Port Angeles Can Feel Proud of Juveniles, City Council Learns From Letter, Report

Port Angeles citizens need not be unduly alarmed about juvenile delinquency here; in fact, they can feel proud of the younger people of the community, City Council members learned at their regular meeting Thursday night.

Superior Court Judge Max Church, juvenile officer for this area, said in a letter to the Council: "If the parents of Port Angeles had an opportunity to observe the comparable statistics and incidents of juvenile delinquency in this community over and against those occurring in most metropolitan areas, I feel that they would not be unduly alarmed, but somewhat proud of the young people."

SIX YOUTHS APPEAR

City Council also got a look at a group of six conscientious young people of the community last night. They appeared at the meeting to defend the reputation of the senior high school students.

Larry Movius, speaker for the group, said high school students conducted "intensive" research over the past few weeks, after a group of mothers appeared at a City Council meeting to protest persecution of younger boys by the "bigger boys."

"We interviewed law enforcement officers, teachers, businessmen, clergymen and youth leaders and most of those said they knew of no alarming increase of juvenile delinquency. Instead, most said they just knew what they read in the papers.

NO JUSTIFICATION

"We found no justification whatsoever for alarm," Movius said.

"Do you mean that the rate of juvenile delinquency actually is not on the increase, is not abnormally high, nor higher than it has been?" asked City Attorney Andrew Severyns.

"Absolutely not," replied Movius. "In fact, law enforcement officers, such as Chief Harry Kochanek, tell us if anything, the juveniles are better this year than last, and that they are getting better cooperation from students regarding the control of hazing at the high school."

"I just wanted to verify my own information that the rate of juvenile delinquency per capita has not risen," Severyns said.

Movius said the students felt there was an implication that high school students were involved in hazing of a serious type.

"This is based on one incident that happened not long ago, and that we have found to be absolutely false. We feel we would like to get a retraction of this in a medium that would satisfy the citizenry and uphold the reputation of senior high school students," Movius said.

Judge Church's letter also provided an authority for that retraction.

"Let me set the record straight concerning the incident which was recently reported to the police and which seems to have touched off a great deal of talk," Judge Church wrote. "The incident . . . involved the supposed hazing of a 14-year-old boy; it should now be known that the first version of this affair proved to be completely erroneous and that no high school boy whatever was in any way involved in the transaction."

Judge Church said he can easily understand the concern which parents of younger students might naturally have if they felt their children were being endangered.

"But I am satisfied that the facts do not warrant undue concern on this score," said the judge.

He said he had interviewed Mark Whitman, high school principal; John Driscoll and Merle Cowling, boys' and girls' advisors; and Margaret Powell high school teacher and City Councilwoman, concerning the recent "protestations" made to the council regarding so-called "hazings," recently. He also interviewed three of the six elected student delegates to the Council meeting.

EFFECTIVE STEP

"For sometime past I have watched with great interest the development of the Student Council movement in the Port Angeles High School . . . I believe this self-governing body voluntarily set up by the students . . . is a gratifying and effective step toward setting a high standard in the school.

"A great deal more can be accomplished by such an organization in developing a wholesome moral climate and a sense of responsibility than can be done by any outside agency, for instance the Juvenile Court. This is exemplified in the fact that the leaders seem to be chosen not necessarily for athletic prowess or personal popularity, but on the basis of intelligence and leadership."

Acting Mayor Paul Neer welcomed Movius, Herbert Dempsey (a government class student who happened to be at City Council at the Sept. 17 meeting when the protesting mothers appeared), Jim Smith, Karlene Jacobsen, Laurie Ott and Paula Cofer, all elected by students to represent their Student Council at the meeting.

NO DISCREDIT

"It has never been the intention of the Council to in any way discredit the majority of juveniles of the community," Near said. "Individuals appeared here who protested incidents happening to their own children, and we found it necessary to take some measures.

"Your parents can be very proud of you, and I'm sure it is gratifying to the school. You are upholding the highesst traditions of young people by coming here to present your case. We in the city government are very proud of you, and if we can be of any help to you we will be glad to do so.

Judge Max Church also said, "It is true there are incidents that require the supervision and treatment of the Juvenile Division of the Superior Court and we feel some success is being reached along this line.

"Unfortunately in this and all other situations it is the few delinquents about whom we hear the most, and little is said about the great majority who are behaving themselves and are developing into sound young men and women."

City Manager G. S. Vergeer and Chief Kochanek said results of the curfew have been gratifying, and it will continue. The students, themselves, had no objection to it. They said a student poll had shown only a few objections, and those from students who didn't understand the provisions of the ordinance. The curfew ordinance has been read to the student body, and mimeographed copies are available to the students, Movius said.

Statistics comparing Port Angeles juvenile arrests with other communities would be hard to interpret, Chief Kockanek said after the meeting, because Port Angeles does not have the transient juvenile problem of most communities, probably because of its comparative isolation.

Kochanek did, however, provide the following statistics for recent years here: Police made 172 juvenile arrests in the city in 1952; 157 in 1953, and have made 152 so far in 1954. Arrests up to Oct. 1 in 1953 were 130.

Council Adopts Budget, Reviews Bids On Trucks

City Council members pondered a few problems besides juveniles at their meeting Thursday night. They passed the ordinance adopting the 1955 budget, reviewed bids on light department trucks and started action on an employe suggestion plan for the city

The 1955 budget total is $2,472,804 with salaries and wages, $501,155; maintenance and operation, $894,159; capital, $994,782 and bond requirements of $82,707.

MORE ON COAST GUARD

Council members directed City Manager G. S. Vergeer to await official word from the Coast Guard office in Washington D. C. before making any other requests for modification of the city and federal government 99-year lease on Ediz Hook.

Councilman J. L .McFadden told the group he and Vergeer met with Vice Admiral Alfred Richmond, Washington, D. C. commandant of the Coast Guard at Ediz Hook a week ago.

"Richmond wasn't aware of the request for an additional 800 feet," McFadden said. "He was to look into it and let us know. Both he and the Seattle commandant said they saw no reason the area of the Salmon Club boat basin could not be kept by the club and access to it maintained."

A recent letter from Capt. V. E Day to Vergeer asking for a change in the city's requests, prompted his asking the wishes of the Council in the matter. They advised him to wait for word from Washington, D .C.

JURISDICTION

City Attorney Andrew Severyns told the council he is checking on the jurisdiscton of the Civil Service Commission concerning making a ruling on city employes competing with other people employed in the community.

"Such a ruling would be so close to tending to infringe on the private rights of the citizen that we want to be very sure of our ground before we proceed," Severyns said.

Civil Service Commission Chairman Murray Randall asked the council to pass an ordinance requiring city police and firemen to reside within the city limits, and the Council asked Severyns to prepare such an ordinance to be considered at the next meeting.

Councilmen reviewed bids on a light department cab and chassis, body, and ladder, and postponed action for further study. Bids were made by Ruddell Oldsmobile-Cadillac Inc., Priest Logging and Equipment Company, Swanson Motor Company, Janish Motor Company and Schreiner Chevrolet Company.

Councilman Joseph Wolfe brought up the employe suggestion plan. Acting Mayor Paul Neer appointed Wolfe to work with Vergeer in studying the feasibility of the plan for use in this city.

The Council also passed a motion tion for $250,000 in revenue bonds to allow termination of the city's contract with the Public Utility District Jan. 1 .The bonds will be on a five-year basis, with five per cent interest.

New Type Parking Meter Installed

Downtown Port Angeles will soon have a new type of parking meter. The local parking meter department has just completed installation of multiple-penny heads on all meters from Oak to Lincoln on 1st Street, City Manager G. S. Vergeer announced today.

The parking meters are being changed to overcome complaints of patrons, particularly out-of-town users not familiar with the former type of meter, in which only one penny or one nickel could be used. The new meter heads take from two to five pennies, or a nickel.

One penny will now buy 12 minutes of parking time; two pennies, 24 minutes; three pennies, 36 minutes; four pennies 48 minutes and five pennies or a nickel, 60 minutes.

By Monday morning, the new meter heads will also be on all meters from Oak to Lincoln on Front. Then on receipt of the balance of the meter heads, the department will place them on all meters in town.

Kidnap-Rapist Wins More Time

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Convicted kidnap-rapist Caryl Chessman had another tenuous lease on life Friday, and another legal victory in his six-year fight to avoid the gas chamber.

The State Supreme Court Thursday refused to vacate the stay of execution one of its members granted the 32-year-old author of "Cell 2455, Death Row" on July 29, the eve of his most recent date with death.

That means Chessman's case is again in the hands of the Supreme Court of the United States and he cannot be executed until at least 60 days after that tribunal acts.

Fishing Boat Makes Big Catch—12 Deer

Ketchikan, Alaska (AP) — A Ketchikan fishing boat came in with the biggest catch of the season Thursday--a herd of 12 deer.

The crew of the boat "Five Brothers" picked them up about 5 miles out, on a 10-mile span of water between an island and a point. Capt. Tom Kristovich said several were near exhaustion and one was given artificial respiration. He said they swam up to the boat and readily came aboard.

Doctors Discuss Giving Patient Exact Information Before Operation

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

NEW YORK (AP)—Your next operation can be made easier — and you might not talk about it so much afterward—if your doctors tell you all about it beforehand.

That is the message presented today at the first annual meeting of a new medical organization the Academy of Psychosomatic Medicine.

Psychosomatic means pains or ailments caused by emotions or feelings or fears, rather than actual physical faults or disorders.

TWO-DAY SESSION

The new academy's two-day session is devoted to psychosomatic aspects of surgery.

If you need an operation, the doctors should give you a guide map and timetable of all that will happen to you, said Dr. William Kaufman, of Bridgeport, Conn., academy president.

He said the foreknowledge will help you over the rough or unexpected spots and probably even make it less painful.

"The less discomfort you expect to have, the less you probably will have," he said.

UNEXPECTED MOVES

Much of the difficulty, he said, can come from the fact that doctors or nurses do things to you which you don't expect or which you find distasteful or frightening.

Knowing in advance that those things are commonplace and ordinary can help you accept them and help relieve the fears and anxieties which normally come with having to face surgery.

Many persons feel their chronic illhealth dates to some operation, he said.

They probably are actually suffering from emotional upsets or emotional crippling from some operation for which they were not fully prepared.

Senator Says 'Pressure' Applied To Bypass Check On Housing Project

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Capehart (R-Ind) said Friday he has been put under "pressure" not to investigate a case in which he said two men received fees for their help in getting government-insured loans on defense housing projects.

Capehart is chairman of the Senate Banking Committee, nearing the end of six months of hearings into housing scandals which Capehart calls the biggest in history.

"They can't put pressure on me and they might as well know it," the Senator declared publicly near the end of Friday morning's session. He said the "pressure" had been exerted in telephone calls within the past 24 hours.

DECLINED TO ELABORATE

Later, he declined to elaborate to newsmen or to disclose who made the calls to him.

Capehart told newsmen that a dozen different firms had paid about $60,000 in fees to the two men, whom he identified as Richard McCormack and Marshall Diggs, both of Washington.

McCormack was called as a witness Friday morning but his attorney said he was too ill from nervousness and high blood pressure to testify. Capehart ordered an examination by a government doctor to determine if McCormack could testify later in the day

William Simon, the committee counsel, asked Dr. Thornton T. Perry, McCormack's physician:

"Would the fact that he forgot to include $27,500 in his income tax return account for his nervousness?"

"I guess that would make anybody nervous," Dr. Perry replied, smiling.

CONSULTED ON PROJECT

John H. Hill and R. Emerson Jarson of Charleston, W. Va., testified they consulted with McCormack and Diggsone defense housing project.

Capehart asked Hill if McCormack told him that Diggs was "virtually the father of the Wherry (military housing) act and knew many influential people."

Hill replied he thought McCormack may have intimated something like that, but he said his memory was not very clear.

Earlier, a Washington attorney testified he received about $155,000 in checks from a builder, but he couldn't remember now what he did with much of the money. He insisted none of it was used for bribes.

The series of hearings was scheduled to windup Friday, but Capehart said anyone who feels injured by the testimony thus far will still get a chance to appear.

Fast Six Gun Draw Results in Fast Arrest of Man

A fast six gun draw and shot resulted in the fast arrest of Leif Ellington early this morning by Deputy Sheriff James Monds

Ellington, about 28, is being held for the sheriff in the city jail after an impromptu wild west show. No one was injured during the brief gun drawing exhibition at the Lower Elwha home of Foster Charles.

According to Sheriff James Morse, who also investigated, Ellington barged into the Charles home about 3 a.m. this morning. Charles awoke and found Ellington standing in the kitchen.

"Want to see a quick draw?" Ellington is alleged to have asked. Without another word , Ellington quickly reached with his right hand inside his shirt.

SHOT THROUGH WINDOW

All traces of sleep disappeared from Charles when Ellington pulled the trigger. The bullet drilled a kitchen window and awoke Charles' wife and eight children.

Charles ran out of the house to obtain help .He called the sheriff's office and returned to find Ellington gone.

Deputy Monds arrived and was told to look for a pickup truck, driven by Ellington. Monds hopped in his modern V-8 horse and overtook Ellington near Dry Creek.

The Deputy Sherif ffound the 38 caliver revolver in the truck. Sheriff Morse arrived at the scene and found no permit for the gun.

The case has been referred to the county prosecutor for possible filing of charges.

Woman Gets Surprise With Food Order

CINCINNATI, (AP) — All she wanted was a hamburger and a soft drink to go, the woman motorist told the drive-in car hop.

Soon two paper bags appeared on the service ledge.

The customer opened her packages at home. In one was the hamburger; in the other--no pop, but $100 in receipts.

"Send my drink and you can have the money," she telephoned the restaurant.

The restaurant didn't say who the woman was and didn't explain how the mix-up occurred. But service on the call was prompt.

Heavy Frost Hits Maine Spud Crop

PRESQUE ISLE, Maine. (AP) — The heaviest frost of the season Friday ruined most of Maine's remaining gardens and delayed even further the race to dig the potato crop before it is ruined.

The temperature dropped to the mid-20s, crusting the hearth covering the unharvested spuds -- about half of the 39 million bushel crop.

Ike Ready To Fire With Hard Hitting Speech, Aide Says

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

President Eisenhower steps up to the political firing line again tonight for what an aide said would be the President's "hardest hitting" speech of the campaign for control of the next Congress.

Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon were due to go before television cameras and radio microphones at 9:30 p.m. EST from Denver's Municipal Auditorium.

The summer White House said the TV coverage would be the most extensive of any political speech ever made.

IN DENVER

In Denver, Eisenhower was pictured as being in a fighting mood as he awaited the hour to make what Murray Snyder, assistant White House press secretary, said would be a "straight from the shoulder" speech patterned after the President's Hollywood Bowl address two weeks ago.

After a conference with Eisenhower yesterday, Nixon announced the President has agreed to make at least one additional major address, but the vice president stressed the President is not swerving from his policy of not campaigning for individual GOP candidates.

The only presidential campaign talk on schedule after tonight is a get-out-the-vote appeal on Nov. 1, election eve.

OTHER FIGURES

Other Democratic and Republican figures were holding forth yesterday, with the big ballot box test now less than four weeks away.

In Washington, Democratic Sen. Olin D. Johnston of South Carolina charged administration officials with "distortion, untruth and political immorality" in claims concerning separation of alleged security risks from the federal payroll.

In Macomb, Ill., House Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr. of Massachusetts told a Republican rally failure of the GOP to win a strong majority in the next Congress would lead to "the chaos of an opposition party blocking the program of the President, twisting progress for political profit."

In Chicago, Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland of California said he expects the GOP to retain control of the Senate. He said House election prospects are close. He said too he would like to see Eisenhower "take on a heavier schedule of campaigning."

Former French Leader Hits At German Plan

By CARL HARTMAN

PARIS (AP) — Former French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman declared Friday a rearmed Western Germany would be tempted to withdraw from the seven-power European alliance agreed upon at London.

He maintained Germany should be closely tied to Western Europe, as it would have been in the six-power European Defense Community he had helped plan.

Schuman spoke in debate in the French National Assembly, where government supporters seek passage of a resolution endorsing the work of Premier Pierre Mendes-France in London and expressing confidence in his ability to negotiate formal treaties.

VOTE LATER

A vote may come late Friday night or Saturday, unless Mendes-France makes the decision an issue of confidence. In that case the vote would have to be postponed until Monday. He will speak at the close of the debate.

The London conference decided to widen the old Brussels pact of France, Britain, Holland, Luxembourg and Belgium to include West Germany and Italy. All but Britain would have been in EDC.

Said Schuman:

"Unless we make a start at uniting Europe we will have lost an exceptional chance to create a strong, prosperous and independent continent under French leadership."

NECESSARY CARE

Care must be taken, Schuman added, to insure that if and when Germany is reunited it does not back out of its obligations. He declared it already is being said outside France that reunification of Germany would reopen all the questions settled at London.

He praised Mendes-France for bringing back from London a British promise to keep four divisinns on the continent. But, he complained, not enough was done at London to restore confidence between France and Germany.

He said the basis of the London agreements was the idea of controls on rearmament. This he criticized as "negative."

Controls, Schuman said, "are the expression of mistrust. Even if they are effective and nondiscriminatory—and I am not sure that in this case they will always be so—they build nothing. They merely prevent. . . controls are humiliating. They are the reverse of confidence."

Schuman's speech, which did not appear to be warmly received, was one in a series of statements by various members of parliament on the London accords.

71st Infantry Division To Be Reactivated

SEATTLE (AP) — Lt. Gen. Willard G. Wyman, commanding general of the 6th Army, said Thursday that the 71st Infantry Division is to be reactivated, with its forces to be divided between Ft. Lewis and Ft. Richardson, Alaska.

He said it would mean an increase of about 6,000 troops at Richardson and about 4,500 at Lewis. He said it will add about a million dollars monthly to Ft. Lewis' present 7-million monthly payroll.

The general said the action was ordered by telegram from the Pentagon.

He said the 4th and 196th regimental combat teams would be assigned to the Alaska base, along with the division headquarters The Army commander in Alaska will be the 71st Division's commanding general.

Wyman commanded the 71st in Europe during World War II.

The unit to be added to Ft. Lewis is the 5th regimental combat team, which arrived Friday from Korea.

The general said the reactivation ceremony will be delayed until November, when the 5th will be back from leave.

New Mexico Flood Kills 4; 9 Missing

ROSWELL, N. M. (AP) — Search crews in boats and on horseback sloughed through the mud and debris of the most devastating flood in years in the rich irrigated Pecos Valley for traces of nine missing persons.

The savage waters, pouring off the eastern slopes of the Sacramento Mountains, also left four known dead. It hit, to some degree, half a dozen communities and an untold number of farms and ranches.

MANAGER MISSING

One of the missing is Frank Thomas, general manager of the New Mexico Transportation Co. which operates in New Mexico and West Texas. One of the dead is James McCutcheon, nephew of the owner of the firm.

They were swept away Thursday as they attempted to aid overdue busses.

The other known dead are Willie Salo, 68, and Manuel Hernandez, 85, and Ben Tolliver, 9-year-old Negro boy from Salina, Tex.

STILL MISSING

Still missing are Mrs. Minnie Juarez and her three children, 11-year-old Eva, 5-year-old Tony and 3-year-old Helen, all in the same house with Salo and Hernandez; the three-month-old brother of Ben Tolliver, Tony Tolliver; and three Mexican national farm workers Except for McCutcheon and Thomas all the dead and missing were in the Hagerman area south of here.

A sheriff's posse is probing the Berrendo River area northwest of here for traces of Thomas and the pickup. More than 150 men have joined the Hagerman search. Both were launched as waters continued to recede over the 80-mile stretch of the valley and the flood appeared over.

Aberdeen's Mayor Freed of Tax Charge By Jury

TACOMA (AP) — Six hours deliberation convinced a Federal Court jury Thursday night that Ed Lundgren, mayor of Aberdeen, was innocent of government charges he had evaded more than $16,000 in income taxes during 1946-47-48.

The jury's verdict was reached at 10:40 p.m. It received the case at 4:40 p.m. after hearing Emmett Lenihan, defense attorney, say "No one but a moron would think he could evade taxes by the method Lundgren is accused of using."

The mayor, who also is president of the Assn. of Washington Cities, said "I feel very good about it all," when the verdict was brought in. "I feel it was a just trial and I really appreciate the verdict of the jury."

Mrs. Roosevelt To Be 70 Next Week

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt will be 70 years old next Monday, but she doesn't intend to let that slow her down one bit.

She's going right ahead as usual with her busy career of travel, lecturing and writing.

And, above all else, she intends to carry on her work in behalf of the United Nations—the "most satisfying" of everything she has done.

While she personally isn't paying much attention to her approaching birthday, a lot of other people are.

On Sunday her family will gather at Hyde Park, N.Y., to observe the occasion.

Then on Monday she will be guest of honor at a Roosevelt Hotel dinner given here by her friends and associates of the American Assn. for the United Nations. She currently is chairman of the association's board of governors.

Stevenson Lashes At GOP; Charges 'Foolish Boasts, Broken Promises'

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—Adlai Stevenson labeled the Republican campaign a 1952 model last night and charged the Eisenhower administration with "foolish boasts and broken promises."

"Vice President Nixon, the Republican chief of staff, has pitched the Republican campaign on the high level of communism, corruption, controls and Korea," he said, adding, "But that's a 1952 model."

Stevenson told an estimated 4,500 persons at a Kansas Democratic rally there is a revolt against "the family quarrels and hopeless divisions of the Republicans, and against policies which consistently favor the few at the expense of many."

FIRMLY ESTABLISHED

"A reborn progressive Democratic party is firmly established in rock-ribbed Republican Maine," the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee declared.

He said he found in Kansas "as in Maine . . . a ground swell of dismay and revolt against the foolish boasts and broken promises" of the Eisenhower administration.

"Even the normally huge Republican majorities in the congressional races have been whittled down to a size which should be quite manageable by us Democrats—come 1956," he said

FOREIGN AFFAIRS

He charged that there is a "paralysis of American influence in foreign affairs, due to the contradictions and divisions within the Repuolican party."

Describing the McCarthy hearings as "that sordid exhibition," he said the Republicans have displayed efforts "to appease Sen. McCarthy—to have it both ways—to use and to abuse McCarthy at the same time."

Turning to agriculture, Stevenson charged the Soil Conservation Service "is being dismantled by reorganization and even the top jobs have been removed from the career civil service and turned over to Republican political patronage."

Oklahoma Mascot May Miss Game; No Jail Bail So Far

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—If Willoughby, the genuine "OU Kid," gets to see the Oklahoma-Texas football game at Dallas tomorrow, someone will have to bail him out of the clink.

The clink happens to be a dog pound. The impounded Willoughby happens to be a goat.

Willoughby, a fierce-looking animal with flowing white beard and curved horns 15 inches long, was arrested by Norman policemen earlier this week after he violated University of Oklahoma curfew laws and made a midnight pasture out of the Sooner campus.

Some guys from another fraternity kept turning him loose after he was put to bed and Norman Police Chief Albert Dodd said his officers had chased him three different nights before making the capture.

French Landowner's Experiment Against Rabbits May Destroy Europe's Entire Crop

By ROSETTE HARGROVE
NEA Staff Correspondent

PARIS (NEA) — It won't be long now before white-tailed Brer Rabbit will have ceased to exist in France.

It took only two years and one vial of the dread Sanarelli virus to exterminate the rabbit population in 70 out of 87 departments, and experts believe that by the end of 1954 there won't be a wild rabbit left in this country.

The person responsible for this devastating germ warfare is an eminent Parisian doctor, 70 - plus Professor Armand Delille.

Owner of a chateau surrounded by woods 60 miles from Paris, his property was the happy hunting-ground of rabbits. He decided to get rid of them by innoculating a half score of them with "myxomatosis," a disease which had appeared in South American hutches at the end of the last century.

Delille's experiment proved more than successful. Within 12 months the disease had spread with lightning rapidity. It crossed the frontiers and attacked successively the Holland, Belgium, Luxemburg, Spain, and even England.

Throughout rural France, opinion is divided. Certain farmers are all in favor of the action of the man, whose opponents call him "The Sorcerer's Apprentice." Those in favor say: "Rabbits destroyed our crops. Since they have disappeared we can sleep in peace."

Dr. Delille declares, "My chateau is enclosed in high walls. I had the right privately to make an experiment." But the fact remains that "operation myxomatosis" has already ruined several enterprises and may even yet destroy every wild rabbit in the world.

Rabbit is a current item of food in European countries. The disappearance of this animal from the family table represents a revenue of somewhere around 20 billion francs. Dealers in rabbit skins and the hat industry represent another nine billion. Revenue from shooting permits and sales of guns and ammunition has fallen.

The "myxomatosis" war is well under way. Recently Professor Delille was assigned to appear before the court in the town of Dreux to defend his case.

In France, there seems to be no way of braking the epidemic. According to the International Office of Epizootics, anybody and everybody can transmit it.

An automobile running over a rabbit can carry the pathogenic agents tens or hundreds of miles, as the case may be. Insects and birds,especially crows, also are carriers. Birds are said to be responsible for the disappearance of rabbits in British woods.

In England there are many landowners who are ready to erect a statue to Delille. But what the verdict will be in France against the man who has unwittingly caused the destruction of tens of millions of wild rabbits is as yet in the lap of the courts.

School Boy Dies Trying To Save Other Children

PITTSBURGH (AP) — "I saw the car coming and I saw Minadeo push several back out of the way. The car hit the curb and struck a bunch of kids and threw them across the street."

That's how William Bair, a school patrol boy, tearfully described the deaths of another patrol boy, John Minadeo, 14, and Ella Cornelious, 14, who were struck by a runaway auto near the Gladstone Junior High School yesterday.

Four other children were injured.

The driver, George A. King, 54, suffered a broken arm. King told police his brakes failed on a steep hill about three blocks from a bus stop where the children were standing.

King said he yelled and blew his horn after he lost control of the car.

The Minadeo boy his back to the careening auto, was trying to save his schoolmates when he was hit.

Beserk Gunman Killed in Battle

NEW YORK (AP)—A berserk gunman battled more than 100 police for 90 minutes in a Harlem apartment house yesterday before he was fatally wounded.

Dozens of the building's residents huddled terror-stricken in their apartments while Robert Ricks, 47, Negro cook, led police a running chase and finally shot it out with them at a stairwell of the top floor of the six-story structure. He was riddled with bullets.

Two plainclothesmen investigating bookmaking were questioning another man in another apartment hallway when Ricks entered.

The officers said Ricks fled when he saw them and ignored orders to halt. They chased him and he began firing.

At one point he shouted: "I'm going to die—I'm on the stuff."

Police said they believe he was referring to narcotics addiction.

PEDESTRIAN KILLED

SEATTLE (AP) — H. W. Guyor, 60, was killed Thursday night when he walked into the side of an automobile on the Seattle-Tacoma highway and was thrown into the path of another car.

Half of the 21,000 Americans killed by accidental falls each year are more than 75 years old.

Sequim Town Council Studies Street Light Project; Council Votes To Fill in Pond

Carl Miller of the Public Utility District met Wednesday night with the Sequim Town Council to discuss the possibility of a new street lighting project for Washington Avenue.

Miller said he could give only estimates for the councilmen to consider at this time.

He said he believed the PUD and the council could work out an arrangement whereby the PUD would make the electrical installations and the city could then make payments on a maturing basis.

Miller gave a few preliminary figures, basing them on a system of mercury vapor lamps mounted on separate standards and wired through an underground circuit.

Using an installation of 20 to 25 lamps to base his figures, he estimated the cost would run $450 to $500 per lamp installed or an overall cost of approximately $10,000.

He said debt service on this amount would be about $75 per month over a 15-year period. The energy charge would average $25 per month with another $3 per year per lamp for maintenance and $5 per unit, lamp replacement.

Miller calculated a system of this size and type would cost the city between $100 and $125 per month.

He said this cost possibly could be lowered if the city were to assume the responsibility of the ditching and the breaking of the pavement for the underground wiring.

The monthly figure would depend on whether the city wished to take care of its own maintenance or leave it in the hands of the PUD crew.

Councilmen scheduled a meeting for Tuesday, Oct. 12 to map out the city's exact lighting needs and put them in form to present to the PUD for a definite financial estimate. The council will then ascertain if the project is feasible at the present time.

SCHOOL REQUEST

W. E. Blore, superintendent of Sequim Schools, appeared on behalf of the Sequim school directors to request a new three-inch water pipe connection and meter to serve the junior-senior high school building and new gymnasium. It would replace two existing connections from a one and one-half ich lie.

Superintendent Blore further requested the Town of Sequim to vacate the alley at Fir Street which divides the eight lots of the Cook Addition recently purchased by the school district. The purpose of this action would be to lessen hazards of a divided school ground.

The newly purchased property is planned for a bus parking area and additional playground space.

BUDGET MEETINGS

The city clerk reported on the budget meeting of Sept. 13 and the meeting on Oct. 4 at which time the council adopted the proposed budget.

The only major change in the newly adopted budget over last year's is the reduction of the number of mills allocated the street fund from eight to four and the increase of the current expense fund from five to nine mills. The city library fund will continue to receive two mills.

City councilmen took action Wednesday night to do away with the wading pond at the city library. Bill Brown was instructed to break out the cement bottom in the pon and fill it in with sand. At the same time he is to level off the other sand piles.

BUILDING PERMITS

Building permits were issued as follows: Matt Ellis, $1,000 addition to his Spruce Street home; Joe Pettelle, $500 addition to his home at 128 E. Prairie; Leonard Schuman, $300 garage at 375 W. Spruce and Milton Lanway, $250 building for shower and rest room at the Sequim View Motel.

Councilmen made plans to attend a banquet and meeting of the Association of Washington Cities at Port Townsend, Oct. 20 at 6:30 p.m.

Siamese Twins Die Under Surgery

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Siamese twins who were given little chance of reaching maturity without separation are dead after a surgical attempt to separate them.

The twin girls, Connie and Bonnie, died during an operation at University Hospital here yesterday after more than four hours on the operating table.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Johnson, Negro couple from Pine Bluff, Ark., requested the operation after being told there was little hope their children would reach maturity if they remained joined.

They were born July 26 with the sternum bone, which normally lies between the ribs, joining them face-to-face.

Yesterday's surgery revealed that the infants hearts were fused and practically formed a common organ.

ROSENHEIM REPORT—33

Huge Dam Built With Marshall Plan Dollars

By JAMES C. FRITS

How far does the U.S. dollar stretch?

To Austria and high into the Alps, then back over all of western Europe. You can be proud of these particular dollars for they're doing a magnificent job and will benefit millions of Europeans.

Franz Guhl, Rosenheim food store owner who visited Port Angeles two years ago, took us to see the Glockner-Kaprun power development, the highest series of large dams in the world. It was financed by Marshall Plan funds and the Austrian government.

Our dollars joined Austrian, German and Swiss engineering talent to create a fantastic complex of power plants and dams which go through and around whole mountains to produce power for all the countries of central Europe. Kaprun power is transmitted as far as Great Britain and the low countries.

We began our trip to this project early on a cold, wet morning. After considerable debate in rapid, incomprehensible German, Franz and the driver decided to take a chance. They have the same idea about going to the mountains we have on the peninsula. There's no way of predicting the weather. Just go ahead with your trip and hope for the best.

It looked dark and foreboding most of the way. We stopped in Zell am Zee, a famed resort town beside a large blue lake. Large turreted and towered hotels surrounded the town. Most were closed. The summer season is over and the winter ski season hasn't begun.

After getting directions, we drove to a narrow valley that cut a gash into the Alps. Our little eight-passenger Volksvagen bus rose sharply above the level of the lake. Finally the dirver stopped in a parking area directly in front of a tunnel that led back into the mountain.

It was a surprising way to see a dam but Franz said, "Let's go!"

MILE INTO MOUNTAIN

We went a mile into the mountain. We walked along a narrow railroad track used for hauling supplies. It was cold and damp. Water dripped from the ceiling and trickled down the rough rocky sides.

The hike ended with a tram railway that went up an incline so steep we all agreed it would have been more efficient to install an elevator. We sat one above the other on seats stair-stepped up the car. The ride up took almost half an hour. We rose straight up through the mountain.

After this we walked another half mile through a winding rock tunnel to another, steeper cable car. This time we went almost straight up. Our ears popped almost continuously from the altitude.

At the top, a short walk through another tunnel brought us out of the mountain beside what was once a sheer drop-off to the valley below. Now it is closed with the first of Kaprun's high dams. Behind it brown glacial water is backed up, foaming a long narrow lake.

SPECTACULAR HIGHWAY

We were hustled on a huffing, puffing bus that started switchbacking up one of the most spectacular highway ascents any of us had experienced.

The road was built for huge trucks and was strickly for construction purposes. Tourists were not thought of when engineers looked at the sheer mountainside and said, "We'll put the road there!"

"Might as well live dangerously," Ione Tomlinson said. "We only come to Europe once!"

We held on. The bus ground its way around hairpin curves, met trucks head on and courteously backed down the road out of their way. We busied ourselves looking at the magnificent panorama as it unfolded. We tried not to notice the driver's difficulties.

At the top, altitude 7,000 feet, is a thriving construction camp housing about a thousand people. We threw snowballs as we trudged along the narrow street to the restaurant where a welcome, hot meal was served.

While we were eating, the sun burned through the clouds and mist revealing the Alps' tallest peaks. We were in a basin surrounded by four huge 10 and 11 thousand feet mountains.

The third, and highest of the Kaprun dams is on Gross Glockner, the Alps' highest mountain.

We left our lunch and went outside to thrill to the sight of the snow-covered walls around us. We could see into glaciers 300 feet high. We could look far down the valley, over the lakes and dams below. After about 15 minutes of this breath-taking Alpine display, the cloud curtain lowered and a fine mist sprayed the area.

The Kaprun project is one of the world's most spectacular because its the first to be built so high in the mountains. Although its largest dam is only the second largest in Europe (Russia's Ukranian Dnieper Dam is larger) all new engineering problems were encountered at Kaprun because of its altitude.

Three thousand workers helped create it. One-hundred-sixty-two lost their lives for it. Millions thank them as Kaprun's two huge generators produce 210,000 kilowatts of power for their cities and factories.

When the third generator, being installed now, is brought into play Kaprun's total capacity will be 332,000 KW. Official estimates for Dneiper put its power production at 500,000 KW. Coulee, Bonneville, Boulder produce in the millions.

LINE TO VIENNA

Austria has first call on Kaprun's power. A direct line carries energy 175 miles east to Vienna. There a central power agency allots the power to areas where it is needed.

After Austria's needs are served, power goes into a trans-European system. Any surplus is sent back to Kaprun to reverse the flow of the water in the huge pipes which lead into the powerhouses. During slack periods, surplus power is used to pump this water back into the upper lakes so it can be used again.

Kind, careful engineers tried to explain their intricate control boards to us but they remained like the panel on a space ship. There were buttons, flashing lights, meters and levers, fully as impressive as they should be for such an amazing project.

DESCEND OUTSIDE

Our descent was as spectacular as our ascent. We went all the way down the mountain on the outside, standing on the world's longest flat-bed lift. It is lowered down the mountain by huge cables, and carries all kinds of heavy freight up and down. We stood on it for 45 minutes as we were lowered to the valley floor .

A cold rain began when we reached the bottom. We hurriedly hiked the last mile down the valley to our bus. It rained all the way home but we didn't care.

We were safe, secure and proud . . . proud to be a part of a country that helped create such an imaginative, challenging project as Kaprun; proud to learn that our dollars will help bring light to all of western Europe!

Ives Forgives Tomato Throwers

WATERTOWN, N. Y. (AP) — Sen. Irving M. Ives, Republican candidate for governor of New York, says he "wholly" forgives four high school boys who threw tomatoes at him.

The youths confessed yesterday that they showered the platform Tuesday night. They gave Principal Albert B. Scholl a signed statement apologizing to Ives for the "thoughtless act."

At the time, Ives said the barrage "came by indirection straight from Tammany Hall," the Manhattan Democratic organization.

The senator was not hit, but juice splashed his wife and spotted his hat.

Convict Did Not Plan Any Escape; Just Feared Dentist

SALEM, Ore. (AP)—An 18-year-old life term convict surrendered to Oregon State Prison authorities last night, saying he had not planned to escape, but merely hid to keep from going to the dentist.

The youth, Elmer Harland Belcher, was missing at mealtime Wednesday night and it was believed he had walked away from his job at the dairy barn outside the walls. A statewide search was started.

But Belcher said he hid in a hay mound because he did not want to keep an afternoon dental appointment behind the walls.

Airman Escapes Plunge in Auto

DENVER (AP) — An automobile plunged off a mountain road and tumbled 1,000 feet into a canyon—but the occupant escaped with deep cuts and a possible arm fracture.

Doctors at Lowry Air Force Base today described the survival of Airman 1.C. Escar L. Kimmel, Redfield, Ark., as miraculous.

Investigating officers said Kimmel apparently fell asleep while driving on U. S. 550 near Silverton, Colo., Wednesday night. His car plunged off the highway, fell 150 feet to the canyon wall, losing its motor, and then tumbled another 800 to 900 feet to the Las Animas River bed.

The officers said Kimmel regained consciousness beside the river and finally made his way along a railroad track. He was spotted 10 hours after the accident by another airman. Kimmel is in the base hospital.

There are a number of ways you can use your pastry tube decorating set. It not only does a festive job of frosting for cakes and cookies, but it will make delightful mashed-potato borders for casseroles, fancy toppings for canape spreads and whipped-cream decorations for chiffon and other pies.

Add a touch of allspice to that tomato sauce you are planning to serve over meat loaf or hamburgers. Points up flavor!

Divers About To Give Up Search

HOKADOTE, Japan Oct. 8 (AP)—Kyodo news service reported today that Japanese divers who have sought to recover bodies from the sunken ferry boat Toya Maru would discontinue operations tomorrow if no additional recoveries are made.

Kyodo said 113 passengers, including 12 Americans, still are missing, along with 18 members of the crew. The ferry went down in a typhoon Sept. 26. The Army has identified 42 U.S. military personnel who perished.

Death Claims Wheel Chair Traveler

DUARTE, Calif. (AP)—Death has claimed an arthritis victim who started from Connecticut to California in a wheel chair two years ago.

Mrs. Rosalind Richard, 42, formerly of New Haven, died yesterday, her husband Joseph at her side. With $15 in his pocket, Richard pushed his wife in a wheel chair from New Haven to Totowa, N.Y., in March 1952 before an unidentified woman gave them air fare to Los Angeles.

The couple made their home in nearby El Monte.

Pork chops cut about ¾-inch thick, will need about 1¼ hours in a moderate (350 degrees) oven. Bake some apples with the chops and serve them along with the meat course or for dessert.

Jose Ferrer Tries Hand At Directing; Also Starring in Movie On "The Shrike"

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)— Jose Ferrer, that man of many trades and master of most, is taking a whirl at directing his first movie.

Puerto Rico-born Ferrer is starring in and directing "The Shrike," which he also starred in, directed and produced on Broadway. I dropped in on his set to see how he is coming along.

I found the balding, energetic actor pacing down a ward representing Bellevue Hospital in New York. There were no lights or cameras, because he was spending the day in rehearsals. The inmates of the psychiatric ward looked unfamiliar, having been imported en masse from the Broadway cast.

Ferrer had them run through a few lines, then halted the proceedings and conferred with cameraman Bill Daniels on camera angles for the scene. Throughout the rehearsal, dialogue director Leon Charles stood in Ferrer's place and read his lines. While giving directions, Ferrer referred to Charles as "me."

Ferrer, who wore grey slacks, pale yellow sports shirt, dark blue sleeveless sweater and a light blue scarf around his neck, was all over the set. He moved the actors like chessmen, confereed with script writer Ketti Frings and sought advice from technical adviser Alice Riddell, a pretty nurse from Los Angeles General Hospita.

"Well, this is a psychiatric ward," Ferrer explained, "and you all have some reason for being here. Some of you are overly nervous, others are more serious."

HERE'S HOW

When the company broke for lunch, Ferrer told me how he is filming the picture. He takes one sequence and rehearses it for a day or two. Then the entire crew is assembled and the sequence is filmed. Ferrer moves on to another rehearsal.

Although this method seems costly, it actually saves money, Ferrer declared. Actors who appear in one sequence only can be disposed of, instead of keeping them on salary throughout the filming. And the shooting moves much faster, because the action has been well rehearsed and the camera angles doped out in advance.

NEW SUIT FILED

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — A new divorce suit is on file by singer Ella Logan against her husband, Hollywood producer Fred Finkelhoff. The new action, filed in Superior Court yesterday, came three months after she dropped a previous suit in the same court. Miss Logan, 41, charged mental cruelty and said a property settlement has been reached. The couple married in 1942 and separated last year.

NEGRO IN OPERA

NEW YORK (AP)—Marian Anderson, famed American Negro contralto, will be the first of her race to sing with the Metropolitan Opera. Rudolf Bing, the Met's general manager, said yesterday Miss Anderson will sing the role of Ulrica, a Negro fortune teller, in Verdi's "The Masked Ball" early in January.

If You Are Interested in Buying Brooklyn Bridge, You Can Get Good Offer in Beirut

By WILTON WYNN

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—If you're interested in buying the Brooklyn Bridge, you can get a good offer in Beirut.

This city is roughly 6,000 miles from Brooklyn, but wide - eyed tourists are offered the same bargain as the Flatbush sharpies present to country yokels.

Hundreds of camera - swinging American tourists strolling along outside the St. George Hotel here have been startled by a voice with an Arab accent asking:

"Wanna buy the Brooklyn Bridge?"

The voice belongs to a grinning moon - faced Lebanese resident Americans have dubbed "Alecky." After stopping the tourist with his screwball question, Alecky makes his pitch: he hasn't eaten in three days, is looking for work, can the American help him?

Nine times out of ten he winds up with a free meal.

Alecky is only one of Beirut's more successful spongers. Others are just as resourceful.

The dying man trick is becoming fairly common. It works like this:

When a tourist is nearby a native doubles up and falls to the pavement writhing. A little boy explains the poor man is dying, but he hasn't money enough to get home. The worried tourist offers to get a taxi, and his offer is accepted. However, the home is a long way off and the fare might be as much as 10 pounds. After the taxi rounds the nearest corner, the taxi driver, the boy and the "dying" man split the money.

Strange currency often confuses travelers, and natives know it. In making change, a taxi driver here once handed an American two slick pieces of metal which he insisted were "Lebanese money."

The American offered him one back as a tip. The driver indignantly refused.

Nobody was going to palm off phony money on him.

NAME CHANGE

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Miss Carlotte Rizzo appealed in County Court to change her name to Linda Knight. Mr and Mrs. Carl Merletti asked that their name be changed to Day. Miss Rizzo and Mrs. Merletti are sisters. Judge Jacob A. Latona approved the applications.

When you are unmolding baked custard, run a sharp-pointed knife around the sides of the custard cups to loosen before turning out.

SINGING NO GOOD

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP)—Off-key singing proved no key to freedom yesterday for three prisoners atempting a break from the Kent County Jail. Sheriff Arnold Pigorsh disturbed by loud singing from a cell block, investigated and found the trio attempting to saw their way through cell bars with hacksaw blades.

The first free school in the New World was probably established in Dorchester, Mass. in 1639, says the National Geographic Society.

Man Should Pick Right Wife To Be Success In Business, Says Official

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

The man who wants to be a success in business hould pick the right wife, says Joseph Weiss, a businessman with an unuual philosophy.

"Most men don't realize how important their wives are in shaping their finanacial future," says Weiss, president of an auto seat cover manufacturing company with retail outlets all over the country. "I won't hire a representative, or even allow a man to invest his own money in my business, if I don't think his wife can be an asset."

The era of the clinging vine has passed, says Weiss who explains his theory thus:

"Behind every successful man there is a woman who understands at just what point a man needs to be pushed and when he wants to be coddled. She should encourage him when he's down in the dumps and tighten the rein when he shows signs of wandering into aimless pursuits.

"She must be happy and interested in her husband's career, realizing that it's her career too, and that she can make or break it.

GOOD MIXER

"She must be a good mixer, willing and able to meet and entertain her husband's business associates, to make friends with them and to make them believe that friend husband is a rootin'-tootin' go-getter, even if he's merely a milk-toast.

"A successful wife should keep her own appearance up to snuff, so that her husband will be proud of her and his associates will be impressed.

"She should be able to influence her husband. That doesn't mean she has to henpeck him. It should be done more subtly than that.

"Any wife who wants to see her husband succeed should remember that she entered a partnership with him when they got married, and that she should be a working partner, not a silent one."

NOT HOMEBODY

The woman who makes a profession of being a "homebody" is no asset to an ambitious man, in Weiss' opinion. She should run her house smoothly and efficiently, but widen her horizons so that she is able to talk intelligently on a wide varity of subjects.

She needs good common sense, a generous dash of ambition and the ability to understand her husband's job.

There are two kinds of wives that automatically put the jinx on any man applying for a franchise from Weiss' company. Says he:

"The woman who is obviously bossy, and who answers every question before her husband has a chance to open his mouth, is poison to a man.

"And I'd never hire a man whose wife is a gimme-girl. A gold-digger can ruin the ambition of the ablest man."

Chef's trick: garnish steak or chops with water cress and Radish Fans. To make the Fans, cut the roots away from the radishes but leave about one inch of their green tops. Then cut thin slices crosswise almost through the radish. Let the radishes stand in ice water in the refrigerator so they will spread out like a fan.

Add a cup of finely chopped raw apple and a half teaspoon of cinnamon to a standard pancake recipe calling for two cups of flour.

LOCAL "FOR FUN FOUR" QUARTET rehearses for Saturday night's Milk Fund Benefit Barbershop Quartet Parade Show at the Olympian Theater. The program, featuring seven quartets from the northwest and a 25-voice barbershop chorus, is being co-sponsored by the Jaycees and Active Clubs of Port Angeles. Members of the local quartet are: Tom Dorum, lead; Robert Bjornson, tenor; R. P. Moore, baritone; and Ron Wasnock, bass. (Evening News photo.)

GRABBING THE BULL BY THE HORNS — Sloan Simpson, former wife of Ambassador William O'Dwyer, arrives in New York after a 15-week vacation in Spain, carrying the head of a black bull. She was given two bull heads after they were killed in a Toledo bull fight ring. Sloan says she plans to mount one head in her home.

Barbershop Quartet Show Here Saturday

The curtain goes up Saturday at 8 p.m. at the Olympian Theater for the first annual Milk Fund Barbershop Quartet Parade Show, sponsored by the Port Angeles Jaycees.

Proceeds from the program go to the Jaycee and Active Club fund to provide milk for needy children enrolled in city schools, the Jaycees announce.

Seven quartets and a 25-voice Lake Washington Barbershop Chorus are featured, Chairman Ron Wasnock said. The show will last approximately two hours with both old and new favorites of barbershop harmony featured.

The newly formed Port Angeles "For Fun Four" quartet will make their debut at the show.

The local group consists of Robert Bjornson, R. P. Moore, baritone; Tom Dorum, singing lead; and Wasnock, bass.

Jaycee President Larry Crews announced the program is part of the drive to provide funds for milk for needy students in the city elementary grades. The Jaycees are cooperating with the Active Club in the fund drive.

President Ray Stickler, Active Active club, reported that an exhaustive study of the nutritional diets of some of the children's lunches have indicated a definite lack. The study was conducted by the Active Club with close cooperation of the school health nurses, Stickler said.

Proceeds from the show will launch the program this year, Stickler said.

"An all star lineup of outstanding quartets from the Seattle Chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America are featured," Wasnock said.

The lineup of participants include: "Bremertones" from Bremerton; "Gaslighters" from Everett; "Bellvue Squares" from Bellvue; "Varsitones" from Seattle and "Tac-a Cords" from Tacoma. Jack Briggs, Puget Sound Cord Benders Association, will be the master of ceremonies.

In addition to the songs, the quartets will provide dance steps, stunts and novel costumes for the show, Wasnock said.

Democratic Victory Will Bring 'Chaos,' Martin Contends

MACOMB, Ill. (AP)—House Speaker Joseph W. Martin (R-Mass) says the alternative to a strong Republican majority in the next Congress is "chaos."

This, he said in addressing a Republican rally last night, would be "the chaos of an opposition party blocking the program of the President, twisting progress for political benefit."

"If we let it happen this fall," he said, "We may be writing the obituary of a free nation. We will not."

The House speaker declared that the 83rd Congress and the Eisenhower administration compiled a "record of achievement that towers above the record of any other Congress, any other administration" and that election of a Republican Congress this fall is needed to advance that record.

Elks Here Observe Newspaper Week With Program

National Newspaper Week was observed by Naval Lodge of Elks at the Thursday night meeting.

Observance was by a skit arranged by Chairman J. W. Wenger of the entertainment committee. The skit was given on a stage decorated by a logging scene mural, copies of newspapers and rolls of newsprint.

The skit was in the nature of a quiz program with Wenger as quiz master and Elks who are newspaper men and papermakers as the persons being quizzed.

The slogan and subject of the quizz was the four freedoms classified as "Free Press, Free Speech, Free Paper and Free Beer."

Harold Carpenter, resident manager at the Crown Zellerbach Corporation newsprint mill was the main speaker of the evening and described the four freedoms.

From a papermaker's angle he said that newsprint was of no value until printers' ink had put the newspaper's message on it. He said the papermakers were happy that they have a part in providing the medium that insures a free press.

The last of the four freedoms was the subject of forum discussion by various Elks among whom were Don Lusk, Fred Overly and Gerald Chamberlain.

Exalted Ruler Jack Ervin Jr. called attention to a message from the Grand Exalted Ruler asking all Elks Lodges to honor a free press by some observance of National Newspaper Week.

Speaking briefly were John Schweitzer and Jack Henson of the Evening News, Roy S. Jensen, former columnist, and Robley Butler, assistant resident manager of the Crown Z. newsprint mill.

The fourth freedom, as listed on banners on the stage, was served with lunch by order of Exalted Ruler Ervin.

Mariner Scouts Entertain Roosevelt Junior High Troops

Members of Mariner Ship Nahkeeta entertained Roosevelt Junior High School Girl Scouts and their guests at a potluck dinner Monday evening in the Jefferson School gym.

After dinner Mariner Judy Boos led the Scouts in the flag salute, "Girl Scout Promise" and "America." The Mariners taught the group two action songs and explained the senior Scout program. A girl is ready for Senior Scouts at the ninth grade and must pass a five point program.

To be eligible for Senior Scouts and later for special programs in the Mariners, Wings or Aids, girls qualify in camping, service, civil defense, Girl Scout structure and hobby requirements.

Barbara Ellis told the group how her Senior Scout Troop filled its camping requirements, learning camp craft, outdoor cooking, outdoor safety, pioneering and conservation at Camp Ramblewood. She also described a camping trip the Mariners made to Orcas Island.

Judy Boos highlighted service, the second point, and told how the troop taught intermediate Scouts songs at day camp. Civil defense was Grace Harthill's topic. She explained the Scouts learned to give assistance in an emergency and described cooking outdoors and learning to set up an emergency kitchen.

Sandra Grover talked on Girl Scout structure. She explained the girls learned how the Girl Scout Council operates through sitting in on council sessions. In outlining "hobby" the last point, Patricia Wallis told how the girls made troop flags, scrapbooks and letterheads.

Paul Deines showed the Girl Scout film "Lighted Windows" depicting New York Girl Scouts in their successful endeavor to find a suitable meeting place.

The meeting closed with the group singing "Taps." Attending were members of the following troops with their leaders: Troop 9, Mrs. Wilmer Weaver; Troop 10, Mrs. Cleon Bemis, Troop 13, Mrs. Tony Masi; Troop 17, Miss Gloria Strand and Troop 29, Mrs. Roy Teed. Miss Nanci Laing, Girl Scout executive, leads the Mariners, hostesses for the evening.

Other guests were Mrs. W. H. Brueckner, Mrs. Gordon Fox, Mrs. George J. Ellis, district chairman and Mrs. Clare Winters. Troop 13 won the attendance award.

Group To Ask State For School For Juveniles

OLYMPIA (AP) — The 1955 Legislature will be asked to consider setting up a state institution for juvenile offenders of from 16 to 21 years.

Fred R. Dickson, state superintendent of public instruction, disclosed plans for the proposed institution Thursday at a meeting of the State Probation and Parole Officers' Assn. He said it would be for boys too old to be sent to the State Training School and too young for the State Reformatory.

Dickson said the Legislature will be requested to appropriate funds to buy a site and prepare construction plans for an institution which eventually would house 600 inmates. Construction would not begin until the 1957-59 biennium.

Dickson said boys sent to the institution would receive vocational instruction.

The state officials also revealed plans for three more forest camps for boys at the State Training School at Chehalis. The camps are proposed for the Yacolt burn area in Southwestern Washington. The boys would help with rehabilitation and reforesting the area, Dickson said.

Envelopes Received Here Works of Art

Most people throw away an envelope before they do the letter within, but not so does Palmer Swenson of Port Angeles when he receives a letter from Benn Marston of Seattle.

The envelope is just as important as the letter, Swenson says, displaying some of the collection he has from Marston.

"Deer Hunting with a Drawing Pen" is the title of an article appearing in the Oct. 10 Seattle Times. Marston, a friend of Swenson and prominent as a hunter, has been confined to his home by ill health. So he relates experiences in letters to friends and draws scenes, birds, animals or humorous events on the envelopes, making them a work of art. Some of the envelopes are shown with the article.

Dinner To Come Before TV Now

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Dinner will always come before TV in the Howerton home, honest, Judge.

That was Mrs. Marie M. Howerton's promise to the court yesterday as she dismissed her husband's knife attack that just missed her heart as "a slight scratch."

Larence G. Howerton promised to keep his temper, even if supper should be a trifle late.

Howerton, 33-year-old mechanic, had been charged with stabbing his bride of several months when he came home and found her sitting in front of the TV set, with no dinner prepared.

It was a case of kiss and make-up. The court reduced the charge to simple assault and took Howerton's probation plea under consideration.

3 Evening School Classes Filled

Three classes in the evening school starting Monday at the Port Angeles High School are full.

John Driscoll, director of the school, said today the classes in upholstery, cake decorating and beginning driving are filled to capacity.

Registration in other courses will be taken tonight and Monday. Some courses have nearly complete registration, but others do not yet have enough in them to warrant operating.

Driscoll said registration Wednesday and Thursday nights was about as usual. He said some persons wait until the first night of classes.

The music course by Lee Freeman, listed as musical instruments, should be known as music appreciation, Driscoll said.

Dog Leads Searchers To Lost Boy

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—A shepherd dog named Lucky last night led searchers to a missing 3-year-old boy.

Volunteer firemen spotted Lucky circling a hollow tree stump and looked inside. Sitting there, in his blue jeans and tee shirt, was little Donnie Hutchison.

The youngster offered no comment on his 5½-hour adventure. But his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hutchison of Dresden said he often talked of going squirrel hunting.

"I guess today he actually wandered off to try his luck," they said.
