American Company Preferred By City On Transformer Bids

City Council last night awarded contracts for more than $84,000 worth of electrical equipment to go into the new substation planned at 2nd and Valley Streets.

On the recommendation of City Manager G. S. Vergeer and T. E. Sparling, consulting engineer from Seattle, the council accepted the bid of Allis Chalmers Company for the 7500 KVA transformer with switch gear, at $66,547. Although the bid of American Elin Corporation, Vienna, Austria, was about $4,500 lower on the transformer, Vergeer said he based his recommendation on a policy decision of the council formulated at an executive session prior to the regular meeting.

"At that time the council indicated they didn't think it wise to buy a foreign product, particularly when the foreign manufacturer is located only a short distance from the Iron Curtain. Although the company is in the English zone of Austria, it is very close to the border," Vergeer said.

Pacific Electric Structure Company received the $17,930 contract for sub station structure. The city does not expect delivery on the 72,000 pound transformer before late 1954.

OTHER BIDS

The council last night also opened bids on gasoline, diesel oil, lubricating oil and fuel oil for use by the city during 1954. Accepted were the low bids of Tidewater Associated Oil Company on ethyl gasoline, $ .2469; The Texas Company on diesel oil at 13 cents; Union Oil Company of California on lubricating oils, $ .728 and $ .594 and Peninsula Fuel Company on fuel oil at 8 cents per gallon.

In other business last night the Council passed the 1954 salary ordinance fixing maximum salaries of city employes in compliance with the 1954 budget.

Local Woman Invited For National Panel

Mrs. Fred A. Radke has received an invitation to head a discussion group at the National School Boards Association Conference in Atlantic City, N. J., Feb. 11-13.

Mrs. Radke, member of the local School Board and newly-elected president of the Washington State School Directors Association, received the invitation in a letter from Edward Tuttle, executive secretary of the national group. Theme of the discussion group will be "School Board Functions and Relationships."

Samuel Brownell, U. S. commissioner of education, will be chief speaker on the opening day of the conference, theme of which will be "Our Schools — America's Biggest Business." Speaker at the second day will be Secretary Oveta Culp Hobby of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Mrs. Radke has been invited to participate in a panel discussion at the national convention of the American Association of School Administrators, which will follow the school boards' convention in Atlantic City.

Yesterday Elmer Stanley, executive director of the state School Directors Association, spent the day here conferring with Mrs. Radke on association matters.

Thief Steals 656 Mink Pelts

PORTLAND (AP) — The theft of 656 mink pelts from a parked automobile was reported to police here Thursday night.

Joseph H. Wagstaff, Salt Lake City mink grower, said he valued the pelts at $21,000. He told police a window of his car was smashed and the pelts taken while he was eating dinner here.

He said the furs, representing the entire year's output of his ranch, were packaged in cardboard. Wagstaff said he had stopped to eat here while driving to Seattle, where the furs were to go to the Seattle Fur Exchange. The car was parked on a downtown street.

Watstaff said the furs were insured.

Road Gets Mixture Of Oil, Peas, Ice

SUNNYSIDE (AP) — A combination of truck wreckage, ice and diesel oil mixed with dry peas closed the main Yakima Valley Highway here early Friday for more than two hours.

A Valley Transport, Inc., tanker and trailer ruptured both oil-filled tanks in skidding into a Herrett Truck Lines vehicle that had just entered the highway with a big load of dry peas.

The peas were well mixed with thousands of gallons of oil.

Driving conditions were treacherous in the area as heavy fog combined with ice. The temperature was about 25 degrees.

GETS LONG DUE $5

FREMONT, Ohio (AP)—Clair Zimmerman, a hardware store operator, has finally received payment on a $5 store bill he sent out in 1917—and with $5 interest.

A woman who now lives in Burbank, Ohio, sent the $10 in a letter yesterday. She said the bill had been mislaid while the family moved from Fremont to Oklahoma and then back to Ohio.

Zimmerman did not identify her.

SHAH SEEKS PARLIAMENT

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) —Iran's government and Shah were Friday reported preparing to assemble a new parliament in February to deal with "urgent matters" —presumably the long dispute with Britain over nationalized Iranian oil.

"I WAS A GOOD GIRL, SANTA," says little Connie Young, four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Young of Port Angeles. Over 1,000 youngsters, many accompanied by their parents, were present for Santa's first appearance last Saturday afternoon. Other children on the right anxiously await their turn Peering through the fireplace at the right is Jaycee Clare Hollingsworth, who helped distribute candy to the kiddies. Sponsored by the Retail Trade Bureau and the Junior Chamber of Commerce, Santa will visit the big fireplace at 2nd and Lincoln again tomorrow afternoon at 1:30.

Last Week's Storm Caused $1,683 Damage To City Light Lines, Vergeer Tells Council

City Manager G. C. Vergeer told City Conucil last night that damage from last Friday's wind storm cost the city approximately $1,683, mainly to the electrical utility.

"Half the direct damage was to our street lighting system as a result of 69,000 volts going through it," Vergeer said, when the 69,000 volt line from Bonneville Power Administration feeding Crown Zellerbach was burned out by a tree top. When the Bonneville line fell on the city circuit, it burned out a street light transformer and 150 lights on one circuit, Vergeer said.

"This shows the need of splitting the west end circuit, which will be done. It will be cut in half and placed on two switches in the near future," the city manager said.

NEW SIDEWALK

Vergeer also announced the city is replacing the wooden sidewalk near Civic Field with a concrete walk, from funds in this year's budget.

The council requested Vergeer to try to secure deeds to property between B and C Streets on 16th. "This area was apparently vacated at one time and now people want the street improved," Vergeer said. "In order to do this, the city must obtain the property and reestablish the street."

At the same time, the council asked Vergeer to see what can be done about straightening C street, which makes a 15-foot jog at approximately 10th street, and places water mains and curbs on private property. Councilman Paul Neer cited a story that at one time the street jogged to avoid a shed, rather than having the shed moved for the street.

Council also approved a petition from 70 per cent of the affected property owners for a local improvement district for curbs and gutters between C and E on 8th and between 8th and 9th on C. This, in conjunction with a previous LID, will place curbs and gutters from E to Tumwater on 8th and on the intersection at 8th and C.

In reporting on last meeting's request from J. R. McDonald for a larger water main on West 18th Street, Vergeer told the Council it would cost approximately $10,969. This would include a four-inch main on 18th and a 2-inch main from 18th to McDonald's, near the railroad, Vergeer said. Revenue from this line totals only $216 per year, he continued and it serves eight houses. A two-inch line from 18th would cost $3,500 plus excavation cost. The matter was deferred to enable councilmen to inspect the area themselves.

ASSESSMENT HEARING

Council last night passed a resolution setting Jan. 21 as the date of public hearing on the assessment roll of LID 163, the arterial street paving program just completed.

They set a minimum price of $175 on lots 17 to 20 inclusive, block 356, northwest corner 12th and F, and approved a beverage license transfer for Rose's Place, 135 E. Front, from David Anderson to Charles Binkley.

BUST FAILS TO ARRIVE

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Brig. Gen. Enrico Cigerza, air attache for the Italian Embassy in Washington, was here yesterday to present a bust from his government to the Dayton Art Institute in honor of the 50th anniversary of powered flight.

But the bust didn't arrive.

"I am a poor man, alone in a lot of trouble," said Cigerza. "This upsets me very, very much. I apologize in the name of the ambassador I represent."

The bust, somewhere between here and Rome, is either a likeness of the late Mario Calderara, Wilbur Wright's first Italian pupil, or of Wilbur himself.

Searchers Find Plane On Glacier; Report Some Crewmen Alive

LONDON (AP) — The broken wreckage of a missing American Navy patrol bomber was sighted Friday on a bleak Iceland glacier. First reports said there are survivors among the nine-man crew.

U.S. Air Force headquarters in London said an Icelandic ground rescue party will be rushed by plane to a small airfield at the foot of the glacier.

An American air rescue plane from Iceland reported sighting the "badly broken up" wreckage Friday afternoon after a 24-hour search by 10 planes and at least two Danish ships. The spotter plane said the wreckage was sighted on Myrdalsjokull glacier on the south coast about 110 miles southeast of Reyjkavik. It reported "presumed" survivors.

The P2V bomber was on a round-robin training mission from Keflavik airfield, near Reykjavik, when it disappeared.

It last contacted its home base by radio Thursday afternoon. It was then some 100 miles south of Iceland. All aboard were Navy fliers.

The weather was vicious, with heavy rain and snow cutting visibility to near zero during the early part of the day, but was improving later.

IKE OK'S SEAL

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today approved a design for the first official seal of the new Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The symbols depicted on the shield are a "staff of Aesculapius" the symbol for medicine or health; an open book signifying education; and a chain representing strength.

Chiropractors' Assn. Head Raps State's Medical Welfare Plan

SPOKANE (AP) — The president of the Washington Chiropractors Assn. charged Friday administration of the state welfare medical program is "extravagant, wasteful, discriminatory and monopolistic."

Dr. A. A. Adams strongly objected to exclusion of chiropractors from the program administered by the State Health Dept. He testified at a meeting of the state welfare medical care committee.

"Senior citizens should not be set aside as a separate class, denied the same freedom of choice as is the privilege and right of all other citizens," he said.

"They should enjoy the privilege of service by their family doctor, be he medical doctor, chiropractor, osteopath or other practioner."

He said "many hundreds" of old age pensioners rely on chiropractors when other methods failed.

He said there was no justification for banning chiropractors on the basis of economy.

Adams challenged use of local medical service bureaus in the administration of the program and said this was "monopolistic." He said the program was being operated for "the benefit of a privileged group of medical doctors instead of for the benefit of our senior citizens."

Adams was asked by Dr. Quentin Kinter of Port Angeles, a committee member, if he "honestly believes" the statements he made. Adams said he does.

Horace Turner, administrator of Deaconess Hospital here and also a committee member, said the department is acting under the law passed by the Legislature.

Dr. J. A. Kahl, acting director of the department, said number of recipients is decreasing because "well and near well" people are being taken off.

"We are receiving $1.08 of service for every dollar paid to the medical service bureaus," he added.

HOMECOMING QUEEN this year at Port Angeles Senior High School will be crowned next Tuesday evening between halves of the Bremerton-Port Angeles basketball game in Roosevelt gymnasium. Graduates from high school in Port Angeles were honored at an assembly this morning in the gym, and a homecoming dance in the old Roosevelt gym following Tuesday's game will conclude this year's festivities. Above center is Queen Elaine James surrounded by her princesses elected by their respective classes. Seated at her feet, clockwise, are Janette Gunsalus and Yvonne Caulkins, juniors; Virginia Lamon and Barbara Grinnell, sophomores; Carole Vergeer, homecoming chairman, and Joan Flaig, seniors.

French Again Fail To Elect New President

VERSAILLES, France (AP) — France's badly divided parliament failed again Friday to elect a president of the republic in an unprecedented third round of voting.

None of the three candidates left in the contest got anywhere enough votes for election.

Premier Joseph Laniel, wealthy industrialist, wound up with 358, Socialist candidate Marcel-Edmond Naegelen 313, and Radical Socialist Yvon Delbos 225. Foreign Minister Georges Bidault withdrew just before the third round of voting began.

The joint session of Parliament cast 26 votes for a varied assortent of men who were not officially candidates. Thus the number of votes needed for election was 462.

A fourth ballot is now required to try to break the deadlock.

Naegelen led with 299 of the 923 votes cast by members of the National Assembly and Senate in the second ballot Thursday night. Laniel had 276, Delbos 185 and Bidault, of the Catholic-dominated Popular Republican Movement 143.

A majority of the votes cast is required for election to the seven-year term to succeed President Vincent Auriol. Never before in French history have so many as three ballots been required. Each ballot is a four-hour affair, since each member must walk to the rostrum and drop his secret ballot into an urn.

The voting takes place in the old legislative chamber built in 1871 in the courtyard of the palace of Versailles, ancient home of French kings.

Associated Press Newsman Will Act As Aide to Rhee

PORTLAND (AP) — There is a precedent for the appointment of an American, O. H. P. King of the Dallas, Tex. bureau of the Associated Press, as consultant and advisor to the president of Korea.

Another American—and both men had Pacifi cNorthwest backgrounds—was advisor and director of foreign affairs for the king of Korea nearly 70 years ago.

King, formerly in the Seattle bureau of the AP, left Friday for Seoul. Judge O. N. Denny of Portland went to Seoul to take a somewhat comparable job in 1885.

There was trouble then, too, with Chinese. The king of Korea's powers were limited by them and Denny wrote a small booklet of bitter criticism of the way Chinese were imposing their will on Korea —and of failure of the world's great powers to do something about it.

At the time Denny took the Korean job—at $12,000 a year—he had been U. S. consul at Tientsin, China, and consul general at Shanghai for seven years.

Because of his health he left Korea in 1891 and returned to Portland, later moving to Long Beach, Wash., where he died in 1900.

It was Judge Denny—the title came from a county judgeship at The Dalles and police court judgeship in Portland—who introduced Chinese pheasants to the United States.

Ike and GOP Leaders Hammer Out Their Legislative Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower and Republican leaders of Congress turned to taxes, the national debt limit, atomic energy and foreign affairs Friday in a second round of White House conferences to hammer out a new legislative program.

Social security and aid to the physically handicapped, as well as a continuing discussion of national health problems, also were on the agenda with Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Hobby presenting her views at the morning's session.

Eisenhower and key staff members met with GOP congressional leaders and a succession of Cabinet members for the second straight day, continuing the process of deciding what recommendations the administration will make to Congress when it reconvenes early next month.

At 9:30 a.m. EST, an hour after the session began, Eisenhower issued a statement telling what was under discussion.

He said Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey would discuss "taxes and the debt limit."

Eisenhower gave no particulars. He has said previously some taxes will be allowed to expire. The administration also has tried unsuccessfully to increase the national debt limit and has indicated it will press for favorable action on this step at the 1954 session.

The President said Lewis Strauss chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission would discuss "proposed amendments to the atomic energy act."

The President said Secretary of State Dulles and Foreign Operations Administrator Stassen would join in the morning's discussion of foreign affairs.

The forenoon conferees had little to say to reporters when they left the conference room.

Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) said no conclusions were reached on any of the subjects discussed including restrictive laws on atomic information.

Eisenhower has promised to lay before Congress a progressive, long range program after a special advisory commission studying the question has made a report to him .

Two-Headed Baby Ready To Go Home

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—A two-headed, four-armed baby boy, 6 days old and thriving like a normal infant, was ready today to leave Riley Hospital.

Dr. John D. Van Nuys, dean of the Indiana University Medical Center, said there is nothing to prevent the father from taking the baby home.

The hospital has kept the baby on the "critical" list but only because doctors have virtually no precedents for such a malformation.

Dr. Van Nuys said examinations disclosed that the baby has two stomachs, joined to a single intestinal tract. It had been determined previously that there is only one heart, and doctors had thought there was only a single set of internal organs.

ANOTHER 2-HEADED BABY

BELO HORIZONTE, Brazil (AP) —The birth of a second two-headed baby in the Western Hemisphere in a week was reported here last night by doctors attending her at Sao Vincente Hospital.

The infant, a girl, was born at home four days ago to Mrs. Geralda Francisca de Jesus, the wife of a rural storekeeper. An examination showed she had two completely separate hearts and respiratory systems, one digestive system, four arms and three legs.

Authorities said the mother had previously had four normal children.

Kidnap Killers Die Repenting Crime; Hall Says Sentence Saved 5 Others

(Editor's Note: The following account of the execution of Carl Austin Hall and Bonnie Brown Heady was written at the invitation of The Kansas City Star by one of the eight clergymen who saw, talked to and gave spiritual counsel to the two in preparation for their execution early Friday. The author insists on remaining anonymous and has written this in an effort to point out the Christian values involved. It was made available to the Associated Press by the Star.).

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Carl Hall died a tremendous witness for Christ.

And it saved the lives of five others.

This he declared, for the world to know, just before he and Bonnie Brown Heady were executed at 12:12 Friday morning for the kidnap-murder of little Bobby Greenlease.

"I can see good in this, father," he said to one who was ministering to him. "I only killed Bobby. If I had had just 12 hours more, I would have killed five more. God saved me from that."

Did he mean five more from among those identified with the case?

"Oh, no," said Hall, "I mean I'd have gotten them too, with all five that I've hated all my life. that money, it would have been easy. See what I mean? — killed only one, and was caught.. It might have been six—five more."

He paused, and then said with emphasis:

"That's the working of Christ. It had to be. I had murder in my heart. God knew, and saved those five others."

He lit a cigarette.

"I'm glad," he added, "and you can do something for me, father. Tell the world. Tell them that only God is important. I know now. And tell them that if it weren't for whisky, these penitentiaries would be closed.

"Tell the world, father. Look — if Christ could do this for me, a mean, drunken, miserable so-and-so, Christ could do it for anybody. I know.

"Father, I'm an intelligent man,' he said. "This isn't a conversion because I'm afraid of death. I've never been afraid of death. All my life I've been wondering, thinking. And if it made sense to intelligent men all over the world, there must be something to it."

"And now I'm ready for God, my Judge, and I'm glad."

But what about Bonnie? was she equally repentant?

"Sure," said Hall. "She'll tell you. She loves me and I love her. I know her better than anyone else.

'DRUNK FOR A YEAR'

"Bonnie was drunk for a year... I was drunk daily for months. After a while anything seems all right. I'm the guilty one. She couldn't say no to me. The only sin she's guilty of was loving me."

That was 9 p.m. Thursday night. Three hours to go. Hall asked the time and laughed.

"I haven't got long to live father," he said, "not here, anyway. And I'm looking forward to meeting my judge."

Mrs. Heady was hesitant about speaking her mind, until the hours dragged along and 11 p.m. arrived.

"I'm not going to go down there crying," she said. "Of course we're both sorry for this horrible crime. We want to be forgiven."

Both Hall and Mrs. Heady received holy unction.

Both accepted crucifixes gladly.

And each went to the execution chamber with a crucifix clutched tightly in the left hand.

Eleven-twenty came.

Final ministration in the death row took place. Hall and Mrs. Heady were led willingly out into the corridor, past 7 locks, into the prison yard.

Quietly, the 32 witnesses walked to the death shack.

Inside a room, perhaps 30 feet square, was the cubicle, in which two chairs were fixed to the floor.

A psalm was read. Together the two priests and the condemned repeated the Lord's Prayer. Then confession and absolution. They held hands, despite the cuffs.

In the adjoing room guards were mixing the sulphuric acid and water.

"OK, out of the way," called the deputy marshal.

"See you later," said a priest to Bonnie.

"Sure," she said. 'Thank you, father."

"See you later, Carl," he said to the other.

"You bet you will, father," Hall said.

Then, quickly, they were strapped into the chairs.

A final questioning by the marshal, asking them if they had anything further to confess, if they knew of the whereabouts of the missing ransom money.

No, they didn't.

The door was closed and sealed.

Bonnie spoke to Carl. He licked his lips.

Those watching had no trouble reading her lips.

"Carl."

"Yeh."

"Carl, I love you."

"I love you, Bonnie."

CYANIDE SPILLS

The cyanide was spilled.

Gas fumes soared to the ceiling of the cubicle.

They started.

Bonnie moved as if to spring from her chair.

Pained breathing, diminishing.

And then death. In seven minutes, at 12:12 a.m.

"I never saw such resignation," said Marshal Hoag. "It was wonderful. Wonderful to really accept Christ like that."

Soon the gas was blown out of the cubicle. The witnesses marched out again, and back to the main gate.

"Boy," said his friend as they walked along, "say, it's cold. Coldern'n hell."

And so it ended as strangely as it had begun.

Neither had any hatred or malice.

A contrast, in many ways, to some of those who witnessed their deaths.

The cell block again came to life.

You could hear the prisoners chant: "They bumped them."

"O God," said one of the 32. "why do we have to wait so long to find out the eternal truth about living?"

Dean Thinks Korea Will Have Peace; Plans Official Report

WASHINGTON (AP)— Special Ambassador Arthur H. Dean, expressing a personal view that Korea will have peace, readied an official report Friday on his so-far fruitless negotiations for a Korean peace conference.

Dean came back from Panmunjom Thursday night. He had walked out of the conference, called to set a time and place for a peace pact meeting, after protesting Communist charges that the United States was guilty of "perfidy."

Alighting hatless and without an overcoat at the icy, windswept airport, Dean told newsmen:

"Based upon what I observed and as a personal opinion, I am quite sure hostilities won't be renewed."

He declined to go into details prior to his report to President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles. The secretary is expected to report to the President also on the Paris trip from which he returned Thursday.

Dulles came home, several hours before Dean, from the North Atlantic Council meeting, where he pressed for early action by France on a European army in which West Germany would be re-armed.

Rebekahs and IOOF Had Christmas Party

Rebekahs and Odd Fellows contributed enough canned staples to fill almost three Christmas baskets for less fortunate families, while enjoying their Christmas party Tuesday night.

Carol singing by the group preceded the enjoyable musical program. A trumpet duet by Don Kirner and Harvey Priest was accompanied by Mrs. Reid Priest, who also accompanied Mrs. Boyd Grant and Boon Clayton in their vocal duet.

Neil Clayton played a piano solo and Mrs. John Kirner accompanied her son Donald in his vocal solo. Mrs. Reid Priest accompanied her children Jill, Harvey and Rodney, in their vocal selection and Mrs. Kirner accompanied Mrs. Wallace Fernie's vocal solo. The musical program, arranged by Mrs. O. M. Nelson, closed with the group singing "Silent Night".

The large crowd of adults and children then had their gift exchange around a Christmas tree and were served ice cream and cookies.

POLICE DOGS FAIL

ROCHDALE, England (AP)—Somebody sawed off the top six feet of the community Christmas tree Thursday night while the town's trained police dogs slept soundly a few yards away.

PTA Gives $300 For Band Uniform Fund

Parent - Teachers Association members approved an additional gift of $300 to the band uniform fund from Halloween Carnival proceeds. The amount was part of the 1954 budget read and approved by the group at its Wednesday night meeting. After the short business meeting, an educational film was shown, entitled "Secure the Blessings".

The ninth grade Nonette sang several numbers and Miss Carol Brown sang a solo. Philip Ager led the audience in carol singing.

First grade room mothers were hostesses and decorated the multi-purpose room of the elementary school with miniature Christmas trees. The following mothers served refreshments: Mesdames Charles Blake Jr., Don Wheeler, Eugene Forest, Art Hallgren, Maurice Sherk, Henry Schmuck, Phil Schenck and Jack Copeland. They provided a prize which went to Mrs. Carl Klint.

Mrs. Jack Ryser Is New RNA Oracle

Sequim Royal Neighbors of America elected officers for the coming year at their Monday night meeting. They are Mrs. Jack Ryser, oracle; Mrs. Harvey Klingler, vice oracle; Mrs. L.R. Blair, marshal; and Mrs. Joe Silberhorn, appointed assistant by the marshal; Mrs. R. O. Jones, inner sentinel; Mrs. John Dearinger, outer sentinel.

Mrs. O. M. Nelson was elected manager and musician, Mrs. Joe Eberle is flag bearer and Mrs. Vesta Yoakum was elected alternate to the state convention after the new oracle, Mrs. Ryser.

Members voted to contribute $5 to the March of Dimes. The Christmas party will be this Friday at the home of Mrs. O. M. Nelson, who will serve a dessert luncheon at 1 p.m.

The lunch committee for Monday's meeting included Mesdames Vesta Yoakum, L. R. Blair and Ted Blair.

GERALD HOLMAN, III, son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Holman, Sequim, is completing his basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas. The course includes a scientific evaluation of his aptitudes and inclination for a particular vocation and career.

Sequim Briefs

Mrs. Joe Turton, chairman of the Young Mothers Club kindergarten benefit dance tonight, met with her committee, Mrs. D. J. McInnes and Mrs. Rex Mantle, last Thursday afternoon. They made final arrangements for the dance and planned to serve sandwiches and cookies or fruit cake and coffee.

Santa Claus will come to Sequim Saturday at 12:45 p.m. in his annual ride in the Sequim volunteer fire department truck. He will visit with the children until 2 p.m. when the Dresden Theatre sponsors a free movie for the Chamber of Commerce children's party.

VFW Auxiliary members Tuesday night voted to send a telegram to President Eisenhower asking him to authorize the singing of Christmas carols outside the prison compounds in Korea. The auxiliary also initiated Mrs. Mary Lanaway and accepted the membership by transfer of Mrs. J. A. Haspel.

About 30 members of the Blyn Sunday School will present their Christmas program Sunday evening at 7:30 p.m. in the Community Church. The kindergarten class will sing with the primary class, and all groups will participate. Several special solos and instrumental numbers are included in the program.

Rainbow Girls held their regular meeting Monday night and planned for their Christmas party at the Masonic Temple Friday after school. Rainbow Mothers Club will serve a supper and the girls will go caroling. of the elementary school. A majority Dec. 23 in the multi-purpose room of the elmentary school. A majority service will follow the regular meeting on Dec. 28.

Dairymen Discuss Bangs Eradication

About 100 dairy farmers met Tuesday at Macleay Hall to discuss the forthcoming program of Bangs disease eradication in this area. Dr. Fred L. Schigley, chief inspector of the Bureau of Animal Industry, U. S. Department of Agriculture, told the dairymen the state now has 14 certified counties. A certified county can have no more than five per cent herd infection and one per cent cattle infection.

Dr. Schigley said the brucellosis eradication campaign started on a national basis in 1934 with blood tests and slaughter of positive reactors.

He said the Strain 19 vaccine developed in 1940 is effective but not perfect. Farmers feel a vaccinated reactor probably only carried the germ in the blood stream but the cow was not infected. Schigley stressed that a reactor is an infected cow. He said calfhood vaccination carries no guarantee "but is cheap insurance".

The meeting was sponsored by the Clallam County Farm Bureau and Port Angeles Milk Shippers Association. Donald Morrison, Olympic Health District sanitarian, introduced the speakers.

Dr. A. E. Krause, head of the dairy and livestock division of the State Department of Agriculture, said there is no assurance that the next state Legislature will provide funds for the indemnity the state now pays for slaughtered animals. At this time the federal government pays $9 for grade cows and $18 for purebreds, and the state pays $25 for grades and $50 for purebreds.

L. O. Tucker, chief advisor for the State Health Department spoke on the public health aspects of Bangs disease control. He said the possibility of contracting undulant fever from brucellosis-infected cattle is 100 times greater in small communities than in large towns. Between 300,000 and 400,000 Washington farm families are exposing themselves to it by drinking raw milk.

Local dairymen asked the reason the emphasis on complete eradication of Bangs disease when pasteurization kills the germ in milk. Tucker answered that it is a double check. He likened it to city water supply systems in which the water is taken from a safe source, but also chlorinated as a final safeguard of health.

Mayor William Merrill of Sequim was present and Councilman Edson Brown, represented Port Angeles.

Sheriff James Morse Addresses Legion

Sheriff James Morse told the American Legion here on Tuesday night that it costs this county almost six times as much to feed prisoners in this jail as it does in Olympia. Morse blamed the especially high figure in this county on lack of kitchen facilities.

The county must buy restaurant meals for each prisoner because the meals cannot be cooked at the jail.

Another example of poor economy cited by Morse was the trip by two deputies to Port Townsend to transport a woman prisoner there for want of facilities here.

One wash bowl is used by male prisoners for personal cleanliness, to wash their dishes and do their own small laundry.

He explained the duties, both civil and criminal, performed by the sheriff's office, and said a relatively small force covers the large area of the county. Morse said an example of this is the lack of a deputy in the east end of the county.

At the conclusion of his talk, Sheriff Morse answered questions put to him by the Legionnaires.

School Christmas Concert On Tuesday

The junior high and senior high school music departments will present their annual Christmas concert Tuseday at 8 p.m. in the high schol auditorium. Philip Ager and Byron Winter, music instructors, have arranged a varied program that should please everyone. The public is welcome and admission is free. Following is the program:

The junior high chorus will sing "Good King Wenceslas" and a medley of popular Christmas songs. The eighth grade triple trio will sing "God's Little Candles" by Laine and "Winter Wonderland," accompanied by Byron Winter.

The band directed by Ager will play: "New Year March," K. L. King; "Rudolph, the Red-nosed Reindeer," Marks; "The NC4 March," Bigelow; and "The Children's Prayer" by Humperdinck, by the brass choir composed of Charlene Davis, Gary Bruno, Bob Staeger, Mike Joslin and Elvin Parrish; followed by "Twas the Night Before Christmas," narrated by Joann Neil; and "Sempre Fidelis March," Sousa.

The chorus directed by Winter will sing "Sleigh Ride," by Leroy Anderson; "Pat a Pan," by Wilson; and "All I Want for Christmas," by Gardner.

The audience will then be invited to join in singing several carols. Carol Brown will sing "The Birthday of a King," by Neidlinger, soprano solo; followed by the freshman Nonette singing "Bring a Torch, Jeanette Isabella," by French; and "I Heard the Bells on Christmas Day," by Calkin.

The chorus will conclude the program with "The Coventry Carol," 16th Century; "O Bone Jesu," by Palestrina; "Go Tell It On the Mountain," spiritual; and "Silent Night," Gruber, with the audience.

RHEE GREETS GI'S

SEOUL (AP)—South Korea's President Syngman Rhee today sent Christmas greetings to U.N. troops with the "fervent prayer that the bonds of friendship and comradeship forged in this Communist war can promote the cause of peace on earth."

Rhee referred to the Korean War several times as though it were continuing and at one point told U. N. forces:

"Only by defeating the modern barbarians can we bring peace to the earth and ensure the eternal reign of justice and mercy."

"If we do not fight now and win," Rhee warned, "we shall have to fight again much closer to your homelands. It could be much worse then, especially for those you hold dear."

KOREAN COUPLE INDICTED

Farmers See Examples of Economical Pit Silage on Tour Conducted By County Agent

By ATS KIUCHI

Ensilage tastes like sauerkraut. That's the observation of County Extension Agent Melvin Michel. Accompanied by some 40 farmers, he conducted a field tour Wednesday afternoon to inspect temporary silage pits made last spring. Six farms were on the agenda.

The tour included the farms of Val Cameron, Levi Cays, Robert Sofie, Harry LeGear, Harold Herrett and Robert Davis.

At each stop Michel would reach into the pit and grasp a handful of silage. Bringing it to his nostrils, "Mike" would sniff and feel the texture. Then invariably he would put some in his mouth, like a gourmet testing a chef's piece de resistance.

After much chewing and sucking, Michel would either smile or grimace, and pass judgment. Others joined the county agent in his chewing and testing.

As the farmers passed judgment on the savory aspects of the silage, this writer, not wanting to be a killjoy, finally tried some at the Levi Cays pit.

Chewing dutifully and making the proper sucking sounds, I found it wasn't too unpleasant. But taste like sauerkraut—no. It was strong and rancid—like something that's been in the pot too long.

The odor was another factor in passing judgment. Enclosed in the pit the fragrance wafts out to tickle the nostrils. Otherwise it looks like mom's compost pit behind the garage for her 'mums and glads.

MOLASSES SOMETIMES USED

There is a strong hint of molasses in the odor. However Michel assured us no such ingredient was used in the basic formula. Molasses is used in some cases where the original has failed to please the cows' palates. After the original encounter with the silage perfume it became unnoticeable on further stops.

The tour is part of the program offered county farmers to instruct and inform them on developments in agriculture.

The tour began at the Val Cameron farm adjacent to the now defunct Voice of America property. Two pits were dug there, the other belonging to Howard Cameron.

The Val Cameron pit was huge, dug by a bulldozer and reinforced on the sides by wooden planks. Both Camerons said the silage program was satisfactory, and costs were below that of normal hay feeding.

They based their findings on three tons of silage equalling a ton of hay in feeding value. Val Cameron estimated the cost for the pit program at $4 a ton. He hired his chopper and other equipment, and believed with his own equipment the expense would have been even less.

County Agent Michel pointed out to the group, "You couldn't buy hay for $12 a ton, which would have been the equivalent cost."

The large caravan of cars and pickups continued to the Levi Cays farm. There Michel emphasized the importance of the time element in making silage. In a cross section of the pit, the county agent showed the various color lines in the ensilage.

Cays explained the difference in color was due to the time lapse during the storing. He was able to designate the times taken out for lunch and mechanical breakdowns, which were evident in the different color lines.

CUTTING TIME IMPORTANT

Michel also emphasized the importance of proper cutting time. The farmer must strike a happy medium between too wet and too dry—then cut and store immediately, he said.

"Differences in the soil conditions surrounding your pit also affects the final product on the cow's menu," the county agent reported. Dry loose sand will absorb moisture while clay and other soils tend to retain it.

At the Matriotti farm silage pit, Robert Sofie showed an example of "green silage."

"The cows eat it, however, they don't seem to care too much for it," the young farmer stated. In some cases Sofie has added molasses to the contents.

He also favored the silage program from an economic standpoint. His pit was located across from the Macleay school.

The next stop was the Harry LeGear place, overlooking Dungeness Spit. This was an example of a bunker type silage with no dug pit.

Testing it, Michel reported it was severely charred. Lack of depth in the bunker and tamping caused the overly brown contents, he said. The silage was not chopped, and continuing biological action was evident in the bunker.

A scraper on a tractor and three short working days were chief factors of the silage pit dug by Harold Herrett. The silage was in good condition, and Herrett expressed satisfaction with the program and its benefits.

Ending the tour at the Davis farm, the farmers saw the deepest and narrowest pit of the tour. The quality of the ensilage was the best seen all through the tour. Extension Agent Darrell Turner, in Davis' absence, reported the pit cost approximately $40.

Farmers saw a labor saving device which cuts down feeding time, at the Davis farm. A tractor with a hydraulic lift mounted on the rear backs into the silage pit and loads it.

"This device with a detachable platform, goes right out to the field to the cows, and cuts operating time in half," Michel said.

Two Girls Combine Birthday Parties

Judy Priest and Carolyn Klint had a combined birthday party to observe their 13th birthdays, that were just five days apart this week. Mrs. Reid Priest and Mrs. Carl Klint were hostesses for the party held at the Priest home.

The large sheet cake was inscribed "Happy Birthday, Judy and Carolyn." In addition to pictures taken during the party, the guests have an unusual memento of the evening. Mrs. Priest drew a silhouette of each guest as he arrived and while the young people played games, she and Mrs. Klint traced these on white paper and transferred them to a black background. These were hung on a wall and identified and each guest took home his own silhouette or that of a special friend.

Guests were Darlene GeRoy, Sharon Nelson, Marilyn Neil, Sally Marshall, RoJean Smith, Karen Wick, Jill Priest, and Sandy Lovell of Port Angeles. Boys were Mike Kirk, Todd Powell, Larry Turton, Darrell Jones, Jim Neil, Jerry McNamara, Gary Smith, Raymond McCauley and Harvey and Rodney Priest.

MANY SCHOOLS SEEK FUNDS

OLYMPIA (AP) — The state superintendent of public instruction said Friday her office has completed processing applications of 100 school districts for federal aid totaling approximately $7,250,000.

Mrs. Pearl A. Wanamaker said the money, if obtained, would be used by the districts for construction, maintenance and operations.

She said all the districts are located in areas affected by military installations, defense industries, reclamation projects or other government activities.

Diet In Can Pays Off For Meat Canner

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)— Portly Emanuel Ebin, a meat canner, was told a few years ago by his wife.

"You are getting too heavy. You will have to take off some weight."

Since his wife was a physician, Ebin decided to follow her advice. But, like millions of other Americans, he found that sticking to a diet required not only willpower —it also took a lot of time and trouble.

It is the rare hostess or restaurant that considers the special dietary problems of guests. And people on diets who prepare their own dishes find it quite a nuisance.

After brooding over his difficulties for some time, Ebin asked himself:

"Why not put a diet in a can—wouldn't that solve the diet problem for most people?"

It might. But Ebin found that putting a diet in a can was easier to say than do. Some 30 manufacturers were already packing sugar-free fruit or salt-free vegetables.

"But nobody was canning dietetic substance foods—such as soups and meat and poultry dishes," said Ebin.

He and his brother, Benjamin, with whom he founded Dorset Foods, Ltd., in 1939 after they came here from Poland, decided to pioneer in this new field.

"We thought it would take only a few weeks to solve the problems," Ebin recalled ruefully. "It took us two years finally. We had to make hundreds of tests and spend thousands of dollars before we could produce tasty dishes in which the caloric value and sodium content could be scientifically controlled.

A diet low in salt and other substances containing sodium is often recommended for heart patients as well as for those who merely want to lose weight. Ebin's new dietetic lines consists of five kinds of soup and four meat and poultry dishes, most of which have been approved by the American Medical Assn. The others are still undergoing tests.

The caloric value and sodium content of each dish are printed on the can, making it easier for a patient to follow specific directions by his physician.

The canning industry has had two great booms in the last 25 years —canned dog foods and canned baby foods. Ebin believes canned dietetic foods may provide a third wave of prosperity in this field.

"There are 9 million people in this country on special diets for specific diseases," he said. "There are also about 35 million adult Americans dieting to lose an average of about 16 pounds each—or 560 million pounds.

"If only 200 million of these dieters spend $50 annually on canned dietetic foods that will make a billion dollar a year industry. And by 1956 that figure will be conservative."

BIGGER DREAM

Ebin has an even bigger dream —that in time diet pack canned goods will replace present canning methods altogether.

"Why not?" he argued. "It will make it simpler for the housewife. All she will have to do is add salt and sugar for members of the family who aren't on a diet."

In any case Ebin remains one of the few people who went on a diet to slim his waist and ended up by having his pocketbook gain weight.

Judge Reaffirms Plan To Free Prisoner

YAKIMA (AP) — An earlier memorandum decision to free a Seattle man from prison was reaffirmed here Thursday by U.S. District Judge Sam M. Driver, who said he still feels Albert Gonzales was coerced into confessing a slaying.

The judge, in a lengthy opinion which included criticism of a Seattle newspaper, attached two conditions to Gonzales obtaining his freedom after the judge signs a writ of habeas corpus, which he is expected to in Spokane next week.

The conditions stipulate Gonzales is to be freed unless the state grants him a new trial within 60 days or unless he is released within 60 days after a mandate is received from the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals, if Judge Driver's decision is appealed and upheld by the circuit court.

The state, represented by Cyrus Dimmick, an assistant to the attorney general, announced it would appeal to the higher court.

Judge Driver said he was not concerned with the guilt or innocence of Gonzales, who has been convicted of the slaying of Fidel Molina in Seattle three years ago.

"I had to decide," he said, "whether Gonzales had been denied due process of law in violation of the United States Constitution by the use as evidence against him of a coerced confession."

Judge Driver discussed at length criticism he said appeared in the Seattle Post-Intelligencer after his announcement on Oct. 14 that he would grant Gonzales' application for a writ of habeas corpus.

An editorial in the Post-Intelligencer labeled "States' Rights Invaded?" was based, the judge said, upon a fundamentally false conception of the powers and duties of a federal judge.

"The editorial clearly indicates the writer had not even read the opinion which he so glibly condemned as uncalled for and injudicious," he said.

Young Chemist Confesses Cyanide Cocktail Murders of His Well-To-Do Father, Mother

NEW YORK (AP)—A 20-year-old chemist has confessed the cyanide cocktail murders of his well-to-do parents and says he killed them because his mother had accused him of sexual abnormality for as long as he can remember.

But a male friend says he and the lazy, luxury-loving son hatched the weird toast-of-death plot to get their hands on $150,000.

Bronx Dist. Atty. George B. De Luca announced last night that Harlow Fraden, poetry-loving college graduate, admitted he had treated his parents to champagne cocktails spiked with potassium cyanide.

Fraden allegedly hurried the job with more poison during the death agony of his parents—Dr. William Fraden, 50, a physician, and his wife Shirley, 46, a schoolteacher.

Fraden's mother had chided him as abnormal, even "before he knew anything about sex," De Luca said in announcing the son had confessed after many hours of questioning.

"This he strongly resented," the prosecutor said. "Fraden further stated that he did not kill his parents for personal gain, because his parents gave him all the money he wanted."

Fraden said he bore no animosity toward his father.

Fraden had been confronted with the confession of his friend, Dennis Wepman, 20, an unemployed freelance writer, who had related that he and Fraden plotted the crime for money.

De Luca said Fraden finally confessed he murdered his parents in the manner that Wepman had described: he told his parents falsely that he finally had gotten a job, and gave them poisoned champagne cocktails to join him in a toast to the end of his loafing.

The deaths of the parents had been listed tentatively for four months as a double suicide or murder and suicide until the case cracked open Wednesday through a pretty girl friend of Wepman. He confided to her that he was involved in the plot, and she reported to police.

The Bronx County grand jury will be asked today to vote indictments against Fraden and Wepman, both charged with homicide and locked up in the psychiatric division of Bellevue Hospital.

Bronx authorities said both Fraden and Wepman denied being homosexual.

LIKES POETRY

As Fraden buried his nose in a book of poetry he carried during the police routine, Asst. Dist. Atty. George Tilzer said:

"That book is his whole life. He said it was one of the things his mother resented . . . 'Get out of the apartment and act like a boy,' he said she would tell him when she saw him reading the book or other books of poetry."

Fraden, an only son, collected an estimated $150,000—including a $20,000 insurance policy—after his parents' death and quickly squandered about $50,000 of it. He had a $200-a-month room at the fashionable St. Moritz Hotel.

Wepman—who said that Fraden's parental allowance had been cut and that the roommates were low in funds before the murders—told questioners:

"I went along with the (murder) idea. I expected to get my commensurate share of the inheritance but I only got $120 in small amounts."

DEPLORE WOMEN BARTENDERS

LAWRENCE, Mass. (AP) — The local bartenders union has asked the license commission to bar women bartenders, saying their presence would be "detrimental to the industry."

State Legislator Opposes Phone Boost

SPOKANE (AP)— A state legislator opposing a rate increase sought by the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. told the State Public Service Commission Thursday more time is needed to determine the company's rate of revenue.

State Rep. Bernard Gallagher (D-Spokane) was one of eight witnesses who appeared at the one-day hearing to protest the requested increase. The commission said the final hearing on the application will be held in Seattle Jan. 5.

Gallagher said the company's request was filed Oct. 19, about five months after the commission authorized an increase that would yield PT&T 6.1 per cent of return.

This was only two months after telephone workers received a wage increase, the legislator said, and not sufficient time to determine the rate of revenue.

Gallagher said while the company listed increased materials cost as one reason for making the application, its annual report for 1952 showed material cost reductions of 17 per cent were made in the firm's installing division, the Western Electric Co.

Other witnesses included Homer Pointer, representing the Spokane Central Committee of Civic Clubs and the Central Labor Council, and E. W. Van Tyen of the Municipal League of Spokane.

TOTS TERRIFY HUSKIES

SAN PEDRO, Calif (AP)—Six huskies hauled Santa Claus and his gift-laden sleigh to the Chadwick School yesterday. A horde of children ran out the door to greet him.

The valiant sled dogs took one look at the scrambling youngsters and bolted, spilling Santa and his gifts.

Not until the kids were quieted would the huskies tow Santa to them again.

French statisicians estimate that 65 per cent of French families own one or more bicycles.

Mrs. Robert Hankemeier

Miss Betty Englund Wed in Germany

Friends here have received word of the marriage of Miss Betty Englund, daughter of Mrs. George Wittenborn, and Cpl. Robert Hankemeier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hankemeier of Chicago, Sept. 23, in Germany.

The young couple were married by the post chaplain, Major Weaver, after a civil ceremony in Ider Ober Stein, Germany. After the military wedding they were feted at a reception at the home of Sgt. and Mrs. Welch, and were dinner guests at the chaplain's home.

The bride left Port Angeles in August on a tour of Switzerland, France and Germany. She was employed here at Olympic State Bank.

WEST COAST PORK CHOPS*

Ingredients: 4 loin pork chops (3/4 to 1 inch thick), 3/4 cup honey, 1/2 cup cider vinegar, 1/4 cup soy sauce, 1 clove garlic (peeled and minced), 1/2 teaspoon monosodium glutamate.

Method: Trim fat from chops; place in shallow dish. Mix honey, vinegar, soy sauce, garlic and monosodium glutamate; pour over chops about 4 hours before cooking. Cover: refrigerate; turn chops several times in sauce. When ready to cook, remove chops from sauce; pat dry with paper towel. Grease heavy skillet with bit of pork fat and heat; brown chops slowly on both sides. Transfer chops to baking dish just big enough to hold them in one layer. Heat marinade to boiling in skillet; pour over chops. Bake uncovered, basting often, in moderate (350 F) oven until chops are tender—about 1 hour. Serve with pan sauce. Makes 4 servings.

Bedinger Enlists in Army

Donald A. Bedinger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Bedinger, enlisted in the regular Army and was forwarded to Ft. Ord, Calif., for basic training according to Sgt. 1-c G. C. Bowen, Army and Air Force recruiter.

The Army has opened for high school graduates a new field in atomic energy, with six specific assignments the men may select before they enlist, Sgt. Bowen said. He also announced the opening of the airborne division for immediate enlistments as paratroopers. The airborne was closed for a time due to the large number of enlistments in the state platoons.

U. S. Govt. Opens Gate to Color TV: It's Long Way Off and Will Be Costly

By ROBERT E. GEIGER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The gateway to a color television era has been pushed open anew by the government, but color TV for the average fan is still many months and many hundreds of dollars away.

Virtually no color receivers are available to the public now and probably won't be for months, or longer. And when they do come, industry sources estimate a color set with a 12½-inch picture will cost about $1,000 at first. Mass production is expected to bring the price down later.

For broadcasters, too, color TV will mean big outlays of money.

The Federal Communications Commission (FCC) announced late yesterday its approval of a new color broadcasting system.

Almost at once, networks were on the air with color telecasts, racing to be first. Owners of present sets could see them in the usual black and white.

FCC emphasized that point in approving a new system replacing one developed by the Columbia Broadcasting System and approved by the commission in 1950.

The new system was developed by the industry through its National Television System Committee (NTSC) and was proposed for adoption by the commission last August. Commission approval means it will standardize color broadcasting systems, of which there are several.

The new system becomes the official color method 30 days after publication of the announcement in the Federal Register, government bulletin. It may take a week or 10 days for publication.

Meanwhile, NBC is planning a special Christmas broadcast in color, as well as the Pasadena, Calif., Tournament of Roses parade, preceding the Rose Bowl football game. Both NBC and CBS are planning color telecasting of their regular programs on a rotating basis plus some regular shows, expanding operations gradually.

ABC reported it is not equipped for color, but will be, now that a new system has been approved. Du Mont said it planned color programs but has no schedule thus far.

NBC claimed it was first on the air with color last night, carrying a bulletin with a colored insignia at 5:59 p.m., EST, and a color telecast at 6:30. CBS claimed the first color program at 6:15 p.m.

The CBS color method, which the new system replaces, required a mechanical revolving wheel inside receivers. The new system is all electronic, without moving parts. The CBS system required extra equipment for present receivers to receive color broadcasts, and then only in black and white.

NO WIDE ACCEPTANCE

The CBS system never received wide acceptance. A clampdown on strategic materials during the Korean War prevented quantity manufacture of sets.

Industry officials have indicated few of the new NTSC color sets have been manufactured, and virtually all are in the hands of manufacturers, dealers and others in the industry. Dr. W. R. G. Baker, vice president of General Electric and chairman of NTSC, has said color for the millions may be two or three years away.

The FCC announcement said it has been estimated it will cost a television station up to $187,850 for all equipment needed for participating fully in color broadcasting. If a station wanted to handle network programs only, it might get by for $24,500 worth of new equipment, the FCC estimated.

Organization Briefs

WOMENS' MISSIONARY SOCIETY of the Free Methodist Church entertained this husbands at a Christmas party this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Richardson. The group enjoyed a Christmas program and gift exchange. Refreshments were served.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH SUNDAY SCHOOL classes will give their annual Christmas program Sunday at 7:30 p.m. The primary children will give recitations and songs and the junior and intermediate students will give the Christmas story in Scripture and songs. A candlelight service for young people will follow a short play. Children will get treats, according to the Rev. E. L. Bailey, pastor.

EDEN GRANGE AUXILIARY elected officers at its Christmas luncheon meeting Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Orval Kepford. Mrs. Bernice Ross was voted president, Mrs. David Bolling, vice president; Mrs. E. E. McDonald, secretary; and Mrs. Leigh Wright, treasurer. The women made tentative plans for a rummage sale. Assisting Mrs. Kepford as hostesses were Mrs. Robert Grace and Mrs. Orin Kelly. On the luncheon committee for the January meeting are Mrs. E. E. McDonald, Mrs. William Pennington and Mrs. Freeman Raber.

Catholic Women Hold Monthly Meeting

Members of the Catholic Parent-Teachers Association discussed discipline at their monthly session Tuesday afternoon in Queen of Angels social hall. Mrs. Thomas Madsen, president, conducted the business session.

Mrs. George Arrdal reminded the group to bring contributions for Christmas baskets for the needy. Mrs. Wayne Welch read an article on discipline. Mrs. Ernest Swordmaker gave a talk on "Teaching Obedience to Children."

She also sang a number of carols in German and gave the history of each. The group enjoyed singing Christmas carols. Tables were decorated with holly and red tapers. St. Anthony's room mothers served refreshments. The next session will be Jan. 19 at 8 p.m.

Soroptimists Have Christmas Party

Peninsula Golf Club rooms took on a festive air Monday night for the Soroptimist Club's annual Christmas dinner party. Twenty-seven members and guests were seated at the beautifully decorated holiday table.

Following dinner, students of Mrs. Ethel Clark entertained with interpretive and modern dances. Mrs. Mida Fenker sang two Christmas songs accompanied by Arvilla Woodard. Miss Sheila Astley, assisted at the piano by Mrs. Minna Durkee, gave Christmas readings.

While the group sang Christmas carols around a gaily lighted Christmas tree, Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus appeared with gifts for all.

GAME GIFTS

Why limit games to the kids when adults enjoy them so much? Remember your friends with the latest card set, a book of crossword puzzles, chess set or one of the newest fads in board word games.

Apostolic Faith Plans Annual Concert

Musicians and singers of the Apostolic Faith Church will present their annual Christmas concert Sunday at 8 p.m., the Rev. Robert J. Lieby, pastor, announces.

The orchestra conducted by Miss Margret Matthews will give the first part. They will play "Around the Christmas Tree", a Yuletide potpourri arranged by T. M. Tobani; and "Adestes Fideles", a paraphrase arranged by A. E. Harris.

The second portion of the concert will be "Light in the Manger" a newly published Christmas cantata arranged by Janet Miller. The score includes a number of new Christmas songs and special arrangements of several favorite carols.

The Rev. Mr. Lieby will be the reader and will give the benediction. Accompanists will be Stella Beaton, pianist, and Margret Matthews, organist.

The combined choirs of the church will sing the opening selection "O Holy night" by Adolph Adam, as arranged by L. B. Latham. The Evangelaires, directed by Miss Lorna Benedict, and the male chorus will sing Harry Dixon Loes' arrangement of "O Little Town of Bethlehem".

This will be followed by "Luther's Cradle Hymn" by the Evangelaires, and "Hark! The Herald Angels Sing", by the male chorus. Miss Lorna Benedict, soprano, will sing "Star in the East, Guide Us Again", a recent composition by Earle R. Hunt. Between the verses of the solo the combined choirs will sing "Ah Dearest Jesus", from Bach's Christmas Oratorio.

The choirs also will present the new Christmas songs "What is the Use" by C. Harold Lowden with the reader; and "Why Should Not This Christmas Be Sweeter" by L. Edward Widmark and Alice Reynolds Flower. The concluding selection by the choir, "Silent Night", will feature a baritone solo by Edwin Benedict.

Special music also will be heard at all regular services through the holiday season. The mixed choir will sing "Sweet Were the Angel Tidings" by Philip W. Brown and a medley of familiar carols. The male chorus will sing "Jesus Came to Save" and "O Come, All Ye Faithful".

Among other numbers the Evangelaires will present the well-loved "Star of the East" by George Cooper and A. Kennedy; and "Behold the Star" by Haldor Lillenas. Edwin Benedict will sing Yon's "Gesu Bambino" to an accompaniment by the instrumental trio. "The Wonderful Saviour of Men" by Haldor Lillenas will be given as a soprano and alto duet.

The Apostolic Faith Sunday School will present its program Wednesday at 8 p.m.

OES Has Annual Christmas Party

Members of the Order of Eastern Star and their families enjoyed a Christmas party Monday evening in the Masonic Temple after a short meeting of Esther Chapter.

A lighted shadow box scene of the nativity hung in the east, and baskets of holly tied with red ribbon decorated both ends of the lodge room. Bells in star point colors hung from the back of the chairs at each station.

Mrs. Wilmer Weaver, worthy matron, prepared the program "Music Fills the Air," the story of the beginning of Christmas carols. Carol Wyatt was narrator. Charlotte Weaver and Ronald Olson portrayed the children Rebecca and Abraham.

Shepherds were Ronald Hayes, Leonard Thomas and Ray Ackenhausen. Carl Forsell, Dale Petersen and Bill Gear were the wise men. The eight angels were Kitten Huycke, Betty Lou MacDonald, Kay Conway, Peggy Oakes, Mandy Williams, Marianne Hanowell, Karen Murray and Edna Churchill.

Carolers were Sandra Kish, Nola Dorr, Catherine MacDonald, Susan Nelson, Paul Hanowell, Bruce and Berny Pulver, Johnnie Pote, Bobby and Paul Goodwin and Margie Evans. The children with the little Christmas trees were Wilmer Weaver, George Williams, Wayne Price, Kathy Hanowell, Christie Murray and Susan Shay.

Jeanie Hayes and Michael Mathewson portrayed Mary and Joseph in the nativity scene. The pageant concluded iwth the cast and choir kneeling, singing "Silent Night" in the darkened room to the violin accompaniment. Playing violin obligatos for the pageant were Colleen Jacobsen, Jerry Erickson and Jim Clark.

Floyd Keeney had charge of makeup. Mrs. Agnes Williams made the wings and halos for the angels. The choir sang the chorale, "The Manger", and "The Christmas Dawn, The Wondrous Story". Mrs. J. M. Bower led the assemblage in singing Christmas carols to a piano accompaniment by Mrs. James F. Hooker.

Santa Claus, (Norman Zimmerscheid, worthy patron), distributed treats to the children. They were served refreshments in the dining room where the serving table was appropriately decorated with Santa, reindeer and angels. Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus, Santa's boot, red tapers and holly formed an arrangement on the piano. Long tables bore centerpieces of holly, and red and white candles.

Mrs. Keneth Price and Mrs. Arthur Barrett decorated the dining room. Mrs. Ed Gosnell and the star points, Mesdames G. C. Leverett, Keith Hill, Agnes Williams, Ernest Hanowell and Ethel Cayanus, decorated the chapter room. On the refreshment committee were Mesdames W. R. Oakes, Will Riggs, Earl Gillespie and Emma Rabone.

PLAY SAFE WITH TOYS

Toy Guidance Council advises parents to look for the Underwriters Laboratories' seal of approval on all electrical toys. The sign (U/L) means that the wiring has been tested and approved. Electrical toys for children under six are not recommended.

MADONNA AND AN ANGEL CHOIR graced the fireplace mantel at Literary clubhouse Monday afternoon for the annual Port Angeles Garden Club Christmas tea. The mantel figures were in gold and white, flanked on each side by candle sconces holding red candles and giant red bows with pine bough.

Literary Clubhouse Scene of Beauty for Port Angeles Garden Club's Christmas Tea

Glowing shades of fuchsia, green and gold decorated the Woman's Literary Clubhouse Monday afternoon when members of the Port Angeles Garden Club met for their annual Christmas tea.

A Christmas swag on the door and giant red candles at either side pointed the holiday theme. In the entrance hall were a scene of the nativity and a revolving Christmas tree.

A choir of angels centered the mantel. On the wall were silhouettes of modernistic Christmas trees formed of varying lengths of wide green satin ribbon and fuchsia balls. Swags trimmed with gold poinsettia clusters and gold stars adorned the cornices. A wide gold frame around the stage made it a life-size shadow box picture of a home scene, highlighting the beautifully decorated Christmas tree and the madonna and fuchsia candles arranged on the grand piano.

Over the tea table, hung from the ceiling on a fuchsia ribbon, was a large evergreen bell trimmed with garlands of fuchsia beads and gold glitter. A ball of the fuchsia beads formed the clapper. Centering the table was an arrangement of fuchsia balls, gold sprayed pine, white carnations and gold angel feathers, offset with white tapers in silver candlesticks.

Pouring for the more than 125 who attended during the afternoon, were Mrs. H. Maurice Fisher, Mrs. Grace Fisher Thompson, Mrs. A. B. Brown and Mrs. Chris Morgenroth.

Karen and Cheryl Fischer, daughters of Rev. and Mrs. Carl E. Fischer, entertained the group with the duets "Joy to the World" and "Angels We Have Heard On High." Mrs. Fisher, sang "Friendly Beast" and "A Star Was his Candle." She joined her daughters for the encore "Thy Little Ones, Dear Lord Are We." Vienna Neal Case played the accompaniments.

Mrs. Merrill Oakes was program chairman. Mrs. Philo Tyler had charge of refreshments. On her committee were Mesdames Kenneth Peterson, W. L. Buzard and Bart Murray. Mrs. Paul Blatter, president, and Mrs. H. La Barre Johnson, general chairman, greeted the members at the door.

Serving as hostesses were Mesdames Wayne Stevens, Gene Dutro, Jack Bedient, James Dolliver, Donald Abbott, Donald Frodle, Harold Carpenter and R. A. Butler.

Mrs. I. A. Ranta had charge of the decorating. Assisting her were Mesdames Robert Nelson, Frank Baynter, Louis Saenz, T. A. Ranta, Reuben Englund and Robert Fox.

SIZE UP THE SITUATION

When the matter of size enters into your gifting, as in hats, shoes, sport coats, slacks, even a suit of clothes, a gift certificate is often your best gift solution. It enables your man to choose exactly what he wants at exactly what you want to pay for his gift. So everybody's happy!

Local Shriners Aid Crippled Children

Olympic Peninsula Shrine Club donated $1,500 for Shrine Hospitals at its annual Christmas party Wednesday evening in the Lee Hotel.

E. A. Jensen, president, and Dr. J. J. Fairshter, junior past president, presented the checks. Henry Pierce, past potentate of El Katif Temple, chairman of the board of Spokane Hospital and representative of the national board, accepted the $750 check for the Shrine Hospital at Spokane. Samuel Hale, representative from Nile Temple to Spokane Hospital, accepted the other check for the Shrine Hospital at Portland.

Jensen acted as master of ceremonies, presenting officers for 1954: Steven Kish, president, Malcolm MacMillan, vice president; and Harvey Gray, secretary-treasurer. The club gave the retiring officers a rising vote of thanks.

The Port Angeles Senior High School Nonette entertained with a group of Christmas selections, under the direction of A. Lee Freeman. The evening ended with the Shriners surprising their wives with Christmas gifts. Waino Saari was chairman of the party committee.

Elks Initiate 22 Members in Honor Of Otto Francis

Naval Lodge of Elks last night initiated 22 members of the "Otto Francis initiation class" into the organization. During the ceremony honoring the former esteemed leading knight, lodge members unanimously voted him a life membership in the order.

Francis submitted his resignation from the leading knight's chair in September due to illness. But his associates refused to accept it until last week.

Exalted Ruler Tom Kish told the members last night "it is with great reluctance we accept the resignation of one of our best loved brothers." Secretary James Glenn read a letter from Francis expressing his regret in not being present.

Immediately afterwards, Wilfred Bower cited Francis' "exemplary devotion and service to Elkdom" and moved the lodge grant him the life membership. Past exalted ruler E. A. Stewart seconded the motion and the lodge unanimously passed it.

Five of the new members initiated last night are sons of Elks. They were introduced with their fathers. Sons and fathers are: Bruce and Ivan Mesford, Alvin and Carl Blank, Roger and Rembert Carter, Robert and Frank Goralski, and Donald and Palmer Kaas. Leo Konopaski was introduced as the eighth member of that family to join Naval Lodge.

Other new members are Robert Baer, George Campbell, William Collier, John Day, Virgil DeHart, Walter Dier, Robert Farrell, Kenneth Garrett, Helge Johnson, Gerald Lucas, Mark Perry, Howard Pratt, I. A. Ranta, Sam Sorenson, William Williams and Merle Wilson.

Officers elected and appointed last week to fill Francis' vacancy were installed last night after the initiation. They are Jack Ervin Jr., leading knight; Charles Keim, loyal knight, Harry Fulkerson, lecturing knight; Glenn Simkins, esquire; G. B. Chamberlain, assistant esquire, and Richard Bondelid, inner guard. LeRoy Sarff filled the chaplain's chair last night, and Kish announced he will keep that position open for a time.

In other business last night Kish announced approximately 700 Elks' ladies atteded the annual tea held earlier in the day in the ballroom. He congratulated the ladies and others who assisted, especially the decorating committee headed by Mrs. Gil Harper. Also thanked was PER Boyd Grant, who helped fill the leading knight's chair during Francis' forced absence.

Kish announced there will be no lodge Dec. 24, due to Christmas Eve and Dec. 31, due to New Years Eve.

Lyonell Dilling, dance chairman, announced a dance for Elks and their escorts on New Year's Eve. He said the lodge will sponsor a dance Jan. 30 to benefit the March of Dimes. He explained the lodge issued an invitation to the North Olympic Square Dance Council to put on the benefit.

Kish reminded members the lodge will hold its annual Christmas party for Elks children up to 12 in the ballroom Sunday at 2 p.m. Santa Claus will attend and there will be a show and gift sack for the children. Secretary Glenn said the lodge will serve a New Year's Eve dinner for Elks and their immediate families in the ballroom between 3 and 6 p.m. Tickets may be purchased just prior to the dinner.

A vaudeville show and buffet lunch concluded last night's session.

Study Club Marks 25th Anniversary

Olympic Study Club members celebrated their 25th anniversary with a Christmas dinner party Saturday night. The group and their husbands gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. August Hohensee before leaving for dinner at Harrington's.

After dinner they proceeded to the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Elterich. Mrs. Charles Homer had charge of the entertainment. H. F. Carpenter acted as master of ceremonies. Doing a realistic imitation of Groucho Marx, he interviewed the couples and presented them with gifts.

The group honored Mrs. Percy Maloney, Mrs. John Lewis, Mrs. Peter Larsen and Mrs. Earl Miller, charter members. During its 25 years the club has carried out a cultural and educational program, keeping abreast of local, state and national current events, reviewing worthwhile books, and hearing interesting speakers.

Mrs. Elterich served supper at midnight. Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Maloney poured.

Need A Santa? You Can Order One

SEATTLE (AP) — You can put in your order anytime here now for a $6 Santa Claus to save wear and tear on your disposition and clothing.

They'll do anything Santas do, except slide down chimneys.

Two enterprising Kelso business men, P. R. Enloe and P. R. Gillman explained Thursday they've extended their "Kris Kringle's Helpers" operations to Seattle this year. They've already got about 500 orders to furnish Santas between 5 and 11 p.m. Christmas Eve, and expect as many more.

"I got the idea while trying to find someone to play Santa Claus to my own five children," Enloe said.

"We first tried it in Kelso last year and didn't have a single unsatisfied customer."

The Santas will be recruited from the ranks of policemen, university students and elderly men. They will get strict warnings to lay off any liquid jolliness that relieved fathers may offer them.

Also, there'll be a de luxe job for $20,—a Santa who'll bring along his own photographer to snap the family.

RAILROAD TIFF SETTLED

CHICAGO (AP)— A wage dispute between the nation's railroads and a rail union was settled Thursday with an agreement providing for a pay raise for some 200,000 workers.

Under the agreement between the carriers and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, an additional 5 cents an hour was added to the present wage rates. It also provides that another 13 cents added in the last two years under a cost of living escalator clause become part of the basic wage rate.

"And it came to pass, that when they were there, her days were accomplished that she should be delivered. And she brought forth her firstborn son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn." Luke 2: 7-8.

No Candidates File Yet For City Council

As of this forenoon no candidates had filed for nomination to the office of Port Angeles city councilman. Filings opened Friday, Dec. 11 and will close Thursday, Dec. 24.

As many persons as desire may file by paying a $10 fee. The six candidates receiving the highest number of votes at the primary election Tuesday, Feb. 9, will be nominated.

The three nominees receiving the highest number of votes at the general election Tuesday, March 9, will be elected to fill the three vacancies on the seven-member City Council.

Old Steam Engine Heads for Rip Track

Engine No. 1205 of the Milwaukee Railroad made her last run this morning, with her fires drawn, side rods down, and cab boarded up. The steam locomotive was "deadheaded" to Tacoma in the morning eastbound freight train—pulled by the railroad's new diesel locomotive.

Local Agent J. D. Rohrer said the 1205 presumably is bound for the welder's torch.

The engine was built by American Locomotive Works in 1912, and is a Consolidation class, used formerly for road service in hauling freight trains over the line.

This leaves two steam engines still here, a switcher for local yard duty, and one more Consolidation road engine.

ENGINEER WILL RETIRE

PORTLAND (AP) — W. H. Lynch, division engineer here for the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads for 25 years, will retire Dec. 31.

He was in charge of the Helena, Mont., public roads office from 1922 to 1925, then went to Omaha, and came to Portland in 1928. Under him has been all federal highway work in Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana.

Parrots, ostriches, eagles and vultures may live as much as 60 years.

Rayonier Plant Will Produce Mystery Extract From Trees

HOQUIAM (AP) — Rayonier Incorporated announced Thursday plans for a plant to produce a new mystery extract from trees.

The announcement was made by George A. Holt, resident manager of the national chemical cellulose firm's Grays Harbor division.

The new operation, in a small Hoquiam plant, will use a low cost raw material now available in connection with chemical cellulose production in the existing plant.

The new product is defined as extracts and chemicals, other than cellulose, found in trees. Company officials declined to disclose the exact nature of the new chemical or for what it will be used. It is known only by a laboratory number now.

Production is expected to start in February in a 25 by 76-foot plant, part of which will be three stories high. It is expected to employ about 15 people.

The new product is described only as a light, fluffy, coffee-colored powder. Holt said it will be used by an industry that is not now a Rayonier customer. If sales reach expectations, he indicated, a greater diversification of Rayonier operations is expected to result.

Mrs. Marjorie Swingle Dies Here Thursday

Mrs. Marjorie Ellen Swingle, 35, wife of Clinton Edward Swingle, 722 E. 6th St., died suddenly at Olympic Memorial Hospital Thursday forenoon.

Funeral services will be at Holy Trinity Lutheran Church, Monday at 2 p.m. with the Rev. Carl Fischer officiating. Burial will be in Mt. Angeles Cemetery under the direction of the McDonald Funeral Home.

She was born in Seattle March 29, 1918. She went to Newport, Ore., with her parents when six weeks old and lived there until 1922, when she moved to Hoquiam.

Mrs. Swingle was a graduate of Hoquiam High School and Twin Harbor Business College. She married Clinton Edward Swingle in Aberdeen Dec. 19, 1942. The family came to Port Angeles in 1947.

She was a member of Holy Trinity Lutheran Church, the Order of Runeberg and many other community organizations. She was a den mother for Cub Pack 473, and also active in the recent community study.

Surviving besides her husband are a son, John Clifford Swingle, 9; and daughter, Kristine Andrea Swingle, 7; sister, Mrs. Walter Johnson; mother, Mrs. Anselm Bloomquist; and step-father, Mr. Anselm Bloomquist, of Port Angeles.

There was little change in farming methods between about 3,000 B. C. and the 18th Century A.D.
