THE OLYMPIC TRIBUNE

Friday, Feb. 3, 1961 LXXIV No. 44 Port Angeles, Washington Friday, Feb. 3, 1961

Gas permit OKed; bus to run again

The City Council Thursday night passed the natural gas franchise ordinance, which sets forth rules and regulations governing all conditions under which the Natural Gas Transmission Company may operate in Port Angeles.

Under this ordinance, the gas company will pay a percentage of its profits to the city. The percentage has yet to be determined.

FRANK STEVENS, owner and operator of the bus service in Port Angeles, said buses would resume service to area residents Monday, Feb. 6th. A large delegation of the Goldenagers Club was present at the meeting to present a petition to the Council for restoration of bus service, on which most of them depended for transportation. Spokesman Ann MacDonald said they were grateful for the coming resumption of service, and traded compliments with some of the Council members, adding a note of levity to the meeting.

RALPH SCHMITT, speaking for the Junior Chamber of Commerce, asked the Council for permission to use the new city light garage building for the JayCee's annual Home Show, tentatively scheduled April 15 and 16. After discussion of the request, City Manager M.W. Slankard suggested a combination of forces, including an open house along with the Home Show, in order to show off the new building and its facilities to the public. A small admission fee will be charged, according to Schmitt.

The Council set a minimum price of $125 for city lots.

IN OTHER BUSINESS, the city manager was empowered to draft plans and call for bids on a new rest room for Lincoln Park.

A committee was named from the Council members to meet with the School District No. 17 Board of Directors to discuss plans and possible sites of the proposed swimming pool. On the committee are Sam Haguewood, Nathan G. Richardson and Mayor James E. Maxfield.

Al Clevenger proposed to the Council an increase in the speed limit on W. 5th St., claiming the improved lighting and street improvements have made the street safe for a 35 m.p.h. speed. The Council will turn the matter over to the city police department for further study.

CHIEF OF POLICE Harry Kochanek was commended by the Council and Mayor Maxfield for his report on the previous year's police department record.

The Council will hold a special meeting Feb. 13, at 7 p.m. to open bids on the new city water supply line from Morse Creek Dam to the Peabody Heights reservoir.

Waino Saari, standing, asks the City Council questions about the cost of annexation if the area south of the city decides to become a part of Port Angeles. Saari's questions came during a discussion at Thursday night's Council meeting. Listening at the right is Larry Winters. (Evening News Photo.)

Council gets questions on annexation

Some of the problems of annexation and city expenses were raised and discussed in Thursday's City Council meeting. Leading with the questions was W. A. Saari, who asked the Council whether the annexation would cost the city quite a bit of money, both in increased manpower and cost of improvements in the annexed area.

Mayor James E. Maxfield answered that the city has virtually been taking care of this area all along, and that if more manpower should be needed, only one more policeman and perhaps one fireman would be needed. Any improvements, such as for street repairs, and water improvements, would still come out of the budget appropriation for the various city departments. Lighting would be handled from city light revenue.

Edward B. Taylor brought up the question of increased revenue from the new residents, and whether or not this would match the expenses the city might incur in the annexation process.

City Manager M. S. Slankard cited the expected increase in revenue the new residents would bring in from the state, and stated that any liabilities incurred would be more than amply offset by the larger amount of incoming funds.

Well, they had a 50-50 chance

CHICAGO (AP) — A team of truck drivers with 14 tons of coal to deliver pulled up in the alley behind the Boyce Building. They were confronted with two holes—one round, one square.

After some thought they picked the round one and dumped in a ton of coal.

The round hole, it turned out, was the wrong one. It leads to the building's sewer connection.

Coal overflowed into the alley. Water overflowed from the building's washrooms and cafeteria as the plugged sewer backed up.

A printing company in the basement stopped the presses as it flooded out.

After his workers washed down the alley with hot water Thursday, the coal company's vice president, Charles Holland, had a thought about the two holes:

His men, he said, had made a mistake but after all "the odds were 50-50; they might have picked the right hole."

1960 calls for police aid show increase over number in 1959

City police answered 3,030 calls during 1960, an increase from 2,576 in 1959.

In his annual report to the City Council, Chief of Police Harry Kochanek said that the police traveled 102,044 miles in patrolling city streets.

Drunkenness led all other crimes charged in police court at 237, with parking warrants next at 72, other liquor violations at 49, disorderly conduct at 46, and assault at 20.

ON THE TRAFFIC side, 1960 was a bad year for drunk driving, with 62 cases tried in court. One case was reduced to negligent driving, two cases are pending, and there were 59 convictions.

Two Port Angeles physicians assisted the police in 1960 in examining arrested drivers for drunkenness, and appeared in court as witnesses when requested. The Harger Drunkometer was used in 47 cases.

THE REPORT shows that Saturday is the worst day of the week for accidents, with 44 of the 232, with 4 to 5 p.m. the worst hour of the day with 26 accidents.

The age group of the drivers involved in accidents showed that 35-44 leads, with 45-54 in second place. The 16-19 age group is third.

Of the accidents, 164 occurred in dry conditions, 56 in wet, and only seven on snow or ice.

POLICE ISSUED 181 citations for speeding, 151 for negligent driving, 113 for no operator's license, 101 for defective equipment, and 81 for stop sign violations.

Estimated cost of the accidents was $79,048, or an average of 341 per accident.

Prisoners served 832 days, and $28,086 was collected in police court. This includes $7,627 for parking overtime.

THE AUTOMOBILE was the biggest single cause of a juvenile getting into trouble in 1960, with 126 violations chalked up. Boys accounted for 109, and girls only 17.

Next on the list of juvenile trouble was larceny at 98, with disorderly conduct right behind at 96. Vandalism accounted for 68 cases, with liquor violations at 41. The police handled 560 juvenile cases.

Weather shapes up for good ski weekend

Barring any new tricks by Old Man Winter, skiers should have a good weekend on Hurricane Ridge.

At 8 a.m. today conditions on the ridge were ideal, but Olympic National Park officials are keeping their fingers crossed and hoping this type of weather will hold for the weekend.

This morning the temperature stood at 26 degrees with the total snow depth measuring 96 inches. Two inches of powder snow topped the pack with light flurries still falling on the ridge.

Heavy snow all week packed the road from bottom to top so chains probably will be required. More definite information on the road condition will be broadcast early Saturday over Radio KONP.

The Heart o' the Hills gate will open at 9 a.m. and close about 5 p.m. both Saturday and Sunday.

Instruction continues in the Dariguld Ski School with sessions scheduled at 10:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. Saturday. Another session is slated at 10:30 a.m. Sunday and a split session at 1:30 p.m. Sunday. One is a free session for beginners and the other is regular instruction for advanced skiers.

Councilman challenges foes of annexation to public debate

Saying he was "sick and tired" of the City Council taking abuse over the problem of annexation, City Councilman Nathan G. Richardson Thursday night challenged Alfred J. Goerg, publicity director of the Suburbanite League, to debate the issue with him.

In a prepared statement he read into the Council record, Richardson said that the decision was up to the people, but that they should be provided the truth.

THE TEXT OF his statement follows:

"I have read tonight's Evening News wherein annexation expert Alfred Goerg has threatened to form a new city. Mr. Goerg's ignorance of the facts is exceeded only by his complete lack of knowledge of every subject he discusses.

"His statements are . . . incoherent and . . . do not reflect an intelligent analysis of the situation.

"HE IS MISINFORMED and unwilling to accept the true facts. He has been trying this issue by inference and innuendo. I am tired of his threats . . . and deliberate misnomers.

"His statements about the swimming pool obviously show his lack of knowledge. The bond issue is for $300,000, rather than the careless Goerg $500,000. He doesn't know that you sell bonds after the project is engineered and underway. Why pay interest while you are preparing your projects?

"HE DOESN'T know that the annexed area will not be liable for any city debts incurred prior to annexation. He doesn't want the truth, the responsibility of citizenship, or the desire to become a part of the community where he derives his living.

"I think my attitude reflects truthfully the attitude of the City Council. I feel that the city has certain things to offer those citizens in the proposed annexation area. If they wish to be a part of the city, participate in city government, and have a vote in their municipal affairs they may take advantage of the proposed annexation.

"IF THEY DO not wish this they can reject it and handle their affairs in any manner they see fit.

"However, they are entitled to the truth. My feelings are completely neutral and I am sure the rest of the Council feels the same way.

"It is the citizen's right to petition and his right to decide what he wishes to do. We are only the legislative body that puts the legal machinery in action to follow through on the people's mandate.

"THEREFORE, IN the interest of fairness, truth and understanding, I am throwing down the gauntlet. I herewith challenge Mr. Goerg or any member of his Suburbanite League to a debate on the issues and facts. I further extend to him the privilege of asking any questions he wishes of me regarding annexation. I will expect to interrogate him on some of his past statements and his future plans to provide the necessary facilities for a new city south of the city limits.

"I do this as a member of the Council, but on my own volition and without any motive in mind but to provide the truth.

"THESE ARE MY own statements and do not necessarily reflect the opinions of the City Council. However, since the mayor has appointed me to the Council committee to assist in providing information to those persons working so hard for annexation, I feel it is my duty to put this matter before the public on a factual basis.

"The decision of the people, after all the facts are put before them, will be the ultimate factor."

Four automobile measures gain partial approval

OLYMPIA (AP) — Four measures affecting motorists moved from one end of the Capitol to the other Friday.

In addition to the House passage (72-21) of the bill to convert the State Department of Licenses into a new State Department of Motor Vehicles, three others affecting drivers won either House or Senate approval Thursday.

The bills would:

Make it necessary for out-of-state applicants for drivers' licenses to surrender the out-of-state license, before getting one from Washington. Passed by House 59-32.

Repeal present law and leave it up to the director of licenses, or the head of the proposed new State Department of Motor Vehicles, to set visual standards for getting drivers' licenses. Present standards are legally fixed at 20-50 or better, with our without corrective glasses. Passed by Senate unanimously.

$5.5 million for completion of Hood Canal Bridge

OLYMPIA (AP)—Legislation to pay for repairing and completing the storm-damaged Hood Canal bridge was completed Friday when the House approved a $5.5 million appropriation.

The appropriation, approved earlier by the Senate, now goes to Gov. Rosellini for his signature.

The money, to come from the Motor Vehicle Fund, was requested by the governor to forestall possible work stoppage on the bridge.

He reported money now available would be exhausted in a couple of weeks.

The legislature is scheduled to consider later companion measures drafted to repay the motor vehicle fund.

Rep. Daniel J. Evans of Seattle, Republican floor leader, said he regretted having to bail out the bridge but the project had to be completed.

NEW AMBASSADOR

LONDON (AP)—British officials welcomed today President Kennedy's appointment of David K.E. Bruce as the new U. S. ambassador to London.

They declined to make any on-the-record comment about the appointment on the grounds this was against protocol. But informally, they said Bruce, and a former ambassador to France and West Germany, has a high reputation as a diplomat.

Mobutu vetoes Congo army reorganization

By PATRICK MASSEY

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Gen. Joseph Mobutu said today Dag Hammarskjold's plan to reorganize the Congolese army and keep it out of politics really means disarming the force and "we will never allow it."

"The United Nations is playing with fire," Mobutu told a news conference. "To disarm the ANC (National Congolese Army) would mean war."

The conference was called to reply to the U.N. secretary-general's Security Council speech suggesting that the Congolese army be reorganized.

Mobutu insisted the Congolese army must stay under the control of President Joseph Kasavubu.

"All the ANC needs is money to buy planes for its paratroopers and arms for its soldiers," Mobutu said.

He complained the United Nations is "playing the game of the Asiatic countries who want to disarm Congolese troops and liberate deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba."

Mobutu blamed the arms shortage on Belgian paratroopers who had destroyed arms stocks and on the fact that the Congo is barred by U.N. resolutions from accepting unilateral military aid.

Students riot over Tyrol

ROME (AP)—Thousands of students hurled rocks at police around the Austrian Embassy today in the second day of demonstrations stemming from Italy's dispute with Austria on the South Tyrol. Three students and 15 police were injured and 40 demonstrators were arrested.

The demonstrations protest any move to concede regional autonomy to the South Tyrol, ceded to Italy by Austria after World War I. Austria demands autonomy, saying the 250,000 German-speaking people of South Tyrol have not been given full political rights. Austria maintains self-rule was promised under an agreement signed in Paris in 1946. Talks between the two nations deadlocked last week.

Rebel leader surrenders liner, accepts asylum

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

RECIFE, Brazil (AP)—Rebel leader Henrique Galvao conceded defeat today for his seaborne revolution aboard the Santa Maria and accepted asylum from the Brazilian government.

The decision was reached in negotiations with Brazilian authorities aboard the liner in Recife Harbor. Brazilian marines were in command of the ship and Galvao's thin band of rebels was disarmed.

The ship's regular skipper, Mario Simoes Maia, was directed by the owners to file complaints in a Brazilian court against both Galvao and Gen. Humberto Delgado, Portuguese exile in Brazil who said he masterminded the seizure of the Santa Maria.

The owners, the Colonial Navigation Co., told Simoes Maia to charge Galvao and Delgado with homicide, robbery, injuries, depriving passengers and crew of their liberty and damage to the 610-foot liner.

THWART GALVAO

Simoes Maia told for the first time how he and his crew tried to thwart Galvao at sea even though the ship's officers were in an effort to force a landing.

He said faucets were left open to deplete the fresh water supply, in an ffort to force a landing. He indicated that Galvao's inexperienced navigator had been led astray at times.

Capt. Simoes Maia declared some of the Galvao band who seized the ship Jan. 22 had come from the Soviet Union and been trained in Russian brigades. He said these rebels had been in Cuba recently.

"This was an authentic case of piracy," he asserted.

The last act of the high seas drama was expected in a conference aboard the ship between Galvao and Adm. Dias Fernandes of the Brazilian navy.

SPOKESMAN

A Brazilian navy minister spokesman said it is almost beyond question that Galvao will accept asylum in Brazil. A Portuguese exile, he lived in this country for a time but later went to Santa Maria.

Left stranded with only a skeleton crew, rebel chieftain Henrique Galvao bargained with Brazilian officials aboard ship. But th Brazilian Foreign Ministry in Brasilia said that President Janio Quadros' new administration had control of the 20,906-ton liner and would act in accordance with international law—presumably meannig it would give the cruise ship back to its Portuguese ownership back to its Portuguese own-

Quadros had personally offered Galvao and his rebel band of 70 political asylum in Brazil. It appeared that the diehards would have to accept and end their flamboyant seaborne revolt against Portuguese dictator Antonio de Oliveira Salazar.

Galvao's chief lieutenant and navigator, Jorge Souto Maior, a Spaniard, told newsmen in a shipboard interview that the men left on the liner—believed to number less than 30—were not enough to move the big ship from her anchorage only 300 yards from the Recife docks.

Most of the rebels joined 366 of the ship's crew and the nearly 600 passengers in rushing ashore by tug Thursday after Galvao finally brought the ship into harbor under mounting pressure of threatened mutiny and riot aboard the liner.

ARRANGEMENTS

The passengers were taken to the Recife Portuguese Club. Amid festive decorations for Mardi Gras, arrangements began to transport them home.

The ship's owners, the Colonial Navigation Co. offered to see that they got to their original destinations.

The U.S. consulate said it was ready to help any Americans that requested aid. The 45 American passengers were taken into the homes of Americans living in Recife. Pan American Airways said it could fly back all the passengers from Belem, Brazil, 1,050 miles northwest of Recife.

The Americans—all of whom traveled first and second class—said they received comparatively good treatment from their captors at sea but the tension had mounted steadily.

Portuguese and Spaniards in third class complained they were without water at the end of the 2,800-mile detour and had been given little food. Some said they feared for their lives.

Capt. Mario Gomes Mai, the veteran skipper of the Santa Maria who was taken prisoner by the rebels, said on coming ashore that there were "five traitors among the crew" in the daring seizure and they were remaining with Galvao.

TO HEAD VA—John S. Gleason Jr., 45, Winnetka, Ill., a former national commander of the American Legion, has been named to head the Veterans Administration.

BACKWARD, TURN BACKWARD

BALTIMORE (AP) — A crew member of the U. S. Canberra, Seaman Gil Jory of Baltimore, wrote home with some startling news after the cruiser's recent goodwill tour.

"A new time barrier was broken," he said, "when Canberra, firing one of her famous Terrier missiles from west to east across the International Date Line, accomplished the hitherto impossible feat of firing a missile on one day and intercepting the missile target the day before."

Kennedy children wait out snowstorm in sunny south

The daughter and new son of the President and his wife were scheduled to fly in today from warm Palm Beach to the snow-encrusted capital to take up residence in the White House.

But with heavy snow falling here and more on the way and the White House canceled 50 or better, with or without corpicked when the weather clears up.

It will be the first time since the days of Theodore Roosevelt that White House living quarters have resounded with the laughter of children of a President.

Lumumbists ambush U.N. troops

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — More than 1,500 Lumumbist troops ambushed and encircled an isolated United Nations unit in Kivu province today. Heavy casualties were reported among the rebels and at least one U.N. officer was killed in the day-long gun battle.

The attack followed a brawl late Thursday in which U.N. Nigerian troops killed six Congolese soldiers who had been drinking heavily before opening fire, according to a U.N. spokesman.

Incensed and seeking revenge, the Lumumbists fell upon a Nigerian platoon this morning on a country road. During heavy fighting the Nigerians managed to withdraw to their barracks, where two further platoons joined in, making their total number about 200.

Kivu is one of the strongholds of forces backing imprisoned former Premier Patrice Lumumba. It is in the eastern part of the Congo.

Earlier, in Leopoldville, Gen. Joseph Mobutu declared Dag Hammarskjold's plan to reorganize the Congolese army and keep it out of politics really meant disarming the force and "we will never allow it."

Eisenhowers leave for California by train Monday

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower will make his projected vacation trip to California by train this weekend, it was announced today at his office here.

An aide said Eisenhower would motor to Harrisburg, Pa., between 5 and 6 p.m. Sunday and board a Pennsylvania Railroad train there, leaving at 2 a.m. Monday.

He will be accompanied by Mrs. Eisenhower and selected members of his staff.

The Eisenhowers will vacation at the El Dorado Golf Club at Palm Desert, Calif. Earlier reports have said Eisenhower would be there about two months and there was no additional information today to indicate that these plans have been changed.

New equipment

Circulation librarian Rosa Sander, left, operates the new checking machine at the City Library. The employes there are currently engaged in re-registering more than 4,000 borrowers. This machine requires a reader's card, with a metal plate which is stamped on the file card when a book is borrowed. The new equipment will speed up the process of checking books out and release librarians for reference work, according to City Librarian Robert Bruce. Board member Mrs. George Tradewell checks a book to test the machine. The reader's card will hold the same number for three years and must be presented when a book is to be borrowed from the library. Rental for the checking machine is $50 a year. (Evening News Photo.)

Fire District No. 3 names new officers

The Board of Commissioners of Fire Protection District No. 3 held its first meeting of the new year on Jan. 30.

The following officers were appointed to serve for 1961: Nicholas Heuhslein, chairman; Conrad Kirner, vice-chairman; Loyd Fisher, commissioner; and Olga Spath, secretary.

Meetings will be held on the last Monday of each month at 7:30 p.m. at the home of the secretary at 348 Spruce St. Sequim.

To celebrate 60th anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Haynes Evans will celebrate their 60th wedding anniversary with a reception at Trinity Methodist Church social hall on Thursday, Feb. 9 from 7 to 9 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Evans were honored at a wedding reception at Macleay Hall ten years ago on their golden wedding, and are again inviting all their friends to join them on their anniversary. They request there be no gifts at this celebration.

Charles Trudel new master councilor of Sequim chapter, Order of DeMolay

Charles Trudel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Lehman, was installed as master councilor of Sequim chapter, Order of DeMolay at an open installation Friday night at the Masonic Temple.

Gerry Gamet, past state master councilor of DeMolay, was installing officer. Accompanying him on the installing team from Bremerton were: Jim Jordan, senior councilor, Larry Waggner, junior councilor; Larry Masser, chaplain.

Sequim installing officers were Bill Needham, senior deacon and Don Hudson marshal. Lona Silberhorn served as pianist for the ceremony.

GAMET WELCOMED the capacity audience and spoke on the purposes and ideals of DeMolay.

At the beginning of the installation, he handed the gavel to Herbert Lehman, who installed the new master councilor. The other officers installed by Gamet were: Terry Jackson, senior councilor; Neil Clayton, junior councilor; Dennis Boyd, senior deacon; John Carlson, junior deacon; Harvey Chenault, senior steward; Don Hudson, scribe; Bill Hahn, marshal; John Taylor, chaplain; Bill Wheeler, treasurer; Jerry Lynch, sentinel; Cliff Echternkamp, standard bearer.

Marlene Bucher, chapter sweetheart for the past year, then installed Lois Trudel, new chapter sweetheart, and sister of the new master councilor.

Charles gave his sister a corsage, then introduced his parents, giving them a corsage and boutonniere of white carnations, and introduced other members of his family.

He asked Mrs. Ralph Hudson, president and other members of the DeMolay Mothers Club to stand, thanking them for their efforts in behalf of the chapter.

OTHER GUESTS introduced were: Robert S. Brown, master of Sequim Masonic Lodge; Robert Clark, district deputy of DeMolay; members of the DeMolay Advisory Board; Janice Hahn, worthy advisor of Sequim Rainbow Assembly; Mrs. Robert Hahn, mother advisor of the assembly; Mrs. R. Bruce Brown, worthy matron of Pilgrim Chapter, OES.

C. C. Knapman, dad advisor of the Sequim chapter, presented a past master councilor's pin to Don Hudson in bahlf of the Mothers Club. The audience joined in singing "Happy Birthday" for Don who presented flowers to his parents and introduced other members of his family.

Gerry Gamet then gave the DeMolay flower talk, and before closing the meeting congratulated the chapter on its new growth. Of the 20 boys installed in office, all but three were taking part in their first installation.

RED BLOSSOMS and silver foliage decorated the chapter room and Sidne and Laurel Brown gave out programs at the door.

Red roses and red candles decorated the refreshment table where the past master councilor and new master councilor each had a decorated cake. Verona Brown presided at the punch bowl. Dancing in the social hall followed the serving of refreshments.

Pool Committee releases pledges

At a meeting in the Legion Hall Tuesday night the East End Swimming Pool Committee voted to release all pledges at this time and terminate efforts for the promotion of a private corporation to build a swimming pool.

This action followed the reports of committee members who have been convassing the area for pool pledges. The reports indicated there was neither sufficient interest nor financial support to build a pool under the proposed plan.

The Swimming Pool Committee will remain active, according to chairman Leonard Beil, and will investigate other methods of getting a swimming pool for the area.

Beil thanked the workers, and expressed the committee's appreciation to those who had given pledges of money and labor.

Past Matrons Club OES, met Friday night with Mrs. Edna McNamara. Mrs. Helen Haller was co-hostess. Mrs. Leonard Fernie presided in the absence of the president and vice-president, Mrs. Irene Cline and Mrs. Howard Taylor.

Mrs. W. G. R. Dann conducted a memorial service for Mrs. Emma Evans, who was a member of the club.

Mrs. Clarence McConnell from Pembina Chapter, Pembina, N. D. was a guest at the meeting. Mrs. Dann reported on the Christmas party given by the Port Angeles Past Matrons Club. A letter was read from Mrs. Henry Guthrie telling about the holiday activities at the veterans hospital in Walla Walla where her husband is a patient.

Mrs. Dick Grimsley and Mrs. Dann won prizes at cards, and attendance prizes went to Mrs. McConnell, Mrs. Fernie and Mrs. Grimsley.

Lutheran Guild installs officers

St. Matthew's Lutheran Guild met at the church Tueday afternoon and installed the following new officers: Mrs. L. P. Wilber, president; Mrs. Mark Hollister, vice president; Mrs. Harold Ketel, secretary; Mrs. Paul Brueckner, treasurer; Mrs. Edwin Brueckner, LWML representative.

The Rev. R. A. Wegener led the discussion topic, "Woman On A Mission." Mrs. S. H. Kohring and Mrs. Lynn Kushman were appointed to serve on the hospital committee. Mrs. Mark Hollister and Mrs. Annie Grant will serve in the greeting committee for the month. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Murray Jones.

Sequim Personals

Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Wrestling returned Jan. 23 from Bismark, N. D. where they spent the holidays with their daughter, Mrs. Hazen Sandwick and family. They stopped at Soap Lake to visit a granddaughter, Miss Barbara Doran, and visited friends in Seattle before returning to Sequim.

Cub Scouts receive new flag from VFW Auxiliary; awards given

Mrs. Ervin Boettcher, patriotic instructor of the VFW Auxiliary, presented a new 50-star flag to the pack and gave a brief history of the flag. She presented booklets on flag etiquette to each den mother. Dick Lotzgesell led in singing the national anthem.

Mrs. Walter Cummins' Den Six gave a skit and Mrs. Leland Smith showed color slides of South America, theme for the month.

Martin Pederson, silver arrow; Greg Agren, wolf; Terry Nickodym, wolf; Dennis Wood, wolf; David Burdick, gold arrow; Brian Smith, wolf and gold arrow.

Dens Three, Five and Six had 100 per cent parent attendance. The February meeting will be the annual blue and gold dinner, with date to be announced later.

Sequim Rebekahs drape charter

Sequim Rebekah Lodge held its first meeting with 1961 officers in the chairs on Jan. 26. Mrs. Ted Sorgenfrie, noble grand, presided. Mrs. Florence Hill, past noble grand of Mt. View Lodge No. 34 of Port Angeles, was a guest.

The charter was draped in memory of Mrs. Fannie Cays. The degree staff of 1960 presented a new 50-star flag to the lodge.

The following installing officers, Mrs. C. B. J. Peterson, deputy president; Mrs. Vern Yaple, deputy marshal; and Mrs. Vesta Yoakum, deputy musician, installed Mrs. David Helms, conductor; Mrs. Raymond Yaple, musician; Mrs. Harold Byers, color bearer; and Miss Janet Laurenson, right supporer of the noble grand.

On the lunch committee for the next meeting are Mrs. Orin Woods, Mrs. Elsie Blair, Mrs. Lillian Hendrickson and Harold Byers.

McNamara expects service families to save money

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara says he expects every man, woman and child in overseas service families to save $80 a year to cut down on the drain of U.S. dollars.

McNamara met Pentagon reporters for the first time Thursday.

He said his aim is to save as much dollar expenditure abroad as would have been saved by the controversial order of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower to cut the number of military dependents living abroad.

President Kennedy reversed that order this week.

McNamara said the voluntary savings program is expected to trim $80 million from what servicemen and their families spend abroad this year. By 1962 and 1963 he estimated the saving should run to $200 million. This is the sum Eisenhower hoped to save by having the families returned home.

McNamara also said regulations might be put into effect to make it more difficult for overseas servicemen to buy durable foreign goods, such as cars. One way to do this, he said, would be to require purchasers of cars to ship them home at their expense. The Army pays the transportation now.

McNamara made these other announcements:

1. He has no immediate plan for a major reorganization of the Defense Department.

2. He has no present plans to redeploy U.S. forces abroad.

3. The Department will buy 53 more big transport planes, including 30 jets, to beef up the military's airlift capacity.

Mastodon bone unearthed by excavation

SEATTLE (AP) — Excavation at the Fourth Ave. and Cherry St. site of the new city hall turned up evidence of the long-ago Thursday.

A 22-inch bone, some six inches in diameter, was probably a femur or thigh bone from a mammoth or mastodon, University of Washington Prof. Stan Mallory said. They have been extinct at least 10,000 years.

"It may be as old as 40,000 or 50,000 years," the geologist said.

A workman found it 35 feet down in sand and gravel and it was donated to the Washington Department of Geology.

BOAT ACCIDENTS REPORTED

Tabulation of available records by the Coast Guard indicates that in the six-month period ending June 30, 1960, there were 815 boating accidents involving 1,031 vessels. As a result of these accidents 261 lives were lost, 274 people were injured and property damage amounted to $1,087,000.

While figures are not complete, due to the inconsistency of regulations by states with reference to boating, the percentages are indicative of the seriousness of the problem. Of the accidents reported, 51 per cent of the operators were between 26 and 50 years of age. Experience did not prove to be a safety factor because the greatest number of accidents involved people with over 500 hours of operating experience.

As is so often the case, man's carelessness can be attributed to most of the accidents. Of the accidents reported, 70 per cent were definitely credited to "human fault." In the breakdown of accidents and injuries as a result of the operator's fault, 40 deaths were attributed to ignorance of safety precautions, 33 to a combination of faults, and 23 to unsafe loading. There were four deaths as a result of speeding It should be pointed out that no injuries resulted from known physical disabilities such as sight, hearing, etc.

While incomplete, the statistics should make boat owners consider their own knowledge and behavior of boating. The U.S. Coast Guard has prepared a booklet, "Recreational Boating Guide," CG-340, which should be in every boatowner's kit.

"This booklet is intended to acquaint recreational boatmen with the requirements of the various federal boating laws and to provide them with some basic guidelines for safe and enjoyable operation," writes Admiral A. C. Richmond, Commandant, U. S. Coast Guard, in the foreward.

THE ADMIRAL goes on to say, "The approach to the subject has been non-technical and, so far as possible, laymen's language has been employed throughout."

The nine chapters of the "Recreational Boating Guide" cover: Numbering Your Boat; What Are the Legal Minimum Equipment Regulations; What Other Equipment Should You Have; What Are Your Responsibilities When Operating; Aids to Navigation; Some Hints on Safety Afloat; Under Sail, Paddle, and Oars; Emergency Procedures; and U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary. The appendices are: Federal Boating Act of 1958, Act of April 25, 1940, Coast Guard District Offices, Rescue Coordination Center Telephone Numbers and Marine Inspection Stations, Maps of Continental U.S. Showing Coast Guard Districts and Government Publications of Interest to Boatmen.

BIRDS VS. PLANES

Mother nature's own flying machine came into bold conflict with man's mechanical flying machine October 4, 1960, in Boston, when a turbo-prop plane ingested starlings in its engines during takeoff. Killed were 62 of the 72 passengers.

Immediately wheels started turning to determine the full scope of the situation and solve it. While some people consider this a new problem, records of civil and military agencies show the situation has been with man since he took to the air. However, with the advent of jet travel and an increase in use of turbo-powered engines, this situation has been aggravated.

Following the dramatic accident in Boston, and subsequent reports of near-accidents, the Federal Aviation Agency, Civil Aeronautics Board, Air Transport Association, military departments, Fish and Wildlife Service, and citizen groups such as the Massachusetts Audubon Society and National Audubon Society started pooling their skills and manpower to analyze the problem and find a solution to the bird-aircraft problems. Habitat modification, to make airport areas less attractive for concentrations of birds, appears to show promise.

The FAA recently gave the Fish and Wildlife Service $100,000 for research on this problem. A seven-stage research program will consist of: Analysis of the problem; preparation of a leaflet for airport managers with behavior data of birds found around airports and steps to be taken to modify habitat to make it unattractive to birds; evaluation studies of available devices and materials which may be useful in controlling birds; identification of birds ingested in engines; expansion of research on selective lethal chemicals which may be used if all other controls fail; establishment of a cooperative study of ultrasonic and electronic devices by commercial, military, federal and private interests; and field studies of bird behavior around principal problem airports.

A FEW YEARS AGO the "birdproof" windshield, to withstand the shock of a bird-strike at 250 m.p.h., was developed as a result of birds crashing into cockpits and causing serious injuries to pilots. This problem was recognized and solved. Indications today are that sea gulls are the main offenders. Attracted by highly polluted water around certain airfields, gull populations have increased. Starlings and pigeons also have been classified as problems. Planes have struck ducks at high altitudes during migration seasons.

Records show that bird-strikes are not the only problem. Rabbits are a particular problem at a Los Angeles airport, where a jet recently ingested one during its takeoff run. A collision with a moose is recorded in Alaska, where this creature is a problem on some airfields.

BIG PHEASANT CROP

State game farms raised 119,028 pheasants during 1960, according to Game Department reports presented at a State Game Commission meeting.

Production was higher than in 1959, when Game Department bird farms reared 92,901 pheasants.

In addition to the pheasants raised in 1960, the farms produced slightly over 2,500 chukar partridges, 1,200 redleg partridge, 1,700 valley quail and 1,300 bobwhite quail.

These, coupled with lesser numbers of Hungarian partridge, bamboo partridge, and mountain quail, bring the game farm total annual production to 133,049 birds.

Bill Ford, superintendent of the state game farms, presented the report along with proposed production for 1961.

Pheasant production for '61 is aimed at 96,000 birds — a reduction from 1960 — which will better utilize game farm facilities.

During 1960 the farms were crowded to capacity, according to Ford, and many birds would have been lost had any serious disease problems occurred.

The slight reduction in 1961 production will ensure a higher quality bird, which in turn, means more and better birds in the hunter's bag.

Lawmakers form liaison with governor

OLYMPIA (AP) — Democratic legislative leaders have decided to set up a 19-member Senate-House liaison committee to work with Gov. Rosellini to resolve differences between the executive and the lawmakers.

The decision was announced after an hour-long conference with Rosellini behind closed doors Thursday, from which all came out smiling.

"We don't have any problems," House Speaker John L. O'Brien said immediately.

The governor added:

"We had a friendly party discussion."

HALFWAY MARK

But with the 1961 Legislature near the halfway mark, the dissension has become generally known. Only last Tuesday some Democrats joined with Republicans to call upon Rosellini to say specifically what taxes should be raised to get the $57.85 million he says is needed to balance the 1961-63 budget. The resolution was killed on a second vote Wednesday.

Some time after Thursday's conference, participants spoke more freely.

O'Brien said there had been no liaison between the governor and the legislature to date, and that the committee should have been set up sooner.

Leonard Sawyer, Puyallup, leader of one of the Democratic majority factions in the House, said "we got to air our grievances and discuss a lot of mutual problems . . .

"We pulled out our dirty linen and aired it."

A similar view was expressed by Max Wedekind, Seattle, Democratic caucus chairman. He said: "We let everyone sound off and you can be safe in saying that many complaints were aired."

A YEAR HAS PASSED

With many new things brought to light in every phase of life; things to make better living for all of us.

Each year at about this time we and John Deere Co. put on a SHOW for the farmers of our community.

This year we are proud to say we will have the best SHOW we have ever had. We will show the most MODERN TRACTOR AND EQUIPMENT ever built. There are more features built into these new tractors than the farmers of today could ever dream of asking for.

John Deere Company said to their engineers, "Build us a new line of Tractors." There was no limit on time, money, engineering nor testing; the results of this demand by John Deere Company after 6 years of testing has given us a new line of Tractors and Equipment we can exhibit before the public without fear of criticism, because it is the best that we have ever built.

We, H & M TRACTOR EQUIPMENT, INC. . . . formerly HENDRICKSON'S SERVICE, wish to extend a special invitation to each farmer and their family on the Peninsula, to be our guest on DEERE DAY . . . Monday, February 6 . . . 11:30 a.m. . . . our Show Room. Let's make it a date . . . how about it?

'You Can Get Better Grades'

In foreign language study, try thinking as a foreigner

with HARRY KARNS

Now let's talk about how to read literary works and foreign languages.

Literature is written to entertain. It seems a shame to take it out of the field of entertainment and place it under the head of Scholarship — with a capital S. But that is what comma-hunting English professors have done with it.

Since this is the situation, it only makes good sense to put some system into the analytical reading of literary works. You can at least enjoy making a good grade.

TO SATISFY an English professor's exacting requirements, you must think of a great deal more than merely how good the story is. Here are some questions to ask yourself when you are reading a novel, a play, a short story:

1. What is the theme?
2. What is the setting?
3. Who is the central character, and how does his life change in the course of the work?
4. Is the dialogue realistic?
5. What is the turning point of the story?
6. Where is the climax—the point where a final decisive action is taken?
7. Is there a particularly vivid description?
8. Does the author have mannerisms that distinguish his style?

ENGLISH PROFESSORS are a shifty lot, however. Try to find out what you are supposed to learn from your reading under a certain professor. You may be able to get a ray of intelligence from tests given to previous classes. In any event, you'll find out when he gives your first quiz. Take the hint and study the sort of thing he is interested in.

BEYOND THAT keep in mind these points:

1. While reading a literary work keep the author's name and the title of the book in the background of your thinking space.
2. Think of the characters as the inventions of the author. Use the author's name and the character's name in the same thought. "Shakespeare did a good job with Othello." "Dickens created an appealing character in Oliver Twist."
3. Picture situations and scenes. Identify the characters with those situations and scenes. And identify all of these things with the author, using both his name and the name of the story.

Before doing the things we have suggested here, we suggest that you do one preliminary thing: Read the book just for the fun of it.

STUDYING A MODERN language is something requiring still different techniques.

A lot depends on the way you prepare to study.

If the material to be read is part of an exercise in a textbook, it probably involves new vocabulary, foreign words you never saw before. You should study the vocabulary before trying to read the lesson.

But also a foreign language requires an entirely new point of view.

FOR REAL SUCCESS you must quit thinking in English and think in that foreign language. Do not merely translate from the foreign language. If it's French, you must become a Frenchman; if German, a German; if Russian, a Russian—but do not fear, it is only make-believe, and you will not be investigated by a congressional committee.

SUGGESTED STEPS for vocabulary study:

1. Each word in the vocabulary should be pronounced and studied.
2. Keep the word in mind long enough to thoroughly understand it.
3. Call up the appropriate picture. If the word means "chair," bring up a mental picture of a chair, not just the word chair.
4. Look for associations of words, and use each new word in at least one pattern of words. Learn the much-used pattern of words and idioms whenever you can. For example, a foreigner studying English would use as often as possible such expressions as, "Thank you very much," "You are welcome," "What time is it please?" and "Turn right at the next corner."

THIS APPROACH will help you not merely today but in your future use of the language. If you concern yourself primarily with translating today's exercise, you may fall into the trap of simply memorizing equivalent words. You can get the current assignment that way, perhaps, but the words won't stick—and so, what do you do on exam day?

Jane had trouble with high school French. She was able to do the daily translations but got low grades on tests. Her memory for vocabulary held water for two or three weeks at the most. Each assignment required endless reference to the French-English dictionary.

WE SUGGESTED that she use the mental picture technique, try thinking in French, and attempt her reading in a new way:

1. She was to stop at the end of each page or paragraph and recite the meaning to herself.
2. If the first reading did not produce clear understanding, she was to glance through the material, picking out unfamiliar words.
3. She was to give each of these words the thorough thought process sugested for vocabulary study.
4. Then she was to read a second time for understanding.
5. At points where written translations were required, she was to translate without referring to previous work.

JANE TRIED IT this way, with the excellent results you can expect when you apply simple, commonsense principles in solving a problem. Jane started getting "A's." Jane learned to learn.

Obviously, there is a bit more to the business of reading than being able to devour rapidly page after page of print. Good reading is an organized undertaking requiring preparation, purpose, discipline and drill.

Sparks fly at PUD hearing

OLYMPIA (AP) — Sparks flew and the atmosphere was highly charged during arguments over giving an area's residents the right to vote on condemnation proceedings by a public utility district to acquire a private power company's properties.

The House Utilities Committee held a public hearing on House Bill 197 Thursday.

The bill is "Anti-PUD, anti-municipal power and anti-public power, with the most serious and vicious implications," said A. Lars Nelson, master of the Washington State Grange.

NOT SO

Not so, said a number of PUD commissioners and ex-commissioners, including Vic Francis, newly-elected Thurston County commissioner. Francis said his own 3-1 election victory, and that of the two other successful Thurston County legislators, showed how constituents felt on the right-to-vote proposal.

The executive secretary of the Washington Public Utilties District Association, Ken Billington, said the measure would put persons in counties without an operating PUD in a "poor bargaining position" if they wished to form a PUD district.

SAFEGUARD

Spokesmen for Seattle and Tacoma municipal power systems said the measure, as now drawn, would eliminate an existing safeguard—that municipal systems and PUDs are mutually prohibited from condemning one another's property. They insisted they were making no arguments either for or against the right-to-vote principle.

HB197 originated out of the controversy now on in Thurston county. It is over the attempt by the Thurston County PUD to acquire distribution facilities of the Puget Sound Power & Light Co. within the county's borders.

SOYBEANS HAVE FUTURE

URBANA, Ill. (AP)—Scientists at the University of Illinois believe soybeans eventually may be added to the list of regular fare for Americans.

Testing vegetable-type soybeans, which have a mild nutty flavor and are larger and cook more easily than field-type soybeans, the researchers found that soaking and cooking processes did not affect thiamine vitamin content.

Soybeans compare favorably in thiamine with other good sources of this vitamin, including peanuts, fried beef liver, cooked oatmeal and whole wheat bread. Thiamine corrects and prevents beriberi and promotes optimal growth in infants and children.

JAIL GOES

Pine forests threatened by new enemy — moths

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Northwest's rich pine forests are under threat of attack from a new enemy that might prove as deadly and as costly as the spruce budworm.

The European pine shoot moth was found last year in trees of the Portland, Seattle and Spokane areas.

Its larvae are now in the buds of whatever young pines they infest, protected by a bit of pitch. They are scheduled to hatch in June and fly to other trees to lay their eggs and begin the cycle of destruction.

The Washington Department of Natural Resources is coordinating the race to destroy them before that happens. Oregon's Department of Agriculture and the United States Forest Service have joined in this program which calls for research and experiments as well as actual destruction of such trees as pose the greatest threat.

INFESTED

When nursery stock and a hedge at Spokane were found to be heavily infested, they were destroyed. They were too close to the pine forests to take a chance.

Scotch pines and Japanese table pines in a Portland nursery were destroyed, too, as the best means of getting rid of the only known infestation in that area.

But around Seattle the problem is widespread and a fumigation experiment is under way.

Foresters believe that the Northwest states' infestation began with a shipment of nursery stock to Seattle from British Columbia where the moth has been known for several years. Now individual landscape plantings in Seattle, Bellevue, Kirkland and elsewhere are infested.

So far it is only in ornamental stock that the pine shoot moth has been found in the Northwest. In the East, however, it has been found in plantings of Ponderosa pine.

DAMAGE HIGH

If it should get into the region's commercial pine forests, buds would be killed, shoots be malformed, and damage could soar. "We simply cannot live with this pest," said E. L. Kolbe of the Western Pine Assn.

Spray programs such as that used year after year on the spruce budworm would be only partly effective at best against the pine shoot moth and might have no effect at all. The larvae spend the winter behind a layer of pitch, which protects them from sprays.

Right now the question is whether fumigation with methol-bromide will do the job. The Washington Department of Natural Resources started in December dropping special tents over infested trees and shooting in a killing gas. This will be done three more times, into September. By then it will be known how much gas is needed to kill the pest — if it will indeed reach the larvae — and how much the trees can stand without themselves dying.

MORE SURVEYS

There will be continued surveys — block by block in such pine country cities as Spokane — in search for new infestations. Studies into control will be pursued.

The spruce budworm and the balsam woolly aphid continue to plague the forests but they can be controlled. What will happen if the pine shoot moth gets into the forests is uncertain now except for one thing: The cost is going to be high.

Balance of power levels off in Senate Rules Committee

By LEROY HITTLE

OLYMPIA (AP) —The balance of power in the important Senate Rules Committee was leveled off between conservatives and liberals Friday with the appointment of a fourth Republican to the committee.

Addition of Sen. Ernest Lennart, Everson, gave the minority Republicans one-fourth of the representation on the group that determines what legislation will reach the Senate floor for final action.

Lt. Gov. John A. Cherberg, who announced Lennart's appointment, said party labels were not important on the powerful Rules Committee.

BETTER DESCRIPTION

He said a better description off the members would be conservatives, moderates and liberals.

With the addition of Lennart to the committee, Cherberg said it appeared to him that the committee was balanced "even-steven" between the conservatives and liberals, with the moderates holding the balance of power.

Lennart's addition to the Rules Committee resolved a problem between Republicans and Democrats that has been simmering since the day the legislature opened.

It was touched off when the Democratic majority took over one of the four Republican seats on the Rules Committee to bolster their strength of the committee from a 11-4 margin to a 12-3 edge.

Republicans boycotted the first couple of meetings of the committee to protest the action of the Democrats.

IMPARTIAL

Cherberg, who presides over the Senate and has won the reputation of being impartial in his rulings, made a personal plea to the Republicans to return to the Rules Committee.

A former University of Washington football coach, Cherberg went before the Republican caucus and gave them a half-time talking to.

He told them that as a football coach he had received a number of "bum decisions" but never walked off the field.

He said the Republicans also had a duty to continue the fight on the Rules Committee for their constituents.

Cherberg asked the Republicans to return to the meetings and pledged his best effort to persuade the Democratic majority to give them a fourth member again.

ADDED SEAT

The GOP returned to the fold and Cherberg, with the aid of other Democrats on the committee, persuaded the Democrats to increase its size from 15 to 16, with the additional seat going to Lennart, a Republican.

Cherberg said the move would again make it possible for members of the Rules Committee to have a tie vote unless he also cast a ballot.

As a result, Cherberg said he probably will vote on all measures requiring a secret ballot to preclude a tie vote.

And, he added, on non-secret votes he will cast his ballot to break any ties.

Simmons denied new trial; plans appeal

SEATTLE (AP) — Seattle Traffic Court Judge William H. Simmons' motion for a new trial on his second degree assault conviction was denied Thursday by Superior Judge John D. Cochran.

The Pierce County jurist, who heard Simmons' case, said he had found no prejudice or reversible error in the trial. The motion for a retrial was based on those grounds.

SENTENCING DATE

The judge suggested that the defense and prosecution agree on recommending a sentencing date.

Simmons could be sentenced to a maximum of 10 years in prison and $1,000 fine.

A King County Superior Court jury convicted Simmons of trying to force his attentions on a 21-year-old Seattle housewife who saw him about a traffic ticket.

LOSES OFFICE

Simmons will automatically lose his office when he is sentenced and judgment against him is signed. He stepped aside voluntarily, however, after his conviction and the post has been filled by temporary appointment.

Simmons said he was confident the high court would order a new trial and it would result in his acquittal.

He said he was not surprised at Judge Cochran's denial of a new trial.

"Tell me more about this hospitalization plan you have!"

Pavement Plato blasts off on advice binge

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Dear Pavement Plato:

I have a valued employe who sits at his desk all day snoring. This is very distracting to the rest of the office staff.

What should I do?

Executive

Dear Executive:

Tell him—if the union has no objection—he must lie down and sleep on top of the desk. If the snoring persists, assign an office boy to turn him over every 15 minutes.

Dear Plato:

Today I received a letter from my dear old aunt's attorneys saying me $769,843.12.

What is the first thing I should do with all this money?

Lucky

Dear Lucky:

Count it!

Dear Plato:

My present wife and I are very happy except for a distressing argument that has been going on for years.

I promised my first wife I would be buried by her side, but my second wife insists that if I truly love her I would want to be buried in her family plot.

To tell the honest truth, I'm in no real hurry to be buried next to either of them. What do you think is the best all around solution?

Puzzled

Dear Puzzled:

Just keep living. That's the best solution to any problem.

Dear Plato:

Chemistry is my hobby. Toying around with my test tubes the other evening, I accidentally stumbled on a magical discovery—a liquid gravity remover. Three drinks of it and you float right up to the ceiling.

How should I go about marketing this wonderful new product?

Elated

Dear Elated:

Sorry to disillusion you, but you are a little late with your idea. The martini was invented more than 100 years ago.

Dear Plato:

My wife thinks I should retire next summer when I am 55, so that we can enjoy our remaining years together free from the worries and responsibilities of the daily grind.

We will have a monthly income of about $125. Do you know a place where two people can exist in comparative comfort on that kind of money?

Hopeful

Dear Hopeful:

Yes. Any well-run jail.

Dear Plato:

My husband and I have just joined the P.T.A., and next week we will attend the first meeting, at which our group will discuss two highly controversial questions: (1) whether the school cafeteria is serving too many carbohydrates and too few proteins, and (2) whether to ask the school board to employ a ballet dancer for the kindergarten.

What could we wear that would be most suitable for this occasion?

Doubtful

Dear Doubtful:

Ear plugs!

State's jobless numbers reach high peak

By LEROY HITTLE

OLYMPIA (AP) —Unemployment in Washington has climbed to the point where the state is third highest in the nation by one yardstick of measurement, Gov. Rosellini said Thursday.

He disclosed in announcing a bid to have Washington State or a community within the state selected as the fifth area for a pilot project for distribution of surplus foods through the stamp program.

SENDS WIRE

"Our employment security department reports Washington now ranks third highest for the per cent of workers covered by unemployment compensation who are now unemployed," Rosellini said in a telegram to Orville Freeman, new secretary of agriculture.

Rosellini said there were counties in the state where 33.5 per cent of the available labor force covered by unemployment compensation act were out of work.

He said there were a number of communities where the ratio exceeds 25 per cent.

FOOD STAMPS

The national administration announced Wednesday that food stamps would be distributed to families in need who may then use them to buy designated foods at regular markets.

President Kennedy said four of five pilot projects would be conducted in depressed areas in West Illinois and Eastern Kentucky.

The President said the fifth area was undetermined so Rosellini sent the telegram to Freeman and asked Washington Sens. Magnuson and Jackson to use their efforts in having the fifth stamp pilot project conducted in Washington.

79,075 JOBLESS

The latest available figures issued by the State Department of Employment Security showed 79,075 jobless persons applied for unemployment compensation during the week ended Jan. 21.

The number of jobless persons covered by the unemployment compensation act was 11,646 more than last year at the same time.

UNEMPLOYMENT RATE

The rate of unemployment reported varied from 5.7 per cent in Pasco to 33.5 per cent in the Colville area.

Rates of unemployment in other areas included: Statewide 12; Bellingham 18.5; Mount Vernon and Anacortes 27; Port Angeles 18.2; Bremerton 14.8; Seattle Metropolitan area 9; Everett 18.7; Tacoma 12.5; Olympia 13.8; Centralia 26.2; Aberdeen 13.1; Raymond 17.2; Vancouver 16.6; Longview 10; Wenatchee 19.4; Toppenish and Yakima 24.8; Ellensburg 20.1; Okanogan 25; Spokane 12; Walla Walla 10.6 and Ephrata and Moses Lake 17.1.

Why you should read a newspaper every day...

CHIEF ROY BETLACH

"An informed citizenry is a most important and necessary adjunct to any well planned and successful program in which the public is concerned. In our increasingly complex society it becomes imperative that the people be made aware of the facts, for without that knowledge being properly imparted we cannot expect active support or interest. Any program which is in the public interest must be forcibly brought to the attention of those concerned; otherwise it cannot be wholly successful.

"In the field of traffic law enforcement the newspapers have played a major role in presenting the facts to the public. As we strive and endeavor towards increased knowledge to fight the war against traffic accidents we must realize that our success or failure is measured by public acceptance. To gain such support we must regularly call upon the newspapers to impart the necessary information.

"The public has learned that it can rely upon and expect with regularity all the important information and facts regarding the important news events of the day. In the field of traffic law enforcement the factual day-by-day reporting of accidents and fatalities in our newspapers is an effective and forceful method of fighting against the unnecessary slaughter on our streets and highways. For without public awareness we cannot hope for public support.

"Now, more than ever, at a time when our basic freedoms are being threatened, the newspapers assume an extremely important role as a vehicle of information."

Roy A. Betlach is Chief of the Washington State Patrol. He has held that position since April 11, 1957. Chief Betlach joined the State Patrol in 1947 and has since served continuously in that organization except for a two-year period — 1955 - 57 — when he was sheriff of Spokane County. He resigned as sheriff to return to the State Patrol as its Chief. He has specialized in teaching traffic safety — especially safety for children. He is a veteran of World War II, married and has five children.

New vehicles dept. passed by House

OLYMPIA (AP)—Legislation to establish a new Department of Motor Vehicles was passed by the House, 72-21, Thursday and sent to the Senate.

The measure would transfer certain professional licensing functions of the present Department of Licenses to the director of general administration and would place all motor vehicle licensing functions under the new Department of Motor Vehicles.

Rep. W. J. Beierlein, Auburn Democrat and chairman of the House highways committee, said the license department in the past 20 years has been a "political dumping ground of all political parties for patronage."

Similar legislation was passed last session by a large House majority but died in the Senate Rules Committee.

The new Motor Vehicles Department would be under a director appointed by the governor.

Asked whether the present license department director, Mrs. Louise Taylor, would have a position in the new department, Beierlein replied:

"I haven't the slightest idea."

Under the legislation, the Motor Vehicles Department would have divisions for driver licensing, driver improvement, vehicle registration and liquid fuel tax.

Driver licensing functions presently are handled by the State Patrol.

Construction of an average home involves about 30,000 items.

Cancer society hears reports; to show films

Clallam County unit of the American Cancer Society heard talks Monday on cancer education by Esther Ristine and Isabel Kellogg, staff organizers from Seattle.

The group met with county chairman Mrs. Paul Blatter. Mrs. Bertram Krueger, service chairman, and Mrs. Minna Durkee, memorial chairman and county treasurer, gave reports. The society received a total of $5,701 in 1960; $949 from memorials and the balance from solicitations and benefits.

Of this sum $450 was from Forks, $970 from the East End, $95 from the Clallam Bay-Sekiu area and the remainder from the Port Angeles area.

Representing the East End at the session were Mmes. A. H. Johnson, Charles Blake Jr., and R. M. Schramm. Among local women attending were Mmes. Merrill Oakes, W. L. Buzard, Stanley Pearce. John Selby, I.A. Ranta and J. W. Bussing.

The unit plans to show the films "Time and Two Women." for women only; and "To Smoke or Not to Smoke" for teenagers; as part of a public education program on cancer.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Howard Bull

Dennie Wareham is bride of J. H. Bull

Now at home at 2504 14th S., Seattle, are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Howard Bull whose wedding took place at St. Peter's Catholic Church, Seattle, Dec. 31.

The bride is the former Dennie Rae Wareham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wareham of Port Angeles. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Edna Bull of Seattle.

The Rev. Jerome Schwegman officiated at the double ring service. White stock and white chrysanthemums decorated the altar.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a long gown with lace-trimmed bodice, cap sleeves and scalloped neckline; long half gloves, and a finger-tip veil of illusion. She carried a bouquet of white rosebuds and feathered carnations.

ATTENDANTS WERE the bridegroom's cousin Ronald Cook, and the bride's sister Mrs. Audrey Watts of Monrovia, Calif. Mrs. Watts wore a baby blue silk gown and veil and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Mrs. Wareham chose a royal blue suit with white accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a gray suit with black accessories Both had corsages of white carnations.

Ushers were the bridegroom's brothers-in-law Thomas DiMarco, and Richard Van Derschelden.

A RECEPTION at the Di Marco home followed the ceremony. Miss Valerie Olson poured and Mrs. Tony Tikin cut the wedding cake. a white Maltese cross decorated with blue roses.

Mrs. Clark Cook passed the guest book. Mrs. Ronald Cook had charge of gifts. Among those attending were Tim McDonald and Michael McLaughlin of Port Angeles.

For traveling the bride chose a baby blue wool suit, white fur hat and a corsage of white rosebuds and feathered carnations.

Dear Abby....

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have a young neighbor who comes over almost every day. She keeps me from my work. She says I remind her of her mother, who recently passed away. She has a young child and is expecting another. I feel sorry for her.

There are many young neighbors near us, but she doesn't bother with them. How can I tell her not to come so often and stay so long?

OFF MY SCHEDULE

DEAR OFF: You can't—without discouraging her entirely. Be grateful that you are able to bring so much comfort to one to desperately in need of it. There are worse things than being kept from one's work, namely — finding yourself neither wanted, needed, nor essential to the happiness of another.

DEAR ABBY: I am a piano teacher. I could make a better living doing something else, but I love music and want to teach others to love and appreciate it too.

I have 22 students. Eight of them have been coming for their lessons week after week without having practiced one note. (How do they think they can fool a teacher?)

When I telephone their mothers, I am told, "Johnny has basketball practice every evening," or, "Susie has been very busy with other activities."

I have threatened to drop these students unless they show more interest, but their parents plead with me to keep them. Should I drop them? My blood pressure is going up.

MUSIC TEACHER

DEAR TEACHER: Drop them, and your blood pressure will probably drop too.

DEAR ABBY: Recently an aunt of mine died. She was 56 years old and never married. The family wants to put "MISS" in front of her name on the stone.

I am sure she wouldn't want it that way. Don't you think just her first and last name is all that is necessary? Please answer in the paper because those people never believe a thing unless they see it in black and white.

SHIRTTAIL RELATIVE

DEAR SHIRTTAIL: Her first and last name only is proper.

CONFIDENTIAL TO KANSAS BACHELOR: Making a marriage work is like running a farm. You have to start all over again

Letters to Abby should be addressed to her at Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif. Please do not send letters to her in care of the Port Angeles Evening Nws. For a personal reply enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

"What's your problem?" For a personal reply from Abby, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Who pays for what? For Abby's pamphlet, "How To Have A Lovely Wedding," send 50c to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

LEO CONNELL

Grand president to visit local Eagles Lodge

Leo Connell, grand worthy president of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, will visit the lodge here Monday night.

Aerie President Everett Richmond reports this will be one of the four visits Connell and his entourage will make in the State of Washington and visitors will attend from aeries throughout the district.

It will be the first visit of a grand president of the order to Port Angeles in more than 25 years. A class of candidates will be initiated in his honor, and a no-host dinner held for him at Haguewood's Restaurant at 6 p.m. A free crab feed will be served at the Eagles Hall after the meeting.

RECENT ADDITIONS TO THE LIBRARY'S COLLECTIONS

Books about the ocean and its creatures, man's adventures under water, and fish in fresh or salt water, are always of interest to readers of all ages. Here are some new ones of guaranteed interest:

KINGDOM OF THE OCTOPUS by Frank Lane. Many strange photographs and other pictures illustrate this study of the strangest of sea creatures.

CREATURES OF THE SEA by William Gray. Unusual photographs are the best features of this "bring—'em back-alive" book.

UNDER THE SEA by Maurice Burton. Much information about the least explored part of the earth, the deep sea.

BASIC SCUBA by Fred Roberts. Authoritative information on the operation, maintenance, and safe use of all makes of self-contained under-water breathing apparatus, plus all the other equipment used in diving for sport.

MASKS AND FLIPPERS by Lloyd Bridges. The most recent book on skin diving.

TROUT MADNESS by Robert Traver. All fishermen will enjoy this book for its trout lore and its stories of glorious fishing. Everyone else will find it hilariously funny.

We all like to read books about famous people. Here are a number of recent biographies and autobiographies of an assortment of colorful characters.

THE BOSS by Robert St. John. Gamal Abdel Nasser, Chief of the United Arab Republic, is one of the world's most controversial characters.

TREAT IT GENTLE: the autobiography of Sidney Bechet. A colorful story told in the great jazz musician's own language, not "Prettied up" but an honest record of a classic period in Dixieland jazz.

ROSES IN DECEMBER by Frances Parkinson Keyes. The famous and beloved novelist tells of the first part of her varied, successful, and unusually happy life.

Patrol to have skating party

Members of the school boy patrol will have their annual skating party Monday evening from 7 to 9:30 o'clock.

The American Legion and the Port Angeles Police Department join each year in sponsoring this party as a token of appreciation for the students' work as patrolmen during the year. The patrol roster this year numbers 138.

Lt. Virgil Bishop represents the police department this year. On the party committee from the Legion are Joseph Ross, Eugene Watts and Kenneth Hubbard.

NOTICE OF SALE OF FOREST PRODUCTS VALUED AT LESS THAN $250.00

Notice is hereby given that on Tuesday the 14th day of February, 1961, commencing at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the Port Angeles District Headquarters of the Department of Natural Resources, the following described forest products will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder.

Approximately 1000 Cedar shake boards.

Located in SESENENE Sec. 23, Twp. 30 N., Rge. 5 (W), W.M., Clallam County, Washington.

CASH SALE

Forest products will be sold on a cash basis.

Minimum acceptable bid will be $20.00.

Prior to auction of this sale, each bidder must make a deposit of $20.00 plus a $5.00 bill of sale fee, or a total of $25.00, in the form of cash, money order, certified check or bank draft. Upon completion of this sale, the respective deposits shall be returned to the unsuccessful bidders. The purchaser must pay the balance between the bid deposit and the full bid price on the day of sale. This balance may be paid by personal check. All checks, money orders, etc. are to be made payable to the Commissioner of Public Lands.

All sales shall be conducted between the hours of ten o'clock in the forenoon and four o'clock in the afternoon. If all sales cannot be offered within the specified time on the advertised date, the sale shall continue on the following day between the hours of ten o'clock in the forenoon and four o'clock in the afternoon. Any sale which has been offered and for which there are no bids received, shall be considered closed and shall not be reoffered until it has been readvertised.

Time for removal will be March 31, 1961.

Located approximately 8 miles SE of Port Angeles.

Accessibility: County road.

A copy of the timber bill of sale contract is posted at the Port Angeles District Headquarters office.

SALE OF TIMBER
MAKAH INDIAN RESERVATION

Sealed bids, in duplicate, will be received by the Superintendent, Western Washington Indian Agency, Everett, Washington, at 1:00 p.m., Pacific Standard Time, March 7, 1961, for the purchase of timber on a tract within the Makah Indian Reservation designated as the Makah Peaks Logging Unit, and consisting of four blocks of virgin timber located in Sections 33 and 34, Township 33 North, Range 15 West, and in Sections 2, 3, 4, 5, 9, 10 and 11, Township 32 North, Range 15 West, Willamette Meridian, Washington, containing approximately 1,267 acres. This unit contains an estimated volume of timber to be cut of 27,010,000 board feet of western hemlock, 6,430,000 board feet of Pacific silver fir; 7,770,000 board feet of western redcedar; and 800,000 board feet of Sitka spruce, which estimates are not guaranteed. Each bidder must state the price per thousand feet, B.M., Scribner Decimal C Log Scale that will be paid for timber cut and no bid will be considered for less than $7.00 per M feet, B.M. for western hemlock; $8.70 per M feet, B.M. for Pacific silver fir; $7.25 per M feet, B.M. for western redcedar; and $6.40 per M feet, B.M. for Sitka spruce and other species. A deposit in the form of either a certified check, cashier's check, bank draft or postal money order, drawn payable to the Bureau of Indian Affairs, or in cash, in the amount of Twelve Thousand Five Hundred Dollars ($12,500.00) must accompany each bid. Persons bidding for or on behalf of companies, corporations or partnerships must submit conclusive evidence, in writing with their bid, of their authority to do so. The deposit of the apparent high bidder and of others who wish to have their bids considered for acceptance, will be retained pending acceptance or rejection of the bids by the Commissioner of Indian Affairs. All other deposits will be returned following the opening and posting of bids. The deposit of the successful bidder will be applied as part of the purchase price against the timber cut on this unit only, or retained as liquidated damages if the bidder fails to execute the contract and furnish a satisfactory bond in the amount of Twenty-Five Thousand Dollars ($25,000.00) within thirty (30) days from acceptance of his bid. The contract will specify that all designated timber shall be cut, paid for, and removed from the unit on or before December 31, 1963, and will also specify that logs cut under the contract shall be scaled in accordance with Puget Sound Log Scaling and Grading Rules. Scaling will be performed by Indian Bureau scalers unless arrangements mutually satisfactory to both parties to the contract can be made for scaling by the Puget Sound Scaling and Grading Bureau. In the event of scaling by the Puget Sound Bureau, the cost of scaling will be borne by the purchaser. The contract will also provide that by mutual agreement between the purchaser and the seller, and with the approval of the Approving Officer, the logs produced under this contract may be measured by weight in lieu of Scribner Decimal C Log Scale upon establishment of acceptable procedures for conversion of weight to board measure. The purchaser may elect to construct log boom facilities at Neah Bay on a site to be provided by the Makah Tribe, such log boom to be constructed in accordance with the plans and specifications which are on file with the Bureau of Indian Affairs. In such case, the purchaser will be required to construct and/or improve approximately 750 feet of access road over a designated route to reach the dump site. Each bidder must state in his proposal that he will or will not construct the log boom facility. In the event that he elects to construct the log boom facility, he will be credited an amount of $2.00 per M feet, B.M., against the timber removed under this contract, up to the total cost of construction of such facility, including the cost of 750 feet of access road to the boom site, but in no event will the credit against such costs exceed $80,000.00. The purchaser will provide a certified statement of the cost of such construction prepared by a Certified Public Accountant. The contract will also provide that rock and ballast material required for road construction and maintenance and for construction of a booming facility, if constructed, will be made available by the seller without charge to the purchaser, the location of quarry sites and borrow pits to be acceptable to the seller. The contract will provide further that at least three (3) million board feet of timber must be cut and paid for by December 31, 1961, and not less than twenty-three (23) million feet before December 31, 1962. It will also specify that Section corners and Reservation boundary lines shall be left clearly marked at the completion of the contract. The contract will further provide for all improvements made, such as roads, log booming facilities, etc., to become the property of the seller when the contract expires. The purchaser may use Indian Bureau roads and the private logging road of Crown Zellerbach Corporation. Use of approximately 1½ miles of the private road will be necessary to remove the timber from one portion of the sale area. Timber from the major portion of the sale area will have to be transported over an existing Indian Bureau road to a point of intersection with the private logging road approximately five (5) miles from Neah Bay. From this point of intersection to Neah Bay, the purchaser may use either the Bureau or the private road. Use of the private road will be subject to conditions stipulated by Crown Zellerbach Corporation in an agreement on file with the Bureau of Indian Affairs. Bid forms for submission of bids and full information concerning the timber, the conditions of sale, and the submission of bids should be obtained from the Superintendent, Western Washington Indian Agency, 1620 Hewitt Avenue, Everett, Washington; or his representatives at Neah Bay Sub-Agency, Neah Bay, Washington, and Hoquiam Sub-Agency, Room 206, Post Office Building, Hoquiam, Washington; from the Area Director, Bureau of Indian Affairs, Portland Area Office, P.O. Box 4097, Portland 8, Oregon; or the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, Washington 25, D.C. Dated this 22nd day of December, 1960, at Washington, D.C., Glenn L. Emmons, Commissioner.

Teams battle for Big Five hoop top spot

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

UCLA challenges Southern California for the basketball lead of the Big Five conference Friday and Saturday nights in the Los Angeles Sports Arena.

A pair of victories would put the Uclans ahead of the Trojans who go into the crucial series with a 4-0 conference record.

Coach John Wooden's UCLA quintet is 2-1 in the conference, the same record held by Stanford's surprising Indians who meet Washington at Seattle Friday night. The Huskies of Washington have a disappointing 2-4 mark to date.

California, the fifth team in the loop, currently is playing a series in Hawaii.

On Saturday night, Stanford plays a non-conference game against Washington State. Regardless of the USC-UCLA series outcome, the Indians cannot take first place this weekend.

The Trojans rate eighth in the nation in The Associated Press poll with a 14-2 overall record. UCLA is in the 13th spot with a 12-3. The Uclans' only loss in the Big Five was to Washington in the first of a two-game series at Seattle. They squared accounts with the Huskies the second night.

California, the league champions for the 1959-60 season, has yet to win a league game with the Bears' next outing against Washington at Seattle on Feb. 10.

Toronto beats Red Wings in hockey game

Toronto shut out the Detroit Red Wings 5-0 but the Maple Leafs still were tied today with the Montreal Canadiens for first place in the National Hockey League.

The Canadians got two goals each from Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion, Dickie Moore and Claude Provos Thursday night as they free-wheeled to a 7-5 win over the New York Rangers.

It marked the first appearance of Geoffrion, the league's leading point getter, since he was injured Jan. 14.

In the other NHL action, Ron Murphy got both goals for Chicago as the Black Hawks battled the Boston Bruins to a 2-2 tie.

Starters

Roughriders host Kitsap team tonight

Port Angeles high hosts Central Kitsap tonight in a contest that may be crucial in the West Central AA race for a berth in the state class A state tournament next March in Seattle.

The defending Olympic league champions notched a 40-30 win over the Big Green in the first meeting of the two teams and the Roughriders are looking for a score reversal in tonight's fray.

Coach Jack Elway is expected to go with John Holmberg and Bruce Paynter at forwards, Gary Moore at center, and Bucky O'Conner and Brooke Taylor at the guards.

Ken Lund, CK mentor will probably counter with Gordon Stenerson and Dick Callison at forwards, Jim Keenan at center, and Bob Turner and Ed Ward at the guards.

Game time is 8 o'clock with the preliminary scheduled for 6:30.

Radio KONP will broadcast the game starting at 7:55.

Tight scoring race is on

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The tightest scoring race in NCAA small college basketball annals has the three top scorers, led by John Bradley of Lawrence Tech, separated by just seven-tenths of a point.

In addition three other shotmakers are within close range of the pacesetters through games of Saturday, Jan. 28, according to the latest figures released today by the NCAA Service Bureau.

Bradley has a 32.9 average on 527 points in 16 games followed by Gene Velloff, of Doane, 32.5 on 422 points in 13 games and Lebron Bell of Bryan (Tenn.) with 32.2 on 386 points in 12 games.

Not far behind the top three are three other 30 points-plus contenders in Lindberg Moody, of South Carolina State, 30.9; Warren Spraggins of Virginia Union, 30.3 and Donnis Butcher of Pikeville, 30.1.

Clallam County YMCA granted eligibility certificate for sports

A tribute to the work of the Clallam County Young Men's Christian Association developed this week through the award of the 1961-1962-1963 Eligibility Certificate granted by the National Council of YMCAs through the National Physical Education Committee. The certificate is "recognition of the Clallam County's YMCA's policies, plans, and organization in physical education and acknowledgement of its excellent accomplishment in this field."

Only those YMCA's holding eligibility certificates are permitted under the principles and rules of the National Council of the YMCA to participate in certain types of inter-association athletic competition. However, the certificate is an honor award, showing that the YMCA adheres to specified high purposes and ideals, and follows standards of performance and accomplishment in keeping with the YMCA's objectives, according to John Siemens, board president.

"The certificate is awarded every three years, going only to those associations which merit and earn it and upon recommendation of the area state physical education committee. To receive the certificate is an indication that the association meets the qualifications determined by the National Physical Education Committee.

"While the eligibility certificate signifies that the Port Angeles YMCA is now qualified to enter its registered amateur athletes in official sports competition with other YMCAs, the recognition also means that it is performing a recognized service in the community in helping to develop good citizenship based upon christian principles," Siemens concluded.

Coaches argue about ability of Chamberlain

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Coach Charley Wolf of the Cincinnati Royals today voiced disagreement with Coach Paul Seymour of St. Louis who had said that 7-foot-1 Wilt Chamberlain has nothing going for him but his height.

"Just because he's 7-1 doesn't make him a good player," Wolf said of the Philadelphia star after he had scored 45 points Thursday night to lead the Warriors to a 133-118 National Basketball Association victory over Cincinnati. Jack Twyman, with 25 points, and Oscar Robertson with 24, were high for Cincinnati.

"Swede Halbrook (of Syracuse) is 7-3 but he can't get the things done Chamberlain does," said Wolf. "The fact that Chamberlain is 7-1 and has ability makes him much greater."

The fourth-place Royals' loss in the nightcap of a Convention Hall doubleheader hurt their Western Division playoff chances. The loss left them two games behind Los Angeles which defeated first-place St. Louis 116-115 in the opening game on Frank Selvy's foul shot in the last five seconds.

There were no other games.

Pairs matched for golf meet

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Willie Turnesa, White Plains, N.Y., veteran amateur, and Mrs. John Fitton of Hamilton, Ohio meet Dick Chapman of Palm Beach and Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore today in a semifinal of the National Mixed Foursomes Golf Tournament.

In the other contest for a title round berth, William Hyndman of Philadelphia and Barbara Williams of Richmond, Calif., oppose Dr. William Graves and Jean Dobbin of Miami Beach.

Turnesa and Mrs. Fitton bobbed into late contention by upsetting the favorites, National amateur champion Deane Beman and Mrs. Ann Casey Johnstone, 1-up.

Old-time great baseball players staging charity game Saturday

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Former major league greats get back into uniform again here Saturday for the fourth annual old-timers baseball game.

The charity contest (March of Dimes) involves squads made up of American and National League players, most of them retired but a few who will be reporting to spring training later this month.

Al Lopez, manager of the Chicago White Sox, will pilot the American League squad. It includes such former stars as Johnny Mize of the St. Louis Cardinals and New York Yankees; Heinie Manush of the Washington Senators, St. Louis Browns and Detroit Tigers; and Spud Chandler of the Yankee pitching staff.

Matching strategy with Lopez will be Zack Taylor, former manager of the Browns. He will have Paul Waner, three-time batting champion from Pittsburgh; Ed Rousa, batting champion for Cincinnati in 1917-18; and pitchers Max Lanier of the Cards and Rip Sewell of Pittsburgh.

College team will play in champ tourney

NEW YORK (AP) — St. Bonaventure, the nation's second-ranked college basketball team, today accepted an invitation to play as an at-large team in the postseason National Collegiate Athletic Association championship tournament.

It was the earliest acceptance ever for the 24-team tournament, which begins in mid-March.

The announcement was made by Red Brown, athletic director of West Virginia University and chairman of the NCAA Eastern Selection Committee, through the National Collegiate Service Bureau here.

Bonnie officials, taking time out from celebrating St. Bonaventure's 75-61 whipping of third-ranked Bradley at Madison Square Garden Thursday night for its 16th victory in 17 games, expressed delight at the opportunity to play in the NCAA for the first time.

Teddies defeat Wolfcubs 31-15 in hoop game

In a tight, low scoring defensive contest, Roosevelt's Teddies nicked the Sequim Wolfpups, 31-15, at Sequim Thursday.

It was the 19th consecutive win for the Teds.

Sequim stayed hot on the trail of the visitors until the final quarter when giant pivot man Mike Schade left the contest on five personals.

Bob Hagerty and Dave Denny paced the Teds. Ron Swanson twined seven for the losers.

Roosevelt's Teddy Bears with Bob Bond hitting for 11 topped the Sequim eighth graders, 46-11. Ron Smith tallied four for the Sequim five and Charles Blake aided Smith with a tellar floor game.

Coach Larry Reid's undefeated seventh grade five nicked the Sequim seventh, 45-31, in the old Sequim gym. Leroy Sinnes hit 16 for the winners and Greg Kushman scored 17 for the losers.

Obituaries

MRS. ELLEN CHARLES

Mrs. Ellen Charles, 64, of Rt. 3, Port Angeles, died Thursday after an extended illness.

Funeral services will be held at the Harper Funeral Home Saturday at 1 p.m. with the Rev. Edward Brothers officiating. Burial will be in The Place Cemetery in the lower Elwha Valley.

Mrs. Charles was born on a San Juan Island Sept. 11, 1896. She lived in the State of Washington all her life. Her husband, Wilson Charles died here some years ago.

Surviving relatives include four daughters, Mrs. Josephine Williams, Mrs. Lorraine Doebbler, and Miss Vera Charles, all of Port Angeles and Mrs. June Haslam, Seattle; four sons, Gilbert, William, Ralph and Vern Charles, all of Port Angeles; four brothers, Joseph, Bennett and Alex Thomas, all of Victoria and Norbit Thomas, Tacoma; five sisters, Mrs. Marian Williams and Mrs. Rosilia Charles both of Tacoma; Mrs. Etta Quintasket, Spokane, Mrs. Madeline Leszke and Mrs. Mildred Modestia, both of Victoria; thirty-four grandchildren and one great grandchild.

MRS. GALEN C. CRALL

Mrs. Margaret Crall, 42, former Port Angeles resident, died in Tacoma Wednesday after a long illness.

Funeral services will be held in Tacoma at the Piper Funeral Home at 1 p.m. Monday.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Allen, born in Port Angeles Jan. 20, 1919. She graduated from high school here in 1936 and married Galen C. Crall Jan. 23, 1937.

The family lived here several years before moving to Tacoma and have since lived there and in Seattle. Five years ago the family moved to Eatonville where they lived since.

Surviving relatives include her husband Galen C. Crall, Eatonville; three daughters, Mrs. Darlene Smith and Mrs. Paul Drivas, both of Seattle, and Geraldine Crall, Eatonville; a sister, Mrs. Lee Eggleson, Crescent City, Calif., and two grandchildren.

Blood drive set for Monday at local hospital

Olympic Memorial Hospital is accepting blood from donors Monday, from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. The blood is to build up a blood account for Clallam County to be used to establish a blood account in King County for Clallam County residents in King County hospitals.

Custodians of the blood bank announced that it is vital to get at least 50 blood donors.

Transportation for donors may be obtained through the Junior Chamber of Commerce. They may arrange for that service by calling Station KONP, telephone 7-4200 and registering their name and address.

Jaycee officials explain the blood obtained during the present drive will be used to establish a blood account in King County that will be available only to Clallam County residents who are in King County hospitals. As the blood is used it may be replenished by donations at Olympic Memorial Hospital. A Clallam County blood bank available only to Clallam County citizens in King County hospitals would mean they need not pay for the blood or arrange for blood donors in King County.

Government orders 30 more Boeing jet transports

SEATTLE (AP) — The government has an order in for a two-a-month delivery of 30 Boeing Airplane Co. C135 jet transports, to aid the nation's military buildup.

Delivery is to start about July 1 and the order also includes 23 Lockheed C130 jet turbine-propeller planes, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara announced at his first news conference at Washington, D. C., Thursday. He estimated the 53 planes' total cost at $170 million.

The cost of the Boeing order was estimated at Washington by Sens. Warren G. Magnuson and Henry M. Jackson at $89 million.

Ten of the C135s, which are cargo versions of the KC135 jet tanker-transports, are to be delivered between June and October, and 20 more by July 1962, the senators messaged. They are to be built at the Renton plant, south of here.

"These," McNamara said, "will improve our airlift capability by providing MATS (Military Air Transport Service) with 30 modern jet aircraft beginning more than four years before our presently planned new jet transport, not yet developed, would be ready for squadron use sometime in 1965."

The production rate of KC135s at Renton is now six a month, Boeing sources said. The new order increases to 594 the number of KC135 types sold.

McNamara said the C135 delivery will be accomplished by diverting, and later replacing in production, KC135s redesigned into transport versions.

Port Angeles Reflections

FORTY YEARS AGO FEB. 3

With the starting of wire communications between Port Angeles and Pysht, word was received from a reliable source that approximately fifteen million feet of Merrill and Ring standing timber had been felled by Saturday's gales which swept that locality for two hours.

Logging men declare that although this timber is down a portion of it can still be logged, and logging operations may open up earlier due to the fact that the timber is in its present condition.

The city commission yesterday passed an ordinance regulating the preservation of the public peace, making strict provisions regarding minors in pool rooms and disobeying curfew restrictions.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

One of the biggest business and industrial transactions in recent years was completed here last week when Richard and Fred Owens purchased the interests of E. R. Nichols in the Angeles Gravel and Supply Company, a large operating building material firm on Railroad Avenue. Dick Owens will be manager of the plant and J. H. Scanlon will remain as sales manager.

Perfect skating weather, a long awaited boon for Port Angeles, made Lake Dawn, at the foot of Mt. Angeles, a mecca for 600 to 650 people yesterday. Oscar Nelson at Heart o' the Hills had registered 550 by late afternoon and estimated 200 to 300 cars made the trip.

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY

H. O. Boyd, district deputy grand patriarch, installed local officers at the Mt. Angeles Encampment 88, meeting in IOOF Hall. Installed were Ralph Stevens, chief patriarch; Ernest Middleton, senior warden; Russell Oliver, junior warden; Roy Atterberry, high priest; E. O. Brown, scribe and Paul Hopf, treasurer.

Controls on the use of plywood in less essential products may be necessary in the near future to assure that military and highly essential civilian needs are met.

GI insurance dividends early this month

SEATTLE (AP) — Washington's 81,000 war veterans will get their estimated $4,128,000 in annual dividends on their GI insurance months earlier than usual.

The figures were disclosed by L. H. Hall, regional Veterans Administration manager, Thursday. He said they hold a total of 89,000 such policies.

President Kennedy's speed-up order, Hall said, means most of the payments will be made by the "end of the winter," with the last ones no later than June 30.

The payments are usually made on the anniversary date of each policy and thus spread throughout the year.
