Foresters open conference; taking look at next decade

Professional foresters from throughout central and western Washington are meeting at the Elks Temple here today and Saturday for the annual conference of the Puget Sound Section, Society of American Foresters.

Chairman Gordon Grayum of the section's North Olympic chapter says the theme is "Forestry—The Coming Decade." During the conference the foresters will look ahead to what the 60's will mean in terms of forest economics, research and education.

"New concepts of multiple land use will be discussed, as well as ways of bettering the profession of forestry. Problems expected to confront the professional forester in the next decade will be examined and solutions proposed," Grayum says.

REGISTRATION FOR the event began Thursday evening and the first technical session got underway at 1:30 this afternoon. Earlier today the foresters got together for tours of the Peninsula Plywood Corp. mill, the Merrill and Ring Western Lumber Co., and the Crown Zellerbach mill.

First activity of the day was a "pep up" breakfast at 7:45 this morning.

Saturday the sessions begin at 9 a. m. and continue through noon. The group will assemble at Discovery Bay Junction at 1:30 p.m. Saturday for a field trip through the Crown Z tree farm and thinning operation in Jefferson County.

WIVES OF THE foresters will take part in a number of activities. Today a group caravan went to Hurricane Ridge following a noon luncheon and a visit to the Pioneer Memorial Museum in Olympic National Park. A trip to Victoria is scheduled for Saturday morning.

A banquet and dancing for everyone attending the conference is scheduled for this evening at the Elks ballroom.

A number fof speakers are listed for the conference. They include: G. H. Schroeder, Portland, forester for Crown Zellerbach; State Land Commissioner Bert Cole; John Duffield of the Industrial Forestry Association; Jay Gruenfeild, Weyerhauser Co.; Stanley Gessel, associate professor of forest soils, University of Washington and Don Clark, Institute of Forest Products, University of Washington.

IN ADDITION, many other individuals prominent in all phases of forestry, will be present and take part in panel discussions, Grayum says.

Dean Gordon D. Marckworth of the College of Forestry, University of Washington, will discuss the Fifth World Forestry Conference to be held soon in Seattle.

Charles Tulloch of the North Olympic Chapter is serving as a member of the section program committee. Chapter members who worked on local arangements are Ray Helgeson, E. Rodney Downen, Morris Boles, C. J. Hopkins, Frank Misa and John Barinaga. Mmes. Ray Helgeson, E. Rodney Downen and John Barinaga are assisting with the registration and the entertainment for the women.

Ike sends best wishes to Century 21 ceremony

SEATTLE (AP)—President Eisenhower sent a congratulatory message to the Century 21 Exposition Thursday as ground was broken for a four million dollar coliseum that is to be a center for the scientific fair which opens here in April, 1962.

Eisehower's telegram, read at the ceremony, said:

"This exposition promises to be a splendid event in the life of the people of Seattle and the Pan Pacific community. By attracting the finest exhibits in modern science and national cultures, it soon will become a great and stimulating center for all."

Some colonists think Galapagos not a Paradise

SEATTLE (AP) — Letters received here this week indicated all was not peaches and cream among the Galapagos Islanders, a highly-publicized group of colonists headed for an island off the coast of Ecuador.

A group of 32 colonists, headed by Don Harrsch of Seattle, already is on the island, San Cristobal. A scond group of 77 persons is in Los Angeles.

One of the colonists, Loren Tomlinson, 19, Seattle, wrote his mother, Mrs. Emery L. Tomlinson, he thought the sponsoring company, Island Development Co., was going to dissolve.

CATCH TUNA

The colonists put up $2,500 a family to join the group. They hoped to catch tuna and lobster and to grow cocoa to finance their venture.

Another colonist, Don Wold, 18, Seattle, wrote his mother, Mrs. Harold Wold, that "if it were not for Alexander S. Reuss, a company vice president aboard the Western Trader at Los Angeles, we would all quit."

In Seattle, Ron Nelson, manager of the Island Development office, said seven houses are being refurbished at Wreck Bay, San Cristobal, and work is going ahead on dock repairs and on a refrigerating plant. He said he had heard of no dissatisfaction at the island.

State loses suit to collect fire losses

OLYMPIA (AP)—The state lost out Thursday its attempt to recover $4,695 spent fighting a forest fire in Whatcom County in August, 1952.

The State Supreme Court split 4-4 on the case, leaving the ruling of Whatcom County Superior Judge Hobart S. Dawson against the state in effect.

The ninth Supreme Court judge, Harry Elsworth Foster, did not particapate in the case because of a personal interest in one of the parties to the action.

The state brought the action against Anacortes Veneer, Inc., Flen Corning Logging Co., Puget Sound Pulp and Timber Co. Inc., Columbia Valley Logging Co., Joe Gilmore and the Bellingham Timber Co. to recover costs of fighting a fire that started on land owned by Anacortes Veneer and which spread to adjoining timber lands owned by other defendants.

HELD LIABLE

The state maintained the timber companies were liable under a state law requiring them to remove hazardous slash accumulations or be liable for any fire fighting costs.

The timber companies maintained there was no practical way to remove the slash (logging debris) prior to the fire except by controlled burning, and they could not burn it except by obtaining a burning permit. And, they contended, burning permits at that time were not being issued by the state because it was during the hazardous fire season.

Cuban students demonstrate against U. S.

By RICHARD VALERIANI

HAVANA (AP)—Shouts of "Get out! Get out!" greeted every mention of U. S. Ambassador Philip Bonsal at a hysterical five-hour anti-American rally at Havana University that carried into the early hours today.

More than 15,000 students, workers and civilian militiamen were whipped into a frenzy by student and union leaders ranting against "Yankee imperialism" and charging repeatedly that the United States is preparing an invasion of Cuba.

Havana seethed with anti-Americanism.

FEAR AGGRESSION

Maj. Rolando Cubelas, head of the University Student Federation, called the rally to muster support for his charge that the United States plans "direct aggression" against the island republic.

The anti-American tempers were fanned by the killing of an American civilian pilot, Matthews Edward Duke, 45, earlier in the day outside Havana. Officials said he was trying to fly out Cubans branded by the Castro regime as war criminals. The government said he landed on the highway, saw an ambush was waiting for him, and was shot as he tried to take off again.

Duke was on the U.S. border patrol's blacklist of 29 pilots suspected of illegal flights to Cuba, and U. S. airports had been warned not to rent any of them a plane. Federal aviation officials said he rented a plane at Baton Rouge, La., by saying he was flying to Texas for a cargo of spare airplane parts.

Canadian urges development of power pool

KELOWNA, B. C. (AP)—A Pacific Northwest power pool, including all major river systems, would produce 50 million dollars worth more power than individual developments, the president of Peace River Power Development Co. said Wednesday.

"Integration of the power potential of the Columbia and Peace Rivers is essential if we are going to secure the maximum benefit,' W. C. Mainwaring told the Kelowna Board of Trade.

He envisioned a power pool that would tie together California, Utah Idaho, Montana, Oregon, Washington, British Columbia and Alberta.

The Peace River development, he added, is essential to complement any Columbia development.

School compliment

Dr. Al Butler of Washington State University wants to take a look at Port Angeles for a special reason.

On a recent trip to WSU, Dr. Eugene H. Wyborney was talking to Dr. Butler and the professor mentioned he would like to visit here sometime. He went on to explain that over a period of time instructors and officials form an impression of a community by the students it sends to WSU.

He said students from Port Angeles, Davenport and Garfield are consistently outstanding. He has satisfied his curiosity by visiting Garfield and Davenport, but has not been able to make it to Port Angeles. He indicated he still intends to make the trip sometime.

State building permits down $25,800,000

SEATTLE (AP) — Pacific Northwest building permits of $51,723,255 in April were down $11,500,000 from a year ago, with Washington accounting for $9,600,000 of the decline.

The trade publication Pacific Architect and Builder, in issuing the figures Thursday, said that since Jan. 1 the value of building permits in the Northwest was off $29,700,000, with $25,800,000 of that in Washington.

Oregon's decline last month was listed at $2,600,000 and Idaho's at $907,000.

Alaska reversed the trend by showing an increase of $1,200,000 for April, the same figure that was shown for the 49th state for the four-month period since Jan. 1.

Khrushchev may demand summit end spy flights

By LEWIS GULIC

WASHINGTON (AP) — Premier Nikita Khrushchev was considered likely today to demand at the summit conference that the United States promise to stop its spy flights over the Soviet Union.

The prospect heightened chances of a clash between President Eisenhower and the Soviet Premier over the case of the downed American U2 plane when the East-West leaders meet in Paris next week.

Eisenhower sees the U. S. flights behind the iron curtain as needed for defense against possible surprise attack. He has served notice that he will reoffer at the summit his open skies plan for reciprocal aerial inspection.

RAISES QUESTION

Thursday night the United States officially charged that Moscow's treatment of the spy case casts doubt on whether Khrushchev really intends progress at the summit toward easing East-West tensions.

The U. S. allegation was contained in a 250-word note replying to the Kremlin's May 10 protest about the May Day flight deep into Soviet territory by American pilot Francis G. Powers.

The Soviets, who captured Powers and claim to have shot down the plane, accused the United States of hostile acts and threatened reprisals in case of future flights.

DEFENSE ONLY

The U. S. reply, delivered in Moscow by the U. S. Embassy, denied "any aggressive intent" and said America's intelligence gathering is "for purely defensive purposes."

It denied too the Soviet accusation that the May 1 flight was undertaken deliberately to wreck the long-awaited summit parley.

"Indeed," the U. S. note said, "it is the Soviet government's treatment of this case which, if anything, may raise questions about its intentions in respect to these matters."

The U. S. note concluded:

"For its part, the United States government will participate in the Paris meeting on May 16 prepared to cooperate to the fullest extent in seeking agreements designed to reduce tensions, including effective safeguards against surprise attack which would make unnecessary issues of this kind."

NO COMMENT

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter departed Thursday for final pre-summit conferences at Paris with a smiling goodby, but a refusal to comment on summit prospects or whether Eisenhower should go to the Soviet Union.

The White House said Eisenhower might speak out publicly before he takes off for Paris Saturday.

Meanwhile the spy plane case continued to trouble U. S. relations with friends and neutrals.

The Pakistani ambassador, after a 15-minute meeting with Herter said his government has not yet determined whether the U2 flew into the Soviet Union from Pakistan.

The Afghan ambassador said after a State Department visit that his government would strongly protest what he called an act of aggression and violation of Afghanistan's neutrality.

Khrushchev says the plane took off from Pakistan and crossed Afghan territory on a trans-Soviet flight that was supposed to end in Norway. The United States has kept the U2's proposed route a secret.

Soviet chief of air force cancels visit

WASHINGTON (AP)—The chief of the Soviet air force today called off his scheduled visit to the United States.

Chief Air Marshal K. A. Vershinin, who was due to arrive Saturday from Moscow, informed the U.S. Air Force that "it would be more appropriate to postpone my visit to the United States until a more suitable time."

His decision was clearly another repercussion from the May 1 downing in the Soviet Union of an American spy plane.

In still another development, Norway formally protested to the United States against the spy pilot's reported plan to land his plane in Norway.

The Soviets have asserted that was the pilot's intention, but U.S. officials have cast doubt on that without saying where the pilot did intend to land.

TO BE GUESTS

The Soviet air chief and nine other Soviet air officers were to have been guests of U.S. Air Force Chief of Staff Gen. Thomas D. White.

The Soviet group had been invited to attend a demonstration of U.S. military power at an Armed Forces Day exhibit at Andrews Air Force Base near Washington. Thereafter, they were to have toured several important U.S. Air Force centers.

The invitation was in return for the courtesies extended Gen. Nathan F. Twining, then Air Force chief, on a visit to the Soviet Union in 1956. Twining is now chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Prince Aly Khan killed in auto accident

By HARVEY HUDSON

PARIS (AP)—Prince Aly Khan—playboy, sportsman, lover of beautiful women and apprentice diplomat—was killed Thursday night at the wheel of a sports car.

After an afternoon at Longchamps race track outside Paris, the 48-year-old prince was driving to his half-brother's home at St. Cloud for a dinner party when his Lancia coupe and a light sedan collided head on in suburban Suresne.

The wealthy prince met death in a dinner jacket with a beautiful woman by his side.

COMPANION INJURED

Bettina, former French model who has been his constant companion in Europe in recent years, suffered a face cut and blood poured over her green silk evening gown. She was given first aid treatment at a hospital and released.

Aly's chauffeur, riding in the back seat, was only slightly hurt.

The fun-loving prince, who turned to sober diplomacy in 1958 as Pakistan's ambassador to the United Nations, was rushed to a hospital but died in an elevator on the way to the operating room.

The hospital director said a head gash was the only outward sign of injury. Hospital attaches said he suffered a fractured skull, broken legs and perhaps a broken neck.

Herve Bichaton, driver of the other car, escaped with minor injuries.

Wide speculation on fate of plane

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Daily News said in a copyright story today that American pilot Francis G. Powers was "sold out" and that a manhunt has been launched for the agent who did it.

The News said Powers was a sitting duck from the time he left his home base in Turkey and that Soviet radar tracked him all the way.

The article, a Washington dispatch by the newspaper's military editor, Jerry Greene, said that Powers had an engine flameout above 70,000 feet and descended to 37,000 feet in an effort to restart the engine.

ORDERED ACT

But Powers was unable to restart it and was instructed by radio to bail out and blow up the aircraft. Obviously, said the News, these orders either were not received or were disregarded.

Powers was downed May 1 while flying a reconnaissance flight in a U2 jet plane over Soviet territory. The incident has caused an international furor.

"Somebody sold him out," the News quoted a top official in Washington. "And we want him. Obviously, the Soviet agents have penetrated our operations on the ground." The manhunt is going on in Turkey and the Middle East, said the News.

MILK RUN

Powers, the article continued, was on the Peshawar, Pakistan-Norway route, which has been flown so often it is called a milk run in aviation circles.

The News said the chief target was the comparatively new Soviet rocket and missile center at Tyura Tam, south of Arlsk near the Ural Sea.

U.S. intelligence agencies have received reports that the Soviets were going to make a surprise space shot either in connection with next week's summit meeting in Paris or with President Eisenhower's trip, the story said.

"The flight on which Powers was captured was intended specifically to determine what sort of spectacular the Russians had in mind," the article said.

DENIES SELLOUT

In Washington today, the State Department and Central Intelligence Agency declined official comment, but authorities said there was no reason to believe that his flight had been tipped off that his flight had ben tipped off to the Soviets by an agent or in any other way.

LONDON (AP) — The British Communist party newspaper, the London Daily Worker said today American pilot Francis G. Powers—shot down over Soviet teritory May 1— survived because the rocket exploded beneath the tail of his jet plane.

The powerful J57 jet engine of the Lockheed U2 Powers was flying thus shielded him from the full blast of the explosion, the Communist paper said in a dispatch from Moscow.

Doubts had been expressed in American official circles that the plane had been shot down by a rocket at all, most experts saying there would have been little left of the craft or the pilot if it had been.

EXPRESS DOUBTS

Doubts also were expressed about the Soviet report that the plane was hit at over 60,000 feet altitude because Powers reportedly parachuted down without injury. U. S. experts, including the plane's designer, doubted the Soviets could have salvaged the films they have been showing as Power's work had the plane fallen from such high altitude.

When the rocket exploded, the Daily Worker said, Powers was flung forward under his instrument panel.

"This, together with the resulting deformation of the fuselage, made it impossible for him to use his ejector seat," the account continued.

PILOT TRAPPED

"As his plane plunged earthward after being struck at an altitude of 68,000 feet, Powers fought for his life, struggling to extricate himself. Only after the plane had fallen some 27,000 feet did he succeed in freeing himself, forcing open his cockpit cover and bailing out," the newspaper said."

According to the Daily Worker dispatch, Soviet officers said the American pilot's first reaction upon being captured was one of sheer pleasure at being alive.

The Communist paper also claimed that, according to the record of the interrogation, Powers was asked where he served and replied:

"Until 1956 I served in the U. S. Air Force but at present I work at an American office. It is a combination of civil aviation and Air Force service. All this is disguised and coded under the name of Unit 10-10. The main task of the unit is to locate radio stations in action and rocket launching sites."

Truman endorses Symington, but also has kind word for Kennedy

CHICAGO (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman today endorsed Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) for the Democratic presidential nomination.

At a news conference, Truman handed out a nine-paragraph statement tracing Symington's record and asserting:

"I am as sure as I can be that if the Democrats nominate him, he will have no difficulty in carrying a tremendous majority of the electoral votes in November."

"Without doubt, he is the best qualified man," Truman said of his fellow Missourian.

He said he had delayed his announcement until now because "I want to help him and not hurt him."

KIND WORDS

In Chicago to address the Executives Club, Truman had kind words for Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass), front runner in his party's preconvention campaigning.

He was asked if he had any objection to Kennedy. He replied:

"None whatever. He's a fine young man and I know and like him. The only thing is, he lives in Massachusetts."

Truman said of the West Virginia primary, "I am very satisfied, not because of the results, but because of the way the prophets and pollsters came out."

He referred to predictions that Kennedy would be defeated by Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn).

Truman said also he thinks that the West Virginia primary killed the religious issue in this year's Democratic contest.

"It had no business there in the first place," he said.

BACKS IKE

The former president backed his successor, President Eisenhower, in the spy plane episode which has stirred tensions on the eve of the summit conference in Paris.

"I think it is a dirty business, but it is done by all governments and may be necessary," he said.

Tacoma Giants hottest team in Coast League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Tacoma Giants, hottest club in the Pacific Coast League, will send their ace hurler, young Juan Marichal, to the mound Friday night in an effort to make it six victories in a row.

Marichal, a 21-year-old right-hander from the Dominican Republic, is also seeking his sixth victory. He has yet to be beaten in the PCL campaign this year. His opponent Friday night: Tom Butters (0-1) and the Salt Lake City Bees.

The Giants picked up the fourth and fifth victories of their current winning skein Thursday night, whipping the Vancouver Mounties 2-1 and 4-3. The double win moved the Giants into second place, a game and a half behind Sacramento.

In other action the Seattle Rainiers split with the Salt Lake City Bees, winning 7-1 and losing 3-0 in a heartbreaker for veteran Charlie Beamon. Sacramento whipped Portland 4-0, then lost 6-1. Rain washed out San Diego at Spokane, a single game.

Eddie Fisher, a mainstay of the Giant staff last year, picked up the first victory against Vancouver, his first in five decisions. The powerful Giants pounded out 11 hits in the nightcap, including doubles by Jose Pagan, Danny O'Connell and Bob Perry.

Marc Raymond handcuffed Portland on four hits in the opening game between the Beavers and Sacramento while his Solon teammates parlayed three hits, six walks, a hit batsman, a wild pitch and one Portland error into four runs. Portland's Noel Mickelsen stopped the Solons on four hits in the nightcap, striking out four and walking two. George Freese unloaded his eighth homer of the season for Portland in the fourth with the bases empty.

Dave Stenhouse lost his bid for a shutout against Salt Lake City in the first Bees-Rainier tussle in the seventh inning of the abbreviated game. Two singles and a forceout gave the Bees their lone run. They were able to reach Stenhouse for only five hits.

In the nightcap, Beamon struck out 13 batters before an error opened the gates for three Salt Lake City runs in the ninth. Beamon wound up the loser while Tom Parsons, with a five-hitter, won it. He fanned six batters and latched on to Rudy Regalado's popup in the last of the ninth, ending the game with the bases bulging with Rainiers.

Errors cost Yakima game

By THE ASSOCATED PRESS

Bonus rookie Denis Menke may pack a mean bat for the Northwest League Yakima Bears, but his defensive work could stand some seasoning.

Menke, a $135,00 investment by Milwaukee's Braves, drove in three runs for Yakima Thursday night, one of them on a triple. His two errors at shortstop, however, allowed two runs to come home, enough to give Lewiston a 7-6 triumph over the Bears.

It was the only game played in the six-team Class B circuit. Wenatchee at Salem was postponed because of rain and Eugene at Tri-Cities was called because of wind and cold weather.

Dodgers are making money this season

By CHARLES MAHER
Associated Press Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — San Francisco is not the only California city with a Golden Gate. The Los Angeles Dodgers have got one in operation at the Coliseum.

Artistically, the Dodgers have been going over like a club-footed corps de ballet so far this season, losing 14 of their first 25 games.

Now, if they could make as many runs on the field as they've made to the bank, they'd be so far in front you'd have to measure their lead in light years.

In their first 18 games at home, they've drawn 551.133, for an average of more than 30,000 a game. If they kept this up through their 75 home appearances, they'd finish with a gate of a little less than 2,300,000 which would be a National League record.

Last year the Dodgers drew 2,071,045 at home. But right now they are more than 60,000 ahead of their 1959 pace.

Few suspect the legions have been loading the Coliseum just to watch their heroes perform with the precision of drunken tumblers. The suspcion is rather that the Dodgers are still drawing on the world championship they won in 1959.

And f they maintain their present position in the National League standings, they may shortly begin to separate the faithful from the fickle. In their present park, this would be a depressant of deadly dimensions. For nothing in the world looks quite so empty as the Coliseum with only 5,000 in it.

Boston Red Sox with long winning streak, in second place

Boston's Red Sox, playing their best at home, as usual, suddenly have won four in a row and six of their last seven, barging into second place, only a half-game shy of the American League lead.

And it's all happened just 2½ weeks after that talk about club dissension and a quick gate for Manager Billy Jurges.

They made it with their second straight victory over Chicago's first place White Sox Thursday, a 1-0 decision on Tom Brewer's two-hit pitching and a ninth-inning single by Pete Runnels, who took over the AL batting lead at .426. Bob Shaw was the loser, giving up nine hits.

Boston leap-frogged the New York Yankees, who skidded from second to fourth with a 3-2 11-inning defeat by Cleveland. The Indians, taking third place and also within a half-game of the lead, put it away on Russ Nixon's home run as right-hander Gary Bell out-dueled Ralph Terry for his first victory over the Yankees in six career decisions.

The second division clubs—Baltimore, Detroit, Washington and Kansas City — were rained out.

TWO HITTER

In the National League, Jack Sanford hurled the second straight two-hitter by San Francisco's staff and the first place Giants defeated Philadelphia 1-0 for the second time in two days. The Giants, winning six straight, now lead Pittsburgh's second place Pirates, who were idle, by two games. Third place Milwaukee handed St. Louis a sixth consecutive defeat, 4-3 on Ed Mathews' tie-breaking home run. And Cincinnati made it eight straight with a 14-1 job on the Chicago Cubs.

The Red Sox beat Shaw (2-2) for the first time in three career decisions with the help of his two-base error. Rookie Lu Clinton opened the ninth with a single and went to third when Shaw threw wild on Don Gile's bunt. Pinch-hitter Gary Geiger then got a hit off Shaw's glove that loaded the bases, and Runnels broke it up.

Runnels was 3-for-4, gaining 15 points, while Yankee Roger Maris fell to second place in the batting race at .393 with an 0-for-5 day that cost him 38 points.

Nixon's first home run of the season sent the Yankees to their third straight defeat, all in extra innings. Bell struck out seven and gave up 10 hits, one a tying solo home run in the eighth by Yogi Berra, who marked his 35th birthday with two singles in addition to his 305th career homer.

The Indians, getting nine hits off Terry (1-1), scored an unearned run in the second, then broke a 1-1 tie in the seventh on a two-out squeeze bunt by Johnny Temple.

Giants have best pitching in league and win six in row

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Pity those poor San Francisco Giants. They had hitters and sluggers so they traded for more pitching. And what happens? Now the hitters don't hit and the sluggers get hurt, but they've got a two-game lead, a six-game streak and the best pitching in the National League — thanks to three guys they had all the time.

Right-hander Jack Sanford came up with the third two-hitter of the season by the staff, second in two days, for another 1-0 victory over Philadelphia Thursday. That gave the Giants, held to six hits by loser Robin Roberts and reliever Dick Farrell, their longest winning string since moving to San Francisco in 1958 and padded their lead over idle Pittsburgh.

Third place Milwaukee dropped St. Louis to a sixth straight defeat, winning 4-3 on Ed Mathews' tie-breaking home run in the eighth inning. Cincinnati stretched its winning streak to eight with a 14-1 romp against Chicago's Cubs.

BOSTON MOVES UP

In the American League, Boston took second place and moved within a half-game of Chicago by defeating the White Sox 1-0 on Tom Brewer's two-hitter. Cleveland, also just a half-game from the top, moved into third with a 3-2, 11-inning victory at New York that dropped the Yankees to fourth. The other clubs — Baltimore, Detroit, Washington and Kansas City—were rained out.

The Giants didn't get a man on base until Willie Kirkland singled with two out in the fifth. Kirkland stole second, continued to third on rookie catcher Clay Dalrymple's bum throw and scored on Hobie Landrith's single.

Sanford (3-1) walked three, and struck out 11. He gave up only singles, one by Harry Anderson in the fifth and the other by Al Dark with one out in the ninth.

Mathews' sixth home run, third in two games, broke a 3-3 tie for the Braves and beat reliever Larry Jackson (1-5). The Cards, now 0-10 on the road, got their first two runs on a pair of doubles by Bill White and tied it in the eighth on pinch-hitter Curt Flood's sacrifice fly after starter Bob Buhl had walked the bases loaded. Bob Rush (1-0) won it in relief for the Braves.

The Reds scored seven runs in the first and six in the second with 11 of their 17 hits. Six runs were unearned. Bob Anderson (0-1) lost it. Right-hander Bob Purkey (2-1) was the winner. The Cubs, playing their first game in a week after six consecutive postponements, scored their run, unearned, in the fourth inning.

Port set for final step in land deal

(From Evening News May 12)

A superior court order authorizing the Port of Port Angeles to sell nine lots on the port fill on W. Front St. has cleared the way for the sale of the property to the City of Port Angeles Light Department.

Sale of the nine lots, immediately west of the police station, can now be consummated, Port Commissioners at the Wednesday meeting announced.

The port and the city had reached agreement that the land would be sold to the light department at the cost of the land, including the fill, that amounts to approximately $49,000.

Before one municipality can sell or transfer land to another, the superior court must approve the transfer. The seller must certify that the property is surplus and that the purchaser has use for it. This was done to the satisfaction of Superior Court Judge Max Church who signed a decree Tuesday authorizing the sale.

PORT MANAGER Jack P. Hogan told port commissioners Wednesday that all details of the sale should be completed by the June meeting of port commissioners.

The nine lots are on W. Front St. between Oak and Cherry Sts. They are on the south side of Front and north of the alley between Oak and Cherry Sts. The lots are close to business houses and not well suited for industrial sites, the commissioners say.

City plans may include construction of a city light department headquarters and a central garage and repair shop, the Port Commission has been informed.

THREE SHIPS loaded 4,465.000 bf of lumber at the port dock in April according to the monthly report to the Port Commission by Hogan and Auditor Thomas C. Neal Wednesday.

The commissioners also were told that work is about complete on the port's Dungeness boat launching and parking area.

Other matters at the meeting consisted of informal discussion of various phases of port business.

Present were President Fred C. Strange, Commissioner Hayes Evans, Hogan and Neal and Port Attorney Andrew Severyns.

LaPush-Ozette road requested

(From Evening News May 10)

Legislation to authorize the construction of a road between LaPush and the north end of Lake Ozette was introduced today by Congressman Jack Westland.

"My bill would authorize the Secretary of Interior to construct a highway along the ridge parallel to the ocean strip from a point near Mora," Westland said. "The road would tie in with the existing road connecting Lake Ozette with Highway 9A and a proposed one to be built on the coast to Neah Bay."

The road along the lake would run through the park land on the ridge separating the lake from the Ocean beach.

A number of carefully selected spur roads to the beach, including one at Cape Alava was recommended.

"THE BEACH from LaPush to Ozette is one of the most scenic in the United States. Construction of this road will enable vacationers and nature lovers alike to enjoy the uninhabited beach area, and at the same time, its wilderness will be preserved," he said.

This is one of the two important steps toward eventual construction of a road from LaPush to Neah Bay. The other step made at the request of Westland is the improvement of six miles of existing road from Neah Bay to the southern boundary of the Makah reservation.

"The Bureau of Indian Affairs has informed me it can spend $104,000 to replace the dangerous, substandard road on this section in fiscal 1961," Westland said. 'The bureau also plans to bring the surface up to standard in fiscal 1962 at a cost of $120,000" he added.

THIS WILL provide an adequate and improved road almost half the distance from Neah Bay to Lake Ozette. "I believe these improvements will provide the incentive for the state or county to close the gap in what is almost a complete loop in the road system of the northwest corner of the Olympic Peninsula," Westland observed.

He also noted this will be of great importance to the people of the Olympic Peninsula and would attract tourists from all over the nation.

THE CONGRESSMAN emphasized that preservation of the natural state of the ocean strip is desirable and he believes this will be accomplished. "On the other hand, the road with its limited access to the beaches will attract many thousands of visitors who otherwise wouldn't be able to reach them," he said.

Because of the interest the Makahs have expressed in the area, Westland recommended that the 719 acres known as the Ozette reservation be designated as a Makah memorial park.

Under terms of the bill, the secretary would set aside an area for an Indian fish camp.

IN POINTING OUT that natural areas such as the Olympic National Park had contributed significantly in drawing visitors to the Olympic Peninsula and Washington State, Westland praised the park service.

"I have been working on this particular project for several years and during our numerous conferences and in answer to my letter the park service has been sympathetic and helpful in working out details of my bill."

Westland said efforts by the state or county to close the gap between Neah Bay and Lake Ozette would assure the area one of the greatest attractions in the west and would give travelers and visitors along the coast a more direct route.

Big shipment from Canada of U. S. coins

SEATTLE (AP)—A quarter of a million dollars in United States coins was returned to Seattle from British Columbia this past week, about 10 times the normal flow.

Bank officials said Thursday the heavy shipments of U.S. coins started when Canadian banks announced they no longer would accept U.S. coins at face value, but would discount them at 2 per cent.

CIRCULATED FREELY

The Canadian dollar has been valued at $1.03 in U.S. money, but United States coins had circulated freely in Canada without a discount.

Canadian officials said Canadians took advantage of the inconsistency by exchanging Canadian money across the border, purchasing $100 worth of U.S. coins for $96, and then using them in vending machines and parking meters.

Moore develops plan to keep salmon rights

OLYMPIA (AP) — A Washington-sponsored plan to iron out commercial fishing disagreements between the United States and Canada was unveiled by Gov. Rosellini.

State Fisheries Director Milo Moore, who developed the proposal, said it was designed to continue in effect the three mile territorial limit as it affects the fishing industry and develop closer cooperation between the two nations on fishing problems.

He said the plan is in the form of a memorandum of understanding which could be adopted by the United States and Canada without the need for an international treaty.

MEMORANDUM

The plan calls for cooperation between Canada; the United States; the states of Alaska, Washington, Oregon, California and Idaho, and two international fisheries agencies on setting of seasons, regulation of fishing gear, salmon research and study and other related problems.

It also urges free passage of fishing craft to and from the territorial waters of each country and freedom for fishing vessels to enter ports of either nation.

FREE PASSAGE

Moore said the "free passage" section, contained in a declaration of intent, is aimed at elimination of certain restrictions placed on U.S. fishing vessels passing through Canadian waters on their way to Alaska and other points.

Gov. Rosellini said the memorandum plan would be forwarded to Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, chairman of the Senate Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee.

The committee has scheduled a hearing in Washington, D.C. Friday on a resolution calling for a new U.S.-Canada fisheries agreement.

Fence-building done without use of usual 'CRP' system

(From Evening News May 2)

(Editor's Note: This is the third in a series of articles dealing with the county's exchange of fences for road right-of-way in the east end of the county).

By CLAYTON FOX

The usual procedure in the county engineer's office on road work is to prepare a county road project, a "CRP', to which costs can be charged. When the engineer sets out to build a road all costs, including right - of - way costs, are readily available and chargeable to the CRP.

Most of Cameron's fence building projects were handled without using a CRP. Instead, all costs were charged to a miscellaneous construction account.

THOUGH ALL THE money was accounted for, the specific amounts spent to acquire specific amounts of right-of-way are lost in the general funds.

Quite recently the county began placing the fencing jobs on CRPs. One project at the Stanley Brogan place on Marine Drive at the Dungeness bluffs has been assigned such a CRP number.

Here the county agrees to "construct 203 feet of new fence and move 225 feet of old fence in lieu of cash payment for right-ofway consisting of 0.30 acres, more or less, a portion of which is road way."

The cost of the project is $423.

OBVIOUSLY, THOSE who came to Cameron wanting to trade right-of-way for fencing, or vice versa, had widely varying ideas of the fences they wanted. Some wanted woven wire, some barbed wire, some board fences, and some ornamental fences.

When asked how the costs were equalized, so that one man did not receive a disproportionate price for his right-of-way, Cameron replied that a five strand barbed wire fence on posts 12 feet apart was considered standard.

If the owner wanted a fence better than that, Cameron said, he was advised to buy some of the material or share in the work of installation, or both, so that an equitable price was reached.

THESE AGREEMENTS were all verbal and no public record of what either the public or a farmer spent on certain project is available.

As a tenant farmer, Cameron benefited from better fences. He had the county build for the Dick place, which he leases, woven wire fences and wooden gates on three sides of the property — a little over 9,000 feet of woven wire.

This was the largest bit of fencing done for any one farmer, and Mrs. Jessie Dick, the owner, gave rights-of-way on three roads.

Woven wire fencing usually comes in 330 foot rolls, and the price quoted by a leading mail order house for its best grade of extra heavyweight woven wire farm fencing is $33.20 a roll. The county paid Surge Dairy Supply, Sequim, $29.75 per roll.

CAMERON SAID that although Mrs. Dick wanted the more expensive woven wire fence, and got it, he was opposed to it. "Woven wire does not stand up nearly so well as barbed wire in the salt air, and when it starts to disintegrate, the short pieces of wire are swallowed by cows, and some are killed."

Cameron has purchased the former Arthur C. Towne place. Though the Townes gave the county a right-of-way deed for fences the county has not built, Cameron said he did not plan to ask the county to build them.

THE BILL FOR materials on the right-of-way project amounted to $7,626 in 1958 and $14,315 in 1959.

Among the more expensive items were: Lumber, $4,878; woven wire $4,331; barbed wire, $2,738; fence posts, $2,847, and purchase of right-of-way (in addition to the trades) $3,213.

Cameron says most of the material was purchased in the 1st district. He ordered much of it, with some ordered by Ray Olson, 1st district road foreman, and some ordered by King, the foreman of the fence building crew.

CAMERON SAYS that the county received about a 20 per cent discount on the materials purchased in the Sequim area.

"I am a strong believer in spending money derived from 1st district taxes in the 1st district," he said. "And as long as the county paid the same or less money for the material than if it were purchased elsewhere I think it was a good deal.'

None of the material was purchased in large enough quantities to require a call for bids.

"If we had called for bids,' Cameron said, 'There is every chance that Seattle firms would have underbid all Clallam County dealers, and the money would have been spent in Seattle."

WHEN QUESTIONED about the amount of lumber required, Cameron said that only one fence which was not previously made of boards had been installed. "We built this one as an experiment, and when the cost was compared to the barbed wire, we built no more except in instances where we were moving or replacing a board fence, or where the owner bore the cost of the difference.

Figures in the engineer's office indicate that over 4,000 lineal feet of board fence were installed. Some of this was of three two x six planks planed on all sides, set on eight by eight posts. Much lumber was used in farm gates.

(Next: How much of the right-of-way of county roads is actually used? When will the county widen the roads for which right-of-way has been acquired in the fencing trades? These and other questions will be discussed in the final article on the fencing program tomorrow).

Former resident receives fellowship for further study

(From Evening News May 11)

Dr. Herbert Wood Jr., son of Mrs. and the late Herbert H. Wood, 509 N. Jones, and assistant to the dean of the college of arts and sciences at the University of Maine, received a fellowship in college administration at the University of Michigan for the 1960-61 school year.

The fellow, one of five granted to educators who have completed the doctor's degree and have had experience in college teaching or administration, is to assist individuals to prepare for careers in college and university administration.

Wood, a product of the Port Angeles school system, graduated from the local high school in 1939 with high scholastic honors. He became interested in the study of government and world affairs early in his school life which aided him in winning a scholarship to the American University in Washington, D. C. where he obtained his BA degree in 1943.

After he served with the American military forces in the European theatre of operations during the war, he returned to American University and completed work for a master's degree. After teaching one year at his alma mater, he entered Columbia University and obtained a doctor's degree in political science.

He has been a member of the faculty at Maine University since 1950. He is taking a leave of absence to accept the fellowship at Michigan.

TEACHING ANNIVERSARY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Confraternity of Christian Doctrine, which sponsors religious instruction given Roman Catholic youngsters attending public schools, has launched a year-long observance of two anniversaries that shaped its teaching program.

One is the 75th anniversary of publication of the Baltimore Catechism of 1885, the question-and-answer text used for most Catholic religious instruction. The other is the 25th year since establishment of the confraternity's national center here.

A mass in the National Shrine of Immaculate Conception here April 26 marked the start of the observance.

New post office to be dedicated at Clallam Bay

(From Evening News May 11)

A new Clallam Bay postoffice building on Lighthouse Road there will be dedicated at 2 p.m. Saturday.

Postmaster James S. Aynsley announces that the department is leasing the structure, which is part of the present one, from Joseph Andre of Clallam Bay. The structure has 977 square feet of interior space.

Among persons attending dedication ceremonies Saturday will be James R. Lashbaugh, Seattle, field service officer for the postal department.

Aynsley explained that it is the policy of the department to lease post office quarters which remain under private ownership and is taxable.

Aynsley reports the Clallam Bay Postoffice was first established in 1892. When it was first established, receipts were about $700 a year. Ten years ago the annual receipts were $4,039 compared with $6,343 in 1959. The office serves two postal routes. The office has had six postmasters since it was established 68 years ago.

These are the postmasters and their years of service:

Rodney S. Dimmick, March 21, 1892 to July 11, 1893; Maud L. Smith, July 11, 1893 to Feb. 11, 1898; Alton S. Fairservice Feb. 11, 1898 to Feb. 26, 1915; Lulu Fairservice Feb. 26, 1915 to Aug. 7, 1929; Raphael H. Gossom Aug. 7, 1929 to Dec. 31, 1949; James S. Aynsley, Dec. 31, 1949 to date.

Official says most drugs not inspected

WASHINGTON (AP) — An official of the agency which sets quality standards for drugs testified today federal inspection is so inadequate that it is unsafe to prescribe medicines without knowing the manufacturer is reliable.

The testimony was given by Dr. Lloyd C. Miller, revision director for Pharmacopeia of the United States (USP) a private agency which sets the standards the federal government tries to enforce by law for purity, quality and potency of drugs.

The Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee before which Miller spoke has heard testimony that welfare departments in some states refuse to pay for medicines prescribed by trade names, if a suitable substitute medicine may be prescribed by its medical or generic name.

LITTLE INSPECTION

Dr. Thomas D. Rowe, dean of the University of Michigan College of Pharmacy, testified Thursday night that less than one per cent of all prescription drugs actually are inspected by the Food and Drug Administration now.

Sen. Philip A. Hart (D-Mich), the subcommittee's acting chairman, asked Miller to state whether a requirement for generic name prescription is "safe or unsafe, desirable or undesirable—the welfare patient can't conduct tests for himself."

"My opinion, sir," Miller replied "is that it is unsafe because there is not sufficient policing to insure that our standards are met."

Man uses oxygen from algae in Boeing test

SEATTLE (AP) — Man may live comfortably in space using oxygen produced by plant life, an experiment conducted by Boeing Airplane Co. indicated tentatively.

Dr. Romney H. Lowry, manager of the company's Space Medicine Division, spent six hours in an air tight chamber, breathing only oxygen delivered to the chamber by tanks of green algae, a microscopic water plant.

MAKE OXYGEN

Boeing said Lowry worked comfortably while the algae converted the carbon dioxide he exhaled into life-sustaining oxygen. Without the algae, the exhaled carbon dioxide would have caused first discomfort and then unconsciousness, as his body absorbed all the oxygen in the sealed chamber.

The experiment is a preliminary step toward development of a closed ecological system, where man's waste products could be reused to provide oxygen and food during extended space flights, Boeing said.

Stevenson calls plane incident a big blunder

CHICAGO (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson asserted today that "our country has suffered a severe injury in the past few days."

"On the very eve of the summit conference, the President has been acutely embarassed — just as he leaves to take his place at one of the historic incidents in the great struggle of this century — the contest for the undecided masses of the world who will one day weigh the scales decisively."

Stevenson underlined his statement Thursday that the ill-fated spy flight over Russia was a blunder at a critical time in international peace efforts.

WORLD CONFERENCE

The 1952 and 1956 Democratic presidential nominee spoke Thursday to the Conference on World Tensions at the University of Chicago. Conferees from all over the world are discussing paths to peace. Today Stevenson addressed a luncheon in connection with the centennial of the Northwestern University Law School.

In his Northwestern speech he called the spy plane incident an administration blunder but added this is no time for partisan censure.

Tune-in on the Pastime?

The electronic age continues to amaze me. Just read in a farm journal that cows can now be wired for sound . . . so that you can tell if they've been overeating!

Seems that before you turn a cow out to pasture, you can feed her a small transmitter powered by a flashlight battery.

Then all you do is sit comfortably at home and wait for a signal to show up on a recorder. Soon as you get a "bleep," you go out and fetch "Bossie"—that signal means she's had enough.

From where I sit, I'd need a lot of "proving" before I would buy an idea like this one. But I'll listen! A closed mind on any subject—even to whether a cup of tea or a glass of beer is the best "refresher"—is not a tolerant mind. The American way is to never "short-circuit" what the other fellow has to say.

Ellis named principal of PAHS; Peters promoted

(From Evening News May 10)

Two top administrators at Roosevelt Junior High School move up to higher posts following action of the District No. 17 Board of Directors during their meeting here Monday night.

Principal George Ellis of Roosevelt moves up as high school principal and John Peters, boys' counselor and administrative assistant at the junior high takes over as principal of that school. Both will assume their new jobs at the beginning of the next school year.

Ellis fills the vacancy left by the resignation of Mark Whitman high school principal here for the past eight years. He is going to the Everett High School as principal.

Ellis first came to Port Angeles in 1945 as principal of Jefferson School and served in that position until 1953 when he became the junior high principal.

He earned his BA degree at Pacific Lutheran College in 1939. Prior to that, he attended Colorado State College for three years. In 1957 he received his MA degree at the Western Washington College of Education.

Ellis began teaching in Mason and Thurston counties and in 1942-43 was principal of the East Olympia Elementary School. From 1943 to 1945 he was principal of the Little Rock, Wash., elementary schools.

Peters graduated from the University of Idaho in 1950 with a BA degree and took two years of graduate work leading to a PhD degree. He attended summer sessions at Idaho and WSU in 1952, 1953, 1955, 1959 and intends to continue his studies this summer.

He bagan teaching in Princeton, Idaho in 1950 in the elementary and junior high school. He came here as a junior high teacher in 1951 served in that job until 1953 when he became boys' counselor and administrative assistant to the principal.

Grebin talks to AAUW about his experiences in Saudi Arabia

(From Evening News May 11)

"The coming of oil companies to tap the unlimited oil supplies of Saudia Arabia has poured money into the country and upset the whole economy," said Leonard Grebin in his talk to the AAUW at a dinner meeting Thursday night.

Leonard Grebin

Grebin, who spent some time in Saudia Arabia as principal of a training school for an oil company, described the people and culture of the country as well as the effect of modern western influences on life there.

"The Arabs are resentful of western influence because their country has been the scene of conquests by other countries since the seventh century," Grebin continued.

The country is mostly desert and is very hot during the day. There are no rivers and the rainfall is very slight. When the wind blows the sand moves. The desert people are called Bedouins and are constantly on the move searching for new grazing land and water.

The king is very unpopular. He has become immensely wealthy and is surrounded by hordes of grasping relatives who are bleeding the wealth of the country. Grebin said Nasser of Egypt is extremely popular due to the publicity from the Cairo radio and newspapers.

The majority of the people there are Moslems and the main language spoken is Arabic.

"The Arab is independent and proud and takes pride in his education. He is ambitious and quick to take advantage of business opportunities. He likes good company and food, especially the American food cooked by American cooks at the oil camps," he said.

Arabs liked ice cream so well that the cooks found the best way to prevent them eating it all was to put strips of bacon on the containers. Arabs do not eat pork so the ice cream was considered unfit to eat after it had touched the bacon.

Grebin said the men at the oil camp were very anxious to take night courses to advance themselves. In the cities there were even clandestine schools for girls, a thing unheard of several years ago. As soon as boys are married they assume the responsibility as head of the family and the father may retire.

"Friday is the Arab holy day so the oil company accepted that as the holy day too in order to eliminate two holidays a week."

Moslems are required to make a pilgrimage to Mecca once during their lifetimes. This works a hardship on the people who are for the most part very poor. It is not unusual for them to be stranded in Mecca for lack of funds to return to their native villages.

Marriages are arranged by the mother of a young man approaching the mother of a girl she deems suitable for a daughter-in-law. Later the fathers get together and arrange for the price of the bride. Inflation has sent the price from $200 to $1,000. All the women are heavily veiled.

As alcoholic beverages are forbidden, an Arab can be jailed for drinking and the person who gave him the liquor as well. Tobacco is also taboo.

"There is very little crime because justice is dealt quickly. If found guilty of stealing the culprit loses his hand and the penalty for murder or adultery is being beheaded," Grebin reported.

Sanitation in the villages is nonexistent. Flies are everywhere. Water is scarce and little can be used for cleanliness. The Arabs have no utensils and eat with their hands." As for amusement Grebin said, "The people have no native music or instruments although they do have drums. They have no native arts."

Many universities and colleges have been established in the large cities. Most of the students don't return to their villages after getting an education as there is nothing for them to do there.

UNESCO has provided money for schools to bring young people from the Arab villages to teach them new ways for better living to take back to their homes. The aim is to teach them that work with their hands is not demeaning.

GREBIN showed articles he had brought from Arabia which included clothing, incense pot, coffee pot and glasses as well as tea glasses. He said the coffee is a thin brew flavored with cardamon and the tea, sweet and strong, is always served in the same small glass.

Mrs. Clarice Seldomridge, retiring president, introduced the officers for next year. They are Mrs. Wayne Stevens, president; Miss Dorothy Sheely, vice president; Mrs. Rose Fuhrer, corresponding secretary and Mrs. John Brelsford, treasurer.

Boyle gives clues on how to raise hackles on neck of hackie

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that raise the hackles on a hackie:

"Say something funny."

"I hear that all cab drivers are either cards or characters. Which are you?"

"The car ahead of you beat that red light. Why didn't you?"

'Is that the fastest you can go?"

Can't you go a little slower?"

"I made this same trip two weeks ago in another cab, and the fare was a dime cheaper. I'd like to know how you explain that."

"Oh, silly me. I forgot my purse again. Just give me your name and address — and I'll mail you what I owe you."

NEVER AROUND

"Where do taxicabs go when it rains? You can never find one."

"I'm the one who pays the bill, so you'll go the way I tell you."

"What're you buying with your tips these days — apartment houses?"

"Why don't you just strap a gun on that meter? It would make everything simplier."

"I don't have to take any lip from you. Just drive to the nearest police station, and we'll let the sergeant settle the matter."

SPEED LIMIT

"Never mind the speed limit. If we catch that airplane, there's an extra quarter in it for you."

"Here's a buck. My friend has had a little too much to drink. Just drive him around until he wakes up."

"I always like to give you guys a good tip, and the best tip I can give you today is—don't bet on horses."

"I don't think it's fair for that meter to go on ticking while we're just standing here waiting for the traffic light to change."

"Young man, if you'll just help me up the stairs with that trunk and four suitcases, I'm sure my daughter will fix you a nice cool glass of lemonade."

"Do you mind stopping at the drug store while I get some aspirin? Then stop at the supermarket while I run in and get a can of chili, and then stop at the—"

Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone, adopted his middle name of Graham from an admired friend.

Much of his recent playwriting has been done in collaboration with his son, Donald Davis, as with "The Good Earth" and "Ethan Frome."

Benson extends wheat program on 1961 crop

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, acting under requirements of law, Wednesday took steps to extend the widely criticized federal wheat program on the 1961 crop.

The program provides for acreage allotments totalling 55 million acres, farm marketing quotas based on the allotments and price supports at 75 per cent of parity or about at this year's rate of $1.77 a bushel. The actual 1961 rate will be announced later.

The Eisenhower administration has appealed to Congress for a new program because the present one has failed to prevent surplus production. Benson had no choice, however, but to proclaim the old program. Farm law requires that he act by May 15.

STILL TIME

Department officials said there still is time to set up a new program for next year. But action by Congress would have to come within a few weeks. Farmers start seeding winter wheat in the late summer and fall.

Benson set July 21 as the date for a grower referendum on the marketing quotas.

They must be approved by at least two thirds of the growers voting. Rejection would kill the whole program. Quotas for this year's crop were approved by 80 per cent.

Morse part of stop-Kennedy movement

BALTIMORE (AP)—'I'm part of a stop-Kennedy movement," Sen. Wayne L. Morse admitted Thursday.

The Oregon senator also predicted the Democrats again would name Adlai E. Stevenson their presidential nominee.

Morse and Kennedy are the major candidates in Tuesday's Maryland presidential preference primary.

Morse said he believed Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts would be unable to hold his support at the party convention beyond the 10th ballot.

APPLAUD MORSE

Some 75 students and faculty at Morgan State College warmly applauded as Morse referred to what he called 'Jack Kennedy's highly reactionary voting record in the fields of agriculture, military aid and taxes...."

Morse said his opponent voted to strengthen 'fascist nations of the world" and pointed to Kennedy's vote for military aid to the Dominican Republic.

"We must change this campaign," Morse said, "from a contest of political sex appeal to a discussion of the issues."

Man starts with couple Scotties; ends up with 34

FAIR LAWN, N.J. (AP)—Pet-loving Frank Brewer, who kept 34 dogs around the house, faced some problems today.

Health Department officials, who kept counting Scottie dogs at Brewer's 14-room house, impounded the lot.

"They just multiplied," Brewer said.

The bachelor teacher was dogged by these problems:

Magistrate Arthur Minuskin fined him $200 and sentenced him to 15 days in jail for violating borough ordinances on dogs. He said he would hold up the sentences while Brewer appeals.

TEN DAYS

Minuskin gave Brewer 10 days to get rid of the dogs and Brewer says it'll take at least 60.

A woman neighbor added a new complaint of disturbance by excessive barking.

Brewer, about 52, told a reporter he had started with just a few dogs.

"Scottie litters are usually three," he said. "All my litters got nine."

CHICAGO GOES LEGIT

CHICAGO (AP) — For the first time in several decades Chicago is to have a new legitimate theater. The second floor of the two-story theater will be a 300-seat playhouse. The first floor will be a salon with sort of a night club set-up to provide entertainment, dancing and refreshments.

A $500,000 playhouse to be called The Happy Medium, its opening is scheduled for June 27. The first show will be an original musical revue.

PA high students granted awards valued at $21,374

(From Evening News May 12)

Scholarships and vocational awards with a total value of $21,374 went to students in the annual Port Angeles Senior High School awards assembly held this morning at the auditorium.

Principal Mark Whitman said the total in scholarships is $18,374 and the vocational awards $3,000. This represents a $6,000 increase over the awards won by 1959 graduates.

The $5,000 academic and athletic scholarship awarded to 1960 Salutatorian R. Michael Briggs represents the single biggest chunk in the increase.

ASB PRESIDENT James Little opened the assembly with the flag salute.

Before making the major presentations, Whitman gave 10 students special awards.

Phi Beta Kappa book awards went to Catherine Shields and Briggs.

Valedictorian Roger Oakes received the "Honor Trophy" which is presented each year to the high school's top student. Young Oakes also gains the distinction of being the school's last valedictorian since a new honor system goes into effect here next year. Under the new system, a number of top students in the graduating class will be recognized instead of the traditional two.

JIM LUNT, winner of the annual Kiwanis Club Slide Rule Contest, received a medal for his achievement.

Winning of the local competition in a nationwide homemaking contest brought honors for Doreen McLean.

Jay McCain, Joe Karr and Gary Bates each received a "Certificate of Merit" for winning their way into the semi-finals of the National Merit Scholarship competition. Whitman noted this is a distinction won by about one-half of one percent of the high school seniors in the nation.

Three local students earned certificates for their work in poetry. Mike O'Connor's "War," Theresa Bond's "Where Do They Go," will be published in the Anthology of High School Poetry. O'Connor's poem received a special mention.

THE NATIONAL High School Poetry Association issued the certificates awarded the students.

The Bussing award, a typewriter for the student showing outstanding achievement in commercial subjects, went to Rebecca Shriner.

Representatives of the many organizations giving the awards were seated on the stage during the presentation ceremonies.

THE AWARD and the representatives were: Crown Zellerbach scholarships, F. W. Flynn, resident manager; Rayonier Scholarship, John B. Gray, resident manager; Rotary Club scholarship, E. A. (Buck) Stewart.

K. O. Erickson scholarship, Mr. and Mrs. Robert K. Erickson; (Robert Erickson is the grandson of the founder of the award) Business administration scholarships, Perry Brackett, First Federal Savings and Loan and Charles Willson, Port Angeles Savings and Loan.

Avid angler fishes from window, 18 stories above East River!

NEW YORK (AP) — Nobody's knocking fisherman Richard Gimbel by saying he has a good line. He needs one, living 18 stories above the East River.

Gimbel, an executive producer at NBC, doesn't confine his casting to the office. Far from it. As soon as he gets to his Sutton Place apartment, he gets out his fishing rod and lets fly with 200 feet of line into the river below.

"I've always been a river buff," he said Wednesday as he leaned out of a window of his nine-room 18th-floor apartment — fishing, of course.

'Fishing is very practical here. My wife and I never eat what we catch; it's strictly sport. But on some Friday nights we hold fishing parties up here, and as bait we have squid, shrimp and canapes."

Gimbel, 35, says he has hoisted up dozens of eels. But he really has his mind and eye on the bass which he knows inhabit that section of the river. So far no luck.

NEIGHBOR TROUBLE

How do the neighbors react to this hobby? Well, said Gimbel, he has his bad days. Sometimes weeks go by without his hooking anything but garbage, barbecue equipment on terraces below, and an occasional piece of terrace furniture.

Gimbel moved into the apartment at 55th St. a year ago. He says he never lived right on the water before, but he has fished for years further upstream in the East 80s and 90s.

Proving how much he loves the river, even without fishing, he has tape-recorded the sound of passing boats.

'Now, without looking,' he said, 'I can tell you whether the vessel that's passing is a tug, freighter, tanker or yacht."

Wilda Schuller retires from phone company; feted at party

(From Evening News May 9)

Wilda S. Schuller of 221 West 9th has retired from the Port Angeles Telephone Co., where she started work as a telephone operator in September, 1922.

Mrs. Schuller reports she plans to rest a while, then travel with her sisters and spend considerable time enjoying her beach home on Barnes Peninsula at Lake Crescent.

Her nearly 38 years of service, all at the local telephone office, received fitting recognition at a retirement party held recently at a downtown restaurant, with 60 guests participating.

J. D. MULLIN, general commercial manager, presented Mrs. Schuller with her credentials as a retired telephone company employee. W. J. Billings, division commercial manager, presented her with a life membership card and plaque to the Telephone Pioneers of America.

Also present for the ceremony were C. Buckinger, Northwest district manager, Grace M. Anderson and Lorraine De Young from Buckinger's office, and J. H. Cassel, commercial results supervisor.

Mrs. Schuller had her three sisters, Mrs. Rose Conners, Mrs. Eva Soden and Mrs. Minnie Paine from Seattle as special guests. Mrs. Schuller and two sisters, Mrs. Soden and Mrs. Paine, have an employment record with the telephone company totalling 112 years.

Local guests included Mrs. Mabel Freeman, who hired Mrs. Schuller over 37 years ago; Mrs. Harriet Molchior, wife of former manager; Roy Moyer, supervisor of Alaska Cable Station, and Mrs. Moyer; and members of the Olympic Peninsula Telephone Pioneer Club. Employees and spouses from Sequim, and Port Townsend also were present.

Mrs. Wilda A. Schuller

EMPLOYEES from the peninsula offices of the telephone company presented Mrs. Schuller with two pieces of matched luggage.

A special feature of the retirement party was a skit presented by fellow employees. Master of ceremonies for the affair was G. C. Leverett, Port Angeles district manager.

Science pays off for trader in commodities

SEATTLE (AP)—The scientific method he once applied to the mathematics of missiles has reaped Douglas Steen a tidy fortune in the continent's commodity markets.

Steen, now 34, started trading in cocoa and coffee futures six years ago. At the time he was a mathematical physicist with the Northrop Corp., working on the Snark air-to-air missile.

He had $6,000. Now he says he has $240,000.

Along the way, he has made an exhaustive study of market variations. Recently, for instance, he and his aides spent six weeks analyzing microfilm records of 23 commodities in World War II.

FAA approves new Tacoma airport site

SEATTLE (AP)—A Kitsap Peninsula site for a new Tacoma airport has been approved by the Federal Aviation Agency, three members of Washington's congressional delegation were informed Thursday.

Sens. Warren G. Magnuson and Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash) and Rep. Thor Tollefson (R-Wash) were notified of the decision by FAA Administrator E. R. (Pete) Quesada.

Quesada would not make any estimate of the cost of the new facility on a 350-acre site one mile north of the Narrows Bridge.

The FAA has $368,000 set aside as a federal contribution toward construction of the airport. Earlier estimates placed the total outlay at about $2,120,000.

NORTH-SOUTH

Quesada said the new airfield's main runway should run in a north-south position, paralleling runways at both Seattle-Tacoma International Airport and McChord Air Force Base, south of Tacoma. This would facilitate handling of air traffic, he said.

Quesada said a Kitsap Peninsula site was decided upon after the Air Force turned down a proposal for a joint military-civilian airport at McChord AFB.

Word of the FAA's decision was telephoned to The Associated Press here by aides of the three Washington lawmakers.

Two Port Angeles men graduate from academy

Two Port Angeles men will be among the 27 cadets at the National Guard Military Academy who receive their gold bars as second lieutenants in the graduation exercises at Camp Murry Saturday.

They are William C. Gear Jr., of 2123 W. 10th St. and Bob L. Ware of Rt. 2, Box 74.

MAJOR GENERAL GEORGE M. Haskett, state adjutant general, in making the announcement said the men during the past year had completed a rigid course of instruction covering primarily leadership, tactics and weapons.

Governor Rosellini will deliver the graduation address. This is the third class to graduate since the academy was founded in 1957.

Ike vetoes depressed areas bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today vetoed the 251-million-dollar depressed areas bill.

The Democratic-sponsored bill would have set up a program of federal loans and grants to help communities with economic problems such as mining towns or abandoned railroad centers.

There appeared to be little chance tthe veto — Eisenhower's 161st—could be overridden. Neither the House nor Senate passed the bill by anything like a two-thirds margin.

Stocks gain in heavy trading

By ED MORSE
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Steels, motors and electronics paced the rallying stock market to wider gains late this afternoon. Trading was heavy.

Volume for the day was estimated at 4,000,000 shares compared with 3,220,000 Thursday.

Key stocks advanced from fractions to 2 points or better.

Steels and motors, many of them down drastically from their 1960 highs, had apparently reached a buying level, despite cutbacks in production by U.S. Steel. Auto production figures were the best in 12 weeks.

Gains of more than 2 points were made by U.S. Steel and Jones & Laughlin. Up about 3 were Lukens Steel and Youngstown Sheet.

AUTOS UP

A gain of more than 2 by Ford highlighted the automotive group. Chrysler and American Motors advanced more than a point each. General Motors was up close to a point.

Electronics and other speculative favorites went ahead nicely. Universal Match was up about 4, Texas Instruments about 3. Haveg and Varian Associates gained about 2 apiece. Minnesota Mining dropped 3 of Thursday's 12¾-point rise.

Raytheon was a 3-point gainer. Johns-Manville rose about 2.

Gains of more than a point were scored by Sperry Rand, Bell & Howell, Outboard Marine and Pfizer.

Oils were easy. Airlines showed little change. Tobaccos were mixed.

General Dynamics advanced more than 2. Lockheed erased a fractional gain in an irregular aircraft section.

Long-range U.S. government bonds declined. Corporates drifted lower

Air-Marine News

The freighter P. & T. Adventurer was scheduled to arrive at the port dock at 11 a.m. today to start loading lumber at 1 p.m. The ship will take on about 1,500,000 bf of lumber for east coast delivery.

Hottest spot reported for chinook salmon fishing is in the Dungeness harbor. There the big spawners are heading for the mouth of the river. The fishing is mostly in shallow water near the river mouth. There a chinook, when hooked does not sound, because of lack of depth but goes into the air.

Local anglers report that fishing has been quite good at Sekiu this week although fishing is not heavy there yet. More local fishermen will be off Freshwater Bay since Marvin Lindberg caught a 30 pound spawning chinook there Wednesday. Fishing is light this week off Ediz Hook but it is expected that with more fishermen out this weekend some salmon and halibut will be taken here.

Other than his interest in canals, submarines and ships, Robert Fulton also patented in 1794 a mill for polishing marble.

Obituary

MRS. MARGARET C. WALTERS

Mrs. Margaret C. Walters, 92, Seattle, pioneer Port Angeles resident, died in Seattle last Saturday. Catholic services and burial were in Seattle Thursday.

Mrs. Walters was Margaret Fend, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Fend and came here with her parents in 1887. The elder Fends were members of the Puget Sound Cooperative Colony. They had a large family all of whom attended school here. They came here from Fremont, Ohio where Mrs. Walters was born.

She moved from here to Seattle 62 years ago. Her husband Eugene Walters died in Seattle in 1940. The family lived in Seattle 62 years except for four years when Mr. Walters was a lighthouse keeper on Unimak Island, Alaska.

For the past seven years Mrs. Walters lived in a Seattle nursing home.

Surviving relatives include a son, Robert G. Walters, Las Vegas, Nev.; four sisters, Mrs. Oscar A. Stream, and Mrs. Harriett Meagher, both of Seattle, Mrs. Marcella Mitchell, Puyallup and Mrs. William P. Reese, Hawthorne, Calif.

Florida still has large wilderness areas where hunters find black bears, panthers and alligators.
