Snowfall Causes Heavy Damage At West End Resorts

Resorts in the west end of Clallam County are counting up thousands of dollars in property damage as they dig out from under the past 10 days record snowfall.

With telephone communications cut off until Thursday and highways either blocked or barely passable, reports on damage are just coming in.

Weight of snow Tuesday collapsed a boat house at Maple Grove Resort, Lake Sutherland, destroying the 100-foot building and 30 boats. Allen Longfellow, resort proprietor, estimates the loss at $6,000.

The big Bovee barn, near Lake Crescent Lodge, collapsed Wednesday from the weight of snow, as did a boat house at the DeWilde home on Lake Crescent.

Damage to Lapoel resort, where the roof collapsed Tuesday, is over several thousand dollars, Olympic National Park headquarters reports. The entire second story of the building is destroyed. First reports said only a part of the roof had collapsed.

More than 20 men are shoveling snow from the roofs of park service buildings at the lake.

Lake Sutherland had five feet of snow in the past 10 days. Some melted, but four feet remains on the ground in the vicinity of the boat house, on the lake shore, southwest of the main resort buildings.

Longfellow said today some trees also may have fallen on the building. A thorough checkup is impossible at this time because of the great depth of the snow. Earlier attempts to remove the snow failed, he said.

The resort was isolated several days by telephone and power line failures, and snow was so deep that the Longfellows couldn't even get to the nearby Olympic Highway.

The Longfellows report seeing a collapsed garage on the south side of the lake at a private home.

Some home owners around the lake have been able to remove the snow from the roofs of their summer homes, while others who attempted it Thursday found the task too heavy.

HIGHWAYS IMPROVING

The State Patrol reports highway conditions improved. Hills on Highway 101 have been sanded, but some slippery spots still exist and caution should be used in driving the patrol warns.

State Highway Department maintenance crews started sanding hills on Highway 101 at 6 a.m. today, report travel conditions have improved greatly over those of Wednesday and Thursday.

Schools at Forks and Beaver have been closed all this week.

The Nels Undi barn, on the upper Bogachiel River and the barn at the Darhl Edwards farm in the Forks area collapsed from heavy snow. The roofs of two private garages at Forks collapsed as did also the roof of a new house at Sappho, according to the Forks Forum.

NEW LOOK FOR PEABODY CREEK came with the the recent blankets of snow. The valleys through the center of Port Angeles provided frosty wonderlands for anyone who would venture down the slippery paths to see the lacy trees and snow-lined creeks.

SNOWMAN'S LAND is what this frosty yard on upper Peabody Heights looked like after the heavy snowfalls of Port Angeles' two-week winter. The local population count would have taken a major leap if all the similar snowmen in the city could have been counted. Above snowmen and the snowhouse are the proud possessions of Susan (shown above), Bobby and Nancy Kautz, who admit their grandfather, Rex McCarty, helped with the heavy work.

Congressmen Add Congratulations For City's Award

Congratulatory messages from the district's congressional delegation are arriving here this week in the wake of Look Magazine's publication of its All-America City team.

"I am delighted and pleased with the recognition that is being given to a city for which I have such a warm feeling," Sen. Henry M. Jackson wrote in a letter to James Frits. Frits is chairman of the committee arranging for next Thursday's celebration of the award.

"At the present time the Senate calendar is such that I shall not be able to be on hand," Jackson continued. "However, if there should be a change in the schedule which would bring me to the Coast around that time, I will be there."

Congressman Jack Westland wired as follows: "Greetings to the people of Port Angeles. Have just read in the current issue of Look Magazine of your designation as an All-American City. This outstanding honor of being chosen in national competition is richly deserved.

"My heartiest congratulations to all the citizens of Port Angeles since it is only through the unfailing efforts of each one of you that your goal was obtained. Such national recognition for your city cannot fail to bring pride and satisfaction to all of us who live in the Pacific Northwest."

Sen Warren G. Magnuson also wired his regrets at being unable to attend the celebration.

Mayor Ivor Smith has proclaimed next Thursday as All-American Day here, and asks all residents to fly flags from their homes and places of business throughout the day.

Driver Injured In 8th-Cedar Accident

Jacob J. Mason, 32, 237 W. 3rd, is in good condition at Olympic Memorial Hospital today after receiving rib fractures and a possible spinal injury in an accident at 8th and Cedar last night at 11:15.

Investigating officers cited Robert J. Carl, 27, Highway 101 West, with negligent driving after his pickup truck, traveling south on Cedar, hit Mason's 1940 sedan going east on 8th. Impact of Carl's car caused Mason's sedan to hit the corner of the David Larner residence at 540 W. 8th, causing approximately $75 damage to that house owned by Harold Oman.

Police said Mason's car was a total wreck, and estimated $500 damage to the pickup.

Senate Nearing Compromise On Bricker Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders hoped today to unveil a bipartisan substitute for the Bricker amendment which they believe will break the stalemate in the dispute and still preserve the President's powers in foreign affairs.

Republican Leader Knowland of California said he expected to be able to announce details of the much-talked over treaty curb substitute during the day, although more conferences and more polishing remained.

But Sen. George (D-Ga), who introduced a proposal that became the basis of the bipartisan substitute, said he wasn't quite so confident.

"Somebody always has some other little idea he wants to get in," George said in an interview. "They're still hoping they can get Bricker to agree to something. But I don't think any compromise is possible with John now."

Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) himself said yesterday the differences with the administration on his proposal "grow out of a fundamentally different philosophy of government."

Even if an agreement can be reached which provides a middle ground for many senators, the big question seemed to be—

Can Senate leaders muster the necessary two-thirds vote required for a proposal to change the Constitution?

Or will those taking extreme positions on both sides join forces to prevent enactment of a compromise?

SPONSORS CONCEDE DEFEAT

Some sponsors of the original Bricker amendment already were conceding privately it could not pass.

Apparently the substance of George's proposal was acceptable to the administration, since Knowland and other GOP leaders talked to the president at the White House yesterday, then returned to the Capitol to push ahead with their substitute.

The first section of Georgia's proposal states that any treaty or international agreement in conflict with the Constitution shall not have any effect. This is substantially the same as the first clause in Bricker's amendment; Eisenhower does not object to it.

The second section would provide that agreements other than treaties can become effective as internal law only by act of Congress. Such agreements, unlike treaties, do not require Senate ratification.

The proposal thus avoids the requirement of the Bricker amendment that treaties themselves can become internal law only "by legislation which would be valid in the absence of treaty." Critics say the effect of this would be to require station action to implement some treaties.

John L. Lewis Raps Ike's T-H Proposals

WASHINGTON (AP) — John L. Lewis Friday denounced President Eisenhower's Taft-Hartley proposals as "pale palliatives, calculated falsely to soothe rather than genuinely to cure the manifold inequities and injustices so deeply imbedded in the act."

Lewis demanded repeal "in toto" of the 1947 labor-management relations law.

The president of the United Mine Workers Union, in a letter to Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ), "respectfully" declined an invitation to testify at hearings now being held on the President's program. Smith is chairman of the Senate Labor Committee.

Lewis described the 14-point program this way:

"Such amendments, if enacted, run to increase and compound the 'felony' already perpetrated on the laboring people of America in the original instance. A far cry, these amendments, from the utterances of the presidential candidate in the summer and fall of 1952 when, for political favors sought, genuine relief was promised."

—NEA Telephoto

ACCUSES ADMINISTRATION—CIO President Walter Reuther, shown testifying before the Senate labor committee in Washington, accused the Administration of "sweet-sounding" promises in proposing changes in the Taft-Hartley Law that will make it "even worse than is." Reuther was the first witness called in opposition to the Administration proposals.

Democrats Contend Eisenhower Proposals Fall Short of Halting Economic 'Danger Signs'

By CHARLES F. BARRETT

WASHINGTON (AP)—Key congressional Democrats declared today President Eisenhower's economic program falls far short of effective action to meet a current business dip — while Republicans strongly backed the White House.

Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala), senior Democrat on the Senate-House Economic Committee, said the President offered "noble generalities." He added:

"I don't think the measures he has proposed hold much hope of a greater prosperity. The danger signs are out. He is not meeting them. He has the tools but he is not using them."

And Rep. Bolling (D-Mo), another committee member, said: "The President seems to think our economy will be affected by pious exhortations. I think we need to move faster and harder. We need more action and fewer words."

On the other hand, Sen. Watkins (R-Utah), second - ranking GOP committee member, declared the President was "dead right" in his appraisal that the present downturn is a moderate inventory adjustment and that the economy should turn upward again in a few months.

Watkins said the President offered a "very sound program" to meet the situation. "A short time ago," he said, "everybody was screaming to stop inflation. Now we've stopped it, and of course there are bound to be some adjustments. We are stabilizing the economy. Does anybody want to start prizes zooming again?

These and similar conflicting views by other members were expressed in separate interviews as the committee scheduled a closed session to get further word from Dr. Arthur Burns, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers.

Power Officials See Need For Further Generating Facilities

TACOMA (AP)—Top power figures in the Pacific Northwest, from both public and private agencies, agreed here Thursday the region faces power shortages unless additional generating facilities are undertaken soon.

However, the group cast pleased glances at the current power picture. Full reservoirs and continued snappy weather have pushed electricity consumption to all-time highs.

The Northwest Utilities Conference Committee, which meets periodically to discuss power problems, also was introduced to the new head of the Bonneville Power Administration, Dr. William Pearl.

Dr. Pearl eased the minds of Tacoma City Light head Utilities Erdahl and the Public Utilities Board with announcement the pending rate raise in Bonneville power will be held up for study at least until next December.

Dr. Pearl, who recently took over the power post at BPA left vacant by Dr. Paul Raver's resignation, had this to say on the future:

"There will definitely be a power shortage in this region in the future. The sooner private and public power agencies can get together as partners, working to provide needed facilities, the sooner the power problem will be solved."

Erdahl, who serves as chairman for the conference committee, agreed that the problem is a common one, which the people of the Northwest must recognize soon.

"The load growth of this region is rapidly outstripping the electric power supply," Erdahl said. "What is needed is a meeting of the minds on a partnership program of both private and public agencies for construction of generating facilities."

Erdahl warned that even if the maximum output of all federal, public and private facilities is attained annually, plus even that now under construction will not be enough to serve the industrial and residential needs in the coming years.

Pusan Hit By Another Big Fire

PUSAN, Korea (AP) — Wind - flames charred a ¾ mile stretch of hillside homes and shanties Friday in Pusan's second disasterous fire in three months.

City officials said four persons might have been killed. More than 8,000 were left homeless and 1,500 houses were destroyed.

Many were one room shacks or Jerry built wooden crate additions to Korean houses.

U.S. Army relief supplies were immediately made available. Part of the supplies came from stocks being unloaded to care for the refugees created by the November fire which left 35,000 homeless.

Britain Calls For German Unity, Free Elections

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

BERLIN (AP) — British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden submitted to the Big Four conference Friday a five-stage plan for the unification of Germany "and the conclusion of a freely negotiated peace treaty."

His plan — understood to have the full support of France and the United States specified that "free and secret elections should be held throughout Germany, including Berlin, at the earliest possible date."

Safeguards "to assure political freedom before, after and during the elections" would be provided.

OUTLINES FIVE STAGES

The five stages as outlined by Eden are:

"1. Free elections throughout Germany.

"2. The convocation of a national assembly resulting from those elections.

"3. The drafting of a constitution and the preparation of peace treaty negotiations.

"4. The adoption of the constitution and the formation of an all-German government responsible for the negotiation of the peace treaty.

"5. The signature and entry into force of the peace treaty."

MOLOTOV BYPASSED

The proposal by Eden brought the foreign ministers back to the German question as the Western powers planned, after a series of diversionary moves by Russia's V. M. Molotov on Asiatic problems, world disarmament and a place for Red China in global councils.

The Eden plan would have the effect at the outset of removing the Iron Curtain from East Germany. It specifies that guarantees for free elections must provide for unrestricted movement throughout Germany, free choice of candidates, freedom of expression in press, radio and other media, voting secrecy and security of polling stations and ballot boxes.

It also provides that the proposed electoral law establishing these freedoms should be supervised by a commission "composed of representatives of the four powers, (Britain, United States, Soviet Union and France) with or without the participation of neutrals."

Eden told his colleagues "we believe that the peaceful reunification of Germany and the conclusion of a peace treaty would fortify peace and relax tension."

Earlier in the meeting of this fifth day of the conference, French Foreign Minister Bidault introduced a resolution under which the four powers here would join in promoting a disarmament conference under the sponsorship of the United Nations.

Eden said in his speech that the principle of freedom must apply not only to the elections but to the all-German government which would be the result of unification. This government, he declared, "must be free to assume any international rights and obligations of the federal republic or of the East German regime which are consistent with the United Nations charter."

"It must be free," he went on, "to negotiate the peace treaty. A dictated treaty would be unacceptable to Germany and to ourselves."

PROPOSE DISARMAMENT

Bidault did not suggest a date or period of time for the conference. Molotov had proposed that a disarmament meeting he held this year.

The French resolution did specify that the conference should conform to the U.N. General Assembly resolution of Jan. 11, 1952, thus making the U.N. the actual sponsor. That resolution directed the U.N. Disarmament Commission to continue its work on conventional arms and atomic weapons in accordance with previous assembly decisions.

One of the key sections of Bidault's resolution would put the Big Four on record as "proclaiming that the support and encouragement of aggression must be condemned and banned with the aim of ending all hostilities."

Dulles was chairman at Friday's session.

Molotov Thursday appeared to clear the way for the discussion on Germany by agreeing to postpone until later secret sessions his original proposals that the Chinese Reds be invited to a big five conference on world problems.

AIRMEN HURT

MCCHORD AIR FORCE BASE, Wash. (AP) — Two Air Force fliers were injured late Thursday afternoon when the jet training plane they were bringing in for a landing crashed a mile short of the runway.

The student pilot, 2nd Lt. Ray A. Oleson, 22, Tacoma, was injured critically. His instructor, 2nd Lt. Hilson Sewell, 24, Thaxton, Miss., was less seriously hurt. Both are being treated at the McChord base hospital.

COFFEE A DIME, TEA FREE

MARLBORO, Mass. (AP)—Take the tea, it's free, Joseph Di Antonio, owner of Tony's Lunch, told his customers yesterday.

Di Antonio said the free tea was his protest against soaring coffee prices. He said it cost less to give away tea than to sell coffee at 10 cents a cup.

SLIDE DOOMS HOMES

MODENA, Italy (AP) — A huge slow-moving landslide inched toward more doomed rural homes near here Friday after crushing its eighth house in two days. Nobody has been hurt so far, however.

Nautilus To Get Its Atomic Unit Feb. 15

WASHINGTON (AP) — The atomic reactor which will provide the power for the submarine Nautilus will be put into the boat Feb. 15, Adm. Robert B. Carney, Navy chief of operations, disclosed today in an article written for the current edition of the magazine Nation's Business.

The craft was launched at the Groton, Conn., Jan. 21

Carney's reference obviously was to the emplacement of the fissionable fuel and final details of the shielding against radioactivity. The steam turbine which will get its heat from the atomic "firebox" already was in place when the Nautilus went down the ways.

However, to ease the load on the huge 3,000-ton hull in the launching procedure the hefty weight of the U-235 fuel and the control equipment was left for installation later at the fitting-out dock.

The reactor and propulsion equipment was built by Westinghouse Electric Corp.

Carney, in his article, noted that "the potential energy in a single lump of uranium from which U-235 is processed the size of a golf ball is equivalent to 465,000 gallons of oil, or six million pounds of coal."

Tito Follows Middle Line in Cold War

By ALEX SINGLETON

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — President Tito was re-elected unanimously by Parliament Friday after proclaiming Yugoslavia's willingness to do business with all nations — including Russia and the Soviet satellites — on a basis of "mutual respect."

The 61-year-old chief of this Communist state, his hair markedly more grey than a year ago and his voice rasping occasionally from a severe cold, was given an ovation as he appeared before the lawmakers to deliver a 70,000 - word state-of-the-nation message before his election.

He pledged that Yugoslavia will pursue an independent path in its foreign policy despite friendly overtures from Russia since last spring after Stalin's death.

But, simultaneously, he made it clear that he would not part company with the West, which came to this country's aid after its break with the cominform in 1948.

Tito was the only candidate for the presidency put forward by the country's only political party, the Communist-ruled Socialistic Alliance. His election was unanimous. He will take his oath of office Saturday before a joint session of Parliament.

Weather Lets Up In Central States

By THE ASSOCIATED PRES S

Southerly winds brought a touch of milder weather to the mid - continent Friday while cold northerly winds dropped temperatures over most areas east of the Appalachians.

Coldest region was New England with a reading of 12 degrees below zero in Burlington, Vt. Cold weather also continued in Northeastern Montana and the Red River Valley of the north in Minnesota and North Dakota.

But mild winter weather prevailed over the Mississippi Valley, most of the Great Plains, the Rockies and the Far West.

Snow and rain occurred along the western slopes of the northern Rockies with rain westward to the Pacific Coast, mostly in Oregon. Heaviest rainfall was more than 2 inches in North Bend, Ore.

Woman Jailed For Talking in Court

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A 61-year-old mother of 14 children who "hardly talked at all" served a six-hour jail sentence yesterday for violating a judge's new rule of silence.

Mrs. Catherine Purtiler said, "You'd think I was a criminal or something," as she sat in jail following the sentence imposed by Municipal Judge Peter B. Muir.

Mrs. Purtiler, grandmother of 31 children, and Mrs. Dorothy Long, 27, each were charged with contempt of court for talking during the session. The judge had just announced that violators of his new no-talking-or-whispering rule would be fined or jailed.

Mrs. Long paid the fine. Mrs. Purtiler chose the sentence because "I need the money for the rent tomorrow."

Said Mrs. Purtiler: "Why, it's the most natural thing in the world for two women to talk to each other when they are sitting side by side. I just can't believe I'm here."

British Columbia Legislature May Hear Arguments Over Victoria 'Book Burning'

VICTORIA, (AP) — The explosive "book burning" controversy raging in the British Columbia capital, will be taken to the floor of the legislature when it opens here next month.

J. Alan Reid, Social Credit member from Salmon Arm, B.C., said he would bring up the issue when the house convenes.

He said the controversy, revolving around the reported "book-burning" remarks of Victoria's Mayor Claude Harrison "certainly points out the people who have Communist leanings."

The subject raged within and without City Council chambers Thursday with Mayor Harrison claiming he was misrepresented when he was quoted Tuesday as saying he wanted all subversive books on the Victoria public library shelves burned. However, he said he didn't think it was such a bad idea.

Mayor Harrison said the whole controversy was "nonsense."

Mrs. Doris Lougheed, library board member, said the press had a communistic attitude.

Alderman Brent Murdoch, member of the incoming library board, called press reports "propaganda."

In explaining his stand on the issue, Mayor Harrison said a reporter called him to ask "my opinion about reports of subversive books on library shelves.'

"I told him I would not be agreeable to taxpayers' money being spent on subversive books," he told City Council. "When asked what I would personally do with such books, I said I would burn them—that's all. That's what all this nonsense is about."

Meanwhile, a meeting of the 1953 library board Thursday passed on to the incoming board the appeal of John Marshal, dismissed for reported past association with leftist organizations.

Marshal, fired from his library post and given no reason, has asked the board for a hearing.

Mrs. Lougheed said the library board is not practicing "Hitler tactics." She said an unnamed citizen told her "books extolling the wonders of communism were available in the library and books on democracy were not available.

LAWYERS BATTLE

LAWRENCEVILLE, Ill. (AP)—The aggravated assault case against Robert Worstel was continued for 10 days yesterday after his attorney and the state's attorney exchanged blows in county court.

The ruckus started after Worstel's attorney, Philip Benefiel, was told to "shut up" by State's Atty. Roscoe D. Cunningham. The fight was stopped by a deputy sheriff.

Soviet Ambassador Is 'Man To Watch'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ignor Gouzenko, the Soviet embassy code clerk who tipped off authorities to a spy ring in Canada, has tagged Georgi N. Zaroubin, Soviet ambassador to the United States, as a man to be watched.

Gouzenko was interviewed in Canada by Drew Pearson. The interview was filmed for television use and the transcript made public here Friday.

Pearson brought out in his questioning that Zaroubin was ambassador to Canada while Gouzenko, before his desertion in 1945, was handling coded intelligence messages to Moscow.

Gouzenko spoke of the Soviet espionage organization in Canada and said Zaroubin "knew about the general setup; he didn't know, of course, about details."

Pearson asked, "Would you consider him a dangerous man to have in Washington. . .?"

"I would suggest to watch him, to be careful," Gouzenko replied.

Gouzenko wore a mask during the interview. Pearson explained "his life is constantly in danger." The exact location of the interview was not disclosed. Gouzenko's whereabouts have been kept secret since he went under Canadian protection.

Most of the interview reviewed Gouzenko's story, told during the Canadian spy investigation, of how Soviet espionage operated and how he broke with the embassy and got in touch with Canadian authorities.

BURGLARS START EARLY

HOUSTON (AP)—Three burglars captured inside the Joy Bar yesterday trembled nervously as arresting detectives entered the place with drawn guns.

Earlier, police said, the trio had sawed the hinges off a poultry store's safe in a vain attempt at entry.

But police thought the trembling trio shouldn't have been so embarrassed at their amateurish methods. After all, they explained, the bar was just their third job.

Detectives also pointed to the ages of the captives: 10, 11 and 13.

Mothers Club Sees Slides of Europe

Young Mothers Club members saw the European slides taken by Lyle Kinney at their Tuesday night meeting. Mr. and Mrs. Kinney took the pictures during the three years they spent in Germany where he taught American Army children.

Each member went home with a clearer picture of Europe. Vague impressions were dramatized when members saw what they had read about: how white are the cliffs of Dover, or the extent of the excavations at Pompeii. A frequent comment about the pictures was that every foot of land seems to be tilled in Europe.

Kinney now teaches at Roosevelt Junior High School in Port Angeles.

The meeting was at the home of Mrs. Boyd Grant, with Mrs. Joe Pettelle as co-hostess. Members discussed business of the club-sponsored kindergarten. Mr. Stanton Gaumer, who is visiting here with her mother, Mrs. Florence McGregor, was a guest.

Forecast Mixed On 1954 Farm Prices

PULLMAN, Wash. (AP) — Farm prices in the Pacific Northwest should continue strong for hogs and cattle, remain favorable for eggs, and improve slightly for russet potatoes and wheat, S. Q. Hoobler said Friday.

But Hoobler, farm price specialist at Washington State College, said the outlook for onions continues dim with stocks 60 per cent greater on Jan. 1 than a year ago.

Hoobler said the 1953 fall pig supply was down 9 per cent from 1952 and that the number of hogs six months and older on farms Dec. 1, 1953 was estimated at 20 per cent below Dec.1, 1952. This adds up to an especially favorable price position, he declared.

He forecast a small seasonal decline in egg prices but predicted prices will remain favorable.

Scouts Paper Drive Scheduled Tomorrow

Scout Troop 490 will have its paper drive Saturday as scheduled. Scouts and their fathers will pick up bundles of paper left on the curb, from 9 to 12 that morning. Scoutmaster Ronald dePoule requests rural residents to bring their bundles of old papers and magazines to the second-hand store building in the Eshom addition.

Men who can help that morning should contact dePoule, since more are needed to pick up the bundles and load the truck that will take the waste paper to the mill. Dr. Kenneth Olts, Joe Turton, Ernest Lewis, Leonard Beil and Frank Kirk have volunteered to help.

The scoutmaster says since the troop has been allowed the use of the building for its paper drives, people may bring their paper bundles in as it accumulates. Scouts will pick it up and store it for future drives. This serves the double purpose of helping householders get rid of old papers and of helping the scouts finance their projects.

Troop 490's Wednesday night meeting was cancelled in order that all could go to the basketball game.

Prices are 22 cents for grades one through three, 28 cents for grades three through six and 30 cents for junior and senior high students.

State Reopens White Pass Route

SEATTLE (AP) — The White Pass route across the Cascades, closed several days by slides, was reopened late Thursday afternoon to two-way traffic the State Patrol reported.

A bulldozer and a snowplow cleared the route through the pass opening the way for six persons who were marooned there earlier in the week.

State Patrolman Herb C. Harriman of Packwood, one of those trapped, escorted them to Yakima late Thursday.

Harriman said he had to abandon his car when the slides hit Wednesday. He spent most of that day aiding other motorists.

When the pass opened Thursday Harriman brought out Jack Frost and James McCafferty of Yakima and Mr. and Mrs. Ken Blankenship and their daughter, of Packwood.

BIRD WATCHING IS WINTER PASTIME

By E. A. KITCHIN

It was a day of deluxe bird watching. Here we were in the spacious living room of my friendly hosts, Dr. and Mrs. Carl Marquardt. At their large plate glass windows one could sit and see the birds in the trees as well as on the ground.

I sometimes wonder what brings the birds to our doorsteps when the ground is snow-covered. The rest of the country about so empty, so little stirring. One can look over a snow-covered field and not see a living thing. And in the thick woods little stirs, perhaps a band of chickadees and kinglets, but for the most part silence.

But when food is placed out for them on a feeding station, in they come from the surrounding woods, roads and fields, to consume hungrily all they find on the feeding table and on the ground around it.

The station we watched was about 100 feet distant, under a tall cedar tree. Here was placed most of the food and it attracted most of the birds, as a rule the larger birds such as the robins, varied thrushes and flickers, and always a multitude of juncos.

The juncos were everywhere, on the ground, in the trees, in the bushes, in the open garage and along the sidewalks. Without doubt it is their numbers, busily engaged in feeding, that halts and attracts other birds during the snowy weather. We had birds out in the open all day that usually will not leave the shelter of the brushy bushes.

SPARROW HAVEN

Under a row of attractive shrubbery, azaleas, camellias and rhododendrons growing near the house was another feeding place. This was the sparrow table. The fully leafed plants afforded the low and ample protection that these birds like. Song sparrows, towhees, golden-crowns, juncos and fox sparrows fed here.

I was most interested in the fox sparrows and their actions. One seldom sees a fox sparrow in the open. They are birds that like the thick brushy locations. One gets only a glimpse of them as they scratch among the dead leaves. But here they were within ten feet of us, scratching in the snow and bare soil under the plants. If they noticed us, they were not alarmed.

Some of them were in front of our windows all day long, and we never tired of watching them digging and scratching—two scratches ahead and one backward. Mingled with them were their cousins, the song sparrows, small additions to the big brown backed birds with their stripes of arrow heads down their breasts.

At the big table the thrushes and robins came and left all during the day. Often these birds were observed just resting in the naked tree branches, different from the energetic busy sparrows.

Once we had a visit from three Brewer's blackbirds, heavy eaters, but they did not stay long. I like these birds in shiny black. They never seem to fight with the other birds and are not at all afraid of them. They walk sedately, in a dignified manner, with no nervous hopping about.

At least two flickers visited the big table and a golden-crowned sparrow was observed. The tiny Sitka kinglet put in its appearance several times hunting through the thick-leafed shrubbery near the house. We practically stood over him, and his ruby crown showed plainly.

POPULAR PATH

The joke of the day came in the afternoon. A path had been made through the snow from the house to the root-house. The afternoon sun melted what snow was left, leaving a strip of green grass exposed. This became an attraction to the robins and thrushes, and they were busy digging in the wet sod.

Then from nowhere, dropped one of our droll-looking birds, a female western evening grosbeak. With short awkward hops, tail down and head high, showing that heavy strong white bill in front of her, she advanced down the middle of the path. When she came to a feeding robin she gave a loud squawk, frightening the bird out of the way. Then along the path she came with her squawks, and all feeding birds gave way to her advance.

What the ideas of this generally demure-acting bird might have been would be hard to explain. Not once did she look for anything to eat. To us it just looked as if the bird was having fun with the other birds.

Anyway when she reached the end of the path, she launched into the air, into the high tree branches, and disappeared.

Bricklayers Reject Cash Wage Boost

SEATTLE (AP) — Five - hundred bricklayers in four Washington counties and southeast Alaska have agreed to a new work contract with employers, calling for a 10-cent an hour welfare plan payment but no cash added to their paychecks.

Affected in Washington are workers from King, Kitsap, Clallam, and Jefferson Counties. Their paycheck scale will continue at $3.30 an hour, at which level it has been since 1950.

Ed Gill, financial secretary of the AFL Bricklayers Union, said the members decided against a cash increase for the third time in three years.

"We decided on this in our own best interest. We're beginning to believe maybe we need more customers instead of more dollars an hour."

The bricklayers rejected an offered increase of 15 cents an hour in 1952 and employers, represented by the Masons Contractors Assn., said they probably could have had an additional increase this year.

In addition to turning down higher paychecks, the bricklayers have voted to assess themselves 40 cents a month for a joint promotional and advertising organization they run with contractors and suppliers. The money is used for newspaper advertising and other promotional projects to boost their work.

TURNER WORKS FOR CASE

OLYMPIA (AP) — Henry Turner, unsuccessful candidate for superintendent of public instruction in the last election, went to work for State Land Commissioner Otto A. Case this week, it was learned Thursday.

Turner, whose home is at Lacey, east of here, said he has been assigned to utility work on Land Office leasing and selling records.

Turner opposed Mrs. Pearl A. Wanamaker, as superintendent, as a member of the Board of Land Commissioners with whom Case has had several disagreements recently.

POW Leader Thinks Many China Reds Hate Their Regime

By SPENCER MOOSA

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP) — The strong man of anti-Communist Chinese war prisoners predicted this week there would be wholesale surrenders in China's Red armies if they attack again in Korea.

"There is only one life and one way to live—to kill Communists," declared Wang Sun-Ching, 27, in a talk with newsmen.

Wang, a former Nationalist soldier taken into Red China's army, is now head of Tahu (great lake) village, one of four built outside Taipeh to house the 14,000 Chinese who came back from Korea this week.

Wang, only five feet five, is tough, wiry and cocky. His comrades have honored him with the nickname of "Iron Guts."

"If the Korean War starts again," he said, "large numbers of Kung Fei (Communist bandits) will surrender at the first opportunity."

He also predicted that if the Nationalists return to the mainland the Communist regime "will be doomed for the people will rise in support of the Nationalists and Red troops will surrenderd in droves."

Wang was a second lieutenant in the Nationalist army when he was captured by Communist forces on the big south China island of Hainan in May of 1950.

Given four months of retraining, Wang said he was sent into North Korea in October of 1950 as an ammunition carrier with the rank of private. The next month he carried out a carefully laid plan and surrendered.

"My mother and 12-year-old brother were executed in one of their purges of the landlord class," he said. "My father, who was the owner of a grocery store, was spared this fate by dying of natural causes."

Wang said he was elected leader of a camp near Pusan because he organized a successful revolt against North Korean prisoners who ran the camp.

Senate Banking Group Orders Coffee Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — A second investigation of the high cost of coffee was ordered Thursday, this one by the Senate Banking Committee.

Chairman Capehart (R-Ind) said he would appoint a five-man subcommittee to carry out an investigation proposed by Sen. Beal (R-Md).

The Federal Trade Commission, with President Eisenhower's blessing, announced Wednesday it would probe into the price situation, with particular reference to whether speculative or monopolistic practices might be involved.

Coffee industry spokesmen said they welcomed an inquiry.

The price has now gone past $1 a pound at retail, and to 15 cents a cup in some restaurants.

In a statement Thursday, Beall said:

"American coffee traders could be expected to maintain sufficient stocks to protect themselves against any small fluctuation in supply.

"The increased daily trading, the immediate effect on retail prices, indicates that there have been some extraordinary profits made."

TUG NOW TOWS FREIGHTER

SEATTLE (AP) — The Coast Guard reported Thursday that the tug Salvage Chief from Astoria has taken over the tow of the freighter Aristotelis about 1,000 miles off the Columbia River mouth.

The ship, flying the Honduran flag, called for aid last week because of a low fuel supply. The Salvage Chief took over Wednesday night from the Coast Guard tug Yocona.

The vessels are expected to arrive in the Columbia River Feb. 3. The Aristotelis was on a trip from Japan to Vancouver, B.C.

FORGETTER WORKS WELL

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — One man seeking a job with the Harrisburg City police was stopped at the finger-printing stage. He asked why.

"You probably have a record," he was told. The applicant protested he didn't.

"You served a term in a reformatory, six months at the Pennsylvania Industrial School, were in a penitentiary in Virginia three years and were put on parole in North Carolina," a clerk read from a file.

"Oh, I forgot about that," said the applicant.

Are Pipe Smokers More Law-Abiding?

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Never mind whether cigarettes give you a cough.

Science is already musing over such problems. Let's take up today another tempestuous issue in the world of tobacco, which is:

If a man smokes a pipe is he less likely to rob a bank, strike his wife, or saw his mother-in-law in half?

The nation has an estimated 18 million regular or part-time pipe smokers. Are they a more law-abiding class than other type smokers?

To get the answer to this great social question Morris L. Levinson, president of the Kaywoodie Pipe Co., polled 200 police chiefs.

We have the results at hand. The statistics—like most statistics—seem to prove pretty much whatever you want to believe anyway.

To begin with, 131 police chiefs didn't reply at all. This proves something we have thought all along: You not only can't find a cop when you really want one — you can't even attract his attention through the mail.

Of the 69 police chiefs who did respond to the poll, 22 ducked the issue by saying they had no figures on the smoking habits of their local criminals. Just why not, they didn't say. But it would seem easy enough for the police, in grilling a suspect, to slip in a leading query, such as:

"We know you went to a progressive school as a boy, Butch, but what really led you to hijack that truck? What were you smoking at the time— pipe, cigarette or cigar? Come clean now — if you know what's good for you."

The remaining 47 police chiefs more or less bore out Levinson's hopeful faith that pipe smokers make good family men, rarely cause the cops trouble, and seldom kick small dogs around.

A few comments:

The prefect of police in Paris, France, regretted he had no statistical data but admitted he smoked a pipe himself.

"John McGraw of the New York Giants put thumbs down on ballplayers that smoked a pipe because they were the 'peaceful' type," wrote Chief of Detectives George Lofquist of Sacramento, Calif. "McGraw claimed they lacked that fighting spirit and I believe he was right to a large extent."

"Older men are pipe smokers, and crime reports reveal that the youngers age groups predominate in crime," said Chief Roy D. Kerr of Tacoma, Wash.

"I do not smoke at all myself," said police officer L. M. Hilton of Ogden, Utah, but acknowledged pipe smokers committed few homicides in his area.

"We have had dealings with thousands of criminals here, and I cannot recall one of the 'big time' criminals smoking a pipe," commented Chief O.A. Booke of Meridian, Miss. "On the contrary, they chain - smoked cigarettes, many of them taking only a couple puffs before stubbing it out and lighting another."

"Pipe smokers seem to have less nervous tension," wrote Police Supt. Leo Kuddy of Scranton, Pa.

"It would appear pipe smokers come from the more stable social group," observed Chief S. G. Hauckedahl of Kenosha, Wis.

"Pipe smokers are generally older, more settled persons than are the cigarette smokers, and it naturally follows that the cigarette smokers will be more numerous among the law violators," said Chief Ray Blankenship of North Little Rock, Ark.

Frankly, it seems to us this poll raises more questions than it answers.

What shape of pipe and what brand of tobacco will make pipe smokers even more lovable citizens?

Would pipe smoking by wives make them more peaceful in the home? ?

Does the country really need a good five-cent cigar, or would it just create new worries for the police?

Who commits the most crimes—the regular cigarette smoker, the filtered cigarette smoker, or the guy who likes 'em king size? Will police chiefs appear on television saying, "Why don't you smoke my brand — you don't see me being arrested, do you?"

Yes, and how about suff? a lot of people take snuff secretly, and who knows what else they may be up to?

Ever try adding caraway seeds to cream-style cottage cheese to use as a spread for crackers or large potato chips? A half teaspoon of the seeds will be about right for an 8-ounce container of the cheese.

APPLAUDS PEARSON'S IDEA

Jan. 28, 1954

Editor, Evening News

I wanted very much to say "amen" to Francis Pearson's remarks at the conclusion of the public meeting on Wednesday night which dealt with the hospital affair. However, I felt, as I'm sure many others felt, that there had been enough talk. Even "amen" seemed too much.

I believe that Mr. Pearson offered a new idea around which we might all rally. It is true that others (Mr. Heath of Tacoma General Hospital and Mrs. Dowler of the Shelton Hospital) have made surveys and offered advice which has not been taken. Now, however, we have a new start and someone qualified to appraise the hospital and recommend action to the commission might be heard and heeded. Surely the commission and the public have had enough of this row. All of us will lose, and especially the hospital will lose, if it is prolonged.

If the commission should decide to employ such a person, and then should they decide to take action on his recommendation, regardless of whose interests are affected, a great triumph will result for them. Our community would greatly benefit from such a forthright approach to our hospital problems.

Editor, Evening News:

Not only is the Centennial Edition a wonderful job, but it's manna from Heaven to the likes of us. It arrived two days after the (New York City photo-engravers) strike started, and I've been saving a section a day for my first cup of coffee.

By the time I'm through with all the stories I really will know about Port Angeles.

DRAW LOTS FOR BEQUESTS

DETROIT (AP)—Carl F. Clarke's extraordinary will now has court approval.

So, at a date to be specified, 5 friends will sit down to dinner at a hotel and draw lots for his personal effects.

Clarke, 79, a business executive died Nov. 16, leaving a $150,000 estate. His will provided for the dinner and lot-drawing. The will was admitted to probate yesterday.

Two nieces, Mrs. Leola C. Greer of Magnolia, Ohio, and Mrs. Frances Hamblen of Portland, Ore., are bequeathed $1,000 each. Clarke also gave 100 items of art work to museums and friends.

JUST LIKE A COP

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—It was a rough day for Byron Arnold when he paid a brief visit to downtown Phoenix.

He received a ticket for overparking in a 25-minute meter zone.

But later somebody picked the lock of his car and went off with an expensive pair of shoes. Police weren't around when the theft occurred.

THE REAL MCCOYS, of 225 E. 11th got to work shoveling snow off the sidewalks after several inches had fallen during the night. After two weeks of snow, sleds had lost their glamor and were stacked on the porch, but it seemed like just the thing to fill the wagons with snow and dump it somewhere else. Four-year-old Dougie, right, was official wagon-tongue holder. The other two youngsters of Mr. and Mrs. Allen McCoy are Marilyn, 5, and Monty, 6.

POPE STILL CONFINED

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Pius XII was still confined to his Vatican apartment Friday but celebrated mass in his private chapel. Vatican sources said the Pope continued to show improvement but has not yet completely recovered from fatigue.

In 1940 about 41 per cent of nonfarm families in the United States owned their own homes, compared with about 54 per cent today.

Women's and 4-H Activities Featured in Report of Extension Agent Ruby Knudson

Everything from lampshades to landscaping is contained in the annual report of Miss Ruby Knudson, Clallam County extension agent in charge of home economics.

The 104-page report compiled by County Agents Darrell Turner, Melvin Michel and Miss Knudson covers the period from October, 1952 to November 1953.

Miss Knudson's duties include home economics, health, family life, 4-H projects in home economics, county demonstration contests, 4-H rally and the 4-H county council.

Many projects highlighted the past year's activities, she said. The first major program was in home lighting improvements.

During the winter months, illustrated talks and work highlighted this project in many homes. Miss Knudson held a two day workshop where ladies made lampshades and bases. The participants built six lamp bases, reconditioned 10 old lamps and made 52 lampshades.

Studies in present lighting systems resulted in 224 rooms improved and 500 existing systems changed.

Another project receiving high interest was the sewing program for 4-H girls and women, said Miss Knudson. She devoted two days in March to instructions and work on draperies. The group made 20 drapes and curtains during the classes.

The county home demonstration agent held five clothing workshops during a three-month period. Basic sewing classes started for 4-H girls.

The workshop resulted in 33 completed projects.

FOODS PREPARED

Sauerkraut and pickles featured the May food meeting of 4-H adult leaders and members. From the classes the women packed 597 quarts of pickles and 202 of sauerkraut. With the assistance of specialists, Miss Knudson also conducted cooking and kitchen practices classes for the farm home maker.

In summarizing her activities the past year, Miss Knudson said 731 families received instruction and information from her office. Her figures showed 164 home visits, 440 office calls, 1,224 telephone calls, 30 radio broadcasts and distribution of 2,562 bulletins.

Meetings and training sessions with adults totaled 54, with approximately 1,581 attending. In 4-H work, Miss Knudson conducted or attended 42 meetings with 1,193 youngsters in attendance.

The home economics demonstrator held 211 meetings during the preceding year with local leaders and 6,031 persons attended. In 4-H leader's meetings, Miss Knudson conducted 480 meetings attended by 3,240 people, the report shows.

"It was a busy year," Miss Knudson said. Half of her average work day was spent with the adult leaders and the other half with the 4-H youths, she reported. The average work week of five days usually extended into seven during the course of her duties, the agent said.

"For the coming year we are planning more classes in nutrition, health, child guidance, landscaping and basket weaving," the report predicts.

"Women needing help do not have to be a member of any Grange, leader's club or affiliated with a farm oganization," she reminded. "Our offices are to help everyone and we are glad to give assistance," she concluded.

In addition to her duties here, Miss Knudson is president of the Washington State Extension Home Agents Association.

Don't let your washable paper—in kitchen or bathroom — get heavily filmed with grease or dust before you clean it. When you do wash it, use a mild soap solution and a sponge. Wring out the sponge and apply lightly with up and down strokes, starting at the bottom. Rinse at once with a second sponge wrung out of clear water. Do not permit the paper to become soaked.

Lions Club Hears "Y" Guest Speakers

Port Angeles Lions heard three school students talk on the YMCA program at their luncheon meeting Thursday noon in the Lee Hotel.

Beryle Evenson, representing the Tri-Hi-Y, the YMCA club for girls, talked on the purpose and activities of the Y. She based her talk on the proverb: "Show a good man his error and he will turn it into a virtue; a bad man will only double the fault."

She reviewed the growth of the Y from a single room in the firehall to a complete youth center with its own building, offering supervised recreation for all ages. She expressed the young people's appreciation of the opportunities the Y affords and asked for everyone's moral and financial support in keeping the program in operation.

"The YMCA is not getting the recognition it should," Louis Curto, Roosevelt Junior High Hi-Y member told the men. He enumerated some of the activities the Y sponsors, among them sports, other forms of recreation, and hobby classes. He described the growth of the young people's clubs from the original four to 16, and appealed to the group to support the Y.

Stewart Clark showed the club slides of Y activities, including athletic events, dances, club installations, Pee Wee strolls, and hobby classes and other building activities.

Robert Wheeler, Lions president, conducted the business session, and described the mid-winter conference Saturday in Longview. He announced a tape recording of the speech of Jack Stickley, third vice president of Lions International who came up from the south for the conference, will be played for the group at the Valentine dinner-dance Feb. 13.

He also announced the license plate tags "Home of the Olympic National Park" have been shipped from the factory and will be here shortly.

Chester Capps introduced Walter Evans as a new member. Guests at the meeting were Walter Roberge, Forks, and Ralph Steele. The club increased the amounts of the "tail twisting" fines for the day and voted to contribute them to the March of Dimes.

Fire Is Out, So Is $3,500

SAN MATEO, Calif. (AP)—Jeweler Earl Randolph was pleased with the way firemen put out a $10,000, two-alarm fire in his shop yesterday.

But he thinks the firemen might have been a little careless with their hoses. Missing from a work bench swept clean by the water were gold, platinum and four unset diamonds valued at $3,500, Randolph said.

Organization News

Local Men Attend Palsy Association Regional Meeting

Ted Browne, president of the Olympic Peninsula Cerebral Palsy Association, and Dr. Earl Eli are home from Los Angeles, where they attended the western regional conference of the United Cerebral Palsy Association.

They report Idaho, Nevada and Utah have come into the parent organization since the fall conference in Seattle, when Arizona and Oregon first were represented. Four new California local affiliates also have been formed since September.

The session took place in the Hollywood Roosevelt Hotel, with separate conferences held simultaneously for lay personnel and for professional personnel. Dr. Eli attended all professional conferences, and Browne the lay conferences. Both men attended the general sessions.

Sunday afternoon representatives toured CP facilities. Their first stop was the new Los Angeles County UCPA workshop, a building occupying almost a quarter of a block. It will go into service within the next two weeks providing adult training and a sheltered workshop, complete therapy treatments, work therapy and vocational training and counselling.

Like the Seattle workshop, after which it is patterned, it will work with the state department of vocational training for job training and placement for those who can qualify, and provide a sheltered workshop for those unable to qualify for a regular job.

They inspected the CP center operated by the Los Angeles Orthopedic Hospital, a complete outpatient department for CP children in a separate building.

There also is an inpatient ward in the general hospital building. On a UCPA research grant, a doctor at the center is working on problems of breath control of CP children in relation to speech and speech difficulties.

This project, little more than a year old, will be continued until definite methods of help are established or until it is determined that further research along these lines is of no further use according to Browne. The doctor in charge said it was still too soon to make any prediction of ultimate accomplishment.

Currently he is employing an iron lung in an attempt to improve the rhythm of breathing and to increase the capacity of the lungs for deeper breathing, since many CP children breathe too shallowly to permit good speech.

Other CP facilities include four day nurseries the Los Angeles association operates, in connection with four of the major hospitals, where working parents may take their palsied children and know they are getting proper care. The nurseries operate day and night to care for children when family emergencies make it difficult or impossible to care for them properly at home.

Browne compared the Los Angeles workshop with the Seattle one which has been operating for about 18 months.

"They have the same program," he said. "But the Seattle adult workshop is restricted to operating on a smaller scale with a much smaller staff due to its lack of finance. The Los Angeles shop, which serves a larger population, has an overall budget of approximately $200,000 while Seattle's budget is only $62,000.

"The California program also is aided by a number of fund raising campaigns," he continued. "TV Telethons in San Francisco and Los Angeles have raised as much as $500,000 at a time. So far the Northwest has not been able to stage even one. The postmen of Los Angeles county raised many thousands of dollars in the 'Postman's Walk,' as did the postmen in Alameda County, Calif.

"The Seattle workshop gets its funds from the Seattle United Good Neighbors. Olympic Peninsula Cerebral Palsy Association has been supported by the local United Good Neighbors for the past two years."

Coffee a Nickel? Go to Steve's

VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP)—Twenty years ago Steve LeRouge went into the restaurant business. Next Tuesday, at his restaurant at Dollar's Corner, about 16 miles northeast of here, he will observe the anniversary by following his original menu-prices included.

And so those who crowd into his establishment—he can seat perhaps 30 or so—can choose among these: T-bone, 40 cents; roast beef, roast pork or pork chops, 35 cents; hamburgers, 10 cents; coffee, 5 cents; and a great big banana split with three scoops of ice cream for a quarter.

Choir of the West To Give Concert Here

Pacific Lutheran College "Choir of the West" will give works of contemporary composers, arrangements of familiar hymns and choral classics Saturday at 8 p.m. in Roosevelt auditorium.

The Holy Trinity Lutheran Church Brotherhood and Women's Missionary Society are sponsoring the concert here. The choir is giving premiere performances in this country of "Anbetung des Kindes" or "Worship of the Child" by Heinz Lau, a young German composer. Lau's modern work is an unrestrained prayer for peace, according to the Rev. Carl E. Fischer.

Also included on the program are two arrangements by Prof. Gunnar J. Malmin, veteran conductor of the choir — a setting of the old French tune "Picardy", and "Tryggare Kan Ingen Vara" or "Children of the Heavenly Father", a Swedish hymn.

Draperies and glass curtains used together at a window should be similar in feeling. Chintz draperies, for instance, look attractive with glass curtains of marquisette or organdy. Draperies of a heavy material such as denim combine well with glass curtains of theatrical gauze or fish net.

PHONE CO. PLANS EXPANSION

SEATTLE (AP) —Plans for the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co. to spend 24 million dollars in expansion and improvement of its Washington State facilities were reported Thursday.

G. M. Dean, vice president and general manager, said construction will start on a micro-wave relay system for a television and telephone link between Pasco and Portland, at an estimated cost of $1,760,000. It will connect with the Spokane-Yakima micro-wave system.

The largest single project will be a 5 million dollar job of linking about a dozen suburban communities into the Seattle dial system.

Pro Teams Tap Thirteen Men From Northwest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The National Football League Thursday drafted 13 players who performed in the Northern Division of the Pacific Coast Conference and at least two of them expect to try the professional game next fall.

Howard McCants and Wayne Berry, both of Washington State, said they will try out with the teams that tapped them. McCants, towering WSC end, was the fourth round choice of the Detroit Lions. Berry was picked by the New York Giants in the sixth round.

McCants said since his home is near Detroit he would prefer to play at Los Angeles or San Francisco but will "try to make the squad" with the Lions.

Berry said he hopes to take up coaching after a stint with the pros.

Other Northwesterners whose names came up in the draft were:

Dave Mann, Oregon State back now with the Ft. Ord Army team, by Chicago Cardinals; George Black, Washington end, by Los Angeles; Dean Chambers, Washington tackle, by Chicago Cards; Emery Barnes, Oregon end by Green Bay; Duane Wardlow, Washington tackle, by Los Angeles; Milt Schwenk, Washington State tackle, by Détroit; Robert Hartman, Oregon State tackle, by Detroit; Joe Fulwyler, Oregon State center, by Pittsburgh; William Albrecht, Washington back, by Chicago; Mel Bertrand, Idaho center, by Detroit; Terry Campbell, Washington State back, by Green Bay.

Northern Hoop League Opens Tournament Play This Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Northern Division Basketball warfare resumes Friday night with Idaho in the same happy predicament that Oregon faced last week—The Vandals wil ltackle a "cousin" while the two top contenders bang heads.

Idaho meets lowly Washington State at Pullman and Oregon and Oregon State square off at Corvallis.

Last week while Idaho and Oregon State were splitting a two-game stand, Oregon posted a pair of triumphs over last place Washington and coasted to the top of the heap.

In third place but favored by the schedule, the Vandals will be hoping for at least a split in the Oregon-Oregon State collision. Idaho has two games with Oregon left on its schedule and after that the Vandals play only the tail-enders.

A sweep by Oregon, of course, would all but sew up the title for the Ducks. Going into the series, the Ducks have a 5-1 conference record compared to the 4-2 and 4-3 marks, respectively, of Oregon State and Idaho.

Idaho will play a single game with WSC this weekend. After Friday night's game at Corvallis, the Ducks and the Beavers will move to Eugene to wind up the series Saturday right.

Washington draws a conference bye this week, meeting Brigham Young of the Skyline Conference in an intersectional clash at Seattle Friday and Saturday nights.

Teddies Win Close Game From Port Townsend Kids

In a tight, low-scoring defensive game, the Roosevelt Teddies squeezed by the Port Townsend Papooses, 32-26, before a god sized crowd in the Roosevelt gymnasium last night.

The victory evened the two game series between the teams. Previously the Teddies had taken a 53-26 walloping at Port Townsend.

The score was tied constantly during the major portion of the contest. In the second quarter, Charlie Parks and Sam Hurworth pumped in field goals for a 10-6 lead but the Papooses came back at 11-11 as the second half opened.

The Teddies went ahead to stay with four minutes left in the final quarter. Bill Grover swept in for a driving layin, Hurworth hooked one from the side, and Marv Erdmann hit with a jump shot from the key for a six point lead they held to the finish.

Terry Clayton played a stellar defensive game under the backboards.

In the preliminary, Chet Woodside and Jim Hansen paced the Roosevelt reserves to 27-24 win over the Papoose seconds.

In seventh and eighth grade action in the old gym, the Roosevelt seventh squeezed by the Port Townsend seventh, 23-21, and the eighth graders lost to the visitors, 31-23.

Spokane Hires New Manager

SPOKANE (AP) — The Spokane Indians of the Western International Baseball League Thursday hired an ex-football coach as business manager and gave him orders to "fill up the park."

Raymond (Babe) Curfman, who resigned last month as head football coach at the University of Idaho, was given the assignment by Indian owner Roy Hotchkiss. Hotchkiss said his only instructions to Curfman was to keep the turnstiles clicking.

The Indians set a minor league attendance record in 1947 but last year had trouble at the gate.

Curfman, who gained a lot of friends during three years at Idaho, said he will move here from Moscow to take the job.

HUSKY COACH ENTERS BUSINESS

SEATTLE (AP) — Morris (Red) Badgro, University of Washington end coach since 1946 and a former professional football and baseball player, said Thursday he will quit coaching to enter business.

His announcement leaves Coach Johnny Cherberg with two coaching staff spots to fill. Lou Saban, the backfield coach, is leaving for a post at Northwestern.

Badgro, who came from Kent, Wash., was a three-year end at the University of Southern California. He later played pro football and was an assistant coach at Columbia. He also played baseball for two years with the St. Louis Browns and with minor league teams.

His departure also leaves Washington without a head baseball coach. He was slated to take over this spring.

4 Trainmen Hurt As Train Hits Slide

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — A Canadian Pacific locomotive pulling a Kettle Valley passenger line train struck a snow slide and plunged 150 feet down an embankment in Coquihalla Pass Thursday, injuring the four train crewmen.

None of the occupants of the passenger cars, which did not leave the tracks, was injured. The accident occurred near Iago, 114 miles east of here as the train was en route to Medicine Hat, Alberta.

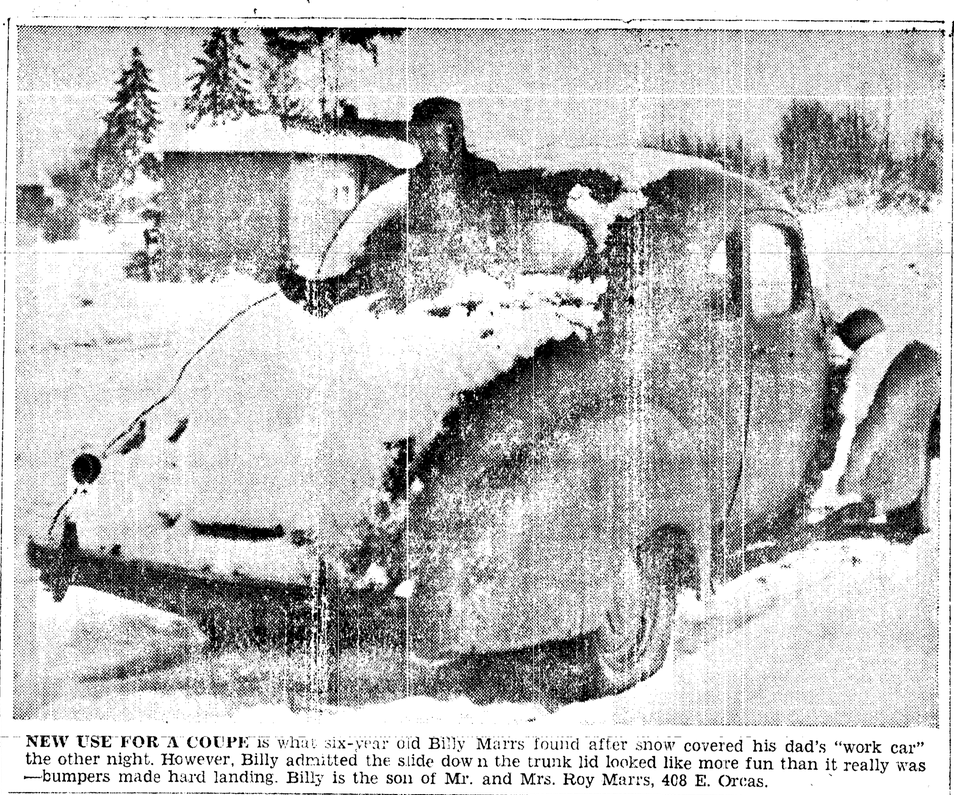
Two locomotives were pulling the train. The first struck the slide as the engine rounded a sharp curve and plunged down the bank into 20 feet of snow.

The second engine plunged into the snowslide and was buried to the roof. Only its front trucks left the tracks.

Trainmen in the second locomotive pulled the four injured crew members from the first unit.

GEM THEFT SOLVED

PARIS (AP)— French police say they have solved the theft fo $100,000 worth of gems Jan. 17 from the Riviera villa of the Countess de la Lompre. They announced they had arrested Marius Peytier, 43-year-old convicted jewel thief.



NEW USE FOR A COUPE is what six-year old Billy Marrs found after snow covered his dad's "work car" the other night. However, Billy admitted the slide down the trunk lid looked like more fun than it really was —bumpers made hard landing. Billy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Marrs, 408 E. Orcas.

Navy Base Boss Faces State Game Charge

PORT ORCHARD (AP) — A complaint charging Capt. B. D. Kelley, commander of the Navy's Bangor ammunition depot, with unlawful possession of game was filed in justice court Thursday.

Pros. John C. Merkel filed the charge on complaint of Walt C. Bush, a Washington State Game Department protector.

Merkle's deputy, Farrell C. Cook, said a hearing next Wednesday is expected to bring into the open the issue of whether the Game Department or the Navy's base commander holds authority over wild life on Indian Island, which is part of the Navy's Bangor depot reservation.

There is no mention in the complaint, however, of where the deer carcasses involved in the case originated.

The complaint charges Capt. Kelley of having a doe deer in possession last October when the doe season was not open; having more than the bag limit in possession; failure to have a written statement or tag attached.

John Biggs, State Game Department director, said his department claims authority over game on Indian Island, and that the Navy commander had contended that deer on the island were a menace to ammunition trucks. Bangor is in Kitsap County, but Indian Island is across Hood Canal in Jefferson County.

"Due to the recent inclement weather, the 1954 March of Dimes must now rely more than ever on the generosity of the people of Port Angeles as expressed by their contributions in the coin cards," Dolliver said.

"The Clallam County chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis stands ready to give assistance at any time to anyone suffering from infantile paralysis. This, added to the fact that $26,500,000 will be needed for polio prevention in 1954, makes it imperative that the March of Dimes drive be a success," Dolliver said.

"The dimes and dollars we contribute today in these coin cards will be used tomorrow to continue the fight to save all of us and our children from the crippling effects, both financial and physical, of polio.

"With victory over polio in sight and the need so great the people of this area should firmly resolve: 'Regardless of Snow — Fight Polio,'" Dolliver said.

There were 2,291,000 marriages in the United States in 1946.

NON-CATHOLICS BANNED

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—Roman Catholic Colombia's government has issued orders reminding public officials that non-Catholic foreigners in Colombia must not engage in religious activity outside their church or chapel premises.

The orders were contained in a circular from Interior Minister Lucio Pabon Nunez. It cited a number of religious acts prohibited to non-Catholic foreigners under the constitution and an agreement with the Holy See.

It added that Protestants may not carry out public missionary work or educational work, except that they may teach children of non-Catholic foreigners.

Kefauver Presses Tank Bid Quiz

WASHINGTON (AP)— Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) said he will ask Pentagon officials today to explain what he regards as "a dangerous policy of concentrating defense contracts in a single producer."

At his request, Chairman Saltonstall (R-Mass) called the Senate Armed Services Committee for a public inquiry into a 200-million-dollar contract for Army tanks with a General Motors subsidiary, Fisher Body Corp.

"This appears to be a dangerous departure from the principle of maintaining a very broad defense production base," Kefauver said in an interview, adding that destruction of a single plant could halt all production.

Fisher Body and the Chrysler Corp. were the only bidders on the contract.

Kefauver concedes that the Fisher Body bid was lower than Chrysler's but questions whether there will be an over-all saving as far as national defense is concerned.

Deer Park Now Has 84 Inches of Snow

Eighty - four inches of snow covers Deer Park now, according to Olympic National Park headquarters. Rangers reported a half inch of new snow, with breakable crust.

People traveling to Deer Park this weekend should travel with caution. "Be ready for any cars coming the opposite way," said Ranger Jack Broadbent. The park removed the regulation governing travel times, but there is danger of accidents on the narrow road, Broadbent said.

Manager Edward Halterman announced the lodge will not be open until 2 p.m. Saturday.

The Olympic Ski Club reported the following changes on classes Sunday:

Alaska Governor Backs Statehood

By FRANK W. VAILLE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Alaska's Gov. B. Frank Heintzleman believes the territory could make a financial success of statehood now.

The governor's views, expressed at a closed door session of the Senate Territories Subcommittee Wednesday, were obtained from sources who asked that their names not be disclosed.

Heintzleman himself has declined in interviews with newsmen to take a public position on whether Alaska could support statehood at thist ime.

Appearing before the Senate committee last year in connection with his nomination to be governor of Alaska, he said in essence that he favored statehood for Alaska when it had developed an economic base sufficient to support itself as a state.

More recently, he announced he favored sending an Alaska bill to the Senate floor for discussion. Asked directly whether he favored statehood now, however, he replied that it depended upon the bill reported by the Senate committee.

Reliable sources, however, indicated the governor was much more direct in his testimony to the subcommittee.

One source described his statements as "quite contradictory" to those made last year at the time of his nomination.

"You can say the governor made a good witness for statehood," the source declared.

Army Investigating McCarthy Aide 'Fix'

FT. DIX N.J. (AP) — The Ft. Dix information officer said Friday that an investigation is under way into "certain allegations" that G. David Schine got preferential treatment while taking basic training here.

Schine, 26, was staff consultant to Sen. McCarthy's (R-Wis) permanent investigations subcommittee before he was drafted on Nov. 4 last.

McCarthy has denied intervening with the military for special treatment for his former aide.

The New York Post said Friday that the investigation stemmed from complaints voiced by Schine's fellow trainees.

Capt. Harry H. Lapham, the Dix information officer, acknowledged that an investigation has been ordered.

He said Maj. Gen. Cornelius E. Ryan, commander of Ft. Dix, would have no comment until the probe was completed—in about a week or 10 days.

Schine himself completed his period at Dix on Jan. 16 and left on furlough before reporting for advanced training at the provost marshall school in Camp Gordon, Ga.

The Post account said Schine, whose family owns a string of hotels, was slated for training in the Army's criminal investigation division.

Lapham said the soldier had a "C" physical profile, indicating he was not in top physical shape, and so he was not sent on to advance infantry training.

The Post quoted Lapham as saying:

"Schine was permitted to leave week-ends at the request of a congressional committee and it isn't within the province of the commandant here to say yea or nay."

Water began flowing again from the large reservoir to city users about 4 p.m.
