Black Ball Line Starts Enlarging Ferry Dock Here

Work is starting at once on enlarging and modernizing the Black Ball ferry dock here.

Capt. A. N. Peabody, president of the Puget Sound Navigation Co., Thursday authorized Owens Bros. Engineering and Construction Co. to go ahead on the project.

Peabody's decision came a week after the Canadian Pacific Railway announced plans to start construction of a new terminal here for a Port Angeles-Victoria ferry run.

The terminal will be enlarged to accommodate both the ferry Chinook and freighter Iroquois. The Black Ball Ferry Co. is going to discontinue passenger service between here and Seattle. The Iroquois, formerly owned by the company, is now owned by Black Ball Freight Service and will operate between Seattle and Port Angeles to carry freight only.

The enlarged terminal will be designed to accommodate passengers and cars handled by the Chinook on the cross-strait run, and freight handled by the Iroquois.

The new structure at the foot of Laurel Street will extend 50 feet east of Laurel on waterfront property owned by the company.

Owens Bros. report the enlarged dock approach will be an earth fill protected by rock rip rap. The face of the terminal will be built so both the Chinook and Iroquois will have room to dock, load and unload at the same time.

The widened approach will be about 130 feet, instead of the present 80-foot waterfront end of Laurel street.

The Iroquois is now being fitted for the freight run and will start operating as soon as some alterations are completed and governmental permits issued.

CHINOOK TO DROP SEATTLE TRIP

When the Iroquois starts the freight run the Chinook will abandon the triangular run and operate only between Port Angeles and Victoria.

In November, Capt. Peabody announced the sale of certain freight operations of the line to the Black Ball Freight Service. The sale included the Iroquois and some terminal facilities at several ports. The Black Ball Freight Service announced at the same time the formation of Black Ball Transport Inc. as a subsidiary of the company.

At the time of the announcement Peabody indicated the new service would start operating by the middle of January.

Capt. Peabody also announced that the Chinook will operate four round trips daily between Port Angeles and Victoria during the summer and two daily round trips for the balance of the year.

The Iroquois will make daily round trips between Seattle and Port Angeles, for freight only.

Mayor Smith Sets Next Tuesday As 'Bridge Day' Here

Mayor Ivor Smith today gave his official blessing to working up a delegation to next week's legislative hearing on Puget Sound bridges, by proclaiming Tuesday as "Bridge Day."

The mayor's proclamation acknowledged that "the citizens of our city have indicated strong preference for a cross sound bridge at the north crossing from Bainbridge Island to Ft. Lawton . . . and early construction of a Hood Canal bridge located near Lofall - South Point."

The community study bridge committee headed by Mrs. Peter Larsen is promoting a caravan to Olympia Tuesday, when the roads and bridges committees of both houses of the Legislature will hold a joint public hearing on the bridge proposals at 7 p.m. The Audett Hotel is serving as a clearing house to arrange transportation.

ENGINEERS TO SPEAK HERE

Meanwhile President Charles Willson of the Chamber of Commerce announced that Charles Andrew, consulting engineer for the Toll Bridge Authority, and C. K. Glaze, State Highways Department planning engineer, will defend their bridge proposal at the chamber meeting here Monday.

The TBA has asked the Legislature for a $770,000 appropriation to finance preliminary engineering specifically for the Vashon Island route, the most southerly of three proposed bridge crossings.

COUNTY SUPPORTS PLAN

Clallam County Commissioners today went on record favoring the Bainbridge-Ft. Lawton bridge route, and allocation of funds for an engineering study of a toll bridge crossing of Hood Canal in the area of the Lofall-South Point ferry crossing.

Commissioner Lyle T. Watson presented a proposed resolution to this effect and the other commissioners quickly adopted it. They will send a copy of the resolution to the Toll Bridge Authority, Governor Langlie, who is a member of the TBA, and one to both the chairman of the House and the Senate roads and bridges committee.

County Engineer Harrison Hawkins told the commissioners in his opinion the route they favor "will best serve the interests of the public."

The commissioners and Hawkins also agreed to attend the bridge route hearing Tuesday night at Olympia.

Bavarians Impressed By Visit in Port Angeles

By EARL CLARK

Now that the last of the eight German people who came here in November to observe the community study have returned home, the most common question asked about them is: "Well, what do you think they got out of this? Did they learn anything here worth taking back to Rosenheim?"

The answer, to take their own word for it, is that they most certainly did.

On the other hand, the families at whose homes they were guests during their stay here also learned a great deal about West Germany and its people.

About a month ago, seven of the eight Bavarians sat down in the committee room of the Elks Temple, and spent the day banging away at typewriters, filling out a long questionnaire compiled by the University of Washington. The questionnaire covered most of the things the university and State Department wanted to know about their reactions to their visit here.

The questionnaires were in their own language, so they could be freer to express themselves. The answers then were translated back into English.

From these answers, and personal chats with the Bavarians during their stay, the Evening News has been able to compile a report covering their reactions to Port Angeles, how America conformed with their expectations, and what they learned here that will be useful to them in Germany.

For that, after all, was the State Department's prime purpose in spending the money to bring them here and provide for them during their stay.

Without being subjected to any high pressure or propaganda, they simply were dropped into the normal life of a busy little American community, living with a cross section of American families, observing for themselves how we work, play, govern and learn.

WHERE THEY STARTED

Let's review first who these visitors were, and where they stayed.

And we'll start in the order of their age, for the Germans have quite a respect for seniority.

Dr. Gustav Baumann, who celebrated his 70th birthday while here, stayed the entire time with Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Macaulay and their three boys. "Gus" is a lawyer by profession, chairman of the Rosenheim school board, and on the city council. A courtly European of the old school, he enjoyed nothing more than walking around the city, rain or no rain.

Siegmund Adam, 47, lawyer and owner of a small business, stayed at the John Romick home while here, which wasn't much. Adam took off for the east for about a month to tend to business affairs, and was the first of the group to leave. He was not here when the Bavarians filled out their questionnaire.

Albert Steinbeisser, 42, is the big wheel on the Rosenheim city council, and generally was the diplomat and spokesman of the group here. He stayed first at the Philip Tobin home, then with Dr. H. H. Butler.

Elizabeth Limmer, 37, a social worker, stayed first with Mrs. Minna Durkee, then at the Fred Hertzog home. Miss Limmer's chief difficulty was with the English language, but she made remarkable improvement while here. She left two weeks ago because of a limitation on her leave of absence from her job.

Franz Guehl, 36, a food store manager, first stayed at the Thomas Bush home, then with the Wilfred Bowers. Guehl also had some difficulty with the language, but was enchanted with Port Angeles—especially the fishing.

Mrs. Marie Helbich, 32, petite labor union secretary in Rosenheim, stayed first at the Conrad Dyar home, then with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wagner. She and Miss Limmer left at the same time.

Dr. Liselotte Krause, 31, assistant director of the Rosenheim Municipal Hospital, first stayed at the home of Dr. R. P. Moore, then with Dr. Philip Risser, and finally with the Frank Archers.

Margarete Maurer, at 27 the youngest of the group, edits a monthly publication for a Rosenheim company which manufactures fold boats and other specialities. With Steinbeisser, she probably speaks the best English of the group. She stayed first with the Keith Pattersons, then at the Earl Clark home.

HOSPITALITY APPRECIATED

Mrs. Alice Carlson, who headed the committee which handled the local arrangements for the Rosenheimers, today expressed her appreciation to all who made their homes available to the Bavarians—and to those who offered homes but didn't get Germans.

"At the start, it was a question of finding places for them to stay," Mrs. Carlson said. "But after they arrived and people got to know them, I was besieged with offers of homes. We had planned for them to stay two to four weeks at a home. But the trouble by then was that with all their rush of activities, they were too tired to keep moving, and in most cases wanted to stay where they were. Where that was mutually satisfactory, we let the arrangement stand."

Mrs. Carlson also paid special tribute to Naval Lodge of Elks for making facilities of their building available throughout the Bavarians' visit for countless tape recordings, interviews, conferences and meetings of all description.

Perhaps Steinbeisser summed up the Germans' reactions to Port Angeles when he told Mrs. Carlson: "We knew beforehand that you had washing machines, cars and money. But we found out in our stay here that you have problems. And the most impressive thing to us was how you all work together to solve those problems, in an atmosphere free from excitability and nervousness."

But the Germans had many other preconceptions of American life which were turned topsy-turvy by their visit here. And they discovered many things about America which they hadn't even suspected.

Some of these discoveries, in their own words, will be covered in succeeding articles.

Meeting to Discuss Logging Truck Route

All persons interested in construction of a log truck road down Tumwater Valley are welcome to attend a meeting Saturday at 2 p.m. in the lodge room of the Elks Temple.

The meeting is sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

Present will be loggers, representatives of local industries, state, county and city highway and street department officials.

President Charles Willson of the Chamber of Commerce will preside.

The proposal is to construct a road from Highway 101 and Secondary State Highway 9-A down Tumwater Valley to Marine Drive.

Logging trucks would take that route to and from booming grounds and industries in the western part of the city. At the present time the trucks traverse city streets.

$9,542 Collected In Advance Gifts Drive

The advance gifts division of the United Good Neighbor Fund has raised $9,542 so far, acting division chairman Frank Fountain announced today.

Fountain said this total includes only the actual cash turned in, and does not yet include contributions from chain stores and major industries. Most of these have been approved, but checks which have to come from out of town main offices still have not been received, Fountain said.

Cabinet Holds First Meeting -But No Comment

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower and his cabinet held their first formal meeting Friday —a two hour and ten minute session from which the new administration's high command departed under orders not to talk.

Vice President Nixon told reporters it is the understanding that there will be no mention, even of general subject matters, about what happens in cabinet meetings.

Nixon did say, however, that there will be a meeting of Republican legislators and the President some time next week. He said the date has not been set.

First out of the cabinet meeting was Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, federal security administrator.

"How was your first cabinet meeting?" a reporter asked.

She smiled, waggled a shushing finger in front of her lips and replied:

"Don't do that to me."

Secretary of Labor Durkin rushed by, declaring "I have nothing to tell you" in response to the same question.

When Nixon came along he was asked: "Is the policy to be that no one who participates in cabinet meetings is to discuss what goes on, even as to general subject matter?"

"That's the understanding," the vice president replied.

Nixon said an understanding as to a rule of silence was reached when Eisenhower met with his cabinet in New York before his inauguration.

Eisenhower arrived at the office at 8:27 a. m. and cabinet members began arriving around 9:45 for their ten o'clock meeting.

With Charles E. Wilson not yet cleared into the official family, the Defense Department was represented by W. J. McNeil.

McNeil, an assistant secretary of defense in the Truman administration, is now the department's ranking official and acting secretary.

Secretary of the Interior McKay passed up the cabinet meeting. He turned up with a case of influenza Thursday and hasn't been to his Interior Department office since being sworn in Wednesday night.

Ernest Wagner Files For School Director

One more name was in the ring for election to the Port Angeles School Board today, with Ernest H. Wagner filing for the board.

Wagner, a Pulp and Sulphite Workers union official, was an unsuccessful candidate for the board in the last school election. Previously filing for the position was Harry Kochanek, Port Angeles city patrolman.

Deadline for filing is tomorrow noon in the school district secretary's office, with the school election set for March 10.

One position will be open on the board, that of Harold Ruthruff, who stated he will not be a candidate for re-election. Ruthruff has served two three-year terms on the board.

"THE FLAG WAS STILL THERE"—M/Sgt. Francis Xavier Connors, Bayonne, N. J., crawls away after his 30-minute struggle under murderous small-arms fire to place Old Glory on famed Sandbag Castle on the Korean front. Communist snipers in positions only 15 yards away are unable to destroy or capture the flag. The men who guard it claim that "it'll never come down from the castle."

GI's Hold Position Within Pistol Range of Reds

By FORREST EDWARDS

WESTERN FRONT, Korea (AP) — This place is a junk yard in hell.

Nothing on this outpost, only 40 yards from the Chinese Reds, is whole—except the men. By dawn some of them may not be. Seven were hit here last night.

Only the lottery of war has prevented Allied casualties today. The Commies have spared no ammunition.

The Reds shell this 50 square yards of blasted bare land with an intensity unknown anywhere else on the Western Front.

A handful of American soldiers are trying to build a fortress outpost under this almost constant fire. Shells rip the trenches and bunkers apart as fast as they are finished.

The Chinese Reds are so close you often hear the soft plop of their mortar shells as they drop into the firing tubes. It sounds like a butcher slapping a piece of steak on a chopping block.

Seconds later, an explosion shatters the little knoll with death-dealing fragments of jagged steel.

If the men heard that soft plop, they are crouching in their trenches and bunkers.

PISTOLS USED

So close are the Chinese that this is probably the only place on the front where 45 caliber pistols make the Reds keep their heads down.

Around a bend in the shallow trench from the main Allied line, which is 300 yards to the rear, there is a place where a man can stand erect.

Second Lt. Thomas Darnell, Covina, Calif., is standing there. His automatic pistol keeps up a slow and steady bark, its muzzle jumping about two inches with every shot. Forty yards away little puffs of dirt kick up at the top of a Communist trench.

"We are so close that a rifle is next to useless here," Darnell explains.

An exploding mortar shell kicks bits of rock and sand into the trench. Fifteen yards farther down the trench, PFC Ray Wise, Evanston, Ill., roars his disapproval. The mortar explosion has riddled the boxes of ammunition for his machine gun. He sits down and methodically goes through the belt of ammunition, replacing the beat up and punctured rounds with new cartridges.

"Happens constantly," he complains. "We get in a fresh supply of ammo and it gets shot up by the Gooks before we get a chance to use it on them —down!"

WATER CAN HIT

The next explosion is 10 yards farther to the left.

"That one got our last can of water," yells PFC Lloyd A.Bridges of Waynesville, N. C.

The five gallon water can in his hand is leaking from a dozen holes. He and Wise catch some in canteen cups.

"We don't get supplied except at night," explains Darnell.

There are sharp cracks overhead.

"Now comes the sniping," mutters Darnell. "Two weeks more before I go home. A lot can happen to a man in two weeks out here."

Grimy Sgt. Donald Hoefer, Kansas Ctly, and PFC James E. Sanford of 1515 N. Fourth, Yakima, Wash., dig with desperate urgency to deepen a shallow trench.

"Eight months in Korea," mutters Hoefer, "and this is the roughest I have ever been up against. They blow holes in the trenches as fast as we dig them."

Sanford just keeps digging. He has been in Korea only 10 days.

Langlie's Plan to Boost Local Property Taxes Outlined in Two Proposed Bills in Olympia

OLYMPIA (AP) — Republican leaders disclosed Friday that Gov. Langlie's plans for increasing local property taxes will, in effect, boost the assessed valuation of property to 30 per cent of its market value.

Two bills for putting the governor's "incentive plan" into effect already have been drafted. They have been submitted to the Republican leaders of the Senate and House for their consideration prior to formal introduction.

The Democrats, however, have beaten the Republicans to the punch, introducing such a bill Friday. It was offered by Rep. John L. O'Brien, of Seattle, House Democratic floor leader.

O'Brien's plan reduces the returns to cities and counties from the liquor tax in annual steps. In four years, starting in 1955, local governments which have not conformed with state assessment requirements would be reduced to 20 per cent of the amount they might otherwise receive.

The Republican legislation is part of the governor's plan for shifting some of the responsibility for raising taxes back to the city-county level.

Under the proposal, any county that did not raise its assessments to 30 per cent of market value would lose part of its share of the states' liquor profits.

The preliminary draft of the bills provides that for every point the assessments drop below 30 per cent of mrket value, the county would be 10 points below the 30 per cent mark and would lose 40 per cent of its liquor profits.

Thus, if all the property in a county had a market value of a million dollars, but the assessed valuation was set at only $200,000 or 20 per cent of market value, the county would be 10 points below the 30 per cent mark and would lose 40 per cent of its liquor profits.

The determination of the property's market value would be tied to the real estate transaction tax which was enacted by the 1951 Legislature to make more money available at the local level for schools.

Under provisions of the tax, every person who sells a piece of property has to pay one per cent of the sales price to the county treasurer.

Under Langlie's proposal, the 39 county treasurers would prepare a list of all properties that have been sold before the tax went into effect. The list would show the selling price of the property and the assessed valuation placed on it.

This also would go to the State Tax Commission which would determine the ratio of assessed valuation to market valuation. And the State Liquor Control Board would follow that ratio in distributing its profits.

Any money withheld from a county because its assessments were too low would be put back in the pot and become a part of the next distribution of liquor profits.

PRESENT LAW

The present law provides that property shall be assessed at 50 per cent of its "true and fair value" in money. That determination of what constitutes "true and fair value" varies from county assessor to county assessor.

But virtually nowhere does it approach 30 per cent of market value and Langlie's proposals in his preliminary draft. In most counties it is 10 per cent or less.

Langlie, in his inaugural message to the Legislature, said:

"It is a well known fact. . .That the assessed value in most counties of our state has been ridiculously low.

"Most people are paying substantially less in property taxes today than they did 20 years ago."

Langlie's plan was outlined after Sen. Thomas Hall (R-Skamokawa) had disclosed his long-range plan for financing state government on a balanced budget basis.

Hall's plan, which called for a deferred payment bond issue of construction of schools, got the "go slow" sign from R. Mort Frayn, speaker of the House, and other legislative leaders.

Frayn said the state's bonded and general fund indebtedness already exceeds 200 million dollars, indicated that he favored a pay-as-you-go policy for financing state government.

In other legislative action, State Highways Director William Bugge outlined plans for a 40 million dollar highway construction program during the next two years with the bulk of it going for U. S. 99.

Allied Sabre Jets Bag 4 More MIGs

By JIM BECKER

SEOUL (AP) — Allied Sabre jets destroyed four Communist MIG-15s and damaged seven in clear skies high over Northwest Korea Friday, the U. S. Fifth Air Force reported.

It brought to 15 the number of Russian-built jets knocked down in three days. At least 13 have been damaged. One Red jet was probably destroyed Tuesday before resumption of large scale air battles.

The Air Force earlier had reported three MIGs destroyed Friday but a study of gun camera films showed that another went down.

Capt. Delphin P. Overton, III, of Andrews, S. C., was credited with bagging his fourth MIG in three days—the hottest record in the current series of dogfights.

The Sabres were up at daybreak to shield Allied fighter-bombers striking farther south at Communist supply lines and battlefront positions.

Fighter-bomber pilots reported wrecking 90 Communist vehicles and destroying a locomotive and 10 boxcars. In the night 14 U.S. Superforts cascaded bombs on a railroad yard at Yangdok astride the Reds' east-west supply route across the narrow, 90-mile waist of North Korea.

Grenade-hurling South Korean troops charged up to the crest of Big Nori Hill on the Western Front today and blasted Chinese positions for one hour and 20 minutes, then withdrew.

An Eighth Army spokesman said the Republic of Korea infantrymen killed at least 85 Reds in the furious hit-run raid.

The action was among several Allied attacks on Communist positions on the Western and Eastern Fronts.

Westland Asks Probe Of Indian Bureau

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Interior Committee would be authorized to investigate the Bureau of Indian Affairs under a resolution introduced Thursday by Rep. Westland (R-Wash.).

The resolution, similar to one offered last week by Rep. Ellsworth (R-Ore.), suggested the committee pay particular attention to the bureau's activities in Washington and Oregon.

The bureau dismissed two employes last year in connection with transactions involving Indian lands in Oregon.

Senate Group OK's Wilson For Defense Secy.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Charles E. Wilson was approved for the post of secretary of defense Friday by a unanimous vote of the Senate Armed Services Committee.

WASHINGTON (AP)— Charles E. Wilson said Friday that as secretary of defense he will sell his General Motors holdings and consult with President Eisenhower on any matter that "might be the subject of misunderstanding" because of his former connection with the auto firm.

Wilson walked out of the Senate Armed Services Committee after being questioned by members for nearly three hours, and handed reporters a formal statement he said he made to the senators.

Early approval of Wilson's nomination for the defense post was forecast by some senators as a result of Wilson's reversal of his previous refusal to dispose of more than 2½ million dollars worth of General Motors stock.

Sens. Stennis (D-Miss) and Margaret Chase Smith (R-Me) told reporters the committee delayed a showdown vote on the question of recommending Senate confirmation of the appointment until later in the day.

FORECAST FAVORABLE

Chairman Saltonstall (R-Mass), of the committee forecast the vote would be favorable.

General Motors, formerly headed by Wilson, is the largest defense contractor and Wilson previously was quoted by senators as saying that he would not disqualify himself in government transactions with the firm.

However, a law bars any federal official from transacting business with any company in which he holds even an indirect interest and Wilson's testimony was aimed at meeting that situation.

Wilson said his agreement to dispose of his GM holdings included shares of stock he is to receive in the future as part of a retirement bonus. Senators have said these aggregated 1,800 shares, worth about $64 each, in addition to a cash bonus of more than $600,000.

Announcing that Roger M. Kyes, designated as his chief deputy, also would dispose of his GM holdings, Wilson added in his statement:

"If, during my term of office I must deal with any matter of business which I may feel might be subject to misunderstanding on account of my previous relationship with General Motors, I have been assured of the privilege of discussing the matter fully with the President of the United States with reference to any action that may be taken."

The White House announced Thursday night that Wilson had volunteered to dispose of his stock.

Williams Gets Quick OK in Commerce Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's nominees for three top-rank jobs in the Commerce Department won quick and unanimous approval from the Senate Commerce Committee.

Chairman Tobey (R-NH) said the committee would send the nominations to the Senate later in the day. Action there is expected early next week.

The nominees, who will serve under Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks, are: W. Walter Williams, Seattle banker, to be undersecretary of commerce; Robert Blaine Murray, Jr., of Harrisburg, Pa., undersecretary for transportation, and Samuel W. Sanderson of Washington, D. C., assistant secretary.

The three were questioned briefly at a public hearing at which they outlined their careers.

Williams testified he has taken a leave of absence from Continental Inc., a mortgage banking firm, and has resigned from the company's board of directors.

Sen. Smathers (D-Fla) asked him whether he had any financial interests that would embarrass him as undersecretary. Williams replied that he knew of none.

Williams was an early backer of Eisenhower for President campaign, heading the Citizens for Eisenhower organization.

Eisenhower Decision On Briar Pipes, Wheat Will Tip Off Policy On Tariffs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Briar pipes coming in and wheat going out looked Friday like early tipoffs on what President Eisenhower plans to do about his inaugural day call for expanded world commerce.

The briar pipe problem was left over from the Truman administration and foreign nations reportedly are waiting anxiously to find out how the new President will handle it.

The Tariff Commission has recommended higher duties on briar pipes imported to the United States. Its report lay on Truman's desk for nearly a month before he left office without acting on it.

Because Truman did not act, Eisenhower has about 30 days in which to decide whether briar pipes shipped to this country, mainly from Italy, Britain and France, threaten serious injury to some 30 American companies which also make them.

Wheat exports from the U. S. were cited by the American Farm Bureau Federation as an example of "short-sighted U. S. foreign trade policy." The federation issued a statement Friday which said this policy "forces European countries to buy food behind the Iron Curtain while price-depressing farm surpluses continue to mount at home."

The federation called for a balanced trade program "to strengthen the trade ties between the United States and its allies."

The international wheat agreement, designed to stabilize supply and prices through fixed quotas and prices, is due to expire July 31. Representatives of the 46 member countries will meet in Washington Jan. 30 to draft an extension. The Agriculture Department said Thursday it will consult Canada's farm leaders before deciding its own position.

SLIGHT CIRCULATION DROP

NEW YORK (AP) — Newspaper circulation in America fell off slightly during the past year although the roster of daily newspapers showed a gain of 13.

Editor and Publisher, the weekly trade magazine, made the report Thursday in a comparison of the years 1952 and 1951.

"A total circulation decline of only one-tenth of one per cent is a fairly good record in view of the unprecedented circulation rate increases and the stiff competition from other media in the last year," the report said.

The total number of daily newspapers in the country at the end of the year, Editor and Publisher said, was 1,786—up 13 from the 1951 year-end figure of 1,773.

PTA Hears Talk On Bond Issue And School Facilities And Rooms

Eugene Burdick, chairman of the citizens advisory committee to School District 323, addressed the Parent Teachers Association Wednesday evening on the crowded school room facilities and the forthcoming $49,000 bond issue.

He illustrated his talk with charts and graphs which indicated the bond issue will mean only a $120 increase in taxes for 1953 to the average Sequim home owner. Charts illustrated the increased birth rate will mean nearly 100 first grade students in the fall 1953.

At present the elementary school is using the library for a classroom and doubling the third and fourth grades in one room to meet requirements.

Sequim taxpayers pay 50 mills in tax levies, but of this amount only 16 mills actually goes to the school general fund and bond redemption fund, Supt. W. E. Blore stated today.

Increase in taxes for a farmer with a house, buildings and about 40 acres would be $1.20; for a town dweller with a house, lot and garage, an increase of $1.05 and for a farmer with a house, buildings and 78.12 acres an increase of $2.17, he said. About a 3 per cent increase in taxes for all taxpayers would cover the $49,000 bond issue.

BUZZ SESSIONS

After Burdick's talk, the group broke up into small buzz groups according to voting precincts and elected chairmen. Then the buzz groups discussed methods of promoting the bond issue within their precincts.

Chairmen elected are Mrs. James Kinnaman, Dungeness; Mrs. R. L. Keeting, Carlsborg; Mrs. F. Boggs, Port Williams; Mrs. Reid Priest, Prairie; Mrs. Ernest Lewis and Mrs. Ray Kilby, Sequim No. 1; and Mrs. Fred McNamara and Mrs. Fred Beale, Sequim No. 2. Three precincts are without chairmen.

The PTA will also sponsor competition among the grades for getting parents out to vote on March 10.

Mrs. Frank Mills, PTA president, presented a check for $835.62 to band president Robert Dalton on behalf of the PTA to augment the band uniform fund. The $800 check represents net proceeds from a Halloween carnival sponsored by the PTA in which all Sequim organizations participated.

The PTA moved to supervise the children's parade at the Irrigation Festival in May and appointed Mrs. Reid Priest as chairman with Mrs. Keeting alternate.

SOCIAL FOLLOWS

A lace tablecloth covered the main refreshment table with winter greens and red berries forming a table arrangement. Miss Theda Chapin and Miss Agnes Knutsen poured. Mrs. Janie Davidson, third grade instructor, acted as hostess. Mesdames Earl Livingston, Warren Taylor, George Brevik, Roy Brownlee, Lloyd Fisher and James Pettett were third grade mothers acting as hostesses.

Philip Ager, high school music instructor, presented his girls high school glee club in four selections. They were "Villa," "Nocturne," "Smoke Gets In Your Eyes," and "The Worm."

A barbershop quartet composed of Robert Staeger, Robert Dalton, James Stevens and Ralph Robbins sang "Mountain Music," "Coney Island Babe," and "Tell Me Why."

Girl Scouts Aid March Of Dimes

Sequim Girl Scouts will solicit funds for the March of Dimes tomorrow on Sequim streets, the girls decided at a recent meeting. The Girl Scouts also made coin containers for the March of Dimes, thereby saving the cost of the containers.

In a recent election Janice Schmuck was elected president and Judy Pool vice president. Other new officers are Margaret Russell, secretary; Kay Thompson, treasurer; and Roxie Cays and Yvonne Sofie, patrol leaders.

Activities include a slumber party, and work on international friendship and dramatic badges.

Holstein Club Officers Elected

Kenneth Eldridge was elected president of the newly-formed Tri-County Holstein Club in a meeting Jan. 15 at the R. A. Iversen home in Riverside. A group of Holstein breeders met for the purpose of forming a club to promote the Holstein dairy cow.

The club will include Jefferson, Kitsap and Clallam Counties, and is not exclusive to purebred Holstein breeders. Many clubs are restricted to purebred breeders.

Other officers include George McComb, vice president; R. A. Iverson, secretary and treasurer; Ivan Robb and Alton Nix, directors; and William Bishop of Chimacum, delegate to the state association.

Gerald J. Plowman, western fieldman for the Holstein-Friesian Association of Brattleboro, Vt., called the meeting to order and briefly explained the advantages of a Holstein Club. Plowman's territory covers the five western states of Utah, Idaho, Washington, Oregon and Colorado with headquarters in Logan, Utah.

Accompanying Plowman was Bruce Dixon, who has a farm of 2,300 acres near Denver, Colo. Dixon, who has 60 registered Holsteins, a registered Hereford and many acres of wheat, spoke on the marketing problems farmers have in Colorado in comparison to similar problems on the Olympic Peninsula.

DeMolay Boys Plan Public Installation

DeMolay boys will hold a public installation of newly-elected officers Wednesday, Jan. 28, at 8 p.m. in the Masonic Temple, Master Councilor Robert Beale announces.

Other officers include Henry Bigelow, senior councilor; Robert Staeger, junior councilor; James Stevens, senior deacon; Ronald Blair, junior deacon; William Huntington, senior steward; and Richard McLane, junior steward.

Ernest Brannon is the new scribe; Kenny Klint, recording secretary; Leonard Midkiff, treasurer; Don Mills, marshal; Ronald Schmuck, chaplain; James Ray, standard bearer; Larry Tozzer, sentinel; Dean Smith, almoner; and Mack Campbell, orator.

School Directors Award 2 Bids Monday

The Sequim School District 323 school directors awarded a bid for gasoline to the Tidewater Associated Oil Company at Monday evening's meeting. They also awarded a fuel oil bid to City Fuel Company.

The Tidewater Associated Oil Company bid .213 cents per gallon for regular gasoline and was the only bidder. This bid is an increase of .0026 cents per gallon over 1952 costs.

City Fuel Company won with a low bid of .0805 against a bid of .0818 by Peninsula Fuel Company. Both companies are from Port Angeles.

School directors received form 4 back from the state, which approves preliminary plans for the four-room addition to the elementary school. The directors are now authorized to complete form 5, the form on which the state bases matching funds for school construction.

Supt. W. E. Blore reported the cafeteria is averaging 310 meals daily. This daily average has remained steady for three years, he said. Sandwiches and ice cream have been added to foods sold in the cafeteria.

Blore also reported that only Alfred Lehman and R. C. Miller, incumbents, have filed for election as school directors from districts 1 and 3. Filing closes at 9 a.m. Saturday in the superintendent's office.

Improvement Club Hears History

The Dungeness Improvement Club heard an interesting history of their club Tuesday evening with Mrs. Aline Christenson in charge of the historical data. She received information from Mrs. A. A. Evans and Mr. and Mrs. Hayes Evans, pioneers in Dungeness.

The club is one of the three oldest clubs in Washington, and began in 1906 under the name of "Pastime Club" with eight members. Later the name changed to the "Ladies Improvement Club" and still later to "The Womens Improvement Club of Dungeness." In 1921 the club federated with the state under this name, and joined the county federation in 1923.

After the clubhouse, formerly the Yoeman's Lodge Building of Dungeness, burned on Sept. 14, 1939, the women purchased the present clubhouse from Mrs. Mildred Seamonds. Forty members now comprise the club, which was instrumental in bringing sidewalks to Dungeness when this settlement was a thriving community in the early 1900's.

Mrs. Christensen also gave a history of Dungeness from 1852, and Henry Lotzgesell displayed homestead titles to the old Lotzgesell homestead. One of the titles was signed by Ulysses S. Grant.

Mesdames Henry Cline, Oscar Norgren and Franchon Towne were hostesses. The next meeting will be a potluck on Feb. 3.

Soroptimist Club Donates $20 To March

The Soroptimist Club contributed $20 to the March of Dimes during a business meeting Monday. The club also volunteered postage for March of Dimes mailings.

Mrs. George Mogan, president, was also appointed as club representative to the Irrigation Festival committee. The festival will be governed by all Sequim clubs this year instead of only the American Legion as in the past.

Mrs. William Ulrich and Mrs. Fred Taylor gave classification reports, basing their reports from minutes of the 34th Northwest regional conference. Following the report a question and answer period followed.

O'BRIEN GETS YULE GIFT

HONG KONG (AP) — Michael Patrick O'Brien celebrated a belated Christmas Friday—on the ferry Lee Hong, of course.

A Christmas package from a Royal Australian Signal Corps unit in Japan reached him just before he started his 111th round trip between here and Macau, 40 miles away.

The package included liquor, soda, aspirin, canned food, biscuits, toilet articles and handkerchiefs.

O'Brien boarded the Lee Hong at Macau Sept. 18. Because he doesn't have a passport, neither Hong Kong nor Macau officials will let him land. He said "tell the Aussies much obliged."

Grit Self-Feeder

It takes just a few minutes to make this handy grit, or oyster shell self feeder for poultry. All you need is a nail keg and a tin can. Saw three inches off the bottom end of one stave of the keg for the outlet. Then, use a one-pound coffee can for the feed trough. Cut this down the seam—then back along the bottom three inches. Then bend the sides out to form "wings." Finally, shape the scoop-like bottom of the can so it fits into the keg opening, tack the "wings" to the keg, and you have a feeder!

More Polio and TB Cases in '52 Than '51

SEATTLE (AP) — The number of polio cases reported in the state of Washington tripled in 1952 as compared with 1951, and 600 more cases of tuberculosis were reported, Dr. J. A. Kahl, acting state health director, said Thursday.

Poliomyelitis cases were reported at 1,310 for 1952 as compared with 446 for 1951 or the ten-year average of 329 cases a year, Kahl said in his annual report.

The tuberculosis death rate dropped to 10.2 for each 100,000 persons as compared with 12.7 for 1951. Only 250 persons died of T. B. in Washington in 1952, yet 600 more cases were reported than in the previous year when there were 2,076.

Kahl reported the population increased 2.13 per cent to an estimated 2,496,050.

The birth rate was estimated at 25.1 for each 1,000 persons, compared with the record of 28.5 in 1947 and 24.3 in 1951.

Deaths were reported at 23,160, compared with 23,399 in 1951, for the lowest death rate since 1916. The 1952 rate was 9.3 for each 1,000 persons. The 1916 record was 9.2.

Kitch's Korner

By E. A. KITCHIN

COASTAL STRIP SAVES WILDERNESS BEACH

Recently I wrote expressing my gratification when President Truman by proclamation added the coast strip to the Olympic National Park. At the same time several newspapers in different parts of the state printed editorials against it. It was really gratifying to receive a letter from an eastern man whose ideas coincided with what I wrote. His letter follows:

Dear Mr. Kitchin;

I have just read your column of Jan. 9, in which you say you are delighted that the coastal strip was added to Olympic National Park.

May I say that I entirely agree with your sentiments, for I remember with particlar pleasure my own visit to the national park and my enjoyment of that natural and undisturbed coast. There is nothing comparable to it on the eastern seaboard, and most of the beauty that once was on the eastern coast has vanished before the onslaughts of real estate speculators and other development. Thousands of visitors to your great state will find an unusual attraction in this wild coast, as they will also when they hike or ride through the incredible rain forest.

There has been considerable editorial comment in your state that irately protested the President's action, frequently on grounds that were not founded in fact, and some warm gusts blew over Capitol Hill here, so that it is especially gratifying to read a column by someone who really appreciates the great values that have been preserved.

I hope the other citizens of your wonderful peninsula will awaken to the fact that lumber is not the only industry possible there, and that the national park as a whole represents a magnificent opportunity for profitable public service to them.

Yours sincerely,
Fred M. Packard,
Executive Secretary,
National Parks Association,
Washington, D.C.

GOOD OLD DAYS

It has been my good fortune in the years I have lived in Port Angeles to talk with many of the older settlers. How wonderful it must have been in the old days when the streams, big and small, were full of trout. How as boys they would ride their bikes to some stream and fill their creeks. Much of this was done before the timber was cut, before the country changed.

Shooting was good—deer, elk, ducks and upland birds. Salmon and clams and crabs were plentiful in the bay. Most of this wildlife has gone and will never come back, and the forests have gone too. So most of the old timers just sit back and live in the past and present, not in the future.

So it is up to the rising generation to carry on and look ahead. It is up to them to build up the future prosperity of our peninsula. We still have enough natural resources to attract visitors in future years but we must protect and guard such attractions if business on the peninsula is to continue and develop.

This coastal strip recently given us is one of our greatest assets. When properly developed and opened up it will bring a revenue and living to many peninsula people. Right now our young generation should take special interest and get to know our coast lines, from a commercial viewpoint or just from a recreational standpoint.

Remember, each of us is now a part owner.

West Coast Bandit On Most-Wanted List

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lawson David Shirk Butler, notorious West Coast bandit, Thursday was added to the FBI's list of "ten most wanted men."

Butler, 41, with a long string of aliases, escaped from Oregon State Penitentiary last February by scaling the high walls in a dense fog. He has been hunted ever since.

His specialty over the years, the FBI says, has been daylight holdups of business establishments. He is reputed to have put away a tidy sum from such operations.

The FBI says Butler was always a great talker for religion and the finer things of life, even at the height of his criminal career, and suspects Butler may use his loot to assume a role of respectability.

The fugitive is described as intelligent and versatile in his activities, which in the past have included fiction writing.

Butler is of medium height and weight, muscularly built, with dark brown hair and blue eyes. He has a 1 ½ inch scar on the back of his left hand.

His first arrest was at the age of 14, for burglary in his native city of Berkeley, Calif. He has since been in and out of numerous reformatories, San Quentin Prison and the Oregon Penitentiary.

Butler went on the "most wanted" list as a replacement for Kenneth Lee Maurer, wanted in Detroit for the slaying of his mother and sister and picked up by the FBI at Miami, Fla. on Jan. 8.

Housing Projects Might Cut Tenants

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Don Magnuson (D-Wash.) predicted Wednesday the Housing and Home Finance Agency will announce in a few days plans to admit no more tenants to several Lanham Act housing projects in Washington State.

He said the announcement would be followed by comparatively early closing of these projects and removal of the buildings.

All temporary projects not needed to house defense workers and military personnel, and which have not been requested for transfer to local public bodies eligible for such transfer, will be covered in the announcement, Magnuson predicted.

He said the temporary projects being released to public bodies or closed will include those at Rock Island, Spokane, Walla Walla, Anacortes, Everett—about half the units, Morton, Forks, Longview (100 units) and Wilkeson.

Projects not affected, Magnuson said, will include those at Ephrata, Grandview, Kennewick, Metaline Falls, Moses Lake, Pasco, Prosser, Sunnyside, Bremerton, Port Angeles and Port Townsend.

Hard-cooked eggs, shelled and cut in half lengthwise or sliced, make a delicious luncheon dish when served with a hot spicy tomato sauce and crisp triangles of thin buttered toast.

PACIFIC SQUADRON FLAGSHIP—This photo taken in Port Angeles harbor in 1895 shows the Philadelphia, flagship of Rear Adm. Lester A. Beardslee. Skipper of the Philadelphia was Capt. C. S. Cotton. Beardslee frequently anchored his Pacific squadron in Port Angeles harbor and went fishing in Lake Crescent. One species of fighting trout in that lake is named after the admiral. (Photo courtesy Fred P. Henson.)

ADMIRAL'S BARGE—Adm. Lester A. Beardslee, identified by arrow, sits in the stern of his barge as he heads out to his flagship Philadelphia anchored in Port Angeles harbor in 1895. Next to Beardslee is Capt. C. S. Cotton, skipper of the Philadelphia. The other two officers reading from Cotton's left are Cmdr. R. R. Ingersoll, Philadelphia executive officer, and a Lt. Winterholter. Ingersoll was a charter member of Naval Lodge of Elks as were nine other senior officers of the Pacific squadron. (Photo courtesy of Fred P. Henson.)

Lake Crescent Beardslee Trout Carry A Fighter's Name

By CHARLES KEIM

Any fisherman lucky enough to catch a Beardslee trout in Lake Crescent will tell you it put up a fight before he netted it. And many others who hooked but lost a Beardslee will tell you it put up too much of a fight.

Old records of the Union and Confederate Navies written during the Civil War and made available to the Evening News by John Schoettler, 221 N. Albert, prove that the man after whom the trout were named also was a fighter. He didn't hesitate to fight—even with his superior officers.

Perhaps it was this trait that made Lester Anthony Beardslee a rear admiral in command of a Pacific squadron.

Beardslee's squadron, headed by his flagship Philadelphia, first dropped anchor in Port Angeles harbor during the summer of 1895. It was here on Sept. 21, 1896, when Naval Lodge of Elks was instituted and 10 of the fleet's senior officers became charter members.

Beardslee frequently dropped his official duties to fish in Lake Crescent, and noticed two species he caught were distinct from the others. He sent some of his catches to David Starr Jordan, president of Leland Stanford Junior University, who confirmed the fact they were two new species.

Starr credits Beardslee with their discovery and named them Beardslee and Crescenti in his two volumes "A Guide to The Study of Fishes." The Beardslee, as any fisherman can tell you, is the larger of the two.

Some ichthyologists today claim the Beardslee is a rainbow trout and the Crescenti a cutthroat. They claim the two species took on new characteristics after a landslide many years ago into the Lyre River blocked their access to salt water.

FIRST STEEL LEADER

Fishermen generally credit Beardslee with the introduction of steel leader to the Pacific Northwest. He evidently learned to use it while traveling and fishing in the Orient, Australia and New Zealand. In those days the leader really was piano wire. The admiral used the wire and silver spoons in order to gain depth in Lake Crescent because the yet unnamed Beardslee remained in deep water during the fall.

Judging from Navy records, Beardslee was too busy to fish during the Civil War. He and his Navy men were out after bigger game—Confederate ships.

On July 9, 1864, Beardslee was serving as a lieutenant commander aboard the USS Wachusett, a name now borne by a Coast Guard cutter. Her skipper was Cmdr. Napoleon Collins. She was a third rate, 1,032-ton, screw steam sloop with a 167-man crew and carrying 10 guns.

SURPRISE ATTACK

The Wachusett was trying to track down the steam sloop CSS Florida which on July 9, 1864, captured the USS Electric Spark, also a steamer. The Florida's commandant admitted to the secretary of the Confederate Navy he used deception to capture the Electric Spark, by flying the English blue ensign to get close to the Union ship.

This tactic apparently was common procedure in Civil War days.

After the capture of the Electric Spark, the Confederate ship steamed to the Port of Bahia, in the bay of San Salvador, Brazil, where she dropped anchor Oct. 4, 1867, to procure coal and provisions and get some minor repairs after a cruise of 61 days. During and before this cruise she had captured or sunk many Union ships besides the Electric Spark.

The Brazilian government assured the Florida's commander she would be safe in the neutral port although the Wachusett also was there. At Brazil's request the Florida skipper moved his ship close to shore next to the Brazilian fleet and away from the Wachusett. He then let the steam go down and hauled the fires. Confident the Wachusett wouldn't attack while in a neutral port, the Florida's commander also allowed some of her crew to go ashore.

The Wachusett then built up her steam and rammed the Florida and fired upon her with cannon and small arms, forcing her to surrender Oct. 7. There was no use trying to fight back because the Florida also had removed the shot from her eight cannon at the request of the Brazilian government's naval commander at Bahia.

Several Florida crewmen were killed in this surprise attack while only three aboard the Wachusett were wounded.

The Brazilian Navy immediately gave chase to the Wachusett for this violation of neutrality. But the Wachusett calmly took the Florida in tow and outdistanced the Brazilians by putting sails on both vessels. Even the cannon balls the Brazilians fired fell short of their mark.

Both the president of the province of Bahia and the Florida captain charged that U.S. Consul Thomas F. Wilson at Bahia gave his word of honor to the president he would observe the neutrality. Wilson escaped from Bahia aboard the Wachusett and subsequently was taken to Hampton Roads, Va.

The Florida carried 17 officers, 129 crewmen and one passenger when she anchored at Bahia. From this number five officers and 71 crewmen were in Bahia and escaped capture when the Wachusett opened fire.

Many of the Florida crewmen were Italians, Spaniards and Dutchmen. Her cargo included $14,369.25 in American money and 3,000 pounds in English bills of exchange.

VERBAL BATTLE, TOO

While the Union ship prepared to fight the helpless Florida there was a verbal fight going on aboard the Wachusett. Her commander Collins told his side of it when he prepared charges against Beardslee to Gideon Welles, U. S. Secretary of the Navy on Nov. 14, 1864.

Collins charged Beardslee did not properly prepare the Wachusett's anchor chain before the Florida's capture, thus making it impossible to sink the Florida when she was rammed. Collins also charged Beardslee gave the order "stand by to repel boarders" after the Wachusett backed off the Florida after the ramming.

Collins said there were no boarders to repel. He also said Beardslee gave the order to fire the Wachusett's big guns at the Florida after Collins said not to fire unless the Florida fired hers.

Collins charged that Beardslee later stated the Wachusett's doctor had to give him (Collins) ether to "keep him up" during the Florida's capture, thereby implying Collins acted in a cowardly fashion.

Nevertheless, Collins put Beardslee in charge of the prize which was leaking badly, necessitating use of both the steam and hand pumps.

Collins' also charged that on Oct. 29 Beardslee violated his orders by not keeping the Florida within sight of the Wachusett while the two vessels were near the island of St. Bartholomew in the West Indies.

The Navy records contain a letter Beardslee wrote to Collins after the senior officer informed Beardslee he was preparing the charges against him.

BEARDSLEE REPLIES

Beardslee's letter states 160 Union sailors aboard the Wachusett guarded approximately 40 Confederates transferred aboard the Wachusett, while 33 Union sailors aboard the Florida guarded 20 Confederates. He said he and his prize crew were so busy from Oct. 7 to Oct. 31 that he hadn't time to take his clothes off, except to bathe.

Beardslee also wrote that he kept the Florida close to the Wachusett and he had men to prove it. He asked for a board of inquiry to look into the entire matter.

Beardslee punched hard at his commander in another part of his letter. He wrote:

"I am further informed . . . that on the night of the 29th instant (Oct.) you (Collins) contemplated throwing a shell at this vessel (Florida) from your 100-pounder rifle. Should the Wachusett at any time begin firing at this United States steamer (after her capture) I should most certainly be led to the belief the Confederates aboard of the Wachusett had captured the vessel and that my duty to my country called upon me to destroy her. I shall most certainly return a shell from the Wachusett with both broadsides of this ship, which are in readiness, and if I shall have made a mistake none of us probably will live to rectify it, as I shall sink this ship, if I can not the Wachusett. I can not conceive of any circumstances that will prevent our communicating by our signals, and should the rebels unfortunately take the Wachusett, it will be my duty to see that they do not get this ship back too."

This letter evidently stopped the exchange of written missives among the two ships and also cooled down Collins' temper.

The Navy records indicate the U.S. Navy Department took no action on the charges Collins filed with Secretary Welles. A naval general court martial tried Collins and found him guilty of violating the territorial jurisdiction of a neutral government and sentenced him to be dismissed from the service. Welles, however, disapproved the sentence.

To placate Brazil the United States sent the USS Nipsic to Bahia in July, 1866 to hoist the imperial flag of Brazil to her mainmast and salute it with 21 guns.

The president of Bahia said that "as the echo of the last gun died away so did the resentment of Brazil against the U.S. die away."

RAMMED BY MISTAKE

But the Florida failed to survive a second ramming—this time by mistake rather than design.

On Nov. 19, 1864, a U.S. Army transport struck the Florida while she was moored at Hampton Roads. The Florida took on considerable water and sank Nov. 28.

And Beardslee, a lieutenant commander when he quarreled with his superior officer Collins, continued to rise in rank until he commanded a Pacific squadron which many local old timers can still remember dropping anchor in Port Angeles harbor after that first time back in 1895.

Assessor Explains Personal Property Tax

Assessor John Husung today explained what personal property Clallam County residents must declare for tax purposes. His action follows a resolution Clallam County Commissioners passed Jan. 5 permitting residents to evalute their own personal property for assessment purposes.

"Many taxpayers are of the erroneous opinion the assessor is starting to assess all personal property such as furniture and fixtures normally used in the average home for household purposes," Husung said.

"Personal property which will be assessed in the county in 1953 will be the same class of property assessed during the past several years. It consists mainly of property, other than land and buildings, used in conjunction with commercial activities."

Husung explained this property can be furniture, fixtures and equipment in stores, hotels, offices, cafes or markets. It also can be machinery, implements, tools and supplies in factories, shops and service stations. It also includes farm animals, equipment and byproducts, or timber and logging equipment used commercially.

"In the case of homes or apartments rented furnished, the furniture, fixtures and equipment in the rented space are subject to personal property tax," Husung explained. "Also subject to this tax are goods, wares and merchandise intended for commercial purposes, whether exhibited on the shelf or in the basement or storehouse."

Who Must Declare Property

Husung said the state property tax laws require all personal property in one's possession or under one's control to be declared each year for assessment purposes. This includes owners, lessees, holders, guardians, parents, husbands, trustees, executors, administrators, receivers, accounting officers, partners, agents or factors.

"The amount of this property one has as of Jan. 1 each year, which is to represent a fair average of any given day during the year, is the legal amount to file," Husung said.

When and How To File

Husung explained all personal property must be declared on prescribed forms from now until the March 15, 1953 deadline.

"These forms are being mailed to all owners of record from the assessor's office, with instructions for completing the forms," Husung said. "These forms meet legal requirements and call for the name of each article or group of articles, number of such, name, make, date of purchase and purchase price.

"This data will allow a fair value to appear after taking into consideration nominal depreciation. The assessed value is determined by taking 50 per cent of this so-called fair value. Maximum depreciation is not to exceed 75 per cent regardless of age. Consequently, a residual value of 25 per cent of cost would constitute the minimum fair value."

Husung said persons who do not receive the forms through the mail and are subject to assessment should declare their property at the assessor's office in the county court house.

"Those needing assistance to complete their declarations are welcome to call at the assessor's office for help. In order to reduce the time needed to complete a report, it will be necessary that each person bring a written list of all his property," Husung concluded.

New Jersey's Rep. Eaton Dies

WASHINGTON (AP)— Former Rep. Charles A. Eaton of New Jersey, one time chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, died Friday.

Eaton died at 2:30 a. m., at his Washington apartment.

He had been in failing health for some time and chose not to run for reelection last year. He completed his 14th consecutive term in Congress Jan. 3.

Long a ranking figure in foreign affairs, Eaton was a delegate to the founding conference of the United Nations in 1945 and later served as a United States delegate to the U. N.

He was chairman of the Foreign Affairs Committee in the Republican-controlled 80th Congress of 1947-48.

Text of President's Statement and Proclamation Adding 48,000 Acres to Olympic Nat'l Park Jan. 6

Below is the full text of President Truman's statement regarding his Jan. 6 proclamation, also parts of the proclamation itself, adding 47,754 acres to Olympic National Park.

The Evening News received these papers Jan. 13 with a White House letter, also printed below. Acknowledged therein is the Evening News editor's letter to the President recommending the proclamation. That letter was published on Page 3 of the Jan. 9 Olympic Tribune.

THE WHITE HOUSE
Washington
January 8, 1953.

Mr. C. N. Webster, Editor,
Port Angeles Evening News.

This is to thank you for your letter of December 27 to the President and for your interest in letting him have an expression of your views regarding the enlargement of Olympic National Park.

On January 6, the President signed a Proclamation adding nearly 48,000 acres of land to Olympic National Park. This virtually completes the Park as originally planned when the Congress, in 1938, authorized its establishment and subsequent enlargement. For your information and ready reference, I am enclosing a copy of the Proclamation and a statement by the President.

BETH SHORT
(Mrs. Joseph Short)
Secretary to the President.

STATEMENT BY THE PRESIDENT, JANUARY 6, 1953:

Under authority given me by the Act of Congress creating the Olympic National Park, I have issued a proclamation today adding to the Park 47,753 acres of land now owned by the Federal Government. This action brings the area of the Park to but 1,692 acres below the 898,292 acres authorized by the Congress in 1938.

The present additions bring to completion a great conservation undertaking sponsored by two former Presidents and authorized by the Congress.

Theodore Roosevelt first gave it form on March 2, 1909, when he issued a proclamation establishing the Mt. Olympus National Monument. The National Monument thus established included some 600,000 acres and was created primarily for protection of the Olympic elk.

In 1938, the Congress made the Monument a National Park, and enlarged it and provided for its completion, for the purpose of preserving the gigantic virgin timber—trees up to 300 feet tall—which was so rapidly disappearing from the American Northwest.

Franklin D. Roosevelt twice enlarged the Park by proclamations, issued in 1940 and 1943, which increased its area to 848,845 acres.

At all stages of the Park's development, careful attention has been given to the needs of Olympic Peninsula timber industries.

The present additions include an ocean strip of 41,969 acres acquired as part of the 1939 Public Works program. This portion embraces fifty miles of Pacific ocean front connected with the Olympic Mountains by a narrow corridor of scenic forest along the Queets River. At its northern extremity, the ocean strip widens slightly to include the western shore of beautiful Lake Ozette.

In 1940, when President Roosevelt exercised the major portion of the power given by Congress to enlarge the Park, the boundaries were drawn to exclude an area one mile wide and nine miles long, extending straight into the park along the Bogachiel River.

This area, privately owned, was left out in order that it might be acquired for future inclusion through an exchange for it of national forest timber.

The Forest Service, after long and careful negotiation, has brought 5,642 acres into public ownership, and I am incorporating this into the park. This insures the preservation of the 250-foot Sitka spruces of the Bogachiel Valley.

The Olympic National Park, established for the benefit and enjoyment of the American people, now becomes the only park in the world to extend from snow-capped mountains to ocean beaches.

A PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS section 1 of the act of June 29, 1938, 52 Stat. 1241, established the Olympic National Park in the State of Washington;

WHEREAS section 5 of the said act provides in part as follows:

"The President may after eight months from the approval of this Act by proclamation add to the Olympic National Park any lands within the boundaries of the Olympic National Forest, and any lands which may be acquired by the Government by gift or purchase, which he may deem it advisable to add to such park; and any lands so added to such park shall, upon their addition thereto, become subject to all laws and regulations applicable to other lands within such park: Provided, that the total area of the said park shall not exceed 898,292 acres: Provided further, that before issuing any such proclamation, the President shall consult with the Governor of the State of Washington, the Secretary of the Interior, and the Secretary of Agriculture and advise them of the lands which he proposes to add to such park, and shall afford them a reasonable opportunity to consult with and communicate to him their views and recommendations with respect to the addition of such lands to such park";

WHEREAS it is deemed advisable and in the public interest that certain lands, hereinafter described, be added to the said park; and

WHEREAS it appears that the terms and conditions of the said act of June 29, 1938, have been fully complied with as to such lands:

NOW, THEREFORE, I, HARRY S. TRUMAN, President of the United States of America, under and by virtue of the authority vested in me by the above-quoted provisions of section 5 of the act of June 29, 1938, do proclaim as follows:

1. Subject to all valid existing rights, the following-described lands within the boundaries of the Olympic National Forest are hereby added to and reserved as a part of the Olympic National Park: (Lengthy land descriptions omitted here.)

2. Subject to all valid existing rights, the lands owned by the United States within the following-described areas are hereby added to and reserved as a part of the Olympic National Park; and the lands within such areas which are not now owned by the United States shall become a part of such park upon acquisition of title thereto by the United States: (Lenghty land descriptions omitted here).

The areas described aggregate 47,753.67 acres, more or less, of land and water.

The administration, protection, and development of the lands within this area shall be exercised under the direction of the Secretary of the Interior by the National Park Service, subject to the provisions of the act entitled "An act to establish a National Park Service, and for other purposes," approved August 25, 1916, 39 Stat. 535 (16 U.S.C. 1-3), and acts supplementary thereto or amendatory thereof, and to all other laws, rules, and regulations applicable to the said park.

Nothing herein contained shall affect any valid existing claim, location, or entry made under the land laws of the United States, whether for homestead, mineral, right-of-way, or any other purpose whatsoever, or shall affect the right of any such claimant, locator, or entryman to the full use and enjoyment of his land, or the rights reserved by treaty to the Indians of any tribe.

Bremerton Chamber Directors Back TBA Recommendation For Vashon Bridge Route

The Bremerton Chamber of Commerce board of directors Tuesday passed a resolution putting that organization behind the Toll Bridge Authority's recommendation for a Vashon Island bridge across Puget Sound.

The board's action thus changed the position of its roads and bridges committee announced three weeks before, which was one of neutrality in the bitter fight over a bridge location.

The Bremerton Sun reported the board's resolution declares bridging of the Sound necessary for development of the Kitsap and Olympic Peninsula areas, but then asks the legislature to make available funds asked by the TBA for the project. The TBA has asked a $770,000 appropriation for preliminary engineering studies of only the Vashon Island route, although engineers reported two other more northerly routes are feasible from an engineering and financial standpoint.

According to the Sun, while the Bremerton chamber's resolution does not mention the Vashon route, it declares the location of bridge and related ferry services "to be a function of the Toll Bridge Authority as the engineering representatives of all the people of the state.

"We are of the opinion that the location of the route selected should be left to the decision of the Washington state Toll Bridge Authority and its engineers," the resolution states.

Similar support of the Vashon route by endorsement of the "engineering determination" method has been promoted by South Kitsap and Vashon interests and by scattered groups in northern Kitsap communities.

The Bremerton chamber also requests "serious consideration" for a Hood Canal bridge "as soon as practicable in order that through traffic be impeded as little as possible by dependence on ferry schedules."

It asks further "that this legislature direct the Toll Bridge Authority to conduct engineering studies of the most suitable crossing of Hood Canal and that the cross-Sound proposition contain provision for an open-end bond issue to permit construction of a Hood Canal bridge as soon as economically feasible."

Such a bond issue provision is a part of the TBA engineer's recommendation.

Bridge Memorial Gets Signatures

A memorial to the state Legislature seeking approval of a Puget Sound bridge from Bainbridge Island to Ft. Lawton instead of via Vashon Island had amassed hundreds of signatures here by today.

Mrs. Peter Larsen, chairman of the community study's bridge committee, said the resolution first approved at the community study has been circulating to other meetings in town since then, continuing to pick up signatures.

Mrs. Larsen held a telephone conversation with Sen. Francis Pearson in Olympia this morning. Sen. Pearson said members of the House and Senate roads and bridges committees have been amazed at the flood of letters rolling in from Port Angeles. Mrs. Larsen said she hopes similar letters will be coming in greater numbers from Forks and Port Townsend.

Meanwhile plans are proceeding for a caravan from here to Olympia next Tuesday when the legislative committees will hold a hearing on the hot bridge dispute. The community study has adjourned its session next Tuesday night, so that "buzz sessions on wheels" may go to Olympia to express this area's views on location of the bridge.

Magnuson Disagrees With McKay's Public Power Policies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Public power policies advocated by new Secretary of the Interior Douglas McKay were scored by Sen. Magnuson (D.-Wash.) Wednesday during Senate debate on President Eisenhower's cabinet selections.

Magnuson asked that he be recorded as voting "No" on the former Oregon governor after predicting a "head-on fight" over development of Pacific Northwest water resources.

McKay and seven other Eisenhower nominations were voted into the cabinet after the debate.

Magnuson attacked McKay's views on both public power and Alaska statehood, describing them as being "opposed to what I believe are the views of the people of the Pacific Northwest."

Republican Sen. Cordon from McKay's home state defended the new interior secretary.

He said McKay is not against public power but feels it should be controlled at local levels.

Cordon said McKay has cited as an example of public and private power existing side by side the present cooperation between public and private utilities in the Northwest power pool.

Sens. Morse (Ind.-Ore.), Chavez (D-N.M.) and Holland (D-Fla.) also joined in the debate.

Morse said he would not oppose McKay's appointment but added he found his views and McKay's "completely at odds on merits of various issues." Morse said he planned further comment on the appointment soon.

HOLLAND'S REPLY

Holland noted that both McKay, while governor of Oregon, and Gov. Arthur B. Langlie of Washington were reelected although they had testified against a Columbia Valley Authority bill sponsored by Magnuson.

The Florida senator said he thought this demonstrated that Magnuson is "definitely, distinctly and finally in the minority" in sponsoring a CVA bill and opposing state ownership of off-shore oil lands, which McKay has advocated.

Magnuson replied his views on public power were well known in his home state and he too had been reelected.

Fight To Curb PUD Condemnation Power Opens in Olympia

OLYMPIA (AP)— The opening shot in a developing fight between private and public power advocates was fired in the Legislature Thursday with a move to drastically curtail Public Utility Districts' right of condemnation.

Republican backed legislation was introduced in both houses and would virtually kill the present law under which PUDs may take over private power properties by condemnation action.

The private power advocates would require a PUD to obtain a certificate of necessity from the State Public Service Commission before it could begin condemnation proceedings.

Sponsors of the bill in the Senate are Lloyd J. Andrews, Spokane, Eugene D. Ivy, Yakima and William D. Shannon, Seattle.

In the House, the measure was submitted by Reps. J. Chester Gordon, La Crosse, Catherine May, Yakima, and Richard Ruoff, Seattle.

All the sponsors are Republicans.

Before the Public Service Commission could issue a certificate of necessity, it would have to call a public hearing at which the PUD would be required to prove that:

1. The PUDs existing sources of power were inadequate for its needs.

2. The loss of facilities by the private power company would not impair its ability to adequately supply its customers and,

3. The acquisition of the properties by the PUD was in the public interest.

PRESENT LAW

Present law allows PUDs to condemn the properties of a private company without approval of the Public Service Commission or a majority vote of the electors of the district.

Testimony Ends In Remington Trial

NEW YORK (AP) — Testimony in the second perjury trial of William W. Remington, accused of lying about Communism, was concluded in federal court Thursday.

After both sides rested, Judge Vincent L. Leibell denied a series of defense motions for dismissal of the indictment and directed verdict of acquittal. The trial was adjourned until Monday, when the case is expected to go to the jury following summations by defense and prosecution and the judge's charge.

Remington, 35-year-old former government economist, is accused of committing perjury on the witness stand at his first trial in 1951. At that trial he was convicted of perjury before a federal grand jury in denying that he ever had been a member of the Communist Party. An appeals court set aside the conviction and sentence of five years and $2,000 fine on the ground the judge's charge to the jury was vague on the issue of what constituted Communist Party membership.

The current five-count indictment against Remington includes an accusation that he lied in his first trial when he denied passing over government secrets to Russia.

Legislators Show Little Interest In Bridge Route

OLYMPIA (AP) — Legislators expressed interest, but little opposition Tuesday as details of one of three Cross-Sound bridge sites were outlined before House and Senate Roads and Bridges Committee members.

The joint committee heard testimony from Charles A. Andrew, chief consulting engineer of the Washington Toll Bridge Authority, and other members of his staff.

Andrew told the legislators that of the three suggested routes, his department was continuing to favor spanning the Sound by constructing a floating bridge from West Seattle to Vashon Island.

He reaffirmed previous statements that the toll bridge, together with a suspension bridge from Vashon Island to the Kitsap Peninsula, offered the best route both from an engineering and an economic standpoint.

PEARSON OBJECTS

Main objection voiced at the meeting came from Francis Pearson, (D-Port Angeles) who told Andrew that his district was "99 per cent opposed to the route."

Under questioning by Pearson, Andrew conceded that a Hood Canal bridge, not included in the program, could be constructed for as little as 17 million dollars and would be self supporting through tolls.

Much of the Olympic Peninsula opposition to the Vashon route stems from the fact that it would require using a circuitous route between upper peninsula areas and the bridge network. These groups have supported a route farther north, using Bainbridge Island.

Rep. Julia Butler Hansen, an influential member of the House Roads and Bridges Committee, said she felt opposition to the Vashon route could be dissipated by including provisions for a Hood Canal bridge in the program.

Approval of the Vashon route came from Rep. Patrick M. Steele of Tacoma where some opposition had developed previously. Steele said his district was concerned only with designing the bridges so that adequate passage for ships was insured.

Howard Hilbun, field examiner for the National Labor Relations Board, said the Congress of Industrial Organization won a majority at the Lucky Friday and Morning mines in Thursday's bargaining election, but workers at Bunker Hill and Sunshine mines and 16 smaller operations voted to retain the IUMMBW.

Morse Loses Steer Because Of Bad Bet

WASHINGTON (AP) — All 96 senators will dine on some succulent beef in a few days because one of their number was a bit high in his estimate of the Democrats' election chances.

Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon, who switched from Republican to independent during the campaign, told a reporter he was the loser in a series of bets with two Republican colleagues, Margaret Chase Smith of Maine and Robert Hendrickson of New Jersey.

Morse said he gave "good odds" that the Democrats would win the presidency and control of Congress.

All three were a little hazy as to how many bets were involved, perhaps because, as Mrs. Smith said, "Sen. Morse came around and taunted us about our bad bets and offered to double them. As loyal Republicans we had to accept."

At any rate, the principals agreed Morse owed $150 and the winners decided to accept instead a butchered and dressed beef steer from Morse' purebred herd of Devon cattle.

It will be delivered to the Senate freezers this week, Morse said.

Mrs. Smith added the winners had decided "we would give all the senators a feed."

COURT DIVIDES ON QUESTION

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U. S. Court of Appeals, dividing 5 to 4, ruled Thursday that eating places in the capital may refuse service to Negroes.

The majority held that laws passed by the legislative assembly in 1872 and 1873 against racial discrimination cannot be enforced for these major reasons:

1. The anti-discrimination laws weren't valid in the first place.

2. Since they were not enforced for 73 years, they can only be put into execution now by legislative action.

The case grew out of the refusal of a John R. Thompson restaurant to serve Negroes.

The case is expected to reach the Supreme Court ultimately.

Mrs. Evert Worlund gave the history of the Childrens' Orthopedic Hospital, from its founding to the opening of the new hospital in Laurelhurst in April.

A film entitled, "A Day in the Life of the Orthopedic Hospital" was shown.

Newly elected officers are Mrs. Franklin, president; Mrs. John DeMille, vice president; Mrs. Victor Brown Jr. secretary; and Mrs. Richard K. Ely, treasurer.

The next meeting will be Feb. 17, in the Crown Zellerbach gym recreation room.

Young Lady Wants Movie Producer Job

WASHINGTON (AP)—Unlike many pretty young ladies nipped by the movie bug, Valerie Moolman, who came to this country from South Africa, doesn't want to become a star. She wants to be a producer.

The daughter of Henry Moolman of Capetown, director of information at the South African Embassy here, Valerie has been working toward this goal since she got out of Barnard College, where she majored in English composition.

She has been free-lancing at script writing, cutting and other movie jobs on a number of documentaries for Films of the Nations, which produces and distributes films for the national information offices of South Africa, Holland, Belgium, Denmark, Sweden and Switzerland and any other country that wishes to pay for them.

Recently she produced her first picture, "These Are South Africans." The film was made in her native country and sent to the New York agency, where Valerie directed the printing, cutting, editing, splicing and narrating. "Then I gave myself the production title," she said, "'Produced by Valerie Moolman,' and I'm very pleased with myself."

Miss Moolman, who came to the United States 10 years ago, when she was 15, with her parents and sister Sheila, talked a producer she met at a cocktail party into letting her do the commentary for a 10-minute short on South Africa's modern cities, Capetown, Johannesburg and Durban. "He was mildly pleased, but I delayed my pursuit to make a long visit home," she said. "I toured the country, wrote stuff for the papers, took still pictures, peddled some to the information office, came back in 1950 and got to work again in earnest."

In most cases Films of the Nations uses stock footage provided by member nations. Valerie has written the commentary and cut the pictures for four major films. She did a great deal of work on "Animals Unlimited," a documentary on Africa's Kruger National Park, which covers 8,000 square miles and is the world's largest game reserve. The film won international awards at the Venice and Edinburgh film festivals in 1951.

"I'm now working on a nature film by a New York cameraman, just for the heck of it," she said, "and I'm doing something for the Seventh Day Adventists about missionaries in Africa."

When Valerie goes to New York she lives "very well on an expense account" at a hotel. But she wants her own apartment, where she can keep all the things she is eternally collecting.

Want to give fish fillets the glamor treatment? Serve them with cream sauce into which you've stirred diced cooked shrimp. You'll need about a half cup of the diced shrimp for a cup of medium sauce, and this amount of the shrimp sauce will be enough for four portions of the fillets. Sprinkle with minced parsley before serving!

Games Tonight

Port Angeles vs. Bainbridge at Port Angeles.

Port Townsend vs. Central Kitsap at Port Townsend.

Sequim vs. South Kitsap at Sequim.

(All games scheduled for 8 p.m. with preliminaries at 6:30).

The Bainbridge Spartans, with a 4-1, circuit record, are a threat to the unbeaten Roosevelt high Roughriders in Olympic League action scheduled for the Roosevelt high gym tonight.

Tipoff time is scheduled for 8 o'clock and will be preceded by a 6:30 preliminary between the reserve teams of the two schools.

Coached by veteran mentor Tom Paski, who guided the Spartans to the state B championship in 1948, the Bainbridge quintet has lost but one league game, a weird 48-42 decision to Port Townsend.

Called the longest game in state prep history, Bainbridge was leading 16-10 in the second period when a power failure darkened the Port Townsend gym. When it appeared there was no chance of repairing the trouble after an hour and 15 minutes of waiting, coaches and principals of the two schools huddled with the referees in the darkened gym and agreed to continue the game the following night.

So Bainbridge went home, promising to return the next night to complete the game.

The teams started play—after the 23 hour and 15 minute layoff—exactly where they had left off. But by the time the second half was much under way, Port Townsend took the lead and kept it for the balance of the game.

However, the Spartans rebounded with a bang Tuesday night by handing Central Kitsap a 50-27 lacing.

The Spartans are expected to concentrate their defenses against Dick Brown, the Roughriders one-man heavy artillery. Brown has scored 198 points in 11 games for an average of 18 a game.

NEW HEAVYWEIGHT BOXER WINS BOUT

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP) —Seattle heavyweight Leo Lokovsek stopped Joe Singleton of Spokane in the second round Thursday night for his second knockout in as many professional boxing appearances.

Lokovsek, former University of Washington grid star now fighting for Jack Hurley, Harry Mathews' manager, had the worst of it in the first round but came back strong in the second.

He dropped Singleton for a nine-count early in the round, then followed with a hard right that put out the lights for the Spokane boxer.

Jackie Blair of Hollywood took a split 10-round decision over Bobby Woods of Eureka, Calif., in the main event.

Junior Y Loses Game To Seniors

The YMCA Jr. lead by Ralph Hilt and George Johnson made their big brothers put forth their best efforts before bowing to them 56-47. Former Roughrider ace Bob Partridge lead the YMCA Sr. with 17 followed closely by Chas. Dryke with 15 points. Both teams used the fast break effectively. It was the Y Seniors control of the backboards and the tip in by Dryke that proved the winning margin for them. Saturday the Y Seniors journey to Clallam Bay to play the Loggers and the Y Jr. go to Moclips to play the high school.

In the game between the Y Reserves and the Sequim FFA the Y jumped into an early first quarter lead and were never behind throughout the game. Every player on the Y team saw at least one-half a quarter of action.

Making the trip to Moclips to meet the Hvaks will be: Schlemmer, Halberg, Byers, Hilt, Johnson, Belford, Lockhart, Jacobs, Ranta, Linton, Uvila. Standard and one additional player still to be named by Coach John Tracy.

Little Nazarene College Has Perfect Record

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Schools don't need athletic scholarships to produce winning teams. And little Pasadena Nazarene College offers the unblemished record of its basketball squad to prove it.

The coeducational liberal arts college, with an enrollment of 730, produces teachers and preachers mostly, and winning teams incidentally and strictly without financial inducements to talented athletes, assures Coach Kenneth Keoppel.

The school has only one scholarship for sports, he added. It is offered by a source outside the college and to an outstanding athlete who has been in the school at least one year.

So far, the Nazarene College Crusaders have done mighty well in basketball—twenty wins with nary a setback.

They have defeated virtually all the small colleges in Southern California and have won the Redlands University tournament championship for the second straight year. Last year the Crusaders won 24 and dropped 10.

League Chooses Western Players

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The National Football League picked 14 players from the Pacific Northwest in its annual college "draft" Thursday.

Six were from Washington State, including the Cougars' prize ends, Ed Barker and Harland Svare, grabbed by Los Angeles, and Don Steinbrunner, picked by Cleveland.

The Universities of Washington and Oregon contributed three players each and Idaho and Oregon State one apiece.

The "draft":

Baltimore — Monte Brethauer, end, Oregon.

Chicago — Hal Lokovsek, tackle, WSC Don Ringe, tackle, Idaho; Dick Sprague, Washington, back.

San Francisco — Doug Hoglund, tackle, OSC; Al Charlton, back, WSC; Bill Earley, back, Washington; Tom Novikoff, back, Oregon.

Cleveland — Steinbrunner.

Los Angeles — Barker, Svare; Louis Yourkowski, tackle, Washington.

Detroit — Elmer Messenger, guard, WSC.

New York — Roosevelt Brown Jr., tackle Oregon State.

U. Must Pay Odell's Salary

SEATTLE (AP) — If the University of Washington regents decide Saturday to fire Howie Odell they can peel 15 one-thousand dollar bills off the athletic department's bankroll to pay him up for 1953 —and hardly make a dent.

A report submitted by Arthur Cannon, chairman of the finance and budget committee of the Associated Students estimated net profit for the 1952-53 season at $125,000 from athletics.

Most of it came from football, which produced a gross income of $420,000 last fall.

Much of the $125,000 is, of course, already spoken for. It will be used to pay a wide range of expenses and one $6,000 chunk will pay a non-athletic deficit in the student program.

At the regular meeting Saturday the regents will act upon Athletic Director Harvey Cassill's recommendation that Odell "be not retained." Many observers expect them to dismiss Odell and immediately approve Cassill's choice of a new head football coach. Most believe this will be John Cherberg, the freshman mentor in Odell's regime.

When and if they fire him, they will have to consider the $15,000 salary called for in Odell's contract for 1953.

Little School's Team Unbeaten

HAW RIVER, N. C. (AP)— When W. Kerr Scott completed his term as governor of North Carolina a couple of weeks ago and returned to his Haw River farm folks around the Tar Heel state figured they'd heard the last of this Alamance County community.

But they reckoned without the town's unbeaten high school basketball team. Coach Bud Phillips' cagers have been kicking up quite a storm this season.

To give it to you quickly—they whipped Mebane High, 91-49, here night before last and despite the 91-point spree their average for the season dropped—that's right, dropped—to 95.8 for nine games.

And this despite the fact prep teams play only eight-minute quarters.

The team has rolled over the century mark three times, hitting a high last week in a 142-40 rout of Elon High. Earlier, the boys had clicked for 119 and 113 points.

Their "poorest" night saw them score only 67 points.

Many Entries In Indoor Meet

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — More than 400 athletes including five Olympic titlists and a score of national intercollegiate and foreign champions vie for top honors on the banked boards and cross bars Friday night at the ninth annual Philadelphia Inquirer indoor track meet at Convention Hall.

The vaulting parson, Rev. Robert E. Richards, will be taking on all comers in the pole vaulting contest.

Four other victors of the contests at Helsinki last July will also be on hand. They are:

Mal Whitfield, two time winner of the 800 meter run; Harrison (Bones) Dillard; 100 meter champion of 1946 who captured the 110 meter high hurdles; Horace Ashenfelter, former Penn State star and now an FBI agent, who startled the world by defeating the Russian favorites in the 3,000 meter steeplechase, and Andy Stamfield, the 200 meter victor, who is regarded by many experts as the fastest human in the world.

DEFENDING GOLF CHAMP PLAYING

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Defending champion Mary Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Ga., met Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore, Md., Friday in the feature second round match of the Helen Lee Doherty Golf tournament.

Miss Faulk defeated Marjorie McMillen of Milwaukee in Thursday's first round. Miss Downey eliminated Evelyn Odom of Miami, 1-up.

Medalist Polly Riley of Fort Worth, Tex., faced Claire Doran of Cleveland in another top match.

Miss Riley took a 3 and 2 decision Thursday over Peg Cirino of Orangeburg, S. C., and Miss Doran defeated Mrs. E. H. Foulk of Oshkosh, Wis., 5 and 4.

BRINKOPF SIGNS HIS 1953 CONTRACT

CHICAGO (AP) — Leon Brinkopf, rated the Pacific Coast League's outstanding third baseman in 1952, turned in his 1953 signed contract to the Chicago Cubs Friday.

After playing in nine games for the Cubs at the start of the 1952 campaign, Brinkopf was shipped to the Los Angeles Angels. He got off to a slow start and eventually finished with a .238 bat mark in 135 games. In the last six weeks he batted .300. He hit 27 homres and drove in 67 runs.

Spivey Trial Nearing Close

NEW YORK (AP) — The defense called on more character witnesses Friday to help back up Bill Spivey's denial that he played crooked basketball as an All America center.

Counsel for the former University of Kentucky player said six character witnesses would be put on the stand and then the defense would rest.

Spivey himself took the stand Thursday and denied that he ever agreed to rig scores or that he ever took bribes from gamblers.

He is being tried in General Sessions Court on a perjury charge that he lied under oath when he made similar denials before a basketball-probing grand jury here last February.

After Spivey testified at length, the defense called two character witnesses for him.

One of them was former baseball commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler, one-time U. S. Senator, Kentucky governor and basketball coach.

SAVAGES DEFEAT PACIFIC COLLEGE

SEATTLE (AP) — The Eastern Washington Savages had to come from behind in the second half Thursday night to dump the Seattle Pacific College Falcons, 81-62, in a non-league basketball game here.

The Falcons gave the invaders a scare in the first half, leading the Savages 36-34 at intermission Elmer Bradley of Seattle Pacific topped scoring efforts with 18 counters. Bill Grahlman paced the losers with 17.

Bay Meadows' Assets Frozen

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP) — A court order has tied up all assets of the Bay Meadows race track at San Mateo and its operator, the California Jockey Club, in connection with an investigation of the track's charity funds.

But the action Thursday probabbly will not cancel fall racing at the track, said Dwight Murphy, chairman of the State Racing Board.

The order was made by Superior Judge Murray Draper in connection with a suit brought by Attorney Gen. Edmund G. Brown.

Brown indicated William P. Kyne, track manager, mishandled charity funds raised at the track. One of the funds at issue is $350,000 loaned by Kyne to Portland (Ore.) Meadows race track.

Kyne denies Brown's charges.

Judge Draper authorized Jesse Steinhart, San Francisco attorney, to seize all records of the jockey club and the charity funds, but did not authorize taking possession of the track's physical properties.

The order is effective until March 2, when Judge Draper will review the case.

LANDY DRAWS GOOD POSITION

PERTH, Australia (AP) — Johnny Landy, whose attempt Saturday to set a new world record for the mile has created world wide interest, got a break Friday. He drew lane number one against eight other contestants for the Australian mile championship.

Thus the 22-year-old Melbourne University student should avoid any early jostling for a clear run in his attempt to lower Gunder Haegg's world mark of 4:01.4.

Four official stopwatches will clock Landy and there will be hundreds of unofficial stopwatches among the spectators.

Even if he is unable to crack Haegg's time, Landy will be out to better the Australian record of 4:09 and his own as yet unrecognized time of 4:02.3 on Dec. 2.

The latest entries are all four cylinder, non-supercharged rear drive cars.

Husky-Cougar Hoop Series Being Played at Pullman This Weekend

By The Associated Press

Northern Division basketball action centers in the Palouse country Friday and Saturday nights, with the Washington-Washington State series getting top billing.

The Washington-WSC scrap at Pullman appears, at first glance, to be merely another warm-up game for the Huskies, who lead the pack with an unblemished record in six conference starts.

But WSC, always a tough customer on its own maple, could throw a wrench into Washington hopes for an undefeated conference season, although the Huskies could take a double loss and still coast along in front.

The Cougars, hard-pressed to taste victory even at the expense of small schools this season, would have to stop Bob Houbregs, Slippery Joe Cipriano and towering Doug McClary to take even one game, and the Fearful Three haven't been stopped yet.

On the same nights, the University of Idaho Vandals entertain Oregon State in a series between also-rans at Moscow.

The Vandals, rated the team Washington must beat before conference play started, could bypass Oregon with a clean sweep of the two-game series with OSC.

Idaho now has a 2-3 record for the third place spot, while Oregon, idle conference-wise this weekend, holds down the number two spot with a 3-3 record, OSC fills out the standings in fourth with a 1-3 record.

Oregon, although drawing a conference bye, has game on tap both Friday and Saturday nights. The Ducks host the University of San Francisco Dons at Salem Friday night and move to Portland Saturday night for an engagement with the Portland University Pilots.

Dukes May Play Pro Basketball

By The Associated Press

This may come as something of a shock to supporters of the New York Knickerbockers, but Walter Dukes, talented Seton Hall basketball star, says he would prefer law school to pro basketball if he has to make a choice.

"I'd like very much to take a shot at the pro game," Dukes said after leading his team to a 103-85 victory over Memphis State Thursday night for the Hall's 19th straight victory without a loss.

"But I'm more anxious to go to law school than play basketball for only a few years. "If I can work out both school and basketball, that'll be fine. But if I can't, it'll be school for me."

Dukes, 6-11 stringbean who is pacing the country's major college scorers with an average of 27.7 points per game, reportedly has been the subject of covetous glances from Ned Irish, boss of the Knickerbockers.

The big boy was the star again Thursday night as Seton Hall protected its ranking as the country's No. 1 team. He only made 25 points in the confusion of both sides tearing up and down the court, but he grabbed off 30 rebounds. The entire Memphis State team had only 23 while Dukes' teammates had 27.

In other games Western Kentucky, with Coach Edi Diddle back in harness recovered from his sick spell, drubbed Miami (Fla.) 98-56; Niagara nipped Canisius, 66-63, and Rio Grande downed Cincinnati Bible, 79-54. Big Clarence (Bevo) Francis, the nation's high scorer, boosted his year's total to 1,188 points with 42 points.

Mervyn Rose reached the final in the men's singles beating his 18-year-old countryman, Lewis Hoad, 6-3, 7-5, 6-0, in their semi-final match.

New Jail Ready For City About Feb. 10

The city's new $135,000 police station and jail at Front and Oak Streets will be ready for occupancy Feb. 10, City Manager G. S. Vergeer announced this morning. The building houses space for police courtroom, Council room, police offices, jails, and a rifle range.

Construction started on the building with driving of test piling on April 14, 1952, after City Commissioners Frank A. Feeley and Vernon Robinson awarded the contract to Del Guzzi Brothers at their regular March 31, 1952 meeting.

Del Guzzi's low bid was $133,900, less alternates bringing the bid to $127,455. Commissioners accepted the $127,455 bid, but present City Councilmen have reinstated several of the alternates such as acoustical tile. With approximately $4,500 for the steel from cells of the old Seattle Public Safety Building, and the $3,000 architect fee, the cost of the new city jail is well above $135,000.

Next City Council meeting will be Feb. 5, when the final cost estimate on the building will be submitted for approval. The building is subject to the Council's formal acceptance, contingent upon any structural defects developing within a certain time.

At present, workmen are completing woodwork and decorating in the building.

Vergeer said he expected the police department to move into the building at the time the radio equipment is installed, approximately Feb. 10.

Forty inches of wet snow is on the ground. The snow has no crust and none of it is new.

Temperature this morning was 34 degrees.

Listing Freighter Leaves For Seattle

The freighter Blue Grass State left the port dock for Seattle at 9:10 p.m. Thursday under her own power, escorted by the big tug Henry Foss.

The lumber-laden freighter came into port early Wednesday morning with a 20 degree list, and was taking water in the No. 3 and No. 4 holds. The ship berthed at the port dock Wednesday noon, and longshoremen starting unloading the deckload of lumber. Thursday morning a deep sea diver searched for punctured plates but after being under-water all day failed to find any. The vessel is still taking water.

With the removal of 500 tons of lumber from the deckload the vessel's list was reduced from 20 to 13 degrees.

Underwriters decided that more of the deckload should be removed and lumber from No. 3 and No. 4 holds. At Seattle longshoremen will remove the lumber and store it on a pier and scows in an attempt to find the source of the leak.

The Blue Grass State was enroute from Puget Sound to the east coast. She developed the leak and list Tuesday. Coast Guard vessels escorted the freighter to this port from the vicinity of Slip Point in the Strait of Juan de Fuca.

Capt. Loring F. Hyde, representing Lloyds of London, which has insurance on the hull, went to Seattle this morning to be there when the ship arrives.

He said that much of the lumber between decks will have to be unloaded to find the leak.

Winston Churchill Heads For England

NEW YORK (AP)—Winston Churchill bundled together his papers, his paints and his family Friday and boarded the liner Queen Mary for England after a West Indies vacation.

The British Prime Minister, looking fit and rested, told newsmen on the gangway of the big Cunard liner:

"We had a very good journey and passed a pleasant fortnight in the sunshine--a little rest, a little change."

Then, smiling impishly, Churchill added:

"Thank you very much for allowing me to inform you of these important facts."

Accompanied by Mrs. Churchill, their daughter, Mrs. Christopher Soames, and son-in-law, Capt. Soames, the Prime Minister landed at Idewild airport about an hour earlier.

On his way to the British West Indies he conferred here with President Eisenhower before the inauguration and also visited President Truman in Washington.

TO OPEN AIR BASE BIDS

SPOKANE (AP) — The Army Engineers reported Friday bids will be opened in the next two months for almost 28 million dollars worth of new construction at air bases here and at Moses Lake.

But the Army said some of the work may be shelved for economy reasons and Col. N. A. Matthias, the district engineer, advised "all scheduling is subject to change without notice."

Present plans call for spending 17 million dollars at Spokane's Fairchild Air Force Base and more than 10 million at Larson Air Force Base, Moses Lake.

MOSES LAKE, Wash. (AP) — Roy F. Hoover of Marlin, injured last week in an automobile accident near here, died in the Moses Lake hospital Thursday.

Fisheries Group Asks Continued Federal Aid For Salmon Hatcheries

OLYMPIA (AP) — Members of the Legislative Fisheries Interim Committee voted Thursday to request continued federal support for the state's salmon hatchery operations.

The group, headed by Sen. Francis Pearson, Port Angeles Democrat, voiced a fear that the state might have to take over a "crippling financial burden" if federal support were withdrawn.

Federal money is paying for construction of several salmon hatcheries on the Lower Columbia River as partial compensation for loss of upriver salmon spawning areas due to construction of power dams, Pearson said.

Other recommendations of the committee were:

New laws taxing and licensing offshore fishing to bring it under state control.

Delay of the proposed Ice Harbor Dam on the Snake River until The Dalles, McNary and Chief Joseph Dams are constructed.

Maintaining the Cowlitz River as a fish sanctuary instead of using it for power development.

An overall statewide policy governing the use of available water for fisheries, power, irrigation and other projects.

4 Committees Map Plans For Search Of Red Influence

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Un-American Activities Committee is planning to focus its spotlight on four stages: Higher education, organized labor, entertainment and government service.

The group, headed by Rep. Velde (R-Ill), mapped that course at an organization meeting Thursday.

Velde, a former FBI agent, told reporters committee investigators are virtually ready for hearings on two fronts:

1. A number of former educators who once belonged to Communist groups will be called for questioning before mid-February, and

2. The committee will open shop in Los Angeles, at a time yet to be set, to wind up last year's probe for subversion among movie and labor union groups on the West Coast.

The Senate Investigations Subcommittee, meanwhile, may get a flying start among the Communist-hunting congressional groups.

The Senate Rules Committee Thursday approved the subcommittee's request for $200,000—double its last year's budget—for big scale inquiries into graft and corruption in government. The request might come to a Senate vote late Friday.

Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) is investigations subcommittee chairman.

Sen. Jenner (R-Ind), who heads the rules committee, seeks to lead a Red hunt of his own. Still another group, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee headed by Sen. Wiley (R-Wis), has announced plans to investigate alleged Communist infiltration of the State Department and the U. S. staff at the United Nations.

Pennsylvania Rebel Convicts Surrender

BELLEFONTE, Pa. (AP)—A band of 325 rebel convicts, mindful of a tightening ring of heavily armed state police and unnerved by the roar of National Guard fighter planes overhead, surrendered unconditionaly last night to the "get tough" orders of Gov. John S. Fine.

The rebels released six guard hostages shortly before 7 o'clock, EST, and then filed meekly back into their cells from the barricaded building they had turned into a fortress.

None of the hostages had been harmed, although one was near the point of exhaustion from his 72-hour ordeal.

The convicts—a holdout segment of a riot that started last Monday—tossed out through the shattered windows of the cellblock the eight revolvers, five hundred rounds of ammunition and tear gas equipment that had been one of the main concerns of the prison officials during the insurrection.

Their surrender made unnecessary a planned attack on the cellblock strong point by state policemen and alerted National Guard units.

Deadly Virus Kills 6th Tacoma Tot

TACOMA (AP) — A 3-month-old boy, David LeFever, Thursday became the sixth Tacoma tot to die in the past month of a deadly virus which claims its victims within 48 hours after they become ill.

Pierce County Coroner Dr. Frank James said he "was almost positive" the boy was the victim of a combination of virus pneumonia with a superimposed pneumococcic (lobar) pneumonia.

Dr. James said children under one year were particularly susceptible to the disease which he described as being similar in nature to the influenza epidemics of World War I. All of the six victims thus far have been under six months of age.

Dr. James said that in none of the six cases had the child been sick longer than two days before death, which, he said, looked like accidental death at first appearance.

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP) — Five men were drowned and one was rescued when a car skidded from an icy highway and plunged into the Lake of the Woods, near Hope, B. C., Friday.

The lake is two miles northeast of Hope on the Trans-Canada Highway, 102 miles east of Vancouver.

Police identified the driver of the car as Mass Mukaida, a Japanese carpenter whose home is in Hope. Names of the others were withheld.

The car plunged into 50 feet of water.
