Carlsborg Man Asleep By Track Hit By Train

In fair condition in Olympic Memorial Hospital today is John Dick, about 60, of Carlsborg, injured in a train accident Thursday afternoon.

Dick's physician said he suffered a possible skull fracture, head cuts and other injuries.

State Patrolman Lee York said Dick apparently laid down alongside the Milwaukee track with his head on a tie and went to sleep with his coat pulled over his head.

The accident occurred about 2:45 p.m. a half west of the Carlsborg depot in a wooded section.

Vernon Helwick, 405 S. Pine St., Port Angeles was engineer of the diesel engine. He said he was unable to see the man alongside the track until almost on him. He whistled but the sleeping man didn't hear it. He stopped about 15 feet away. The step of the engine struck Dick.

Helwick said the man's brown clothing and the fact his coat was pulled around his head made him look like a chunk of log. The rainy day and surrounding timber lowered visibility.

York said Dick spent part of the day in Carlsborg. He was on his way home. He resided with his brother-in-law, Fred Coow, a mile west of Mattriotti Corner near the old highway.

Railroad workmen moved Dick to the highway. The Ellis ambulance took him to the hospital here.

Clallam County Gets $33,175 in Gas, Fuel Tax For November

Clallam County received $33,175.96 in gasoline and use fuel tax funds for the month of November. The state treasurer's office forwarded the check Monday as the county's monthly distribution.

Charles R. Maybury, state treasurer, said gasoline and use fuel tax net collections for November in the state totaled $4,218,402.16. This total showed an increase of $59,647.13 over the same monthly period in 1953, the treasurer reported.

The breakdown of the statewide distribution is as follows: state highway department, $1,947,430.41; counties' share, $1,467,963.05; incorporated cities and towns, $468,595.23 and highway bond retirement, $334,413.47.

Clallam County's share of motor vehicle fuel taxes allocations is based on 2.26 of the amount distributtd to counties.

The present formula determining the amount received by each county is: equal distribution, 10 per cent; county road milage, 70 per cent; and vehicle registration, 20 per cent.

The State Council for Highway Research has a new formula for determining the amount received by the counties. The plan is under study by the Legislative Interim Committee on Highways.

The new plan, if adopted, will result in a decrease in gas tax funds to Clallam County by .84. County commissioners here have voiced opposition to the new proposal.

Pope Continues To Show Gain

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Pius XII's personal physician said Friday his "improvement continues" and that the ailing Pontiff is able to take increasing quantities of food.

After spending his 12th consecutive night at the Pope's bedside, Dr. Riccardo Galeazzi-Lisi reported the Pope spent a "fairly restful night."

It was evident in the Vatican that the feeling of tension and fear for the Pontiff is lessening, although he still is seriouly ill.

Ghoulish Round Of Misunderstanding On Traffic Accidents

By FRANCES GALLAGHER

Police Chief Harry Kochanek and this reporter collaborated in a ghoulish round of misunderstanding Thursday, killing off Port Angeles citizens right and left — in traffic accidents.

Actually the misunderstanding was all in the figures, and nobody suffered at all. Because the chief thought we knew what he meant, and because we thought he meant fatalities, when he really meant accidents. Thursday's front page listed seven deaths from traffic accidents here in 1953, when only two occurred.

Worse yet, we listed three fatalities already this year, when actually no one has been killed inside the city in a traffic accident.

The note Chief Kochanek slipped us really meant that during the first seven days in December, 1953, seven accidents occurred inside the city; compared to the first seven days in December this year, when three accidents have occurred. That was three days ago; now city police have five accidents on their books for December this year.

All this, of course, was released in the first place to help keep down the number of traffic accidents here. We've learned to be more careful about just what the chief means, and if this one more notice helps at all to keep 1954 a deathless traffic accident year here, it's well worth eating humble pie, and a public correction.

Stored Farm Goods Reach Record High

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farm goods stored under the price support program now total nearly seven billion dollars, a record high.

Reporting this Thursday, the Agriculture Department said federal investment in the surpluses as of Oct. 31 was $6,634,107,000 and more commitments since then have pushed the figure close to the seven-billion mark. The amount was $4,544,897,000 a year ago.

The Oct. 31 figure included $2,525,834,000 in loans advanced to farmers for products stored under support programs and $4,108,273,000 in farm goods owned outright by the government.

Biggest item in the Oct. 31 inventory was wheat worth $2,698,700,000, followed by $1,231,942,000 in cotton and $1,167,471,000 in corn.

Electrical Union To Fight Firing Of Man Over Refusal To Testify

PHILLIPSBURG, N. J. (AP) —The firing of an Ingersoll-Rand employe for refusing to answer questions before the McCarthy Senate subcommittee will be "processed to the limit" by the United Electrical Workers Union (Ind).

The policy committee of the union said yesterday it will file a grievance against the firing of Maurice K. Slater, a former business manager of UE which represents employes at the Ingersoll-Rand plant.

Slater claimed fifth amendment protection against possible self-incrimination before the subcommittee Wednesday. The group has been investigating Communist activity in defense plants in Eastern Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

FIRM'S STAND

The firm said Slater was fired yesterday because "we believe his conduct has been harmful to the business interests of the company and its employes."

The union policy committee said the UE is "unalterably opposed to such union-wrecking methods" and would demand the reinstatement of Slater "with all his rights."

Meanwhile, in Easton, Pa., Harold Allen, who also invoked the fifth amendment before the same subcommittee, was suspended by the Lehigh Foundries, Inc., "pending a full investigation of the situation."

UNION MEMBER

Allen is a member of the United Steelworkers Union (CIO).

Three other witnesses who invoked the fifth amendment before the subcommittee were suspended from their jobs yesterday.

John Babirak and Paul Ault, 43, were suspended by the Bethlehem Steel Co. with a "notice of intention to discharge." Babirak is employed in Bethlehem, Pa., and Ault in the firm's Williamsport, Pa., plant.

Five Americans Get Nobel Awards From King Adolf

By TOM MASTERSON

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) —King Gustaf Adolf VI presented 1954 Nobel Prizes worth about $140,000 to five Americans and two Germans Friday at traditional ceremonies marked by royal pomp, musty academic rites and solemn music.

The seven shared four prizes.

Of the Americans only Ernest Hemingway, this year's winner in literature, failed to show up. He is in Cuba still nursing injuries suffered in African plane crashes. U. S. Ambassador J. Moors Cabot represented Hemingway. Anders Osterling, secretary of the Swedish Royal Academy of Literature, made the award and called Hemingway "one of the great authors of our time."

The Americans present included a trio recognized for their work in discovering new weapons in the fight against polio. The three, sharing the prize for medicine and physiology, were Dr. John F. Enders, 67, of the Harvard Medical School; Dr. Thomas H. Weller, 39, of the Harvard School of Public Health, and Dr. Frederick C. Robbins, 38, their former associate now at Western Reserve Medical School in Cleveland.

The fourth American was Dr. Linus Pauling, 51, California Institute of Technology, this year's winner in chemistry.

Dr. Max Born, 73, and Dr. Walther Bothe, 63, Germans, shared the physicians prize.

Cost Estimates On Dixon-Yates Plan Questioned

By B. L. LIVINGSTONE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Attorneys for groups opposing the Dixon-Yates contract launched an attempt Friday to show it is based on inaccurate cost estimates and could not be a prudent financial operation.

The attack was made before the Securities and Exchange Commission which is hearing an application by the Dixon-Yates group for approval of stock financing of the proposed power plant at West Memphis, Ark., to cost 104 million dollars. The entire operation, including working capital, would stand at 107 million dollars.

SEC regulations require a showing of reasonable and prudent costs and earnings before approval of a new stock issue.

QUESTIONS COSTS

Joseph Volpe Jr., representing the state of Tennessee and others battling the controversial contract, questioned the accuracy of engineering cost estimates on which Dixon-Yates figures are based.

Edgar H. Dixon, president of Middle South Utilities, told the commission earlier that if actual costs were as much as 13 per cent in excess of engineering estimates the profit to Dixon-Yates sponsors "would be practically eliminated."

Dixon, under cross examination by Volpe, said he relied on cost estimates by Ebasco Services. This is a firm which takes its name from the initials of its parent, Electric Bond & Share Co.

MADE ETIMATES

Dixon said Ebasco had also made the cost estimates for an earlier power plant, similar to the Dixon-Yates project built to furnish power to the Atomic Energy Commission. That plant was constructed at Joppa, Ill., by Electric Energy, Inc.

Volpe told the commission, in reply to objections by Dixon-Yates attorneys to this line of questioning, that he hopes to prove the proposed Dixon-Yates plant would cost more than the estimated 104 million dollars.

Volpe indicated he would attempt to show that Ebasco estimates on the EEI plant were under actual cost by around 50 per cent.

The Dixon-Yates plant would be built under contract with the AEC. It would feed private power into the Tennessee Valley Authority system which is supplying some power to the AEC.

Postmaster General Urges Early Mailing For Christmas

WASHINGTON (AP)— With only 15 more days to Christmas, Postmaster General Summerfield Friday offered this check list for getting the fastest results from the mailman:

1. Mail early.
2. Use postal zone numbers on cards, letters and packages.
3. Print both the address and the return address, including zone number on every item.
4. Tie Christmas cards in separate bundles for mailing marked "local" and "out-of-town". Printed slips with these labels are obtainable from postmen and post-offices.
5. Place all packages in secure, well-padded cartons, and wrap them in well-bound strong paper.
6. Put in each parcel, inside the wrapping, a slip with both address and return address so that if the outside wrapping becomes undone, the package will not be lost.

When packages are sealed, but offered at parcel post rates, they must be labeled "may be opened for inspection."

U.N. Group Sets Indemnity Fund

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U. N. General Assembly's budgetary committee voted Thursday night to set up a fund to pay $179,420 in indemnities to 11 Americans discharged from the United Nations last year. The employes of the secretariat were fired after they refused to tell U.S. investigators whether they were Communists.

The committee at the same time threw out a U.S.-backed plan to provide a system of reviewing decisions by the U.N. administrative tribunal, which had made the indemnity awards.

GOP Makes 'Irresistible Demand' For Ike in 1956, Senator Claims

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Millikin (R-Colo) said today there already is an "irresistable demand" among Republicans for President Eisenhower to become a candidate again in 1956.

Millikin, who heads the Conference of all GOP Senators, discounted in an interview any major split in the party because of the attack by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) on the President — a view generally shared by other Republicans and by some Democrats.

"I don't expect any split in the Republican party and neither do I expect any third party movement," Millikin said. "There already is an irresistible demand that the President be a candidate for another term and I don't think he can be beaten if he runs."

McCARTHY BLAST

McCarthy accused Eisenhower Tuesday of a "shrinking show of weakness" against Red China and blasted at the President for congratulating Chairman Watkins (R-Utah) of the committee which recommended McCarthy be censured. McCarthy said afterwards he plans to remain in the Republican party "at the present time."

GOP National Chairman Leonard W. Hall said yesterday a personal survey of Republican sentiment has convinced him that, as a result of the McCarthy criticism, "the President will find even greater unity and support among Republican members of both the Senate and House during the next two years."

ONE COUNT

Millikin, who voted in favor of one count but against the final resolution approved by the Senate to condemn McCarthy's conduct, said he agreed with Hall that there will be "a tightening and consolidation of Republican lines both in Congress and throughout the country during the next two years."

Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz.), who opposed the Senate rebuke of McCarthy, said he doesn't foresee "any great split" in the GOP.

Sen. Flanders (R-Vt), who wrote the original censure resolution, said that increased support for Eisenhower among members of his own party "would seem to me to be a normal result of the kind of attack the junior senator from Wisconsin made."

West Germany's Upper House OKs Arms Agreement

BONN, Germany (AP) — West Germany's upper house of parliament gave a preliminary vote of approval Friday to the Paris treaties granting sovereignty to the Bonn government and providing for its rearmament. But the Bundesrat refused to take a stand on the companion French-German agreement to "Europeanize" the Saar.

The treaties now go to the Bundestag (the lower house) for action before coming back to the upper chamber for a final vote. The first of three separate ballots in the Bundestag is scheduled at the close of a two-day foreign affairs debate beginning Dec. 15.

Both houses are expected to take final action on the pacts in January.

Wilson Sees Heavier Defense Spending

CHICAGO (AP) — Secretary of Defense Wilson said last night military spending in 1954 was reduced almost three billion dollars but because of the need for new weapons the estimated 1955 budget of $29,600,000,000 may be raised to 34 billions.

He told the Illinois Manufacturers Assn., more and more military spending would go toward planes that will fly faster and higher and carry heavier loads.

But, he said, armed might alone won't solve world problems and the United States must understand the importance of geting along with other free peoples.

Citizen Has Say; Gets Three Days In City Jail

VAN NUYS, Calif. (AP) — A citizen got a three-day jail sentence for contempt after getting a load off his chest in court yesterday.

Philip Harvey Banks, of Sepulveda, didn't wait for his case to be called. Slamming a rolled-up newspaper on the counsel table, he said he was tired of being sandbagged and wouldn't be pushed around by anyone.

"Were you appointed or were you a misfit?" he demanded of Municipal Judge Walter Allen.

The judge ordered the bailiff to take Banks into custody. A jury trial on his plea of innocent to the traffic charge was set for Dec. 28.

Big Vote Against Red China Seen On Airman Issue

By MAX HARRELSON

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — An overwhelming vote of condemnation against Red China appeared assured Friday as country after country joined in assailing the Peiping regime for jailing 11 American airmen as spies.

The 60-nation General Assembly pressed for a vote later in the day on a resolution backed by the United States and its 15 Korean War allies. Western diplomats predicted the proposal would get at least 45 votes and perhaps 50.

Cuba led off the debate Friday morning with a vigorous support of the Allied resolution. The Union of South Africa, one of the sponsors of the condemnation, followed with an appeal for general support.

FOLLOWS SOVIETS

Czechoslovakia, as expected, followed the Soviet lead in insisting that the Chinese Communists had acted correctly and that the case was outside the legal competence of the U.N.

The Assembly's 60-nation special political committee meantime continued discussions on a Soviet demand that the U.N. condemn the United States for alleged aggression against the Peiping regime.

Nationalist China's T. F. Tsiang opened with a strong defense of the United States.

"In the whole world today," he said, "if there is one aggressor, one imperialist power, that is the Soviet Union."

CALLED SESSIONS

The Assembly, which had sat until almost midnight Thursday night, called morning and afternoon sessions Friday to expedite a decision on the fliers.

Delegates anticipated the resolution would encounter opposition only from the five-nation Soviet bloc, which has fought it bitterly. A scattering of Arab-Asian states were expected to abstain.

Observers believed the resolution could have mustered 55 favorable votes if it had not included condemnation of Red China. This caused apprehension among Arabic countries to go on record denouncing Peiping.

Syria reflected this feeling in yesterday's debate. Her chief delegate, Ahmed Shukairi, said that he favored the speedy release of the airmen but saw little point in denouncing the Chinese if the Assembly sincerely wanted to win the Americans freedom.

Russia's Jacob Malik spearheaded the bitter Soviet bloc attack, angrily denouncing the complaint as "shameful." He declared the Assembly had no right to try to intervene in Chinese justice. He hinted the Communists would ignore any action the United Nations might make.

Dr. Sheppard Emphatic In Murder Denial

By RELMAN MORIN

CLEVELAND (AP) — Dr. Samuel Sheppard thrice denied in court Friday that he killed his pregnant wife Marilyn last Independence Day.

He said he was holding her in his arms, as they sat in the same chair, only a few hours before she died.

He spoke in a firm, emphatic voice. His chin jutted forward.

It was a dramatic point in the long murder trial. The jurors, seven men and five women, had their eyes riveted upon him when he spoke.

It was Sheppard's second day on the witness stand. He said he was "shocked" when a detective first accused him of murdering his wife.

"Was there any basis of truth in the accusation made?" asked Defense Attorney William J. Corrigan.

"No sir," replied the defendant firmly.

"After the accusation was made against you that you killed Marilyn, did you do anything about hiring a lawyer?" Corrigan asked.

"No, sir, I didn't," Sheppard replied.

"You knew the truth would come out?" Corrigan asked.

"Yes."

"And the accusation was false?" the attorney continued.

"Yes, sir."

"And it is false?"

"That's right," the accused man said.

Sheppard described the events on the night of the murder.

Prosecutor, Former Sheriff's Deputy Indicted As Killer of Vice Crusader By Alabama Grand Jury

By REX THOMAS

PHENIX CITY, Ala. (AP)—A prosecuting attorney and a former sheriff's deputy who rose to power during the racketeering heyday in Phenix City have been indicted as the killers of the man whose crusade against vice had won the approval of Alabama voters.

Circuit Solicitor Arch Ferrell and former Chief Deputy Sheriff Albert Fuller were held without bond on first-degree murder charges for the slaying June 18 of Atty. Gen.-nominee A. L. Patterson.

TWO INDICTMENTS

Neither indictment said which of the two men the state contends fired three .38-caliber shots into Patterson's body. Under Alabama law a murderer and an accomplice are equally guilty and can be put to death in the electric chair.

A third unidentified defendant was indicted with Ferrell and Fuller yesterday by the same grand jury which had smashed the vice empire that reigned here for many years.

Ferrell, 37, was described by Patterson and his associates as the "brains" of the Phenix City political organization, and Fuller, 35, was denounced by vice prosecutors as the "master." Acting Atty. Gen. Bernard Sykes said he hopes to start the trials early in January.

ENDED JUNE 18

Patterson's crime-fighting career ended the night of June 18 when a gunman waylaid him in an alley outside his law office here. He had won the democratic nomination for attorney general in a bitterly contested runoff primary June 1. Gamblers had spent untold thousands trying to defeat him.

In Birmingham, a grand jury found evidence of vote manipulation in an effort to count Patterson out of the race.

Patterson had announced only a few hours before his death that he would testify before the Birmingham jury.

PLEADED GUILTY

Both Ferrell and Fuller pleaded guilty four days ago to vote fraud charges here, and Fuller was fined $250, Ferrell $200.

The swaggering, 200-pound veteran chief deputy had already been convicted of taking payoff money to let a bawdy house operate unmolested during the era of easy night life in Phenix City, and was sentenced to seven years in prison.

Ferrell had acquired a reputation as a quick-tempered but keen-minded lawyer whose work in the American Legion brought him recognition as state commander in 1949. He was an infantry captain in World War II.

At one time, Ferrell and Patterson were close political friends and it was on Patterson's recommendation that former Gov. James E. Folsom appointed Ferrell circuit solicitor in 1948.

Visit to Grandparents Begins Study of Taxidermy and Mounting of Gopher

(EDITOR'S NOTE—This installment is from an illustrated manuscript which Port Angeles Evening News founder E. B. Webster wrote in 1931 for his first grandson regarding his own boyhood in Iowa. By occupation Webster was a printer and publisher; but by personal interest he was a naturalist throughout his life, which ended here in 1936.)

There is, it is said, a silver lining to every cloud. Even as that ten cords of wood proved a cloud that overshadowed the first weeks of my summer's vacation, so also did the silver lining prove to be another milestone along life's roadway, for it led to a knowledge of taxidermy and to the study of birds.

I had never seen, so far as I can remember, my grandparents. It seems they lived in another town, not so far away, known as Waverly. When the wood was finished Mother told me I could visit them, and I was put on the train to take that sixty mile trip, all alone.

Grandfather owned a meatmarket, and of course they lived in town. With them were living my Aunt 'Gusta and her husband, who was county clerk of the court. Also a younger aunt named Anna. These being all that were left, there, of a family of ten.

CASE OF MOUNTED INSECTS

I remember that Aunt 'Gusta seemed to me to be one of the prettiest women I had ever seen. And that on the wall was a large case filled with mounted insects, arranged by my uncle. Also there were four mounted birds, two ptarmigan in the white plumage, and two crows. It may, perhaps, be imagined that I wanted that case of insects mighty badly. But grandma thought them too valuable to give to a boy, as they had been offered fifty dollars for the collection, by the city high school.

There was also a flock of white leghorn chickens and two of them, a hen and a rooster, were especial pets. When grandpa went out to the barn in the morning they would fly up on his shoulders and stay there till he walked over to the feed box and threw out their breakfast. I never thought of such a thing as his giving me the birds and maybe I wasn't surprised when I got ready to go home to have him box them up for me.

And, before we forget about it, I should add that they also sent me the case of insects, two or three years afterwards, when they moved to Colorado to live with an older son, Uncle Charley.

In the house was a copy of Manton's Taxidermy, a little book about the size of an ordinary square envelope, and so thin it had no thickness at all. A number of times since have I read, in magazines on birds, that Manton's Taxidermy was the only book of the kind in existence for many years and that practically everybody who could do the mounting of birds as some their accomplishments, so called owed their "start in taxidermy to Manton.

(A few years ago I found what I thought I instantly recognize as a copy of Manton's Taxidermy in a second-hand book store Seattle. It proved to be his book, a twin in all respects, on the collecting and preservation of insects. Of course I bought it, valuing it as one might an antique. It was published in 1881, had 30 pages of text and illustrations, and for all its stiff board covers was published to be sold at fifty cents a copy.

Only this fall a gentleman caller, a student of bugology, got a big kick out of reading it, chiefly because of the realization of its antiquity. It would seem almost impossible that things could be done so crudely only a few years ago.)

STUDIED TAXIDERMY

Well, I studied that taxidermy over and over, aided somewhat by the tearing to pieces of one of the mounted crows, until grandma had to hunt up some of the tools that uncle had used. Then I went over to the Fair Grounds near by and snared a gopher out in the field.

When I got the gopher mounted the family came out to see it, where I had it sitting up in the grass in the yard. Grandfather laughed and laughed, because, it seemed, I had not made any bends in the legs but had them all sticking straight out in front, like ramrods.

At that, there wasn't so much to laugh about. Only four or five years ago I saw, in the State Museum at the University of Washington, a woodchuck that had been mounted in exactly the same manner. Moreover the woodchuck wasn't stored away amongst the rubbish in the basement, but was sitting up in all his glory between a big black bear and a lordly moose.

I was there—working the director, Dr. Hall, for some discarded birds that I could revamp for our own little museum, and when I saw the woodchuck I put up the plea of my life for its possession. But friendship and money both failed; unlike Daniel Webster, he wouldn't let that woodchuck go.

'Gusta's husband, George Cooper, said the gopher was too difficult for a first attempt; that if it had been a bird the feathers would have covered up all the mistakes, and that, of course, was true. In a day or two the gun club was going to have a shoot and then I would come over to the Fair Grounds and get one or two of the dead pigeons. (They used live birds in those days.) And so, by the time I left for home I had become fairly expert in the "art of taxidermy."

Home and Sport Togs Show Ins and Outs of Gifting; Designers Busy

The gift that blends fun with fashion is doubly appreciated. And for this Yuletide, designers have outdone themselves in providing witty styles for sports and lounging.

The outdoor girl will enjoy winter more in her gay, bulky sweater or a wooly hooded jacket. Warm, brightly colored and trimmed gloves, scarves and caps are wise gifts for her.

And those knee-high socks she's been seeing in all the magazines — thanks to the Santa who remembers her with them. They're available, in a raft of giddy colors and patterns—and no matter how gay you go, you can't go wrong.

Warm boots are happy-go-colorful this season in pixie-like styles that can be worn over or without shoes. Slacks and Bermuda shorts — and shirts to go with them — will send her winter resorting, just to wear them by the fireside.

And while she's away, she'll have a wonderful time with the fireman red pajamas and the cozy-warm robe that Santa was thoughtful enough to bring her.

If she's the kind of girl that likes her own hearthside best of all come the cold winter winds, she'll be grateful indeed for at home togs.

Imagine the Christmas spirit of the lucky lounger who wakes up to really sensational toreador trousers in shiny black velvet or rich brocade or giddily printed corduroy.

What enchanted evenings she'll have, teaming them up with all manner of sophisticated blouses from shimmering satin to scoop-necked jersey (another fine idea for gifting the indoor girl).

Lounging shoes— a voyage to the orient in themselves, be they lacquered clogs, metallicized sandals, exotic mules or Persian slippers with their hilarious turned-up toes —make wonderful Yule gifts for glamour gals.

Quilted and quaint, swish and sophisticated, frilly and feminine —there are robes for every recipient on your roster. And remember, fun gifts are not only fun for her; they're fun to shop for. So have a good time, Santa!

County Farm Bureau Sends Rex Mantle To New York Meet

The board of directors of the Clallam County Farm Bureau Monday night voted to send a delegate to the American Farm Bureau's annual convention in New York City Dec. 12 to 16.

Rex Mantle, local bureau vice president, will make the trip in a direct attempt to secure the National Farm Bureau's support of the Dairy Stabilization Plan better known locally as the "Self-Help Plan."

Originator of this plan is Russell Waltz, manager of the Consolidated Dairies, Seattle, and president of the National Milk Producers' Federation.

Objective of the plan is to place control of the dairymen's production and disposal of surplus materials in the hands of the dairymen's own organization. In this way the dairymen would separate themselves from the federal treasury.

The bureau said dairying is the only segment of agriculture offering to break away from the price support programs and handle its own business.

Local bureau workers believe if this plan had been in operation when Secretary of Agriculture Benson dropped price supports from 90 to 75 per cent of parity, the dairymen would not be caught in the cost-price crisis they find themselves today.

According to local bureau president Val Cameron, the directors' action in sending Mantle to this meeting is an answer to those critics of the Farm Bureau who have maintained the bureau has worked against the dairyman's best interests.

This feeling arose when the national organization apparently gave tacit approval to Benson's program to drop dairy price supports.

The directors point out, however, the local Farm Bureau violently opposed the action and worked diligently to try to get dairying placed on a par with the basic commodities at the same ratio of parity.

LOCAL MEN TO STATE MEET

The latter part of October Sam Tague and Cameron were delegates to the state resolutions committee in Seattle.

Tague, Cameron, Mrs. Harold Herrett, Hayes Evans, Vern Mantle and Darrell Turner attended the annual Washington State Convention of the State Farm Bureau in Everett Nov. 8 and 9.

At this convention the local group presented the "Self-Help Plan" and received the state organization's endorsement.

Among other local recommendations approved were a plan to release stored surplus wheat to dairymen and poultrymen at lower than support prices; a request to raise the solids content of bottled milk from 3.25 per cent to 4 per cent and a plan to raise the standards of all milk and cream to Grade A.

Other recommendations included a desire to elect the directors of the Washington State Dairy Products Commission rather than have them appointed by the Governor and require better enforcement of the Washington State Egg Law. Also asked was a better poultry and turkey diagnostic laboratory.

Cameron announces a Washington State Dairymen's annual meeting t the Olympic Hotel in Seattle Dec. 13 and 14. Registration will begin at 2 p.m. on Sunday, Dec. 12.

This is the only statewide dairymen's organization and it is meeting in conjunction with the Washington State Dairy Foundation.

Resolutions of interest to local farmers will be proposed and discussed. Many educated speakers will address the meeting.

Judge Frees Man After 30 Years In Mental Hospitals

PITTSBURGH (AP) —Louis Henry Ross, 55, is a free man today after spending 30 years in a mental hospital, described by a judge as "the road of no return."

Ross known as the "Laughing Eel" for robberies committed in the 1920s, escaped from Farview State Hospital several weeks ago and surrendered to Pittsburgh authorities.

Judge Loran L. Lewis ruled yesterday that Ross is legally sane and should not be returned to the hospital. He said a study of records showed Ross must have been sane since 1943.

Ross was sentenced to serve 12 years at Western State Penitentiary for robbery and was transferred to Farview in 1923.

He was named the "Laughing Eel" by Pittsburgh police, who said he laughed at his holdup victims and eluded many police traps.

In ordering Ross released, Judge Lewis said the road to Farview "could be properly classified as 'the road of no return,'" adding:

"It is quite conceivable, because of the wholly inadequate system of examinations that many more patients of sound mind are knocking at the door of freedom at Farview without being heard."

Judge Lewis ordered Ross' release after four psychiatrists testified he was sane.

Ross said he plans to work for a local contractor and live with a brother here.

Disturbed Youth Shoots Father

DETROIT (AP) — A 17 - year - old youth, disturbed by "almost daily arguments," shot his father with a shotgun last night, police said, and then took the dying man to a hospital in a taxi.

Sonny Lee Fenwick was held for investigation of murder. His father Lee Fenwick, 48, was dead on arrival at Receiving Hospital.

Young Fenwick told officers he grabbed the shotgun when his father came home drunk and started quarreling with his stepmother Jessie, 53. The father grabbed the gun, but Sonny recovered it and fired, he said.

Kitch's Korner

IDEAS ON BLACK BEARS PRESENTED BY KITCHIN

By E. A. KITCHIN

Sometime ago I received a letter from a Port Angeles man (name omitted by request) giving his ideas on the local black bear situation and asking if I would give any of mine through the column of Kitch's Korner.

The letter was very good. Some of his remarks I fully agree with, on others I'm not so sure, but I could be wrong. In writing about the black bear as a game animal I realize that I am walking on thin ice because I have never hunted them.

Of late the black bear has been put on the predatory list, blamed for killing young trees. In his letter the writer thinks this wrong, and so do I.

The bear should be considered a game animal as it is in other sections of the U.S. The hubbub raised by the damage to trees by the bears is simply making a mountain out of a mole hill. Few trees barked by the bear are actually killed, an infinitesimal number in the forest growth.

TERRIBLE DAMAGE

As I write this, the thought just came to me that in this month of December a million small fir Christmas trees are being cut in our State and shipped out to other parts of the country. When I think of this I can't help but smile at the report of the "terrible damage" done by bears scratching the bark off a few trees.

My correspondent writes about the bear as a scavenger and deer killer. To quote him, "It is doubtful if he kills many, if any, healthy deer." In a way he is a scavenger, cleaning up on any dead deer or elk.

A dead body does not last long in the woods. Smal animals, birds and Nature herself soon reduce it to a scattered skeleton. I remember at Elkhorn Ranger Station one spring when three elk drowned in crossing the river. It did not take the bears long to clean up, one bear to each carcass.

Bears differ in disposition and habits. Some seek a flesh diet more than others. From observation I know that a she-bear with cubs will kill fawns, not so much for the flesh itself but as a game or lesson for the cubs.

Twice I have come upon a bear complacently sitting and watching her two cubs pull a fawn apart and gnaw and fight over the leg bones. The mother seemed pleased with the game and grabbed a bone herself now and then. In both cases it was a small fawn. When they grow bigger and stronger I doubt if many are caught and never if the fawn reaches the brush and safety.

REAL SPORT

Bear hunting can be and is a real sport to anyone who likes big game hunting. Bear can be hunted when the shooting seasons are closed on other big game. But it should be kept as a sporting proposition, a game proposition, not as a predatory animal that should be shot at sight.

And as with deer and elk the meat should be brought out and consumed. If the hunter does not like bear meat then he should not go bear hunting. That is the opinion of most hunters, I think.

To quote from the letter again, "Most men who like the woods and hunting seem to feel that killing, just to kill goes against their grain, as it should be."

Trial of Damage Suit Against Crosby Gets Underway in Court

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Trial of a $1,051,400 auto-injury damage suit against Bing Crosby has started in Superior Court and he says it's the first time he's played a role of litigant.

The crooner was present Thursday as selection of a jury began. In contrast with his usual casual sports clothes, he wore a conservative gray business suit.

Judge Thomas J. Cunningham, after preliminaries, excused prospective jurors until Monday and Friday was to hear legal arguments on punitive damages sought.

Fireman Frank F. Verdugo, 33; his wife, Lucy, 29, and her brother, Eulialo Peria, 29, brought the suit after a collision between Crosby's $12,000 sports car and Verdugo's sedan.

The fireman and his passengers were injured in the collision at 5:20 a.m. on Oct. 11 last year.

Verdugo alleges Crosby's faculties were impaired "by reason of being without a reasonable amount of sleep for an unreasonably long period of time," asserts the crooner had been drinking, and charges he was driving "with utter disregard for the life and safety of others."

After the accident Crosby told police he had just taken actress Mona Freeman home after they had attended a party at the home of producer William Goetz. He denied accusations of negligence, said the accident was unavoidable, and asserted that Verdugo himself was weary from lack of sleep and had been drinking.

Verdugo says he received neck and arm fractures and partial paralysis of his right arm and hand in the crash. He appeared in court wearing a leather orthopedic collar.

NOTICE OF SALE OF TIMBER ON STATE LAND

Notice is hereby given that on Tuesday, the 1st day of February, 1955, commencing at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day, in front of the main entrance door to the county court house in the City of PORT TOWNSEND, County of JEFFERSON, State of Washington, by the County Auditor of said county, the timber on the following described state land will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder therefor, to-wit:

APPLICATION NO. 23259

Timber on the NE¼NE¼, SW¼NE¼, NE¼NW¼ and SW¼NW¼, section 16, township 24 north, range 12 west, W.M., containing 160.00 acres, more or less, according to the government survey thereof. This timber will be sold on the scale basis as provided in Chapter 175 of the Session Laws of 1933.

The lowest acceptable bid will be $18.00 per thousand for spruce, $16.00 per thousand for cedar, $12.00 per thousand for white pine and $12.00 per thousand for hemlock.

Bids must be submitted at a rate per thousand board feet, by species. No bids for less than the appraised values as set forth will be accepted, and the State reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

The successful bidder will be required to enter into a written contract which shall fix the time when logging operations shall be commenced and concluded, shall require monthly payments for timber removed as soon as scale sheets have been tabulated and the amount of timber removed during the month determined, shall designate the price per thousand to be paid for each species of timber and provide for supervision of logging operations and methods of scaling and reporting.

The purchaser, at the time of sale, must make a cash deposit equal to 10 per cent of the estimated value of the timber computed at the stumpage rate bid. At no time shall the amount due the State for timber actually cut and removed exceed the amount of deposit as herewith set forth. The amount of deposit shall be returned to the purchaser upon completion and full compliance with terms of the bill of sale by the purchaser, or it may be applied on final payment for stumpage.

The purchaser shall be required to comply with all laws regarding fire protection and with the provisions of the State Forest Practice Act and will be required to deliver a performance bond or sureties in the amount of $10,000.00 to guarantee compliance with said act.

Logs are to be scaled by a State scaler and all logs are to be branded with a brand furnished by the State before being transported from the property.

Logs shall be scaled by the Scribner rule, at the small end, inside bark. The maximum scaling length of logs shall be 40 feet. Greater lengths shall be scaled as two or more logs.

The scaling of logs shall be done in the woods, or at the landing, or wherever the scaler finds it most practicable without interfering with logging operations.

The title to the timber included in this sale shall pass to the purchaser upon confirmation of sale.

Stumps shall be cut so as to cause the least possible waste, not higher than 30 inches on side adjacent to highest ground.

The location of logging roads through standing timber from one sale area to another shall be the shortest practical distance. After the proposed right of way location has been established by the operator, it must be approved by an authorized representative of the state before road construction begins. The timber within logging road right of way shall be scaled and paid for at the same rate and in the same manner as timber purchased in the regular sale.

Burn as directed by the State Forest Warden.

Time for removal will be 2 years.

According to the State's cruise there are approximately 25,000 feet spruce, 4,305,000 feet cedar, 29,000 feet white pine and 685,000 feet hemlock.

Said timber on said land will be sold for not less than the appraised value, as appraised by the Commissioner of Public Lands in the manner provided by law, a statement of which is now on file in the office of the Auditor of said county.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Nicholas Lynch Jr., American Legion national field service director, charged here yesterday that a "subtle flank attack" is being made on the "entire structure of veterans benefits."

Also, he charged, many veterans "forego treatment rather than go through the fog and mess of red tape" under present conditions.

Persistent Boy Wins Police Badge By Going to Top

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—No one is more persistent than a 9-year-old boy.

And if that boy, like Johnny Hungate, has his heart set on a police badge—

Johnny got his yesterday along with an identification card proclaiming him a full-fledged member of the school safety patrol. It wasn't easy because his school has no organized unit.

That didn't deter Johnny. He appealed to Lt. James Glass, head of the traffic division of the Police Department and officer in charge of the patrol.

"I'm sorry, Johnny," the lieutenant said, "we're working on an organization of the St. Peter School unit right now, and pretty soon you can join the patrol."

Johnny didn't want to wait so he dropped in to see Police Chief Carrol Hale and won his sympathy.

"He rolled his big, brown eyes at me and said, 'Chief, you've got to help me,' " Hale reported later. He told the youngster to go back and see Lt. Glass since "I've got a feeling he won't turn you down this time."

The lieutenant called on the school director and he agreed that nothing should keep his boy from realizing his ambition.

So, the safety patrol unit at St. Peter came into being ahead of time — just for Johnny's benefit.

What's his next dream? To be a policeman when he grows up.

Oil Heir Must Sell His Cadillac

HOUSTON (AP) — Shepperd (Abdullah) King III, former husband of Egyptian dancer Samia Gamal, must sell his Cadillac convertible.

Dist. Judge John Snell yesterday ruled King liable for $3,900 in alteration costs at the Oasis, the oil and cotton heir's unsuccessful cafe venture.

A contractor had an attachment writ on the automobile, a 1953 model, and Judge Snell ordered it sold at sheriff's auction unless it is sold for payment of the debt.

Town Excited Over Discovery of Old Robbery Loot

LEWISTOWN, Pa. (AP) — This central Pennsylvania community today buzzed with accounts of a robbery — a train robbery that took place more than 45 years ago.

The talk started yesterday when three deer hunters reported they accidentally stumbled across what might be part of the loot taken from a Pennsylvania Railroad train near here in an early-morning holdup in 1909.

The uncovered "loot" consists of about 3,700 Lincoln head pennies which old-timers say the train robber mistook for pieces of gold.

Police said about a million dollars in gold bullion was being carried on the train from Washington to Cincinnati when it was dynamited to a stop.

The gunman, however, got into the wrong car and ended up with several sacks of pennies.

John A. Dubendorf, Lewistown; his brother Albert, of Middletown; and Charles E. Bell, of Maitland, found the coins while scurrying through the woods last week in search of deer.

"We kept the find a secret until we could thoroughly search the area for the gold we though might be hidden there," Albert told a newsman.

The three men said they learned of the train robbery through reading an old newspaper account which mentioned the name of Merrill Davis, then a patrolman for the PRR.

They contacted Davis and he filled them in on the details of the robbery, which took place near where the coins were found.

Davis surmised the gunman checked the loot in the woods and after going through most of the pennies, left them there and fled. A bag of gold, he said, was found unopened.

The finders divided the coins equally and said they will hold onto them until they are given some definite legal orders to turn them in.

NIXONS LATE

Former Seaman Held After Store Holdup

SPOKANE (AP)—A former Seattle merchant seaman was arrested Thursday less than an hour after a bandit had taken $1,900 from a local supermarket in a daylight holdup.

Arrested in possession of a plastic bag full of money was Raymond J. Boyd, 30, who was stopped while driving south of the city.

Sheriff Ralph M. Smith said the bag was similar to one used by the bandit and that it contained the holdup note used to demand money of the store's cashier.

Only the clerk in the crowded market was aware the holdup was going on, so quietly did the bandit act.
