when the Port Angeles Roughriders and the Sequim Wolves meet at the high school gymnasium at eight o'clock tonight.

Both teams have played non-league games but "the chips will be down" in tonight's contest that starts off the regular season.

The first game is at 6:45 and the main event comes on at 8 o'clock. The game goes on the air over KONP at 8 o'clock and continues until it is finished.

SHORT CUT HIGHWAY DISCUSSED AT OLYMPIA

Members of the short cut highway committee of the North Olympic Chambers of Commerce, were in Olympia Thursday conferring with Clarence H. Shane, state highway director and other state officials regarding matters pertaining to the proposed short cut.

Meeting with the committeemen and the highway director also were Henry Brown, Ed Brown and Ed Swan of Kitsap county.

From the peninsula were H. E. Peterson and Mary Brown, Sequim, J. J. Dailey, Port Angeles and Arthur Garrett, Quilcene.

Principal matters of discussion with the highway director, Dailey said, was the proposal to have the proposed short cut highway, Blyn to Admirality point, Jefferson county, made part of the secondary highway system of the state.

January 10 Deadline For Vehicle Licenses

OLYMPIA —(AP)— H. W. Algeo, chief of the state patrol, said today there will be no extensions of the January 10 deadline to obtain 1947 license plates.

He warned motorists that they have just one week left to get new plates and state patrolmen will begin stopping cars not equipped with new plates beginning Friday morning.

Commissioners To Urge That Highway Money Be Returned

OLYMPIA—(AP)—The Washington State Association of County Commissioners met here today to draft final plans for its legislative program.

R. C. Watts, executive secretary, said highlights in the commissioners' program of proposed legislation include:

1. Return to the motor vehicle fund of $10,000,000 diverted in 1933, the money to be distributed 43½ percent to the state highway department, 41½ percent to counties and 15 percent to cities.

2 Abolishment of the two-term limitation in length of time a county official may hold office. This would require an enabling act and a constitutional amendment, Watts said.

3. Establishment of a definite standing of 8 mills for county current expense funds. At present the fund is limited to 6-1 of the 10 mills counties may levy, Watts explained.

4. Reappropriation of the unexpended balance in the $10,000,000 development board fund earmarked for counties by the last legislature.

A percentage of net gas tax collections were pledged as repayment of $10,000,000 in bonds which were issued in 1933 for "make-work" proects, Watts said, and should now be returned to the motor vehicle fund from the general fund.

A recent statement by the state development board said approximately $7,000,000,000 of the $10,000,000 county fund has been allocated through grants to various counties. The commissioners want any unexpended balance to be returned.

Former Sen. Mitchell May Be State Agent For Basin Commission

SPOKANE —(AP)— The Chronicle said Thursday a proposal to employ former United States Senator Hugh B. Mitchell as resident agent in Washington, D. C., for the state Columbia basin commission is scheduled for consideration by the commission when it meets Tuesday in Wenatchee.

The paper said that if the legislature grants the money, the commission will conduct a year-around campaign in the national capitol for appropriations for the Columbia basin project and for other Washington state developments.

It added that the commission was reported to be seeking a $100,000 appropriation for the coming year and $10,000 for operations until the new appropriations becomes available.

Jackson Opposing Power Rate Increase

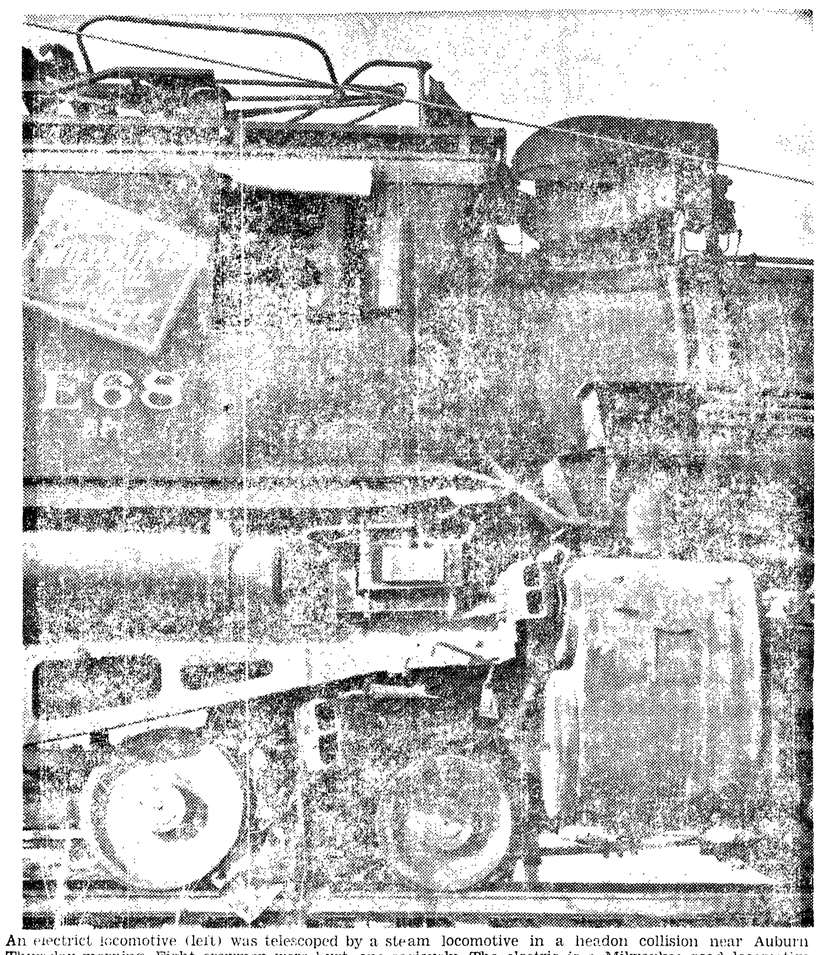
WASHINGTON—(AP)—Rep. Jackson (D-Wash.) announced today he would join republican members of the house from Washington and Oregon to fight any increase in the rates charged for power from Bonneville and Grand Coulee in the two states.

Jackson, the only Washington democratic representative said that he believed a non-partisan effort to retain the rate of $17.50 per kilowatt year for power sold by the Bonneville power administration would succeed in preventing any increase. Power companies and some members of congress have argued that the rate, the cheapest in the United States, was too low.

Any increase in our Bonneville power rates will result in many industries being closed," Jackson said, "and will prevent other industries coming to the Pacific northwest to take advantage of the low rates."

Jackson said he is being urged to take a place on the house appropriations committee, on which there are now no democrats from the Pacific northwest. He said he was considering acceptance, as that committee handles funds for public projects, including those in the Pacific northwest.

Jackson said he hoped the congress would appropriate funds to start work on the $100,000,000 Foster Creek dam on the Columbia.



An electric locomotive (left) was telescoped by a steam locomotive in a headon collision near Auburn Thursday morning. Eight crewmen were hurt, one seriously. The electric is a Milwaukee road locomotive and the steam engine Union Pacific equipment. The latter was moving slowly and the Milwaukee was traveling at an estimated speed of 30 m.p.h. in the fog. Organization Of State Legislature Completed Soon

SPOKANE —(AP)— Organization of the house of the state legislature will be completed next week by the republican committee on committees, Herbert M. Hamblen, who is scheduled to be speaker, said Thursday.

"There are a lot of holes to be filled in the committee lineups but we hope to have the organization pretty well lined up before the session opens Monday, January 13," said Hamblen. He leaves Monday for Olympia.

In reply to a question as to whether any democrats would be named committee chairmen, Hamblen said:

"Probably not; at least none will be named as chairmen of important committees. I think the democrats were right two years ago when they decided that party responsibility requires that the party in power have the chairmanships. I did not object when the democrats took control in the last session, and I am sure they will not object to the republicans having control in the coming session."

University Will Ask For Increased Funds

SEATTLE —(AP)— The University of Washington will ask the state legislature to approve a 1947-49 budget of $31,323,310 — more than double that for the current biennium, Dr. Raymond B. Allen, president, said Thursday.

The proposed figure includes $500,000 for construction of an atomic research building, increased salaries, the new medical school and provides for a student body of 20,000, he said.

The school's enrollment jumped from 6,300 in 1945 to 15,494 during the last fall quarter.

The school's atomic research plans cannot be disclosed, Allen said, but a long-range program requires an adequate building as a first step.

ASLEEP IN CHURCH

SEATTLE —(AP)— Captured hiding near the altar after a passerby reported a moving candle in St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church early today, Walter Zopp, 44, janitor, told police he had fallen asleep in the church after a couple of drinks.

He was a former janitor at the church. Detective Capt. G. C. Vernon said an alms box and a small safe had been opened, but nothing was missing.

Vets' Bonus Bill Ready For Congress

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A bill to pay all world war II veterans a bonus of $4 per day for home service and $5 for every day overseas was ready today for introduction by Rep. Page (D-Ga).

Page also planned measures to make terminal leave of enlisted personnel payable in cash March 15 and to raise the salary limits for veterans participating in the government's on-the-job training program.

World war I veterans were paid a bonus of $1 daily for home service and $1.25 for overseas duty, but Page declared that civilian wages were higher during world war II and that the costs of living was up tremendously now.

As drafted, the bill covers all personnel. The world war I bonus was paid only to those below the grade of major.

Mysterious Plane Down, Injured Need Assistance

LA GRANDE, Ore.—(AP)—A plane is down and help is needed for the injured but no further details are immediately known in one of the most baffling search mysteries known in this northeastern Oregon area.

Following up a report yesterday that a private pilot had seen a word tramped in the snow, planes re-checked today and seven or eight miles southwest of here at the head of Ladd canyon found a man waving beside the letters "HERO-PLAIN."

A message was dropped by a second plane to the man who came running out of a cabin at the edge of a clearing where the letters were tramped. It told him to cross out certain letters to indicate whether a plane was down, whether help was needed and where all aboard were dead.

The man trampled over the letters H, E and R, which indicated, if the request was followed correctly by him, that someone was injured, that a plane was down and that help was needed.

He then added, according to Francis Greulich, La Grande private pilot who reported the message series, letters in the snow to spell out "all O. K."

The man on the ground did not cross out letters which would have indicated many injured.

There is no apparent road in the desolate timbered mountain area.

It was uncertain what plane is down. So far as known here there are three planes unaccounted for in the Pacific northwest—a marine corps transport missing with 32 passengers and crew believed lost some 300 miles northwest of here; an AT-6 flown by Rudolph J. Lonza, Spokane, missing since Oct. 31, while en route from Helena to Spokane, north of here; and Vernon Coulter and his mother, Lorena Coulter, Portland, missing since Oct. 31 while on a flight from Redding, Calif., to Medford, Ore., far southwest of here.

VOTE ON BOAT STRIKE

SEATTLE —(AP)— Members of the CIO Inland Boatmen's Union will vote this Sunday and Tuesday on the question of delivering formal strike notice on Puget sound tug and ferryboat operators, union officials said today.

The union seeks a 40-hour week, a general $36 a month wage increase and improved working conditions, Ralph Goldsmith, dispatcher, reported.

Ambassador Hears Chinese Students Tell Grievances

NANKING —(AP)— U. S. Ambassador Stuart today received a delegation of Chinese students and listened to their plea that American troops be withdrawn from China while outside more than 1,000 students howled "GIs, go home!" And plastered embassy walls and doors with anti-American placards.

Stuart told the student leaders "I love China as much as you. I have spent a lifetime working to improve Sino-American relations. I am deeply grieved over any incident which damages these relations."

The ambassador, who has spent most of his life in China, repeated his yesterday's statement that he is awaiting a full report of the Peiping incident that provided the springboard for demonstrations in Peiping, Shanghai and here.

Meanwhile, 36 university professors in Shanghai issued a statement of "full support" for the students in demanding immediate withdrawal of American forces from China.

The professors' statement said the United States had followed a correct policy during the war but in the past year had turned in the opposite direction "which leads to increasing her domestic difficulties, endangering world peace and, what is even worse, bringing about a civil war in our war-weary, war-devastated country."

The statement said an American attitude had "gradually developed into regarding China as a semi-colonial nation.

Plans For Cutting Forests on Indian Lands Announced

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Plans for a cooperative program of cutting forests on Indian lands in the Pacific northwest were announced today by Rep. Horan (R-Wash).

Indian service officials, the legislator said, have already conferred with the forest service, which has decided to send representatives to the Indian forests to plan the program for sustained yields.

By law the government agencies are permitted to make long term agreements with private industry to provide for logging, selective cutting of forests and reforestation.

Horan said the first reservation to be surveyed under the plan probably would be the Colville Indian reservation.

Horan said he had discussed the matter with E. Morgan Pryce, division director of the Indian service in the Pacific northwest, Walker W. Weohlke, chief of the resources branch of the service, and John H. province, assistant Indian commissioner.

They, he added, in turn conferred with Ira Mason, of the forest service to lay the ground work for extending the cooperative plan to the Indian reservations.

"We need the cooperative plan institute on our Indian reservations to prevent ruin of our forests," Horan said. "Under the law permitting the cooperation with private industry the service can allot certain lands to the operators under long term contracts. They will provide that the operators follow selective logging, provide for reforestation and thus create a substained yield project where trees can always be cropped."

Horan said that before any Indian land could be allotted to private operators a public hearing would have to be held and the opinion of all interested parties would be taken into consideration.

Transportation Crippled In Many Parts Of Country by Snow, Freezing Rain and Fog

By The Associated Press

Air travel was curtailed, train and bus schedules delayed and motor traffic made hazardous today by fresh falls of snow, freezing rain, sleet, and fog over a wide section of the country.

A blanket of new snow covered many sections of New England, the Midwest and extended into Oklahoma and in the Texas Panhandle and other north Texas points. The falls in some cities were the heaviest of the winter and converted already slippery highways and streets. Temperautres dipped to near freezing in California and to near zero in Spokane, Wash.

Bitter cold struck the Dakotas and Minnesota today and the mercury dropped to more than 30 below zero at Bemidji, Min.; near the 30 below zero at Bemidji, Minn.; near the 30 below mark at Pembina, N. D., and from 15 to 20 below in parts of South Dakota.

In Chicago a streetcar ran through an ice-clogged switch and careened off the tracks into a poolroom at Forty-third and south State streets. streets. Wabash avenue police said 18 persons suffered minor injuries.

Temperatures in Texas plunged to below freezing as a new mass of cold air and new falls of snow were predicted for the area. The mercury touched 19 above in Fort Worth; 30 in San Antonio and 31 at Del Rio in the Rio Grande valley.

The coldest temperature reported was 34 degrees below zero in West Yellowstone Mont. The mercury was down to 18 below in Chadron, Neb.

NO TRACE FOUND OF BATTLE GROUND THUGS

VANCOUVER, Wash.— (AP) —The whereabouts of the three bandits who robbed the Battle Ground, Wash., state bank of $18,000 Tuesday remained a mystery today.

The three sped away in a sedan and are believed to have changed to anothe car two miles from Battle Ground. They have not been seen since. A bullet hole and blood in the abandoned car indicated one of them was struck by a bullet from the gun of a U. S. marshal as they fled.

The FBI took over investigation, and authorities say only that clues are being followed.

GOP Solons From West Get Many Committee Spots

By William E. Lowell
(AP Special Washington Service)

WASHINGTON—Western republicans will have a strong voice in the senate committee which considers their most pertinent problems.

Democratic committee assignments have not been announced, nor have the house selections been determined.

Except for the chairmanship, which went to Butler of Nebraska, regarded as friendly to most western objectives, all GOP places on the new senate public lands committee went to members from the intermountain and coastal states: Millikin (Colo), Robertson (Wyo), Cordon (Ore), Dworshak (Idaho), Ecton (Mont), Malone (Nev), and Watkins (Utah).

This committee absorbs the old committees on public lands, irrigation and reclamation, Indian affairs, territories and mining.

A companion committee, public works, which will deal with flood control among other matters, will have three western republicans: Cain (Wash), Malone and Watkins.

Other western republicans also are well placed: Millikin is head of the finance committee, Cordon, Knowland and Dworshak on appropriations; Robertson and Morse on the armed services group (military and naval affairs); Morse on labor and public welfare; and Knowland on rules and administration. Ecton is on the civil service committee, which deals with federal employment, and Cain will be on the District of Columbia group.

In addition to the announced appointments, Senator Morse received assurance from the caucus yesterday that a member from one of the coastal states will be considered for the foreign affairs committee when a vacancy occurs.

In the house, Rep. Walt Horan of Washington was named to the GOP committee on committees to fill the vacancies on house committees which were cut from 46 to 19 by the reorganization act.

Washington's Holmes and Oregon's Angell were named to the republican congressional campaign committee.

Antarctic Seaplane Missing With Eight Naval Men Aboard

WASHINGTON —(AP)— A PBM marine seaplane with eight persons aboard is overdue on an exploratory flight from the navy's Antarctic expedition, the navy reported today.

The plane took off from the seaplane tender U. S. S. Pine Island at 5:45 a.m., (EST) Dec. 30.

It was scheduled to return at 3:45 p.m., the same day, but had sufficient fuel for 11 additional hours of flight.

The last report from the plane was received at 7:25 a.m. (EST) on Dec. 30 at which time it was about 250 miles south of the Pine Island.

Previous reconnaissance flights had reported open water in that area and the navy expressed hope the plane had made a safe landing. Search and rescue operations have been hampered by bad weather.

One of those reported aboard the plane is Capt. Henry Howard Caldwell, of Loomis, Calif.

He commands the S. S. Pine Island. He is an Annapolis graduate and a war veteran. His wife, Dorothea, resides in Norfolk, Va.

(The only other westerners aboard were from California also: James Haskin Robbins, San Diego, and Owen McCarty, Sonoma).

Republicans Elect Joseph Martin Speaker of House as Congress Opens

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Triumphant republicans quickly elected Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts speaker of the new house today but senate organization for the 80th congress stalled in debate over seating Theodore G. Bilbo of Mississippi.

Martin, first republican to take over the house gavel in 15 years was elected 244 to 182. In a keynote speech he called upon democrats to cooperate with his party in handling such postwar problems as labor laws, taxation and government economy.

The house then was ready for business with two major bills—a tax reduction measure and a comprehensive labor bill which would outlaw the closd shop and force arbitration of disputes in essential industries—already in the legislative hopper.

But at the other end of the capitol, an exceptional and wordy wrangle over permitting Bilbo to serve a third term delayed organization of the senate after only one new member—Baldwin of Connecticut—had taken the oath.

Bilbo, in brown suit and red tie, walked up to the bar with a democratic colleague, Overton of Louisiana, to take his oath. Promptly, Senator Taylor (D-Ida), objected and offered a resolution to block the Mississippian pending a further inquiry.

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich) was ready with a similar resolution from the republican majority already committed against Bilbo. But many of those republicans had not yet taken the oath and consequently lacked a vote. And in opposition to the republican move, 14 democratic senators organized for "extended debate" in Bilbo's behalf.

In the White House President Truman heard and saw the opening house proceedings by means of television.

A set was installed temporarily in the president's office and enabled the chief executive to keep pace with the house organization.

The Radio Corporation of America provided Mr. Truman with a model similar to those planned for household use. It has a 10-inch screen.

The president, whose one personal address to congress on the state of the union scheduled for Monday will be televized, got an idea of how he will look on the air waves.

The White House announced President Truman would deliver his state of the union message at a joint session in the house chamber Montoday at 1 p.m. (EST) if both houses are organized then.

The No. 1 measure offered in the house was the republican plan to cut individual income taxes. Instead of the proposed 20 per cent reduction "across the boards," it provides for a 20 percent tax cut on the first $300,000 of income and a 10.5 reduction on income above that figure.

Much Confusion As Senate Blocks Seating of Bilbo

WASHINGTON —(AP)—Theodore G. Bilbo was temporarily blocked out of his senate seat today, and his southern democratic colleagues promptly moved to prevent the swearing in of newly elected republicans.

The tangled situation held up organization of the chamber, in which 58 senators were present and eligible to take part in the proceedings.

With Secretary Leslie L. Biffle, a democrat, presiding, Bilbo got as far as the senate rostrum. He retired for the time being under a storm of resolutions and motions that indicated on at least one record vote that a majority of his holdover colleagues preferred to put his case aside until the chamber has been organized.

The parliamentary maneuvers shaped up this way:

Senator Taylor (D-Idaho) offered a resolution to deny Bilbo his seat while charges are being inquired into further that Bilbo intimidated Mississippi negroes against voting and that he used his office for personal gain in dealing with war contractors.

Senator Overton (D-La), a Bilbo supporter, promptly offered a substitute motion—to seat Bilbo.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) moved to wipe both these off the slate by a motion to table. It carried, 38 to 20.

Then Senator White (R-Me) moved to seat Senator Brewster (R-Me), whose name came next in alphabetical order. Overton moved, as a substitute, to seat Bilbo.

Taft succeeded in killing off Overton's substitute by a 39 to 19 vote. This left the White motion pending before the senate.

This happened in quick succession:

Under alphabetical procedure, Senator Baldwin (R-Conn) was sworn, the first of those elected Nov. 5. Bilbo's name came up next, and he walked to the rostrum, with Senator Overton (D-La).

Senator Taylor (D-Idaho) promptly objected to Bilbo taking the oath. He offered a resolution to bar Bilbo from membership pending further inquiry into his qualifications by the senate rules committee.

BILBO DENOUNCED

Taylor then swung into an hour's speech denouncing the southerner, whose relations with war contractors have recently been under investigation. He contended, among other things, that Bilbo "conspired" to prevent negroes from voting.

As Taylor talked Bilbo sat down next to him to listen.

Packed galleries watched the tense scene on the floor.

When Taylor concluded, Overton offered a substitute resolution to seat Bilbo "without prejudice" as to the senate's future action on any ouster case against the Mississippian.

Senator Elmer Thomas (D-Okla), a Bilbo supporter, immediately demanded a roll call to determine whether a quorum, or majority, of the members was present. This was regarded as a time consuming device.

The call showed 52 senators present.

Several republicans, including Taft of Ohio, sought a chance to speak, but retiring senate secretary Leslie Biffle, who presided, recognized Overton, who began a formal address in support of his resolution.

Threatened with a filibuster by southern democrats, the senate became involved in a parliamentary tangle immediately after the convening of the new republican-controlled congress.

Members of Congress of Both Major Parties Open Drive to Prevent Crippling Strikes

By Max Hall

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Members of congress from both major parties opened a drive today to prevent strikes which affect public health or safety—including coal strikes.

The drive faces strong opposition.

All proposals to compel unions and employers to settle their disputes short of walkouts or lockouts are being fought not only by organized labor but by wide segments of industry as well.

Rep. Howard Smith (D-Va) introduced a lengthy labor bill immediately after opening formalities were out of the way in the house.

One provision is designed to force arbitration of disputes in the most essential industries.

Another would outlaw the closed shop. And a third would forbid collective bargaining on an industry-wide basis—such as autos and steel, both of which suffered crippling strikes last year.

Smith said in an interview before the session started: "The public interest must be paramount. I think it's a mistake to pay too much attention to the special desires of either labor or industry."

Five house republicans were ready with another bill—a repeat measure—which also would require compulsory arbitration as a last resort in order to prevent strikes affecting the public health or safety.

These five are Reps. Auchincloss (NJ), Clifford Case (NJ), Herter (Mass), Hale (Me), and Heselton (Mass).

Herter told a reporter: "Since first filing this bill last June, we have reviewed it very carefully and are more than ever convinced that it is essential. We see no other way of protecting the public interest."

In compulsory arbitration, the government would require a disputing union and employers to let some third party settle their argument. Senator Ferguson (R-Mich), is writing a bill to do this through a separate system of labor courts. No bills of any kind will be introduced in the senate, however, until after President Truman's state of the union message is received next week.

Proposals for compulsory arbitration, though they will have much steam behind them, are considered to have less chance of passing than legislation which would merely restrict unions in various ways without removing their privilege of striking as a last resort.

It is virtually certain that congress will revise the labor laws in some fashion within the next three months, but whether strikes will be outlawed is another question.

Bill To Reduce Taxes Introduced

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A tax-trimming bill calling for a 20 percent cut in income taxes on the first $300,000 of individual incomes was offered today by Rep. Knutson (R-Minn).

The prospective republican chairman of the house ways and means committee modified his bill at the last minute before introduction at the noon opening of congress. Instead of a flat 20 per cent cut across the board all individual income tax brackets, Knutson recommended:

1. A 20 percent cut on the first $300,000 of income.

2. A 10.5 percent reduction on that portion of income exceeding $300,000.

Internal revenue bureau figures for 1943—the last year available—showed that just over 600 persons in the United States had a gross income above $300.000 that year.

Knutson said in a statement:

"The reduction of the tax attributable to that part of the income of taxpayers which is in excess of $300,000 is reduced by 10.5 percent."

In general, he added, "incomes above $300,000 are unearned."

Jobless Get $811,889 In One Week In State

OLYMPIA —(AP)— The state department of unemployment compensation and placement disbursed $811,889 to 39,935 jobless persons in in the week ending Dec. 28, Director John D. Davis announced Thursday.

An additional $237,132 went to veterans.

During the week ending Dec. 26, 65,953 claims in all classifications were handled, a drop of 19.1 per cent from the previous week, although the number of claims for the two weeks are not comparable because of a holiday during the second period, which cut down the number of claims the office handled.

The average check written was for $20.33.

In the Seattle-Bremerton labor market area a total of 11,568 persons received $239.516 during the week ending Dec. 28.

Couple More Days Before Rain Comes

SEATTLE —(AP)— The weather bureau's extended weather report today forecast light to moderate rains for Washington state, starting in about two days, with temperatures normal or slightly above, during the next five days.

The bureau said shipments during the next 24 hours should be protected against minimum temperatures of zero over the Cascades to Yakima; between Yakima and Spokane and between Yakima and Walla Walla. North to Bllingham shipments should be protected against a minimum of 20 above zero, it added.

Polish Elections Probably Will Not Be Free

By Glenn Babb
AP Foreign Aairs Analyst

With Poland's national elections little more than a fortnight of,, evidence accumulates that they are highly unlikely to be the "free and unettered elections" envisioned by two of the Big Three at Potsdam. The four-party government bloc, with its communist core ,apepars to be taking no chances on a popular verdict that would unseat it. The opposition declares that many forms of intimidation and violence are being used to reduce its chances to a minimum.

All indications are that the voting, set for January 19, will just be one more in the series of elections with which Soviet-sponsored regimes in the Russian satellite states are being given the appearance of having been chosen by democratic, legal methods. Such elections have placed or confirmed communist-dominated governments in power in Yugoslavia, Romania and Bulgaria, and now the process is being repeated in the largest and most important of the satellites. The result will be further strain on the relations of Russia and the Atlantic powers.

As in the case of Romania and Bulgaria, the American and British governments have recorded their convictions that the Polish elections will not be all they should be. Washington and London protests to Warsaw have wrought no change in the Polish government's attitude, which in effect rejects the right of the western powers to intervene or offer advice. But Britain and America base their interest on the Potsdam accord, which stated:

"The three powers (United States, Britain and Russia) note that the Polish provincial government in accordance with the decisions of the Crimean conference (Yalta) has agreed to the holding of free and unfettered elections as soon as possible on the basis of universal suffrage and secret ballot in which all democratic and anti-nazi parties shall have the right to take part and put forward candidates, and that representatives of the Allied press shall enjoy full freedom to report to the world upon developments in Poland before and during the elections."

The latter part of that pledge apparently is being fulfilled, since foreign correspondents have been permitted to travel about Poland and send uncensored accounts abroad and Polish authorities have offered to facilitate the entry of corresponedent to cover the election.

What happens January 19 and the preceding fortnight would be in full view of the outside world. But the first part of the pledge has not fared so well. The Potsdam accord was announced Aug. 2, 1945. The elections which were to come "as soon as possible" have been deferred more than 17 months, and opponents of the government bloc say the voting will be anything but "free and unfettered."

Leader of the opposition is Stanislaw Mikolajcyk, head of the Polish peasants party and, strangely, vice premier in the leftist government. The explanation is that at Yalta Britain and America made inclusion of Mikolajcyk, onetime premier of the Polish exile regime in London, in a new "Polish provisional government of national unity" a condition of their recognition. Mikolajczyk was taken in but even though he is vice premier actually he is the outstanding opponent of the regime, his inclusion having proved nothing more than a device to meet the Yalta conditions.

FIRE HAZARD

CHICAGO —(AP)— An unidentified Indiana motorist made a mistake in parking his automobile in front of a fire hydrant on Winthrop avenue last night.

Firemen summoned to put out a fire in an apartment hotel across the street from the car bearing Indiana license plates were unable to move the car or get the hose around it.

But they solved their problem by smashing the windows of the car and ran their hoses through the machine. Damage to the apartment was $1,500, but the car's damage was not estimated.

Plans For Narrows Bridge Progressing

OLYMPIA —(AP)— A possibility that a call for bids on construction and financing of the new Tacoma narrows bridge might be forthcoming in about 60 days was disclosed by state officials during a conference with representatives of Tacoma, Bremerton, Port Orchard and Gig Harbor yesterday.

Clarence Shain, director of the highways department, said a call for bids for both construction and bonds to finance the project would be issued when insurance is obtained.

This should take about 60 days according to Rogan Jones, who is handling insurance for the toll bridge authority. Jones said an engineer's report is to be submitted late this month to a firm of underwriters in New York, after which it will take about 30 days to obtain insurance.

Shain, however, indicated a possibility that a "nervous" steel market and a shortage of electrical equipment might result in submission of no "firm" bids. He also said if bids exceed the estimated cost, bond buyers may be reluctant to purchase bonds to finance the structure.

Governor Wallgren, when pressed by T. A. Stevenson of the Tacoma Chamber of Commerce for appointment of an expeditor to work exclusively on the bridge project, assured the representatives that if such action proves necessary "I will appoint one."

The new bridge, estimated to cost more than $8,000,000, is planned to replace one which was built at a cost of $6,601,445, opened in July 1, 1940, and collapsed in a high wind Nov. 7, 1940.

Meanwhile Shain disclosed the state plans to place an additional ferry on the Tacoma-Point Fosdick run, and might take over complete operation of the present service.

Nazi Guards Charged With Killing Nuns

HAMBURG, Germany—(AP)— The prosecution of Ravensbruck concentration camp personnel on war crimes charges closed Thursday with reading of a deposition reporting that drunken guards once shot 14 nuns in cold blood.

The deposition was by Vera Salvequart, a pretty brunette internee who is among the 16 defendants.

She said she was going about her assigned task of knocking gold teeth from the mouths of executed inmates when a guard tried to kiss her, threw her on a bed and twisted her arm. Hardly had she fought him off, she said, when other guards brought out the nuns and shot them.

"It was a horrible picture," she said.

Gen. Eisenhower Denies Intent To Run For President

MIAMI, Florida —(AP)— Generalo Dwight D. Eisenhower in an interview said today that the mention of his name as a presidential candidate "is not good for the great organization with which I am associated."

Eisenhower, the army's chief of staff, made it plain that he was thinking as a soldier of the nation's future security to prevent the United States from falling victim to some possible future "super-blitz."

"From the beginning of the war, when my name has been mentioned in connection with a possible future political career for me, I have instantly refused to consider such a contingency," said the general during an interview at an inspection of the army's Pratt general hospital in suburban Coral Gables.

"I have not changed my mind.

"The army is definitely non-partisan and national in character, and any talk that tends to cloud the soundness of that feature is not to the best interest of the United States," he added.

Asked about his possible retirement, the chief of staff said, "I have a job to do and I'm going to do it as long as I am needed."

He looked forward to a future day when the United States might find herself alone against a hostile world, as England was after the fall of France.

"I am convinced that the world has got to find a way to settle differences peacefully," said Gen. Eisenhower. "Wars are emergencies. They come on unexpectedly. In the past we've had Allies and factors which gave us ample time to prepare. This holds true today, but perhaps it will not in future years.

"In recognition of this we have one staff in Washington whose job is to deal with scientists for the future super-blitz age. These men's only job is to contact these scientists and learn what may be ahead."

The general said he believed in the amalgamation of all military services, but that this effort "turned out to be a service fight and I don't believe in service fights." He said wars had to be fought with mutual friendship among the various services.

Teachers Asked To Execute Contracts

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The National Education Association called on teachers to adopt a policy of "no contract-no work" in future negotiations with school officials.

The association outlined a long-range program which:

1. Urged a minimum of $2,400 per year for teachers, with regular increases leading to a "professional salary level for experienced teachers ranging from $4,000 to $6,000."

2. Opposed strikes in instances where contracts or agreements already are in existence.

3. Called for more state and federal aid for education.

In a policy statement made public by Executive Secretary Willard E. Givens, the NEA executive committee declared it does not condone recent teacher walkouts which violated contracts.

However, the committee contended that "qualified teachers should be bold and forthright in their insistence upon adequate salary schedules . . ." and remarked that the code also states "teachers should insist upon a salary schedule commensurate with the social demands laid upon them by society."

Givens said this portion of the code leaves the way open for teachers to refuse to report for work when a "satisfactory" contract cannot be obtained. Such action on the part of teachers, he said "would not be a strike."

However, he conded it is "similar" to the line adopted by the United Mine Workers, who hold they are not striking when they refuse to work because they have no contract.

OFFICE REFUSED

YAKIMA—(AP)— Prosecutor Lloyd Wiehl said today he had declined Sen. Warren G. Magnuson's recommendation for appointment as U. S. attorney in eastern Washington. Wiehl's term as prosecutor expires this month.

He said he had suggested the appointment to go to Harvey Erickson of Spokane, acting district attorney since the resignation of Judge Edward M. Connelly.

Doreen Jackson Wed Christmas Day At Church

Holy Trinity Lutheran Church was the scene Christmas day of the marriage of Doreen Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doran Jackson, and Stanley Wasankari, son of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Wasankari. Rev. Carl Fischer read the double ring ceremony at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Escorted by her father, Miss Jackson chose a dark brown dressmaker suit with brown accessories. Her gold blouse was caught at the throat with a brooch which belonged to her grandmother and she carried a blue handkerchief belonging to her mother. She also wore a birthstone ring gift of the groom. Her corsage was of yellow and brown orchids.

Audrey Miller served as maid of honor. She wore a black suit with black accessories and a corsage of gardenias. Henry R. Liljedahl was best man.

Wedding music was played on the organ by Mrs. Mina Durkee, who accompanied Mrs. Wally Blore as she sang "Still As the Night" and "Oh Precious Love."

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Jackson wore a yellow two-piece dress trimmed in brown with brown accessories and a corsage of bronze chrysanthemums. The groom's mother chose a medium blue dress with brown accessories and a carnation corsage.

A reception was held at the bride's parents' home west of Port Angeles. A three-tiered wedding cake decorated with sprays of pink rosebuds around the bottom centered the bride's table. At either end were plates holding pieces of the groom's cake wrapped in silver paper and tied with white satin ribbon. After the bride and groom cut the first piece of cake it was served by Audrey Miller. Mrs. Celina Wintermute poured and Donna Jackson, sister of the bride served.

Wasankari served with the army in the European theatre. The couple are making their home in Port Angeles.

Wedding At Church New Year's Eve

New Year's eve was chosen by Mary Lou Torget for her marriage to Stanley Duane Teitzel at Holy Trinity Lutheran Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Mary Norman of Seattle and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Bland of this city.

Rev. Carl Fischer read the service at 7 o'clock.

Baskets of vari-colored chrysanthemums decorated the church and lighted candles were on the altar.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Mina Durkee played nuptial music on the organ.

Given in marriage by Oscar Knuteson of Seattle, a family friend, the bride wore a grey suit, black hat with pink feather trim and an orchid corsage.

She was attended by Donna Overman wearing an aqua suit and gardenia corsage. Robert Stanard served as best man.

Following the service a reception was held at the Clallam club. The bride's table held a three-tiered cake, topped by a miniature bride and groom, flanked by vases of flowers and white candles.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were the bride's mother and sister, Mrs. Mary Norman and Sharon Norman and Oscar Knuteson, all of Seattle.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Teitzel attended Roosevelt high school and the groom served two years with the navy. He was overseas for a year in the Pacific theatre and was awarded a presidential citation.

The couple are now at home to their friends at 810 West Fifteenth.

Traffic Fatalities In State One Less In 1946 Than 1945

OLYMPIA—(AP)—Traffic fatalities in Washington during 1946 totaled 582—one less than during 1945, the state patrol reported today.

No traffic deaths were recorded by the patrol New Year's eve, making the holiday the safest since the patrol started keeping records.

Chief H. W. Algeo declared the reduction in traffic fatalities was gratifying even though it was only one less than a year ago.

Algeo said the reduction was made despite a 50 per cent increase in motor travel in the state. Weather conditions often were hazardous for driving, he added.

At the same time, he said, traffic deaths in the rest of the nation showed an increase of aproximately 50 per cent.

Algeo credited the press and radio for placing facts of highway safety before the public and urged motorists to use the same caution during 1947 that they used over the New Year's holiday.

State Doing All Right, Wallgren Says

OLYMPIA—(AP)—Briefly reviewing the past year, Governor Wallgren said that "the state has been doing all right."

The sales tax has held up "very well," he said, but it should not be used as a basis for unwarranted expenditures as present day income from the tax can not be considered as normal.

He noted that the state has a surplus—Treasurer Russell H. Fluent listed the cash balance at $127,813,742 on December 16—which could be used for new construction.

While recommending new buildings, Wallgren declared the 1947 legislature should study and watch programs that may cause a "terrific drain" on the state.

Among these he listed the social security and educational programs.

"The laws have been written and to comply with them we will have to have money," he declared. "Costs are jumping by leaps and bounds in both of these departments."

Wallgren recommended "as good an educational program as possible" but said counties, cities and school districts should help solve their own building problems as recommended in the state educational survey by Dr. George D. Strayer.

The chief executive said the new buildings were needed as there has ben practically no state construction during the past four years. Lack of construction has helped build up the present surplus, he asserted.

He recommended new buildings for overcrowded state institutions, a state building in Seattle and a new building in the capitol group at Olympia.

NEW COMMANDER

SPOKANE —(AP)— Capt. Austin S. Keeth, formerly stationed at Bremerton, has assumed command of Velox naval supply depot, succeeding Comdr. H. S. Schwab, who is resuming his duties as executive officer, officials announced today.

Northern Teams Square Away For Season Openers

(By The Associated Press)

Four northern division cage squads put their pre-season records behind them tonight and square away in the opening tilts of the coast conference basketball campaign.

Initial frays send the defending University of Idaho champions up against the potent University of Washington five in Seattle, and embark Washington State College on its southern road tour with Oregon as the immediate objective. The Cougars will tangle with Oregon State Monday and Tuesday.

Oregon and Washington were stamped as favorites because of the home floor advantage and pre-season records. The Huskies were undefeated in seven starts including two tilts each with Minnesota and Ohio State, while Oregon mowed down 11 straight opponents and averaged 72 points per game in so doing.

Supporters of the two invaders, however, took heart with their favorites most recent showings. Idaho, back at full strength after dropping eight out of nine games on a rough road tour, dropped a 44-43 decision to the strong Santa Clara Broncs, while the Cougars showed vast improvement in smashing the touring independents with a 60-38 score.

The Oregon State Beavers, idle in conference play until Monday, romped to a 70-30 decision over Portland University at Corvallis last night. It was their 12th win in 13 starts. Freshman Dan Torrey, who substituted for the ailing Lew Beck at guard, paced the counting with 21 points.

MIKE JACOBS GROSSED OVER THREE MILLIONS

NEW YORK—(AP)—Indicative of boxing's prosperity in New York City, Promoter Mike Jacobs and his 20th Century Sporting Club grossed a record $5,446,713 in 1946, an increase of nearly 100 per cent over 1945.

This amount was contributed by 706,155 fans who attended 34 shows at Madison Square Garden, three outdoor fights at the Yankee stadium and 46 shows at St. Nicholas arena. No outdoor shows were held in 1945.

CROSETTI COACHING

NEW YORK—(AP)—Frankie Crosetti will open his 16th major league baseball season this spring as a player-coach with the New York Yankees, a team he has served as an infielder since 1932.

The 36-year-old Californian, whose appointment was announced yesterday, joins Charley Dressen, formerly with the Brooklyn Dodgers, and Johnny Schulte on the coaching staff under the Yankees' new manager, Bucky Harris.

Mount Baker Forest Timber Prices High

BELLINGHAM — (AP) — Mount Baker forest area timber brought record prices in the first sale conducted since price controls were lifted, H. Phil Brandner, supervisor, said today in announcing the sale of approximately 48,000,000 board feet of timber.

He also announced that approximately 10,400,000 feet of timber will be sold this month.

The Seaboard Lumber Co. of Seattle was awarded a tract of 36,000,000 feet in the Glacier creek area on a bid of $34,458.78. Under the OPA ceilings this timber could not have sold for more than $145,000.

Other tracts sold and the successful bidders were:

Eldred creek, 3,000,000 feet, Miller Shingle Co. of Granite Falls, $29,400.

Goodell creek, 1,000,000 feet, Marblemount Shingle Co., $11,061.91.

Welker ridge, 3,000,000 feet, Lake Shannon Timber Co., $18,498.25.

North mountain, 4,500,000 feet, Jones & Anderson Logging Co., of Darrington, $87,095.

Jackie Robinson Batting Champ

NEW YORK—(AP)—Jackie Robinson, the first negro to play modern day organized baseball, today was proclaimed the official batting champion of the International League on his .349 average for the pennant-winning Montreal Royals.

Hammering triple A pitching for a total of 205 hits, including 25 doubles, eight triples and three home runs, the former UCLA football star made good with a bang on his first trial with the Brooklyn farm club.

Whether Robinson will graduate to the parent Dodgers during their spring training sessions at Havana has not been announced. President Branch Rickey of the Brooks had not moved him up yet. According to the best information it will be up to Robinson himself to make a good showing during the Havana workouts.

All of the other top International hitters have been advanced to the majors, including Newark's Alfie Clark and Rochester's Vernal Jones who tied for second at .344. Clark joins the New York Yankees and Jones continues as a St. Louis Cardinal, having been moved up in late season.

MRS. HOPF HAS HIGH RIFLE SCORE

Mrs. Velma Hopf topped the list of contestants in the Peninsula Rifle and Pistol club's latest class in basic rifle training by turning in a score of 287 in a qualifying shoot last Friday at the armory. Mrs. Hopf's score was the only first class score of the evening.

Second class scorers were George Sylvia with 237 and Carl Jacobson, 240.

Four placed in third class. These were Bill Watts, 204; Mrs. Evelyn Chernut, 208; Mrs. Bessie Malesky, 213 and Mrs. Doris Hart, 217.

Another class in basic rifle training will begin January 10, Glenn Gordon, instructor, has announced. Anyone wishing to enroll for the next six week's course which includes 12 hours of instruction should call Gordon at 581-R evenings.

Classes are held at the armory every Friday night. The club supplies guns and ammunition and the only charge is to cover cost of ammunition and targets.

SEATTLE HOOPSTERS HOLDING THIRD PLACE

(By The Associated Press)

A rejuvenated band of Seattle Blue Devils held lone possession of fourth place in the Pacific Coast Professional Basketball League today after running over the third place Bellingham Fircrests 68-55 last night as leading Vancouver knocked over Salem for the second straight night 58-36.

It was the third win in a row for Seattle since Steve Antoncich took over the coaching reins last week after the club dropped six straight contests.

The triumph resulted from the Blue Devils' all-round scoring power against the one-man counting of Bellingham's Gale Bishop. The latter took individual honors with 30 points but his teammates failed to back him up at the hoop.

Vancouver's Norm Baker kept up his 20-point-per-game average with 22 tallies to pace the Canadian triumph. Salem held a 24-21 half-time margin. Jack Vaughn paced the Oregonians with 11.

"THE FIGHTING 36TH" TELLS ITS ALL-AMERICAN STORY

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK —(AP)— The "Lone Star" state of Texas, never bashful of its territorial claims, formally admitted the rest of America into its union in the last world war.

It did it through its own doughboy army—"The Fighting 36th" infantry division.

Everyone knows that Texas practically subsidized the army air corps, but it may come as a surprise to some isolated outlanders to learn that there were still enough Texans left to climb out of their saddles and organize one of the best outfits of "walking soldiers" of the entire war.

They took in "doughfoots" from every other state in the union and taught them to be proud of the blue-and-gold "T" patch of Texas. Men like "Commando" Kelly of Pittsburgh, first soldier to win the congressional medal in Europe.

If you want to telescope the war life of 50,000 Americans of every creed, class and nationality, take an evening off and read "A Pictorial History of the 36th Division" published by the 36th Division Association of Austin, Tex. It is one of the best of many fine division histories being put out at their own expense by fighting men to keep alive the flame they fought for.

It is a simple chronicle of words and pictures that tell the tale of supreme battle efforts by a "hard luck" outfit that won through disaster to whatever glory victory brings. To me the most impressive part of the bookk is the last half—a 150-page roll call of the men who wore the "T" patch, with no distinction between the dead and living. All alike served their country—and the 36th.

The 36th fought through four countries—Italy, France, Germany and Austria. In 336 days of combat it won fifteen congressional medals of honor and ten presidential unit citations, and captured 1775,806 prisoners, including Herman Goering, Field Marchal Gerd Von Rundstedt and Dr. Hans Frank.

Only two other American divisions suffered more than its 27,343 casualties — 3,974 killed, 19,052 wounded and 4,317 missing in action.

Field Marshal Albert Kesselring, nazi defensive master who made a bitter mockery of Winston Churchill's "soft underbelly of the axis," once termed the third and thirty-sixth infantry divisions the finest he had faced.

"I've been continually amazed by their audacity, at their long flanking tactics and the way they turned up in so many different place" he said at the war's end. "I've had to put my best troops against them."

The nip-and-tuck fighting at Salerno, their battle debut, and the fiasco at the Rapido river—"a name that resounds with blood"—are probably the battles that hold the most memories for 36th veterans.

The history doesn't renew directly the criticism made by a number of 36th division officers and men against General Mark Clark for the controversial order which called for the fruitless Rapid attack that cost the division the better part of two regiments.

It merely says:

"The physical odds were too great. This was apparent before the attack to all experienced soldiers."

Summarizing the mountain fighting in Italy, Major General Fred L. Walker, the commander of the 36th, said:

"I do not recall any campaign in the whole history of the United States army in which soldiers have had to endure greater hardships or have performed greater deeds of heroism."

Harold ICKES

NOTHING NEW IN N. Y. FOUNDLING
By Harold Ickes

A new "liberal" simulacrum was on display last week-end at the Commodore hotel in New York which was fulsomely baptized "Progressive Citizens of America." The names of those sponsoring this foundling are already familiar to the American people as active members of NC-PAC and/or the Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions. In short, there was little new about this organization except the substitution of a fresh title for two stale ones. However, among those prominently present was Mr. Henry A. Wallace, who, when last heard from, had been proclaiming that the only sure road to liberalism lay through the corrupt city machines and the poll-tax states of the democratic party. Apparently, Mr. Wallace has abandoned the theory, which never was a tenable one, that the liberal movement can live, breathe, and have its being only in the noxious exhalations from the democratic machine.

I would be the last man in the country to speak disparagingly of any liberal movement that had any chance of success. But as I contemplate the tea leaves in the cup, I cannot see any future for the so fulsomely dominated "Progressive Citizens of America." What was needed was an exchange of "new faces for old."

One newspaper put this enthusiastic headline over its story of the proceedings: "Liberals Launch Grass Roots Organization." But there are no "grass roots" to the "critter" unless it was the grass roots upturned by the plow and left a prey to early destruction. There were the same names and the same faces that, under everchanging labels, have offered themselves, time without number, as volunteer leaders of the liberals.

The appointment of two co-chairmen, supported by all of 30 vice-chairmen (count them!), and a national board of directors of 200, gives an impression of weakness and not of strength. Any army is not impressive that has more generals than privates.

Moreover, no liberal movement can prosper that, from its very start, will be called upon to defend against the charge of communistic taint. The cornerstone of the organization should have been a stern injunction that no communist or sympathizer with communism would be admitted to membership. A strong buttress would have been a statement that if a communist slipped in through the back door, he would be promptly expelled. The rest of a progressive platform could have been taken for granted, especially since it is already more than a twice-told tale.

Dr. Frank Kingdon, one of the co-chairmen, attempted to meet the issue of communism, according to the newspapers, a few weeks ago. He announced in advance that the new organization would not defend on this question, because if it did, it would then be called upon to defend on other "minorities." In saying this, Dr. Kingdon was merely playing with words, without his usual dexterity. In the first place, necessarily he and his organization will have to defend on any issue that may legitimately be raised. And the necessity for a vigorous defense will be in proportion to the public's conviction that any charge is a well-founded one. Communism is not a "minority" in the same sense as a racial or a religious minority. Communism is a non-assimilable political ideology. A Negro, a Jew, or a Catholic has an unquestioned right to affiliate himself with any political group, regardless of race or religious faith. He might properly join a political group to work for its objectives. He would be assimilable. But a communism would seek a join this old organization of the lifted face not because he believed in its principles and wanted to advance them, but for the sole purpose of causing confusion, with futility resulting.

At an earlier conference, Mr. Phil Murray, president of the CIO, made it perfectly clear that PAC wanted to retain its labor identity. The retention of a particular identity in the social field, especially when it represents only one, although a strong, faction of labor, may be consistent with cooperation but not with amalgamation. Here we have another contradiction in terms which is an obstacle to the attainment of the advertised object.

There will be held in Washington tomorrow, under the auspices of the Union for Democratic Action, another liberal conference, which has clearly seen and recognized that a true progressive movement has no chance of success unless it rigidly excludes communists. This conference will not wilfully close its eyes to the danger of communism. Moreover, this is an organization of itself and not an attempted amalgamation of various groups.

It is high time that the progressives of America organized themselves independently of either of the two major parties for the purpose of supporting those candidates and policies which are truly liberal both in scope and interest. This is the only true road for progressive feet to tread at this time. The unfortunate false start that was made in New York makes it more than ever necessary that a note of real progressivism be sounded at the Washington conference.

MAN BURNS TO DEATH IN LOS ANGELES HOTEL

LOS ANGELES —(AP)— One unidentified man was burned to death and four others were injured when fire swept through the small, downtown Wayne hotel early today.

Police Radio Officers A. V. Worthington and J. W. Doctors said one occupant of the hotel was being held for questioning because an empty gasoline can was found on the stairs.

Assistant Fire Chief F. E. Winkler said many of the hotel's residents were hanging from windows and getting ready to jump when firemen arrived. About 25 were taken down on ladders.

Three fire companies extinguished the flames which virtually demolished the interior of the hotel. Firemen said the 30 rooms, in the second story of a two-story building, were occupied and that some guests were sleeping in a hallway.

Cooperation Asked By Speaker Martin To Solve Problems

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Speaker Joseph W. Martin, Jr., called on house members today for cooperation "unsurpassed in the history of our nation" to deal with labor laws, taxation and government economy in the 80th congress.

The 62 year old Massachusetts newspaper publisher, first GOP presiding officer since Nicholas Longsworth stepped down in 1931, asked republican and democratic members to face the nation's problems side by side.

"This cooperation is requisite," he declared in his keynote address, "if we are to accomplish successfully the painful readjustments from war conditions of deficit spending, waste, and the 'don't-count-the-cost' policy."

Martin said the solution of labor-management problems must receive "immediate attention" and the nation must return promptly to "the sound philosophy that the government does not support the people; the people must support the government."

There must be quick tax slashes, budget-cutting, and reduction of the public debt.

He said the debt, now just under $260,000,000,000, is so mammoth that Americans will be paying it off for the next 100 years.

Republicans do not "gloat" over their victory in the November elections, Martin said. They are "prayerfully conscious of our responsibilities as we seek the cooperation of every man and woman in this nation."

Stressing the urgency of tackling labor legislation, Martin declared the only persons who could hope for the failure of cooperation between labor and management are "communists" and "fascists."

"We must find a formula and a basis upon which disagreements between labor and management can be settled justly and effectively without stoppage of production," he said.

"Such a basis and formula can never be found until both sides are ready to shoulder their fair share of responsibility for contracts; to cooperate in achieving increased production, lower prices, and fair profits, without decreasing wages or lengthening work hours."

On the subject of taxes, Martin warned they can be cut "only through, and must be accompanied by, extensive economies in government."

To effect these economies, he added, republicans do not intend "blindly and wildly to slash here and there."
