Moves another step toward library project

With the approval of the City Planning Commission's recommendation for remodeling the city library by the addition of a wing to the west, the City Council Thursday night moved one step closer to beginning construction of the $100,000 project.

All that remains is adoption of the 1962 budget alloting $122,000 for the construction and furnishing of the addition.

Following this action, the way would be open for work on the project to get underway, with the wing expected to be completed within the year.

IN COMMENTING on the planning commission's proposal that the city undertake the job of remodeling the library on its own, Mayor James E. Maxfield expressed the view that the resulting facilities and service to the community would be virtually the same, regardless if it were a joint effort with the county library or not.

"The two libraries serve two different groups," Maxfield said, "and combining facilities would not result in much better service or savings than will be provided by the city remodeling the library itself."

MAXFIELD EXPLAINED that in considering a merger of the two libraries under a regional board, abandoning of either one's building was never considered. This would mean that no saving were to be expected by putting both operations under one roof, and dispensing with one library building.

Maxfield also pointed out that the staff and number of books would remain about the same under a merger.

City Manager M. W. Slankard, in reporting to the Council, expressed the opinion that a merger would not result in any saving of money, and that a county resident could always use the improved city library.

IN REGARDS to a proposal from Olympic National Park headquarters to changing the name of Race St. the Council's reaction was summed up in Councilman Nathan G. Richardson's comment, "Negative!"

The park had suggested changing Race St. to Hurricane Ridge St. and, to the south, changing the Mt. Angeles Road to Hurricane Ridge Road, as an aid to tourists headed to the ridge area.

Signs reading "to Hurricane Ridge" to be put up on street-sign poles along the street were suggested by the Council, as an alternate to disrupting the addresses of many of the city's residents.

UNDER THIS arrangement, the Council was agreeable to having direction signs installed by city crews, if the park would supply them.

The matter was referred to the city manager for further discussion with park officials.

The Council also resolved to purchase 130 lots owned by the county, on which the city has Local Improvement District assessments.

THERE WILL be no water billing in August or September for some 80 users that draw their water from the city's main line from Morse Creek.

Councilman James G. Caldwell reported to the Council that people on the line have had no water for 15 of the last 30 days, due to shutting down the pipe for construction of the new water line being laid beside it.

It was pointed out by Slankard that there had been many times through the summer that residents of the area have gone without water, but have been paying their full bill. On this basis, and with the water picture for the area remaining about the same for September, according to Slankard, the Council suspended the bills for two months.

Car display set for fair

Thursday, Clallam County Fair Director Ed Hagerty announced a new addition to this year's fair, Aug. 25, 26 and 27. A group of antique, classic and special interest cars will be displayed in the Machinery building.

Hagerty said, "The display, which is being organized by Sandy Keys, should be of particular interest because they are all local area cars."

"There will be a 1930 Model A, a 1917 Model T, a 1924 Dodge coupe, a 1926 Model T coupe, a 1932 Cadillac V-12, a 1922 Model T, a 1957 Thunderbird, a 1956 Continental Mark II, a 1949 Corvette, a 1949 Lincoln Continental Mark I, a 1932 Stutz and the fire department's 1909 Buick on display," said Hagerty.

Hagerty also announced the grandstand show acts he has lined up. There will be two shows daily. One in the afternoon and the other in the evening. Hagerty said Henri French, who does a bicycle and unicycle act and is a magician, will be master of ceremonies.

"There will be a trapeze act, the Flying Hartzells; a balancing act, Ursula and Gus; the Fly Bar Trio, who perform on the bars; and a clown act," said Hagerty. He also said there would be horse races for both saddle and thoroughbred horses. Bernie and Pinky Stephens will furnish the background music for all the acts.

The kids will have their day on Friday, Aug. 25, and the fair queen will be crowned that night.

Hagerty said Western Shows is supplying the amusements for the midway.

Fire inspector to make intensive city check

For the next two and one-half weeks Port Angeles will undergo an extensive inspection to determine how it stacks up as a fire risk.

In that time Larry Leonard, fire protection engineer for the Washington Survey and Rating Bureau, of Seattle, will investigate the city's water supply, police department, enforcement of building codes, structural condition of the downtown area's buildings, as well as give the fire department a complete going over.

It's all for the city's good, Leonard says, explaining, that the city will have the investigator's recommendations to consider and use as they see fit.

THE ULTIMATE outcome of the inspection is to classify the city according to its fire defenses and physical conditions.

At present Port Angeles is a class five city, which is about normal for a community of this size, Fire Chief Kenneth Cameron explained. There are 10 grades of cities, with 10 representing an area with no fire protection and one equal to a city theoretically perfect as far as its fire protection is concerned. Seattle is in class two.

The bureau is supported by fire insurance companies, with its findings used in determining insurance rates. It is not state supported.

PORT ANGELES improved from a class six to a class five city after an inspection in 1940. It has not been inspected by the bureau since April 1947.

Leonard noted many improvements in the community since that time, but pointed out that this does not necessarily indicate an uprating in classification, as the city has also grown a great deal with the resulting requirements that much greater.

Cameron commented that it requires a great deal of fire protection improvement just to stay at the same level in an expanding city.

THOUGH MUCH of the extensive inspection will be carried on unnoticed behind the scenes, the public may notice firemen letting the water pour from some fire hydrants throughout the city, as flow tests are made.

These tests will be made on some 20 hydrants to check the pressure and determine the amount of water available at that point.

At least two fire engines will be put through their paces to check them out as a part of the inspection also. This is expected to be done at the Peabody Heights reservoir.

RELATIONS STEP

TOKYO (AP) — Brazil's Vice President Joao Goulart indicated today his visit to Red China is a step toward diplomatic relations with the Peiping regime.

Setting out from Peiping on a Chinese tour, Goulart said Brazil will maintain "an independent foreign policy to establish relations with people of various countries irrespective of different ideologies."

Mill ruling up to hearing

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The head of the Washington Pollution Control Commission says it's up to officials who will conduct hearings to decide whether pulp mills will comply with new directives to control pollution.

Commission Director Wallace W. Bergerson made the statement Thursday in Spokane in reply to criticism of the directives by Lawson Turcotte, chief of the Northwest Pulp and Paper Association.

Turcotte complained about an order directing 10 mills to install waste discharge facilities by Nov. 24, 1963 to remove 85 per cent of polluting material. He said it would cost each mill $10 million.

Bergerson said the commission could not agree.

"The directives of the commission to the 10 pulp mills involved in the upcoming dispute will not cost $10 million for each mill . . . The view of the commission merely asks the pulp mills to provide reasonable waste treatment facilities.

"Whether the commission's request for compliance with state law will prevail, or whether the pulp mills' objections to such requests will be upheld is a matter now for the hearings to decide."

Bergerson said nine of the mills have asked hearings on the new directives.

Park fires worsen

"Sleeper fires and worsening fire conditions have made the fire situation in Olympic National Park look bad," Chief Ranger Stanley McComas said Friday.

McComas said that there are about 50 men engaged in fire fighting with about 40 actually on the fire lines.

"We've had a total of 24 fires this week and have managed to put out seven of them," said McComas. All but one are in the southeastern section. The other is on the upper Elwha.

All of these fires have been started by electrical storms.

CONSECUTIVE SENTENCE

OLYMPIA (AP) — A person who commits a second felony while under a suspended sentence for another crime is subject to imposition of consecutive sentences, State Atty. Gen. John J. O'Connell said Friday.

In an opinion issued for Harris Hunter, chairman of the Board of Prison Terms and Paroles, O'Connell said that in such cases the first sentence would begin on the date the court revokes the suspended sentence. The sentence

Senate nays aid veto

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate today turned down a proposal to give Congress a veto over all foreign aid grants for development assistance projects abroad amounting to more than $5 million.

It rejected an amendment by Sen. Winston L. Prouty, R-Vt., to apply to such gifts the same curbs it had previously voted for economic development loans above $5 million.

Under the Treasury-financed five-year development loan program, the Senate had voted into the foreign aid bill a requirement that each proposed loan be submitted to four congressional committees 30 days in advance.

Any one of these committees would be empowered to propose a concurrent solution under which a majority of the Senate and House could stop any loan to which Congress objected.

Prout's amendment to apply the same oversight to grants of assistance was rejected by an announced vote of 59-30.

Leaders were aiming at Senate passage by tonight of a foreign aid bill generally satisfactory to President Kennedy.

Crewmen quit Cuba

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Eleven crewmen of a Cuban freighter bound for the Soviet Union were brought ashore today after dropping anchor off Cape Henry and requesting political asylum in the United States. Crewmen said force was used in diverting the ship.

The State Department indicated in Washington the 11 defectors from the 34-man crew of the sugar-laden Bahia de Nipe would be allowed to remain in this country. The 11 included the captain and four other top officers.

NOT HELD

The State Department advised the Fidel Castro government through the Swiss Embassy that it could reclaim the ship.

The 3,800-ton ship radioed Thursday she was headed for Norfolk. In the late afternoon she anchored in Chesapeake Bay. A Coast Guard cutter removed the defectors after they were questioned by immigration officials, leaving the other 23 crew members under the surveillance of another cutter.

A government official who talked with the men said he was told guns were brandished—but no actual shots were fired—aboard the Bahia de Nipe before she dropped anchor. The official, who asked to remain unnamed, said there was no other violence.

PUT ASHORE

After the men were put ashore and headed for the transient barracks at the naval station one of the Cuban seamen appeared to go berserk. He broke away from the group and led officers on a two-block chase before he was caught.

The man, identified as Ramon Tocorante, 41, was taken to a U.S. Public Health Service hospital for observation.

Since the freighter's top officers were among those seeking asylum, it was assumed new officers would be sent from Cuba to take her on her way.

The Bahia de Nipe is owned by the Cuban government and operated by the Vacuba Shipping line. The 323-foot vessel was built by Consolidated Steel Corp. of Wilmington, Calif., in 1945 and named the Coastal Charger. She was renamed in 1948 after her transfer to Cuban registry.

Brighter look

For as long as residents can remember the Episcopal Church on Peabody St. has been painted tan with dark brown shingle trim. This was in keeping with its period look.

Now, quite suddenly, it is all a light gray which shows off the handsome stained glass windows to advantage.

In fact the new gray paint seems to knock decades off the age of the building.

What amazing things paint can do!

To represent president in talks with leaders

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House announced today that Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson will fly to Berlin as personal representative of President Kennedy for meetings with West German leaders.

Johnson expects to leave from Andrews Air Force Base just outside Washington at about 9 p.m. tonight in Kennedy's Air Force jet.

The vice president will be accompanied by retired Gen. Lucius Clay, who was U.S. military commander in Germany at the time of the 1949 airlift.

REPORTED EARLIER

Kennedy's decision to send Johnson to Europe had been reported earlier. Sources described it as a move to demonstrate to West Germans that the U.S. government is vitally interested in their security.

Johnson will meet with both West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt.

"He will deliver to Mayor Brandt a message in answer to the one dispatched by the mayor to the President," the White House announced.

Brandt sent Kennedy a lengthy message early this week, demanding that the West take political as well as verbal action over the Communist closing of the border East Berlin and West Berlin.

NOT MADE PUBLIC

The full content of Brandt's letter, said to have run some 1,000 words, has not been made public.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger, in connection with Johnson's mission, said Kennedy felt it would be important at this time that a high government official "go to Germany and have an on the spot look at the situation."

How long Johnson and Clay will remain in Germany is uncertain. They will fly first either to West Berlin or to Bonn, the West German capital, depending on where Adenauer is when they arrive Saturday.

Reds throw up brick wall to halt escapes

By JOHN FIEHN

BERLIN (AP) —East Germany's Communist rulers, miffed at the continued flight of a few refugees, began throwing up a brick wall inside East Berlin today to reinforce their barbed wire barricades.

Red guards shot up a heavy truck that three refugees rammed through the wire in the night. West Berlin police reported. But the men reached the haven of West Berlin unhurt. One bullet went into a house wall on the Western side.

FOR ARMY

With East Germany recruiting youths to swell its 110,000-man army, West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer told a special session of his lower house in Bonn that West Germany will step up its military preparedness within the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

He gave no details. He promised cooperation with the Western Allies to get East-West negotiations started.

JOIN FORCES

Adenauer and West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt joined at the session, called to consider the Berlin crisis, in attacking the Communist actions here as a violation of human rights.

Qualified diplomats in London said the United States, Britain and France were considering a token increase of their garrisons in West Berlin, now totaling about 11,000 troops. A British official said "Britain almost certainly will support and follow any lead set by the United States on this question."

HIGH LEVEL TALKS

A Western proposal to the Soviet Union for high-level talks on the future of Germany and Berlin appeared in the making.

Reliable sources in London said the United States, Britain and France are drafting new messages, probably to be dispatched to the Kremlin next week, that could lead to meetings of East-West foreign ministers or chiefs of state.

WILLING TO TALK

The messages would reply to Russian notes of Aug. 3 expressing willingness for negotiations aimed at concluding a German peace treaty. The Western Big Three, however, were reported as determined as ever to reject Premier Khrushchev's demands that West Berlin be made a disarmed neutral city and that peace treaties be signed with East and West Germany as separate states.

UGN 'loaned executive' to begin in Sequim area

Donald Lusk, 1962 drive chairman of the United Good Neighbors of Clallam County announced today that Boyd R. Grant, office manager at Rayonier, Incorporated, Port Angeles, has been apopinted as a "loaned executive" for the 1962 UGN drive, by Resident Manager John B. Gray.

Grant has served as commissioner of the hospital district for seven years and as chairman of the board for six years. He is a past exalted ruler of the Elks Lodge. He has served as trustee on Washington State Elks Association and has recently been appointed as district deputy grand exalted ruler of Washington West Central District.

Boyd Grant

GRANT HAS lived most of his life in Sequim and was educated in the Sequim schools. He took his business college training in California. Besides his Elks activities he is actively interested in the Methodist Church in Sequim.

The Grant family includes Mrs. Grant, Larry, who is attending Washington State University and Kathy, who will be in Sequim Junior High School where the family resides.

"THE LOANED executive program is perhaps the most significant innovation that the Clallam County UGN has adopted," Lusk states.

"Civic minded firms appoint an executive to work with the UGN for a specified length of time.

They report to UGN headquarters each morning and make calls for the UGN instead of reporting to their respective offices. Each loaned executive will make as many calls in a day as five volunteers. "Loaned executives from other industries and businesses ar being made available to the UGN," he explained.

"This program is another example of fine cooperation in civic affairs that these firms have shown in the past, and they are to be commended for taking such a forward step in selfless community service."

Council gets $3 million budget

The preliminary municipal budget for the coming year, drafted within the estimated income for 1962, is in the hands of the City Council.

The budget calls for a direct taxation of 17.007 mills, which would provide about $314,000 income, based on the city's assessed valuation of $19,100,000. This is an increase of $600,000 over last year due to the newly annexed area.

Of the 17.007 mills, 2.007 mills are for payment for the 1953 general obligation bonds which financed the truck route, with the remainder of that money going to pay the interest on the new municipal swimming pool bonds.

THE LION'S share of the remaining 15 mills, which is actually available for running the city, goes to the street and park departments. A total of nearly 8.5 mills or about one-half the money received from direct taxation is used to run these two departments.

The library construction fund follows with 3.175 mills or $60,642. This sum will be added to the $62,000 cumulative fund that has been set aside to rebuild the city library in past years. The total would provide $100,000 for the new library wing, and leave $22,642 for furnishings.

IN EXPLAINING how the city would have the funds available for the library project, City Manager M. W. Slankard pointed out that a similar sum was spent last year for the parking lot to the west of the city police station ($29,336), new lighting in the parks ($21,300) and the revolving firemen's pension fund, for which no additional tax moneys were found to be necessary in 1962 ($19,000).

The remainder of the income from direct taxation is broken into smaller funds such as arterial gasoline tax fund, operating library and Ocean View Cemetery funds.

THE TAX RATE, set this year at 17.007 mills by the preliminary budget, is figured at that millage per $1 for one-fifth the valuation of the property taxed.

In addition to the income from direct taxation, the budget provides for an estimated $232,628 income from the state, through its share of gasoline taxes, liquor profits and taxes and automobile excise tax. This amounts to about $15.68 per resident of the city, and is based on the new population figure for Port Angeles of 14,836.

THE REMAINDER of the city's income is derived from the regular sources such as profit of the water and light departments, various taxes and police court fines.

It provides a total municipal expenditure of about $3,460,153.

This income would be down $75,000 due to a reduction in electrical rates if the present budget is adopted. Suggested lower rates will be available in the future, but the city manager in his report to the Council proposed a lowering of rates next year if the wholesale Bonneville power rate to the city is not increased.

The preliminary budget which was drawn up after the Council had considered department requests can be altered as councilmen see fit.

IN ACCEPTING it Mayor James E. Maxfield requested that any changes be made by the middle of September when the Council expects to hold another budget meeting prior to drawing up the budget to be submitted for the final hearing on Oct. 2.

Requests for pay raises for city employes went virtually unheeded in the budget the Council received Thursday night. Of the 110 city employes only seven received salary adjustments, all of which were minor.

SLANKARD REPORTS that city employes are paid on a level which is average for all classes of cities in Washington.

The budget anticipates a cash balance of $163,985 in the water line construction bond fund. The seven-mile line is to be completed in 1961. The city manager's report indicates that this sum would provide main feeder lines to increase water pressure above the Boulevard.

'Back to school' dinner planned

Sequim Parent-Teachers Assn. and the Sequim Education Association are jointly sponsoring a "Back to School" dinner at the multi-purpose room of the Elementary Building, Thursday, Aug. 31. The leaders of various organizations in the Sequim school district are invited to meet the school personnel of the 1961-62 school year. The committee regrets that the limited facilities prevents making this meeting open to the public.

"Kick Off" dinners such as this have become popular throughout the state before each new school year. They provide new staff members a quick orientation to their community and give organizations an opportunity to present their programs to all school people. The underlying purpose is providing early acquaintanceship and the promotion of goodwill and understanding.

M. C. Strauss was elected general chairman of this "Back to School" at a joint planning committee meeting Aug. 8. Mrs. Donald Swanson, president of Sequim P.T.A. and Mrs. Edwin Heath, immediate past president, are co-chairmen of the food and serving committee. Margaret Tout, of the Sequim Teachers Association, is chairman of the hospitality committee, which also includes Mrs. Ray Scott and Mrs. Russell Adams.

No formal program is planned other than introducing personnel and a short talk by Llewellyn O. Griffith, administrative consultant from the office of the state superintendent of public instruction.

Glenda Dickinson feted at shower

Mrs. W. H. Wheeler was assisted by her daughter-in-law Mrs. Barry Wheeler when she entertained at a shower honoring Miss Glenda Dickinson at her home Thursday evening.

White summer flowers with accents of yellow decorated the rooms. Centering the gift table was a 50-year-old bride doll in original dress with a veil of illusion lace, and a bride's bouquet.

Games were played with prizes going to Mmes. Seymour Howard, Joe Roberson, Don Rosbach and F. M. Schnuriger.

Other guests were Mmes. Clyde Towne, Darle Whitney, Bruce Fernie, James Schreiner, Elliott Clark, Walter Chambers, Vera Tate and the bride-elect's mother Mrs. George Hartman.

Miss Dickinson opened many lovely gifts for her personal use.

Among the refreshments served was a cake in double heart design.

Miss Dickinson and Robert Clark will be married at Trinity Methodist Church on Saturday.

HONG KONG (AP) — The current cholera epidemic in South China has brought a revival of Peiping's Korean War charge of germ warfare by the United States, the South China Morning Post reported today.

The epidemic reportedly has been raging in southeast Kwantung province. The English-language newspaper, quoting a recent arrival from the mainland, said deaths were estimated at 30,000.

The traveler said Communist officials at mass meetings in South China accused "agents of the American bacteriological warfare bureau of plotting the cholera epidemic."

SHE'S OPEN — A state highway's truck crashes through a paper curtain painting of the Rhododendron ferry, which formerly was on the Lofall-South Point run, to lead the official caravan across the Hood Canal Floating Bridge. A fleet of "horseless carriages" bearing state officials then proceeded to make a tour of the structure. (Evening News Photo).

CONTROL TOWERS — Members of the Port Angeles caravan to the bridge dedication ceremonies Saturday thought they were doing well until they hit the bridge. They moved across the span at a stop and go pace. Here they waited near the control towers of the draw span in the middle of the bridge for the next traffic move. (Evening News Photo.)

Paper curtain, ribbon go in bridge opening

(From Evening News Aug. 13)

A bright State Highway truck smashed through a paper curtain stretched across the road at the toll plaza and a few minutes later, with a snip of the ribbon, Gov. Albert D. Rosellini opened the Hood Canal Floating Bridge officially to traffic.

The acts created a solid link between the Olympic and Kitsap peninsulas, and in the words of State Sen. Gordon Sandison, of Port Angeles, "Made the Olympic Peninsula part of the state."

The actions also climaxed a decade of effort to see the trouble-ridden bridge become a reality.

AMONG THE first visitors to travel across the floating span were the members of the 60-some odd car caravan from Port Angeles which crossed the bridge earlier in the day to attend opening ceremonies on the east end.

They joined some 5,000 other visitors to the generally quiet Port Gamble area. Before tolls went into effect at 6 p.m. officials estimated some 10,000 people journeyed over the floating bridge and ate salmon at festivities in Kitsap Memorial State Park.

FOLLOWING DEDICATION ceremonies, three miles of cars lined bumper to bumper trailed after the official caravan across the span.

Rosellini and other state dignataries rode in 20 antique cars bearing the "Horseless Carriage" license. The governor rode in the lead horseless carriage, a 1914 Overland, which followed a Blindfolded bicycle rider, E. J. Caddick, of Bainbridge Island on the first official crossing of the bridge.

Rosellini predicted tremendous growth for the Olympic Peninsula as a result of the Hood bridge, which he termed a new door to America's last frontier.

HE ALSO told the vast crowd that he envisioned the day "Not too far off, when another bridge will connect this link, at Vashon or Bainbridge Island, across Puget Sound, to enhance the potential we now see before us."

William A. Bugge, state highways director, and a former Port Townsend resident admitted the trouble-plagued span had added to his gray hairs.

After the festivities the bridge did a booming business, but had to wait to begin collecting the $1.30, plus for automobiles until 6 p.m.

THOUGH EXCITEMENT and jubilation were the order of the day, a note of pessimisim over the radical design of the seemingly jinxed structure was noted when one family preparing to go across, donned life preservers.

Washington State Patrol reported extra heavy traffic in the Port Angeles area over the weekend, with a lot of vacationers and trailers.

The Port Angeles caravan 60 cars strong and loaded with "people, kids and dogs" left the Chamber of Commerce office at 9 a.m. today. The group went down to the official opening of the new Hood Canal Bridge.

Governor Rosellini and other state dignitaries spoke at 11:30 a.m. which was followed by the official tour of the bridge. The bridge will be open toll free until 6 p.m. today.

Rayonier to get $895,000

(From Evening News Aug. 15)

SEATTLE (AP) — An order directing the government to pay Rayonier Inc., $895,000 for timber burned in a big Olympic Peninsula fire in 1951 was signed Tuesday by U.S. District Judge George H. Boldt.

The amount was agreed upon by both sides after Rayonier had asked damages of $1.13 million. The U.S. Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals in San Francisco directed entry of the judgment last October.

Rayonier contended the U. S. Forest Service was negligent in fighting the fire, caused by sparks from a locomotive of the now-defunct Port Angeles & Western Railroad. The conflagration forced evacuation of the town of Forks.

The Circuit Court also directed a judgment against the government, the railroad and Fibreboard Paper Products Corp. on behalf of 41 homeowners, but the PA & WR and fiberboard firm have appealed to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Convicts give up

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Eight convicts, given no quarter by state penitentiary officials and facing a tear gas assault from an approaching Army tank, surrendered late Thursday and released 25 hostages unharmed.

The threatened assault, long planned by state officials for such an emergency, ended an eight-hour revolt in which the prisoners, armed with a toy pistol, pocket knives and ice picks held 5 guards, 3 clerks and 17 fellow prisoners hostage.

They dashed from the brick building and fell to the ground in front of the M48 Patton tank as it stopped 12 feet from the door.

Corrections Commissioner Keith Hampton, recalled to Nashville from a Parole Board hearing in east Tennessee, talked with the convicts by telephone and received a list of grievances.

"Most of them are outrageous," he declared.

The complaints included lack of recreational facilities and sufficient bathing facilities, lack of television and radio, "brutality" by guards, restrictions on conversation, and lack of justice and respect.

Planners OK proposed city library addition

A modern $100,000 addition to the city library that would double the size of the building was approved by the City Planning Commission Tuesday night.

The improvement could be made under normal taxation, City Manager M. W. Slankard reported, without any need for financing if the City Council approves 1962 preliminary municipal budget.

The city has tentatively appropriated $122,000 in 1962 "to completely rebuild the present library according to the architect's preliminary drawing," Slankard said.

The sum would leave $22,000 for furnishing the wing.

"If the City Council approves the sum in the budget, architectural drawings could begin this fall, with construction to get underway around the first of the year," he said later. Under this time schedule the wing would be completed in the summer of 1962.

The planning commission, meeting with the City Library Board of Directors, rejected their proopsal for a deck to be built on to the east of the building. The proposal was termed not feasible from an engineering standpoint, by Fred C. Strange, commission chairman.

"THE BULKHEADS holding the bank in the rear of the library would require a major project to safely hold the proposed deck. This would be unthinkable," said Strange.

RICHARD TIMM, chairman of the library board expressed complete approval of the proposed wing, explaining that the board "wanted to know if the proposal was practical. The deck was to increase the size of the library as soon as possible without requesting any additional funds."

The 70 by 40 foot deck built up on pillars on the east side of the library had been stressed as the first step to meet the urgent need for additional reading room and more book shelves.

THE CITY COUNCIL had termed the deck a "stop gap measure" when they turned the matter over to the planning commission at their first meeting in July. At the time the Council expressed a desire for an "adequate library plan."

Until the 1962 preliminary budget was computed city officials had not known that the new wing could be paid for fully by the city without a bond issue or increase in taxes, Slankard explained.

Library board members expressed surprize and general approval at the announcement.

DUE TO CHANGES in the city's spending requirements for the coming year the library could be built as a capital improvement from normal tax moneys received by the city, he said.

A LIBRARY fund established in 1946 as a cumulative fund for the reconstruction of the building has grown to $60,643 to date. An additional $2,897 may be added to it yet this year.

The remainder of the $122,000 fund indicated in the preliminary budget would come from the city's income by direct taxation.

In approving the new library wing, the commissioners recommended the city proceed on its own though leaving the door open to the county library if a suitable arrangement could be worked out in the future.

IN EXPLAINING the opposition, Slankard said that a merger on the basis worked out by the county library board would place the city's assets at the disposal of a joint library board which the county controlled by a majority of the membership.

The county board requested four members to the city's three on the library board because, under their proposal, the county would contribute more money to the operating fund "in view of the population represented, location of the library . . . and relative economic gain."

"IN A JOINT VENTURE, the county should match the city's assets dollar for dollar," Slankard continued. "I do not feel that it would be right to furnish the property, building, improvements and equipment towards a merger on the possibility that the county might find $15,000 to help their cause."

In any sort of joint venture, Slankard said that he would request the City Council to appoint him as a full member of the joint board to watch out for the city's interests.

Stalemated plan for local library consolidation aired

The stalemated problem of combining the county and city libraries came to light again with the appearance of county library board chairman Clyde Shore at the close of a county Civil Defense board meeting Monday. Shore appeared at commissioner E. L. Critchfield's request. The county commissioners and Port Angeles Mayor James Maxfield were present.

Shore explained that the boards have talked of combining the two libraries since the mid 1940's. He said the renewed interest on the county board's part at this time is due to the opening of Peninsula College in fall.

SHORE HAD with him, quotes from county library board meetings of Dec. 13, 1960 and Feb. 10, 1961, and the copy of a letter Victor Overstreet had sent to Richard Timm, chairman of the city library board, Dec. 19.

The section of the minutes of the county library board meeting of Dec. 13, read:

"Mr. Overstreet suggested that it might be wise for us to set forth the terms on which we would consider a merger, and then write a letter embodying these terms to be sent to both the City Council and the City Library Board, also the County Commissioners and Mr. Platt. Mr. Shore moved that he write such a letter. Carried. The board members then proceeded to consider the various points and reached agreement on all of them. Mr. Overstreet undertook to write the letter and then submit it to the other board members for their approval."

SHORE THEN read this prepared statement:

"Mr. Overstreet wrote the letter, dated Dec. 19th, and showed it to the other board members. He then submitted it to the County Commissioners at their meeting on Dec. 20th, and it met with their approval. The newspaper wanted to publish the letter, but Mr. Overstreet naturally wanted Mr. Timm to have a chance to study it first.

"At the next Clallam County Library Board meeting on Jan. 12th Mr. Overstreet reported that he had sent the letter to Mr. Timm, but not to the City Council, as he felt that should be left to Mr. Timm's discretion."

THEN SHORE read the copy of the letter Overstreet had sent Timm. He said that the letter had been sent Dec. 19, 1960, and that the county board had never received an answer. He said that it was felt at the time, it would be better to get an answer to it before releasing it for publication. Here is the letter:

December 19, 1960.

Mr. Richard Timm, Chairman
Port Angeles City Library Board
406 East Front Street
Port Angeles, Washington

Dear Mr. Timm:

The Clallam County Library Board would like to convey to your Port Angeles City Library Board some of our "concerns" as well as some of our "hopes" concerning the future development of a Regional Library for Clallam County.

We feel that, insofar as the two library boards are concerned, our basic objectives are essentially one and the same. This was borne out on innumerable occasions during the various meetings of the two boards. However, there is this one fundamental difference, which you people are very well aware, your board possesses only those powes delegated to it by the Port Angeles City Council while our board is free to act on its own authority even though we do seek the counsel and advice of our county commissioners.

It has been amply evidenced by both boards that a regional library offers the best and most economical means of serving the future needs of this region. As we all realize full well, probably at no time in the future, will the resources of the two units offer such an ideal balance for a merger—even though this has not been a criteria for mergers in other sections of the state.

As we have met as a board, we have come to the conclusion that there are some basic considerations which need to be listed in writing so that you can carry them to your governing body for approval before we can successfully proceed with drawing up the contractual agreement.

We should like to list these for your consideration and study prior to proceeding with drawing up the contract for the merger.

1. Our board, after long and considered deliberation, feels that the two year trial merger is impractical and should be extended to a four or five year trial period.

2. It is our considered opinion that all aspects of the operation must be merged. This to include, among other things, cataloging, building, staff, as well as the financial resources of both libraries.

3. We feel that the city library building and the land adjacent to it should be turned over to the regional board for development as they see fit.

4. Financially, the county and city should match dollar for dollar any program of expansion.

5. For all intents and purposes the relative value of the two book collections are equal.

6. Both the city and county will contribute 2 mills each to the new regional library. Under present assessment rates, valuations, etc. the county will actually raise more money for the regional library than the city. Again, like item three, this is just one of the variables in the plan for a merger of the two libraries in order to better serve the needs of the future population of this region.

7. The new regional library could and should be a vital link in the development of a program of higher education in the region served by the junior college.

8. The county board has or will have between thirteen and fifteen thousand dollars which can be placed in a building or expansion fund. We would expect the city to match this amount—or—the city could expect the county to match the fifty thousand dollars which it has available for a similar building or expansion fund.

9. In view of the population represented; location of the library in terms of future expansion; relative economic gain which will accrue to any given area, we think the county should have four members on the first regional library board of seven members.

10. Designate the County Treasurer to act as the Regional Library Treasuer. This is the usual practice and the county treasurer has signified his willingness to act in this capacity. Unlike the city treasurer, the county treasurer makes all the deduction for the library payroll, which saves the library time when it comes to bookkeeping.

11. Pension payments to two retired city librarians. At present the City Library is paying out of its current budget about $2,300 each year to pay these pensions. This should not be an obligation of the Regional Library. At the same time these people should not be left out, so arrangements should be made for the City Council to take care of this obligation.

12. Integration Grant. Every effort should be made to speed up the drawing of the contract between the two libraries so as to permit an early application to the State Library for this assistance in merging the two libraries. In order to achieve this goal it will be necessary for the two boards to show the state a good contract which looks as if it will work well and will be permanent. This is another reason why a two year trial contract, as proposed by the City Council, would not be satisfactory.

Trusting that you and your governing body will give due consideration to our proposals, we shall look forward to your reactions to the aforementioned proposals.

S/ V. W. Overstreet, Chairman
Clallam County Library Board

"THE LETTER states the county's position pretty well, even though Overstreet isn't here any longer," said Shore.

Shore said, "I have a great deal of confidence in librarians but if the City Council and other groups are going to horn in, it would be better not to have any merger."

The county board operates independently within the county framework.

Maxfield said that he would inquire about why Overstreet's letter had never been answered.

Lightning starts 17 wood fires

Lightning strikes have started about 17 fires in the southeast portion of Olympic National Park and adjoining US Forest Service land.

Park fire chief Jack Nattinger said, "There are 25 or 30 men either on or going to be on fires." He said the fires are generally in the Staircase area" in the "sixth ridge' and O'Neil Creek areas.

Coast Guard helicopters have taken six fire-fighters into the Lake Success and Lake Margaret areas.

Nattinger said, at 11:30 a.m. "We haven't flown west yet, but we intend to inside half-an-hour. We hope the situation isn't repeated over there."

The fire on U. S. Forest Service land is in the Maple Creek area.

"Hoot Owl" restrictions on logging operations in the Port Angeles district have been extended until next Monday, the Department of Natural Resources announced Monday.

SINGING TO HIMSELF

LOCKPORT, N.Y. (AP) —Signs of the times: A young boy in the chorus at Charles Upson School was singing with his group on the local radio station, WUSJ. As he sang, he listened with earphones to a transistor radio, hearing the program as he was participating in it.

Storm aids firefighters

Although the electrical storm Tuesday caused some concern in Port Angeles, it was more of an aid to the fire fighters in Olympic National Park working on the 17 fires started by lightning Monday.

Park fire chief Jack Nattinger said "We only picked up one fire Tuesday caused by lightning. It was located on the Elwha above Hayes River."

Nattinger said they didn't expect any trouble out of the ordinary with the fires. "The weather helped a lot," he said.

The park service has 23 men working on the fires.

MOVE IT UP

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — If you're planning anything for February of next year, it might be a good idea to move your schedule up—February may be too late.

That's what a number of professional and amateur astrologers are saying here in India.

They say that for the first time in 5,000 years, eight planets are going to be in the same spot in the sky, and that spells trouble.

Feb. 5, 1962, is generally given as the real bad day.

FIRST CARS — Following the dedication, antique "horseless carriages" made up the official caravan at the head of a three mile line of cars that streamed across the Hood Canal Floating Bridge. Forks robber gets 25-year term

SEATTLE (AP) — Terry Alan McGuire, 25, who robbed the Forks State Bank July 26, was sentenced Friday in federal court to 25 years in prison. He pleaded guilty.

McGuire got $43,500 in the hold-up but bungled his getaway plans.

He took cashier C. Bruce Mathison with him when he left the bank. Mathison was released minus his shoes, between Forks and Port Angeles. The cashier walked to a nearby ranger station and reported to police.

A state patrolman arrested McGuire and found the loot in his car.

McGuire sobbed as U.S. Dist. Judge John C. Bowen pronounced sentence.

"All I wanted was a job," he said. "I'm not afraid of work. I wanted to pay my bills, to live."

McGuire was on probation after serving a prison sentence for impersonating a National Park Service ranger in 1959.

Hospital gets power supplement

(From Evening News Aug. 17)

Olympic Memorial Hospital is fully prepared for any power failure emergency.

The hospital now has a separate power generator which is capable of handling the hospital's full power load if the regular city power should be off for any length of time.

Administrator Henry Rogers reported to the Hospital District II commissioners during their meeting here Wednesday night the new generator is completely installed and ready for use.

THE COMMISSIONERS expressed their appreciation to William Fell of the Clallam County PUD and O. A. Timberlake of NC Machinery for their aid in installing and operating the generator.

The installation was completed at a cost of $4,119, a fraction of the expense if the hospital had purchased the machine on the regular market. It was purchased from the state's surplus center.

THE HOSPITAL'S parking renovation plans are moving along. An easement allowing the city an area for the construction of sidewalks and curbings along the the south side of the hospital's property has been signed. The hospital fence has already been removed to prepare for the job.

The project will be done as a part of the LID work currently underway in the hospital area.

IN THE CASE of two state inspections, the hospital received an ok from the state officials. The state auditor's examiner found the hospital books in good order. Rogers said two suggested minor changes he recommended have been made.

Inspectors from the State Board of Health approved temporary steps the hospital is taking in a room area. The commissioners expect to make the change to conform with the department recommendations.

ROGERS NOTED a King County blood drive is schedule at the hospital Aug. 23. The blood donations here build up the county's credit in King County for residents of the area who need blood while hospitalized in Seattle.

In other business, the commissioners approved insurance coverage at a cost of $3,353. The new policies are employe liability, employe comprehensive and patient property.

They set the annual preliminary budget meeting for Oct. 2.

ON THE FINANCIAL side, the commissioners warily noted operations from the first of the year to date show net income of $25,842. Board Chairman Charles Willson noted although the finances are ahead at the moment bad months can knock it down in a hurry. "After all, he said, "we lost $9,000 last December."

He also explained $18,000 worth of equipment which has worn out has been replaced out of last year's income.

Pulp, paper chief hits back at PCC

(From Evening News Aug. 17)

BELLINGHAM (AP)—The head of the Northwest Pulp and Paper Association sharply attacked the State Pollution Control Commission Thursday and said the industry welcomed a promised "showdown" over the purity of Washington waters.

Lawson Turcotte accused the commission of ignoring state laws and blanketing the pulp and paper industry in the state with more "arbitrary, costly and confiscatory requirements" than anywhere in the world.

$100 MILLION

Turcotte, who also is president of the Puget Sound Pulp & Timber Co. here, said that if the 10 mills involved are required to comply with commission orders it will cost them more than $100 million.

The new commission director, Wallace Bergerson, said in Olympia Wednesday that nine of the mills have asked hearings on the "clean-up" directives. He described the hearings as "showdown" over the state's water pollution control program.

10 MILLS

The commission has ordered the 10 mills to install waste discharge facilities by Nov. 24, 1963 which would remove 85 per cent of all pollutants.

Turcotte charged that the commission has ignored "a legislative mandate to define water pollution" and said nothing had been done about the industry's offer in May, 1957, to cooperate in testing the state's waters.

"The pulp and paper industry has been forced to operate without knowing the ground rules," he said. "It's the same as getting a speeding ticket without first having been told what the speed limit is."

BURDEN OF PROOF

He said that contrary to state law the commission told the industry last year that it bore the burden of proof on pollution—a matter the industry "firmly believes" has been solved.

Turcotte pointed to the five changes in commission directors in the past five years, "all with different approaches to our problem," and said this has made it difficult to solve the water quality issue and stabilize jobs and mill production.

$30 MILLION

He said the industry has spent more than $30 million since 1947 for facilities to protect state waters and new commission requirements would cost $10 or more for each of the 10 mills.

Turcotte said that if the "added restrictions are proper" they should also apply to other industries, municipalities, agriculture and large government installations such as the Hanford Atomic Works.

No hearing dates have been set, but lawyers from both sides are scheduled to meet early next month to set up the ground rules.

The 10 mills involved are at Everett, Port Angeles, Bellingham, Anacortes, Wallula and Millwood.

UGN budget is accepted

United Good Neighbor Board of Directors accepted the agency budgets for 1962 as recommended by the Budget and Allocations Committee. The meeting was held Monday night in the Elks boardroom.

The UGN board also advised the budget committee to take into consideration any outside funds that might be allotted to agencies before the final allocations are made.

The UGN goal for 1962 was set for $54.641.19 at a previous board meeting. Agency budget requests for 1962 amounted to $70.446.19.

In making his report Budget Committee Chariman Charles Willson said the figures presented for each agency represented the considered opinion of the committee as a whole. They were not the opinion of any one person.

"I think the figures presented are a realistic picture of the requests. We made a serious study of the agency requests," Willson said.

Willson also said the committee recommended the youth agency camping fees be raised. Most of the youth agencies are subsidizing their camping programs. "In some cases camping fees have not been changed for 25 years," he said. "Actual hardship cases are taken care of by the "camp-ships" provided by service clubs and other organizations."

Drive Chariman Don Lusk reported a day's pay is to be used as guide to fair share giving this year. Lusk said the generals and colonels are selected for the main drive which begins Sept. 19. At a meeting Friday the privates are to be apointed.

Severe thunder storm lashes local region

(From Evening News Aug. 16)

What was perhaps the worst electrical storm in recorded history of Port Angeles hit here and other parts of the Olympic Peninsula Tuesday.

The thunder claps and the lightning bolts were frequent and power outages numerous. Rain, almost like a cloudburst, followed each lightning flash during the afternoon.

In the midst of the storm there was an outage caused by a lightning strike on the main transmission line from Bonneville, east of the city. The power came on again almost immediately.

In the city five lightning strikes were recorded on power lines or transformers.

THE PUBLIC UTILITY District reports that 200 of its customers had power outages and that between 40 and 50 transformers and line fuses were blown out. The PUD had 10 men working in four crews and service was restored in an hour after the men started working. One distribution transformer at Morse Creek was blown up by lightning. The power outages were localized in the Mt. Pleasant, Gales' Addition and Black Diamond districts.

THE PORT ANGELES fire department made three runs during the afternoon to what were defined as electric trouble due to lightning. The city electrical department says lightning hit three transformers near the Tradewell Store on E. 1st St. and the three phase power line in the block at 7th and Chambers St., and some power was interrupted in the block.

There was a transformer hit at the Fibreboard Paper Products Co. Corp. mill that kept the plant closed down about 30 minutes.

The fire department runs were to the Hamilton School, Clallam County Housing project and the Guido Gallacci home at 1304 E. 4th St. No damage was reported at any of the places.

DUE TO THE excessive rainfall of Tuesday logging, that had been confined to hoot owl shifts, resumed today on a full time basis, headquarters of the State Department of Natural Resources reports. There were no lightning fires started in state timber in Clallam County Tuesday. One was started in Olympic National Park Tuesday compared to 17 Monday.

LIGHTNING and thunder and rainfall were general all over the North Olympic Peninsula.

Folks of this area, not used to severe electrical storms, were quite jumpy during the height of the storm. Mrs. Noreen Creasy of 305½ E. 2nd street reported she laid a bracelet on a table and when a streak of lightning went through the sky the bracelet took off and landed on a chair.

Mrs. Clare Winters of Rt. 3, Port Angeles, reports a clock at her home started running backwards after a lightning flash it up the sky and is continuing to do so.

There are only two kinds of parking nowadays—illegal and no.

Service clubs told of new fight against Reds

Members of Port Angeles Kiwanis and Rotary clubs learned of a new way to combat communism at their joint meeting Tuesday noon.

Sol G. Levy, principal speaker at the meeting, told of Dollar-A-Year Volunteers, Inc., an organization formed for the purpose of promoting international boy scouting.

Levy believes that extension of scouting in foreign lands would be a powerful force in guaranteeing peace and understanding and in making communism less attractive especially to the 70 per cent of the world which lives under underprivileged conditions. He said it would go far to "undermine atheism and dictatorship."

Dollar-A-Year Volunteers permits any individual to contribute to the Boy Scouts International Bureau in Ottawa, Canada, without any deduction for administrative or overhead costs.

LEVY SAID the bureau needs many more men than the 17 it now employs. They are needed for training and leadership work in foreign countries. Levy said such people are always welcomed. He emphasized the need for help in the Latin American nations particularly.

Levy would like to see the local Kiwanis and Rotary clubs launch this program from Port Angeles because of the role of this city in starting the Cub Scout movement in 1923. The Kiwanis, Rotary and Elks clubs at that time provided the funds for getting the program started.

LEVY HAD MANY old friends in the audience. He lived here from 1913 to 1929. He helped organize the Port of Port Angeles, and was a charter member of the Port Angeles Rotary Club.

Levy has traveled extensively in foreign countries. He drew a strong contrast between the prosperity of free areas such as West Berlin, Hong Kong and Japan, and the apathy and want in East Berlin, Red China and other "curtian" countries.

Levy cited the Moral Re-Armament movement as a strong and effective force in combating communism.

Local mills hit by latest PCC mandate

(From Evening News Aug. 16)

By JOHN KOMEN

OLYMPIA (AP) — The State Pollution Control Commission served notice Wednesday it is ready for a showdown with the pulp and paper industry on pollution problems in Washington's waters.

It announced that 9 of 10 pulp and paper mills which were issued "cleanup" orders last year have requested hearings to seek to revise them.

BRACED FOR FIGHT

Bracing itself for a firm stand, the commission described the hearings as the "start of the only serious legal fight in the history of Washington's water pollution control program."

The entire program will be on trial, said Wallace W. Bergerson, recently-appointed director of the commission.

The 10 mills are operating with temporary waste discharge permits issued by the commission under the stipulation that the mills must have adequate waste removal facilities in operation by Nov. 24, 1963.

85 PER CENT

The commission said the facilities must be designed to remove a minimum of 85 per cent of the waste solids now being dumped in Washington waters.

In appealing for the hearings, the commission said, nearly all the industries concerned charged the agency with unreasonable exercise of its powers, with being discriminatory to the industry and arbitrary and capricious in its action.

Bergerson said the commission was only proceeding under the law.

"It is the mandate of our law that the commission maintain the highest possible standards and require the use of all known, available and reasonable methods by industries and others to prevent and control pollution of the waters of the state of Washington," he said.

The 10 mills given the "cleanup" orders are the Scott Paper Co., Weyerhaeuser Co. and Simpson-Lee Paper Co., all of Everett; Rayonier, Inc., and Crown Zellerbach Corp., both of Port Angeles; Puget Sound Pulp and Timber Co., Bellingham; Coos Bay Pulp Corp., Anacortes; Boise Cascade Kraft Corp., Wallula, and the Inland Empire Paper Co., Millwood (Spokane county).

Bergerson said the Crown Zellerbach Corp. mill at Port Angeles was the only mill that did not protest and ask for a hearing.

MAJOR SOURCES

He said the four largest of the nine mills appealing the commission's action are "major sources of pollution of state waters, discharging approximately 185 million gallons of waste each day."

Bergerson said the four were the Scott and Weyerhaeuser mills at Everett, Puget Sound Pulp and Timber in Bellingham and Rayonier at Port Angeles.

"The commission does not demand that the industries discharge only pristine pure water," Bergerson said. "But they do have an obligation to go part of the way as their permits call for."

MILLIONS OF DOLLARS

Lewis R. Holcomb, special services officer for the commission, said the cost of installing waste-eliminating facilities would probably run into the millions of dollars for the 10 mills involved.

"If they comply with all the conditions they will be eligible for permanent permits," he said.

Holcomb indicated that other mills now operating under temporary permits will be faced with regulations "quite possibly" just as stringent as those invoked against the 10.

No dates have been set for the hearings, Bergerson said.

Attorneys for both sides are to meet in September to discuss issues and procedures to be followed.

Swim meet off to fast start

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The 1961 men's National AAU Outdoor Swimming and Diving championships were set for an exciting start today with two of the best events of the three-day show billed for showdown finals.

They were the 100- and 1,500-meter freestyle races.

Features were Japan's Tsyyoshi Yamanaka, Los Angeles' transplanted Australian veteran, Murray Rose, and 16-year-old Roy Saari of nearby El Segundo.

Rose was entered in both the 100 and 1,500 events while Yamanaka was named to go in the 1,500 along with Saari.

Rose and Yamanaka have been battling over a span of the past two Olympic Games. Rose in the 1956 games in Melbourne defeated the powerful Japanese in both the 400 and 1,500. And in Rome in 1960, Rose was pushed to an Olympic record of 4:18.3 in the 400-meter event to win again over Yamanaka.

Saari was geared for an upset win in the 1,500. Recently in Japan he defeated Yamanaka in both the 800 and 1,500.

Casper leads golf tourney

SILVER SPRING, Md. (AP) — Billy Casper riffled through a new golf book titled "Chipping and Putting" after taking the first round lead Thursday in the $35,000 Indian Spring Open.

He couldn't have picked up any tips—if he needed them. The author is Billy Casper.

It was the first time the 30-year-old from Apple Valley, Calif., saw his finished printed product. Other pros have seen Casper put his advice to use.

Casper went into today's second round of the 72-hole tournament with a two-stroke lead over Mason Rudolph of Clarksville, Tenn., and Tommy Jacobs of Bermuda Dunes, Calif., also pitching for their first 1961 victories.

Casper, Rudolph and Jacobs led a group of only 11 golfers out of the 147 who were able finish ahead of par.

It was Casper's short game again Thursday that pulled him around the 7,031-yard Indian Spring Country Club course in 66 strokes, four under par.

Phils match Yankee streak in reverse

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Philadelphia Phillies, hoping to build a winner, have instead put together the longest losing streak any National League team has had to suffer through since the turn of the century.

They lost their 20th in a row Thursday night the hard way — twice coming from behind, only to twice blow leads, before finally losing 7-6 in 11 innings at Milwaukee.

WHILE CLEVELAND, a long ago National League entry, set the all-time record for consecutive losses with 24 in 99, only three post-1900 teams ever before lost as many as 20 in a row and all were American League clubs — the Boston Red Sox of 1906, and the Philadelphia A's of 1961 and 1943.

The old National League high, or low, if you prefer, since 1900 was 19, set by the Boston Braves of 1906 and tied by the Cincinnati Reds of 1914.

THE PRESENT day Braves ran their winning streak to seven and edged within a half-game of third place San Francisco. The Giants were knocked off 2-0 by the St. Louis Cardinals and the three-hit pitching of Larry Jackson. The Braves trail Cincinnati's first place Reds, who like the Los Angeles Dodgers were idle, by 8½ games.

Pittsburgh and Chicago split a doubleheader, the Cubs winning 11-4 before the Pirates pulled out a 4-3 decision in the nightcap.

IN THE AMERICAN League, Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle failed to hit a home run, but the New York Yankees trimmed the Chicago White Sox 5-3 for a four-game bulge over Detroit. The second place Tigers lost 3-1 to Baltimore. Cleveland defeated Boston 4-3, in 14 innings, and Washington beat the Los Angeles Angels 4-3 in the only other games scheduled.

Flag chasing Giants maintain fast pace

By DAVE DRYDEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The pennant-hungry Tacoma Giants kept right on winning and helped boost Hawaii into the first division in spotlighted Pacific Coast League baseball action Thursday night.

The Giants swept their second straight doubleheader from the Portland Beavers, 4-0 and 7-1, to stretch their victory string to 14, while Hawaii took the measure of the second-place Vancouver Mounties, 8-2. When the firing ended, Hawaii was in fourth-place 1½ games ahead of the Beavers and Tacoma held a 9½ game lead over the Mounties.

RAINIERS WIN

In other action Seattle edged Salt Lake City 4-3, and Spokane's hapless Indians took their 11th loss in 12 games, a 12-0 shutout at the hands of the San Diego Padres.

Georges Maranda and Gaylord Perry, two San Francisco farmhands, were the winning pitchers in Tacoma's sweep at Portland. Maranda had a no-hitter until the bottom of the final inning of the seven-inning opener. Dave Ricketts' double was the only safe hit. The Beavers didn't score on Perry until the seventh inning of the nightcap when they went up on the scoreboard after a double and a pair of singles.

WHIFFS 13

At Vancouver, rookie righthander Bob Leopold struck out 13 Mounties on his way to his third win without a loss. The loss went to Noel Mickelson, whose fourth inning error opened the gates to the Islanders. With the bases loaded and two out, Mickelson fielded a high bouncer and threw to first for what should have been the final putout. But the ball went into the Hawaii dugout and two runs scored. Four more Islanders crossed the plate on a single and an error before the side was retired.

Seattle came from behind to beat the Bees. The Rainiers held a two-run lead after two innings but Salt Lake tied it with a pair in the third and went ahead with an unearned run in the fifth. Seattle won it in the sixth on Lou Clinton's single, followed by Don Gile's double and Harry Malmberg's sacrifice fly.

San Diego fired a 16-hit barrage at the Indians. Home runs by Joe Taylor and Tony Roig set the pace for the Padres.

Mrs. Hooper wins golf play

Jean Hooper, with a low gross of 45 for nine holes, won the Ladies' Field Day and Picnic competition at Peninsula Golf Club Wednesday. Isabelle Phillips and Bernadine Maloney tied for first in the putting score competition. The women had a picnic at Ben Phillips' beach house after playing golf.

Other players were: Helena Kinney, Wanda Gray, Myrtle Ingraham, Betty Brown, Pauline Palo, Jean Hooper, Eleanor Phillips and Phyllis Thorpe. Also playing were Betty Stevens, Edna Pane, Florence Johnson, Jean Williams, Lorna Munson, Kitty Moulton, Cecil Wise and Verna Window.

Guests playing were Ella Rohnholt, her daughter and granddaughter from Seattle, and Betty Morris, Jesup, Ga.

Raiders want two Flemings

SPOKANE (AP) — Oakland Raider coach Eddie Erdelatz figures Saturday night's exhibition game here against the Denver Bronco will be "just as tough as a league game. In fact, in some respects even tougher. The fellows want to make their positions."

Both American Football League clubs will be seeking victories after dropping exhibition games last week. Houston dumped Oakland 35-17 and Honolulu beat Denver 31-13.

The raider boss makes no secret about wanting better aerial defense this year and Erdelatz said he thinks he has found a pair of good play-stoppers in John Hardy, a rookie from Cal Poly and Frank Bernardi, recently acquired in a trade with Denver.

George Fleming, the former Washington standout, "has done a good job for us," said Erdelatz. "I'd like to have some more backs like him."

A crowd of about 10,000 is expected. The weatherman says temperatures should be in the low 60s with generally fair skies.

Western field narrows in Legion tournament

BEND, Ore. (AP)— Hawthorne, Nev., and Phoenix, Ariz., were the only two teams left unbeaten after yesterday's play in the American Legion junior baseball West Coast sectional tournament at Bend, Ore.

They were scheduled to clash tonight at 8 p.m. (PDT). The winner will draw a two-day bye while the once-beaten teams battle for another try at the championship, in the double-elimination tournament.

TWO MORE OUT

Two more teams will be eliminated in today's afternoon games.

Las Cruces, N.M. 11-1 victor over Anchorage, Alaska, yesterday will come up against Pomona, Calif. Pomona lost to Hawthorne, 2-0.

Phoenix stayed unbeaten with a 9-3 victory over Roseburg last night. Dan Swingle of Phoenix turned in his second brilliant relief pitching job in as many days, taking over for his brother Joe in the seventh inning with the bases loaded and none out.

Roseburg was scheduled to play Richland, Wash., this afternoon, with the loser to be eliminated.

Richland stayed in the tourney with a 15-5 triumph over Salt Lake City.

Craig Lansing and Jim Adrian led the 15-hit Richland assault Thursday, each of them hitting grand-slam home runs. Lansing's blow came in the third inning and Adrian followed suit in the eighth.

Doug Lukens cracked another home run for Richland. Bill Blakenship and Phil Martell worked on the mound for the winners, allowing Salt Lake seven hits.

THREE HITS

In the last game of the evening, Phoenix third baseman led the attack against Roseburg with three hits in four trips to the plate, including a two-run homer. Bob Conner also homered for Phoenix, another two-run blow in the fifth.

Roseburg garnered only four hits, half of them by Gordon Avery.

Summer is hardly over yet, but the Port Angeles keglers are getting set for the 1961-62 bowling season and the first pins in league competition will start to fall in a little over a week from now!

The two bowling establishments in Port Angeles have all been refurbished and are ready to receive the onslaught of both the men and women.

Dumpy Taylor and Porky Rowland, those jovial operators of the Laurel Lanes, have refinished all 16 of the lanes on Laurel St., and everything is in readiness there.

Art and Monte Lannoye have done a terrific job of completely remodeling the Port Angeles Bowl and if you've never rolled a game there before, you will think its' a brand new place.

With a wall knocked down, new telescores, settees and overhauled pin machines, it's truly a brand new place!!

At this time of the year teams are getting set and leagues are being formed and there is a need for more bowlers! If you have wanted to bowl in a league, whether it be with a women's team, a men's team or a mixed team, now is your chance to get started.

There is always a misconception at this time of the year that all the leagues are filled and there's no room for someone to start, but believe me this is all wrong!

There is always a need for more bowlers to fill out teams and if you are interested, just contact either bowling house and they will be glad to relay your names to league secretaries and other officials.

Yes, bowling is back again in earnest and as the famous "Whispering" Joe Wilman used to say . . . "Good Bowling, Everyone"!

FRIDAY HIGHLIGHTS: Fishing should be heavy in the Strait this weekend as fishermen get set to qualify for the derby which is two weekends away! By catching a qualifying fish you can save yourself a couple of bucks. Some of the prizes are on display at Ediz Hook and the rest will be on display at the old Laurel Barber Shop building on Laurel Street! Many trout fishermen have been getting big ones on flies in the Elwha River and on the lower backwater of Lake Aldwell. You campers and fishermen should always remember to be careful with those cigarettes when you are out fishing! That fight coming up between Eddie Cotton and Harold Johnson for the light-heavyweight championship in Seattle is getting much press. Harry "Kid" Matthews predicts a victory for Cotton . . . Cotton predicts a victory for Cotton and Johnson predicts a victory for Johnson!! Many PA fight fans are getting tickets for this one and it should be a good fight! I look for a Johnson victory in a knockout somewhere between the fourth and eighth rounds!!

Rademacher says, 'I slipped'

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — Pete Rademacher hit the canvas three times in the second round Thursday night and despite his claim the third time was a slip, the referee stopped the fight and awarded it to George Logan, Boise heavyweight.

Referee Vic Buccola said he ordered the fight stopped on the automatic three knockdown rule.

Rademacher, formerly of Grandview, Wash., weighed 202 pounds to Logan's 208.

The fight was all Rademacher's in the first round but in the second Logan came out strong and dropped Rademacher for two nine-counts. Rademacher dropped to the canvas again after a flurry of punches at 2:15 and Buccola halted the fight.

Rademacher called the third time a slip.

NEW TARGETS

PARIS (AP) — Three wooden heads bobbed in the fair ground stall as targets for ball throwers —Kennedy, Khrushchev and De Gaulle.

The man in the pullover and slacks took careful aim and threw. He missed Khrushchev, hit De Gaulle. The crowd roared.

The luckless thrower blushed. He was Premier Michel Debre, vacationing in the west of France.

Bracken claims mistakes

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Mistakes?" said Eddie Bracken with a bitter smile. "Nobody made more mistakes than I did."

Bracken was speaking of his movie career, which flourished in the 40s and then dribbled away. He's back after nine years on the stage to do a dramatic role in a "Roaring Twenties" TV segment.

This could open a whole new horizon for him. He is already working on another horizon, producing his own films in Rome. So he can afford to look back on past failures with candor.

After Broadway success in "Brother Rat," "What a Life" and "Too Many Girls," he was brought to Hollywood where he starred in film after film for Paramount, most notably in "Miracle of Morgan's Creek" and "Hail the Conquering Hero." Then he virtually talked himself out of a contract.

"You've got to realize what kind of a guy I was. I had never graduated from grammar school —I was held back five times! I never read a book until I was 24 —'Rebecca' it was.

"So you can see I had a lot to learn. And I learned, brother, the hard way. You can go along on nerve so long and then suddenly you get hit in the gut. You wake up."

Bracken woke up to find his career and money slipped away from him. The career ebbed because of the old bogey — type casting.

Bracken had to take movie roles at less than his usual salary. His price spiraled downward, and the roles got worse. In 1952 he pulled out of Hollywood and played four years of "The Seven Year Itch." He has kept busy with plays and occasional TV.

National Guard terms extended

OLYMPIA (AP) — The state adjutant general says enlistments of certain Washington Army National Guardsmen will be frozen one year.

Maj. Gen. George M. Haskett said Thursday he had an order from the National Guard Bureau in Washington, D.C., calling for the extension of service of Guardsmen whose enlistment would ordinarily expire between Oct. 1 and next June 30.

Haskett said the extension also applies to persons whose Army Reserve obligation would expire in the same period.

He said the order also calls for a four-month suspension of the Army National Guard's six-month trainee program, with that suspension in effect Sept. 1-Dec. 31.

Port Angeles Reflections

FORTY YEARS AGO AUG. 18

George Meagher, of Seattle, former owner of the first dry good store in Port Angeles, is back among the old haunts today, and telling oldtime fish stories over the counter at Fisher's Cigar Store. George is heading for Lake Crescent, where he spent many hours in the early days. He sees many wonderful improvements in the city and got back in plenty of time to join the curbstone reunion of many old timers.

Nasturtium will be largely used in the fall hats, declared Miss Anna McNeil, of the Leader Department Store, who returned from the wholesale houses in Seattle and Portland, and is now preparing for the fall showing.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Four members of the 1936 senior class of the Port Angeles General Hospital nurses' school passed the state board examination held late in July, Miss Helen Van Gilder, of the hospital instruction staff, announced today.

The four are the Misses Isabelle Edwards, Ursula Widen, Leodica Gibbs and Gladys Price. They passed with high grades.

A new class entered the hospital August 1 and another group will start September 1.

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY

The Soleduck forest fire cost the U. S. forest service $27,000 up to midweek, District Ranger Sanford M. Floe told the Evening News yesterday.

This figure does not include the park service's cost in battling the part of the fire which damaged 22 acres within the park, nor the cost to Fibreboard Products, which had timberland within the fire area.

The fire started the afternoon of August 6 when sparks from a piece of faulty equipment on a Port Angeles Western Railroad locomotive set fires blazing along the right-of-way.

33-pound salmon tops weekly catch list here

Heading the list of 25 salmon weighed in at the Thunderbird Boathouse Thursday was a 33-pound chinook caught by F. Fredericks of Seattle.

A majority of the salmon taken here Thursday were coho (silver) salmon. Sportsmen are using coho flies or herring with flashers as lures. Most of the salmon are being taken north of Ediz Hook as the "hot" fishing spot has shifted from the area off Green Point in the western section of the harbor.

SALMON CLUB members here are fishing for the August Port Angeles Salmon Club prizes of $25 and $15 dollars for the top weight salmon for August.

At Pillar Point chinook salmon predominate and salmon of that species weighing up to 41 pounds have been taken in the past week. Wednesday was a big day in the Pillar Point area, Hugh Hall, caretaker of the County Recreation area at Butler's Cove reports. Hall caught a 40 pounder this week.

Mixed with the chinook are a smaller number of coho salmon and some pinks or humpies. A hook-nosed silver, weighing 12 pounds was caught in the area a few days ago.

Registration for finals of the 1961 Port Angeles Salmon Derby of Sept. 2-3 starts at sports goods stores and the Thunderbird Boathouse Monday Aug. 28 and closes at 9 p.m. Sept. 1, Pres. Charles Beam reports.

Some of the 1961 derby prizes will be on display at the Bondelid Building at 110 N. Laurel St. and others at the Thunderbird Boathouse on Ediz Hook. About 200 club members have qualified for derby finals by catching and registering a salmon, Beam reports. He pointed out that it is possible to register for derby finals without registering a salmon but members save money by weighing in and registering a salmon previous to the finals.

Some sea-run cutthroat trout are being caught at the mouths of Olympic Peninsula streams. Waters of streams are in good condition for trout fishing, both inside and outside Olympic National Park. Fishing is good in the area in both low and high altitude lakes.

Court suspends woman's fine

A 38-year-old Forks woman was fined $100 and costs in Superior Court Tuesday for practicing as an unlicensed registered nurse.

Prosecuting Attorney Howard Doherty said Florence V. Forbes had applied for a nursing job at the Forks Hospital about six months ago stating that she was a licensed registered nurse. He said she claimed to have graduated from the University of Syracuse School of Nursing, but had only been a licensed practical nurse in New York in 1949.

The woman claimed that the hospital had known all the time that she wasn't a registered nurse.

The complaint was filed by the state licensing bureau after they had received a tip that this woman was working at the Forks Hospital and investigated her.

Judge Max Church suspended the fine on recommendations by several character witnesses.

Oiling job
The State Highway Dept. has been oiling the shoulders of Highway 101 from the east city limits to Morse Creek today. The department expected traffic to be tied up most of the day, even though there is an escort car from the Chinook Motel.

Wrong age
A check on the birthdate of George W. Garland who died here Tuesday, shows he was born Feb. 24, 1877 instead of that day in 1886 and that made him 84 years of age instead of 75. In addition to surving relatives listed Thursday there are also three nieces and a nephew here and in other cities.

Hit and run
William Olson, of 1109 S. Cherry reported a hit and run accident to city police Wednesday night.

Olson claimed he heard a crash about 10:30 and found that his 1955 sedan, which was parked in front of his house, had been hit and damaged slightly. The offending vehicle was nowhere in sight, but powder blue paint on Olson's yellow car provided police with a clue.
